But whether the United Nations approves the agreement or not, the United States made it clear that she has no intention of giving up the islands that she considers essential to American defense.

Authoritative sources said that no one had raised any objection to continued American occupation of the islands, nor to have opposed any particular part of the agreement.

All North Of Equator

Owing to the Council's occupation with the pressing problem of atomic energy, the United States proposal may not reach the floor for several days.

Specifically, the United States asks that all the former German islands north of the Equator held by Japan under League of Nations mandates be placed under United Nations trusteeship with the United States as administrator.

If approved, the agreement would give the United States, as administering authority, virtually the same rights as would come under outright annexation.

Includes Vital Bases

The 623 islands, extending north from the Equator about 1,200 miles and for about 2,500 miles from east to west, have a total land area of only 829 square miles. Their total population is about 85,000. Every one of the three groups has a language of its own.

The islands include such vital bases as Saipan and Tinian in the Marianas, Truk in the Carolines and Kwajalein in the Marshalls.

The British were understood to feel that until the treaty was signed, Japan would not have officially abandoned her claims and therefore there could not be any clear title.

There was no definite indication of how Warren R. Austin, American council delegate, would view the objections, but it was apparent that he could not get approval of the plan with two major powers opposed.

Summary Of Plan

Major points in the plan submitted by the United States included:

1. The United States to have full powers of administration, legislation and jurisdiction, subject to the ultimate agreement, as an integral part of the United States.

2. The United States to be able to establish naval, military and airbases and to erect fortifications.

3. Nothing to accord traffic rights to aircraft flying into and out of the trust territory, such rights being up to the United States and the state where such aircraft are owned to agree on.

4. The provisions of Articles 87 and 88 of the United Nations Charter (calling for reports and on-the-spot inspections) to apply, with the United States determining their applicability to areas it specifies as closed for security reasons.

5. The United States to be able to merge the trust territory into a customs, fiscal or administrative unit with other areas under American jurisdiction.

The United Nations Charter provides for "strategic areas," but insists that basic aims such as "respect for human rights and fundamental freedoms for all, without distinctions as to race, sex, language or religion," be supervised in these areas by the United Nations.

Under the United States plan, areas subject to such supervision are to be determined by the United States alone.

LONDON, FEB. 17-(AP)-A FOREIGN OFFICE SPOKESMAN SAID TODAY BRITAIN HAS RECEIVED A "FAVORABLE" RESPONSE FROM THE U.S. STATE DEPARTMENT TO A REQUEST FOR FACILITIES TO RESUME TRADING WITH JAPAN.

THESE FACILITIES WOULD ENABLE BRITISH COMMERCIAL INTERESTS TO SEND REPRESENTATIVES INTO JAPAN TO REESTABLISH OLD CONTACTS AND DEVELOP TWO-WAY TRADING, BOTH IN THEIR OWN INTERESTS AND ALSO TO SPEED UP JAPANESE ECONOMIC RECOVERY, HE ADDED.

SO FAR NOTHING HAS BEEN HEARD FROM THE HEADQUARTERS OF GEN. MACARTHUR, SUPREME ALLIED COMMANDER, WHO, HITHERTO HAS BANNED THE ENTRY OF ALL ALLIED TRADERS BECAUSE OF SHORTAGES OF FOOD AND ACCOMMODATION, THE SPOKESMAN SAID.

UNITED STATES BUSINESS SINCE V-J DAY HAS BEEN OPERATED BY AN OFFICIAL COMMERCIAL COMPANY WHICH HAS HANDLED JAPANESE EXPORTS AND IMPORTS ON A GOVERNMENT-TO-GOVERNMENT BASIS, OTHER GOVERNMENT SOURCES SAID.

IN THE PAST THE UNITED STATES HAS SUPPLIED NEARLY ALL JAPAN'S IMPORTS AND HAS BOUGHT ABOUT 65 PERCENT OF HER EXPORTS. THE BULK OF THE BALANCE HAS GONE TO KOREA, CHINA AND RUSSIA.

BRITISH GOVERNMENT SOURCES EMPHASIZED THAT EXISTING ARRANGEMENTS INSIDE JAPAN WERE LIQUIDIZING ALLIED COMMERCIAL INTERESTS PRIMARILY NEUTRALS WHO REMAINED IN THE COUNTRY DURING THE WAR HAVE ESCAPED

MACARTHUR'S BAN AND, ACCORDING TO THE INFORMANTS, HAVE BEEN PERMITTED TO BRING NEW EMPLOYEES INTO THE COUNTRY.

THUS WHEN THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT RECENTLY ON OCCASIONS PURCHASED SUPPLIES OF RAW SILK, THE PRODUCT HAS HAD TO BE INSPECTED BY A SWISS FIRM ON THE SPOT.

EVIDENCE OF JAPAN'S QUICK INDUSTRIAL RECOVERY IN HER FIRST POSTWAR YEAR WAS SEEN BY THE SOURCES IN THE FACT THAT VARIOUS SOUTHEAST ASIATIC COUNTRIES HAD PLACED ORDERS FOR $40,000,000 WORTH OF TEXTILES.

MACARTHUR, IT WAS SAID, IS ENCOURAGING THE REVIVAL OF THE TEXTILE INDUSTRY IN PARTICULAR. THESE SOURCES THAT ARDEN JAPAN'S OWN OFFICIAL ESTIMATES SHOWED THAT COUNTRY EXPECTED TO REGAIN HER PREDOMINANT PREWAR POSITION IN FAR EASTERN MARKETS WITHIN THREE YEARS.

PART OF THE BRITISH CASE FOR PERMISSION TO RESUME TRADE AND TO SEND COMMERCIAL REPRESENTATIVES TO TOKYO WAS THAT A BIG VOLUME OF JAPAN'S PREWAR EXPORTS TO FAR EASTERN COUNTRIES WAS HANDLED BY BRITISH FIRMS.

THE INFORMANTS POINTED OUT THAT THE PLANT OF COMMONWEALTH COUNTRIES FOR RESUMING TRADE WITH JAPAN HAS ADVANCED MORE RAPIDLY THAN THOSE OF BRITAIN.

MALAYA, THEY SAID, WAS SHIPPING 4,000 TONS OF RUBBER TO JAPAN. INDIA, WHOSE PREWAR POSITION IN JAPAN'S TRADE WAS SECOND ONLY TO THAT OF THE UNITED STATES, IS PLANNING TO RESUME RAW COTTON SHIPMENTS THIS YEAR. IN RETURN INDIA HOPES TO OBTAIN SUPPLIES OF COTTON TEXTILES, DYESTUFFS AND TEXTILE MACHINERY.

A CANADIAN GOVERNMENT TRADE OFFICIAL IS AT THE MOMENT IN JAPAN INVESTIGATING COMMERCIAL RELATIONS BETWEEN THE TWO COUNTRIES.

SOUTH AFRICA, MAINLY CONCERNED WITH THE PURCHASE OF JAPANESE TEXTILES, IS IN CONSULTATION WITH U.S. GOVERNMENT.

AUSTRALIA, THE INFORMANTS STATED, IS PLANNING TO RESUME WOOL SALES TO JAPAN, BUT DEFINITE ARRANGEMENTS HAVE BEEN HELD UP DUE TO DISSATISFACTION WITH THE QUALITY OF THE PRODUCT OFFERED.

LONDON, FEB. 17-(AP)-THE CLOTHES BEING WORN IN SOUTH AFRICA BY QUEEN ELIZABETH AND THE TWO PRINCESSES WERE DESCRIBED FULLY TODAY FOR BRITISH HOUSEWIVES, MOST OF WHOM HAVEN'T SEEN SUCH DUDS SINCE 1939.

THE CLOTHES WERE EXHIBITED RECENTLY TO FASHION EDITORS, BUT DETAILS WERE STRICTLY HUSH-HUSH PENDING THE ROYAL FAMILY'S ARRIVAL AT CAPETOWN.

DRAWINGS AND DESCRIPTIONS GRABBED COLUMN UPON COLUMN IN MOST NEWSPAPERS, ALTHOUGH THE DAILY WORKER (COMMUNIST) AND THE DAILY HERALD (LABOR PARTY) IGNORED THEM.

FASHION ARTISTS TRIED TO OUTDO EACH OTHER IN SLENDERIZING THE QUEEN IN THEIR DRAWINGS.

BUT VERONICA PAPWORTH OF THE LONDON STAR FACED THE ISSUE WITHOUT FLINCHING. SHE WROTE:

"STOUTER WOMEN FREQUENTLY COMPLAIN THAT MOST CLOTHES ARE DESIGNED FOR THE YOUNG AND SLIM. THEY WILL, THEREFORE, BE PARTICULARLY INTERESTED IN THE GOWNS THAT NORMAN HARTNELL HAS DESIGNED FOR THE QUEEN."

PRINCESS ELIZABETH ALSO WAS SLIMMED BY THE ARTISTS, WHO SEEMED TO LIKE HER NEW GET-UPS. FRANCIS MARSHALL OF THE DAILY MAIL SAID HER GRECIAN STYLE MOLYNEUX NUMBER MIGHT SET A NEW FASHION.

"GOOD HEAVENS--MORE OSTRICH FEATHERS," SAID ONE.

Rome, Feb. 17 - (ap) - the argentine emigration mission and the italian government were reported tonight to be ready to sign an interim agreement under which "several thousand" italian workers would sail for south america in the near future.

Italian foreign ministry sources said weekend conversations, resumed at the request of premier alcide de gasperi after negotiations almost failed last friday, were so successful that the agreement might be concluded tomorrow or wednesday.

1947

It was assumed the negotiating parties would continue their discussions in an attempt to reach accord on the argentine mission's original objective--the monthly emigration of 5,000 italians to argentina over a period of several years. [redacted] about 100,000 italians have applied for emigration.

1947

Despite the reported interim agreement, the powerful italian general labor federation was reported to be continuing its opposition to the plan.

NUERNBERG, GERMANY, FEB.17-(AP)-ALBERT SPEER, FORMER NAZI MUNITIONS MINISTER, HAS TOLD AN AMERICAN WAR CRIMES COURT THAT ADOLF HITLER AND HERMANN GOERING WERE STILL CONVINCED AS LATE AS 1944 THAT GERMANY WOULD WIN THE WAR.

SPEER'S TESTIMONY OF FEB.4 BEFORE A CLOSED SESSION OF A COURT TRYING FIELD MARSHAL ERHARD MILCH WAS REVEALED TODAY. HE TESTIFIED THAT HITLER WAS SO ILL-INFORMED HE THOUGHT ONLY GERMANY HAD RADAR IN 1943.

BRITISH-AMERICAN EXPERTS HAD DEVELOPED RADAR LONG BEFORE, AND IT WAS USED IN THE RAF'S DEFENSE OF BRITAIN IN 1940.

THE FORMER MUNITIONS MINISTER IS SERVING A 20-YEAR SENTENCE IMPOSED BY THE INTERNATIONAL MILITARY TRIBUNAL WHICH TRIED TOP NAZIS. MILCH, FORMER DEPUTY CHIEF OF THE NAZI AIR FORCE, ASKED FOR SPEER'S VIEWS IN AN EFFORT TO SUPPORT A PLEA OF INNOCENCE TO CHARGES THAT MILCH, SPEER AND OTHERS RECRUITED SLAVE LABOR AND THAT MILCH FOSTERED MEDICAL EXPERIMENTS ON HUMAN BEINGS.

THE ALLIED CONTROL COUNCIL FOR GERMANY ORDERED THAT SPEER'S TESTIMONY BE PRIVATE, IN KEEPING WITH A POLICY OF PRESERVING ANONYMITY FOR CONVICTED HIGH NAZIS. HE TESTIFIED BEFORE JUDGE MICHAEL A. MUSMANNO OF PITTSBURGH.

SPEER SAID THAT MILCH TOLD HITLER AFTER STALINGRAD THAT GERMANY WAS BEATEN AND SHOULD GIVE UP. FROM THAT DAY, THE WITNESS SAID, MILCH WAS IN DISFAVOR.

SPEER TRACED THE DETERIORATION OF RELATIONS BETWEEN HITLER AND GOERING. HE SAID MILCH OPPOSED GOERING'S IDEA OF USING RUSSIAN PRISONERS OF WAR IN ANTI-AIRCRAFT BATTERIES, RESISTED HITLER'S AND GOERING'S ORDER THAT AIRCRAFT PLANTS BE PLACED UNDERGROUND, DEMANDED FIGHTER PLANES INSTEAD OF THE BOMBERS HIS SUPERIORS WANTED, AND URGED HITLER TO SIGN PEACE TREATIES WITH THE SUBJUGATED NATIONS.

SPEER SAID BOTH HE AND MILCH WERE HELPLESS TO CURB THE FORCED LABOR DRAFT ORDERED BY FRITZ SAUCKEL, NAZI LABOR LEADER. SAUCKEL WAS HANGED LAST OCTOBER ON THAT ACCOUNT.

IT DID NOT STATE WHETHER THERE WERE ANY VICTIMS. LESSER CLASHES WERE REPORTED AT VARIOUS OTHER PLACES IN THE SOVIET ZONE.

A BRITISH SPOKESMAN MEANWHILE CHARGED THAT THE RUSSIANS WERE BEHIND 59,000 TONS AT THE END OF JANUARY IN PROMISED COAL DELIVERIES TO BERLIN. THE OFFICIAL SUPPORTED AT A NEWS CONFERENCE RECENT CHARGES MADE BY U.S. COL.FRANK L.HOWLEY THAT THE CITY'S SUFFERING THIS WINTER WAS IN GREAT PART DUE TO RUSSIAN FAILURE TO DELIVER PROMISED COAL FOR HOUSE HEATING.

DELIVERY OF BROWN COAL BRIQUETS TO BERLIN IS A SOVIET RESPONSIBILITY, THE SPOKESMAN SAID, YET ON FEB. 15 THE BRITISH SECTOR RECEIVED ITS FIRST ALLOTMENT SINCE JAN. 8. UNDER A STEEL-FOR-COAL BARTER AGREEMENT WITH ANGLO-AMERICAN ZONES, THE RUSSIANS SHOULD DELIVER 1,400 TONS OF BROWN COAL BRIQUETS DAILY, HE SAID.

BERLIN POLICE REPORTED ANOTHER SEVEN PERSONS DEAD OVER THE WEEK-END FROM FREEZING AND THE COMBINED EFFECTS OF EXPOSURE AND MALNUTRITION, BRINGING THE TOTAL OF VICTIMS TO ABOUT 175 SINCE DEC. 1.

MOSCOW, FEB.17-(AP)-BRITAIN'S LABOR PARTY WAS ACCUSED IN PRAVDA TODAY OF SEEKING TO INDUCE SOCIAL DEMOCRATS ALL OVER THE WORLD TO JOIN FORCES WITH "BOURGEOIS PARTIES" INSTEAD OF TAKING UNITED ACTION WITH THE COMMUNISTS.

PONOMAREV SAID THE NITY OF DEMOCRATIC STATES AND ABOVE ALL OF THE WORKERS PLAYED A LEADING PART IN THE STRUGGLE AGAINST "AGGRESSIVE, IMPERIALISTIC REACTION" AND FOR THE INTERESTS OF THE MASSES.

HE DECLARED THAT DURING THE WAR, WORKERS' MOVEMENTS HAD BEEN STRENGTHENED AND THAT SINCE THEN THE MASSES HAD SHOWN A DESIRE TO SOLIDIFY UNITY OF WORKERS' AND DEMOCRATIC MOVEMENTS, NOTABLY OF TRADE UNIONS.

"AT THE SAME TIME," HE ADDED, "REACTIONARIES ALL OVER THE WORLD, FEELING THE GROWTH OF A GENERAL CRISIS IN THE CAPITALISTIC SYSTEM, ARE SEEKING TO RETAIN AND STRENGTHEN THEIR POSITION AND ARE INCREASING THEIR FIGHT AGAINST DEMOCRACY.... THEY DO NOT WISH TO LEAVE THIS HISTORICAL STAGE VOLUNTARILY."

AT THE NEW RATE OF 12,000 CHINESE DOLLARS TO $1 U.S., THIS RATED GOLD AT $40 AN OUNCE, COMPARED WITH THE PREVIOUS BLACK MARKET PRICE OF $45 TO $50. (THE PRICE IN THE U.S. IS $35.)

BLACK MARKETEERS WENT UNDERGROUND BUT STILL WERE OFFERING TO DEAL IN AMERICAN CURRSNCY DESPITE ABSOLUTE PROHIBITION AGAINST IT.

ONE DEALER SET A RATE OF 11,500 TO 1 FOR BUYING AND 12,500 TO 1 FOR SELLING. ANOTHER OFFERED TO BUY U.S.DOLLARS AT 13,000 TO 1.

THUS FAR NONE HAD DARED SET A GOLD PRICE BUT OFFERINGS WERE EXPECTED SOON AT RATES FAR HIGHER THAN THE GOVERNMENT'S. THE NEW RULES FORBID ALL PRIVATE TRADING IN GOLD.

MOST FOREIGN BUSINESS MEN WERE GLOOMY CONCERNING THE STRINGENT ECONOMIC MEASURES, SAYING THEY LOOKED GOOD BUT WOULD BE EXTREMELY DIFFICULT TO ENFORCE.

ONE BANKER REMARKED THAT "THE GOVERNMENT MADE NO MENTION OF STOPPING ITS MONEY-PRINTING PRESSES, WHICH ARE THE BASIS OF EVIL IN CHINA'S ECONOMIC CONDITIONS."

WANG YUN-WU, ECONOMICS MINISTER, SAID THE PRICE AND WAGE CEILINGS ORDERED BY THE GOVERNMENT WOULD BE FIXED AT "REASONABLE" LEVELS.

NANKING,TUESDAY,FEB 18-(AP)-PENG HSUEH-PEI, CHINESE GOVERNMENT MINISTER OF INFORMATION, COPLAINED IN A FORMAL STATEMENT TODAY AGAINST A FEB. 15 DISPATCH BY THIS CORRESPONDENT.

THE DISPATCH QUOTED SOURCES CLOSE TO GENERALISSIMO CHIANG KAI-SHEK AS SAYING THE CHINESE LEADER WAS FULLY CONVINCED FORCE WAS THE ONLY MEANS OF SETTLING THE COMMUNIST PROBLEM AND THAT HE BLAMED THE UNITED STATES' SUSPENSION OF ARMS AND CREDITS TO HIS GOVERNMENT FOR EMBOLDENING THE COMMUNISTS TO CONTINUE FIGHTING.

THE MINISTER OF INFORMATION BASED HIS PROTEST ON HIS BELIEF THAT THE DISPATCH WAS FOUNDED ON AN OFF-THE-RECORD CONFERENCE WHICH CHIANG HELD FEB. 14 FOR A GROUP OF NINE VISITING AMERICAN EDITORS AND PUBLISHERS (AND NOT ATTENDED BY MILKS).

ACTUALLY, THE DISPATCH WAS NOT BASED ON THAT INTERVIEW BUT CAME FROM RELIABLE AND WELL-INFORMED CHINESE AND AMERICAN SOURCES DURING THE PREVIOUS WEEK.

(AS FAR AS IS KNOWN, THE CHIANG CONFERENCE WITH THE VISITING EDITORS HAS NOT BEEN PUBLISHED ANYWHERE, BUT PENG'S PROTEST TODAY DISCLOSED SOMETHING OF ITS NATURE.)

PENG STATED:

"I WAS PRESENT AT THE CHIANG KAI-SHEK INTERVIEW AND FEEL COMPELLED TO MAKE A NECESSARY CORRECTION. THE PRESIDENT DID NOT QUESTION AMERICA'S RIGHT TO REFUSE ARMS AND CREDITS, BUT GAVE AS AN OFF-THE-RECORD OPINION THAT PUBLIC ANNOUNCEMENT OF THE INSISTENCE ON A COALITION GOVERNMENT, INCLUDING THE COMMUNISTS, AS A CONDITION FOR GRANTING LOANS AND SELLING ARMS, ONLY EMBOLDENED THE COMMUNISTS TO ADOPT AN ADAMANT ATTITUDE AND REFUSE TO NEGOTIATE WITH THE GOVERNMENT.

"TO PRESENT THIS STATEMENT AS AN INDICATION THAT THE GENERALISSIMO WAS BLAMING THE UNITED STATES FOR ..."

(ADVANCE)--MINNEAPOLIS, FEB 17-(AP)-TRYGVE LIE, SECRETARY-GENERAL OF THE UNITED NATIONS, EXPRESSED CONFIDENCE TONIGHT THAT THERE WAS NO DANGER OF WAR, IN THE NEAR FUTURE, AMONG THE GREAT POWERS.

ADDRESSING THE MINNEAPOLIS ROUND TABLE OF THE NATIONAL CONFERENCE OF CHRISTIANS AND JEWS, LIE SAID IN A PREPARED TEXT THAT ALL COUNTRIES WHICH PARTICIPATED IN WORLD WAR II WERE GRAVELY DAMAGED, ALL FACED SERIOUS DOMESTIC PROBLEMS, AND ALL WERE CONFRONTED BY THE TASK OF RECONSTRUCTION.

"ALTHOUGH EVERY ONE OF THE GREAT POWERS HAS ITS OWN DEFINITE IDEAS ABOUT THE PEACE AND EVERYONE OF THEM IS DETERMINED TO HAVE A SITUATION WHICH WILL ASSURE IT OF SECURITY IN THE FUTURE, NONE OF THESE COUNTRIES HAS THE SLIGHTEST NOTION THAT ITS PROBLEMS CAN BE SETTLED BY A FRESH CONFLICT," LIE SAID.

"SOME PEOPLES SUFFERED MORE THAN OTHERS IN THE LAST WAR BUT ALL, I AM UTTERLY CONVINCED, HAVE LEARNED TO LOATHE THE VERY THOUGHT OF WAR. THE PRESENT GENERATION, YOU CAN BE SURE, SIMPLY WOULD NOT TOLERATE ANOTHER WAR.

"THUS, FOR THE TIME BEING, THE POSSIBILITY OF ACTUAL ARMED CONFLICT INVOLVING THE POWERS CAN BE DISCARDED AS A MADMAN'S DREAM."

LIE CAUTIONED, HOWEVER, THAT THE WORLD MUST DEVOTE ITSELF TO THE FUTURE.

"IT IS ALREADY CLEAR THAT NO TEMPORARY VACATION FROM WAR WILL BE ENOUGH.

"WE MUST FACE THE FACT, AND WE MUST NOT FOR A MOMENT ALLOW OURSELVES TO ESCAPE THE FACT, THAT THIS WORLD MUST NEVER HAVE ANOTHER WAR."

LIE THEN SAID THE WORLD MUST LOOK TO THE TRUSTEESHIP COUNCIL OF THE UN TO SEE TO IT THAT NON-SELF GOVERNING TERRITORIES ARE PROPERLY ADMINISTERED--THAT THE PEOPLE THEREIN HAVE A DECENT, CONTENTED AND CIVILIZED EXISTENCE. HE SAID THE WORLD MUST RECOGNIZE THAT DECENT ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL CONDITIONS NOT ONLY ARE DESIRABLE BUT ARE AN ABSOLUTE NECESSITY TO THE PREVENTION OF WAR. CLEVELAND, FEB. 17-(AP)-MONOPOLY ON SCIENTIFIC BRAINS BY THE UNITED STATES IS AN IMPOSSIBILITY, PROF. HENRY D.SMYTH OF PRINCETON UNIVERSITY, AUTHOR OF THE ARMY-APPROVED SMYTH REPORT ON "ATOMIC ENERGY FOR MILITARY PURPOSES* IN 1945, DECLARED TONIGHT.

DISCUSSING CONTROL OF ATOMIC BOMB SECRETS, PROF.SMYTH TOLD THE WESTERN RESERVE SIGMA XI FATERNITY: "I AM SURE WE CAN'T HAVE A MONOPOLY, THAT WE CAN'T PREVENT BRIGHT PEOPLE FROM DEVELOPING AND WORKING ELSEWHERE."

BERNARD M.BARUCH TOLD THE U.S.SENATE ATOMIC COMMITTEE TWO WEEKS AGO THAT THE SMYTH REPORT WAS "THE BIGGEST BREACH OF SECURITY SINCE THE BEGINNING OF THE (ATOM BOMB) PROJECT," AND, IN A STATEMENT RELEASED IN CONJUNCTION WITH HIS ADDRESS, SMYTH SAID:

"WE ALWAYS PAY HEAVILY FOR SECRECY AND QUITE OFTEN MAY MAKE

THE PAYMENT WITHOUT GETTING THE SECRECY, SO THAT WE MUST ALWAYS REMEMBER THAT ADVANTAGES MUST BE WEIGHED AGAINST DISADVANTAGES IF WE ARE GOING TO TALK ABOUT KEEPING SOME DEVICE SECRET. /X X

"I BELIEVE THERE ARE TWO MAJOR REASONS FOR RELEASING SOME INFORMATION ABOUT ATOMIC ENERGY, AT LEAST TO THE DEGREE THAT HAS BEEN DONE. THE FIRST REASON IS POLITICAL. THE ULTIMATE RESPONSIBILITY FOR OUR NATION'S POLICY RESTS ON ITS CITIZENS, AND THEY CAN DISCHARGE SUCH RESPONSIBILITIES WISELY ONLY IF THEY ARE INFORMED.

"I AM NOT A POLITICAL EXPERT---BUT LET ME ASK HOW WE COULD ATTEMPT TO SET UP NATIONAL AND INTERNATIONAL SYSTEMS OF CONTROL OF ATOMIC ENERGY WITHOUT TELLING THE PEOPLE WHAT ATOMIC ENERGY IS. IT SEEMS TO BE DIFFICULT ENOUGH AS IT IS, AND I LEAVE TO YOUR IMAGINATION TO GUESS WHAT WOULD HAVE HAPPENED IF NO INFORMATION WHATEVER HAD BEEN RELEASED."

SMYTH'S SECOND REASON FOR RELEASING SOME INFORMATION ABOUT ATOMIC ENERGY WAS TO "MAKE THIS COUNTRY STRONG IN TECHNOLOGY, WHICH, IN TURN, DEPENDS HEAVILY UPON SCIENTIFIC RESEARCH. EITHER IN WAR OR PEACE, THE MACHINES OF THE FUTURE WILL BE DIFFERENT FROM THOSE OF TODAY, AND WILL BE THE CREATIONS OF ENGINEERS AND SCIENTISTS NOW DOING RESEARCH, OR BEING TRAINED TO DO IT.

"EVERY PIECE OF INFORMATION THAT IS WITHHELD FROM THESE MEN AND WOMEN," HE CONTINUED, "WILL LESSEN THEIR USEFULNESS TO THE COUNTRY IN THE FUTURE. THIS SHOULD ALWAYS BE BORNE IN MIND IN A DECISION TO WITHHOLD A PIECE OF INFORMATION. IT IS JUST AS IMPORTANT AS THE OTHER HALF OF THE QUESTION, WHICH IS, WILL THE RELEASE OF THIS INFORMATION HELP OUR PTENTIAL ENEMIES?"

GH1219AES

CLEVELAND, FIRST ADD ATOMIC ENERGY SECRECY X X X POLITICAL ENEMIES?"

THE PRINCETON SCIENTIST ASSERTED SCIENTIFIC DATA FROM ONE SECTION OF THE MANHATTAN DISTRICT ALONE WOULD "FILL THIRTY OR FORTY FAT VOLUMES," AND ADDED, "COMPARE THIS WITH THE BRIEF WAR DEPARTMENT REPORT THAT HAS BEE RELEASED."

HE SAID INFORMATION REQUIRED TO MANUFACTURE ATOMIC BOMBS COULD BE GROUPED UNDER THESE HEADINGS:

(1) FUNDAMENTAL SCIENTIFIC PRINCIPLES; (2) SCIENTIFIC DATA, OR THE ACTUAL NUMBERS REQUIRED TO PUT THE PRINCIPLES INTO OPERATION; (3) TECHNOLOGICAL PROCESSES, MACHINES, INSTRUMENTS AND DESIGNS. (4) GENERAL TECHNOLOGICAL KNOWLEDGE AND SKILL, COMMONLY CALLED "KNOW-HOW."

"OF THESE," SAID PROF. SMYTH, "THE FIRST CATEGORY, THE FUNDAMENTAL SCIENTIFIC PRINCIPLES, WERE WELL KNOW TO SCIENTISTS ALL OVER THE WORLD; THE FOURTH CATEGORY CANNOT BE READILY TRANSMITTED. SO WE ARE CONCERNED ESSENTIALLY WITH THE TWO REMAINING CATEGORIES, THE SCIENTIFIC DATA AND THE TECHNOLOGICAL PROCESSES.

"SOME OF THE SCIENTIFIC DATA WERE KNOWN BEFORE THE WAR. OTHERS CAN BE READILY GUESSED FROM THE KNOWLEGE OF THE BOMB'S SUCCESS. SOME ARE OF LITTLE GENERAL VALUE, AND YET OF IMPORTANCE IN BOMB MANUFACTURE. WE SHOULD KEEP THEM SECRET, UNTIL A SYSTEM OF INTERNATIONAL CONTROL HAS BEEN ESTABLISHED."

HE CONCLUDED THAT THE GOVERNMENT'S POLICY HAD THE NATIONAL WELFARE AS ITS "ONLY GUIDING PRINCIPLE," AND ADDED, "PERSONALLY, I BELIEVE THIS PRINCIPLE HAS BEEN WISELY AND CONSERVATIVELY APPLIED. BUT LET ME REMIND YOU THAT THE MOST ESSENTIAL FACT OF ALL, THAT EFFECTIVE ATOMIC BOMBS CAN BE MADE, WAS IRRETRIEVABLY RELEASED TO THE WORLD AT HIROSHIMA ON AUG. 6, 1945---SURELY A RECKLESS BREACH OF SECURITY--- AND THAT OTHER NATIONS CERTAINLY WILL LEARN HOW TO MAKE THE, DESPITE WHATEVER RULES AND RESTRICTIONS WE MAINTAIN."

OTTAWA, FEB 27-(AP)-THE CANADIAN GOVERNMENT ANNOUNCED TODAY A 30 CENTS A BUSHEL INCREASE IN THE PRICE OF WHEAT SOLD FOR DOMESTIC CONSUMPTION BUT SAID THE CEILING PRICES ON FLOUR, BREAD, ROLL FEEDS AND OTHER WHEAT PRODUCTS WILL BE MAINTAINED.

TO THE AVERAGE CONSUMER, THIS MEANS THAT THE RETAIL PRICE OF BREAD WILL REMAIN UNCHANGED DESPITE THE INCREASE.

THE EFFECT OF THIS IMPORTANT POLICY CHANGE, ANNOUNCED IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS BY TRADE MINISTER J.A.MACKINNON (CAP H), IS THAT THE PRICE OF WHEAT SOLD FOR DOMESTIC CONSUMPTION WILL INCREASE IMMEDIATELY FROM $1.20 TO $1.50 A BUSHEL, PLUS CARRYING CHARGES. THIS WILL MEAN THAT THE WHEAT FARMER, THROUGH WHEAT PARTICIPATION CERTIFICATES, WILL RECEIVE AN ADDITIONAL 30 CENTS A BUSHEL ON WHEAT THUS SOLD FOR DOMESTIC USE.

THE EXTRA 30 CENTS WILL BE PAID OUT OF THE PUBLIC TREASURY FUNDS, AS MACKINNON INDICATED, THE GOVERNMENT PLANS TO CONTINUE ITS POLICY OF KEEPING BREAD PRICES DOWN BY PAYING A SUBSIDY TO MILLERS TO ENABLE THEM TO OBTAIN WHEAT AT A FIXED PRICE OF 77 3/4 CENTS A BUSHEL. THIS MEANS THE GOVERNMENT WILL INCREASE BY 30 CENTS THE AMOUNT IT PAYS MILLERS TO MAKE UP THE DIFFERENCE BETWEEN 77 3/4 CENTS AND THE DOMESTIC PRICE, NOW PUT AT $1.50.

THE ONLY CHANGE WILL BE AN INCREASE OF SLIGHTLY MORE THAN 3C CENTS A POUND IN WHAT WERE FOR YEARS 10 CANADA.

THE MINISTER SAID IT WAS NECESSARY TO THE DE-CONTROL PROGRAM THAT THE PREVAILING PRICES ON FLOUR, BACON, HALL PEAS AND OTHER MEAT PRODUCTS NOT BE AFFECTED.

NEW YORK, FEB.17-(AP)-HANS ISBRANDTSEN, PRESIDENT OF THE ISBRANDTSEN LINE, OWNER OF THE 10,000-TON VESSEL, THE MARTIN BEHRMAN EXPRESSED HOPE TONIGHT THAT "THINGS WILL BE STRAIGHTENED OUT" IN A CONTROVERSY OVER THE SHIP'S PROJECTED DEPARTURE FROM CHERIBON, JAVA, WITH A VALUABLE CARGO DESTINED FOR THE UNITED STATES.

ISBRANDTSEN SAID THE U.S. STATE DEPARTMENT "TECHNICALLY MAY BE RIGHT" IN INDICATING THAT THE UNITED STATES WOULD RECOGNIZE AUTHORITY OF THE DUTCH INDIES GOVERNMENT TO PREVENT THE MARTIN BEHRMAN'S DEPARTURE.

"WE ARE NOT CONTESTING ANY DUTCH EDICT," HE SAID. "NO SUCH EDICT EXISTED WHEN WE SENT THE SHIP IN THERE. WE HAVE NO POLITICAL INTEREST IN WHAT GOES OUT THERE. WE WILL ABIDE, OF COURSE, BY ANYTHING THAT IS DECIDED BY FAIR MEANS. AND I AM HOPEFUL THAT THE THING WILL BE STRAIGHTENED OUT."

ISBRANDTSEN SAID HE "BELIEVED" THAT PART OF THE CARGO--RUBBER, SUGAR, CINCHONA, SISAL AND QUININE--WAS CONSIGNED TO THE UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT. THE BULK OF THE CARGO, HE ADDED, WAS CONSIGNED TO HIS SHIPPING FIRM.

THE VESSEL IS COMMANDED BY CAPT.T.GRAY, A NAVAL RESERVE OFFICER, AND CARRIES A 43-MAN AMERICAN CREW, HE SAID.

ISBRANDTSEN SAID THE VESSEL WAS SCHEDULED TO DOCK IN NEW YORK CITY WITH THE CARGO IT IS LOADING NOW IN CHERIBON, JAVA.

"THERE WOULD HAVE BEEN NO CONTROVERSY AT ALL ABOUT THIS CARGO," ISBRANDTSEN SAID, "IF THE DUTCH GOVERNMENT HAD NOT CHANGED THE RULES AFTER OUR SHIP HAD ARRIVED THERE AND STARTED TO LOAD. WE ARE NOT INTERESTED IN ANY CONTROVERSY. WE DON'T WANT TO BE ANY TEST CASE FOR ANYTHING. WE JUST WANT TO BE ABLE TO GO INTO ANY PORT THAT IS OPEN TO AMERICAN SHIPS AND CARRY ON TRADE."

HE SAID THE STATE DEPARTMENT IS BEING KEPT FULLY INFORMED OF ALL INFORMATION AVAILABLE TO THE SHIPPING LINE.

WASHINGTON, FEB 17-(AP)-THE STATE DEPARTMENT INDICATED TONIGHT THAT THE UNITED STATES WOULD RECOGNIZE AUTHORITY OF THE DUTCH INDIES GOVERNMENT TO PREVENT THE DEPARTURE OF AN AMERICAN CARGO SHIP FROM CHERIBON, JAVA, WITH A CARGO OF RUBBER AND OTHER PRODUCTS.

OFFICIALS FAMILIAR WITH THE CONTROVERSY SAID THAT THE OPERATORS OF THE SHIP, THE MARTIN BEHRMAN UNDERTOOK TO TRANSPORT THE CARGO AT THEIR OWN RISK AND RESPONSIBILITY.

THE STATE DEPARTMENT LAST MONTH APPROVED A DEAL BY THE OPERATORS, THE ISBRANDTSEN LINE, NEW YORK CITY, WITH AN INDONESIAN BANK FOR THE EXPORT OF THE CARGO, IT WAS EXPLAINED. SUBSEQUENTLY THE DUTCH AUTHORITIES ON JAN. 29 ISSUED STRICT NEW REGULATIONS TO PREVENT SUCH EXPORTS, AND THE DEPARTMENT'S POSITION IS THAT THE DUTCH WERE FULLY AUTHORIZED TO ACT.

THE DUTCH AUTHORITIES SAID THEY HAD NO OBJECTIONS TO THE EXPORT OF PRODUCTS OF STATES OCCUPIED BY THE INDONESIAN ANTI-GOVERNMENT FORCES, PROVIDED EXPORT DUTIES WERE PAID AND THE INDONESIANS COULD SHOW A CLEAR TITLE TO THE PRODUCE.

OFFICIALS SAID THE SHIP'S OPERATORS HAD BEEN KEPT FULLY INFORMED OF THE ALTERED SITUATION. A NUMBER OF BRITISH AND CHINESE VESSELS HAVE BEEN INTERCEPTED BY THE DUTCH AND FORCED TO RETURN THEIR CARGOS BECAUSE OF FAILURE TO COMPLY WITH THE DUTCH REGULATIONS.

THE DUTCH AND THE INDONESIANS REACHED A TENTATIVE PEACE AGREEMENT LAST NOVEMBER AT CHERIBON AND OFFICIALS SAID IT WAS HOPED EARLY RATIFICATION OF THIS WOULD OPEN THE DUTCH EAST INDIES TO ACTIVE TRADE.

MR.TRUMAN'S ACTION WAS WITHOUT A FORMAL REQUEST FROM ROMANIA, OFFICIALS SAID. ALTHOUGH THIS GOVERNMENT HAS RECOGNIZED THE COMMUNIST DOMINATED GOVERNMENT, IT HAS SENT NO FULL DIPLOMATIC MISSION TO BUCHAREST AND HAS ONLY A POLITICAL REPRESENTATIVE THERE.

THE EMERGENCY ARMY SUPPLIES ARE ABOARD A SINGLE SHIP NOW NEARING GIBRALTAR. SHOULD ROMANIA FAIL TO COMPLY WITH THE CONDITIONS LAID DOWN BY THE CHIEF EXECUTIVE, IT COULD BE DIVERTED BEFORE REACHING CONSTANZA, ROMANIA'S PRINCIPAL BLACK SEA PORT.

WASHINGTON,FEB 17-(AP)-FOLLOWING IS THE TEXT OF PRESIDENT TRUMAN'S STATEMENT OFFERING AID TO STARVING PEOPLE IN MOLDAVIS: (ABOUT 350)

I HAVE JUST BEEN INFORMED BY AMERICAN OFFICIALS IN ROMANIA THAT 500,000 PEOPLE ARE NOW STARVING IN MOLDAVIS, THE NORTHERN PROVINCE OF ROMANIA. THOUSANDS HAVE ALREADY DIED, HUNDREDS ARE DYING DAILY AND CONDITIONS ARE STEADILY WORSENING.

IN THE CIRCUMSTANCES, I HAVE ASKED THE AMERICAN RED CROSS TO FINANCE AND SUPERVISE DISTRIBUTION OF 4,500 TONS OF TEN-IN-ONE RATIONS AND 2,500 TONS OF BEANS TO THESE STARVING PEOPLE. THESE SUPPLIES ALREADY ON THE WATER WILL BE DIVERTED BY THE UNITED STATES ARMY AND SHOULD REACH CONSTANZA, ROMANIA, WITHIN TEN DAYS. THEY ARE SUFFICIENT TO PROVIDE 1,000 CALORIES PER DAY FOR 500,000 PEOPLE FOR APPROXIMATELY 16 DAYS. THE ROMANIAN GOVERNMENT IS BEING REQUESTED TO MAKE AVAILABLE TRANSPORTATION AND OTHER FACILITIES TO ENABLE THE ROMANIAN RED CROSS, UNDER SUPERVISION OF THE AMERICAN RED CROSS, TO DISTRIBUTE THIS FOOD WITHOUT CHARGE AND WITH GUARANTEES AGAINST DISCRIMINATION ON POLITICAL, RACIAL, RELIGIOUS OR SOCIAL GROUNDS.

AT THE SAME TIME, DESPITE THE MAGNITUDE OF WORLD DEMANDS ON EXISTING STOCKS AND TRANSPORTATION FACILITIES, URGENT ATTENTION IS BEING GIVEN TO THE POSSIBILITIES OF PROVIDING ADDITIONAL FOOD SUPPLIES, IN THE FORM OF CEREAL GRAINS, FOR PURCHASE BY ROMANIA, AND IN THAT CONNECTION THE ROMANIAN GOVERNMENT HAS BEEN ASKED TO GIVE IMMEDIATE ASSURANCES THAT MEASURES WILL BE TAKEN SO THAT FOOD THUS FURNISHED, AS WELL AS REMAINING INDIGENOUS FOOD, WILL BE UTILIZED EFFECTIVELY TO PREVENT THE RECURRENCE OF SUCH AN EMERGENCY SITUATION AS HAS NOW ARISEN. AMONG THE ASSURANCES DESIRED, ARE GUARANTEES THAT, SO LONG AS THE PRESENT FAMINE CONTINUES, 1) ROMANIA WILL NOT EMPLOY ANY GRAIN FOR THE PAYMENT OF REPARATIONS, 2) ROMANIA WILL NOT EXPORT OR PERMIT THE EXPORT OF ANY GRAIN FROM ROMANIA FOR THE REPAYMENT OF GRAIN LOANS FROM OTHER COUNTRIES, FOR TRADE PURPOSES, OR FOR ANY OTHER REASONS, AND 3) UNITED STATES REPRESENTATIVES IN ROMANIA WILL BE FREE TO OBSERVE, IN SUCH MANNER AS THEY SEE FIT, THE DISTRIBUTION WITHIN ROMANIA OF GRAIN FROM UNITED STATES SOURCES, WHICH DISTRIBUTION WILL LIKEWISE BE EFFECTED WITHOUT POLITICAL, RACIAL, RELIGIOUS OR SOCIAL DISCRIMINATION.

I HAVE TAKEN THIS ACTION ON HUMANITARIAN GROUNDS. IT IS IN THE TRADITION OF THE AMERICAN PEOPLE TO TAKE ALL POSSIBLE STEPS TO ALLEVIATE THE PRESENT SUFFERING OF THE PEOPLE OF ROMANIA, NO MATTER WHAT MAY BE THE CAUSE OF THE DIRE EMERGENCY IN WHICH THESE PEOPLE NOW FIND THEMSELVES.

RUSSIAN(250)

WASHINGTON,FEB.17-(AP)-REP.RANKIN (D-MISS) DEMANDED TODAY THAT UNITED STATES DIPLOMATS STOP "LICKING THE BOOTS OF JOE STALIN."

HIS ADDRESS WAS ONE OF SEVERAL IN THE HOUSE AND SENATE CALLING FOR A FIRMER ATTITUDE IN DEALINGS WITH RUSSIA.

ON THE SENATE SIDE, SENATOR BROOKS (R-ILL) DECLARED THAT SECRETARY OF STATE MARSHALL AND BEDELL SMITH, AMBASSADOR TO MOSCOW, "MUST X X STOP THE ETERNAL APPEASEMENT OF THE ENEMIES OF THE LIBERTIES WE HOLD SO DEAR."

SPECIFICALLY, BROOKS DENOUNCED "APPEASEMENT OF RUSSIA" AT CONFERENCES WHICH, HE SAID, FAILED TO ASSURE "FREEDOM AND INDEPENDENCE OF LITHUANIA AND THE OTHER BALTIC STATES."

RANKIN'S REMARKS FOLLOWED A PROTEST BY REP.KEATING (R-NY) AGAINST RUSSIAN LIMITATION OF THE NUMBER OF CORRESPONDENTS PERMITTED TO COVER THE FORTHCOMING MOSCOW CONFERENCE.

UNLESS RUSSIA RELAXES THE PRESS ARRANGEMENTS, KEATING SAID, THE UNITED STATES SHOULD INSIST THAT THE CONFERENCES BE HELD ELSEWHERE.

THE RUSSIAN DISCUSSION IN THE HOUSE WAS TOUCHED OFF BY A DECLARATION BY REP.CELLER (D-NY) THAT A SOVIET PROTEST AGAINST REMARKS OF UNDERSECRETARY OF STATE DEAN ACHESON "SHOULD BE THROWN IN THE WASTE-BASKET."

CELLER SAID ACHESON WAS "EMINENTLY SOUND" IN HIS TESTIMONY AT A RECENT SENATE HEARING CONCERNING THE SOVIET FOREIGN POLICY.

THE MOSCOW RADIO SAID SATURDAY THAT SOVIET FOREIGN MINISTER MOLOTOV HAD COMPLAINED TO THE U.S.EMBASSY IN MOSCOW ABOUT ACHESON'S TESTIMONY. THE RADIO QUOTED ATCHESON AS SAYING RUSSIAN FOREIGN POLICY WAS "AGGRESSIVE AND EXPANSIONIST." THE RECORD, HOWEVER, SHOWED THAT ACHESON SAID "EXPANDING" RATHER THAN "EXPANSIONIST."

FR249PES

WASHINGTON,FEB.17-(AP)-THE STATE DEPARTMENT TOOK THE POSITION TODAY THAT THE UNITED STATES WOULD VIOLATE "AGREEMENTS MADE IN GOOD FAITH" UNLESS CONGRESS AGREES TO THE SHIPMENT OF SOME $25,000,000 IN LEND-LEASE GOODS TO RUSSIA.

THE DEPARTMENT'S VIEWS WERE MADE PUBLIC BY SENATOR BRIDGES (R-NH) CHAIRMAN OF THE SENATE APPROPRIATIONS COMMITTEE WHICH HAS BEEN INVESTIGATING SHIPMENTS OF GOODS ORDERED BY OTHER COUNTRIES PRIOR TO EXPIRATION OF THE LEND-LEASE PROGRAM.

THE COMMITTEE HAD BEEN ADVISED BY COMPTROLLER GENERAL LINDSAY C. WARREN THAT HE CONSIDERED THE RUSSIAN SHIPMENT ILLEGAL BECAUSE A SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT REQUIRED THIS COUNTRY TO FOOT THE BILL FOR SHIPPING EXPENSES. HE CONTENDED THAT CONGRESS, IN CLOSING OUT THE LEND-LEASE PROGRAM, PROHIBITED PAYMENT OF SUCH EXPENSES ON SHIPMENTS AFTER DEC.31.

E.L.FISHER, ASSISTANT GENERAL COUNSEL OF THE GENERAL ACCOUNTING OFFICE AND AN AIDE TO WARREN, HAD TOLD THE COMMITTEE HE REGARDED THIS ARRANGEMENT FOR RUSSIA AS A "SUBTERFUGE CALCULATED TO CIRCUMVENT THE WILL OF CONGRESS."

IN GIVING THE STATE DEPARTMENT'S SIDE OF THE MATTER, CHESTER LANE, LEND-LEASE ADMINISTRATOR, DENIED THE "SUBTERFUGE" CHARGE. SAYING THAT CONGRESS HAD GIVEN THE ADMINISTRATION BROAD POWERS TO MAKE LEND-LEASE AGREEMENTS, LANE ADDED IN A LETTER TO THE COMMITTEE:

"UNDER THIS PROVISION, ANY FOREIGN GOVERNMENT CONTRACTING WITH THE UNITED STATES WAS ENTITLED TO ASSUME THE GOOD FAITH OF AN ACT OF CONGRESS WHICH STATED IN EFFECT THAT EVEN IF CONGRESS WERE TO TERMINATE IN GENERAL THE LEND-LEASE POWERS BY CONCURRENT RESOLUTION, THE TERMINATION WOULD BE INAPPLICABLE TO AGREEMENTS MADE BEFORE THE PASSAGE OF THE RESOLUTION."

LANE ADDED THAT CONVERSATIONS WITH REPRESENTATIVES OF THE GOVERNMENTS INDICATED THAT FAILURE TO CARRY OUT THE LEND-LEASE SHIPMENTS WOULD BE CONSIDERED "TO BE A VIOLATION OF THE AGREEMENTS."

EVERY EFFORT WAS MADE TO GET THE LEND-LEASE GOODS MOVED BEFORE DEC.31, LANE CONTINUED, BUT THIS WAS NOT POSSIBLE BECAUSE OF STRIKES AND OTHER DELAYS. FURTHER, HE SAID, WARREN PREVIOUSLY RULED GOVERNMENT FUNDS COULD BE USED TO PAY SHIPPING COSTS "BY VIRTUE OF THE INTERNATIONAL AGREEMENTS HERETOFORE ENTERED INTO."

U.N.-PACIFIC BASES
BY JOHN A.PARRIS, JR.

(ADVANCE) LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., FEB.17-(AP)-THE UNITED STATES IS DETERMINED TO MAINTAIN DEFENSIVE CONTROL OF THE PACIFIC.

BEHIND THE AMERICAN ANNOUNCEMENT TODAY THAT THE U.S. INTENDS TO KEEP THE STRATEGIC CHAINS OF JAPANESE-MANDATE ISLANDS IN THE PACIFIC IS A PLAN TO ESTABLISH AIR AND NAVAL BASES WHICH WOULD PREVENT ANOTHER PEARL HARBOR OR AN ATTACK ON THE UNITED STATES.

THE ULTIMATE AIM IS TO GIVE THE UNITED STATES A DEFENSE IN DEPTH.

IN ASKING THE UNITED NATIONS TO DESIGNATE THESE ISLANDS AS A "STRATEGIC AREA", THE U.S. MADE IT CLEAR THAT THEY MUST BE UNDER AMERICAN ADMINISTRATION.

UNDER THE AGREEMENT OFFERED THE UNITED NATIONS, THE U.S. GOVERNMENT STATED THAT THE UNITED STATES SHALL BE ENTITLED TO ESTABLISH NAVAL, MILITARY AND AIR BASES AND TO ERECT FORTIFICATIONS; AND TO STATION AND EMPLOY ARMED FORCES IN THE TERRITORY.

THE ISLANDS INCLUDED IN THE AGREEMENT ARE THE MARSHALLS, MARIANAS AND CAROLINES WHICH WERE CAPTURED BY THE U.S.FORCES FOR USE AS BASES IN THE ATTACK ON JAPAN.

THE JAPANESE-MANDATE ISLANDS NUMBER 623. THEY EXTEND NORTH FROM THE EQUATOR ABOUT 1,200 MILES AND FOR ABOUT 2,500 MILES FROM EAST TO WEST. THEY HAVE A TOTAL LAND AREA OF ONLY 829 SQUARE MILES, LESS THAN THE SIZE OF VERMONT. THEIR TOTAL POPULATION IS ABOUT 85,000.

WITH THE EXCEPTION OF GUAM IN THE MARIANAS, AN AMERICAN POSSESSION RECEIVED FROM SPAIN, THESE ISLANDS WERE FORMERLY GERMAN POSSESSIONS, BUT WERE MANDATED BY THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS TO JAPAN.

THE MARSHALLS CONSIST OF 33 CORAL ATOLLS.

EACH OF THE THREE GROUPS HAS A LANGUAGE OF ITS OWN.

THEY FORM AN INTEGRAL PART OF AMERICA'S FUTURE DEFENSE PLAN FOR THE PACIFIC.

UNDER THE PLAN, A DEFENSE SYSTEM REVOLVING AROUND GUAM, THE MARSHALLS, CAROLINES AND MARIANAS WOULD BE DESIGNED TO INTERCEPT AND STOP AIR FLEETS, SURFACE FLEETS OR GUIDED MISSILES AIMED AT THE UNITED STATES FROM THE WEST.

MANY OBSERVERS BELIEVE THAT THE U.S. DESIRE FOR ISLAND BASES NEAR THE MAINLAND OF ASIA ALSO IS MOTIVATED BY THE DECISION OF THE POTSDAM CONFERENCE GIVING THE KURILE ISLANDS TO RUSSIA.

BUT WHETHER THE DEFENSE PLAN FOR THE PACIFIC DRAWN UP BY THE JOINT CHIEFS OF STAFF WILL BECOME A REALITY DEPENDS GREATLY ON CONGRESS. ONLY THROUGH CONGRESSIONAL APPROPRIATIONS SUFFICIENT TO DEVELOP AND MAINTAIN THE BASES CAN THE PLAN BE CARRIED OUT.

AMERICAN SOURCES HERE RECALLED THAT DURING PEACE-TIME, CONGRESS HAS BEEN OPPOSED TO LARGE APPROPRIATIONS FOR MILITARY INSTALLATIONS IN THE PACIFIC.

A171

IN 1936, CONGRESS REFUSED TO GRANT SUFFICIENT FUNDS FOR THE DEVELOPMENT OF THE BASE AT GUAM WHICH HAS BEEN EAR-MARKED AS THE PIVOT OF THE OUTER LINE OF PACIFIC DEFENSE.

THE U.S. NAVY LONG HAS CONSIDERED GUAM AS THE KEY TO CONTROL OF THE WESTERN PACIFIC. TOGETHER WITH SAIPAN AND TINIAN, GUAM PROVIDES A MAJOR BASE IN CLOSE PROXIMITY TO THE PHILIPPINES AND JAPAN.

THE VITAL BASES IN THE JAPANESE-MANDATE ISLANDS WHICH THE U.S. WANTS DESIGNATED AS A "STRATEGIC AREA" ARE SAIPAN AND TINIAN IN THE MARIANAS, TRUK IN THE CAROLINES AND KWAJALEIN IN THE MARSHALLS.

THE RYUKYUS AND BONIN ISLANDS ALSO ARE KNOWN TO FIGURE IN THE U. S. PLANS FOR DEFENSE IN THE PACIFIC, BUT THEIR FATE WILL NOT BE DECIDED UNTIL A PEACE TREATY WITH JAPAN IS SIGNED SINCE THEY ARE OUTRIGHT JAPANESE TERRITORY. THEY WERE SEIZED AND OCCUPIED BY U.S.FORCES.

THERE HAS BEEN SPECULATION THAT THEY WOULD BE TAKEN FROM JAPAN AND PLACED UNDER U.S. CONTROL THROUGH A STRATEGIC TRSUTEESHIP IN THE UNITED NATIONS.

IF THIS SHOULD HAPPEN, THE UNITED STATES COULD RETAIN COMPLETE CONTROL OVER OKINAWA AND OTHER IMPORTANT ISLANDS NEAR JAPAN.

HOWEVER, THE STATE DEPARTMENT IS KNOWN TO HAVE VOICED A DESIRE THAT THE U.S. AND ALL OTHER POWERS ADHERE STRICTLY TO THE ATLANTIC CHARTER DECLARATION AGAINST TERRITORIAL ANNEXATIONS.

UNDER THIS POLICY, THE RYUKYUS AND BONINS WOULD REMAIN IN JAPANESE POSSESSION.

BUT BOTH THE NAVY AND ARMY ARE UNDERSTOOD TO BEES

CHARTER DECLARATION AGAINST TERRITORIAL ANNEXATIONS.

UNDER THIS POLICY, THE RYUKYUS AND BONINS WOULD REMAIN IN JAPANESE POSSESSION.

BUT BOTH THE NAVY AND ARMY ARE UNDERSTOOD TO BE CONVINCED THAT THESE ISLANDS ALSO MUST BE UNDER U.S.CONTROL.

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., FEB. 17-(AP)-BRITISH SOURCES EXPRESSED DOUBT TODAY THAT THEIR GOVERNMENT WOULD CALL FOR A SPECIAL SESSION OF THE UNITED NATIONS ASSEMBLY TO WRESTLE WITH THE PALESTINE QUESTION OR THAT THE ISSUE WOULD GO TO THE SECURITY COUNCIL BEFORE THE NEXT REGULAR ASSEMBLY SESSION IN SEPTEMBER.

THESE SOURCES SAID IT WAS LIKELY THE BRITISH WOULD ATTEMPT TO "HOLD ON" IN THE TROUBLED MANDATE UNTIL THE ASSEMBLY MEETING IN SEPTEMBER, WHEN THE WHOLE QUESTION WOULD BE TOSSED TO THE 55 MEMBER NATIONS.

THEY DISCOUNTED THE POSSIBILITY THAT LONDON WOULD TAKE THE CASE TO THE 11-NATION SECURITY COUNCIL UNDER A CHARTER ARTICLE PROVIDING FOR PACIFIC SETTLEMENT OF "SITUATIONS" OR "DISPUTES" LIKELY TO ENDANGER INTERNATIONAL PEACE AND SECURITY.

IN THIS CONNECTION IT WAS NOTED THAT THE BIG FIVE VETO POWER MIGHT COMPLICATE MATTERS AND THAT THE ARAB LEAGUE, REPRESENTED ON THE COUNCIL BY SYRIA, WOULD HOLD A STRONG HAND.

HOWEVER, THE ARAB STATES INDICATED THEY MIGHT INITIATE ACTION ON PALESTINE IN THE UNITED NATIONS ON THE DECISION TO BE MADE AT THE MEETING OF THE ARAB LEAGUE COUNCIL IN CAIRO MARCH 1.

THE BRITISH DELEGATION HERE EXPECTED FOREIGN SECRETARY ERNEST BEVIN WOULD GO BEFORE PARLIAMENT IN LONDON TOMORROW TO OUTLINE THE PROCEDURE HIS GOVERNMENT WILL FOLLOW IN PRESENTING THE PALESTINE QUESTION TO THE UNITED NATIONS AND THAT THE ISSUE WOULD BE DEBATED IN COMMONS LATER IN THE WEEK.

MEANWHILE, THE SECURITY COUNCIL WAS CALLED INTO SESSION AT 11 A.M. (EST) TOMORROW TO TAKE UP BRITAIN'S CASE AGAINST ALBANIA, BASED MAINLY ON THE CORFU CHANNEL INCIDENT IN WHICH 44 BRITISH SEAMEN WERE KILLED LAST OCT. 22 IN TWO DESTROYERS WHICH STRUCK MINES.

American Consul General Walter Foote radioed from Batavia that the United States recognizes only Dutch jurisdiction in the East Indies.

On instruction from the New York owners of the ship, the Isbrandtsen Line, Capt. Rudy Gray of Southport, N.C., is continuing the loading.

The cargo includes 500 tons of chinchona (quinine), 3,000 tons of rubber, 1,300 tons of sugar and a large quantity of sisal, all of which was provided for shipment by the Indonesian Republic Banking and Trading Corporation. Three thousand tons of cargo already are aboard.

"I'm a sailor following orders, not a blockade runner," Gray said. "It's up to The Hague and Washington to settle this."

While the loading of the Martin Behrman continues, both Dutch and Americans in Java say the situation has the makings of a significant international incident.

Churchill Clashes on Palestine

Assails Bevin in Commons for U. N. Appeal Unaccompanied by Solution Offer.

ED CREAGH

London, Feb. 18 (A. P.).—Winston Churchill today reproached Foreign Secretary Bevin for presenting the Palestine problem to the United Nations "with no solution to offer," and for maintaining in Palestine a "vast apparatus of protraction and delay."

Churchill addressed the House of Commons after Bevin had said that the appeal to the United Nations was necessary because Britain's League of Nations mandate had proved unworkable, and that the demands of Jews and Arabs were irreconcilable. "The British Government had, of themselves, no power under the terms of the mandate to award the country either to the Arabs or to the Jews—or even to partition it between them," Bevin said.

Bevin called Churchill's accusation totally unjust, declaring that it would have been fatal for Britain to present the Palestine question to the U. N. without exhausting every other possibility of solution.

Burden to Continue.

Churchill, who himself has urged that Bevin lay the Palestine problem "at the feet of the United Nations," demanded: "Are we to understand that we are to go on the whole of this burden—with no solution to offer, no guidance to give? The whole of this burden of maintaining law and order in Palestine and carrying on administration?"

This burden will continue, Churchill said, "not only until September, when the United Nations are to have it laid before them, but until the United Nations have solved the problem, which the Foreign Secretary has declared himself, after eighteen months of protracted delay, incapable of offering any solution to."

Facing Bevin across the floor, Churchill asked: "If this policy is right today, why could it not have been announced twelve months ago?"

Firm on Immigration.

Bevin said he thought it would have been a painful policy for Britain—"with the leadership we have shown in the world"—to have gone to the United Nations without attempting to solve the problem herself. Replying to other critics from both the Conservative and Laborite benches, Bevin said that he would not refer Palestine to the U. N. Security Council because "I don't think it is endangering the security of the world at all." He said that "whether it is right or wrong," Britain was committed to the 1939 White Paper which curbed Jewish immigration into Palestine at 75,000, and that extended arrangements for admitting a limited number of Jews would continue for the present.

"At the moment," he said, "I will commit myself to 1,500 monthly—nothing more and nothing less." He said he realized the difficulty of the Jewish displaced persons' problem as it affected both Europe and Palestine, and added: "May I say that I still make one further appeal to other countries in the world—to the United States and to everybody—to help us with this burden?"

Bevin promised that Britain's Palestine proposals, rejected by Arabs and Jews alike, would be published soon.

In protesting that the matter could not come before the United Nations until September, Churchill said that Britain is keeping 100,000 troops in Palestine and spending $120,000,000 to $160,000,000 a year "from our diminishing resources" upon a "vast apparatus of protraction and delay."

BEVIN, CHURCHILL CLASH ON PLANS FOR PALESTINE

LONDON, Feb. 18.—(AP) Foreign Secretary Ernst Bevin announced today that Britain probably would not refer the Palestine question to the United Nations until September, that she would make no recommendations as to the solution, and that Palestine immigration would remain for the time being at 1,500 Jews a month.

His disclosures, made before a packed House of Commons, evoked an immediate reply from Winston Churchill, who accused Bevin of "protraction and delay" in disposing of the bloody troubles of the Holy Land.

ARTHUR GAVSHON

Announces Delay

Bevin told the house that Britain had decided to turn the matter over to the United Nations because the League of Nations mandate had proved "unworkable" and the demands of Jews and Arabs "irreconcilable."

Dispelling reports that Britain might ask a special session of the UN General Assembly to consider the problem immediately, the foreign secretary said:

"We see great difficulty in having this matter considered by the United Nations before the regular session of the general assembly in September."

Simultaneously, government sources disclosed that Britain, the United States aned France are studying undisclosed proposals to control Jewish displaced persons seeking to flee Germany for Palestine.

The informants said "secret recommendations" had been made at a Paris conference of officials from the three countries. The recommendations were reported to include a new method of checking identities, tightening of frontier guards and administrative measures to dry up the pool of migrants at its source.

Bevin outlined to the house his last plan for Palestine—which both the Jews and Arabs rejected. It called for semi-autonomous areas for Jews and Arabs, Jewish immigration of 4,000 a month for two years, and steps for establishing an independent Palestine within five years.

Churchill In Protest

Churchill, who has repeatedly urged the government to "lay the mandate at the feet of the United Nations," sprang up at Bevin's announcement that the government would not recommend "any particular solution" to the general assembly.

"Are we to understand," growled the conservative leader, "that we are to go on with the whole of this burden, with no solution to offer, no guidance to give?"

Pounding with his fist, Churchill asked "if this policy is right today, why could it not have been announced 12 months ago?"

Bevin replied that it was "totally unjust" to accuse him of delay when "I have been devoting my energies to Palestine in the middle of a world crumbling with the disasters of war."

Leaning toward his chief parliamentary critic, Bevin said in a low voice that it would have been "painful" for Britain—"with the leadership we have shown the world"—to call on the United Nations without having first tried to solve the problem herself."

Churchill glared at Bevin and asked the house:

"How does he justify keeping 100,000 British soldiers in Palestine who are needed here and spending 30,000,000 or 40,000,000 pounds ($120,000,000 to $160,000,000) x x x upon this vast apparatus of protraction and delay?"

Bevin, concluding, said "may I say that I still make one further appeal to other countries in the world—to the United States and to everybody—to help us with this burden?"

Regarding Jewish immigration, Bevin said Britain, "whether it is right or wrong," was committed to the 1939 white paper which limited Jewish immigration.

"At the moment," he said, "I will commit myself to 1,500 monthly, nothing more and nothing less."

BRITAIN MAY TAP DP LABOR TO AID IN COAL CRISIS

LONDON, Feb. 18—(AP) Prime Minister Attlee announced in the House of Commons today that the labor government was considering the possibility of bringing displaced persons from continental Europe to work in British coal mines and other vital industries.

Fresh from a cabinet discussion of the nation's critical fuel shortage and dismal economic picture, the prime minister told the house that an organization was being set up to classify displaced persons in British zones of Germany and Austria "against the opportunity of employment in Britain."

News To Miners

A spokesman for the national union of mineworkers, said Attlee's statement was made without prior consultation with mine union officials.

"It certainly is news to me," the spokesman said. He added that the union was not in any way committed to the general introduction of foreign labor, although it had agreed to the employment of some Irish and members of the Polish resettlement corps in the mines.

Informed government sources said the importation of labor could be dealt with in a white paper on the economic situation, to be issued late this week.

Attlee met tonight with his "coal cabinet," and it was understood they hoped to fix a provisional date for restoring production in at least a part of the nation's crippled industry.

Despite continued cold weather and new snow, average coal stocks at principal power stations were being slowly increased. The ministry of fuel and power said the average stock pile had been built up from a nine to an 11-day supply in the nine days since power cuts were imposed on both industrial and domestic consumers.

There appeared to be some likelihood, however, that the average household coal ration of 100 pounds a week might be reduced next month because of all-out efforts to reopen factories and keep electric power plants running.

Unemployment Mounts

Unemployment continued to mount because of shutdowns caused directly or indirectly by power cut-offs. The Ford Motor company announced that its Dagenham plant, employing 14,000 would close Thursday because of a shortage of parts. About 300 employes of the O. B. Laporte Chemical Manufacturing firm received a week's notice.

The labor ministry announced that 1,212,400 persons had applied for unemployment insurance between Feb. 8 and last night.

Nearly a full motorized division of troops was digging out snowbound raillines and hauling coal from isolated collieries to cities hardest hit by the fuel famine. Five hundred trucks and 7,700 British soldiers, Poles and German prisoners were being used.

British May Use Reich DP's to Mine Coal

London, Feb. 18 (AP)—Prime Minister Attlee said today that displaced persons in the British occupation zones of Germany and Austria would be classified for possible employment in Britain's coal mines and other industries short of manpower.

Replying to a suggestion in the House of Commons that the Government study the labor potential available in UNRRA camps to meet industrial problems raised by Britain's fuel crisis, the Prime Minister declared:

"I do not feel that such a mission is necessary. The Minister of Labor is proceeding, in association with the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster, to set up an organization in the British zones in Germany and Austria for the classification and selection of displaced persons against the opportunity of employment in Britain."

Lower Rations Possible

Several London newspapers reported that thousands of displaced persons would be brought from the Continent to work in the mines.

The prospect developed that meager coal rations for British homes might fall even lower next month because of the efforts to reopen factories and keep electric power plants operating.

The Prime Minister's announcement followed a Cabinet meeting at which the coal crisis and national manpower shortage were among the principal topics of discussion.

Official Warning

An official warning of the new threat to household coal supplies—now limited to an average of 100 pounds weekly—came today as Prime Minister Attlee's special nine-man "coal cabinet" prepared to meet again.

The first week of widespread factory shutdowns and electricity cuts for five hours daily resulted in a saving of 202,750 tons of coal, and the "coal cabinet" is expected to make a decision soon on the possibility of reopening at least part of Britain's industrial plants.

Two-Week Supply

A spokesman for the Ministry of Fuel and Power said that household fuel stocks were down to a two-week supply in the London area and a one-week supply in northern England and Scotland. He said it was "possible" that allocations of 800 pounds for March and April would not be fully met.

The spokesman added that factories which were ordered to shut down last week would be given a priority as coal restrictions were eased and indicated that some system of coal and gas rationing for homes would continue for weeks.

More Coal In Port

The most prolonged cold wave since 1894 continued to grip Britain, but the railroads were reported moving nearly 500,000 tons daily as increased shipments by sea from Newcastle reached the Thames dockyards.

Some Government officials estimated that unemployment had reached 4,000,000 as a result of factory shutdowns. The Ministry of Labor reported, however, that unemployment figures reached 2,482,499 over the week end.

The freezing weather continued to hamper the mining of coal. The Ministry of Fuel reported that the army hoped to have 1,200 trucks hauling coal from the snow-blocked pits to factories and power stations by tomorrow.

A spokesman for the Fuel Ministry said that household fuel stocks were down to a two-week supply in the London area and a one-week supply in the north of England and Scotland. He said it was possible that an allocation of 800 pounds for March and April would not be fully met. He added that the factories ordered to shut down last week would

In the face of earlier Government estimates that unemployment had reached 4,000,000 as a result of the factory shutdowns in thirty-eight English and Welsh counties, the Ministry of Labor reported that unemployment reached 2,482,499 over the week end.

Meanwhile today winter storms piled more snow on the British Isles and western Europe alike, and torrential rains soaked the Portuguese countryside, damaging grain and bean crops.

With the temperature at 8.6 degrees, the coldest in several days, the Berlin press announced that there would be no further distribution of coal for heating purposes. More than 200 of Berlin's luxury restaurants and dance halls were closed. Thousands of the aged and sick were being moved from chilly homes to temporary bunks in public warming halls. Several more deaths from exposure were reported.

British Pamphlet Attacks Socialism

Liberal-Conservative Group Asks Expansion Policy

LONDON, Feb. 18 (AP).—A group of twelve Conservative and Liberal party members offered Great Britain today what they called a "workable alternative to socialism" with the publication of a pamphlet calling for a governmental policy of "expansion, freedom and design."

The booklet "Design for Freedom," was signed by a list headed by Captain G. E. P. Thorneycroft, leader of the Tory reform group.

Although the pamphlet's sponsors come from the two main nongovernmental parties, they said they are not sponsoring a merger or alliance between Conservatives and Liberals.

British affairs, the booklet said, "are critical," and the present government "will be forced to carry further its restrictive policy of regulations and controls."

It proposed "a complete overhaul" of existing regulations of the trade unions, which it called a "whole series of arrangements" preventing maximum efficiency.

"Europe abounds with people able, willing and anxious to work, but our shores are closed to them," the booklet said. "Our government is unable or unwilling to harness this reservoir of productive power to our pressing needs."

New Curbs on D. P.s Studied

LONDON, Feb. 18 (AP).—Government sources disclosed today that Great Britain, the United States and France are studying undisclosed proposals to control Jewish displaced persons seeking to flee Germany for Palestine. The informants said "secret recommendations" had been made at a Paris conference of officials of the three countries. The recommendations were reported to include a new method of checking identities, tightening of frontier guards and administrative measures to dry up the pool of migrants at its source.

Lauds Soviet Aid to Sculptors

LONDON, Feb. 18 (AP).—Jacob Epstein, sixty-seven-year-old American-born sculptor of monumental-sized figures, declared today that young sculptors are "frustrated" in Great Britain, while they are encouraged in Soviet Russia. He spoke at the opening of a photographic exhibition of Soviet sculpture.

Deputies Lag In Treaty Drafting

London, Feb. 18 (AP)—East-West misunderstanding — the bogey of virtually every international conference since the war—tangled the Deputy Foreign Ministers of the Big Four in disagreement today and left peace treaties for Germany and Austria largely unwritten.

This means that the task of drafting peace terms will fall largely to the Big Four's Foreign Ministers when they meet in Moscow less than three weeks hence.

Deputies assigned to draft an Austrian treaty concede they will not finish their job—partly because of inability to reconcile the views of Russia with those of the West—and deputies working on the German treaty are afflicted with the same atmosphere of mutual distrust.

Must End In Week

The deputies, by order of their chiefs, must end their session February 25, a week from today.

In conference circles here the opinion prevails that "good" peace treaties will undoubtedly be written, but only after some very precise phrasing and some high-level plain talking dissipate the fog of distrust.

As one example of disagreements clogging the works, the deputies, in session since January 15, have been unable to agree on the procedural question of what voice the smaller victor nations shall have in writing the treaties.

Russia wants to hear what they have to say, but nothing more. The United States, Britain and France have been sympathetic to small-power demands for greater participation in drafting the new pacts.

Small-Nation Proposal

Last night, Russia, Britain and France agreed in principle to a proposal that a committee be established to consult with and advise the smaller nations on all phases of German treaty negotiations, but the United States obstained, pending further study. Even the three-way agreement was marred, however, by a disagreement on who should sit on the proposed committee.

More Disagreements.

London, Feb. 18 (A. P.).—Soviet Russia insisted today that Austria deny citizenship to Germans who entered the country after Adolf Hitler's rise to power and that she permanently bar immigration from Germany. British spokesmen said that Russia also demanded that the Big Four Deputy Foreign Ministers writing the peace treaty for Austria should provide that Germans who settled in Austria in the years of Nazi dominance be expelled.

On the naturalization issue, the informants said, the Russians were opposed by the British, the Americans made reservations and the French, in general, supported the Russian suggestion. The British took the view that the question of who qualifies for Austrian citizenship is one for a sovereign Austria to settle. Gen. Mark W. Clark, the American deputy, said that the Russian proposal would be acceptable to America if applied only to former members of the Nazi party. The discussion at times approached acrimony, the British informants said, and ended in a disagreement which will be passed on, unsettled, to the Big Four Council of Foreign Ministers meeting in Moscow next month.

Final action was deferred on the American proposal to require Austria to maintain her present legal ban against a restoration of the Hapsburg monarchy. Most of the opposition came from the British, whose main argument was that the Hapsburg issue is already dead.

Numerous clauses of the military section of the treaty were approved by the conference, stipulating that Austria may not have any atomic weapons, nor any naval craft or naval weapons, nor any artillery with a range of more than nineteen miles. Another clause forbids Austria to possess or use poison gas, or to acquire or manufacture any civil aircraft of German or Japanese design, or to manufacture war equipment beyond her now immediate needs.

AUSTRIA PACT TO BAR BOMB

Foreign Minister Deputies Agree On Weapons Provision

London, Feb. 18 (AP)—The Big Four foreign ministers' deputies agreed today to outlaw atom bombs and poison gas in Austria.

The deputies' peace treaty writing conference could not agree immediately, however, on the maximum permissible size of the Austrian army or on a proposal to prohibit an Austrian air force.

Other deputies preparing for a German peace, meanwhile, discussed for several hours the question of participation by smaller nations in the negotiations.

Concur On General Idea

No specific conclusions were reached, but the American deputy, Robert Murphy, told the conference, there was "a considerable area of agreement" among all four powers.

All concurred in the idea that smaller allies should be permitted to present their views on the German problem and to "consult" with deputies committees.

Some headway toward setting up machinery to put the idea into practice was expected to be made tomorrow.

Bar To Germans Urged

Russia insisted that Austria deny citizenship to Germans who entered the country after Hitler's rise to power, and that she permanently bar immigration from Germany.

British sources said the Russians also demanded that the deputies should provide that Germans who settled in Austria in the years of Nazi dominance be expelled.

On the naturalization issue, informants said, the Russians were opposed by the British. Americans made reservations, while the French, in general, supported the Russian suggestion, the informant added.

Would Allow Discretion

The British took the attitude that the question of determining who qualifies for Austrian citizenship should be left to the discretion of a sovereign Austrian Government and that the treaty would contain other and adequate guarantees against a resurrection of German influence.

Gen. Mark W. Clark, United States deputy, said the Russian proposal would be acceptable to America if the prohibition against naturalization applied only to former members of the Nazi party.

The discussion, which British sources said at times approached acrimony, ended in a disagreement, which will be passed on to the meeting of foreign ministers in Moscow next month for a settlement.

Final action was deferred on an American proposal, which would require to maintain her present legal ban against a restoration of a hapsburg monarchy.

U.N.R.R.A. Tracing Bureau

It Will Be Taken Over by I. R. O. And Moved to Berlin

GENEVA, Feb. 18 (AP).—The preparatory commission for the International Refugee Organization has decided to take over the Central Tracing Bureau of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration on June 30. The bureau, recently moved to Paris from Germany, will be removed to Berlin.

An expenditure of $800,000 is contemplated to complete the job of tracing 2,900,000 persons, many of whom are dead. Leon Derosen, French delegate on the commission, said it is essential to continue the project so that wills can be probated and so that "the dreadful mental torture of uncertainty over the fate of relatives can be alleviated."

Bulgaria Linked In Greek Inquiry

Athens, Feb. 18 (AP)—A witness who refused to give his full name gave the United Nations inquiry commission the first eyewitness testimony today that armed Greek guerrillas were given freedom of movement in Bulgaria.

The witness was introduced by the Greeks merely as "Nedelkov." Bulgarian liaison officers said he was a former Bulgarian flyer.

He told the commission, investigating Greece's border troubles, that he saw 25 to 30 Greek Communists carrying arms in Stara Zagora, Bulgaria, and that the Greeks and Bulgarian militiamen were "obviously together." The Bulgarian liaison officer, Petrov, much annoyed, declared "my country is not one of murderers" and was joined by the Russian advisor, Graui, in questioning the witness' accuracy.

1,000 Cheer Duke As 'King' Of Spain

Madrid, Feb. 18 (AP)—Don Jaime, Duke of Segovie and eldest brother of Don Juan, arrived in Madrid by air today and heard a crowd of 1,000 young monarchists chant "Long Live the King! Long Live Juan III."

The brother of the pretender to the throne and his sister, Princess Maria Cristina, children of the late King Alfonso XIII, were the first of the deposed royal family to touch Spanish soil since Don Juan made a vain attempt to volunteer for the forces of Generalissimo Francisco Franco during the Civil War in 1936.

Don Jaime, who bears a marked resemblance to his late father, was making a brief stop here with his party, en route to Barcelona and then to Rome for a vacation. Don Juan had seen them off in Lisbon, Portugal, where the pretender now lives.

As Princess Maria Cristina stepped from the plane, the crowd of monarchists, many of whom had hiked miles to the airport, broke into cheers. Some women wept. The royal pair were greeted by Prince Alfonso, first cousin of the late King and ranking representative of the royal house living in Spain. Representing Franco was Lieut. Gen. Pablo Martin Alonson, head of the Generalissimo's military household.

Report On Reich Slowed By Allied Disagreement

Berlin, Feb. 18 (AP)—Top Allied Control Council officials working on a joint report on Germany for the Foreign Ministers meeting in Moscow have failed to resolve any of the major disagreements which have stalemated four-power control machinery here for six months, Lieut. Gen. Lucius D. Clay said today.

The American military governor-designate told a news conference the report had been only 50 per cent prepared and approved, with the deadline for its completion a week away. However, he said he believed the report would be ready "pretty close to schedule."

"Not Too Happy"

"The common reports finished so far on demilitarization, finance, labor and manpower and certain phases of economy are the ones we have been able to agree on so far," Clay continued.

"At the present moment I am not too happy about the report, but many matters of worry may be settled by February 25."

The second half of the report, including such major issues as German central administrative agencies, economic units, de-Nazification and reparations, still is being thrashed out in Control Council committees.

The report will contain all the agreed points on the future of Germany, Clay said. Unilateral positions will be presented by each power at Moscow.

In the main, he added, the report to the Foreign Ministers will serve to "delineate the differences among the four powers in Germany and therefore be helpful in solving the issues."

Ignoring Red Tactics

The current flurry of attacks against American occupation policies in the Russian-controlled sector of the German press will not provoke Americans to adopt similar tactics, Clay said.

"We are not mudslingers, and we are not going to become mudslingers," Clay added. "It is not our policy to attack our allies in the German press. We will just concentrate on making the facts available."

He said the Americans had thrown more Nazis out of influential positions in Germany than any other occupying power.

Citing statistics, Clay said the German de-Nazification courts had sentenced more than 2,000 Nazis to jail, had permanently disbarred from office another 4,000 and restricted 16,000 more to manual labor for periods from two to ten years.

Berlin-Dance Ban Hit

Berlin, Feb. 18 (AP) — Berlin's youth, supported by some of the press, protested today the city government's ban on public dancing, imposed in the hope of converting heated dance halls and cafes into community "warming halls" to shelter children and the aged against distress this severe winter.

The ban was one of the emergency measures enacted by the city assembly to bring relief to a population which has reported about 175 deaths from freezing or malnutrition in the past eleven weeks.

Dance To Keep Warm

When police invaded several cafes last week end and demanded that dancing cease, many youths put up an argument, declaring that "dancing keeps us warm" and "why rob us of our last bit of pleasure, since a ban on dancing won't satisfy anybody's hunger?"

Berlin's dance halls are usually packed by pleasure-hungry youths, eager to get away from chill, bleak homes.

The American-licensed newspaper Der Abend took an editorial stand on the side of dancing youth. It suggested that this form of recreation be allowed to continue and that the city government place an additional luxury tax upon amusement places to raise extra revenue for the relief of the needy.

Recall Nazi Ban

"So the authorities want to convert dance halls in to warming halls?" said the Abend. "Have they ever stopped to think that dancing warms one and that when youth dances it really warms up a place?

"Our youth is right in arguing that a prohibition on dancing never filled an empty stomach, and it might be well to reflect that a ban on dancing must remind us that the last people to forbid public dancing were the Nazis, who enacted an austerity regulation after every setback in the war. Does the city government want to follow such methods?"

ARTS OFFICER DISMISSED

Is Found Guilty of Unbecoming Conduct; Cleared of Theft

BERLIN, Feb. 18 (AP)—Capt. Norman T. Byrne of Hollywood, Calif., was convicted by a United States Army courtmartial tonight on a charge of conduct unbecoming an officer in wrongfully taking some German properties and was sentenced to dismissal from the Army.

He was acquitted on a charge of feloniously embezzling paintings and art objects.

Captain Byrne, 48, went on trial on Feb. 6, accused of violations of the Ninety-third, Ninety-fifth and Ninety-sixth Articles of War while serving here as an officer in the monuments and fine arts branch of the American Military Government.

He was arrested last Aug. 12 by agents of the Army's criminal investigation division in San Francisco while he was there on leave.

Berlin Scores Hoover Probe

Berlin, Feb. 18 (AP)—The Soviet-controlled Berlin Radio charged last night that former President Herbert Hoover's present food survey in Germany was "a means of realizing the foreign policies of the Republican Right wing."

[Hoover is making the survey at the request of President Truman.]

"We do not want American assistance to become a means for strengthening the darkest reactionaries in numerous European countries in 1947, as was the case in 1919," the radio said.

The station said that Germans were "grateful for the food sent them" but do not want to become the object of a controversy between American political parties.

Editors at the station said the opinions expressed were those of the station.

"We do not want to be the object of a policy which will ease hunger and distress in Germany by an anti-Soviet policy," it was stated in the broadcast.

Members of Hoover's mission here said it was unlikely that he would make any comment.

Nazi Valuables Recovered

Frankfurt, Germany, Feb. 18 (AP). A two-zone search for precious metal and gems hidden by the Nazi Government has netted diamonds, gold, silver and platinum valued at $7,305,029, it was learned today. The discovery of a master list in Berlin led to the search for the valuables, looted from occupied countries.

Stuttgart Movies Add Wood Tax

FRANKFURT AM MAIN, Feb. 18 (AP).—Stuttgart moving-picture theaters increased the cost of tickets of admission today—two pieces of firewood in addition to the regular cash prices. Threatened with closure because of the coal shortage, theater managers instituted the new "surtax."

German Doctor Gets 2 Years

MUNICH, Feb. 18 (AP).—Dr. Alfred Kallenberger, former president of the Bavarian Physicians Board, was sentenced to two years in jail and fined 9,000 reichsmarks ($900) by an American court today, for employing Nazis in his office. Kallenberger was released on probation, however, because of his advanced age.

Nazi Demonstrations Charged

FRANKFURT AM MAIN, Feb. 18 (AP).—Christian Stock, the German Minister-President of Hesse, charged today that pro-Nazi students and professors at Marburg University recently held "political demonstrations" over the graves of Frederick the Great and Paul von Hindenburg in Marburg Church. Stock said the demonstrations were aimed "against the new German republic." The American Military Government in Marburg said it had "no knowledge" of any such demonstrations.

Germans Planning Self-government

Wiesbaden, Feb. 17 (A. P.).—German sources said tonight that German leaders of the American and British occupation zones took informal steps today which might lay the groundwork for self-government of western Germany.

Eight ministers president of sections of the two zones met, the sources said, and discussed plans which led them to state they were ready to form a parliament of the British-American zones if no agreement for the government of Germany is reached at the forthcoming Four Power Foreign Ministers Conference in Moscow.

To Aid War Crimes Prosecutor

NUERNBERG, Feb. 18 (AP).—John H. E. Fried, of the International Labor Office, Montreal, has been appointed to the staff of Brigadier General Telford Taylor, American war crimes prosecutor here. Fried, Vienna-born expert on labor and international law, will aid in the slave labor phases of the trials of German industrialists. He left Austria in 1938 and served as an instructor at the City College of New York before joining the I. L. O.

Austrian Schools to Oust 5,000

VIENNA, Feb. 18 (AP).—Nearly 5,000 university students in Austria will be expelled at the start of the next term as a result of the de-Nazification law recently passed by Parliament, a Ministry of Education official said today. They will not be eligible to resume their studies before 1950.

Polish Amnesty Law Is Due

Warsaw, Feb. 18 (AP)—Poland's Parliament reconvened today for the purpose of drafting an amnesty law and adopting a temporary constitution pending formulation of the new charter that will ultimately replace the Constitution of 1921.

Creation of a new executive council to steer the Government when Parliament is not in session was slated as one of the first moves under the temporary constitution. The council will replace the Presidium of the National Council of the Homeland, which issued decrees and largely governed the country before the January 19 elections.

The new constitution also provides for nationalization of principal industries and agrarian reforms initiated by the provisional regime.

The proposed amnesty law is designed to empty the jails of lesser offenders against the Government and bring into the open members of the underground's forest bands.

Swiss Aid Poles

Warsaw, Poland, Feb. 18 (AP)—The Swiss relief organization, Don Suisse, at work in Poland since December, 1945, has distributed medical supplies and surgical instruments, valued at 600,000 Swiss francs; veterinary instruments, 38,000; shoes, textiles and cotton blankets, 1,280,000; complete sets of first-aid equipment, 58,000.

U.S.-Canadian Pact 'Evil', Says Izvestia

Moscow, Feb. 18 (AP)—Labeling the recently announced United States-Canadian military agreement an "iron fist in a velvet glove," the Soviet Government newspaper Izvestia declared today that Canada was turning over territory and her army to the United States in preparation for aggression.

Izvestia's commentator said the agreement was "evil" and had "nothing in common with the interests of peace."

[The United States and Canada announced February 12 that without entering into any formal treaty or binding agreements they intended to continue in peacetime their close wartime collaboration for the military security of the North American continent. Unified training, standardized arms and the use of each other's military, naval and air facilities were agreed upon.]

"Real Nature Hidden"

Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King and his helpers, said writer R. Morin, are "trying with all their might to hide the real nature of the Canadian-American agreement."

"They . . . are producing before the world 'an iron fist in a velvet glove,'" he continued, "and then it's not their own, but an American one.

"The readiness and warmth of their advance and their justification show up the authors," he added. "They in their time offered to the American press a poisoned armament slander against the Soviet Union such as 'a report on Soviet spying.'

Held Reply To Spy Charge

[This was in apparent reference to a Canadian royal commission's charges that a Soviet-backed espionage ring with headquarters in the Russian Embassy in Ottawa was trying to get secret information, including facts about the atom, in Canada. Several persons, including a Communist member of Parliament, have been convicted on the charges.]

"The same people now are giving over for the disposal of the United States nothing less than their own territory and their own army in preparation for an aggression," Morin wrote.

"So the United States was successful in dragging the largest dominion of the British Empire into the orbit of her policy, and in order to calm the British, a newspaper journal called the agreement 'a great contribution to the affairs of the British Commonwealth of Nations.'

"An Unnatural Union"

"This military child, fruit of an unnatural union, possessed so many clearly aggressive characteristics that it became necessary at once to dress it up as an innocent angel of the world," Izvestia's writer said. "The texts of the very declarations themselves seek to picture the general military means of the north as a contribution toward stabilizing peace and in the establishment through the United Nations of an effective system of security.

"Why does such a modest aim need a military agreement with powerful armed governments of the world, maneuvers of the fleet in Arctic waters, testing of modern arms in polar regions, building of barracks in northern ports?" Morin asked.

Few In Russia Listen To First American Broadcast

By Eddy Gilmore

Moscow, Feb. 18 (AP)—Apparently only a comparatively few Russians heard the United States State Department's first Russian-language broadcast to the Soviet Union last night, and those who did had to contend with static and interference.

No local announcement of the broadcast had been published. Soviet newspapers did not carry the announcement of United States Ambassador W. Bedell Smith, just as previously they failed to carry any story when the British Broadcasting Company began its Russian-language programs.

Some U.S. Music

Such Soviet citizens as heard the initial program were those who had foreign friends to tell them of it, or those who happened to tune in by chance. A number of these pronounced the program generally interesting. Others criticized it either as too highbrow or too amateurish.

[The program included a news summary, a brief talk on recent scientific advances in the United States, a report on how the Federal Government functions, and some American music.]

Sent Through Munich

It was a bad night for radio, atmospherically. All short-wave reception was poor. In addition, other stations—particularly a French transmitter and a Russian one—blanked out the American broadcast occasionally.

It is impossible to say definitely how many Russians listened to the broadcast, but from the quality of the reception and the lack of announcement in advance, this correspondent would guess that only the smallest percentage of Moscow residents heard it. Persons in the Ukraine or White Russia, who are closer to Munich, may have heard it more clearly.

[The program is beamed to Russian short-wave radios from New York through transmitters operated by Americans in Munich, Germany.]

The United States Government has no weekly Russian-language newspaper in Moscow, as do the British, and hence has no medium for advance announcement. The United States has an elaborate pictorial magazine, but schedules and wavelengths dealing with the State Department programs have not been published in it.

Three groups of Russians who heard the broadcast in different parts of the city considered the program carefully and stated their views on it to an American correspondent. But this morning I talked with eleven Russians at random on my way to the office. None of them had heard the broadcast. None of them knew about it. All I talked to seemed to believe such broadcasts would be some form of "American propaganda."

Envoy Smith Urges Broader Cultural Exchange With Russ

Moscow, Feb. 18 (AP)—United States Ambassador Walter Bedell Smith said today he had renewed several American requests aimed at broadening the base of Soviet-American cultural relations.

Smith said he was encouraged by a recent pronouncement of Prime Minister Stalin expressing favor for a broad exchange of cultural and scientific information and the exchange of students, artists, scientists and professors of the two countries. Stalin made the pronouncement in response to one of a series of questions put to him by Elliott Roosevelt.

Among the pending requests which Smith renewed with Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov were these:

The offer of Conductor Sergei Koussevitsky and the Boston Symphony Orchestra to make a two-week tour in Russia at the expense of the orchestra and to donate the receipts of ticket sales to any benefit the Russians desired.

Cabot Makes Offer

The offer of Henry B. Cabot, trustee of the Boston Symphony, to have as its guest conductor Eugene Mrovinsky, of the Leningrad Orchestra.

The offer of Dr. Harold W. Dodds, president of Princeton University, to have outstanding Russian scientists participate in a bicentennial celebration in the United States.

The offer of Mrs. Lafell Dickinson, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, to have a Russian girl accept a scholarship offered by the organization.

The invitation of S. Hurok, American ballet impressario, to the Russian Ballet to perform in the United States and participate in the international dance festival.

Cancer Research Exchange

The request of Dr. Thomas Parran, United States surgeon general, for three doctors to come to Russia to do research in cancer with Russian scientists.

The offer of the Rockefeller Foundation to entertain two Russian scientists.

The offer of Cornell University to accept four graduate students from Russia to do graduate work.

The offer of Dr. E. D. Young, representative of the Russian War Relief Organization, to give a penicillin factory to Russia and to participate in a two-way exchange of scientists.

The request of a Yale professor to do field work with Russian geologists.

China's Export Prices Rise

Shanghai, Feb. 18 (AP)—Prices of most of China's export commodities showed signs of skyrocketing today, less than 48 hours after the Government took drastic action to stabilize China's economy.

Exporters said the flow of goods to foreign ports would be choked off by too-high prices unless the Government checked the upward trend at once.

The Government, taking action against violators of new measures banning private dealings in gold and in United States currency, arrested three Chinese black-market operators for trading in American dollars.

Seized In Szechuen Area

The men were seized in the Szechuen road black-market sector. Chinese authorities said they possessed quantities of American currency and admitted trying to buy and sell United States dollars.

The Shanghai Evening Post said Chinese citizens have more than $300,000,000 (United States) deposited in foreign countries and the Government has a complete list of depositors.

Under the new measures, Chinese nationals will be required to surrender their holdings abroad at the new official rate of 12,000 Chinese dollars to $1 (United States).

Bank Sets Gold Price

Yesterday, the Central Bank of China set its gold-buying price at 480,000 Chinese dollars an ounce—$40, United States, by the new exchange rate.

A Government military success in the continuing civil war was reported in Hopeh province. The Chinese press in Peiping said Hsushui, 13 miles north of Paoting, on the Peiping-Paoting railroad, has been cleared of Communists after several days of fighting.

UNRRA Fisherman Denied Bail In Stabbing

Shanghai, Feb. 18 (AP)—District Judge Cheng Tsung refused today to release on bail John Ira Rogers, of Portland, Ore., UNRRA fisherman, charged with stabbing and wounding a coolie.

Rogers admitted stabbing Chen Yuen-fang, the coolie, in self-defense after a mob of coolies stoned and clubbed him. UNRRA witnesses supported his testimony. Rogers suffered a severe scalp wound.

Dr. Yao Yung-li, defense attorney, offered himself as guarantee for Rogers's reappearance and presented the signatures of 50 UNRRA employés in Shanghai willing to stand bond for the defendant.

The judge said Rogers could not be released on bail until the hospital where the coolie is confined advised that the Chinese was "no longer in danger of a relapse."

CHIANG IN APPEAL FOR PUBLIC BACKING

NANKING, Feb. 18—(AP) Chiang Kai-shek tonight made a nation-wide radio appeal to the Chinese to abide by his government's emergency measures, promulgated to steady China's weakening economy, after prices of most export commodities gave indications of skyrocketing.

Chiang blamed China's shaken economy on Japan's "vicious" wartime occupation policy and "unlawful destruction of railways, industries and mines" by Chinese Communists.

In New York, Ambassador Wellington Koo attributed the crisis to the same causes and told the China American Council of Commerce and Industry:

"While the precipitate dive of the Chinese dollar a week ago was grave, it should not be taken for granted that China's economy would collapse.

"But this does not mean that the situation could be controlled indefinitely without adequate aid and cooperation from the outside, especially from the United States."

Dr. Koo's remarks reiterated similar declarations made in Nanking and Shanghai by Chinese authorities.

Shanghai exporters expressed fear their business would be choked off by too high prices unless the government immediately checked an upward trend.

Report On Japs Urges New Cut In Industry

Tokyo, Feb. 18 (AP)—Clifford Strike, chairman of the committee sent to Japan to obtain an "engineer's approach" to the reparations question, said the committee would submit a report differing from the one prepared by Reparations Com-

RomaniaCensorHoldsUp Truman Relief Message

BUCHAREST, Feb. 18 (AP)—Romanian government censorship today held up publication of President Truman's message yesterday announcing diversion of food shipments to Romania to feed sufferers in the northern province of Moldavia.

The 2 p. m. broadcast, some eight hours after the full text was received here, made no mention of the President's message. Permission given this afternoon for partial publication later was rescinded.

It was suggested in some quarters that the Romanian government was finding some difficulty reconciling its viewpoint with a passage in the Truman statement outlining conditions under which Romania might be permitted to buy an unspecified amount of American grain.

[The conditions listed in the President's statement were: 1. That Romania will use none of the grain to pay reparations. 2. That Romania will not export it for trade or other purposes. 3. That American representatives will be free to supervise its distribution "in such manner as they see fit," and that distribution shall be "without racial, religious or social discrimination."]

missioner Edwin Pauley.

Strike, president of the F. H. McGraw Company of New York, said his report would go further than Pauley's in recommending curtailment in some industrial categories, but is more lenient in others.

Japanese protested the Pauley proposals would set the nation back industrially as much as 50 years.

Based On Present

Strike said his committee (five civilians and two army officers) was not guided by previous reparations proposals, but prepared its report on the basis of present and future conditions in Japan.

His group, he said, looked forward as far as 1950 in making recommendations on how Japan might support herself industrially and produce sufficient exports to obtain funds for essential imports.

The Strike committee has been in Japan for three weeks. It will leave for Washington by air February 19.

New Approach Wanted

Strike said the group came here by "mutual understanding" of the War Department and General MacArthur. The War Department, he said, had "felt it necessary that the Pauley report be reviewed," and MacArthur had "felt the need of a new approach" to the troublesome problem of reparations.

Strike indicated his group had specified certain plants for removal. No recommendations for reparations out of current production had been made, he said, because of "administrative difficulties" such a plan would entail.

Others on the committee are F. C. Mackrell, of Washington; G. V. T. Burgess and Paul Coffman, of New York; H. B. Perry, of Boston, and Col. R. M. Cheseldine and Major Donald Claus, of the War Department.

Jap Reparations Change Proposed

Tokyo, Feb. 18 (AP)—A War Department-sponsored committee of engineers, after a three-week survey, differed today with Edwin Pauley, reparations commissioner, on the reparations Japan should pay.

Clifford Strike, chairman, said his committee's report would go further than Pauley's in recommending curtailment in some industries but would be more lenient in others. He gave no details.

Japanese leaders had declared Pauley's proposals would set Japan back 50 years industrially. Strike said his committee considered both present and future conditions and looked forward to 1950 in recommending how Japan might support herself.

The committee, which leaves tomorrow for Washington, comprises Strike, president, F. H. McGraw Co., New York; F. C. Mackrell, Washington; G. V. T. Burgess and Paul Hoffman, New York; H. B. Perry, Boston, civilians, and Col. R. M. Cheseldine and Major Donald Claus, of the War Department. It came here with General MacArthur's approval.

Forces To Observe Iwo Anniversary

Tokyo, Feb. 18 (AP)—Twentieth Air Force planes will drop wreaths tomorrow on the beach at Iwo Jima where the Marines made their initial landings on February 19, 1945.

In the afternoon, the flag-raising atop Mount Suribachi will be re-enacted. Joe Rosenthal, the Associated Press photographer who made the famed photograph of the original unfurling, is scheduled to be present. Rosenthal is now on the photographic staff of the San Francisco Chronicle.

There will be religious ceremonies during the morning. A Marine will place a wreath at the foot of a monument in the midst of thousands of white crosses marking the last resting place for men who helped win the volcanic island from the Japanese in one of the bloodiest battles of the Pacific war.

A New Style Jap Budget

Tokyo, Feb. 18 (AP)—The Government today drafted for Diet approval a new overall budget for the 1947-48 fiscal year which may reach 130,000,000,000 yen (more than $8,600,000,000).

The overall budget represents a departure from usual practice. It had been the custom to submit a general accounts budget, plus special budget requests.

The former method was abandoned after criticism that it befuddled legislators and confused efforts to balance the budget.

Two Troopships Leave Japan For West Coast

Yokohama, Feb. 18 (AP)—The transport General Aultman docked today with 466 personnel for Japan. Included were 1 naval officer, 20 army officers, 329 enlisted men, 109 dependents and 7 Government workers.

The General Aultman will leave today for Korea with 28 enlisted men and 84 War Department workers.

Two ships left today for the United States. The General Morton departed for San Francisco with 48 officers, 1,610 enlisted men, 37 War Department civilians, 6 Red Cross workers and 2 army nurses. The General Greeman left for Seattle with 32 officers, 1,695 enlisted men and 8 civilians.

Indian Brigade Reinforced

Kure, Japan, Feb. 18 (AP)—Delayed by a snowstorm that reduced visibility to 50 yards, the steamship Rajula docked at Kure today with 371 Indian reinforcements for the 268th Indian Brigade. Among the troops was Sabadar Gaje Shale, who won the Victoria Cross in the Ghin Hills of Burma.

9 Missing in Storm Off Japan

MATSUYAMA, Japan, Feb. 18 (AP).—A search was under way today for nine persons missing since a storm Saturday sank five coal barges being towed from Fukuoka to Osaka. Fifteen persons were rescued. The tow ship and two barges made port on the island of Shikoku.

G. I. in Korea Wins Contest

SEOUL, Korea, Feb. 18 (AP).—Private Emory Warrick, of Pascagoula, Miss., won the American Red Cross "Star Your State" contest in Korea with a plan to improve harbor facilities in his home town. Private Warrick will be given a tour of Japan.

Education Aids Reach Tokyo

TOKYO, Feb. 18 (AP).—Two psychologists who will act as consultants in the Japanese educational program have arrived here, Allied headquarters' civil information and education section said today. They are Dr. Herbert Hyman, an instructor of psychology at Brooklyn College, and Dr. Elizabeth Morris, professor of education and consulting psychologist at Albany State Teachers College, Albany.

Newark G. I. Fatally Shot in Hawaii

Honolulu, Feb. 18 (A. P.).—Pfc. John B. Watkins of Newark, N. J., son of Mrs. Gertrude Watkins, was fatally shot by the corporal of the guard at Fort Kamehameha on Sunday, the Army announced yesterday.

An Army spokesman said that Watkins got in an argument with the corporal, who was not identified, over who was faster on the draw. The spokesman said that the corporal did not know there was a cartridge in the chamber of his service automatic when he pulled the trigger.

Wayne Coy Is Mentioned For McNutt's Job

Manila, Feb. 18 (AP)—Wayne Coy, executive editor of the Washington Post, said today that Manila reports that he might succeed United States Ambassador Paul V. McNutt were "the first I have heard."

Coy, here with a group of American editors touring the Orient, was prominently mentioned by Manila newspapers Monday as a possible successor to McNutt, who has made no secret of his desire to resign soon.

The Washington correspondent of the Evening News reported, meanwhile, that Gen. Jonathan Wainwright, hero of Bataan and Corregidor, was being mentioned in authoritative political and army circles in Washington as the next ambassador to this republic.

The correspondent pointed out that Wainwright was scheduled to retire in June and wished to return to the Philippines to help establish a joint Filipino-American memorial on Corregidor.

Yank Families' Ban In Philippines Reported

Manila, Feb. 18 (AP)—The Post has reported without confirmation that no more families of United States military personnel would be brought to the Philippines because of the serious housing shortage.

The paper said the plan had been tentatively approved at a conference of Philippines Immigration Commissioner Engracio Fabre and American representatives.

Fabre was quoted as saying many American families were unwilling to live in army barracks and would outbid Filipinos in the scramble for homes.

Envoy Back At Post

Canberra, Australia, Feb. 18 (AP)—United States Ambassador Robert Butler returned here today by United States Army plane after a week's visit to Manila. He was accompanied by his wife and daughter and their house guests, Mrs. James Lyons, of Portland, Ore., and George Tweed, of Duluth, Minnesota.

Late Gen. Wingate Honored By Jews

Jerusalem, Feb. 18 (AP)—Jewish leaders participated today in the dedication of a forestry project named in honor of the late Maj. Gen. Charles Orde Wingate, hero of the war in Burma and organizer during the Arab uprisings in the 1930's of Palestine defense squads which became the present-day Hagana.

Wingate, who perished in a plane crash in March, 1944, is revered by Palestine Jews for the work he did here in combining Jewish and British "night raiders" to beat off Arab bands which menaced Jewish settlements.

HQ Near Forest Site

His headquarters in those days were located at Herod's Well, a short distance from the site of a new forest planted today on the slopes of historic Mount Gilboa.

Mrs. Golda Myerson, head of the political agency of the Jewish Agency in Jerusalem, made a brief speech at the ceremony and read a message from Dr. Chaim Weizmann, former Zionist president, regretting his inability to be present.

Mount Gilboa is the scene of the Biblical battle between the Israelites and Philistines in which King Saul was defeated and slain with his sons.

PALESTINE JEWS ARE REPRIEVED

Jerusalem, Feb. 18 (A. P.).—A reprieve was granted today for the three Jewish youths sentenced to death by a Jerusalem military court for participation in the flogging of four Britons. Lieut.-Gen. G. H. Macmillan, commander of the British troops in Palestine, granted the respite until the Privy Council, Britain's highest tribunal, disposes of the case of Dov Bela Gruner.

Gruner, like the other three a member of the underground organization Irgun Zvai Leumi, is under sentence of death for a raid on a police station. Recently, however, it was announced that execution of the sentence might be delayed by as much as a year by the legal tangle involved.

Tonight a road mine blasted a truck carrying members of the Lincolnshire Regiment on the outskirts of Jerusalem and injured three of the soldiers, it was officially announced.

Truck Is Blasted Near Jerusalem; 3 British Hurt

Jerusalem, Feb. 18 (AP)—Three British soldiers were injured tonight when their truck was blasted by a land mine near Jerusalem, and at least five other explosions were reported elsewhere in the troubled Holy Land.

An official announcement said one of the three soldiers, a sergeant, was seriously hurt and that the truck was demolished. The mine was a crude affair made from beer bottles filled with explosives, and was detonated electrically from a near-by field.

The two other soldiers were less seriously injured, and the driver of the truck escaped unhurt.

Officials said that a railway line near Nablus, north of Jerusalem, was damaged by another blast.

An hour after the truck blast a child handed a note to an Associated Press reporter which said:

"This will show that the national military organization [the Jewish underground organization Irgun Zvai Leumi] will not be hampered or even slowed by whatever barbed-wire security measures our British invaders care to impose."

Free Indo-China Data Urged

Saigon, Indo-China, Feb. 18 (AP)—Press correspondents urged French military authorities today to confine the newly instituted censorship to military matters.

Censorship of nonmilitary matters, they told Gen. Claude Valluy at a conference, produced harmful results and cast doubt on all information from Indo-China. Valluy is commander in chief of French troops in Indo-China.

The correspondents also asked more direct contact with authorities and the right to indicate in stories transmitted the number of words deleted by censors.

War With Viet-Nam

[The censorship was set up by the French in their warfare with the Viet-Nam republic, which seeks freedom in both foreign and domestic affairs from the French Indo-China administration.]

The daily newspaper Union Francaise published a letter complaining that a number of Annamite and French colonial settlers were immobilized in Saigon and unable to get back to their plantations because of bands that robbed travelers and burned vehicles along roads in Cochin-China.

Cochin-China Suspends Leftist Newspaper

Saigon, Indo-China, Feb. 18 (AP).—The weekly French leftist newspaper Lendemain was suspended indefinitely today by the French Commissioner of Cochin-China for "injurious attacks against the President and the provisional republican Government of Cochin-China."

The commissioner said the paper had conducted "a campaign which risked demoralizing effects on public opinion."

25 Picked Moslems Walk To Arrest in India Protest

LAHORE, India, Feb. 18 (AP).—The Moslem League continued its twenty-five-day-old civil disobedience campaign today with a parade of approximately 125 persons selected by their fellows for arrest in protest against the Punjab government's anti-procession decrees.

Hundreds of persons jammed Lahore's fashionable promenade, the Mall, while steel-helmeted police backed by tear-gas squads waited to receive the strutting, shouting League members designated for arrest.

First the procession leaders walked forward and shook hands with the police. Then others bearing green and white League flags walked forward, thrust their way through the police line and climbed into the police vans.

When the last of the group was arrested the show was over for the night—that is, over for every one but those arrested. They will have to walk ten to twenty miles back home from the spot where the police will dump them out. The jails are full and hardly anybody goes to prison any more, those arrested for civil disobedience being merely carried well into the surrounding countryside and released.

Burmese Split On Freedom

Rangoon, Burma, Feb. 18 (AP)—Opponents of the anti-Fascist People's Freedom League, Burma's dominant political faction, sought today to stir Burmese opinion against the Burma-Britain agreement for bringing independence to Burma.

These opponents contend that the league leader, U Aung San, was not an elected leader of the Burmese masses and never had a mandate to sign such an agreement with the British.

Form Committee Of Action

They formed a committee of action composed of Dr. Ba Maw, Burma's Premier during the Japanese occupation; Thakin Ba Sein, one of two dissenting members of the delegation which accompanied Aung San to London; former Premier U Saw, head of the Myochit party, and Sir Paw Tun, member of the last governor's executive council, to lay plans for overthrowing Aung San.

A spokesman said the committee would meet in Rangoon on February 23. He added that there was little prospect the Communists would join the opposition because of previous differences.

Praise, Flowers For Royalty

Cape Town, South Africa, Feb. 18 (AP)—The British Royal Family took the salute of 5,000 persons on Cape Town's Grand Parade today, as the city officially welcomed the sovereign visitors with praise and flowers.

The generally expressed feeling was that King George VI, Queen Elizabeth and the Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret Rose already had captured the hearts of the people, although this was only the second day of the first visit of a royal family to this youngest dominion.

Stand 15 To 20 Deep

Wealthy burghers in formal dress, their wives, clergymen, society leaders, educators and politicians all sat in a huge crescent facing the canopied Royal Pavilion. Beyond this thousands of others watched the proceedings. Humanity fifteen to twenty deep lined the streets from Government House to the Grand Parade.

The King said he wanted to see as much as possible of South Africa.

Afrikaners and others joined in cries of "Hear, Hear" during the King's brief speech.

British Royalty At Cape Town Ball

Cape Town, South Africa, Feb. 18 (AP)—The British royal family attended a civic ball given by the Cape Town Council at City Hall tonight.

The Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret Rose danced on the crowded floor, while King George VI and Queen Elizabeth watched.

Princess Elizabeth wore a white tulle gown with a bespangled bodice, while Margaret Rose appeared in a simpler rose pink taffeta. The Queen wore a white crinoline gown with spangles. The King wore civilian evening dress with decorations.

From a special balcony, the heads of diplomatic missions of other countries and British commonwealth representatives also took part in the function.

U.S. Ship Faces Seizure In Java Blockade Test

Aboard the S.S. Martin Behrman off Cheribon, Java, Feb. 18 (AP)—While a Dutch destroyer blocked her path and three armed Dutch sailors patrolled her decks, this United States Liberty ship continued loading a multi-million-dollar cargo from republican Java today, despite Dutch warnings that she will be seized if she attempt to quit these territorial waters.

Meanwhile, commercial shipping circles throughout Southeast Asia awaited the outcome of this test case which may decide whether foreign shippers, by dealing directly with the unrecognized Indonesian Republic, can transport the vast stores of rubber, sugar, cinchona and sisal which have been sealed up inside Java by a Dutch naval blockade during the eighteen months the Netherlands Government and the Indonesians have been negotiating on independence of the island empire.

The Dutch maintain that there should be "no export without our permission."

"Ours is the internationally recognized jurisdiction here," they say. "These products are the property of Dutch estate owners. The revolution prevents their return to their estates. Foreign credits from the stockpiles are needed for the eventual rehabilitation of Indonesia."

Credits Are Needed

On the other hand, the Indonesians contend that "the republic is the de facto authority in 98 per cent of Java. The products were grown by Indonesians during the absence of the Europeans. Indonesia needs the credits as badly as the world needs the products, the raw materials of vital industries."

American Consul General Walter Foote radioed from Batavia that the United States recognizes only Dutch jurisdiction in the East Indies.

However, Capt. Rudy Gray, of Southport, N.C., skipper of the Martin Behrman, is loading up on orders from the New York owners of the ship, the Isbrandtsen Line.

Edict "Not Contested"

In New York, Hans Isbrandtsen, president of the shipping firm which owns the Martin Behrman, expressed hope that "things will be straightened out." He said the United States State Department "technically may be right" in indicating that the United States would recognize authority of the Dutch Government to prevent the ship's departure.

"We are not contesting any such Dutch edict," he said. "No such edict existed when we sent the ship in there. We have no political interest in what goes on out there. We will abide, of course, by anything that is decided by fair means, and I am hopeful that the thing will be straightened out."

Russian To Pay Visit To Far Northern Base

Ottawa, Feb. 18 (AP)—Canadian army officials said today a Russian representative apparently would be included in a party of ten to fifteen observers scheduled to visit the far northern experimental base at Churchill, Man., next week.

The disclosure came as the Soviet Government newspaper, Izvestia labeled the recently announced Canadian-United States peacetime defense collaboration agreement "an iron fist in a velvet glove" and contended that Canada was turning over her territory and army to the United States in preparation for aggression.

Army headquarters said the Russian Embassy had said it would send a representative on the visit of a group of foreign military attachés and newspapermen to the joint services base in far northern Manitoba on the rugged shores of Hudson Bay. Invitations were sent to all foreign military attachés in the city and none so far have declined the invitation.

Canada-U.S. Board May Visit Manitoba

Winnipeg, Feb. 18 (AP)—Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, Canadian chairman of the Canada-United States Joint Defense Board, said here last night that the board, which opens a three-day meeting in Winnipeg tomorrow, may visit Churchill in northern Manitoba.

General McNaughton, who was accompanied by F. H. LaGuardia, United State chairman and former mayor of New York, said the visit would be prompted by "certain experiments being carried out there of interest to the whole North American continent. I believe in people seeing things for themselves." He did not elaborate.

A number of high-ranking officers of both Canadian and United States armed forces will attend the meeting, the first to be held here.

Marshall Upholds Acheson On His Russian Statement

Tells Molotov Restrained Comment on the Matter of Public Policy Is Not Slander—Answers Protest Made by Soviet.

Washington, Feb. 18 (A. P.).—Secretary of State Marshall told Soviet Russia today that Under-Secretary Dean Acheson spoke "in line of duty" in describing Russia's foreign policy as "aggressive and expanding."

This Government's reply to a protest by Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov said:

"Under our standards a restrained comment on the matter of public policy is not a slander. Therefore I know that on second thought you will not attribute hostility to frankness."

Marshall's reply to the protest made by Molotov last week against testimony given the Senate Atomic Energy Committee by Under-Secretary Acheson was delivered to Molotov today in Moscow by Ambassador Bedell Smith.

The text was released here by the State Department.

Acheson's expression was used in reply to questions by Senator McKellar (D.-Tenn.) at a Senate Committee hearing on the nomination of David Lilienthal to be chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission. Molotov, on the basis of press reports, filed a protest against Acheson's "hostile attitude" and described the Under-Secretary's testimony as "inadmissible."

Marshall replied to Molotov as follows:

"I have your letter of February 14 sent to me through Ambassador Smith in which you protest against what you describe as the inadmissible behavior of the Under-Secretary of State in making a statement before a committee of the Senate of the United States which you consider as a rude slander and hostile to the Soviet Union.

"The expression complained of was not volunteered by the Under-Secretary but was in response to questioning by a member of the Senate. The answer was given in the course of questions explicitly ruled permissible by the chairman of the committee: The particular question and answer were as follows:

"Senator McKellar: Now, assuming that Russia is reaching out not only for those countries that she already has, but is reaching out for additions to her territory, do you not believe that if she gets this bomb discovery she would take not only the remainder of Europe but perhaps the remainder of the world?

"Mr. Acheson: Senator, I don't think that that is a question which is capable of being answered in the way in which you ask it. I am quite aware of the fact that Russian foreign policy is an aggressive and expanding one. I think that one of the great efforts which every one is making in the United Nations is to attempt to find means for solving the problems of that sort. If those means and agreements can be found, then there is hope that there will not be major clashes. If they can't be found then I think the situation is very serious.

Answered in Line of Duty.

"You are thoroughly familiar with the constitutional system of this nation including the separation of powers between the legislative and executive branches of this Government. In accordance with our system an officer of the executive branch, called before a committee of the legislative branch, is under a duty to answer frankly relevant questions not involving a matter of secrecy incompatible with the public interest. Such an exception did not exist here.

"The conduct of the Under-Secretary, therefore, in answering the question frankly and in accordance with his conscience cannot be described as inadmissable, but was rather in line of duty.

"You characterize the content of his statement as a rude slander and hostile to the Soviet Union. Under our standards a restrained comment on a matter of public policy is not a slander. Therefore, I know that on second thought you will not attribute hostility to frankness."

MARSHALL REJECTS RUSSIA'S PROTEST

Denies Acheson's Remarks About Soviet Were 'Slanderous, Hostile.'

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18—(AP)—Secretary of State Marshall, in a pointed lesson on the American democratic system, today rejected a Russian protest that Undersecretary Acheson had made remarks "rudely slanderous and hostile to the Soviet Union."

Marshall's reply delivered to Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov in Moscow, staunchly defended Acheson as having spoken "in the line of duty" in telling the Senate Atomic Committee that Russia's foreign policy is "aggressive and expanding."

The statement was not volunteered, Marshall said, but was in response to specific questions by a member of the Senate regarding Russia's territorial ambitions and how they might be developed by possession of atomic bomb secrets.

"You are thoroughly familiar with the constitutional system of this nation," Marshall told Molotov, "including the separation of powers between the legislative and executive branches of this government.

"In accordance with our system an officer of the executive branch, called before a committee of the legislative branch, is under a duty to answer frankly rejevant questions not involving a matter of secrecy incompatible with the public interest. Such an exception did not exist here.

"The conduct of the undersecretary, therefore, in answering the questions frankly and in accordance with his conscience can not be described as inadmissible, but was rather in line of duty.

"You characterize the content of his statement as a rude slander and hostile to the Soviet Union. Under our standards, a restrained comment on a matter of public policy is not a slander.

"Therefore, I know that on second thought you will not attribute hostility to frankness."

Marshall's letter cited the fact that Acheson made his comment in reply to questioning by Senator McKellar (D-Tenn), who had asked him:

"Now, assuming that Russia is reaching out not only for those countries that she already has, but is reaching out for additions to her territory, do you not believe that if she gets this bomb discovery, she would not take the remainder of Europe but perhaps the remainder of the world?"

Acheson's Statement

In reply, Acheson said: "I am quite aware of the fact that Russian foreign policy is an aggressive and expanding one."

But he said, the United Nations is attempting to find means for solving problems of that sort.

"If those means and agreements can be found, then there is hope that there will not be major clashes. If they can't be found, then I think the situation is very serious," Acheson said.

The text of Marshall's letter, answering Molotov's protest of Feb. 14, was released by the State Department here as the Secretary of State appeared before the House Foreign Affairs committee in a two-hour private session reviewing "practically every sore spot in the world."

Afterwards, in a brief talk with reporters, Marshall left the way open for a renewed American effort to build European peace around a four-power pact to keep Germany disarmed for 40 years.

The plan, he said, is still "a very important consideration."

He declined to say definitely whether he would press the idea at the forthcoming Moscow conference, beginning March 10, as the basis for efforts to write a German peace treaty.

Members of the House committee, pledged to keep Marshall's testimony a secret, said that the Secretary was "optimistic on the whole," but emphasized that he realizes his job is long and hard.

Standing at Marshall's side, Chairman Eaton (R-NJ) told newsmen that the Secretary's review of the world proved a "very exhaustive and interesting session" with Marshall answering questions "frankly and fully."

Rep. Mundt (R-SD) said later he urged Marshall during the meeting to adopt a policy of "realism and reciprocity" in dealing with Russia.

"I can't tell you what he said," Mundt commented, "but I can tell you that he didn't say: 'Nuts to you.'"

Marshall Giving House Unit His Policy Views

Washington, Feb. 18 (AP)—Secretary of State Marshall wrapped up his views on the state of the world for a business call today on the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

The meeting behind locked doors was billed as a review of international policy in general at a time of rising congressional resentment at the way Russia operates.

And the emphasis was on relations with the Soviet because the new Secretary of State is heading into the Big Four foreign ministers' conference at Moscow on March 10.

Questions Ready For Him

Committee members understood Marshall had a prepared statement ready for them. They had some questions and ideas ready for him.

One of them said:

"He certainly will be told there is plenty of resentment in Congress against anything that looks like appeasement, because it is so clear it doesn't work.

"I think the committee will ask for a full definition of our policy toward Russia, plus an analysis of Russian policy, as we see it, in Europe, South America, China, the United States and at United Nations Headquarters.

Marshall's "Two Main Points"

Representative Mundt (R., S.D.), a committee member, has already announced he wants assurances that Marshall will insist, in the interest of world peace, that Russia come around to a policy of "realism and reciprocity."

Mundt wants to explore, too, why Russia doesn't grant more visas for visitors, permit more American consulates to be established, and allow greater distribution of American publications.

A prominent House Democrat indicated Marshall would stress two points: that Congress should refrain from weakening the armed forces behind America's diplomacy and slashing funds to aid other nations so greatly as to shove them into Russia's arms.

Rankin Hits "Boot Licking"

The concern over Russia's course is by no means limited to the Foreign Affairs Committee.

Only yesterday the House heard:

A proposal by Representative Rankin (D., Miss.) that the United States "stiffen" its attitude toward the Soviet and stop "licking the boots of Joe Stalin."

A declaration by Representative Keating (R., N.Y.) that the Moscow conference should be shifted elsewhere unless Russia raises the limit of twenty American reporters and photographers allowed to cover it.

An assertion by Representative Celler (D., N.Y.) that "the wastebasket" is the place for a Soviet protest against Under Secretary of State Dean Acheson's description of Moscow's foreign policy recently as "aggressive and expanding."

The State Department announced yesterday that Marshall had replied to the protest and that his response would be made public soon.

House Committee Reports He Is Optimistic.

Washington, Feb. 18 (A. P.).—Secretary of State Marshall reviewed the world's "sore spots" with the House Foreign Affairs Committee today and members reported him "optimistic on the whole" over maintaining peace.

Marshall met reporters briefly after the two-hour closed session. In response to a question he said the proposal advanced by former Secretary of State James F. Byrnes for a four-power 40-year pact to keep Germany disarmed was still alive.

The Secretary declined, however, to say definitely that he is taking the plan to the March Conference of Foreign Ministers at Moscow as a basis for discussing a German peace treaty.

The four-power proposal, Marshall said, was a "very important consideration for which Mr. Byrnes was largely responsible." Asked directly whether it is "still alive," he replied: "Yes."

Chairman Eaton (R.-N. J.), standing at Marshall's side, told reporters that the Secretary of State's visit had been the basis of a "very exhaustive and interesting session." He said that Marshall had dealt "frankly and fully" with the committee's questions.

Marshall himself said that he didn't think that it would be "wise" to comment on questions which were asked in the executive session.

He said that he and the committee had "discussed practically every sore spot in the world" in an endeavor to throw some light on diplomatic problems.

Representative Mundt (R.-S. D.) told reporters that Marshall "in general" was very optimistic. Asked whether Marshall had expressed an opinion on the chance of another war, Mundt replied:

"He didn't think so."

Prior to the meeting, Mundt sought assurances that Marshall will insist that Russia come around to a policy of "realism and reciprocity."

SECOND RUSS PROGRAM SENT

New Broadcast Guided By Criticisms Of First

Washington, Feb. 18 (AP) — The State Department beamed on Russia today a second radio news program which was put together in the light of suggestions from Moscow listeners for improvement.

Officials said they welcomed the spotty reaction to the opening yesterday of the first official American attempt to pierce the "iron curtain" with news and other information.

Some listeners, both Russian and American, reported the initial program was wordy.

Helps On Other Programs

Such advice helps guide the preparation of the daily programs in 24 other languages as well as Russian in the New York studios of the State Department's international broadcasting division.

The foreign programs follow mostly the same pattern, with the content divided among straight news reports, brief articles on phases of American life, and musical entertainment.

The news is based chiefly on State Department announcements, official statements of other Government departments, and news reports of the International News Service. Both the Associated Press and the United Press declined to participate because of the association of official broadcasts in some countries with Government propaganda.

Submitted To Editors

The State Department, however, has announced the aim "of making the programs strictly" factual and unbiased. In an effort to avoid any suspicion of American propaganda it has undertaken to submit the scripts to inspection of American editors.

A committee from the American Society of Newspaper Editors last year, at the invitation of William Benton, Assistant Secretary of State, reviewed a cross-section of all the scripts. It is expected to make another such review shortly.

Benton heads the office of international information and cultural affairs, of which the broadcasting division is a part. Features are prepared by members of the New York staff, which numbers about 500. This staff also prepares the news bulletins.

COMMUNIST CURBS BY U.S. ARE HELD LAX

U.S. Chamber Of Commerce Proposes Detailed 'Pattern For Action'.

Washington, Feb. 18 (AP)—A United States Chamber of Commerce report tonight declared "our Government has shown appalling laxity" in ousting Communists, and proposed a detailed "pattern for action."

In discussing the problem, the report noted in passing that "we have committed to the Atomic Energy Commission unprecedented powers" and said in the same paragraph that where "men have shown inability to detect Communist influence in front organizations, or in making appointments, they can hardly be considered safe candidates for exalted office."

Congressional Probe

The chamber report further urged a congressional investigation so that "the secret story of Yalta and Tehran could be made public," along with "the entire aspect of outside interference in American foreign policy." It said some policies "appear to be more pro-Soviet than pro-American."

"Much that is sordid would be revealed by a complete inquiry," it added, "but it would furnish the basis for an intelligent and realistic foreign policy. It would also further document the need for loyalty and security in Federal employment policies."

The report said no figures are available on the number of Communists in the Government, but:

"It has been estimated that about 400 hold positions of importance in Washington.

Positions Abroad

"Others occupy strategic positions in the military government abroad. . . .

"Communist party and Communist front meetings in Washington attract thousands, most of them Federal employés. Secret Communist cells are continuously at work within the nation's capital."

The report made seventeen specific recommendations for action by Congress and Government agencies:

1. The Government should be able to raise the question of any employé's loyalty at any time, "regardless of the permanency of his status."

2. All agencies, not just the Civil Service Commission, should be charged with investigating their employés' loyalty. But a central agency should set standards and check their enforcement and a congressional "vigilance" committee should be set up.

3. "Records should be concentrated as far as possible."

4. Trained personnel should be used to detect Communists.

Lists Of Organizations

5. The Justice Department "should make public at least twice a year a certified list of Communist-controlled front organizations and labor unions" and the Government "should clearly state its attitude toward public employés who support" them.

6. The civil service, in testing the loyalty of prospective Federal employés, should reinstate questions abandoned in 1943 regarding "Communist activity in unions, aid to Loyalist Spain, Communist reading matter, family connections with subversive elements, and adherence to front organizations."

7. "Precise definitions" should be made of what constitutes a Communist front organization and a "fellow traveler" as well as a full-fledged Communist, and of the Government's attitude toward them.

Security Regulations

8. All agencies should draft security regulations for the safety of files and information "and graduated but severe penalties should be provided for violations."

9. All employés should be fingerprinted and photographed.

10. The civil service application form should call for information on "former addresses, use of other names, foreign residence and employment by a foreign power, etc."

11. Any employé who at any time falsified his record with intent to deceive "should be discharged and prosecuted."

12. Persons ousted from one agency for disloyalty should be barred from all others.

Check Staff Committees

13. Congressional committee staff members should be checked for loyalty like other Government workers.

14. "Every effort should be made to discover common sources of unsatisfactory appointments" so as to uncover "the Communist patronage machine."

15. The Civil Service Commission and Federal Bureau of Investigation should be strengthened. Economy "should not interfere with security."

16. "A nation-wide campaign of education is necessary through the press, radio and the schools" to enlist public opinion.

17. "The Civil Service Commission should be assisted by an advisory board consisting of responsible and loyal representatives of labor, business and the legal profession."

VACATION TRIP TO TAKE TRUMAN INTO CARIBBEAN

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18. — (AP) The White House today announced a 15-day vacation itinerary which will take President Truman by plane and ship next month to the Caribbean for official receptions in Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands after a three-night stop at Key West, Fla.

The trip starts from here March 8 and winds up March 23.

The chief executive also will witness fleet maneuvers and make an unofficial visit to the American naval base at Guantanamo, Cuba.

By Plane and Yacht

Mr. Truman will travel by naval plane and aboard the presidential yacht Williamsburg. The journey will get under way two days after his return from a three-day official visit to Mexico. For that trip—entirely by plane—he will leave here early on March 3 and return March 6.

The president's party on the Caribbean trip has yet to be announced. Mr. Truman's private plane, the Sacred Cow, will not be available for the flight to Key West as it will be used for another undisclosed purpose at the time.

The president will take off by naval plane at 10 a. m., Saturday March 8 and arrive about 3 p. m. at Key West. He will rest three nights at the commandant's house at the submarine base there, where he spent six days last November; then take off at 5 a. m., March 11, by plane, for San Juan, Puerto Rico.

He will arrive in San Juan around 10 a. m., and go aboard the yacht Williamsburg. At 1 p. m., he will go ashore to attend an official luncheon by Governor Jesus Pinero, at La Fortaleza, a harbor protecting fort started in 1533 and now used as the governor's official residence. There will be an official reception there later in the afternoon.

To Watch Maneuvers

The president will attend fleet maneuvers March 12 and 13 and put in at 5 p. m., March 13 in Charlotte Amalie harbor, St. Thomas, Virgin Islands. He will go ashore for a reception at the residence of Governor William H. Hastie, former dean of Howard University Law School here, spend a night aboard ship, and attend a luncheon at 1 p. m., March 14 at the governor's house. Officials of the island government will be present.

The remainder of the cruise will be strictly informal and unofficial, including a stop at Guantanamo around the 17th. The party will debark at Key West March 23 and return by plane to Washington that day.

GERMANY'S FOOD NEEDS STRESSED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18—(AP)—Several newspaper executives and radio commentators, just back from Europe, asserted today it would be a mistake to cut funds sought by the War Department to supply food for the American-occupied zone in Germany.

"You can't teach democracy to people who are cold and hungry," was the way Erik Oberg, editor of the Inustrial Press Publications, put it.

Back from Month's Survey

The group returned yesterday after spending a month in Europe at the invitation of the War Department. They discussed their experiences and reactions at a news conference.

Secretary of War Patterson already has protested congressional proposals to slash the War Department's budget for the next fiscal year, asserting it would mean a cut of $500,000,000 in funds needed to "prevent starvation" in occupied zones.

Victor O. Jones, night editor of the Boston Globe, said that if the food supply is cut 25 percent, Germans would get only 1,000 calories a day. He added that doctors have told him Germans could stay alive on such a diet but would have to stay in bed.

"They wouldn't be able to work," Jones said, adding that this meant Germany would produce nothing for export and American taxpayers would have to support them or let them starve.

Danger of Hunger Riots

Virginius Dabney, editor of the Richmond Times Dispatch, spoke of the possibility of hunger riots which might get out of hand.

"We might have to call on the Russians," Dabney said.

Frazier Hunt, commentator for the Mutual Broadcasting System, suggested that this country should help feed the Germans for two to three years and aid them in reviewing their exports.

Coleman Harwell, executive director of the Nashville Tennesseean, said that teaching of democracy to Germans is "a tough task." If the British and Americans fail, he said, the Germans will see it as a failure of democracy and will not want democracy themselves.

Reporters asked the group whether they got the impression that American occupation forces lived too well and had too many servants. Dwight E. Young, editor of the Dayton Journal Herald, replied that he did not think so, adding that "in Rome, do as Romans do." By this, he explained he meant that Germans in authority customarily were served by many servants.

GROUP REJECTS SIX BILLION SLASH BY VOTE OF 22-19

Decide Conditions Too Unsettled to Cut Military Funds Deeply.

DEBATE OPENS TODAY

Knutson Warns Actio Means Smaller Percentage of Tax Relief.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18—(AP)—Senate Republicans, confronted by army-navy warnings against risking the nation's military security, voted 22 to 19 today to hold the proposed budget cut to $4,500,000,000, rather than $6,000,000,000.

Chairman Knutson (R-Minn) of the House Ways and Means Committee said the smaller slash would throw overboard all prospects of a 20 per cent tax cut, and require a smaller percentage of tax relief.

Against Big Military Cut

A conference of Senate Republicans threw out the $6,000,000,000 figure after three of their leaders, Senators Taft of Ohio, Vandenberg of Michigan and White of Maine were reported to have declared in the closed door session that now is not the time for America to disarm, with the peace of the world unsettled.

The report on the 22 to 19 vote was supplied by those attending the meeting.

"There was a feeling in the conference," Senator Millikin (R-Colo) said, "that if we cut the military too deeply we might commit some blunders we could not rectify."

Under the proposed $6,000,000,000 slash, a $1,750,000,000 cut was understood to be contemplated in President Truman's request of 11,200,000,000 for the armed services.

The $4,500,000,000 slash would trim Mr. Truman's budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1 from $37,500,000,000 down to $33,000,000,000, whereas the larger cut would have put the budget at $31,500,000,000.

The senate begins formal debate on the budget issue tomorrow and Millikin, chairman of the finance committee, told reporters "it would seem that the $4,500,000,000 would be sure to prevail."

Democrats Cry "Gag Rule"

Meanwhile, House Democrats cried "gag rule" at a Republican move in that body to ban any amendments to the resolution calling for a $6,000,000,000 budget reduction, when that body comes to a vote on Thursday.

The $6,000,000,000 figure appeared sure to prevail in the House voting, with indications that the Senate and House later might come to a compromise on a cut of about $5,000,000,000.

Knutson, in addition to appearing gloomy at the prospect of a full 20 percent tax cut, said that the delay caused by the budget battle is diminishing daily the prospect that any tax relief can be made retroactive to Jan. 1, as he had planned, and whatever relief is voted may now be effective as of July 1.

Millikin said he would offer the $4,500,000,000 figure as an amendment to the resolution by Senator Bridges (R-NH) calling for a $6,000,000,000 slash when the budget is taken up in the senate.

Asked whether the international situation was discussed in the Republican meeting, Millikin said "only in relation as to cutting of the military might affect the international situation."

Chairman Gurney (R-SD) of the senate armed services committee said after the Republican conference:

"I am glad that enough Republicans are opposed to the attempt to hamstring our armed forces at this time."

Sees Adequate Army Funds

Gurney said he is confident enough Democrats and Republicans will join forces in the senate to assure adequate funds for the army and navy.

The Republican leadership forced through the House Rules committee today a stipulation that when the $6,000,000,000 cut — which was voted by the Senate-House budget committee—is presented for a vote in the House Thursday no amendments can be proposed.

In a noisy session of the rules group, Rep. Cannon (D.-Mo.) declared:

"This is the most drastic rule that can be written. It is not in keeping with Democratic processes, but is an agent of dictatorship."

Reps. Smith (D.-Va.), Sabath (D.-Ill.) and Cox (D.-Ga.) joined Cannon in the attack, declaring that not in their long service in Congress had they known the House to be so "gagged."

"It seems to be a new policy proposed here to gag the House," Smith said. "There must be some fear that you (Republicans) cannot pass this otherwise."

Cox said "this is the first indication of the Republicans that they intend to make arbitrary use of the power the party now holds."

The opponents of the no-amendment rule voiced concern at possibilities a $6,000,000,000 slash, with the Army and Navy losing $1,750,000,000, might cripple the national defense.

Rep. Taber (R.-N. Y.), chairman of the House Appropriations committee and the House-Senate budget committee, vigorously disputed such contentions.

Taber conceded that the large slash would mean "substantial reduction" in the $11,200,000,000 of Army and Navy funds requested by Mr. Truman, but he said there would be no cuts that would impair the fighting qualities of the services.

He argued to the rules group that the economies might be brought about by cutting off some of the 1,000,000 civilians employed by the Army and Navy.

EISLER IS CITED FOR CONTEMPT OF THE HOUSE

Ballot Is 370 to 1, With Marcantonio Casting Negative Vote.

POWELL AND RANKIN CLASH

Latter Calls Eisler One of Most Dangerous Men Ever to Set Foot in U. S.

Washington, Feb. 18 (A. P.).—The House today cited Gerhardt Eisler for contempt after hearing him described as the "supreme" communist authority in this country and "one of the most dangerus men ever to set foot on American soil."

The roll call vote to cite Eisler was 370 to 1. Representative Marcantonio (A. L.-N. Y.) cast the negative vote. Representative Powell (D.-N. Y.) was listed as present and not voting.

At the request of the Committee on un-American Activities, the House adopted a resolution directing Speaker Martin to certify the case to the United States attorney for the District of Columbia for appropriate legal action. The resolution spoke of the "willful and deliberate refusal of Gerhardt Eisler to be sworn and to testify."

Eisler refused on February 6 to swear to tell the committee the truth without making a preliminary statement first.

Now it is up to the District Attorney to lay the case before a Grand Jury with a request for an indictment, if he thinks this step is warranted.

The Eisler contempt citation was the first of the Eightieth Congress. In the Seventy-ninth, more than a score of persons were cited by the committee and the House for contempt. Few cases reached the prosecution stage.

Representative Nixon (R.-Cal.), a member of the Committee on Un-American Activities, described Eisler as "the supreme authority on Communist activities in the United States."

Marcantonio told the House that "hysteria has been worked up" over the case.

Representative Rankin (D.-Miss.) referred to Eisler as "one of the most dangerous men who ever set foot on American soil." He said Communists are stirring up racial troubles in this country and had a hand in a race riot in Detroit. He went on to talk of troubles between "the niggers and whites."

Powell, a Negro, raised a parliamentary objection to the use of "disparaging terms."

"I said what I always say and what I'm always going to says," Rankin shouted. "Now, Mr. Speaker, it's no disgrace to be a real nigger."

Speaker Martin overruled Powell's objections.

The committee also has charged Eisler with contempt of Congress, conspiracy to overthrow the American Government, perjury and income tax evasion.

Eisler now is in Federal custody at Ellis Island, N. Y.

EISLER IS CITED FOR CONTEMPT

House Action Is Preliminary Step to Prosecution in U. S. Court.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18 — (AP) Gerhard Eisler, labelled the "supreme" Communist authority in the United States, was cited in Congress today for "willful and deliberate" contempt of the House Committee on Un-American Activities. The vote was 370 to 1.

Rep. Marcantonio (AL-NY) cast the lone vote against the citation, which is a preliminary step to prosecution in Federal court.

A House resolution directed Speaker Martin (R-Mass) to put the case in the hands of the U.S. attorney for legal action. The maximum penalty upon conviction is a $1,000 fine and a year's imprisonment.

The contempt action arose from Eisler's refusal to be sworn in as a witness without first making a preliminary statement when brought before the committee under subpoena Feb. 6.

Rep. Nixon (R-Calif), a committee member, told the House that Eisler is "an arrogant and defiant enemy" of this country, "a seasoned agent of the Communist International who has been shuttling back and fourth between Moscow and the United States," and the "supreme authority on Communist activities in the United States."

Eisler's sister, Ruth, a former Communist who broke with the party and her brother a decade ago, testified that Eisler is a "dangerous terrorist."

Rep. Rankin (D-Miss), another committee member, called Eisler "one of the most dangerous men who ever set foot on American soil."

But Marcantonio scoffed at the "hysteria" he said had been worked up over the Eisler case. He said Eisler was shown by the committee's own records to have offered to answer all questions and thus was not "in willful contempt."

Defended by Marcantonio

"When you tear away all the innuendo, the opinions of personal enemies," the New Yorker said, "the record will not show that Eisler ever engaged in any activities calling for the violent overthrow of the government of the United States."

The committee advised the Justice Department its evidence shows Eisler can be charged with conspiracy to overthrow the government, passport falsification, perjury, income tax evasion and contempt of Congress.

The committee has also received testimony connecting Eisler with Russian spy operations. Eisler, who admitted he is a German Communise, has denied he is a spy or the real leader of the Communist movement in this country.

He is now in Federal custody at the immigration station at Ellis Island, N. Y. The committee has asked the Justice Department to see that he is kept in America as a man too dangerous to deport.

Disputed Letter Not His, Says Ex-TVA Aide

Washington, Feb. 18 (AP)—Henry C. Hart, Jr., former Tennessee Valley Authority employé, today bluntly denied he signed or knew about a letter allegedly telling about Communist activities within the agency.

Hart, shortly after testifying about being a member of the Communist party for eighteen months, from 1937 to 1939, while he was a TVA employé, testified under oath that he did not write the letter, sign it, or know about it until it was published in a Knoxville (Tenn.) paper in 1943.

Hart, now a postgraduate student at the University of Wisconsin, was subpoenaed to testify before the Senate Atomic Energy Committee, which for more than three weeks has been studying the qualifications of David E. Lilienthal and other nominees for the Atomic Energy Commission.

Tells Of Joining

He said he was solicited to join the Communist party by a man named Ted Wellman, of Chattanooga, who represented himself to be the party's secretary in Tennessee.

"Was he a TVA employé?" asked Committee Chairman Hickenlooper (R., Iowa).

"No, sir," Hart answered.

Hickenlooper had asked Hart directly if he ever had been a member of the Communist party and held a card in that organization.

"Yes, sir," Hart said.

Hickenlooper asked if he followed all the party's views.

"Not An Atheist"

Not all of them, Hart said. Specifically, he explained, he did not follow the party's anti-religious line. He said he never had been an atheist and made that clear when he joined.

Hart characterized himself as "an idealist," who at the time had "only a very confused understanding" of Communist aims.

Pepper Defends Lilienthal

Senator Pepper (D., Fla.) contended earlier that the fight against Lilienthal is being pushed by "ambitious militarism and isolationism and greedy efforts to establish private monopolies" in atomic energy.

Pepper made that statement in a letter to President Truman commenting on the effort to block Lilienthal's confirmation as chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission.

Cites Effect On Peace

The Florida Senator said Lilienthal, as chairman of the Tennessee Valley Authority, effectively carried out "traditional liberal policies" and that rejection of his nomination by the Senate would not "tarnish his own record of public service."

"But," Pepper continued, "it would be an omen to the people of this country and to the world that there are powerful forces in this country which would, if they could, make impossible America's genuine participation in international cooperation for peace."

Pepper's letter to the President said that Lilienthal throughout his career has "failed to engage in the type of witch hunt which is now being used against him and against all liberals in a reactionary effort to discredit liberal doctrines, liberal individuals and liberal groups."

Exported Wheat Price Proposals

Washington, Feb. 18 (AP)—American farmers would be assured an average farm price of about $1 to $1.30 a bushel for wheat sold in foreign markets under a proposed four or five year international wheat agreement made public today.

The agreement will be submitted to a conference of major wheat exporting and importing countries in London beginning March 18. It would not govern the domestic price.

The document was drafted by an international wheat council organized before the war to combat world surpluses.

American farmers also would be assured at least sixteen per cent of the world export market if they cared to take advantage of it. This country's share of the basic 500,000,000 bushel world export demand would be 80,000,000 bushels.

To Stabilize Future Prices

The agreement is designed to stabilize future prices, production and stocks of wheat in a manner designed to prevent depressed farm prices on the one hand and excessive prices and shortages for consumers on the other.

It would set up a system of minimum and maximum world-market prices. The minimum now being proposed would be equivalent, Agriculture Department officials said, to a national average of about $1 at the farm, while the top price would average about $1.30.

These prices compare with a national average of $1.91 received by American farmers in January.

While the maximum price proposed by the agreement is at present below prices being received by farmers, officials said it is possible domestic prices may be within the minimum-maximum range after the 1947 harvest. A record domestic wheat crop is in prospect.

Four Major Exporters

The agreement would become effective when ratified by the four major exporting nations—Canada, Australia, Argentina and the United States—and by enough importing countries, including the United Kingdom, to make a market for at least 400,000,000 bushels annually; or by any three of these exporting countries and six importers, including the United Kingdom, with sufficient imports to insure satisfactory operation of the agreement.

Ratification by this country would necessitate congressional approval.

Canada would be given 40 per cent of the basic 500,000,000 bushels world export market, or 200,000,000 bushels. Australia's quota would be 19 per cent or 95,000,000 bushels and Argentina's share would be 25 per cent of 125,000,000 bushels.

Other Formulas

Other formulas would be set up for sharing demands in excess of 500,000,000 bushels.

The agreement provides for maintenance of wheat reserves in the form of national stocks to insure against crop failure, famine and other contingencies. Minimum and maximum limits would be established on national stocks so as to prevent excessive surpluses on the one hand and dangerously low reserves on the other.

Canadian Wheat

The agreement would allow exporting countries to make grain available at special cut-rate prices to underdeveloped countries for distribution among low-income consumers.

The minimum and maximum prices proposed in the agreement are given in terms of Canadian wheat—a minimum of $1.25 and maximum of $1.55 for No. 1 Manitoba northern wheat at Fort Williams and Port Arthur.

Officials estimated that at present the United States equivalent would be a minimum of $1.25 and a maximum of $1.55 for No. 1 heavy dark northern spring wheat at Duluth and $1.16 to $1.46 for No. 2 hard winter wheat in store at Kansas City. Farm prices would be lower because of transportation and other costs.

Scientists Deny Pushing For Report On Atom

Washington, Feb. 18 (AP)—The argument over who wanted the Smyth report published and how much of the atomic bomb's secret it revealed veered toward the Army today.

A denial by Atom Scientists of Chicago, Inc., that scientists "lambasted" the Army into publishing the first official account of the bomb in August, 1945—as charged by Bernard M. Baruch—tossed the ball to the War Department.

Chicago Declaration

The Chicago atom scientists declared last night in their publication, the Bulletin:

"The firms which have participated in the immense enterprise may have had an understandable desire to publicize their achievement, and the Manhattan District was anxious to show what it did with $2,000,000,000; but the scientists were and are indifferent to the revelation of technological aspects of the production of fissionable materials and manufacture of bombs."

No one denies that the actual order to prepare a report was issued to Prof. Henry DeWolfe Smyth by Maj. Gen. Leslie R. Groves, former director of the Army's bomb-making agency. The question is whether the Army made the decision voluntarily or was urged by civilian scientists.

Ordered To Start In 1944

Persons familiar with the project said today that instructions to Smyth to begin preparation of the report were issued late in 1944. Smyth was a Princeton University faculty member and consultant for the Manhattan (A-bomb) District.

In a foreword to the report, Groves said military security prevented telling the full story, but "there is no reason why the administrative history of the atomic-bomb project and the basic scientific knowledge on which the several developments (for producing fissionable material) were based should not be available now to the general public."

Value Of Data Discounted

Some scientists contend that, as a recipe book for making a bomb, the Smyth report is inadequate. It contains long discussions on general methods for producing fissionable material, they say, but nowhere does it give the mathematical formulas necessary for the translation of the theory.

Smyth, speaking last night in Cleveland, said: "We can't prevent bright people from developing and working elsewhere." He added that scientific data from one section of the Manhattan District alone would "fill 30 or 40 fat volumes" and added, "compare this with the brief War Department report that has been released."

Reasons For Release

He also said he believed there were two major reasons for releasing some of the information.

1. The first "is political. The ultimate responsibility for our nation's policy rests on its citizens, and they can discharge such responsibilities wisely only if they are informed."

2. Machines of the future will be designed by scientists now doing research and "every piece of information withheld from these men and women will lessen their usefulness to the country in the future."

Groves's Position

Groves himself has declared: "The Smyth report gives the fundamental science that was known or could be easily deduced. It did not give all the fundamental science."

On the other hand, there is the report of Dr. S. A. Goudsmit, University of Michigan professor who went overseas with a War Department mission to find how much atomic knowledge there was abroad, compared with that disclosed in the Smyth report.

He reported the Germans before the end of the war "did not know as much as was contained in the Smyth report." He added they might have possessed bits of knowledge, but said they did not "grasp the right points in order to further the development."

The Atom Scientists of Chicago are a group of some of the nuclear physicists who worked, mostly as civilians, on the bomb project.

But in an editorial the Bulletin mentions a much more practical bomb which it says could produce a radioactive cloud that would wipe out all animal and plant life over hundreds of square miles. Such bombs would destroy ten square miles, says the editorial, and are as real today as was the 20,000 tons of TNT equivalent of the Hiroshima bomb.

The editorial does not give any details. However destruction of ten square miles would not require a bomb unreasonably greater than the Nagasaki bomb that followed Hiroshima by three days and was officially reported to be possibly twice as powerful.

Clouds Quickly Dispersed.

The radioactive clouds from Hiroshima and Nagasaki were virtually harmless, because they rose to immense heights and dispersed. The editorial does not say how it is proposed to keep one of these clouds close enough to the ground to do great harm to life. It refers the reader to Teller's article.

But Teller does not discuss the radioactive cloud from as small a bomb as the editorial specifies. He projects a bomb that is 100,000 to 1,000,00 0times more powerful than present "A" bombs.

The radioactive clouds from these, he says, would be so much greater that they could overspread the United States and endanger all life, if exploded somewhere west in the Pacific, so that prevailing winds could carry the cloud across the country.

Would Still Be Dangerous.

This greater clould would disperse in the same way as the Japanese and Bikini bomb clouds. But it would still be dangerous. It would drift across the United States the same as scientific studies indicated that the Bikini cloud did last summer about one week after the air bomb was exploded over the target fleet. That cloud was completely harmless he says.

Teller predicts without details that new kinds of bombs or other methods of destruction will come as no less of a surprise than did the blinding flash over Hiroshima.

He says that the United States, by dispersion and counter measures, might fight and win an atomic war, and that a few thousand Hiroshima type bombs might kill only one per cent of Americans. But he adds that this would be warfare with present type "A" bombs and say it is unsound to limit our attention to present types, because he thinks bombs 1,000 times more powerful are easily possible.

Scientist Says Hypothetically Radioactive Cloud Could Endanger Whole U. S.

A hypothetical atomic bomb that could endanger the entire United States by its radioactive cloud blanketing the nation is described today by Edward Teller, noted atomic scientist, in the Bulletin of the Atomic Scientists of Chicago.

British Present Case Against Albania

Lake Success, N.Y., Feb. 18 (AP)—Great Britain charged in the United Nations Security Council today that Albania had not only violated international law by mining the Corfu Channel but had committed "a crime against humanity."

This declaration was made by Sir Alexander Cadogan as the Council opened its hearing on British complaints that mines laid by Albania had killtd 44 British seamen and injured 42 last October 22.

Direct Talks Fail

Direct negotiations between the British and Albanian governments had failed to satisfy British demands for apology and compensation for loss of lives and damage to two destroyers, he said. Then Cadogan called on the Council to adopt the following conclusions:

1. That "an unnotified minefield" was laid in the Corfu Straits by the Albanian Government or with its connivance, resulting in serious injury to his Majesty's ships and loss of life and injury to their crews.

2. That the British and Albanian governments should settle the dispute by further direct negotiations and that, in event of failure to reach an agreement, either party may call on the Council for further action.

3. That the Council keep watch over the case until it is settled.

4. That the Council remind all countries they must sweep mines from all territorial waters or permit them to be swept.

Protection Of Lines

Cadogan said, "It is necessary for my Government to see that the lives of innocent mariners of every nationality are protected against clandestine criminality."

"The laying of this clandestine minefield in the Corfu Channel is a blatant violation of conduct set out in The Hague conveition," he asserted. "Quite apart from The Hague convention, however, the laying of this minefield without notification is a crime against humanity."

As Cadogan opened the case, Hysni Kapo, Albanian representative, was invited to the Council table to await his turn to present the Albanian side. Although Albania is not a member of the United Nations, the Council had held up the case until Kapo's arrival so that both sides would be represented.

Later today, the Council will resume the atomic-control debate.

Both Russia and Poland are expected to submit amendments to the American atomic-control plan. The United States and most other delegations will probably turn down the amendment as entirely unacceptable.

The Soviet plan was outlined last week by Soviet Delegate Andrei Gromyko. It called for immediate steps to outlaw the production of atomic weapons as a preliminary setup to any atomic-control program.

Polish Amendments

Polish Delegate Jerzy Michalowski indicated he had several amendments, all of which involved the vital section of the Atomic Energy Commission's report proposing veto-free punishment of violators.

United States Delegate Warren R. Austin and some other delegates asked the Soviet representative to circulate copies of his amendments and proposals in advance of today's session so they would have an opportunity to study them. But Gromyko refused.

It was unlikely, therefore, that Austin would be ready to begin debate on the Soviet amendments and proposals immediately.

Proposals To Council Would Throw Out U.S. Program

Lake Success, N.Y., Feb. 18 (AP)—Russia submitted to the United Nations Security Council today thirteen proposals in its plan for separate international conventions to outlaw atomic weapons and to put atomic control under the Security Council.

The effect would be to throw out of the report of the Atomic Energy Commission the heart of the United States plan.

Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet delegate, proposed that an effective system of control be established by separate convention "which must be administered within the framework of the Security Council." This would leave the veto right in the Security Council undisturbed.

Would Be Subject To Review

This convention, Gromyko proposed, would establish an international control commission which would carry out the day-to-day duties involved in international control. Inspection and control organs under this commission would make decisions by majority rules and the veto power would not apply in them. Their work, however, would be subject to review by the Security Council.

Jerzy Michalowski, Polish delegate, lined up with Russia in a call for an international convention prohibiting the production of atomic and other weapons of mass destruction.

The Security Council argued nearly an hour on procedure and then adjourned. It will meet tomorrow to debate the Albanian questions and will continue discussion of atomic energy Thursday.

Charges Albanian "Crime"

Sir Alexander Cadogan, British delegate, charged at today's first session that Albania committed a "crime against humanity" by mining the Corfu channel where two British destroyers were damaged with a loss of 44 British sailors killed and 42 wounded last October 22. One of the destroyers was a total loss.

Cadogan read a 22-page statement and called on the Security Council to decide:

1. That an unnotified minefield was laid in the Corfu Straits by the Albanian Government or with its connivance, resulting in serious injury to his Majesty's ships and loss of life and injury to their crews.

For Direct Negotiation

2. That Albania and Britain settle the dispute by direct negotiation or, failing in that, to call on the Security Council for further action.

3. That the Security Council keep watch over the case until it is settled.

4. That the Security Council remind all countries to sweep or permit territorial waters to be swept free of mines.

Albania's representative, Hysni Kapo, Minister to Yugoslavia, was expected to reply tomorrow.

Representatives of the United States, Great Britain, Russia and France met informally for a brief discussion of the choice of a governor for Trieste. Former Mayor Fiorello H. LaGuardia of New York, mentioned as a possibility, was reported definitely out of the running.

Article 51 of the Charter, Mentioned in Atom Study

Article 51 of the United Nations' Charter, the "self-defense" article, which is mentioned in Point X of the Soviet Union's proposed modifications of the Atomic Energy Commission's report, reads:

"Nothing in the present Charter shall impair the inherent right of individual or collective self-defense if an armed attack occurs against a Member of the United Nations, until the Security Council has taken the measures necessary to maintain international peace and security. Measures taken by Members in the exercise of this right of self-defense shall be immediately reported to the Security Council and shall not in any way affect the authority and responsibility of the Security Council under the present Charter to take at any time such action as it deems necessary in order to maintain or restore international peace and security."

Text of the Soviet Atomic Proposals

Special to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Feb. 18—Below are the texts of the amendments and additions submitted by the Soviet Union to modify the first report of the Atomic Energy Commission to the Security Council. (The recommendations of the commission's report were printed in THE NEW YORK TIMES of Dec. 31, 1946.)

On part II, Item C—"General Findings."

I. To add the following paragraph to item 2: "Inspection, supervision and management on the part of an international organ are applied in regard to all existing plants for the production of final atomic materials (nuclear fuel) immediately after an appropriate convention or conventions are put into effect."

II. To modify the wording of the first paragraph of item 5 formulating this paragraph as follows:

"5. That an effective system of control of atomic energy must be international in scope and must be established by an enforceable multilateral convention which must be administered within the framework of the Security Council."

III. To modify the wording of paragraph 6 formulating it as follows:

"6. That an international convention outlawing the production, possession and use of atomic weapons is an essential part of any such system of international control of atomic energy. To be effective, such a convention should provide for the establishment of a comprehensive system of international control including supervision and inspection to ensure the fulfillment of terms of the convention and to protect complying states against the hazards of violations and evasions." (Quotation is from the commission's terms of reference set forth in Article V of the resolution adopted by the General Assembly on Jan. 24, 1946.

Would Modify Recommendations

On Part III—"Recommendations."

IV. To add to paragraph 1 after the words "in the commission's terms of reference" the following phrase: "and in the General Assembly resolution of Dec. 14, 1946," on "Principles Governing the General Regulation and Reduction of Armaments."

V. To modify the wording of paragraph 2 formulating it as follows:

"Such a system of international control of atomic energy should be established and its scope and functions defined by a convention in which all of the nation members of the United Nations should be entitled to participate with the same rights and obligations. The international system of control should be declared operative only when those members of the United Nations necessary to assure its success by signing and ratifying the convention bind themselves to accept and support it. Consideration should be given to the matter of participation of non-members of the United Nations."

VI. To include the following modifications into paragraph 3:

To substitute the introductory sentence: "The treaty or convention should include, among others, provisions" by the following sentence: "The convention should include, among others, provisions."

To formulate Paragraph 3 (A) as follows:

"Establishing within the framework of the Security Council an international control commission, possessing powers and charged with responsibility, necessary for effective administration of the terms of the convention and for the prompt carrying out of its day-to-day duties. Its rights, powers and responsibilities should be clearly established and defined by the convention. Such powers should be sufficiently broad and flexible to enable the commission to deal with the situation that may arise in the field of atomic energy in connection with new discoveries. In particular, the commission shall render every kind of assistance for extending among all nations the exchange of basic scientific information on the use of atomic energy for peaceful purposes, shall be responsible for preventing the use of atomic energy for military purposes and for stimulating its uses for the benefit of the people of all nations. The control organs and the organs of inspection should exercise their control and inspection functions, acting on the basis of their own rules, which should provide for the adoption of decisions, in appropriate cases, by the majority."

VII. To formulate the Paragraph 3 (C) as follows:

"Prohibiting the manufacture, possession, and use of atomic weapons by all nations parties to the convention or conventions and by all of their nationals."

VIII. To formulate the Paragraph 3 (D) as follows:

"Providing for destruction of stocks of manufactured atomic weapons and of unfinished atomic weapons."

IX. To formulate the Paragraph 3 (E) as follows:

"Specifying the means and methods of determining violations of terms of a convention, stigmatizing such violations as international crimes, and establishing the nature of the measures of enforcement and punishment to be imposed upon individuals and upon nations guilty of violating its provisions.

"The judicial or other processes for determination of violations of the convention and of punishment therefor, should be swift and certain. Serious violations of the convention should be reported immediately by the commission to the nations parties to the convention and to the Security Council."

X. To formulate Paragraph 4 as follows:

"While considering the problem of violation of the terms of the convention, it should be borne in mind that violation might be of so grave a character as to give rise to the inherent right of self-defense recognized in Article 51 of the Charter of the United Nations."

Concerning Transitional Process

XI. To modify the wording of Paragraph 5 formulating it as follows:

"5. The convention should embrace the entire program for putting the system of international control of atomic energy into effect and should provide a schedule for the completion of the transitional process, after the expiration of a certain period of time, step by step in an orderly and agreed sequence leading to the full and effective establishment of international control of atomic energy. In order that the transition may be accomplished as rapidly as possible and with safety and equity to all, this commission should supervise the transitional process as prescribed in the convention and should be empowered to determine when a particular stage or stages have been completed and subsequent ones are to commence."

XII. It is proposed to add Paragraph 6, wording it as follows:

"With the purpose of the speediest implementation of the findings and recommendations stated above, and also of the General Assembly resolution of Dec. 14, 1946, on 'principles governing the general regulation and reduction of armaments,' the Security Council recognizes as urgent to consider draft conventions on prohibition of atomic and other major weapons adaptable to mass destruction."

"THE MINISTER OF LABOR HAS NOT REFERRED TO THE POSSIBILITY OF WIDENING THE SCOPE TO COVER FOREIGN LABO

THE SPOKESMAN SAID THE UNION HAD NOT COMMITTED ITSELF IN ANY WAY TO THE GENERAL INTRODUCTION OF FOREIGN LABOR.

EARLIER, THE LABOR MINISTRY DENIED KNOWLEDGE OF ANY PLAN TO RECRUIT CONTINENTAL MANPOWER, A SPOKESMAN ASSERTING:

"THE MINISTER OF LABOR HAS NOT REFERRED TO THE POSSIBILITY OF WIDENING THE SCOPE TO COVER FOREIGN LABOR GENERALLY AND PARTICULARLY DISPLACED PERSONS."

REPORTS INDICATED A GENERAL IMPROVEMENT IN THE COAL SUPPLY SITUATION AT MOST BIG POWER STATIONS, BUT UNEMPLOYMENT CONTINUED TO SPREAD.

THE FORD MOTOR COMPANY SAID IT WOULD CLOSE ITS DAGENHAM PLANT, EMPLOYING 14,000, THURSDAY BECAUSE OF A PARTS SHORTAGE AND ADDED, "WE HAVE NO IDEA WHEN WE WILL BE REOPENING."

THE EIRE FUEL POSITION DETERIORATED TO A CRITICAL STAGE BECAUSE BRITAIN BANNED COAL SHIPMENTS.

HOUSEHOLDERS IN SUBURBAN AREAS WERE REPORTED BREAKING UP FURNITURE FOR FUEL. FURTHER CUTS IN RAIL SERVICE APPEARED INEVITABLE. ALL CATTLE SHIPMENTS HAVE BEEN SUSPENDED, AND PASSENGER AND FREIGHT TRAINS HAVE BEEN LIMITED TO A SCHEDULE OF THREE DAYS A WEEK.

THE LABOR GOVERNMENT, WHICH RECENTLY NATIONALIZED THE COAL MINES, WILL ISSUE A WHITE PAPER THIS WEEKEND ON THE NATION'S ECONOMIC AFFAIRS AND THE LABOR SHORTAGE. SOURCES NEAR THE GOVERNMENT SAID THE PAPER WOULD SET TARGETS FOR ALL MAJOR INDUSTRIES, DEAL WITH THE MECHANIZATION OF THE COAL MINES AND THE IMPORTATION OF CONTINENTAL LABOR.

ATTLEE AND THE COAL CABINET SCHEDULED ANOTHER MEETING TONIGHT. IT WAS REPORTED THAT THEY HOPED TO FIX A TENTATIVE DATE FOR RESTORING TO PRODUCTIVITY AT LEAST A PART OF THE NATION'S SHUTDOWN INDUSTRY.

NEARLY A FULL MOTORIZED DIVISION OF TROOPS WAS DIGGING OUT SNOW-BOUND RAIL LINES AND HAUKING COAL FROM ISOLATED COLLIERIES TO CITIES HARDEST HCT BY THE FUEL FAMINE. FIVE HUNDRED TRUCKS AND 7,700 BRITISH SOLDUERS, POLES AND GERMAN PRISONERS WERE BEING USED.

SIR GUY MOTT-BOWER, UNDERSDCRETARTY OF FUEL, ZT A NEWS COFFERENCE WARNED OF A FERIOUY COKE AND GAS SHORTAGE, AND SAID "THE POSITION IS NOT DESPERATE, BUT IT IS BY NO MEANS BRIGHT."

MINISTER OF FOOD JOHN STRACHEY TOLD REPORTERS THAT INTERRUPTIONS OF FOOD MANUFACTURE WOULD BE FELT BY HOUSEWIVES FOR WEEKS TO COME AND THAT THE "SWEET RATION IS ONE OF THE MOST AFFECTED."

LATEST REPORTS INDICATE THAT THERE ARE SOME 320,000 DISPLACED PERSONS IN THE BRITISH ZONES OF AUSTRIA AND GERMANY.

WEATHER FORECASTERS REPORTED NO SIGNS OF AN EARLY BREAK IN EUROPE'S MOST SEVERE COLD WAVE IN 50 YEARS.

THE BERLIN PRESS ANNOUNCED THERE WOULD BE NO FURTHER DISTRIBUTION OF COAL FOR HEATING PURPOSES. MORE THAN 200 BERLIN DANCE HALLS AND LUXURY RESTAURANTS CLOSED, AND THOUSANDS OF AGED AND SICK PERSONS WERE MOVED FROM ICY HOMES TO TEMPORARY BUNKS IN PUBLIC WARMING HALLS.

AN EPIDEMIC OF GRIP AND INFLUENZA SWEPT WARSAW, AND THE NEWSPAPER EXPRESS WIECZORNY SAID MORE THAN 100,000 PERSONS WERE ILL.

GALES AND TORRENTIAL RAINS ISOLATED MANY VILLAGES IN PORTUGAL AND CAUSED HEAVY DAMAGE TO CROPS. SOME PERSONS WERE FORCED TO EVACUATE THEIR HOMES IN LISBON.

AN OFFICIAL BRITISH SPOKESMAN SAID ICE FLOES IN THE TALTIC MIGHT DELAY THE DEPARTURE OF FOREIGN SECRETARY ERNEST BEVIN FOR MOSCOW. BEVIN AND HIS ADVISORS HAD PLANNED TO LEAVE MARCH 1 BY SHIP FOR THE MEETING OF THE FOUR-POWER FOREIGN MINISTERS, SCHEDULED TO OPEN MARCH 10. BEVIN WAS REPORTED ANXIOUS TO AVOID AIR TRAVEL BECAUSE OF HIS HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE.

THE FUEL SITUATION IN EIRE, CUT OFF FROM BRITISH COAL BY A BAXN ON EXPORTS, WAS BEUCRP3$ -' $4858:-). PASSENGER AND FREIGHT TRAINS HAVE BEEN LIMITED TO A THREE-DAY-A-WEEK SCHEDULE. HOUSEHOLDERS IN SUBURBAN AREAS WERE REPORTED BREAKING UP FURNITURE TO BURN.

THE MINISTRY OF COMMERCE IN NORTHERN IRELAND ANNOUNCED A FIVE-HOUR-A-DAY CUT-OFF FOR DOMESTIC USERS OF ELECTRICITY.

JJ259PES

BEVIN SAID BRITAIN WOULD LAY THE HISTORY OF BRITISH ADMINISTRATION IN PALESTINE AND THE VARIOUS PLANS FOR THE TROUBLED COUNTRY BEFORE THE UNITED NATIONS AND THEN ASK UN "TO RECOMMEND A SETTLEMENT OF THE PROBLEM."

"WE DO NOT INTEND OURSELVES TO RECOMMEND ANY PARTICULAR SOLUTION," HE SAID, ADDING:

"ALTHOUGH WE SHALL GIVE IMMEDIATE NOTICE, WE SEE GREAT DIFFICULTY IN HAVING THIS MATTER CONSIDERED BY THE UNITED NATIONS BEFORE THE REGULAR SESSION OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY IN SEPTEMBER."

THUS THE FOREIGN SECRETARY APPARENTLY RULED OUT THE MUCH DISCUSSED POSSIBILITY THAT BRITAIN MIGHT SEEK A SPECIAL MEETING OF THE ASSEMBLY OR MIGHT BRING THE QUESTION BEFORE THE SECURITY COUNCIL.

"WE REGRET," BEVIN SAID, "THAT THE FINAL SETTLEMENT SHOULD BE SUBJECT TO THIS FURTHER DELAY, PARTICULARLY IN VIEW OF THE CONTINUING STRAIN ON BRITISH ADMINISTRATION AND SERVICES DURING THIS PERIOD.

"WE TRUST, HOWEVER, THAT AS THE QUESTION IS NOW TO BE REFERRED TO THE UNITED NATIONS, ALL CONCERNED WILL EXERCISE RESTRAINT UNTIL THEIR JUDGMENT IS KNOWN.

"I HAVE THE FEELING THAT BOTH JEWS AND ARABS, IF THEY WANT TO MAINTAIN THE DIGNITY OF THEIR CASE WITH THE UNITED NATIONS, SHOULD BE CAREFUL OF THEIR ACTIONS DURING THE INTERIM PERIOD."

SCANDINAVIAN (475)

STOCKHOLM, FEB 18-(AP)-SWEDEN'S REFUSAL IN THE SPRING OF 1940 TO PERMIT THE TRANSIT OF GERMAN ARMS TO NAZI FORCES IN NORWAY WAS BACKED UP BY RUSSIA, THEN LINKED TO GERMANY IN A NON-AGGRESSION PACT, THE SWEDISH GOVERNMENT DECLARED TODAY.

IN A WHITE PAPER INTENDED TO CLARIFY SWEDISH-NORWEGIAN RELATIONS DURING AND AFTER THE GERMAN INVASION OF NORWAY ON APRIL 9, 1940, SWEDEN'S GOVERNMENT SAID IT HAD LEARNED THAT V. M. MOLOTOV, RUSSIA'S FOREIGN MINISTER, HAD INFORMED GERMANY THAT IT WAS TO RUSSIA'S INTEREST THAT SWEDEN REMAIN NEUTRAL.

THIS, THE WHITE PAPER SAID, APPARENTLY WAS THE PRINCIPAL REASON GERMANY DID NOT ATTACK SWEDEN AFTER THE REFUSAL OF TRANSIT RIGHTS.

THE NORWEGIAN GOVERNMENT, IN A WHITE PAPER ON THE SAME SUBJECT ISSUED A FEW HOURS EARLIER IN OSLO, SAID THAT WHILE IT AGREED WITH SWEDEN'S NEUTRALITY DURING THE WAR, IT HAD BEEN "DISAPPOINTED" AT SWEDISH REFUSAL TO GRANT TRANSIT RIGHTS FOR ARMS FOR NORWAY'S DEFENSE.

THE NORWEGIAN TELEGRAPH AGENCY SAID SWEDEN AND NORWAY HAD CONFERRED BEFORE ISSUING THE DOCUMENTS IN ORDER TO PRESENT PARALLEL VERSIONS OF MATTERS ABOUT WHICH THERE HAD BEEN "RUMORS."

THE AGENCY CALLED THE ALMOST SIMULTANEOUS WHITE PAPERS "CARDS ON THE TABLE" DOCUMENTS DESIGNED TO BAR ANY FUTURE "MISUNDERSTANDING WITH REGARD TO THE PAST" WHICH MIGHT ARISE.

THE SWEDISH WHITE PAPER SAID HITLER DISTRUSTED SWEDEN'S INTENTION TO DEFEND HER BORDER IF BRITISH FORCES THEN AT NARVIK SHOULD ATTACK IN THE DIRECTION OF SWEDISH IRON FIELDS, AND DEMANDED THAT SWEDEN ALLOW HIM TO SEND REINFORCING TROOPS THROUGH SWEDEN.

HE WAS REASSURED OF SWEDEN'S INTENTION TO RESIST ANY ATTACK ONLY WHEN KING GUSTAF WROTE HIM A PERSONAL LETTER, THE DOCUMENT SAID. IT ADDED THAT SO LONG AS FIGHTING AS GOING ON IN NORWAY SWEDEN STOOD FAST IN HER REFUSAL TO ALLOW TRANSIT RIGHTS, DESPITE REPEATED DEMANDS FROM HERMANN GOERING AND THREATS BY FOREIGN MINISTER JOACHIM VON RIBBENTROP.

B28 (SEG)

GOERING'S DEMANDS, THE WHITE PAPER SAID, INCLUDED PROPOSALS THAT GERMAN ARTILLERY BE MOVED ACROSS SWEDEN IN FREIGHT CARS MARKED WITH RED CROSSES, AND THAT SWEDEN SELL ARMAMENTS TO THE GERMANS, AND MAKE DELIVERY ON THE NORWEGIAN BORDER.

THE PAPER ACKNOWLEDGED THAT AFTER NORWAY FELL ON JUNE 10, 1940, THE SWEDES ALLOWED NAZI WAR MATERIAL AND "SOLDIERS ON LEAVE" TO CROSS SWEDEN. IT SAID 133,135 GERMANS MOVED FROM NORWAY IN THE LAST HALF OF 1940 AND 129,105 MOVED THE OTHER WAY, INCLUDING NAZI PROPAGANDA MINISTER PAUL JOSEPH GOEBBELS.

THE NORWEGIAN WHITE PAPER CALLED "UNFRIENDLY" THE SWEDISH BAN AGAINST NORWEGIAN ARMS SHIPMENTS ACROSS SWEDEN DURING THE BRIEF PERIOD OF NORWAY'S RESISTANCE AND DECLARED THAT CERTAIN "ACCOMODATIONS" GRANTED THE GERMANS--SUCH AS THE RIGHT TO EVACUATE NAVAL PERSONNEL THROUGH SWEDEN--WERE VIOLATIONS OF STRICT NEUTRALITY.

IT NOTED, HOWEVER, THAT THERE WAS NO EVIDENCE THAT SWEDEN EVER YIELDED TO GERMAN DEMANDS--BACKED WITH "GREAT FORCE"--TO PERMIT TRANSIT OF GERMAN TROOPS AND ARMS TO NORWAY. IT SAID ALSO THAT SWEDEN AIDED NORWAY "UNOFFICIALLY" BOTH BEFORE AND AFTER NORWAY'S COLLAPSE.

"WE ARE NOT MUDSLINGERS AND WE ARE NOT GOING TO BECOME MUDSLINGERS," CLAY ADDED. "IT IS NOT OUR POLICY TO ATTACK OUR ALLIES IN THE GERMAN PRESS. WE WILL JUST CONCENTRATE ON MAKING THE FACTS AVAILABLE."

HE SAID THE AMERICANS HAD THROWN MORE NAZIS OUT OF INFLUENTIAL POSITIONS IN GERMANY THAN ANY OTHER OCCUPYING POWER.

CITING STATISTICS, CLAY SAID THE GERMAN DENAZIFICATION COURTS HAD SENTENCED MORE THAN 2,000 NAZIS TO JAIL, HAD PERMANENTLY DISBARRED FROM OFFICE ANOTHER 4,000 AND RESTRICTED 16,000 MORE TO MANUAL LABOR FOR PERIODS FROM TWO TO 10 YEARS.

THE GOVERNMENT NEWSPAPER SAID THE RECENTLY ANNOUNCED U.S.-CANADIAN MILITARY AGREEMENT WAS AN "IRON FIST IN A VELVET GLOVE," AND WAS AN "EVIL" TRANSACTION.

IZVESTIA SAID THAT PRIME MINISTER W.L.MACKENZIE KING AND OTHER CANADIAN LEADERS WERE TRYING TO "HIDE" THE REAL NATURE OF THE AGREEMENT, WHICH WOULD HAVE THE EFFECT OF "DRAGGING THE LARGEST DOMINION OF THE BRITISH EMPIRE INTO THE ORBIT" OF THE UNITED STATES.

"THIS MILITARY CHILD, FRUIT OF AN UNNATURAL UNION, POSSESSED SO-MANY CLEARLY AGGRESSIVE CHARACTERISTICS THAT IT BECAME NECESSARY AT ONCE TO DRESS IT UP AS AN INNOCENT ANGEL OF THE WORLD," THE ARTICLE CONTINUED.

NANKING,FEB 18 (AP)-MINISTER OF INFORMATION PENG HSUEH-PEI ASSERTED TODAY THAT A FEB.15 DISPATCH BY THIS CORRESPONDENT CONCERNING CHIANG KAI-SHEK'S REACTION TO THE NEW U.S.STAND TOWARD CHINA CONTAINED "SEVERAL MISSTATEMENTS AND DISTORTIONS."

PENG CONTENDED THE DISPATCH WAS BASED ON AN OFF-THE-RECORD CONFERENCE FEB.14 WITH CHIANG BY A GROUP OF VISITING AMERICAN EDITORS. ACTUALLY, THE DISPATCH WAS BASED ON INTERVIEWS THE PREVIOUS WEEK WITH RELIABLE AND WELL INFORMED CHINESE AND AMERICAN SOURCES WHICH DID NOT PERMIT IDENTIFICATION.

CORRESPONDENTS OF TWO OTHER AMERICAN NEWS AGENCIES AGREED TODAY, AFTER A STUDY OF THE TEXT OF MY ORIGINAL STORY, THAT IT DID NOT VIOLATE CHIANG'S RESTRICTIONS AT HIS OFF-THE-RECORD CONFERENCE.

PENG OBJECTED TO A DISPATCH WHICH QUOTED SOURCES CLOSE TO CHIANG AS SAYING THE CHINESE LEADER WAS FULLY CONVINCED THAT FORCE NOW WAS THE ONLY MEANS OF SETTLING THE COMMUNIST PROBLEM AND THAT HE BLAMED THE UNITED STATES' SUSPENSION OF ARMS AND CREDITS TO HIS GOVERNMENT FOR EMBOLDENING THE COMMUNISTS TO CONTINUE FIGHTING.

IN AN INTERVIEW, PENG DECLARED, CHIANG "DID NOT QUESTION AMERICA'S RIGHT TO REFUSE ARMS AND CREDITS, BUT GAVE AS AN OFF-THE-RECORD OPINION THAT PUBLIC ANNOUNCEMENT OF THE INSISTENCE ON A COALITION GOVERNMENT, INCLUDING COMMUNISTS, AS A CONDITION FOR GRANTING LOANS AND SELLING ARMS, ONLY EMBOLDENED THE COMMUNISTS TO ADOPT AN ADAMANT ATTITUDE AND REFUSE TO NEGOTIATE WITH THE GOVERNMENT."

"TO PRESENT THIS STATEMENT AS AN INDICATION THAT THE GENERALISSIMO WAS BLAMING THE UNITED STATES FOR PROLONGING THE CIVIL WAR WAS CLEARLY A DISTORTION," PENG SAID.

PENG SAID HIS PROTEST DID NOT REMOVE THE OFF-THE-RECORD RESTRICTION ON CHIANG'S REMARKS AND ASKED THAT THEY NOT BE PUBLISHED.

HONOLULU, FEB.18-(AP)-SECRETARY OF INTERIOR KRUG SAID ON HIS ARRIVAL BY PLANE TONIGHT THAT HE WAS GOING TO TOKYO TO DISCUSS WITH GENERAL MACARTHUR THE PROBLEM OF SHIFTING JAPANESE-MANDATED ISLANDS FROM MILITARY TO CIVILIAN CONTROL.

KRUG ARRIVED FROM CALIFORNIA AT 5:25 P.M. AND WILL RESUME HIS TRIP WESTWARD AT 11 P.M. (4:30 A.M. WEDNESDAY, EASTERN STANDARD TIME.)

"I FAVORCIVIL ADMINISTRATION OF THE ISLANDS," KRUG TOLD A PRESS CONFERENCE. "THERE ARE MORE THAN 80,000 PEOPLE ON THE ISLANDS AND THEY ARE ENTITLED TO A VOICE IN THEIR OWN PROBLEMS."

ASKED WHEN HE THOUGHT THE ISLANDS--THE MARSHALLS, MARIANAS AND CAROLINES--MIGHT BE PLACED UNDER CIVIL ADMINISTRATION, KRUG REPLIED:

"I DON'T KNOW. THAT'S WHAT I WILL DISCUSS WITH GENERAL MACARTHUR. I WILL KNOW MORE ABOUT THAT PROBLEM AFTER I HAVE BEEN TO TOKYO."

AFTER VISITING THE ISLANDS AND RETURNING TO WASHINGTON, KRUG SAID HE WOULD DO ALL HE COULD "TO HELP HAWAII WIN STATEHOOD."

YOKOHAMA, WEDNESDAY, FEB.19-(AP)-COL.EDWARD J.MURRAY, FORMER CUSTODIAN OF THE BANK OF JAPAN VAULTS, TODAY FACED A U.S. EIGHTH ARMY INQUIRY INTO HOW HE OBTAINED $210,000 IN DIAMONDS.

MURRAY, RETURNED TO JAPAN ON GENERAL MACARTHUR'S ORDERS, WAS TAKEN AT ONCE TO THE ARMY STOCKADE AFTER HIS PLANE FROM SAN FRANCISCO ARRIVED LAST NIGHT. CUSTOMS AGENTS, ON INSTRUCTIONS FROM TOKYO, SEARCHED MURRAY AT SAN FRANCISCO, FEB. 5 AND FOUND DIAMONDS VALUED AT $10,000 ON HIS PERSON AND $200,000 MORE IN A SAFE DEPOSIT VAULT. HE SAID HE REGARDED THE DIAMONDS AS LEGITIMATE SOUVENIRS.

MANILA, WEDNESDAY,FEB.19-(AP)-EVIDENCE THAT SURRENDER-DEFYING JAPANESE STRAGGLERS ON MINDANAO HAVE RESORTED TO CANNIBALISM TO KEEP ALIVE WAS REPORTED TODAY BY PURSUING FILIPINO MILITARY POLICE.

MAJ.CEFERINO GALVEZ, MP COMMANDER AT MALAYABALAY, NORTH CENTRAL MINDANAO, SAID HIS MEN BROKE INTO A JUNGLE HIDEOUT IN BUKIDNON PROVINCE SHORTLY AFTER SOME JAPANESE HAD FLED AND FOUND NEWLY COOKED HUMAN FLESH AND BONES IN A POT.

THE PURSUING MPS PREVIOUSLY HAD CAPTURED 34 JAPANESE, HEADED BY A COLONEL, AT THE VILLAGE OF ALSAS IN BACK COUNTRY OF THE PROVINCE. A SECOND BAND, ESTIMATED AT 25 JAPANESE, IS BEING SOUGHT.

USING ONE OF THE CAPTURED SOLDIERS, NAMED ITO, AS A GUIDE, MPS HAD LOCATED THE STRAGGLERS' HIDEOUT AND APPEALED OVER LOUSPEAKERS FOR THE JAPANESE TO SURRENDER. IN THEIR FLIGHT, THE JAPANESE LEFT THE EVIDENCES OF CANNIBALISM, AND FOUR RIFLES AND A MACHINEGUN.

THE NEW OUTBREAK OF VIOLENCE OCCURRED A FEW HOURS AFTER THE NEWLY APPOINTED BRITISH MILITARY COMMANDER, MAJ.GEN.G.H.A.MACMILLAN, HAD ORDERED A POSTPONEMENT IN THE EXECUTION OF THREE YOUNG JEWS CONVICTED OF UNDERGROUND ACTIVITY.

THE DEATH SENTENCES HAD BEEN CONFIRMED BY LT.GEN.SIR EVELYN BARKER, JUST BEFORE HE WAS SUCCEEDED LAST THURSDAY BY MACMILLAN.

AN OFFICIAL ANNOUNCEMENT SAID MACMILLAN HAD GRANTED THE STAYS PENDING THE OUTCOME OF AN APPEAL MADE TO BRITAIN'S PRIVY COUNCIL IN BEHALF OF DOV BELA GRUNER, ANOTHER CONVICTED MEMBER OF THE JEWISH UNDERGROUND UNDER SENTENCE OF DEATH.

ATTORNEYS HERE HAVE ESTIMATED THAT THE PRIVY COUNCIL, BRITAIN'S HIGHEST COURT, MAY REQUIRE AS MUCH AS A YEAR TO DISPOSE OF GRUNER'S CASE.

THE THREE AFFECTED BY TODAY'S ORDER ARE ELIEZER BEN ZION KASHANI, 23; DOV BEN SALMAN ROSENBAUM, 24; AND MORDECAI BEN ABRAHAM ALKACHI, 21. THEY WERE CONVICTED FEB. 10 OF CARRYING GUNS AND A WHIP ON THE NIGHT OF DEC. 29, WHEN A BRITISH MAJOR AND THREE SERGEANTS WERE KIDNAPED AND FLOGGED.

A RELIABLE INFORMANT WHO ASKED REPORTERS NOT TO MENTION HIS NAME TOLD A NEWS CONFERENCE THAT PALESTINE'S CIVIL GOVERNMENT COULT NOT FUNCTION "FOR LONG" UNDER PRESENT CONDITIONS.

EXPRESSING THE CONVICTION THAT MILITARY RULE WILL BE DECLARED SOONER OR LATER, THE INFORMANT SAID THE GOVERNMENT WAS PLANNING EVEN TIGHTER MEASURES OF SECURITY BUT IF IT BECAME IMPOSSIBLE FOR THE GOVERNMENT TO MAINTAIN PUBLIC SERVICE AND SECURITY THE MILITARY WOULD HAVE TO TAKE OVER.

HE SAID HE UNDERSTOOD THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT IN LONDON WAS DISCUSSING AN "INTERIM PLAN" PENDING APPEAL OF THE PALESTINE PROBLEM TO THE UNITED NATIONS WHICH MIGHT ALTER EXISTING POLICY HERE.

ASKED IF THIS INTERIM PLAN MIGHT INCLUDE AN INCREASE IN THE EXISTING QUOTA OF 1,500 JEWISH IMMIGRANTS A MONTH HE SAID, "IT HAS BEEN MENTIONED."

THE CIVIL GOVERNMENT IS MAKING PLANS TO DEAL WITH AN EXPECTED INCREASE IN UNSCHEDULED IMMIGRATION, HOWEVER, AND TO SEND SUCH IMMIGRANTS TO DETENTION IN CYPRUS, HE SAID.

THE SENTENCES HAVE STIRRED THE IRGUN TO THREATS OF REPRISAL AGAINST THE BRITISH.

THE MOST RECENT APPEAL WAS MADE IN BEHALF OF THE PARENTS OF DOV BEN SALMAN ROSENBAUM AND ELEIZER BEN ZION KASHANI. BUT THE DECISION ALSO COVERS THE THIRD DOOMED MAN, ABRAHAM ALKASHI. A FOURTH OF THE GROUP HAD BEEN SENTENCED TO LIFE IMPRISONMENT. THE SENTENCES WERE CONFIRMED BY GEN.SIR EVELYN BARKER, THEN COMMANDER IN PALESTINE, PRIOR TO HIS DEPARTURE FOR LONDON LAST WEEK.

AN INFORMED SOURCE, MEANWHILE, TOLD A NEWS CONFERENCE THAT THE PALESTINE GOVERNMENT BELIEVED CIVIL ADMINISTRATION COULD NOT LONG CONTINUE IN THE HOLY LAND UNDER PRESENT CONDITIONS.

THE INFORMANT, DISCUSSING THE GOVERNMENT ATTITUDE AFTER PLEDGING NEWSMEN TO WITHHOLD HIS IDENTITY, SAID THAT UNLESS THE GOVERNMENT WAS ABLE TO MAINTAIN PUBLIC SECURITY AND PUBLIC SERVICE, THE OBLIGATION WOULD FALL TO THE MILITARY.

HE SAID TIGHTER SECURITY REGULATIONS WERE PLANNED.

THE RUPEE'S SILVER CONTENT WAS REDUCED TO 50 PER CENT MORE THAN FOUR YEARS AGO. THE HALF AND QUARTER RUPEES ALREADY ARE BEING ISSUED IN PURE NICKEL.
ELIMINATION OF SILVER COINS HAS DONE MUCH TO CURB INDIA'S LONG-POPULAR CUSTOM OF SILVER HOARDING AND OF MELTING DOWN COINS FOR THEIR SILVER CONTENT, WHICH OFTEN WAS CONVERTED INTO RINGS AND BRACELETS.
THE LEGAL TENDER VALUE OF THE COINS HAS BEEN UNCHANGED BY THE NEW MEASURES. (THE RUPEE AT THE CURRENT EXCHANGE RATE IS WORTH 30.122 CENTS IN AMERICAN CURRENCY.)

New Delhi, Feb. 18-(ap)-President J. J. Singh of the [illegible] india league of america, said tonight he was "convinced there is not the ghost of a chance of the congress party and the moslem league coming to an understanding so long as the british are in india."

"By the same token," he said in a statement, "i am further convinced that by setting a definite date for their departure, there is every chance of a rapprochment between the two major parties."

Singh, who has been touring india, ridiculed as "bunk" what he said was "all this talk of civil war breaking out if the british were to leave india."

He said [illegible] he believed in the sincerity of the british intention to quit india eventually, but added that distrust of that intention was growing, and that the british "in their own interest should set a definite date for their departure."

OTTAWA, FEB. 18-(AP)-CANADIAN RAILROADS WERE INSTRUCTED TODAY IN A PRIORITIES ORDER ISSUED BY TRANSPORT CONTROLLER B.S.LIBERTY TO MAKE SUFFICIENT FREIGHT CARS AVAILABLE TO KEEP NEWSPRINT PLANTS IN OPERATION.
THE ORDER WAS ISSUED AFTER A LACK OF TRANSPORTATION HAD CLOSED SEVEN CANADIAN NEWSPRINT PLANTS WITHIN TWO DAYS. NORMALLY 90 PER CENT OF THE OUTPUT OF THE CLOSED MILLS GOES TO THE UNITED STATES.
IT WAS EXPECTED THAT THESE PLANTS WILL BE IN OPERATION AGAIN WITHIN A FEW DAYS. IN AN INTERVIEW LIBERTY EMPHASIZED, HOWEVER, THAT NEWSPRINT CONCERNS WILL RECEIVE ONLY THE MINIMUM NUMBER OF CARS REQUIRED TO KEEP THEM OPERATING.
PAPER COMPANIES WHICH CLOSED DURING THE PAST TWO DAYS WERE: ST. LAWRENCE SALES CO. AT DORVILLE, QUE.; DONNACONNA PAPER CO. AT DONNACONNA, QUE.; ST.RAYMOND PAPER CO. AT ST.RAYMOND, QUE; ABITIBI PAPER CO. MILL AT IRIQUOIS FALLS, QUE.; THE CANADIAN INTERNATIONAL PAPER CO. AT DALHOUSIE, QUE. AND THE PRICE BROTHERS NEWSPRINT MILLS AT RIVER BEND, QUE., AND TIMAGAMI, ONT.
LIBERTY'S ORDER FOLLOWED BY ONLY FOUR DAYS THE ANNOUNCEMENT OF A STRICT PROGRAM AIMED AT CHANNELING EMPTY FREIGHT CARS UNLOADING WHEAT AT HALIFAX AND SAINT JOHN, N.B., BACK TO THE LAKEHEAD AREA FOR THE MOVEMENT OF EXPORT WHEAT AND FEED GRAINS NEEDED ON EASTERN CANADIAN FARMS.
THE GRAIN AND WHEAT ORDER WAS ISSUED TO COPE WITH A BOX CAR SCARCITY BROUGHT ON BY HEAVY WEATHER CONDITIONS. THE SITUATION IS EXPECTED TO EASE WITHIN TWO WEEKS IF THE WEATHER IS FAVORABLE, LIBERTY SAID. BY THAT TIME THE RAILROADS EXPECT TO MAKE AVAILABLE CARS NOW TIED UP ON BRANCH LINES IN THE PRAIRIES.
THE CONTROLLER EXPLAINED THAT NEWSPRINT COMPANIES WERE PARTICULARLY HARD HIT BY THE FREIGHT CAR SHORTAGE. PREVIOUSLY THESE MILLS WERE ALLOTTED EMPTY BOX CARS WHICH HAD UNLOADED IN THE MARITIME PROVINCES.

Ottawa, Feb. 18-(AP)-Defense Minister Brooke Claxton said today a number of military attaches and reporters would visit Canada's joint services experimental station at Churchill in Northern Manitoba.

He said the group would leave here Feb. 26 and return March 2 to answer "all the discussion and veiled charges about what is going on there."

Claxton said that Canada, with its vast arctic and sub-arctic territories, set up the Churchill station to conduct year-around trials of service equipment and to research for development of new materiel. He said representatives of the United States armed forces are at the station from time to time, depending on the type of equipment being tested.

He said currently 110 Americans and 315 Canadians were at the camp.

ROMANIA (250)

WASHINGTON, FEB 18-(AP)-PRESIDENT TRUMAN MOVED TODAY TO AID STARVING RESIDENTS OF A ROMANIAN PROVINCE PROVIDED THAT BALKAN NATION AGREES THE FOOD SHALL BE DISTRIBUTED WITHOUT DISCRIMINATION.

MR. TRUMAN DIRECTED THAT 7,000 TONS OF FOOD ON A SHIP EN ROUTE TO SUPPLY U.S. ARMY FORCES IN EUROPE BE DIVERTED TO CONSTANZA, ROMANIAN BLACK SEA PORT, FOR DISTRIBUTION IN THE NORTHERN ROMANIAN PROVINCE OF MOLDAVIA, WHERE 500,000 RESIDENTS ARE REPORTED STARVING.

THE PRESIDENT ASKED THE AMERICAN RED CROSS TO SUPERVISE DISTRIBUTION BY THE ROMANIAN RED CROSS "WITHOUT CHARGE AND WITH GUARANTEES AGAINST DISCRIMINATION ON POLITICAL, RACIAL, RELIGIOUS OR SOCIAL GROUNDS."

MR. TRUMAN SAID ROMANIA ALSO MIGHT BE PERMITTED TO BUY SOME AMERICAN GRAIN DESPITE DEMANDS ON EXISTING STOCKS BUT THAT THE BALKAN COUNTRY MUST AGREE:

1. THAT ROMANIA USE NONE OF IT TO PAY REPARATIONS; 2. THAT ROMANIA NOT EXPORT ANY OF IT FOR TRADE OR OTHER PURPOSE; AND 3. THAT THE GRAIN BE DISTRIBUTED BY U.S. REPRESENTATIVES "IN SUCH MANNER AS THEY SEE FIT" AND "WITHOUT RACIAL, RELIGIOUS OR SOCIAL DISCRIMINATION."

MOLDAVIA, BETWEEN HUNGARY ON THE WEST AND BESSARABIA ON THE EAST, EXPERIENCED A DROUGHT LAST SUMMER IN ADDITION TO A TRANSPORTATION BREAKDOWN AND RUSSIAN OCCUPATION.

MR. TRUMAN SAID HE WAS INFORMED BY AMERICAN OFFICIALS IN ROMANIA THAT "THOUSANDS HAVE ALREADY DIED, HUNDREDS ARE DYING DAILY AND CONDITIONS ARE STEADILY WORSENING." HE WAS ACTING, HE SAID, "ON HUMANITARIAN GROUNS" AND "IN THE TRADITION OF THE AMERICAN PEOPLE."

FIRST LEAD NEWSPRINT

NEW YORK, FEB. 18-(AP)-NEWSPRINT SHIPMENTS FROM CANADA TO THE UNITED STATES HAVE BEEN ALMOST COMPLETELY DISRUPTED BY AN UNEXPECTED ORDER OF THE CANADIAN GOVERNMENT GIVING TOP RAILWAY PRIORITY TO GRAIN SHIPMENTS, CRANSTON WILLIAMS, GENERAL MANAGER OF THE AMERICAN NEWSPAPER PUBLISHERS ASSOCIATION SAID TODAY.

(AN ANNOUNCEMENT FROM OTTAWA LATE IN THE DAY INDICATED THE SHIPMENT PROBLEM MIGHT BE RELIEVED BY A CANADIAN GOVERNMENT ORDER WHICH DIRECTED SUFFICIENT FREIGHT CARS BE ALLOTTED TO NEWSPRINT PRODUCERS TO KEEP THEIR PLANTS IN OPERATION.)

MANY U.S. NEWSPAPERS WITH LOW INVENTORIES OF NEWSPRINT FACE "A DESPERATELY SERIOUS" SHORTAGE AS A RESULT, WILLIAMS ADDED. CANADA FURNISHES THIS COUNTRY WITH THE BULK OF ITS NEWSPRINT SUPPLIES.

THE CANADIAN ORDER CALLED FOR 14,000 BOX CARS DAILY TO BE USED FOR SHIPMENT OF GRAIN TO HUNGRY EUROPE AND FOR FEED GRAIN VITALLY NEEDED BY EASTERN CANADIAN FARMERS. THE SAME TYPE OF CAR IS USED TO SHIP NEWSPRINT, WHICH, ON TOP OF A SHORTAGE OF BOXCARS, ALMOST AUTOMATICALLY ASSURES SMALLER NEWSPRINT SHIPMENTS.

"NEWSPAPERS WHICH DEPEND ON MILLS IN QUEBEC FOR ALL OR A GREAT PORTION OF THEIR NEWSPRINT ARE WORSE OFF THAN OTHERS," WILLIAMS STATED, AND ADDED:

"THE ANPA HAS ALREADY RECEIVED REPORTS OF CURTAILMENT OF PRODUCTION BY CANADIAN MILLS BECAUSE OF LACK OF STORAGE FACILITIES. NEWSPRINT MUST MOVE OUT OF MANY CANADIAN MILLS AS SOON AS IT IS PRODUCED. IF IT CAN'T BE MOVED, IT WON'T BE PRODUCED."

THE ANPA ON MONDAY ISSUED A STATEMENT WHICH SAID THAT REPORTING DAILY NEWSPAPERS HAD 36 DAYS' SUPPLY OF NEWSPRINT ON HAND JAN. 31, AN INCREASE OF 5 DAYS' SINCE DEC. 31.

WILLIAMS POINTED OUT THAT THESE FIGURES WERE AN AVERAGE FOR THE NATION AS A WHOLE.

B3

"SOME NEWSPAPERS," HE EXPLAINED, "MAY HAVE ONLY A FEW DAYS' SUPPLY, OTHERS CONSIDERABLY MORE THAN A MONTHS' SUPPLY."

ALTHOUGH THE STATEMENT SAID "THERE ARE NOW NO INSTANCES OF UNITED STATES NEWSPAPERS BEING WITHOUT A NEWSPRINT SUPPLY WHERE THE PUBLISHER AND THE MILLS DEAL DIRECTLY." WILLIAMS ADDED THE CANADIAN ORDER HAD CHANGED THE IMMEDIATE SUPPLY PICTURE ENTIRELY.

WILLIAMS POINTED OUT THAT A MILL MIGHT HAVE CONTRACTED TO SUPPLY A GIVEN NEWSPAPER WITH ITS NEWSPRINT NEEDS BUT THAT IF THE NEWSPRINT COULD NOT BE SHIPPED, THE CONTRACT WAS TEMPORARILY VOID.

SOME NEWSPAPERS WHICH DEPEND ON MERCHANTS OR JOBBERS FOR THEIR SUPPLIES, WILLIAMS CONTINUED, HAVE REPORTED EITHER SHORTAGES OR BLACK MARKET PRICES. AS A RULE, HE SAID, ONLY SMALLER PUBLICATIONS DEAL WITH NEWSPRINT JOBBERS INSTEAD OF DIRECT WITH MILLS.

SOME MILLS, WILLIAMS ADDED, HAVE COOPERATED TO THE EXTENT OF WARNING JOBBERS WHO HAVE QUOTED TOO HIGH PRICES WITH DISCONTINUING SHIPMENTS.

NIGHT LEAD NEWSPRINT (520)

NEW YORK, FEB. 18-(AP)-A CANADIAN GOVERNMENT ORDER GIVING HIGH RAILWAY PRIORITY TO NEWSPRINT SHIPMENTS WILL PROBABLY EASE THE THREAT OF A SERIOUS SHORTAGE OF NEWSPRINT AMONG U.S. NEWSPAPERS, CRANSTON WILLIAMS, GENERAL MANAGER OF THE AMERICAN NEWSPAPER PUBLISHERS ASSOCIATION, SAID TODAY.

THE GOVERNMENT ORDERED AT LEAST PARTIALLY REVERSED AN EARLIER RULING WHICH HAD FORCED SEVEN CANADIAN NEWSPRINT MILLS TO SHUT DOWN BECAUSE OF A LACK OF FREIGHT CARS.

WILLIAMS SAID THE PREVIOUS ACTION BY THE CANADIAN GOVERNMENT HAD ALMOST COMPLETELY DISRUPTED NEWSPRINT SHIPMENTS FROM THE DOMINION AND HAD PLACED MANY U.S. NEWSPAPERS IN A "DESPERATELY SERIOUS" SITUATION.

THE EARLIER ORDER WAS DESIGNED TO SPEED GRAIN SHIPMENTS BY RAIL. MOVEMENT OF GRAIN, NEEDED BY HUNGRY EUROPE AND FOR FEED BY FARMERS IN EASTERN CANADA, HAS BEEN HAMPERED BY CAR SHORTAGES AS WELL AS BAD WEATHER.

THE LATEST CANADIAN DIRECTIVE INSTRUCTED DOMINION RAILWAYS TO FURNISH NEWSPRINT MILLS WITH SUFFICIENT BOX CARS TO KEEP MILLS IN OPERATION.

WILLIAMS QUALIFIED HIS MOST RECENT STATEMENT WITH THE WARNING THAT:

"THE ORDER DOES NOT MEAN U.S. NEWSPAPER PUBLISHERS CAN GO AHEAD USING NEWSPRINT ON AN UNLIMITED BASIS.

"PUBLISHERS SHOULD REMEMBER THAT EVEN WITH AN ADEQUATE SUPPLY OF BOX CARS, THERE IS STILL BAD WEATHER IN PARTS OF EASTERN CANADA WHICH MAY SERIOUSLY CURTAIL NEWSPRINT SHIPMENTS."

CANADA PRODUCES MORE THAN 80 PEERCENT OF THE NEWSPRINT USED HERE.

THE INDUSTRY USES 500 BOX CARS A DAY TO SHIP ITS PRODUCT. THIS SUPPLY MOVES DAILY SINCE ALMOST ALL NEWSPRINT MILLS HAVE LIMITED STORAGE FACILITIES.

"TO MAKE THE SITUATION WORSE," ONE NEWSPRINT OFFICIAL IN MONTREAL SAID, "OUR CUSTOMERS' INVENTORIES ALREADY ARE VERY LOW. WE DON'T KNOW WHEN THE SITUATION WILL GET BETTER."

CANADIAN TRANSPORT CONTROLLER B. S. LIBERTY ISSUED THE PREFERENCE ORDER IN OTTAWA AFTER AN EMERGENCY CONFERENCE WITH NEWSPRINT OFFICIALS WHO HURRIED THERE FROM MONTREAL.

LIBERTY TOLD THE ASSOCIATED PRESS IN OTTAWA THAT HE WANTED TO KEEP ALL NEWSPRINT MILLS, AND ALL OTHER INDUSTRIES, IN OPERATION. HE ASKED THE MANUFACTURERS TO INFORM HIM OF THEIR MINIMUM REQUIREMENTS.

HE STATED, HOWEVER, THAT IT WOULD BE "SOME TIME" BEFORE DELIVERIES WOULD BE BACK TO NORMAL BECAUSE THERE NOW EXISTS A "CONSIDERABLE BACK-LOG" OF ORDERS AND NO RELIEF FOR THE CAR SHORTAGE IS IN SIGHT "FOR AT LEAST A YEAR."

NEWSPRINT INDUSTRY OFFICIALS IN MONTREAL WERE SIMILARLY PESSIMISTIC. ONE OFFICIAL SAID "HUNDREDS" OF CARS WERE NEEDED TO TAKE CARE OF STOCKS PILED UP.

LIBERTY SAID SEVERE STORMS IN THE WEST STARTED THE PRESENT CRISIS BY TIEING UP GRAIN SHIPMENTS.

THE FOUR CANADIAN PAPER COMPANIES WHICH CLOSED MONDAY WERE: ST.LAWRENCE SALES CO. AT DORVILLE, QUE.; THE DONNACONNA PAPER CO. AT DONNACONNA, QUE.; ST.RAYMOND PAPER CO. AT ST.RAYMOND, QUE.; AND

THE PRICE BROS. NEWSPRINT MILL AT RIVER BEND, QUE.

THE THREE WHICH SHUT DOWN TODAY WERE: ANOTHER MILL OF PRICE BROS., THE ABITIBI PAPER CO. MILL AT IRIQUOIS FALLS, QUE.; AND THE CANADIAN INTERNATIONAL PAPER CO. AT DALHOUSIE, QUE.

MORE THAN 90 PERCENT OF THE OUTPUT OF THESE MILLS NORMALLY GOES TO THE U.S.

THE ORDER RESPECTING NEWSPRINT WAS EXPECTED TO FORESTALL THE CLOSING DOWN OF ADDITIONAL PLANTS AND TO PERMIT RESUMPTION OF OPERATIONS AT THE SEVEN WHICH HAVE CLOSED.

IN WASHINGTON THE OFFICE OF DEFENSE TRANSPORTATION SAID THAT THUS FAR NO REQUEST HAS BEEN MADE TO INTERVENE IN THE PRESENT SITUATION AND CONSEQUENTLY NO ACTION HAS BEEN TAKEN.

(ADVANCE TO BE HELD FOR RELEASE EXPECTED ABOUT 1 P.M., EST., TUESDAY, FEB.18)

(ADVANCE)..NEW YORK, FEB.18-(AP)-CHINA'S DECISION TO GRANT BONUSES TO EXPORTS AND LEVY A SURCHARGE ON IMPORTS WAS PROMPTED BY A DESIRE TO STIMULATE TRADE, DR. V.K.WELLINGTON KOO, CHINESE AMBASSADOR TO THE UNITED STATES, SAID TODAY.

THESE STEPS ARE "EXPEDIENTS OF TEMPORARY APPLICATION" IN CHINA'S TRANSITIONAL PERIOD FROM WAR TO PEACE, DR. KOO DECLARED IN AN ADDRESS PREPARED FOR DELIVERY AT A LUNCHEON MEETING OF THE CHINA AMERICA COUNCIL OF COMMERCE AND INDUSTRY.

"THE CHINESE ECONOMIC SITUATION, WHILE SERIOUS AND PERPLEXING ON THE SURFACE, MUST BE VIEWED IN ITS PROPER PERSPECTIVE," HE CONTINUED.

"ALL THE MEASURES OF RESTRICTION AND CONTROL, WITH REFERENCE TO THE IMPORT AND EXPORT TRADE AND THE OPERATIONS OF FOREIGN EXCHANGE, HAVE BEEN ADOPTED BY THE CHINESE GOVERNMENT, NOT OUT OF PREFERENCE, BUT BECAUSE OF THE NECESSITY TO MEET THE ABNORMAL DIFFICULTIES ARISING OUT OF THE LONG YEARS OF WAR AND DEVASTATION."

DR. KOO POINTED OUT THAT CHINA'S ECONOMY IS STILL PREPONDERANTLY AGRICULTURAL, "AND ANY UNEXPECTED ERUPTIONS IN THE MARKETS OF SHANGHAI DO NOT NECESSARILY SHAKE THE FOUNDATIONS OF THE NATION'S ECONOMY."

"WHILE THE PRECIPITATE DIVE OF THE CHINESE DOLLAR A WEEK AGO WAS GRAVE," HE ASSERTED, "IT SHOULD NOT BE TAKEN FOR GRANTED THAT CHINA'S ECONOMY WOULD COLLAPSE....

"BUT THIS DOES NOT MEAN THAT THE SITUATION COULD BE CONTROLLED INDEFINITELY WITHOUT ADEQUATE AID AND COOPERATION FROM OUTSIDE, ESPECIALLY FROM THE UNITED STATES."

DR. KOO EXPRESSED CONFIDENCE THAT IF SUCH AID AND COOPERATION WERE ASSURED, THE OUTLOOK FOR THE FUTURE WOULD IMPROVE RAPIDLY, BECAUSE THE POTENTIALITIES OF CHINESE-AMERICAN TRADE ARE VERY GREAT.

EARLIER IN HIS ADDRESS, DR. KOO TOLD OF THE SEVERE LOSSES CHINA SUFFERED IN THE 14 YEARS FROM THE JAPANESE ATTACK ON MUKDEN IN 1931 TO V-J DAY.

"AS SHE FOUGHT LONGEST AND SUFFERED MOST, WHEN COMPARED WITH OTHER UNITED NATIONS, IT IS NOT SURPRISING THAT HER ECONOMY TODAY IS IN A SERIOUS STATE," HE SAID.

NEW YORK, FEB 18-(AP)-IDENTIFICATION OF A GERMAN GOOD SAMARITAN LONG SOUGHT BY GRATEFUL CHINESE WHOSE LIVES HE REPUTEDLY SAVED IN THE 1937 JAPANESE MASSACRE AT NANKING WAS REPORTED TODAY BY THE NEW YORKER STAATS-ZEITUNG UND HEROLD, A GERMAN-LANGUAGE NEWSPAPER.

DR.LUDWIG OBERNDORF, ASSISTANT MANAGING EDITOR OF THE PAPER, MADE PUBLIC TWO LETTERS IDENTIFYING THE MAN AS JOHN H.D.RABE, FORMERLY MANAGER FOR THE NANKING BRANCH OF A GERMAN BUSINESS FIRM AND LATER A NAZI CONCENTRATION CAMP INMATE.

THE LETTERS WERE WRITTEN BY DR.GEORGE ROSEN, FORMER GERMAN DIPLOMAT WITH THE U.S. EMBASSY IN PEIPING AND NOW WITH COLGATE UNIVERSITY AT HAMILTON, N.Y., AND COL. CONRAD ARNADO, FORMER GERMAN ARMY

OFFICER AND ADVISER TO THE CHINESE ARMY, NOW A NEW YORK RESIDENT.
AN ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH FROM NANKING INSPIRED THE LETTERS. THE STORY SAID MAYOR SHEN YI AND OTHER NANKING RESIDENTS WERE SEEKING AN UNIDENTIFIED GERMAN AND HIS WIFE TO REWARD THEM FOR HUMANITARIAN WORK DURING THE MASSACRE 10 YEARS AGO AND, IF THE GERMAN DESIRED, TO INVITE HIM AND HIS FAMILY TO CHINA TO LIVE ON A PENSION.
ROSEN AND ARNADO SAID RABE OPENED A REFUGEE SHELTER WHICH SAVED THE LIVES OF THOUSANDS OF CHINESE. THE GERMAN BUSINESS MAN WAS CHOSEN AS HEAD OF AN INTERNATIONAL RELIEF ASSOCIATION COMMITTEE BECAUSE "BEING A GERMAN, HE COULD MAKE A BETTER DEAL WITH THE JAPS," ROSEN'S LETTER SAID.
RABE RETURNED TO GERMANY IN 1938 AND REPORTEDLY WAS PLACED IN A CONCENTRATION CAMP BY THE GESTAPO AFTER HE HAD GIVEN LECTURES0 AND SHOWN PICTURES ON JAPANESE CRUELTY IN NANKING. ROSEN AND ARNADO SAID THEY DID NOT KNOW RABE'S WHEREABOUTS TODAY.

PALESTINE FAILURE LAID TO U.S. JEWS

Bevin Says He Could Have Solved Problem Except For Pressure

London, Feb. 19 (AP)—Britain's decision to send the troublesome Palestine question to the United Nations, without recommendations for a solution and with no interim increase in Jewish immigration, was reported today to have run into a "stormy" session of Labor members of Parliament.

The plan, drafted by Ernest Bevin, Foreign Secretary, also met with heavy criticism from leading Zionists and, it was reported, the renewed insistence by the United States that immediate and substantial Jewish immigration be permitted.

American Jews Blamed

A leading Labor member of Parliament said Bevin, facing critics in a Laborite caucus, blamed pressure of American Jews on the United States Government for his failure to reach an agreed settlement in Palestine.

This informant quoted the Foreign Secretary as saying that "I could have solved the Palestine problem in a way that would have insured peace for twenty years," except for the pressure of American Zionists.

Another reliable source said the United States Government had informed Britain it still considers that a substantial increase in Jewish immigration into the Holy Land is a prerequisite to a satisfactory Palestine settlement. The United States has urged that 100,000 European Jews be admitted immediately.

Reply To British Note

The source said the United States expressed its opinion in a reply to a British note informing the United States of the decision to refer the Palestine question to the United Nations. The United States "expressed understanding" of the decision, he added.

Receipt of the United States note was confirmed by a Foreign Office spokesman, but he said he was not authorized to disclose the contents.

Three leaders of the Jewish Agency—David Ben-Gurion, chairman; Moshe Shertok, political director, and Berl Locker, British member — conferred with Arthur Creech Jones, Colonial Secretary, and asked that the immigration and land restrictions be lifted, pending action by the United Nations.

Unlikely Before September

Bevin told the House of Commons yesterday that it was unlikely the matter would be referred to the United Nations until September, when the United Nations General Assembly will meet in New York.

Both Bevin and Creech Jones defended the Government's policy at the two-and-a-half-hour closed session of the Labor party's parliamentary delegation. Informed sources said the meeting was "stormy," and "bitter feelings" were apparent.

John Paton, Parliament member for Norwich, was reported to have demanded that the Government return to "the Socialist party's official policy of making Palestine a national home for the Jews." Michael Foot, political writer for the Daily Herald, was said to have challenged Bevin to "tear up the 1939 White Paper" which the Labor party once repudiated because of its restrictions against immigration and land purchasing by Jews.

Other critics within the party warned the Government that it was "courting the danger" of new and intensified violence in the Holy Land, informants said.

Appeal On Palestine Condemned

Jerusalem, Feb. 19 (AP)—Jews and Arabs today condemned the new British plan of referring the entire Holy Land question to the United Nations without recommendations as to the solution.

The most violent reaction appeared in the Arab press. The Arab newspaper, Falastin, said "it is now obvious that Britain alone is our opponent and that we were deceived by her appearance as a neutral power between us and Zionism. . . .

Falastin added, however, that submission of the problem to the United Nations would "take the case out of the Anglo-American sphere of influence, which is infected with the Zionist influence, to another sphere containing Arab and Moslem states."

The Jewish newspaper Davarn said: "Mr. Bevin has told the world that 'we have washed our hands of the Palestine business,' and we here listen to these words while surrounded by British divisions and barbed wire."

Troops Sent To Tel Aviv

Usually reliable private sources said the British had sent additional troops to the all-Jewish city of Tel Aviv, as a result of road mine attacks last night in which six British soldiers were injured.

Other well informed sources said that Hagana, Jewish self-defense force, was trying to stop new outbreaks of anti-British violence, and had destroyed a number of mines placed in highways by underground forces.

In accordance with Bevin's statement to Parliament yesterday that immigration would continue on the current basis pending action by the United Nations, the Palestine Government issued 1,500 immigration certificates for Jews and 200 for Arabs and others, for the period of February 15 to March 15.

U.S. Again Urges . . . Holy Land Immigration

London, Feb. 19 (AP)—The United States Government has informed Britain that it still considers that the immediate and substantial immigration of Jewish displaced persons into the Holy Land is a prerequisite to a satisfactory Palestine settlement, an informed source said today.

The latest State Department communication came after Britain had advised the United States of her intention to submit the issue to United Nations arbitration. The source said the United States "expressed understanding" of that decision.

A Foreign Office spokesman confirmed that the State Department had "acknowledged" Britain's notice of her decision, but said he was not authorized to disclose the contents.

Bevin Said to Blame U. S. Jews

Quoted as Laying His Failure in Palestine to Zionist Pressure on Washington.

London, Feb. 19 (A. P.).—A leading Laborite Member of Parliament said that Foreign Secretary Bevin, facing critics in a Labor party caucus today, attributed his failure to reach a Palestine settlement to Jewish pressure on the United States Government.

This informant—who was one of more than 100 Labor party members who last fall revolted against Bevin's policies—said that Bevin today told his critics that he could have solved the Palestine problem "in a way that would have insured peace for twenty years" if American Zionist pressure had been absent from the negotiations. Bevin made no mention, however, of President Truman's call for the admission of 100,000 Jewish immigrants to Palestine, this informant said.

Britain's decision to refer the problem of the Holy Land to the United Nations without recommendation, and her refusal to increase the authorized Jewish immigration to Palestine, drew fire at the meeting which several other party members also described as stormy. Colonial Secretary Arthur Creech-Jones joined with Bevin in defending the Government's policy.

Assails White Paper.

The critics were reported to have warned the Government that it was courting the danger of sustained and intensified violence in the Holy Land between now and September, when the issue is due for consideration by the U. N. General Assembly. The government was also urged to abandon its noncommittal attitude and R. H. S. Crossman, who was a member of the Anglo-American inquiry committee on Palestine, demanded that it work out and recommend to the United Nations a positive proposal for the partitionment of Palestine.

John Paton, M. P. for Norwich, demanded that the government return, an informant said, to "the Socialist party's official policy of making Palestine a national home for the Jews." Michael Foot, political writer for the (Laborite) London Daily Herald, challenged Bevin to tear up the 1939 White Paper, which the Labor party once repudiated because of the immigration and land restrictions it imposes on the Jews.

Meanwhile today an informed person revealed that the United States Government has informed Britain that it still considers that immediate and substantial immigration of Jewish displaced persons into the Holy Land is a prerequisite to a satisfactory Palestine settlement.

In reply to a communication advising the United States of Britain's intention to submit the issue to United Nations arbitration, the State Department "expressed understanding" of Britain's decision, the informant added. A Foreign Office spokesman confirmed that the State Department had acknowledged Britain's notice, but said he was not authorized to disclose the contents of the American reply.

Six Hurt in Blasts.

Jerusalem, Feb. 19 (A. P.).—The police said today that six persons, including five British soldiers, were injured last night in a series of road mine blasts in Palestine believed to have been set by the Jewish underground.

Two of those hurt were reported to be in serious condition. A note handed to an Associated Press reporter after a crude beer-bottle mine had blasted an army truck and hurt the five soldiers said: "This will show that the National Military Organization (the Jewish underground group Irgun Zvai Leumi) will not be hampered or even slowed by whatever barbed-wire security measures our British invaders care to impose."

WAVELL ORDERED HOME FROM INDIA

Move Seen as Forerunner to British Statement on Outright Evacuation.

LONDON, Feb. 19 — (AP) The British government summoned Viceroy Lord Wavell home from India today, authoritative government informants said, and Prime Minister Attlee prepared a statement of "crucial importance" before the House of Commons tomorrow on the sub-continent's faltering progress toward freedom.

One informant said outright British evacuation from India "within a stated period," perhaps within a year, was not out of the question.

If the British decision was to withdraw on a definite date—and New Delhi dispatches said hundreds of British officers and thousands of other ranks were preparing to start their return home next month—the effect would be to leave the Indians to settle their affairs or fight it out among themselves.

Press Conference Slated

American newspaper correspondents were advised tonight that a special news conference would be held by Lord Pethick Lawrence, India secretary, Sir Stafford Cripps, Board of Trade president, and A. V. Alexander, defense minister, the three members of the 1946 cabinet mission to India, immediately after the Prime Minister's statement and the issuance of a government white paper.

These unusual steps, almost unprecedented in an intra-empire matter, spurred speculation that developments as important as last Friday's decision to refer the Palestine case to the United Nations was in the offing.

Wavell's unexpected summons to London came against a background of crisis threatening a complete breakdown of the Indian interim government, first step in the cabinet mission's plan for Indian independence.

Nehru Issues Threat

The crisis stage was reached recently when Jawaharlal Nehru, chief minister of the interim government and strategist of the predominantly Hindu Congress party, served a demand upon Wavell for withdrawal of the five Moslem league members of the government.

Nehru contended that the presence of the chief minority party's representatives in the cabinet was "incompatible" with the league's continuing boycott of the constituent assembly which is charged with the task of writing a constitution for an independent India. Nehru threatened to lead his ministers out of the government if the Moslems did not vacate.

The Moslems continued to sit tight, however, and Nehru renewed his demand last week. Wavell thereupon sought guidance from the government in London. Attlee's pronouncement tomorrow was expected to cut the knot.

Highly placed observers said Wavell, one-eyed desert warrior who fought the Italians in Africa during the early part of the war and took over the viceregal post at New Delhi in October, 1943, might not go back to his post.

The threat to the interim government followed the Moslems' boycott of the constituent assembly. The assembly was envisaged by the British cabinet mission as the second step in the independence plan.

The Moslems refused to reverse their attitude recently, declaring the asembly "void, invalid and illegal," and declaring the independence plan already a failure. They demanded immediate dissolution of the assembly, contending that the Congress party, which dominates the assembly, had not whole heartedly accepted the independence plan but insisted upon sticking to interpretations of its own.

These interpretations, the Moslems said, would prevent realization of self-rule for Moslem communities.

Wavell's Recall, 'Historic' India Statement Due

London, Feb. 19 (AP)—Authoritative sources said today that Lord Wavell would be called home soon from his post as Viceroy of India and that Prime Minister Attlee would make a historic statement on Indian freedom in the House of Commons tomorrow.

The disclosures stimulated speculation that the British Government might be preparing to withdraw from India and to announce a plan for the subcontinent's complete independence, perhaps within a year.

One informant said British evacuation "within a stated period" was not out of the question.

Special News Conference

The British Cabinet's decision to bring Wavell home, these informants said, came as a result of the new constitutional crisis in India. They declined to say whether he would be returning to India.

A Government source said a special news conference for United States correspondents was being arranged to take place immediately after Atlee made his statement.

India Secretary Lord Pethick-Lawrence, President Sir Stafford Cripps of the Board of Trade and Defense Minister A. V. Alexander, who formed the British cabinet mission to India last year, are being asked to answer United States newsmen's questions, he added.

"Of Crucial Importance"

The British seldom arrange such a specialized news conference unless the occasion is considered of great importance.

Attlee's statement will be accompanied by the publication of a white paper.

Informants said tomorrow's pronouncement would be of "crucial importance" to India.

The latest Indian crisis has followed persistent Moslem League refusal to participate in the Constituent Assembly. British officials said the crisis "threatens" the break-up of the Viceroy's interim government.

Nehru Threat In Reply

Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, Congress leader, recently wrote to Wavell asserting that the continued presence in the Indian Cabinet of five Moslem League members was incompatible with nonparticipation in the Constituent Assembly, the informants stated.

The five Moslem Cabinet ministers thereupon said they had no intention of vacating their offices.

Wavell appealed to the British Government for a directive, it was explained here, and the cabinet held meetings last week and this to consider the deadlock.

Last week Nehru sent Wavell a second letter, calling for an early reply from the London Government. Official sources said Nehru had warned Wavell that unless the Moslems resigned immediately, his nine Congress followers themselves would vacate office.

"Void, Invalid, Illegal"

This threat followed the Moslems' refusal to reconsider their rejection of the British Cabinet Mission's plan for India, announced last May.

The Moslems claim the summoning of the Constituent Assembly in the circumstances that followed Britain's declaration of December, 1946, is now "void, invalid and illegal." They also demand immediate dissolution of the assembly.

The India Office would neither confirm nor deny the report of Wavell's return. One official said, however, that Attlee's statement tomorrow would overshadow in importance all recent developments in India.

'PLAYED LAST CARD IN INDIA,' WAVELL SAYS

Thousands Of British Military Prepare To Leave For Good

WALTER J MASON

New Delhi, India, Feb. 19 (AP)—Viceroy Lord Wavell was reported in New Delhi political circles tonight to have informed the British Government he had "played my last card" in the Indian impasse.

Hundreds of British officers and thousands of other ranks were making preparations to go home for good in an exodus that is starting in earnest next month. An English woman civilian attempting to book passage home was told military priorities would keep her in India "at least until June."

Both Moslem League and Congress party members of India's interim government professed ignorance tonight of London reports that the Viceroy had been summoned home. British official sources refused to comment.

Placed Contentions In London

However, Wavell's report that he has made his last move left future steps up to London, whence comes he report he is being recalled.

Both the Congress party and the Moslem League have placed their contentions before the Labor Government, the Congress contending that league ministers cannot remain in the interim government if the league's delegates will not sit in the Constituent Assembly.

Both the Congress party and Lord Wavell have declared that the interim government and the constitution writing phase are two inseparable parts of the plan for achieving independence.

Might Quit Government

Should the British decision now go against the Congress party, permitting Moslem League Ministers to remain in the interim government, the Congress party leaders have indicated they would carry on with the Constituent Assembly come what may, even should its ministers be obliged to carry out their threat to resign from a government in which Moslem League members remain.

Jawaharlal Nehru, president of the party, recently said the British had "better bring a battalion" if they tried to dissolve the Assembly. Congress leaders say they will not go to jail peacefully, as they did in 1942.

League Points To Punjab

As to the possible course of the league in the event of a British decision forcing them out of the government, its leaders point to the Punjab—which is ruled by a coalition in which the Congress participates and the league does not—as evidence of what Mahomed Ali Jinnah's Moslem organization could do on a national scale.

Dispatches from the Punjab said the 26-day Moslem disobedience campaign there had resulted in 1,500 league members being thrown into jail.

Although the league began the campaign in protest against a provincial government ban against Moslem meetings and demonstrations, the league makes no secret of their aim to overthrow the coalition ministry in the Punjab.

Long Nonco-Operation Record

Behind the Moslem-Congress differences is a long record of nonco-operation within the fourteen-man interim government in which the league's five ministers often have opposed or declined to participate in majority decisions.

Should a final break come between the two factions in the Government, the British would find it difficult, if not impossible, to re-assume full control of India's administration.

Meanwhile, the viceregal establishment was ablaze with lights for parties in honor of Lord Wavell's daughter, Felicity, and Capt. Peter Longmore who are being married tomorrow in what probably will be the last display of British pomp in India.

British May Ease Curbs Monday

Attlee Says Midland Industries Probably Can Get Fuel to Resume Work Then.

London, Feb. 19 (A. P.).—Prime Minister Attlee said today that factory production in the Midlands, the industrial heart of England, can probably be resumed next Monday after a two weeks' shutdown caused by the unprecedented coal shortage.

Also today a Government spokesman said that as a result of the fuel crisis, the Government is preparing to reshape its entire post-war economic, industrial and financial recovery program—but without abandoning its plans for socialization. The Board of Trade (Ministry of Commerce) was stated to be revising the program for the Cabinet's consideration.

Attlee told the House of Commons that the industries in the Midlands would be unable to get a full allocation of coal, and that it would be desirable to "spread the industrial load" as far as possible by staggering work hours. He said that coal stocks at the power stations were slowly and steadily rising because of the extra work done by miners and transport workers. Despite cold and snow, he continued, coal roduction last week increased to 3,747,700 tons, which was 119,000 above the corresponding period of last year.

Household Cuts Stand.

Attlee said he would announce as soon as possible when production might be resumed in other areas affected by the power blackout—the Northwest, the London area and the Southeast.

Attlee added, however, that the island-wide restrictions on the use of electricity by domestic and other non-industrial consumers will have to be continued for an unstated period. Five-hour switchoffs of electricity are currently enforced under wartime defense regulations providing fines and prison sentences for offenders.

Meanwhile today these latter curbs were extended to Northern Ireland, bringing a partial "blackout" to every home in the United Kingdom. Eire, with no British coal for two weeks because of the embargo on fuel exports, faced the prospect of further cuts in railway service, already restricted to a three-days-a-week basis.

Burn Banisters.

Meanwhile, too, people were burning banisters and picture frames to keep warm in parts of England, and while the prospects brightened for reopening factories, only a thin trickle of coal was coming to the fireplaces that most English homes depend upon for heat.

The month-long cold wave that hastened the collapse of the country's fuel system continued. The temperature dropped to 19 degrees in some areas last night, and was generally below freezing today. The forecast was for contiuued cold.

Thousands of householders, limited to 112 pounds of coal a week—if they can get it—have had none at all since before Christmas. Today suburban Luton, following the lead of Berlin, opened the first emergency warming center for old people in a Friends' Meeting House. Hot drinks as well as heat were provided from 10 A. M. to 4:30 P. M. In the crowded East End of London old-age pensioners with chapped, red hands scoured streets and bomb ruins for scraps of fuel. Bannisters in sub-standard houses were chopped up for firewood. Even in more prosperous districts, coal dealers' wagons were surrounded wherever they appeared. Sifted coal dust has become a prized fuel. At blitzed Coventry, people with perambulators started queing up for coke at 2 o'clock this morning.

Local fuel authorities appeared to be doing their best for hardship cases, but there was not enough coal to go around.

Cold was still gripping most of Europe as well as the British Isles. Ice floes interrupted navigation on the River Maas in South Belgium, while midget ice bergs choked the Scheldt Estuary. Vast ice fields drifted within forty miles of England's Norfolk coast.

The temperatures around Paris dropped to 19 degrees, for the sharpest weather of the current cold spell. Belgian temperatures hovered around 29 degrees. Continued bad weather in Rome kept public works laborers, most of them engaged in clearing jobs on the banks of the Tiber, from working the required minimum of twenty-four hours a week, and they called for special Government assistance. Rising temperatures were reported in the south of Italy, however.

BRITAIN TO EASE POWER 'BLACKOUT'

Industries in Central England Will Be Permitted to Reopen Monday.

LONDON Feb. 19—(AP) Britain's labor government announced today that industries in central England, shut down for 10 days by the coal famine, will be permitted to reopen next Monday—first break in the power crisis that has slowed the nation's recovery program to a crawl.

Prime Minister Attlee, telling the news to the House of Commons, said, however, that the present five-hour-a-day switchoff of electric current to domestic and other non-industrial users throughout the country would continue indefinitely.

Despite pressure from both conservative and labor benches of the House, he declined to say when industries in the other "blacked out" areas—the northwest, London and southeast England—might be allowed to resume production.

"I do not want to indulge in speculation, pessimistic or otherwise," he said.

Central England, where production starts up again Monday, includes the heavy industrialized Birmingham area, and has more than 1,000,000 factory workers, many making automobiles for the vital export trade.

Attlee said all but three power stations in this area would have two weeks' supply of coal by tomorrow, but he warned that coal deliveries to industries would be less than normal at first and proposed widespread staggering of work hours to "spread the load" on electricity supplies.

His statement came as the cold spell which precipitated the power crisis continued without prospect of an early break—London had its 18th consecutive sunless day, an all-time record—and the number of workers asking unemployment pay rose to 1,272,000. Temperatures continued below freezing.

Army trucks in steadily increasing numbers helped the country's overstrained transport system move coal, but supplies to householders continued critically low and fuel allocation officials were not always able to supply even hardship cases.

Luton, a London suburb, opened a Berlin-style "warming center" for the aged, some of whom were burning picture frames and chopped-up bannisters in coal-less grates. Women swarmed around dealers' coal wagons and helped themselves in some localities.

Continental Europe was worse hit. The British military government in Germany reported 58 deaths from cold in Hamburg between Jan. 15 and Feb. 16, and 570 arrests for coal theft on a single day this week.

French cities likewise ran low on fuel, and a special weather bulletin said the winter had been the worst since 1927.

TO STUDY SEIZURE OF GERMAN ASSETS

London, Feb. 19 (A. P.).—Deputies of the Four-Power Foreign Ministers sent the question of Allied seizure of German assets in Austria back to committees today for further study. It was agreed that German properties in the country should be transferred to the Allies, but definitions of what is German property and suggestions as to how transfers are to be accomplished were vague and contradictory.

Feodor T. Gousev, Russian deputy, British quarters said, maintained that German properties must be taken to bring about a complete separation of Germany and Austria. He said that the Potsdam declaration of August, 1945, awarded German assets in Austria to the occupation forces in their respective zones.

The British plan suggested that an assets commission, composed of heads of Big Four diplomatic missions in Vienna, be created to pass upon obscure questions of ownership, and that, in cases on which no agreement was reached, there be machinery for reference to the United States.

The Soviet and British plans suggested that properties confiscated from Jews or taken from Jews and others without adequate compensation should be returned to the original owners.

RUSSIA CLASHES ON PEACE MAKING

LONDON, Feb. 19. — (AP) Russia clashed with Britain and the United States today over the key issue of the Austrian peace making—what is German property in Austria and how much should be surrendered to the allies as reparations?

At one point Gen. Mark Clark, representing the United States, declared his government did not recognize certain Soviet seizures in Austria "and never would."

In the end no decision was reached and the question was sent back to a committee instructed to bring in a clarification of its report by Feb. 24, one day before the deputies, work on the Austrian treaty is supposed to be finished.

The "Big Four" at Potsdam previously had agreed that Austria's "German assets" must be surrendered. For many months past, however, controversies have arisen over Russian seizures of property which Britain and the United States said originally was Austrian that had been taken over by the Germans.

The Soviet Deputy Feodor Gousev brought in a proposal today that all Austrian properties owned by the German state or German nationals before March 13, 1938 (Anschluss Day) and all acquired since then except that taken by force should be subject to seizure as German assets.

The Soviet plan suggested that properties confiscated from Jews without compensation should be returned to the original owners.

A British plan also was submitted which was similar, except that it set Aug. 2, 1945, the date of the Potsdam accord, as the determining date.

Clark supported the British plan.

Strachey Off for Ottawa.

London, Feb. 19 (A. P.).—Britain's food minister, John Strachey, took off by plane today for Ottawa for a series of Canadian food talks. The plane is due at Ottawa tomorrow.

FRENCH COMPLETE CAPTURE OF HANOI

PARIS, Feb. 19 (AP)—The French announced today the capture of the Chinese-Viet-Nam quarter of Hanoi, capital of Indochina, where 1,000 armed youth, Tu-Ve, had held out since the outbreak of fighting on Dec. 19.

The Frech Press agency said the mile-square area, scene of European-like street fighting in weeks past, was occupied by French forces without the firing of a shot when the defenders withdrew secretly by means of a tunnel.

Fall of the barricaded, trench-marked quarter gave the French complete control of the capital. French dispatches said the Chinese consul who followed the troops into the zone was greeted "enthusiastically" by thousands of hungry Chinese civilians who stayed throughout the siege.

Viet-Namese Routed In Hanoi, French Say

Paris, Feb. 19 (AP)—The French Press Agency quoted a dispatch from military headquarters in Indo-China today as saying that French troops had occupied the Chinese-Viet-Nam quarter of Hanoi.

Many of the Viet-Namese troops which have been holding out there for weeks escaped through an underground tunnel, the brief announcement said.

The French had been avoiding an all-out attack on this Viet-Nam stronghold in the center of the city because of the grave danger to civilians, the agency said.

New Indo-Chinese Battles Reported

Manila, Thursday, Feb. 20 (AP)—The Viet Nam-controlled Hanoi radio reported today that fighting had broken out both north and south of Hanoi between French and Indo-Chinese Nationalist forces.

[A dispatch from Paris earlier said the Viet Nam quarter of Hanoi had fallen to French colonial troops].

The broadcast said a French force clearing the coastal road in a drive from Hue was within three miles of Quangtri, 310 airline miles southeast of Hanoi. Hue is 30 miles southeast of Quangtri.

Northwest of Hanoi, the broadcast as heard in Manila said, Viet Nam troops had reoccupied three villages Saturday night but were later forced to withdraw.

PONTIFF APPEALS TO U.S. CHILDREN

Asks Them For Funds For Millions Suffering Abroad

Vatican City, Feb. 19 (AP)—Pope Pius XII today urged Catholic schoolchildren in the United States to give their pennies and dimes to "the millions of suffering children" of Europe and the Orient, many of whom "are going to die so very young."

Speaking on the first day of Lent, in the first broadcast that he ever has directed to the 2,500,000 students in Catholic schools in America, the Pope said the "immortal souls" of orphaned, starving children were "in peril of being set upon by the enemy of God."

Draws Comparison

The Pope drew a graphic comparison of life in "your beautiful schools" in the United States and life in war-devastated areas of Europe and the Orient, in urging the American children to contribute to a campaign for funds to aid the needy.

After describing conditions of plenty in the United States, he added:

"But you must know there are millions of children here in Europe and out in the Far East whose lives are very different. They are young boys and girls just your age, and they, too, should be growing up happy and healthy.

Some Are Starving

"Instead, they are falling victims to dread disease. They are hungry, some of them are starving, and many of them are going to die so very young.

"They shiver in the cold. Their clothes are thin and worn. Many have only rags to cover their frail bodies, have no stockings, no shoes. And their mothers, who love them just as much as your mothers love you, can give them a little bite to eat at the end of the day."

Pope Pius told the American children that "your pennies and dimes will buy bread and medicine which will help save the life of some less-fortunate child."

Looking To Vicar Of Christ

"Today the millions of suffering children are looking with appealing eyes to the Vicar of Jesus," the Pontiff continued. "Let them come to us; let no one hold them off. We love them with all the love of Christ, and we cannot rest so long as the pangs of hunger make them cry out for help and their immortal souls are in peril of being set upon by the enemy of God."

The Pope said the Catholics of America already had sent thousands of tons of food and clothing for distribution to the needy, "but still more is needed."

POPE IN RADIO PLEA TO U. S. CHILDREN

Vatican City, Feb. 19 (A. P.).—Pope Pius XII urged the Catholic school children of America in a radio address today to give their pennies and dimes to help save the lives of less fortunate children of Europe and the Far East.

In opening on this first day of Lent a drive for the aid of the child victims of the war, the Pope described the difference between the lot of American children and many elsewhere in the world who, he said, are fatherless and motherless and without adequate clothing, shelter, food or medicine. He spoke about eleven minutes.

Addressing the 2,500,000-odd pupils in Catholic schools, he told them: "You are very happy in your beautiful schools." But for millions of children in Europe and the Far East, life is very different, he continued. "They too should be growing up healthy and strong," he said, but instead, many are victims of disease, some are starving and many will die of hunger. Many have only rags for cover, walk the streets of cities by day and at night seek shelter where they can find it.

"We cannot rest," the Pope said, "as long as the pangs of hunger make them cry out for help. Your pennies and dimes will buy bread and medicine which will help save the life of some less fortunate child."

Pope's Address to Children

VATICAN CITY, Feb. 19 (AP).—The complete text of the radio address of Pope Pius XII to children in Catholic schools in the United States today follows:

Our loving greetings to you, dear children of the Catholic schools of America. Add to your number another half million of your older brothers and sisters in the high schools and colleges, and what a mass of testimony you present to the faith of your mothers and fathers, to their spirit of self-denial and generosity in safeguarding that faith for you, their dearest treasures. You can never thank your parents enough for sending you to your Catholic schools, where you are being taught how to become good citizens of your country and faithful, holy children of your church.

This is the first time we have ever addressed our word to you, dear girls and boys, and there is a special reason why we do so now. Let us tell you what it is. You are very happy in your beautiful schools, some small, some very big. You have light and heat and all the books you need to learn your lessons well. When school is over, you put on your warm overcoats, wrap up well and go out to play even in the snow, because your shoes and stockings are strong and protect you securely against the cold and wet. When evening comes, you will sit down to a warm supper that mother has prepared to make you grow up healthy and happy.

But you must know that there are other millions of children here in Europe and out in the Far East, whose life is very different. They are young boys and girls just your age, and they, too, should be growing up happy and healthy. Instead, they are falling victims to dread disease. They are hungry, some of them are starving, and many of them are going to die so very young. They shiver in the cold, their clothes are thin and worn, many have only rags to cover their frail bodies, have no stockings, no shoes. And their mothers, who love them just as much as your mothers love you, can give them a little bite to eat at the end of the day.

Thousands Have No Parents

What is sadder? Thousands of these children have no fathers or mothers to take care of them. They died during the terrible war and these children now walk the city streets, wander over country roads little conscious of the perils around them, and at night must look for some shelter in cold cellars or are crowded together in rude barracks, only to begin another lonesome, aimless, dangerous day when the sun comes up again.

And what dangers are awaiting them! There are often no attractive schools for them. They are not taught, as you are, by devoted religious sisters and brothers all the wonderful things about God; how He created men for himself; how he loves them and sent his only begotten Son to redeem them and help them get to Heaven; How they must love God, be good and obey the commandments of God and all that the church teaches them. They feel that they have been abandoned and how easily they learn to do what is very wrong.

You remember that charming scene in the life of Jesus, when the children gathered around Him and would not let Him go, and some of his friends wanted to drive them away, but He said: "No, let the children be, do not prevent them from coming to Me." And with love He laid His sacred hand upon their heads in blessing.

Today the millions of suffering children are looking with appealing eyes to the Vicar of Jesus. Let them come to us; let no one hold them off. We love them with all the love of Christ, and we cannot rest so long as the pangs of hunger make them cry out for help and their immortal souls are in peril of being set upon by the enemy of God. Charitable benefactors throughout the world, and especially the Catholics of America, have sent us thousands of tons of food and clothing, which we have been distributing among those in greatest distress.

Still More Is Needed

Bounteous funds have been placed at our disposal to save the children from the street with all its evil and to provide for them a decent lodging and home, where they may be educated into honorable and God-fearing citizens. But still more is needed. That is why your bishops and priests, in their untiring generosity, are asking all to make yet one more effort to head off sickness and hunger and soul starvation from the homeless, helpless, harried peoples of Europe and Asia. And we have been told that you, dear boys and girls of the elementary schools, want to do your little part in this beautiful mission of mercy. That is why we wish to speak to you today. We wished to thank you for that noble desire and to encourage you to do your best to make this drive the most successful of all.

Lent begins today, and you will be wanting to offer some little penance to the Lord you love dearly and whom you wish never to offend. This penance will allow you to save your pennies and dimes, and they will buy the bread or the medicine that will help to save the life of some less fortunate child and protect him from the danger of sinning against God. And how God will love you for it, and will bless you and your future and all those at home as a proof of our great joy for your resolution to share some of your comfort and happiness with the children who have none, and in token of our affection for each and every one of you, we will now impart to you, to your dear parents, to your devoted teachers and to all who assist in this truly Christ-like campaign the apostolic benediction.

Swiss Admit Humbert Family

BERNE, Switzerland, Feb. 19 (AP)—Swiss Government sources said today former Queen Maria Jose of Italy and her four minor children had received a residential permit for Switzerland, with the proviso that no members of her household would engage in political activity. No application has been made for the former Italian King Humbert, but he would not be permitted to enter Switzerland, these sources said.

Norway Rebuilding Merchant Marine

Oslo, Norway, Feb. 19 (AP)—In a survey of the Norwegian merchant navy, the latest edition of the monthly Norwegian Shipping News says that Norwegian shipowners since 1940 had contracted for 346 ships totaling 2,400,000 tons at foreign shipyards.

The ships, of which 90 were oil tankers and 86 cargo ships, were scheduled to be delivered by the end of 1951.

In addition, Norwegian shipowners have contracted 100 ships totaling 330,000 tons at Norwegian shipyards.

Argentina Said to Be Acting on Emigration Agreement

ROME, Feb. 19 (AP)—The Italian Foreign Office said today that the text of an agreement for the emigration of a large number of Italian workers to Argentina was in the hands of the Argentine Government.

The newspaper Tempo said as many as 300,000 Italians might eventually go to Argentina.

A Foreign Office spokesman said the Italian Government presumably had approved the agreement, which he indicated provided for 5,000 emigrants a month, and that the Italian Labor Federation was studying the text.

Reich States Seek Quasi-Government

Wiesbaden, Feb. 19 (AP)—The eight German states of the American and British zones are seeking to form a quasi-government of western Germany, it was indicated today.

This proposed organization, American observers believed, could become the basis of formal political union of Germany west of the Elbe if the Russians fail to agree on a central German government at the Moscow Foreign Ministers Conference.

The states' ministers-president secretly discussed a bizonal "political directorate" at an informal meeting Monday. The project will be discussed again soon. One participant said definite recommendations would be made to the United States and Britain.

A Limited Government

The so-called "political directorate" was regarded by Americans as, in effect, a proposed limited bizonal government.

The "directorate" is hedged by terminology apparently designed to avoid the appearance of direct political unity of the two zones. Although the zones are merged economically, the United States and British military governments have taken great pains to discourage any semblance of a "political bloc."

Nevertheless, American observers said, the ministers-president project would give them a point control of the two zones without setting up a formal government.

Centers On Five Agencies

The plan centers around the five bizonal agencies established by Anglo-American authorities. These German agencies run almost the entire economy—food and agriculture, economics, transportation, finance and post. They issue military-approved directives to which the state governments must conform.

German sources said the ministers-president feel that they "must have control" to prevent chaos and confusion of purpose and needs.

Christian Stock, minister-president of the American state of Hesse, said the "directorate" would "constitute a political leadership."

No Party Leadership

He declared, however, that this "would not be a leadership of the Social Democratic party, of which four of the ministers-president are members."

Stock said that if the United States and British military governments approved, and difficulties concerning the rights of the British zone ministers were ironed out, the German plan could be put into effect "today, tomorrow or after the Moscow meeting."

"We cannot, however, think otherwise than that the four zones will be united at the Moscow meeting, at least economically," he said.

U. S. Free Press Amazes Germans

Reich Reporters Agape Over Ease With Which Ge Clay Meets Writers and Permits Frank Criticism.

Berlin, Feb. 19 (A. P.).—German correspondents, invited to American news conferences in Berlin, expressed amazement today at the ease and informality with which top-ranking American Military Government officials met the press of all nations.

"This must be a demonstration of democracy and a free press in action," a reporter from a Russian-licensed Berlin paper commented after attending a news conference held by Lieut.-Gen. Lucius D. Clay, head of the American Military Government, at his headquarters yesterday.

The Americans are the first to invite German correspondents from all four occupation zones of the city to attend their top news conferences.

Eighteen German reporters were present at Clay's conference, along with dozens of correspondents from the United Nations. For more than an hour, Clay answered questions put to him in English. Then he invited the Germans to put any questions they wished through an interpreter.

"It was amazing to us," said one German, "that even American correspondents dared put such frank and argumentative questions to a three-star general—questions critical of American policies. And it was almost unbelievable that we Germans were accorded the same privilege."

Soviet Zone 'Impoverished', Reich Trade Expert Says

Berlin, Feb. 19 (AP)—The Soviet zone of occupation "is impoverished despite a production which exploits to the extreme the remaining means of manufacture," a former president of the German Administration for Trade and Supply in the Soviet zone wrote today in the British-licensed newspaper Telegram.

"From the beginning, the east already had made heavy reparations deliveries in machinery and out of current production," wrote the former official, Dr. Hugo Buschmann.

"The Soviet occupation powers came into a land which, in relation to devastated western Russia, appeared productive. The effects, however, of the one-sided reparations deliveries out of the eastern zone cannot be denied."

Planning In Western Zone

Dr. Buschmann, who recently finished a tour of western Germany, said, "In the western zones there is an astounding amount of planning, more than in the eastern zone, but too much at the end of the line of production to the neglect of primary production."

Because the occupying authorities in the western zone do not command as strongly as in the eastern zone, Dr. Buschmann said, the German administrative agencies in the west must assume far greater responsibility for their economic affairs.

Howley Says 181 Nazis Hold Posts In Berlin

Berlin, Feb. 19 (AP)—Col. Frank L. Howley, director of military government for the United States sector of Berlin, told German newspapermen at a press conference today that 181 Nazis who were thrown out of important jobs in the American sector were now holding positions in other sectors of the city. He did not designate the other sectors.

At the same time he paid tribute to the "very, very big job of de-Nazification done by the Soviet Army when it came into Berlin."

3 Of Jailed Top Nazis Testify In Milch Trial

Nuernberg, Feb. 19 (AP)—Three high Nazis sentenced to long prison terms by the International Military Tribunal left their cells long enough today to testify secretly in the trial of Field Marshal Erhard Milch.

One at a time guards brought Albert Speer, munitions chief for Hitler; Baron Constantin von Neurath, diplomat; and Grand Admiral Erich Raeder to the court for brief questioning before Judge Michael A. Musmanno.

The charges against Milch are recruiting slave labor and fostering experiments on human beings for the Nazi air force. The three prisoners' testimony will be made public only when it is entered into the record.

Army Denies Death Blame

Lieutenant's Charge in Fatal Illness of Infant Son Is Refuted

FRANKFURT, AM MAIN, Feb. 19 (AP).—United States Army Headquarters announced tonight that "an exhaustive investigation" disproved a lieutenant's charge that the death of his infant son was due to negligence by Army authorities.

Lieutenant John J. Warren jr., of Loyall, Ky., made the charge last month in connection with the death of his eight-month-old baby in an Army hospital Jan. 18. The child had become ill on board an Army transport en route from the United States to Germany. The cause of death was officially listed as diarrhea and peritonitis.

Constabulary in Germany Is Stripped of Its Tanks

By The Associated Press.

FRANKFORT ON THE MAIN, Germany, Feb. 19—The United States constabulary, only American tactical ground force in Germany, has been stripped of its tanks and now is outnumbered by American Army wives and children.

Maj. Gen. E. N. Harmon announced today the removal of the tanks as an economy measure and disclosed that the constabulary now was operating at a strength of less than 30,000. American Army wives and children total 31,000.

Removal of the constabulary's armored punch served to emphasize the non-military aspect the United States occupation of Germany had assumed. The Air Forces' bombers were sent back to the United States last year, leaving the Air Force here with about 38,000 men and 600 operational fighters.

General Harmon's announcement said the constabulary had been policing the United States zone with approximately 20 per cent less than its authorized strength of 38,000.

"Ticks" In Man's Wooden Legs

Frankfurt, Germany, Feb. 19 (AP). Smuggling across the Austro-German border reached a new high in weird disguises today, the American constabulary reported. Removing two wooden legs from a suspect, guards found concealed four watches and a quantity of black-market food.

C-47 Crash at Munich Fatal

WIESBADEN, Germany, Feb. 19 (AP)— A United States Army C-47 transport plane crashed at Munich airbase today, killing the co-pilot and injuring three other crew members, Air Force headquarters reported. The names of the victims were withheld pending notification of relatives. The crew was based at Vienna.

Plan German Tobacco Boost

BERLIN, Feb. 19 (AP).—The American Military Government, which recently complained that privately imported American cigarettes were discrediting legal German currency, announced today a plan for doubling German tobacco production in the United States occupation zone in 1947 "to boost morale and increase internal revenue." German men in the zone now get an official ration of about one cigarette a day, and women get one every two days. Extra rations go to coal miners as incentives to boosting production.

U. S. Gives Austria Gold Nazis Stole

Vienna, Feb. 19 (A. P.).—The United States Government today returned to Austria $4,743,507 in gold coins and bars looted by the Germans from the National Bank of Austria and recovered in the American zone of Austria by the United States Army. The gold is now in vaults at Salzburg.

'Vigorous' Cabot Protest Reported In Belgrade

Belgrade, Yugoslavia, Feb. 19 (AP). It was reported reliably today that John Moors Cabot, United States counsellor, had spoken "vigorously" to the Foreign Office concerning two Yugoslav employés of the American Embassy who have been arrested.

Cabot also was said to have spoken about the death sentence given John Pintar, an American citizen, who was condemned last month on a charge of having promised members of an anti-Government group that he would ask the American consul at Zagreb to obtain arms.

One of the translators, Mille Markovich, has been in jail a month without trial on charges of "inciting against the regime." The other, Milosh Zmedjovich, was arrested more than a week ago on undisclosed charges.

Bucharest Told Of U.S. Food Diversion Plan

Bucharest, Romania, Feb. 19 (AP). The Communist newspaper Scanteia today gave the Romanian people their first details of President Truman's plan to divert food shipments to this country, and promised that American observers would be allowed to see that the food was distributed fairly.

In an article considered to reflect the attitude of the Government, the newspaper said Romania "receives with satisfaction this gesture on the part of the United States and its President."

Publication of President Truman's announcement that food would be rushed to the northern province of Moldavia previously had been held up by censorship. A Ministry of Information spokesman said the reason for the censorship was that the ministry had not received the original text.

"Without Discrimination"

Scanteia headed its article "President Truman announces American Help for Moldavia," and added that food distribution must be made "without political or social discrimination."

"The Romanian Government has the satisfaction to offer representatives of the American Government and the American Red Cross the possibility to see for themselves on the spot that fair and equitable disposition of help always has been and always will be the basis of means already existent," the Communist newspaper said, "and that the system of equality with no discrimination was the only one compatible with the democratic regime now existing in Romania."

the food situation has relegated political strife to the background, observers believe that President Truman's message and the stipulations attached thereto will renew the political controversy.

[The President said that "urgent attention" was being given the matter of United States grain sales to Romania, "despite the magnitude of world demands on existing stocks" on three conditions: 1. That Romania will use none of the grain to pay reparations; 2. That Romania will not export it for trade or other purposes; 3. That American representatives will be free to supervise its distribution "in such a manner as they see fit," and that distribution shall be "without racial, religious or social discrimination."]

Possible Opposition Stand

A demand to control distribution of the food will probably be made by the opposition on the grounds that the present Government lacks the complete confidence of the United States.

It is believed that the Romanian Government might take the view that to accept President Truman's conditions might be interpreted as a sign of weakness and cause it to loose face.

ROMANIAN PLEDGE ON FOOD FORECAST

Bucharest, Feb. 19 (A. P.). — The Communist newspaper Scanteia, in what was regarded as the official reaction here to President Truman's message announcing the diversion of food shipments to Romania, said today that the Government was prepared to pledge fair distribution without political or social discrimination.

"The Romanian Government has the satisfaction to offer representatives of the American Government and the American Red Cross," it said, "the possibility to see for themselves on the spot that fair and equitable distribution of help always has been and will be the basis, and that the system of equality, with no discrimination, was the only one compatible with the Democratic regime now existing in Romania."

The newspaper said that the Romanian people "receive with satisfaction and gratitude this gesture on the part of the United States and their Presidents." Scanteia attributed Mr. Truman's action to the success of representations repeatedly made in Washington by the Rombanian Minister.

The entire text of President Truman's message, withheld earlier by Romanian government censorship, will be published by the Romanian press, a ministry of information spokesman said last night.

Romania Will Publish Full Truman Food Text

Bucharest, Feb. 19 (delayed)—A Ministry of Information spokesman said tonight that the Romanian press would publish in its entirety President Truman's message announcing diversion of food shipments to this country, the text of which was withheld earlier by Romanian censorship.

The spokesman said today's censorship delay was caused because the Ministry was not in possession of the original text. He added that lately the Romanian press had been publishing unconfirmed reports about United States grain sales to Romania and the Ministry wanted to prevent raising false hopes again.

$250,000 Sought By Refugee Group

Geneva, Switzerland, Feb. 19 (AP). The preparatory commission for the International Refugee Organization decided today to telegraph Trygve Lie, secretary general of the United Nations, for a $250,000 advance to finance its activities until June 30.

Sir Raphael Cilento, representing the secretary general, said Lie might have difficulties granting the requested loan.

"If we don't get any money, we pack up and go home," said Sir George Rendel, of the British Foreign Office.

Suggests Government Loan

Cilento suggested that individual governments make the loan. Rendel said his Government could not make such loans without security.

Lie's representative said the secretary general was not legally bound even to finance the current one-week session here, which was scheduled to close yesterday.

Cilento said that the original funds were available only until yesterday, and that contingent funds could be applied until Friday, but that if the commission wanted to continue meeting after Friday, Cilento would have to ask Lie for an "extension of the loan."

In addition to prolongation of the current session, some delegates had expressed the wish for another meetings in Geneva about April 15.

"It is clear that there are no legal obligations, but that this commission has the blessing of the United Nations," Rendel said. "The commission should make an earnest appeal not to destroy our work by failing to provide funds."

Raiders Fire Greek Town, Burn 5 To Death

Athens, Feb. 19 (AP)—The Ministry of Public Order announced today that a large band of guerrillas had raided the town of Ambelakia, near the Turkish border, set fire to eight houses and burned five people to death.

A dozen of the inhabitants were carried off by the band when it withdrew, the ministry said.

Red Leader Hits Anglo-American 'Reactionaries'

Moscow, Feb. 19 (AP)—Otto Kuusinen, president of the Karelian Republic of the U.S.S.R., declared in a Pravda article today that "influential reactionary circles of the Anglo-American countries" were carrying out a policy directed against the sovereignty of European countries.

His commentary, which filled almost a full page of the Communist party organ, was summed up in these five subheads:

1. (Anglo-American) assault on sovereignty of Eastern European countries.
2. (Anglo-American) attack on economic independence of western European countries.
3. Plans for "western bloc" of Eropean states.
4. (Anthony) Eden's offensive against the sovereignty of European states.
5. (Winston Churchill's) plans for creation of a United States of Europe.

Kuusinen began his commentary with this foreword:

"Studying the political experience of the postwar period we cannot fail to notice those expansionist tendencies which influential reactionary circles of Anglo-Saxon countries are, with extraordinary persistence, carrying out in their policy for more than a year, especially when those tendencies are directed against the sovereignty of the countries of the European Continent.

Points To "Facts"

"Several facts which have and are having a place in postwar Europe are shedding a light on the nature of these tendencies and on the plans of reactionary circles, all of which are in sharp contradiction with the life and interests of the freedom loving people of Europe."

[Kuusinen, a Finnish Communist leader, was declared a traitor by the Finnish Government in 1939 when he organized a "people's government" during the war with Russia. His avowed purpose was to overthrow the Helsinki regime. Russia formally recognized his "government" and the Moscow press described him as a stanch fighter and loyal son of the Finnish people. He became a member of the Communist party Central Committee in 1941 and a writer in 1942 for the Moscow weekly, War and the Working Class, now named New Times.]

U. S., BRITAIN HIT IN SOVIET ARTICLE

MOSCOW, Feb. 19 — (AP) Otto Kuusinen president of the Soviet Karelian Republic charged today in an article which took up more than a full page in Pravda that British and American "influential reactionary circles" were waging a cmapaign against the sovereignty and economic independence of Europe.

Attacking United States post-war economic and trade policies, he said the United States was championing a system in which the "caprices of international competition unregulated by anyone" would leave Europe "dependent on the will of the world champion in this competition —those who are able to wield the biggest money bags."

(Kuusinen is a Finnish Communist leader who was declared a traitor by the Finnish government in 1939 when he organized a "people's government" during the "winter war" with Russia.)

The writer also attacked Winston Churchill's plan for a "United States of Europe" and the proposals advanced by Anthony Eden, former British foreign secretary, for a bloc of western European nations, declaring these political attempts were in the wake of economic penetration.

Kuusinen charged Britain with putting France, Belgium and Holland on a "starvation coal ration" by her policies in the German Ruhr, and accused the United States of limiting European countries to "starvation" food rations.

"One cannot get rid of the impression that such harsh attitude of the Anglo-Saxon countries toward the peoples of continental Europe is being dictated by political calculations—that hungry countries are more prone to make concessions than well-fed ones," he added.

Citing British and American notes to Poland pressing for free elections, he said frequent attempts had been made to interfere in the internal affairs of not only former German satellites, such as Romania and Bulgaria, but also Poland, Yugoslavia and Albania, which were "liberated by the Soviet Army."

No Basis in Agreements

"Unquestionably such claims for establishing Anglo-American guardianship over the sovereignty of the governments of eastern Europe could not have been based on any international agreements," said Kuusinen, in apparent reference to the understandings at Yalta and Potsdam.

He said Britain continues to hold Polish gold as a method of political pressure against Poland, and that British and American military planes were pressed into diplomatic service over Yugoslavia in an effort to frighten the people.

Second U.S. Broadcast To Russ Poorly Heard

Moscow, Feb. 19 (AP)—Poor atmospherics and interference from other stations caused bad reception in Moscow for the second United States Russian-language broadcast beamed at the Soviet Union last night. The first broadcast, on Monday, was also poorly heard.

Those who heard last night's program seemed agreed that the program was too "highbrow" to attract many listeners, even if they could find it on the dial. They did welcome the presence of Bing Crosby, but didn't care much for the Stephen Foster tune he sang.

These listeners renewed previous criticisms that the announcers' presentation was "amateurish."

Supreme Soviet Gathering.

Moscow, Feb. 19 (A. P.).—Delegates to the third session of the Supreme Soviet of the U. S. S. R. moved into Moscow today for tomorrow's sessions, for which no agenda has yet been made public.

U.S. Alarms Russ Press

Moscow, Feb. 19 (AP) — Soviet newspapers and the Soviet radio are following the line of pointing with concern and alarm in their accounts of the activities of the United States, Britain and the British dominions.

Non-Russians who are convinced that the people of America and Britain desire sincere friendship with the Soviet Union can sense a growing concern among Russians over the relations between this country and her two chief allies of the last war.

Russians generally nevertheless profess belief in the American and British people and when you get them down to the bedrock of talk about the situation they express the opinion that the people of the two western nations will prevail over what Russians consider the "evil forces."

Big 4 Parley Nears

With the Council of Four Power Foreign Ministers less than three weeks off, there is a possibility that Russian concern may be quieted when Gen. George C. Marshall, Secretary of State, and Ernest Bevin, Foreign Secretary, sit down with Soviet leaders and begin some plain talk.

Whatever the course of Russian opinion about what lies ahead in relations of the Soviet Union and the Western powers, it must be emphasized that the Russian people have full confidence in their leaders and trust them implicitly.

The Russians appear to be convinced that powerful forces are at work against them in the West.

Concentration Belief

They believe that these forces exist in many "capitalistic" countries but that the great power of them is concentrated in the United States and Britain. Britain, they believe, because of her economic position is almost a stooge of the United States. The United States, they appear to be convinced, is in the grip of an influential group of big business interests and aggressive militarists who are hostile to the Soviet Union and believe that war with Russia is inevitable.

Russians believe that these forces have powerful voices in Congress and elsewhere in the United States.

Here are some Russian concepts largely responsible for Russian suspicions of the West (concepts fostered by Soviet press and radio):

America's monopoly of the atomic bomb.

The idea that the United States is trying to use this monopoly as a means of forcing Russia into agreements.

The conviction here that "military circles" in the United States are anti-Soviet.

A belief that most of the American press is hostile to Russia.

Reports published here of American activities in the Arctic and Antarctic regions but especially in the Arctic.

A belief that governing circles of the United States no longer include influential friends of the Soviet Union, such as Franklin D. Roosevelt and Harry Hopkins were considered to be.

Russian ideas of the ambitions and purposes of American big business in Germany, China and Japan and in the oil lands of the Middle East.

[Editor's Note: The Russian masses have little access to information about the West beyond that given them by their Government-controlled press and radio.]

CHINESE MAY ASK OUTSIDE AID IN ECONOMIC CRISIS

NANKING, Feb. 19 — (AP) The Chinese government tonight reported a big victory in its civil war but said it expected to call upon other nations to help enforce its new emergency economic measures.

Meanwhile, Adm. Charles M. Cooke, Jr., commander of U. S. Navy forces in the western Pacific, flew to Washington for urgent conferences amid unconfirmed reports that American Navy forces would be withdrawn from China. Cooke declined en route to discuss the nature of his mission and Navy sources in China maintained strict secrecy regarding a conference of U. S. naval authorities in Shanghai.

The State department last month ordered American military personnel — nearly 2,000 at Peiping and some 10,000 Marines in the Peiping-Tientsin area—withdrawn. There was no indication at that time however that the Navy might quit the Tsingtao base, where it is training Chinese sailors.

On the Chinese military front, Peng Hsueh-pei, minister of information, announced that two Communist armies had been "utterly defeated" in the government seizure of Lini in Shantung province. He said the new fourth and the 18th route armies practically "ceased to exist" after being smashed in the Lini campaign.

Turning to the economic crisis, Peng told a press conference that detailed measures are being drawn to request foreign governments to freeze or report assets held on account by Chinese nationals residing in China. One of the new emergency measures requires Chinese nationals to surrender their foreign assets at the new 12,000 to $1 rate or to deposit the accounts in Chinese banks.

Peng said press reports indicated Chinese have more than $300,000,000 such assets in the United States alone.

He announced the new order banning trading in U. S. currency or in gold does not make possession of such media illegal. There have been reports that secret police were searching Shanghai residents for such possessions.

Won't Sell Airlines

Peng said the Government does not plan to sell the Chinese domestic airlines or the China Merchant Steamship Company. In its program of selling commercial concerns to private capital. The steamship company controls most of the Chinese flag vessels.

Shanghai prepared to ration such necessities as rice, flour, coal, edible oils, sugar, salt and cotton as soon as Premier T. V. Soong approves, to prevent hoarding and further disturb the economy.

In Peiping, police picked up more than 2,000 persons in an investigation of undesirable elements —aftermath of the recent Communist attack on Tunghsien, 13 miles east of Peiping. Nearly 8,000 police, divided into teams, searched the city.

Police Chief Tang Yung-hsien said the inquiry was to insure the city's safety from unlawful individuals. He said 1,689 of those picked up were placed under arrest. The number included 1,165 with improper police registration.

China To Seek Aid In Crisis

Nanking, Feb. 19 (AP)—The Chinese Government expects to call on foreign nations shortly for help in enforcing economic stabilization measures, Minister of Information Peng Hseuh-pei intimated today.

The measures not only forbid trading in foreign gold and exchange but require Chinese nationals to either surrender their foreign assets or deposit the accounts in Chinese banks.

Since much of the exchange assets is held on account in foreign nations, Peng was asked if China was requesting foreign governments to freeze or report such accounts.

"Detailed measures are being drawn now to cover this matter," he replied.

U.S. Deposits High

Peng said the mere possession of gold or foreign exchange was not illegal under the regulations, which merely prohibit trading in those commodities. Reports have been circulated that secret police were stopping and searching Shanghai individuals for such possessions.

Explaining the Government move to force surrender of foreign-held assets, Peng said press reports indicated that Chinese held more than $300,000,000 in the United States alone.

Meanwhile, in Shanghai the city government completed arrangements for the rationing of vital commodities, which will be put into effect when the approval of Premier T. V. Soong is obtained. The plan contemplates fixed allotments of such daily necessities as rice, flour, coal, edible oils, sugar, salt and cotton.

Reports Persist U.S. Navy Will Leave China

Nanking, Feb. 19 (AP)—Reports that United States naval forces would soon be withdrawing from China were circulating today as Admiral Charles M. Cooke, Jr., commander of navk forces in the western Pacific, took off by plane for Washington. United States Navy authorities, meanwhile, were in conference at Shanghai.

Naval sources declined to comment on the possibility that Admiral Cooke's call to Washington was in connection with the withdrawal of forces. Informed sources said the presence of naval units in Chinese waters was in line with overall American policy in the Pacific, rather than with United States efforts to mediate the Chinese civil war. Failure of these efforts resulted recently in orders to withdraw American troops.

Immediate Change Doubted

These sources saw little likelihood that any positive action affecting the use by the United States fleet of port facilities at Tsingtao and Shanghai, at the invitation of the Chinese Government, would be taken until President Truman and Secretary of State Marshall decide on a new Asiatic policy.

Diplomatic sources said a general misconception existed in China, as elsewhere, on the establishment of a permanent United States naval base at Tsingtao, a base for instruction of Chinese seamen in the operation of vessels obtained by the Chinese Government from the United States.

Only Ordinary Port Facilities

Installations there are limited to ordinary port facilities and the Pacific Fleet's base is at Guam.

American civilians living in China, particularly business men with substantial investments, receive comfort from the presence of the American warships in the Shanghai harbor. It is known here that Admiral Cooke is fully aware of this feeling. Should the Western Pacific Fleet be withdrawn from China, it was thought that a small advisory mission would remain to carry on the training program at Tsingtao, at least until the new Chinese Navy has manned all its vessels.

Commission's Status Vague

The exact status of the United States Naval Advisory Commission here, as related to the Tsingtao training program was not clarified.

Although the last Congress legalized the existence of the mission here ti has not been implemented since congressional authority has not been given for a similar army mission established under Presidential war powers.

The presence of Rear Admiral S. S. Murray, of Washington, head of the naval advisory group here, and Admiral Cooke's trip to Washington seemed to indicate that the future of the advisory mission was under discussion.

The urgency of the Admiral's visit to Washington was seen in the haste with which he cut short his official visit to Hong-king and began his flight homeward within thirty-six hours. The speed, it was assumed, was necessary to permit full discussions with Marshall before the latter starts active preparations for his trip to Moscow.

Soong Denies Report.

Shanghai, Feb. 19 (A. P.).—Premier T. V. Soong today denied a Washington report that China indirectly requested UNRRA permission to sell UNRRA goods in the black market.

"This false report is characteristic of similar reports disseminated by certain quarters persistently trying to misrepresent the UNRRA and CNRRA (Chinese National Relief and Rehabilitation Administration) in China and disturb Chinese-American relations," Soong said in a statement released through the official Central News Agency.

'Much More Suicide' In Japan Predicted

Tokyo, Thursday, Feb. 20 (AP)—The newspaper Asahi said today that Japan's new property tax—ranging as high as 90 per cent—has caused ten Japanese to commit suicide since the first of the year.

It quoted city authorities as predicting "much more suicide in the near future."

The property tax is a special levy designed to help curb profiteering.

NEVER LIKE THIS IN THE SUBWAY

Tokyo, Feb. 19 (A. P.).—The perils of commuting in interurban trains, as reported by the Tokyo press:

A Japanese commuter braced himself for the sudden station stop. The effort broke his ersatz belt. He was packed in the car so tightly he couldn't get his hands down to catch his falling pants.

Some one's foot caught in the pants and dragged them away.

The train started up to the excited wailing in Japanese:

"Whose got my pants?"

1211 U. S. Troops Land at Yokohama

Yokohama, Feb. 19 (A. P.).—The transport Admiral Capps arrived here today with 1,211 Army personnel and thirteen civilians for the occupation forces.

Yesterday the transport General Aultman sailed for Korea with 241 Army men aboard and forty civilians, including thirty Red Cross workers. The Admiral Eberle sailed for Manila with 127 Army personnel and thirty-four civilians, including Red Cross workers.

In the afternoon the three visited Mount Suribachi, site of the Marine flag-raising picture taken by Joe Rosenthal, a photographer then for the Associated Press, which typified the spirit of the Marine Corps fighters. Rosenthal, who now is with the San Francisco Chronicle and who won the Pulitzer prize for his extraordinary picture, attended the ceremony on invitation from Gen. MacArthur.

Iwo Jima Marine Heroes Honored

1000 American Soldiers Pay Tribute at Ceremony Two Years After 4000 Fell in Island's Capture.

Iwo Jima, Feb. 19 (A. P.).—A thousand American soldiers stood at attention before a sandy graveyard here today to pay homage to the 4,000 Marines who died two years ago to secure this strategic island for their country.

The troops now garrison the island and maintain the Army Air Force base, but the ceremony was in honor of the Marines who took the island from the Japanese. Three Marine divisions participated in the costly operation—in February of 1945. Its main objective was to obtain an airfield close to Japan's home islands.

The cemetery lies at the foot of grim Mount Suribachi, its rows of white crosses and stars of David in orderly rows across the volcanic sands where thousands fell before the concentrated mortar and machine-gun fire of Japanese gunners.

Nine B-29s, the huge bombers whose crews in later stages of the war often used Iwo's landing strip in emergencies when their fuel was running low or their engines were disabled, wheeled overhead as three service men laid wreaths at the base of the cemetery monument and an honor guard fired the traditional three-round salute.

The wreath bearers were Marine Sgt. George C. Herman of Tampa, Fla., who landed on Iwo on D-Day, Seaman Stanley C. Pool of Grand Lodge, Mich., who was aboard a destroyer in the battle for the island, and Army

China-Philippine Talks End

MANILA, Feb. 19 (AP).—China, through Minister Chen Chi-peng, formally notified the Philippines today it was breaking off further negotiations on a proposed amity pact because of what it considered discriminatory measures against Chinese residents in the islands. A note from the Chinese government expressed the hope the Philippines would take steps to improve present conditions which "do not conform with the spirit of amity."

British Officers Packing

NEW DELHI, India, Feb. 19 (AP)—Members of both the Moslem League and the predominantly Hindu Congress party in India's Interim Government professed ignorance tonight of any move for recall of the Viceroy, Lord Wavell.

Meanwhile thousands of British officers and men were preparing to go home for good in an exodus starting in earnest next month. An English civilian woman who attempted to book passage home said she was told that military priorities would keep her in India "at least until June."

Rangoon Dock Strike Ends

RANGOON, Burma, Feb. 19 (AP)—The All-Burma Trades Union announced today an agreement with the Government ending a twenty-five-day waterfront strike, and said that 30,000 laborers would resume work tomorrow. The union said that most of the workers' demands, including a wage increase and equal pay for men and women, had been met.

Flag Raised Again on Suribachi As Army Marks Iwo Anniversary

IWO, Feb. 19—(AP) A grateful U. S. Army today raised the American flag on Mount Suribachi—symbol of one of the U. S. Marines' greatest victories of the Pacific war.

Two years ago today the Leathernecks began invading this lonely, coral sanded island. Twenty-six days later they had captured it at a cost of 4,189 killed in action and 20,000 total casualties — approximately one-fourth of the total Marine casualties in all theaters throughout the entire war.

The army quickly began using Iwo as an emergency landing field for crippled B-29s which could not make it back to Guam or Saipan from raids on the Japanese homeland, and for a big fighter base.

Today the Army which still garrisons Iwo, said thanks, Marines. One thousand soldiers gathered at the sandy cemetery at the foot of Suribachi, while a Marine, a soldier and a sailor laid wreaths at the foot of a monument to Iwo's dead. Nine B29s wheeled overhead and an honor guard fired a salute.

Wreath bearers were Marine Sgt. George C. Herman, Tampa, Fla., who landed on Iwo on D-Day; S1-c Stanley C. Pool, Grand Lodge, Mich., who was on a destroyer during the battle for the island, and Army Chaplain William J. Chase, whose brother, Marine Sgt. James B. Chase, was killed in the D-Day assault.

Joe Rosenthal, then an Associated Press photographer who took the Pulitzer prize winning picture of the Suribachi flag raising when the Marines captured that peak, attended the ceremony at General MacArthur's invitation.

As pieced together from official sources who declined the use of their names and from eyewitnesses, this is what happened:

Cloakroom attendants left their posts to watch the royal family leave the ball. Several women became impatient and entered the room to get their own coats. There was a mixup and something like a stampede got under way. Faces were slapped and coats were grabbed regardless of ownership, before police and army men restored order after nearly two hours. Police were still looking for one coat reported worth $2,000.

Children Chant Native Songs

Several hundred black children chanted native songs of welcome at Simonstown, 20 miles from here, and all the brass in the admiralty assembled at the naval base, which became a British bastion in the early part of the Nineteenth Century.

White uniformed tars stood at attention along miles of the picturesque roads leading to the base.

Thousands of persons cheered as the royal family motored in the afternoon to near-by Kenilworth race track, where they saw Memno, a 3-year-old, win the Cape of Good Hope derby. Later, the party watched cricket, tennis and bowling matches between members of Parliament and naval personnel, staged at the Fernwood Parliamentary Sports Club.

Cape Town Probes 2-Hour Row At Ball King, Queen Attended

Cape Town, South Africa, Feb. 19 (AP)—The British royal family visited the naval base at Simonstown today while Cape Town officials investigated a spectacular disorder which broke out last night in the cloakroom of a ball attended by King, Queen and the two Princesses.

The cloakroom disturbance, which lasted nearly two hours, broke out just after the royal family left the civic ball here.

Faces Slapped, Coats Grabbed

Newsprint Cut May Halt Some Papers

Ottawa, Feb. 19 (AP) — American newsprint consumers were faced today with a curtailment of deliveries from Canada, source of more than 80 per cent of their supply, for at least a month and perhaps longer because of an acute shortage of railway box cars.

Transport Controller B. S. Liberty last night issued a preference order to Canadian Railways to supply sufficient cars to keep all newsprint mills in operation, but no assurance was given that normal shipments would continue to the United States.

Sees Publication Suspended

R. M. Fowler, president of the Canadian Pulp and Paper Association, said that the Government's order would not necessarily provide cars for newsprint mills which had sufficient storage space to remain in production, and "their customers may be forced to suspend publication for lack of newsprint which cannot be shipped to them."

The order will allot cars only to those mills which would otherwise be forced to shut down because of lack of storage facilities. Mills able to continue in production and store their products still would have to take their chances on procuring box cars.

Cars Diverted To Grain

Trade Minister James A. Mackinnin said today that it would be at least a month before newsprint shipments could return to normal. The newsprint industry was hit hard by a Government order of last Friday commandeering 1,176 box cars daily to move grain from the Canadian prairies to Great Lakes and ocean ports.

The Government's policy, enunciated both by McKinnon and by Transport Minister Lionel Chevrier, is to give priority to grain shipments, which fell behind schedule during the past few weeks as a result of severe storms which tied up the western railway lines.

Seven Mills Forced To Close

The order for sufficient cars to keep plants in operation was issued last night after seven newsprint mills had been forced to close down.

Transport Controller Liberty said that the railway box-car shortage would remain acute for a year. The shortage has been growing gradually worse. The Canadian Pacific Railway, for instance, has 1,200 less box cars than it had in 1939, and yet business is much heavier.

Cars Delayed In U.S.

The railway now wants 3,500 new cars, for which it is planning to spend $11,000,000. Delivery is expected to be slow.

Transport Minister Chevrier hinted that the situation might be alleviated if railway box cars were returned faster from the United States. Last Friday, for instance, there were 8,169 more Canadian-owned box cars in the United States than there were American owned cars in Canada.

NEWSPRINT PLANTS GET SOME RELIEF

Freight Cars Rushed To Eastern Canada Ease Stock Pile

Ottawa, Feb. 19 (AP)—Emergency allocation of critically short freight cars to eastern Canada newsprint companies brought them quick relief today, easing the pressure of piled stocks which forced at least one plant to halt manufacture and threatened others with closure.

B. S. Liberty, transport controller, who last week was given emergency powers to commandeer freightcars for vital movement of wheat to the Canadian seaboard and feed grain from west to east, ordered cars for the newsprint plants yesterday following conferences with newsprint representatives. The plants will receive only the minimum number of cars required to keep them operating.

Only One Plant Closed

Officials reported yesterday that seven newsprint plants had been forced to close because they could not move supplies and lacked storage space to continue production.

Further checks revealed, however, that only one plant, the Donnaconna Paper Company, at Donnaconna, Que., actually did stop production. The other six—St. Lawrence Sales Company, Ltd., Dolbeau, Que.; St. Raymond Paper Company, St. Raymond, Que.; Price Brothers' plants at Timagami, Ont., and River Bend, Que.; Canadian International Paper Company at Dalhousie, N.B., and Consolidated Paper Corporation at Port Alfred, Que.—did not close, but were faced with "imminent" closure, it was said.

Whole Industry Not Affected

In announcing the order the transport controler emphasized that the allocation of box cars did not affect the newsprint industry in a blanket way. Only those plants in imminent need of cars to get rid of surplus stocks would be considered.

The newsprint transportation emergency was the first faced by the Government since the boxcar shortage became acute in Canada.

PRESIDENT URGES 'EARLY ENDING' OF WARTIME POWERS

Message to Congress Asks Extension of Only 16 of 102 Emergency Laws.

SEEKS PROMPT ACTION

Would Retain Power to Arm Merchant Ships; Cites Reconversion Progress.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19 — (AP) In a major new stride toward normal national life, President Truman today asked legislation by Congress to permit "early ending" of the seven and one-half year old "state of emergency."

The President's message urged extension of only 16 of the 102 emergency laws on the books, including the power to arm merchant ships and the maintenance of defense housing, now in use for veterans.

Congress was asked to repeal immediately 24 laws dealing with "problems of the war which no longer face us," such as the lease of public lands for arms production and the use of dollar-a-year men.

Asks Immediate Suspension

On his own, the Chief Executive ordered Federal agencies to suspend activities under the emergency clauses of 36 permanent statutes at once or "in any event not later than March 15."

"The progress of reconversion now makes it possible to take an additional step toward freeing our economy of wartime controls," said the message sent to Capitol Hill.

Senator Lucas (D-Ill) called the move "most encouraging" and said it "will give the Republicans a chance to demonstrate some of the cooperation they have been talking about."

Other comment included:

Senator Hawkes (R-NJ): "The sooner we get rid of any regulations that unnecessarily interfere with peacetime operations, the quicker we'll get back to full production, and a more normal American life."

Senator Robertson (R-Wyo):—"I agree with Mr. Truman in principle. However, there are some things, such as the Commodity Credit Corp., and its purchase of the yearly domestic wool clip, which call for an interim control for possibly two years to stabilize the wool producing industry."

McKellar Backs Action

Senator McKellar (D-Tenn):—"I am in favor of doing away with all wartime controls at the earliest possible moment."

Mr. Truman made it clear that he hopes to declare an end of the emergency before midyear, if prompt Congressional action on today's recommendations makes such speed possible. Thereupon, all the laws which remain in force for the period of emergency will end automatically.

This will accomplish the second of the three big steps unwrapping the tangle of war powers and defense controls. The first was taken Dec. 31, when the President proclaimed the end of hostilities and thereby knocked out 53 statutes including the Federal authority to seize strikebound private plants.

The third step—and the most important one—will come with the proclamation of an end of the war. Some 250 war powers remain in force "for the duration of the war" or six months after.

The end-of-emergency proclamation, when it comes, will terminate both the state of "limited" emergency declared Sept. 8, 1939, shortly after outbreak of the war overseas, and the "unlimited" emergency of May 27, 1941.

Chief Powers Listed

Chief among the powers which Mr. Truman ordered suspended at once—though the laws would remain on the books for use in any future emergency—are these:

Transfer of the Coast Guard to the Navy; power to order longer than an eight-hour day on war contracts; increase in enlisted strength of the Navy; extension of Coast Guard enlistments; requisitioning of ships; placing of certain cost-plus-fixed-fee contracts; authority of Coast Guard to buy or accept gifts of yachts; steps to increase marketing quotas of corn, wheat, cotton, rice, tobacco or peanuts.

Immediate repeal was asked of the laws—many of them already inoperative—granting 12½ percent royalties on newly discovered oil or gas fields, the lease or sale of public lands for munitions manufacture, the tax-free withdrawal of alcohol for industrial purposes, and the following:

Appointments of enlisted men to the Naval Academy; suspension of the customs duty on coconuts; employment of dollar-a-year men from industry; authorization for building certain access roads to mineral and other resources; involuntary retirement of Naval officers; the rank of "flight officer" in the air force; accumulation of 90 days' leave by government employes; spending $1,000,000 a year for special forest fire protection; the six-month prior service requirement for ships' radio officers.

Cites 12 Statutes

In the case of 12 statutes, Truman said, Congress "may wish to consider permanent legislation." Until it is enacted, he said the laws should be temporarily extended until June 30, 1948, in most cases.

The laws are:

An act authorizing an undersecretary of the Navy.

Lanham War Housing act; extension asked to permit operations on re-used temporary housing for veterans.

An act authorizing the removal from the active list of certain Army officers.

Temporary appointments of Army officers, without regard to branch of the service.

Arming of merchant vessels.

Suspending import duties on scrap iron, steel and rails "should be continued in view of the present shortage."

Free importation of articles for soldiers of the United Nations now in this country (in order to obtain the same privilege for American servicemen abroad).

Use of public building employes as special policemen to guard Federal property.

Suspension of the requirement that each agency head file quarterly reports on the amount of mail sent free; Army and Navy asked continuance until June 30, 1947.

Re-employment rights of Merchant Marine seamen; extension asked because of the "shortage of maritime personnel."

Appointment of commissioned officers in the WAC; extension asked pending permanent legislation on peacetime army.

Temporary appointments of Army nurses as officers in the Army.

Text of the President's Message to Congress on War Powers

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19 (AP)—Following is the text of President Truman's message to Congress today recommending repeal of a large number of wartime laws:

During the year and a half that have elapsed since the defeat of our last enemy in battle, we have progressively eliminated the great majority of emergency controls over the nation's economy. The progress of reconversion now makes it possible to take an additional step toward freeing our economy of wartime controls.

Accordingly, I am recommending that the Congress repeal certain temporary statutes still in effect by virtue of the emergencies proclaimed by the President in 1939 and 1941, and I have requested the executive departments and agencies to cease operations under powers derived from certain permanent statutes that are effective only during emergencies, to the extent that such operations are related to the 1939 and 1941 emergencies.

The recommendations I here present for the consideration of the Congress will, if accepted, materially assist in further freeing the country of war controls and will help make possible an early ending of the emergencies. I have under continuing study the question of terminating the emergencies proclaimed in 1939 and 1941, and intend to take action as soon as circumstances permit.

Cites His Recent Message

In my recent message to the Congress on the state of the Union I outlined the following programs with respect to the termination of emergency and wartime powers:

"Two groups of temporary laws still remain: The first are those which by Congressional mandate are to last during the 'emergency'; the second are those which are to continue until the 'termination of the war.'

"I shall submit to the Congress recommendations for the repeal of certain of the statutes which by their terms continue for the duration of the 'emergency.' I shall at the same time recommend that others within this classification be extended until the state of war has been ended by treaty or by legislative action. As to those statutes which continue until the state of war has been terminated, I urge that the Congress promptly consider each statute individually, and repeal such emergency legislation where advisable."

Accordingly, I now submit recommendations with respect to more than 100 laws which are affected by the limited emergency declared Sept. 8, 1939, or the unlimited emergency declared May 27, 1941.

In the case of those statutes that remain in force until termination of the war, I have directed the executive departments and agencies to assist the Congress in its consideration of these statutes, individually, by making available full information concerning them to the appropriate Congressional committees. The work done on this subject in the 79th Congress by the committees on the judiciary of both houses, with the assistance of the Office of War Mobilization and Reconversion, the Department of Justice, and other Government agencies should offer valuable aid to the Congress in accomplishing the task which remains. At a later date it may prove desirable to send a further communication to the Congress concerning these statutes.

Emergency laws dealt with in this message fall into five broad classes: (A) temporary statutes which are no longer needed, and which consequently should be repealed forthwith; (B) permanent statutes under which operations related to the 1939 or 1941 emergencies have been or are being discontinued, but which should remain for possible use during future emergencies; (C) statutes appropriating funds, which should, when the funds are no longer required, be handled by rescission of funds rather than by repeal of the statutes; (D) statutes which should be temporarily extended by the Congress pending consideration of permanent legislation or other dispositions as indicated below; (E) statutes which should continue in force for the period or purpose stipulated.

In appendices to this message the statutes under reference are enumerated according to the above classifications.

A. Temporary statutes which should be repealed.

I recommend the outright repeal of the twenty-four statutes or portions thereof specified in Appendix A. To a greater or lesser degree, all these statutes were designed to meet special problems of the war which no longer face us. It should be noted, however, that repeal of one of these laws will restore customs duties over certain commodities. In repealing it, the Congress should provide for the customary thirty days' notice before duty changes become effective.

Would Retain Permanent Laws

B. Permanent statutes effective only during an emergency.

The thirty-six laws enumerated in Appendix B are permanent legislation but come into force only during emergencies. Many of them were enacted during or before the First World War. Nothing requires their removal from our body of permanent law at this time, and it is preferable that operations conducted under them by virtue of the 1939 and 1941 emergencies should lapse rather than that the statutes should be repealed.

I have requested the head of each executive department and agency to discontinue at the earliest possible moment and in any event not later than March 15, 1947, the exercise of such powers as are derived, from these statutes, by virtue of the existence of the emergencies of 1939 and 1941.

C. Statutes appropriating funds.

When appropriated funds are no longer required, it is the established procedure of the Congress to rescind these funds rather than to repeal the appropriation acts. On six occasions since the surrender of Japan I have recommended that the Congress rescind certain appropriated funds, and I shall continue to make recommendations for rescission of funds whenever possible.

Dependent upon the emergencies of 1939 and 1941 are twenty appropriation provisions listed in Appendix C. Expenditures under two of these acts have already ceased. Expenditures under twelve others will be terminated as rapidly as possible, and appropriate recommendations for rescission will be made.

In the case of four acts making appropriations for roads under the Defense Highway Act of 1941, after the end of the emergency these funds will continue to be needed by the Federal Works Agency for maintenance of access road projects until June 30, 1947, completion of access road projects now under construction, strategic network projects, and necessary advance engineering. I shall shortly transmit a budgetary communication in the usual form for this purpose.

In the case of the appropriation acts by which funds were provided for clerical assistance to Senators and for the Capitol Police Force, this is, of course, a matter which exclusively concerns the Congress.

Extension of Temporary Laws

D. Statutes which should be temporarily extended.

In the case of most of the twelve statutes listed in Appendix D, the Congress may wish to consider permanent legislation. In order to preserve existing activities and conditions until the Congress has had an opportunity to consider such legislation, I recommend the temporary extension of these statutes until June 30, 1948. In a few cases, termination on an indicated date appears desirable even though permanent legislation is not contemplated. The reasons for temporary extension in each case, the period of extension requested, and the executive departments and agencies interested are set forth in Appendix D.

E. Statutes remaining in force for the period or purpose stipulated.

Of the remaining ten statutes affected by the existence of the emergencies, five will continue in force for a stipulated period after the emergencies have been declared at an end, and two have no termination provisions. The remaining statutes consist of one mandatory law under which operations cannot be discontinued during the emergencies (Act of July 2, 1940); and another two laws which are needed until the end of the emergencies (Act of June 29, 1936, and Act of March 8, 1946). The five statutes with terminal provisions beyond the emergencies should be allowed to remain in force for the periods stipulated by their terms; the two statutes without termination provisions should continue for the limited purposes provided; and the remaining statutes should be permitted to lapse according to their terms.

These statutes are enumerated in Appendix E, which states the purpose for which each of these laws will be needed and lists the executive departments or agencies concerned.

HOUSE G.O.P. FIRM ON 6 BILLION CUT IN BUDGET FIGURE

Solidly Behind Slash, Party Leaders Report After Closed Meeting.

MILITARY FUNDS HIT

'We Intend to Take Waste Out of Defense,' Taber Declares.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19—(AP) House Republicans rallied solidly today behind a $6,000,000,000 budget slash carrying what its sponsors called "very substantial" cuts in Army-Navy funds.

The report on the closed meeting action came from party leaders, who said the word on Army-Navy cuts was coupled with assurance that nothing would be done to harm the nation's fighting strength.

Not a single Republican stayed in his chair, Rep. Bender (R-Ohio) told reporters, when they were called to a standing vote on the issue of trimming President Truman's $37,500,000,000 budget to $31,500,000,000.

None Favor Smaller Cut

And not a single speech was made in behalf of a smaller cut, Rep. Taber (R-NY) added.

Taber said he and Rep. Engel (R-Mich) told their colleagues that while "very substantial" military cuts are in the works, "we don't intend to hazard the national defense. We intend to take the waste out of defense."

The Taber-Engel argument was similar to one delivered on the senate floor by Senator Byrd (D-Va) who declared "there is not a man" in the armed forces who doesn't know first hand of senseless waste.

Senator Bridges (R-NH) likewise scoffed at those who see "imaginary harm" in the proposed $6,000,000,000 spending slash.

Theirs and other Senate speeches were set off by introduction of a compromise proposal by Senator Millikin (R-Colo) to hold the budget cut to $4,500,000,000.

Says Tax Cut More Important

Senator Taft (R-Ohio), declaring the nation is carrying a load of taxes nearly one-third the size of its total income, told the Senate "it is more important to cut taxes than even the national debt."

Taft estimated that a cut of $4,500,000,000 from the Presidential figure would enable Congress to reduce income taxes 20 per cent next July and leave $2,500,000,000 to apply on debt. This was based on an estimated excess of $6,000,000,000 in revenue over a spending figure of $33,000,000,000.

The national income is $165,000,000,000 and the tax burden, federal and otherwise, is about $50,000,000,000, Taft said. Thus, he illustrated, people are working one day for their government and two for themselves.

"We must take steps to cut taxes of all classes of citizens to a reasonable basis," Taft said. "If we should have only $3,500,000,000 to apply somewhere it should be applied all to taxes."

Aiken Urges Careful Study

On the other hand, Senator Aiken (R-Vt) said the Republican party "will not be serving the best interests of the nation if it tries to cut taxes indiscriminately, without carefully studied judgment."

"Of course we want to reduce taxes," Aiken said, "but more than all else we want to insure the future of our nation. That future is not secure so long as a debt of $260,000,000,000 hangs around our neck like a millstone."

In his maiden senate speech, Senator Kem (R-Mo) said he did not believe the proposed $6,000,000,000 cut goes as far as the people expect. Announcing his support of the big reduction, Kem said it is "simply not realistic" to say that the Army and Navy funds cannot be trimmed.

The House will vote tomorrow on the $6,000,000,000 reduction proposal, but the Senate put off at least until Friday a vote on the Millikin amendment to hold the cut to $4,500,000,000.

House Hears Name Calling

On the House side, the fight on how deep to knife Mr. Truman's budget exploded into name calling, with Rep. Owen (R-Ill) hurling the word "cowards" at G.O.P. senators who abandoned a $6,000,000,000 budgetary slash.

Wrangling centered on the question whether it is wise at this time to cut the funds the President has asked for the Army and Navy.

Byrd argued that the government can operate within a $31,500,000,000 budget if the pruning is done carefully. He said it could be revised upward later if this became necessary.

As for military appropriations, Byrd said he never had voted "to impair the national defense," but that he was going to vote to "make the armed services more efficient."

He declared "there is not a man" in the armed forces" who has not come in contact with waste and inefficiency." Wartime "extravagancy," he added, "must not be allowed to impair" the credit of the nation.

"We must balance the budget," the Virginia lawmaker added, "and we can do that only by reducing expenditures."

Byrd disagreed with what he called Navy contentions that a cut of even $500,000,000 in its budget would "immobilize" the Navy.

He said he could not go along with those who believe the budget recommendations of the armed services are "untouchable."

Bridges told his fellow senators they can cut federal spending until it "actually hurts" without risking the national security. He noted that Mr. Truman's budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1 calls for spending more money than in the year ending June 30, 1942, half of which was a war year.

THOUSANDS DIE IN MOLDAVIA

Famine Called 'Worst Catastrophe In 50 Years'

Washington, Feb. 19 (AP)—The "worst catastrophe in this part of Europe in the last 50 years" was reported by the American Red Cross tonight in a first-hand account of conditions in the famine-stricken Moldavia province of Romania.

The Red Cross arranged earlier this week to buy from the War Department 7,000 tons of food already en route to Europe, and divert it to the starvation area. The $3,500,000 shipment is expected in Constanza in about a week.

An arrangement for big-scale purchases of American grain by Romania, to be distributed under American supervision, also has been accepted by Romania.

Sigerest Made Survey

Fred G. Sigerest, American Red Cross representative at Bucharest, made the survey which the organization reported tonight, in a tour over the famine area supervising distribution of clothing and medical supplies.

"Thousands have already died in that slow, disease-ridden process which follows endless days without food," he said.

He told of a visit to the town of Bivolas where, he said, "great excitement" was caused by the arrival of his supply-laden Red Cross truck.

"The villagers gathered immediately," he reported, "including the mayor, town elders, priest, schoolteacher and village nurse. They helped select the most needy cases to receive the limited supply of clothing."

That Experience Typical

The experience was typical of what happened in other villages on the tour, the Red Cross representative cabled.

He attributed the famine to failure of crops in a two-year drought as well as loss of livestock and farm equipment during the war.

The only food available in some sections, Sigerest said, was a mush made from acorns and a tea brewed from acacia leaves.

The food shipments now on the way consist of 4,500 tons of 10-in-1 rations and 2,500 tons of beans. It is estimated to provide 1,000 calories a day for sixteen days for 500,000 persons. That is approximately the population of the stricken district.

Chinese Ask UNRRA For Food

Washington, Feb. 19 (AP)—China today asked UNRRA to help combat the economic and financial crisis gripping the Asiatic republic by shipping in consumer goods to break the rising price spiral.

In a move emanating from Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek and Premier T. V. Soong, the Chinese Government proposed that the relief agency turn a huge slice of its program for China from rural and industrial rehabilitation to food and clothing, especially wheat and cotton.

Maj. Gen. Lowell W. Rooks, UNRRA director general, said the Chinese move "would call for the shipment of approximately $200,000,000 worth of cotton and wheat to China instead of the durable goods items now included in the remaining China program."

To Consider Proposal

The UNRRA central committee, policy-making body of the agency, will consider the proposal soon, Rooks said.

"The thought underlying the proposal," the UNRRA chief explained, "is that the shipment and distribution of basic supplies of this character (wheat and cotton) would have a more immediate bolstering effect on the Chinese economy and the Chinese currency position than continuance of the UNRRA program as presently planned."

It is understood that the Chinese suggestion is that the wheat and cotton be sold in China under strict price regulation.

Proceeds For Relief

Should the change in the China program be permitted, Brooks said, proceeds of the sales would be used for further relief in China.

Other officials concerned with UNRRA's $500,000,000 China program indicated it is problematical whether any such sum as the Chinese suggested can be diverted to the consumer goods. These officials said most of the half billion either has been spent outright or has been contracted for and that only an estimated $50,000,000 may be available to carry out the Chinese suggestion.

Earlier, Admiral Charles M. Cooke, commander of United States naval forces in the western Pacific, flew to Washington and began a round of conferences which led to talk that naval forces, as well as Marines, may soon be pulling out of China.

Navy officials said only that the subject was "the changing situation in China."

Relief to Russia's Friends Is Denounced in House

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19 (AP).—Representative Charles W. Vursell, Republican, of Illinois, demanded today that the United States withhold "any further gifts" to nations under Soviet domination lest it help Stalin along "the road to dictatorship" of Europe.

In a House speech Representative Vursell said aid should be refused even if needed "to avert hunger."

He said the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration, to which the United States made the largest contribution, "went a long way toward helping to make Stalin the dictator of Europe," and Congress should make certain it doesn't help him further.

"Great sums poured out for relief by the American taxpayers have been diverted to build up dictatorial governments in Europe," he declared.

Representative Vursell said that the Russian government is "the beneficiary" of much of the U. N. R. R. A. relief extended to Poland, and Yugoslavia "has gone completelyl Communistic."

Citing the financial help given to these and "other satellite nations of Russia," Representative Vursell commented: "One wonders, aside from the pride of saving human lives from starvation, how much real good we have done in turning these human lives into hopeless political bondage."

In China, too, he said, "the Communistis, doubtless aided and abetted by Russia," have inflamed "great numbers" of the people "against our government after all we have done for them."

Radar to Track 95-Mile Sky Flight Of V-2 Rocket in Army Test Today

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19 — (AP) Watched by the cold eye of radar, a German V-2 rocket equipped with a color camera will be fired 95 miles into the skies over White Sands, N. M., tomorrow in an attempt to wrest new secrets from the upper air region.

The Army, still searching for two A.W.O.L. warheads which vanished from V-2s shot 114 miles into the ionosphere, announced that a new parachute system will be used to bring the nose-cap safely back to earth in tomorrow's experiment.

In early tests, using standard-type parachutes, the 'chutes burst and the one - ton warheads loaded with scientific instruments were shattered upon impact with the ground.

Tomorrow, two ribbon - type 'chutes first used by the Germans during World War II are counted on to insure a safe landing.

At the 500,000-foot apex of the rocket's flight, a "mortar" charge will blow off the instrument-container nose and release the first parachute with an eight-foot diameter. This is expected to slow down the warhead's descent until it falls to about 150,000 feet, or 28 miles up, whereupon a second larger 'chute 14 feet in diameter will open and permit a slow, safe drift to earth.

In addition, radar will be used to track the chute-guided warhead which is expected to drift as much as 60 miles from the firing grounds.

Besides eliminating the embarrassment of lost warheads, the latest in a series of tests is expected to disprove German reports that parachutes cannot be used successfully much above 25 miles. Captured German data indicates that Nazi scientists made a parachute recovery from 55,000 feet during the war, but their calculations ruled out anything above the 150,000-foot mark.

This will be the third test of its type.

NOTE READ TO RUSSIANS

Third State Department Broadcast Includes Marshall Text

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19 (AP)—The State Department broadcast to Russia today the text of Secretary Marshall's defense of Under-Secretary Dean Acheson's statement that Soviet foreign policy was "aggressive and expanding."

General Marshall's reply to Foreign Minister Molotov was the principal item in the third daily Russian-language broadcast to the Moscow-Leningrad area. It was read without comment.

Russian listeners also received a brief report on the new Soviet proposals in the United Nations Security Council to control atomic energy. Other items included Republican efforts to trim the Federal budget, the Altoona, Pa., train wreck, United States assistance to the famine-stricken Rumanian province of Moldavia and CIO-AFL merger proposals.

OPA WILL NOT FOLD AT ONCE

To Carry On Pending Final Action on Funds.

Washington, Feb. 19 (A. P.).—Price Administrator Max McCullough said today that the OPA'S rationing and price control activities will continue "uncurtailed" pending final congressional action on the House-approved $9,000,000 slash in the agency's funds. The House action provides reduction of that amount in funds already provided for the OPA.

McCullough maintains that if the Senate concurs and the reduction finally is made, all OPA activities will have to be abandoned, including enforcement of rent ceilings, sugar rationing and the few remaining price controls. He said the agency would continue operating "as usual" until the funds finally are ordered returned to the Treasury.

It appeared doubtful, however, that the Senate would act on the matter before Friday, thus putting the whole issue over for perhaps another week or longer. The cut cannot be made effective until passed by both Houses and signed by President Truman.

Recommended by the House Appropriations Committee, it went through as part of a $139,360,000 deficiency appropriation bill late yesterday.

Differ Over Funds.

The committee's formal report said the OPA still would have enough money left to discharge its full responsibilities under the law, wind up its affairs and turn over all necessary records to the archivist by June 30. Representative Taber (R.-N. Y.), the chairman, estimated the cut would leave the agency $18,000,000. But McCullough gave reporters a different picture at a news conference a little while later. He said:

The OPA's 1947 fiscal year appropriations totaled $101,000,000 and by February 15 it had spent or committed $83,439,000, leaving a $17,561,000 balance. The cut proposed by the House would reduce this to $8,561,000, but $7,555,974 of that amount already is earmarked to pay employees their final salaries and accumulated annual leave.

Affects Other Functions.

In addition to discontinuing control of rents, sugar supplies and prices of sugar, rice and sirup, he said, the OPA will have to stop:

1. Auditing Government subsidy claims from industrial alcohol producers.

2. Prosecution of old price control violations.

3. Enforcement of sales price limitations on homes built under the 1946 veterans emergency housing program.

McCullough declared that this would cost the Government much more money than taking back the $9,000,000 would save. He said that Government claims for penalties in price violation cases total $50,000,000 to $75,000,000 and there is every reason to believe recoveries will far exceed the amount of the House cut.

The audit of alcohol subsidy claims, he said, saves the Government millions—$4,000,000 last week in a single case.

SENATORS SPLIT ON LILIENTHAL

Confirmation Seen by Democratic Policy Committee Official.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19 — (AP) A Democratic policy committee official said tonight the Senate is presently inclined to confirm David E. Lilienthal as chairman of the Atomic Control commission, but Senator Wherry (R-Neb) said there is "grave doubt" about this.

The Democratic official, who declined to be quoted by name, said confidential information from senators who have not publicly stated their view points toward Senate approval of Lilienthal's nomination.

On the other hand, Wherry, the Republican whip, cited to a reporter the estimate by Senator McKellar (D-Tenn) that 15 Democrats will vote against confirmation. If that is approximately correct Wherry said, Lilienthal's chances are slim.

Thus far, 15 senators, including three Republicans, have announced publicly that they favor confirmation. Fourteen senators, including four Democrats, have said they are against.

Lilienthal's supporters meanwhile hailed a statement by Chairman Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) as an indication that the patience of Senate Atomic committee members is wearing thin under the protracted attacks McKellar has launched against the nominee.

Charges Waste of Money

Hickenlooper told the committee that he thought some of the witnesses who had been summoned "have been brought here at a complete waste of government money."

Later he told reporters he believes the committee will want to know, before it subpoenas any future witness, whether the individual involved has any "pertinent" testimony.

An Atomic scientist, Charles A. Thomas, told McKellar in today's hearing that his attitude against a world control plan would lead to "an atomic race" between the nations.

McKellar, demanding to know "why we should give away this secret," was told by Thomas that "we are not giving anything away" but getting "security for ourselves and stability for the world" if the proposed control system is setup.

Reds Admit Nazi Ships' Junking Is Delayed

Washington, Feb. 19 (AP)—State Department officials disclosed today that Russia has acknowledged "difficulties" in carrying out a Big Three agreement to destroy her share of damaged German warships.

Responding to American and British inquiries, Moscow voiced assurances, however, that steps were being taken to carry out her part of the bargain reached at the 1945 Potsdam conference.

Department officials said that both the United States and Britain have carried out their commitments to sink or otherwise destroy the damaged Nazi vessels allotted to them for the purpose.

Was Assigned Flattop

Topping the list of the captured vessels the Russians were to destroy was Germany's single aircraft carrier, the Graf Zeppelin. Whether it was among the craft whose destruction has met with "difficulties" was not revealed.

The Soviet acknowledgment of delay was received last December 6, but was made public today only in response to inquiries from a reporter. It was a memorandum to the tri-partite naval commission of the Allied Control Council for Germany.

The commission is composed of the senior naval officers in Germany of the Big Three powers.

Time Schedules Set Up

The Potsdam conference decided that surface vessels in operating condition or which could be repaired within six months should be divided equally among the three powers. Thirty U-boats were included in the division.

Other vessels were listed to be destroyed, assigned to the three powers and time schedules set up.

It was to determine whether the Russians were living up to the schedules that inquiries were made last fall.

Officials emphasized, however, that no one in a responsible position has suggested that the Soviets intended to repair the Graf Zeppelin or other ships for addition to their Baltic fleet.

Damaged By Bombs

The Graf, uncompleted and bomb damaged, was at the Baltic port of Stettin when the Red Army overran eastern Germany shortly before V-E day.

Work on the big vessel was started in 1936, when Hitler championed a powerful fleet to supplement his army and the Luftwaffe. But by the start of the war the Nazi naval effort had been diverted to building submarines.

Communists or sympathizers "hold positions of importance in Washington." It said "others occupy strategic positions in the military government abroad."

The committee urged congressal investigation of "the secret story of Yalta and Teheran" and the "influences which entered into such important decisions as the Potsdam agreement, the Argentine policy and the China policy."

Probe of Secret Pacts

Commenting on the report made public last night, Wiley, a member of the Foreign Relations committee, told a reporter:

"The committee should investigate all outstanding secret commitments and should make it absolutely clear to the State department that we will not countenance any secret agreements in the future.

"Any Communist element in the State department should be vigorously investigated and purged just as Communists in every other government department should be thrown off the payroll."

Agreeing, Senator Kem (R-Mo) said "the judgment of the American people on this question can be no better than its information. A complete investigation along this line is in order."

Senator Aiken (R-Vt) supported the investigation proposal but counseled a delayed approach.

"If we are going to really work out peace treaties with Germany and Japan this spring, there is a question whether any good could be accomplished by stirring up the situation right now," Aiken said. "The facts would be the same if the treaties were signed first."

The chamber report said "Communist party and Communist front meetings in Washington attract thousands, most of them federal employes. Secret Communist cells are continuously at work within the nation's capital."

Wiley Backs Proposal to Rid Federal Payrolls of Reds

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—(AP) Senator Wiley (R-Wis), today strongly seconded a U. S. Chamber of Commerce proposal that Congress (1) investigate American foreign policies which "appear to be more pro-Soviet than American" and (2) root out all Communists on federal payrolls.

The chamber's Committee on Socialism and Communism declared it has estimates that about 400

DURANT TRIAL IS ADJOURNED UNTIL MONDAY

Jewels Theft Prosecutor Tells Of Colonel's 'Sudden Enrichment'

Washington, Feb. 19 (AP)—Major Joseph Robinson, chief prosecutor in the $1,500,000 Hesse gem theft trial, told an army court-martial today that Col. Jack Durant experienced "sudden enrichment" as an army officer that enabled him to buy a new motor car in 1946 and make other expenditures despite a moderate bank account.

Durant is accused of participating in the theft of the Hesse royal jewels from Kronberg Castle in Germany, His wife, a former WAC captain, and a major already have been convicted.

Gold Wire In Fruit Jar

Major Robinson said records of Colonel Durant's bank account, introduced in the testimony, showed a fluctuating balance with the total consistently under $2,000.

Nevertheless, he said, the 37-year-old defendant was able to make lavish purchases.

Capt. Thomas R. Smith, Jr., Army investigator, testified that after speaking with Colonel Durant's brother, James, he recovered a ball of gold wire hidden in a quart fruit jar buried in suburban Virginia near James Durant's home.

The prosecution contends that the gold wire was obtained from melting down the settings of Hesse family heirlooms after precious gems had been removed. The fruit jar also contained $28,000 in cash.

Major Robinson said James Durant, who has fought against being injected into the case, would be called to the stand tomorrow.

Adjournment Until Monday

Subsequently, however, the court adjourned until Monday to permit court reporters to catch up in transcribing the voluminous record. Major Robinson said this would postpone James Durant's testimony until sometime next week.

"If he gets on the stand and doesn't tell the truth, then we can confront him with Captain Smith's testimony that he saw him sign a statement," Major Robinson told the court.

Captain Smith had previously testified that James Durant signed the statement after being questioned regarding the case. The content of the statement was not disclosed.

72,000 Harmonicas To Be Sold By U.S.

Washington, Feb. 19 (AP)—Fifty thousand tubes of Japanese confetti in rainbow colors and 72,000 Japanese harmonicas will go on Government sale here shortly after March 1.

And if any surrealists want to apply, they can snap up 10,000 slide rules at the same time to measure the effect of the potential merry-making.

The Government-owned United States Commercial Company, announcing the sale, said the harmonicas range in size from 10 to 24 hole and 20 to 48 reeds. They will be sold in lots of 100 dozen large size and 25 dozen small. The confetti goes in a single lot.

END OF DRAFT LAW ON MARCH 31 SEEN

Washington, Feb. 19 (A. P.).—Members of the House Armed Services Committee said today that conversations with military leaders have convinced them there will be no request for extension of the draft law. Instead, they said, the Army and Navy soon will launch an all out drive on Capitol Hill for universal military training.

The members were questioned after attending a second secret meeting with Army and Navy heads yesterday. The first session was held last week. The lawmakers predicted that President Truman soon will announce officially that no request will be made to extend the draft beyond its March 31 expiration date, although he may ask Congress to retain the selective service machinery just in case. There have been no induction calls since last October.

A checks of the committee membership indicates, however, that even with the draft law abandoned, universal training will have tough sledding unless it is put on a semi-voluntary basis.

U. S. Asks Clarification.

Washington, Feb. 19 (A. P.).—The United States has asked Great Britain for a clarification of Britain's plan to refer the Palestine problem to the United Nations, the State Department announced today.

Test Slated At 90 Miles In The Sky

White Sands, N.M., Feb. 19 (AP)—The Army will try to drop scientific instruments from a German V-2 rocket tomorrow at an altitude of more than 90 miles.

The test now is set for noon (E.S.T.) at the White Sands Army Proving Grounds.

The test will make use of a new parachute arrangement which operated successfully in bringing down a small "WAC Corporal" rocket from about one fifth the 500,000-foot altitude sought tomorrow.

Will Release Instruments

Scientific instruments in a container will be blasted from the rocket warhead at the peak of the flight.

A chute of eight feet diameter will operate until it reaches about 30 miles altitude. Another charge then blows away the upper section of the container, freeing a fourteen-foot parachute which will permit the instruments to drift to earth at less than the speed which a man falls with a standard parachute.

The parachute container, which it is estimated may drift 60 miles, will be tracked by radar.

SOVIET CRITICIZED

Easton, Pa., Feb. 19 (A. P.).—Dr. Ralph C. Hutchison, president of LaFayette College, says Russia has failed to raise the standard of living of its people because it sought to secure equality through distribution instead of production.

Hutchison, addressing the annual meeting of the Easton Board of Trade on "The Struggle for Equality," expressed the belief that human equality will come by "maintenance of our freedoms, by justice and intelligence and good will in industry and labor."

"It is my own belief that Russia's production of foodstuffs is probably one-fourth of what it was under their brutal and decadent capitalism," he declared.

Gen. Devers Reports On Trip To Alaska

Old Point Comfort, Va., Feb. 19 (AP)—Just back from an inspection of the Army's "operation frigid" in Alaska and "operation Williwaw" in the Aleutians, Gen. Jacob L. Devers, Army Ground Forces chief, has this to report:

Yankees get along better in the snow and supercold than Southerners.

Tires and cables and other items made of synthetic rubber "froze, cracked and flew to pieces like glass."

Weapons depending on gas for recoil do not work "at all," but light weapons with spring recoil function well at extremely low temperatures.

General Devers ran into mercury recordings as low as 56 degrees below zero on his twelve-day flying visit.

MINING OF STRAITS DENIED BY ALBANIA

Security Council Hears Answer To British Charges

Austrian reparations subject of clash in Deputy Foreign Ministers' Council .....Page 4

Lake Success, N.Y., Feb. 19 (AP)—Albania flatly disclaimed today any responsibility for laying mines in the Corfu Channel as charged by Great Britain and in turn accused British ships of violating her territorial waters.

Hysni Kapo, Albanian representative, appearing before the United Nations Security Council to answer an official complaint, said:

"I deny flatly and categorically the charges that have been made."

Charges Intimidation

Then countercharging the British with "flagrant violations" of Albanian waters, he said that Royal Navy warships entered the channel off the Albanian coast to provoke and intimidate his country. Kapo talked for nearly two hours in opposing the complaint.

Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet delegate, sprang to the defense of Albania and engaged in a sharp verbal exchange with Sir Alexander Cadogan, Great Britain's delegate.

The Security Council adjourned in the midst of the tussle and will resume discussion of the case Friday morning. Meanwhile, tomorrow the Council will resume debate on international control of atomic energy.

Referring to the British charges, Kapo said: "Albania's conscience is clear."

Says Mines Were Laid In War

He added that it was known to all nations that mines were laid during the war and many still were unswept. The British have contended the mines had been laid since the war ended.

Kapo declared that on October 22 four British warships entered Albanian waters in battle formation and that British planes flew over Albanian territory. He said these conditions constituted infringement of Albanian sovereignty.

The British had claimed that the ships were on routine maneuvers and were using an international channel.

Eduardo Zuleta Angel, of Colombia, said he would propose later that the Security Council refer the problem to the International Court of Justice for a legal opinion.

Writers Assured Visas

The United Nations press division said today it had assurances from Bulgaria and Yugoslavia that fourteen foreign correspondents would be granted visas for entry into those countries with the Security Council commission investigating Balkan frontier conditions.

In addition, said a report from Athens by Stanley Ryan, United Nations press officer accompanying the commission, visas will be granted "correspondents of the other countries directly concerned on a basis of reciprocity." The counties involved in the on-the-spot inquiry resulting from Greek charges of border conflict are Greece, Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Albania.

Arabs Consider Asking U.N. Aid In Holy Land

Lake Success, N.Y., Feb. 19 (AP)—Faris El-Khouri, Syrian representative to the Security Council, indicated today that the Arab states might carry the Palestine case to the United Nations before Great Britain can take such action.

The Damascus lawyer, who arrived in New York yesterday, said he would begin Palestine talks immediately with other United Nations delegates.

El-Khouri said some action must be taken immediately.

He criticized the British Government as being "to docile" in dealing with Palestine and declared that the British should "suppress immediately the Jews" in the Holy Land and stop immigration.

"If the Jews are allowed to continue immigration into Palestine," he said, "they will drive the Arabs out of the country. Immigration should stop completely.

"When the Crusaders came to Palestine many years ago they came under a religious flag. Now, the Jews are trying to do the same thing."

Freedom Only Solution

The Syrian said the only solution was to make the country an independent state where Jews and Arabs can live together under the same form of democratic government.

Meanwhile, the Council resumed its hearing on British charges that Albania has committed a "crime against humanity" by mining the Corfu Channel where two British destroyers were damaged with a loss of 44 seamen killed and 42 wounded last October 22.

Ban Atomic Warfare

Also before the Council was a series of Soviet proposals which would establish a separate world convention to outlaw atomic weapons and permit the use of the veto on the punishment of violators of control regulations.

As a first step, Russia proposes the immediate abolition of atomic energy for warlike purposes.

Next, she suggests that an effective system of control be established by separate convention "which must be administered within the framework of the Security Council."

Russia appeared to have accepted these principles:

1. That effective control depends on ruling out the production and use of atomic materials.

2. That an effective convention should provide for establishing a comprehensive system of international control. This system would include supervision and inspection to insure the fulfillment of the terms of the convention. It would protect complying states against the hazards of violations and evasions.

3. That an international control commission should be established, charged with powers and responsibility for effective administration of the atomic convention.

4. That the convention should, as the report now reads, afford the "duly accredited representatives of the international control agency unimpeded rights of ingress, egress and access for the performance of their inspections and other duties into, from and within the territory of every participating nation, unhindered by national or local authorities."

The last principle is considered important by the American delegation, which viewed Russia's acceptance as "perhaps highly significant."

Byron Price Appointed As United Nations Aide

Wartime Censorship Chief Said To Be Trygve Lie's Choice As Assistant Secretary General

Lake Success, N.Y., Feb. 19 (AP)—Byron Price, wartime director of censorship and former executive news editor of the Associated Press, was named today as assistant secretary general of the United Nations.

He succeeds John B. Hutson, who resigned recently as assistant to Trygve Lie, secretary general, in charge of United Nations administrative and financial services. The job pays $13,500, plus $8,500 expenses, all tax free.

To Wind Up Hollywood Job

The secretariat announced that Price would report here in about a month after winding up his affairs as vice president of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors Association, a position he took under Eric Johnston after making his final report on censorship to President Truman in December, 1945.

The appointment places him as the top-ranking United States representative in the secretariat. In the original setup of the secretariat the United States chose to have its allotted assistant secretary general post in the field of administrative and budgetary matters.

Chile elected to take the press post and Russia the big job in Security Council affairs. Other assistant secretaries general are from Great Britain, France, China, Czechoslovakia and the Netherlands.

Lie's Personal Choice

In the long list of candidates considered before Lie announced Price as his personal choice were Wilson Wyatt, former Federal housing administrator; Milton Eisenhower, president of Kansas State College, and Julius Holmes, former Assistant Secretary of State.

The Price appointment, although a distinct surprise to most United Nations delegations, presumably was cleared through the State Department as is customary with such appointments in the secretariat.

Applied Voluntary Principle

Price conferred with Lie here over the week end and then returned to Hollywood. The appointment is for four years, at the end of which Lie's current term as secretary general expires.

Shortly after Pearl Harbor, President Roosevelt took Price to Washington and made him the chief censor. In that post he applied the principle of voluntary censorship which was widely acclaimed and in a customary thankless role he not only escaped criticism generally but also won praise.

ATHENS, FEB. 19-(AP)-PRESS OFFICER STANLEY RYAN SAID TONIGHT THAT BULGARIAN AND YUGOSLAV REPRESENTATIVES HAD AGREED TO ADMIT TO THEIR COUNTRIES CORRESPONDENTS WHOSE NAMES WERE SUBMITTED BY THE BALKAN INVESTIGATING COMMISSION OF THE UNITED NATIONS WHEN THE COMMISSION DECIDES TO GO THERE.

ALBANIAN REPRESENTATIVES, HOWEVER, SAID THEY WOULD HAVE TO CONTACT THEIR GOVERNMENT AND EXPLAINED THAT IT WOULD TAKE AT LEAST FIVE DAYS TO A WEEK TO RECEIVE AN ANSWER BECAUSE OF POOR COMMUNICATIONS.

MOSCOW-FIRST ADD KUUSINEN (A116) XXX NEW TIMES).

IN THE FIRST SECTION, KUSSINEN SAID IT WAS WELL KNOWN THAT FOREIGN REACTIONARY CIRCLES MADE FREQUENT EFFORTS TO INTERFERE IN THE INTERNAL AFFAIRS OF THE "DEMOCRATIC GOVERNMENTS" OF EASTERN EUROPE LIBERATED BY THE SOVIET ARMY. HE CITED BRITISH AND AMERICAN NOTES TO POLAND ON THE RECENT ELECTIONS THERE AND DECLARED BRITISH AND AMERICAN MILITARY PLANES WERE PRESSED INTO DIPLOMATIC SERVICE ON TERRITORY OF YUGOSLAVIA WITH THE AIM OF FRIGHTENING THE POPULATION.

KUUSEN SAID "ALL THESE EFFORTS TO INTERFERE FROM OUTSIDE" WERE UNQUESTIONABLY DESIGNED TO APPLY DIRECT

KUUSINEN SAID "ALL THESE EFFORTS TO INTERFERE FROM OUTSIDE" WERE UNQUESTIONABLY DESIGNED TO APPLY DIRECT PRESSURE ON THE GOVERNMENTS OF POLAND, ROMANIA, BULGARIA, YUGOSLAVIA AND ALBANIA.

IN SECTION TWO, THE COMMENTATOR STATED THAT AMERICANS HAD DESIGNED PLANS FOR ORGANIZING A WORLD TRADING AND CURRENCY SYSTEM WHEREBY POWERFUL AMERICAN CAPITAL MIGHT BECOME THE MASTER OF INTERNATIONAL COMMERCE, GRADUALLY ACQUIRING CONTROL OF THE ECONOMY OF MOST COUNTRIES.

KUUSINEN DECLARED THAT AMERICAN BANKS AND TRUSTS, WHICH HE SAID MADE HUGE PROFITS FROM THE WAR, WERE TRYING TO USE SURPLUS CAPITAL BY TAKING ADVANTAGE OF THE STRAINED CIRCUMSTANCES OF CERTAIN EUROPEAN COUNTRIES.

AFTER QUOTING FROM A BRITISH-FRENCH AGREEMENT, THE COMMENTATOR SAID FRANCE HAD SACRIFIED HER FOREIGN TRADE TO THE CAPRICES OF "UNCONTROLLED PRIVATE CAPITALISTIC COMPETITION."

"THIS ALL, OF COURSE," HE WENT ON, "RENDERS DIFFICULT NOT ONLY THE MATURED TASK OF NATIONALIZING FRENCH TRUSTS AND CONCERNS, BUT ALL SUCCESSFUL PLANNING POLICY RESPECTING THE REHABILITATION AND RECONSTRUCTION OF FRANCE'S ECONOMY."

KUUSINEN CHARGED THAT GREAT BRITAIN BY HER POLICY IN GERMANY AND THE RUHR HAD VIRTUALLY PLACED FRANCE, BELGIUM AND HOLLAND ON A STARVATION COAL RATION. HE SAID ALSO THAT THE BRITISH AND CANADIAN "ALUMINUM TRUST" WAS OPPOSED TO THE NORWEGIAN GOVERNMENT DESIRE TO BROADEN THE METAL INDUSTRY.

KUUSINEN FURTHER CHARGED THAT ITALIAN ECONOMY WAS BEING SUBJUGATED TO THE INTERESTS OF BRITISH AND AMERICAN CAPITAL UNDER THE GUISE OF "ENCOURAGING THE REHABILITATION OF ITALY."

NANKING, FEB. 19-(AP)-TWO COMMUNIST ARMIES, THE NEW FOURTH AND THE EIGHTEENTH ROUTE, HAVE BEEN "UTTERLY DEFEATED" BY GOVERNMENT FORCES IN SOUTHERN SHANTUNG PROVINCES, MINISTER OF INFORMATION PENG HSUEH-PEI DECLARED TODAY.

PENG ANNOUNCED TO A PRESS CONFERENCE THAT THE RED ARMIES, UNDER GENERALS CHEN-YI AND LIU PO-CHENG, HAD PRACTICALLY "CEASED TO EXIST" VAS

GENERALS CHEN-YI AND LIU PO-CHENG, HAD PRACTICALLY "CEASED TO EXIST" AS THE RESULT OF THE GOVERNMENT VICTORIES, INCLUDING THE CAPTURE OF LINI SHANTUNG COMMUNIST CAPITAL.

REMNANTS OF THE DEFEATED FORCES ARE ATTEMPTING TO FLEE NORTHWARD ACROSS THE YELLOW RIVER, HE SAID.

PREVIOUS GOVERNMENT REPORTS FROM THE FIELD INDICATED THAT THE BULK OF THE COMMUNIST SHANTUNG ARMIES HAD MANAGED TO ESCAPE INTO HILLY COUNTRY WHERE MASS PURSUIT WOULD BE DIFFICULT IF NOT IMPOSSIBLE.

GOVERNMENT TROOPS WHICH PUSHED NORTHWARD OUT OF LINI AFTER THE RETREATING RED GARRISON WERE REPORTED TO HAVE REACHED CHUHSIEN, 35 MILES TO THE NORTH, AND YISHUI, 50 MILES NORTHEAST.

IN SOUTHWEST SHANTUNG, GOVERNMENT FIELD DISPATCHES REPORTED THE CAPTURE OF YIHSIEN, WHICH HAD FALLEN TO THE COMMUNISTS IN THEIR CAMPAIGN.

THE REGULATIONS REQUIRE SURRENDER OR DEPOSIT IN CHINA OF BANK DEPOSITS AND CREDITS, TELEGRAPHIC TRANSFERS, DEMAND, SIGHT AND TIME DRAFTS; CHECKS AND NOTES DUE WITHIN ONE YEAR, LETTERS OF CREDIT, BANK AND TRADE ACCEPTANCES, GOVERNMENT BONDS AND BILLS, TREASURY NOTES, SAVINGS CERTIFICATES OR OTHER OBLIGATIONS DUE WITHIN A YEAR, AND ANY OTHER NEGOTIABLE INSTRUMENTS DUE WITHIN A YEAR AND PAYABLE IN FOREIGN CURRENCY.

CHINESE WHO ARE BONAFIDE RESIDENTS OF FOREIGN COUNTRIES ARE EXEMPT FROM THE REGULATIONS.

PENG SAID THE GOVERNMENT DID NOT CONTEMPLATE THE SALE OF EITHER THE CHINESE DOMESTIC AIRLINES OR THE CHINA MERCHANTS STEAMSHIP COMPANY, WHICH CONTROLS MOST OF HE CHINESE FLAG SHIPPING, IN THE GOVERNMENT PROGRAM OF SELLING COMMERCIAL FIRMS TO PRIVATE CAPITAL.

A LIST FOR DISPOSAL UNDER THE NEW ECONOMIC PROGRAM IS BEING PREPARED BY THE EXECUTIVE YUAN, HE SAID.

NANKING, THURSDAY, FEB.20-(AP)-INFORMED SOURCES SAID TODAY CHINA HAD PROTESTED "INFORMALLY" TO THE INDIAN EMBASSY OVER AN INVITATION FROM JAWAHARLAL NEHRU TO TIBET TO SEND DELEGATES TO THE PAN-ASIATIC CONFERENCE AT DELHI MARCH 13.

THESE SOURCES SAID THE GOVERNMENT FELT THAT SINCE TIBET IS A PART OF CHINA'S SOVEREIGN TERRITORY, THE INDIAN LEADER HAD SHOWN DISRESPECT FOR THE INTEGRITY OF CHINE E TERRITORY.

THEY ADDED THAT THE CHINESE ELEGATION TO THE DELHI CONFERENCE WILL NOT DEPART FOR DELHI UNTIL THE GOVERNMENT'S NEGOTIATIONS WITH THE INDIAN EMBASSY ARE CONCLUDED.

PEIPING, FEB.19-(AP)-PEIPING POLICE ROUNDED UP MORE THAN 2,000 PERSONS, HOLDING 1,659 UNDER ARREST TODAY AS POLICE CHIEF TANG YUNG-HSIEN SPEEDED THE POLICE INVESTIGATION OF "UNDESIRABLE ELEMENTS."

SEARCH TEAMS NUMBERING NEARLY 8,000 MEN COMBED THE CITY, WHICH WAS DIVIDED INTO 12 ZONES.

CHIEF TANG DECLARED THE DRAGNET WAS ONLY TO INSURE THE SAFETY OF PEIPING RESIDENTS AGAINST "UNLAWFUL INDIVIDUALS," BUT IT WAS CLEAR THAT THE COMMUNIST ATTACK RECENTLY AT TUNGHSIEN, 13 MILES DISTANT, HAD AROUSED CONCERN ALTHOUGH CHIANG KAI-SHEK'S PEIPING OFFICE STATED THE ACTION DID NOT CONCERN THE COMMUNIST UNDERGROUND.

IF THE CHECK UP RESULTED IN DISCOVERY OF ANY RED "FIFTH COLUMN" IT WAS NOT DISCLOSED. THE ANNOUNCED YIELD INCLUDED 1,165 PERSONS WITH IMPROPER OR OBSCURE POLICE REGISTRATION, 43 FOR "SUSPECTED ACTIONS," 167 WITH UNACCOUNTED PAST HISTORY, AND 17 OPIUM LAW VIOLATORS.

MANY OF THOSE ARRESTED WERE RELEASED AFTER PAYING FINES AND UNDERGOING NEW REGISTRATION.

PEIPING, THURSDAY, FEB.20-(AP)-A CHINESE COMMUNIST OFFICIAL SAID TODAY THE GOVERNMENT HAD REFUSED TO ALLOW ANY COMMUNISTS TO REMAIN AT THE PEIPING UNITED NATIONS RELIEF AND REHABILITATION LIAISON OFFICE.

IN CONSEQUENCE, THE COMMUNISTS WILL PULL ALL THEIR PERSONNEL OUT OF PEIPING TOMORROW, MAKING IT ALMOST IMPOSSIBLE TO DISTRIBUTE BADLY-NEEDED RELIEF IN MANY PARTS OF NORTH CHINA, SAID THE OFFICIAL, HUANG HWA, FORMER CHIEF OF COMMUNIST PUBLIC RELATIONS AT EXECUTIVE HEADQUARTERS.

WITHOUT COMMUNIST LIAISON, HUANG ADDED, IT WILL BECOME DIFFICULT TO TRANSPORT RELIEF SUPPLIES INTO GOVERNMENT AS WELL AS COMMUNIST AREAS OF NORTH CHINA BECAUSE IT IS NECESSARY TO CROSS MUCH RED-HELD TERRITORY TO REACH SOME GOVERNMENT REGIONS.

HUANG SAID THE GOVERNMENT ALSO REFUSED TO PERMIT A COMMUNIST SPOKESMAN TO GO TO SHANGHAI FOR A CONFERENCE ON THE ORDER. COMMUNIST PERSONNEL WILL BE FLOWN TO YENAN, COMMUNIST CAPITAL.

COMMUNISTS HAD BEEN PREPARING TO LEAVE PEIPING AS A RESULT OF THE ABANDONMENT OF THE TRUCE HEADQUARTERS, BUT IT HAD BEEN PLANNED TO KEEP A LIAISON FORCE AT UNRRA.

IN THIS CONNECTION, A SPECIAL 28-CAR TRAIN CARRYING 44 AMERICANS AND 74 CHINESE FROM THE ABANDONED FIELD TRUCE OPERATIONS IN MANCHURIA ARRIVED YESTERDAY FROM CHANGCHUN, MANCHURIAN CAPITAL.

YOKOHAMA, Feb. 18---AP---Col. Edward J. Murray was held in the U.S. Eight h Army stockade today while the army pressed an inquiry into where he got $210,000 in diamonds he took home as 'souvenirs".

Ordered back to Japan by General MacArthur,, the former custodian of the Bank of Japan vaults reached here by plane from San Francisco last night and was hustled off to the stockage by military police.

Murray told reporters in San Francisco that after being taken into custody Feb. 5 that he obtained the diamonds from Japanese sources. He was not allowed to talk to newsmen here.

Army authorities restricted all statements on the inquiry to those issued by the public relations officer. It was reported reliably, however, that a check showed that none of the $2,679,000 in diamonds in the Bank of Japan vaults was missing.

Col. B. F. HOOD, Eighth Army Inspector General, said that the $210,000 worth of diamonds which Murray attempted to smuggle into the United States have been returned to Japan. The gems are technically in possession of U.S. Customs but will be held here until their origin is determined, he said.

OTTAWA, FEB. 19-(AP)-STUART BROWN, MANAGER OF THE TRANSPORTATION DEPARTMENT OF THE CANADIAN MANUFACTURERS' ASSOCIATION, PREDICTED TONIGHT THAT "QUITE A NUMBER OF INDUSTRIES" FEELING THE TRANSPORTATION PINCH THROUGH THE CURRENT SHORTAGE OF FREIGHT CARS WOULD APPEAL TO THE TRANSPORT CONTROLLERS SHORTLY FOR SPECIAL ALLOCATIONS SUCH AS HAS BEEN GIVEN THE NEWSPRINT INDUSTRY.

HE SAID THE FREIGHT CAR SHORTAGE WAS BEING FELT BY WEST COAST INDUSTRIES BUT THE SITUATION WAS MORE SERIOUS IN ONTARIO, QUEBEC AND THE MARITIMES THAN IN BRITISH COLUMBIA. IT AFFECTED PARTICULARLY THOSE INDUSTRIES WHICH FOUND IT NECESSARY THROUGH LACK OF STORAGE FACILITIES TO SHIP THEIR PRODUCTS IMMEDIATELY, BROWN ADDED.

THE RECENT ORDER EMPOWERING TRANSPORT CONTROLLER B.S.LIBERTY TO COMMANDEER BOX CARS TO TRANSPORT WHEAT AND FEED GRAINS FROM THE WEST COULD ONLY HAVE ONE EFFECT, HE SAID: A LOT OF INDUSTRIES "ARE GOING TO BE SHORTER STILL."

BROWN MENTIONED SPECIFICALLY CANNING INDUSTRIES, CAN MANUFACTURERS AND MOTOR CAR COMPANIES.

OTTAWA, FEB.18-(AP)-CHAIRMAN DONALD GORDON OF THE PRICES BOARD REPORTED TODAY THAT CANADA'S POST-WAR RECONVERSION WAS "PRACTICALLY FINISHED."

IN THE BOARD'S ANNUAL REPORT, PRESENTED TO THE HOUSE OF COMMONS BY FINANCE MINISTER DOUGLAS C.ABBOTT, GORDON SAID SUBSTANTIAL PROGRESS HAD BEEN MADE IN EXPANDING PEACETIME PRODUCTION.

"THOUGH THE IMPROVEMENT IN SUPPLIES WAS BELOW EXPECTATIONS," HE ADDED, "THE GAP BETWEEN THE HEAVY DEMAND AND THE FLOW OF SUPPLIES WAS NEVERTHELESS NARROWED IN MOST FIELDS AND EVEN REMOVED IN SOME.

"MOREOVER, TOWARD THE END OF THE YEAR, THE EXPANSION IN OUTPUT GAINED MOMENTUM, AND THE PRICE BOOM IN EXTERNAL MARKETS SHOWED SOME INDICATIONS OF PASSING ITS PEAK."

THUS CANADA HAS SUCCEEDED IN PRESERVING "ORDERLY CONDITIONS" AND IN PREVENTING "THE SORT OF VIOLENT UPSURGE IN PRICES WHICH OCCURRED IN MANY OTHER COUNTRIES," HE SAID.

WHILE THE PRICE LEVEL DID INCREASE DURING 1946, THE ADVANCE WAS REPORTED "GRADUAL AND OF COMPARATIVELY MODERATE PROPORTIONS."

FROM THE END OF THE WAR--IN AUGUST, 1945--TO THE CLOSE OF 1946, THE GENERAL LEVEL OF WHOLESALE PRICES ROSE APPROXIMATELY EIGHT PERCENT, AND THE COST-OF-LIVING INDEX ADVANCED BY LESS THAN SIX PERCENT.

IN THE UNITED STATES, DURING THE SAME PERIOD, WHOLESALE PRICES WERE REPORTED TO HAVE RISEN 32 PERCENT AND THE COST-OF-LIVING 19 PERCENT.

UP TO JUNE, 1946, PRICE TRENDS IN THE TWO COUNTRIES WERE "QUITE SIMILAR," BUT THEY DIVERGED SHARPLY AFTER THE ABANDONMENT OF CONTROLS IN THE UNITED STATES, THE REPORT SAID.

NAVY OFFICIALS SAID ONLY THAT THE SUBJECT WAS "THE CHANGING SITUATION IN CHINA."

U.S.WARSHIPS BASED AT TSINGTAO ORIGINALLY INCLUDED A LIGHT CARRIER, CRUISERS AND DESTROYERS. NANKING SOURCES SAID THEY WERE IN CHINESE WATERS AS PART OF THE OVERALL AMERICAN POLICY IN THE PACIFIC, RATHER THAN IN CONNECTION WITH U.S.EFFORTS TO MEDIATE CHINESE CIVIL WARFARE.

THE U.S. NOW HAS ABANDONED THESE EFFORTS AT MEDIATION BETWEEN THE WARRING COMMUNIST AND NATIONALIST FACTIONS OF CHINA. IT WAS ANNOUNCED JANUARY 29 THAT THE UNITED STATES WOULD BRING HOME THE MARINES AND THE FEW ARMY FORCES WHICH HAVE BEEN STATIONED IN CHINA.

WASHINGTON, FEB 19-(AP)-UNRRA ANNOUNCED TODAY THAT THE CHINESE GOVERNMENT HAS REQUESTED $200,000,000 WORTH OF WHEAT AND COTTON INSTEAD OF MACHINERY AND OTHER MATERIALS ORIGINALLY EARMARKED FOR THE RELIEF PROGRAM THERE.

MAJ.GEN.LOWELL W.ROOKS, DIRECTOR GENERAL OF UNITED NATIONS RELIEF AND REHABILITATION ADMINISTRATION, SAID THE CHINESE APPARENTLY CONTEMPLATED SELLING THE GRAIN AND COTTON IN AN EFFORT TO CRACK BLACK MARKET PRICES IN THAT COUNTRY.

"THERE IS NOTHING IN THE PROPOSAL WHICH WOULD CONTEMPLATE OR PERMIT SALES IN THE BLACK OR ANY OTHER IRREGULAR CHANNELS," ROOKS SAID IN A STATEMENT, ADDING:

"THE THOUGHT UNDERLYING THE PROPOSAL IS THAT THE SHIPMENT AND DISTRIBUTION OF BASIC SUPPLIES OF THIS CHARACTER WOULD HAVE A MORE IMMEDIATE BOLSTERING EFFECT ON THE CHINESE ECONOMY AND THE CHINESE CURRENCY POSITION THAN CONTINUANCE OF THE UNRRA PROGRAM AS PRESENTLY PLANNED."

ROOKS SAID THE PROPOSAL IS STILL IN THE DISCUSSION STAGE AND WILL BE TAKEN UP WITH THE UNRRA CENTRAL COMMITTEE AT A MEETING TO BE HELD SHORTLY.

HE ADDED THAT THERE "IS IMPLIED IN THE PROPOSAL THAT UNRRA SHOULD AGREE TO SALE OF FOOD IN THE FREE MARKETS." THIS, HE SAID, UNRRA HAD REFUSED TO SANCTION PREVIOUSLY BECAUSE OF A LACK OF ADEQUATE PRICE AND RATIONING CONTROLS.

THUS FAR, ROOKS EXPLAINED, UNRRA FOOD SHIPMENTS HAVE BEEN DISTRIBUTED FREE TO INDIGENTS OR TO EMPLOYES ON UNRRA SPONSORED RELIEF PROJECTS.

FROM OTHER SOURCES, IT WAS LEARNED THAT THE CHINESE APPARENTLY CONTEMPLATE SETTING UP A FIXED SCALE OF PRICES ON THE GRAIN AND COTTON IN THE LAPSE OF PULLING DOWN INFLATED BLACK MARKET RATESKK.

SUGAR (280)

WASHINGTON, FEB.19-(AP)-REP.WILLIAM C.COLE (R-MO) PROTESTED TO SECRETARY OF AGRICULTURE ANDERSON TODAY AGAINST ANY "SECRET" ALLOCATION OF AMERICAN-OWNED SUGAR TO 30 OTHER NATIONS.

COLE'S PROTEST CAME AS A COMMITTEE OF THE INTERNATIONAL EMERGENCY FOOD COUNCIL, MEETING BEHIND CLOSED DOORS, WORKED OUT FINAL DETAILS OF 1947 SUGAR ALLOCATIONS. THESE ALLOCATIONS DIVIDE THE WORLD'S EXPORT SUPPLIES AMONG NATIONS DEPENDING UPON IMPORTS.

THE COMMITTEE REPORTED THAT A DECISIOON PROBABLY WILL BE ANNOUNCED FRIDAY. LAST YEAR AMERICANS CONSUMED 73 POUNDS PER CAPITA. FOR 1947, THE UNITED STATES HAS REQUESTED SUFFICIENT IMPORT SUPPLIES TO ALLOW ABOUT 95 POUNDS PER CAPITA.

THE FOOD COUNCIL IS AN INTER-GOVERNMENTAL AGENCY CHARGED WITH DIVIDING FOODS IN SHORT SUPPLY.

IN A TELEGRAM TO SECRETARY ANDERSON, COLE "URGENTLY REQUESTED" THAT A MINIMUM OF 3,300,000 SHORT TONS OF AMERICAN-OWNED SUGAR BE RETAINED FOR THE USE OF AMERICAN PEOPLE IN 1947.

COLE SAID HE HAD BEEN ADVISED THAT "YOU ARE MEETING IN SECRET SESSION TODAY" WITH THE INTERNATIONAL COUNCIL "TO DIVIDE AMERICAN-OWNED SUGAR SUPPLIES AMONG MORE THAN 30 COUNTRIES."

"I WISH TO KNOW BY WHAT AUTHORITY YOU ARE ALLOCATING AMERICAN-OWNED SUGAR TO OTHER COUNTRIES. I WISH TO PROTEST STRONGLY AGAINST THIS ALLOCATION.

"I ALSO WOULD LIKE TO KNOW BY WHAT AUTHORITY THIS DIVISION OF SUGAR IS KEPT SECRET AND WISH TO PROTEST STRONGLY SUCH SECRECY."

COLE ASSERTED THAT "HUGE QUANTITIES" OF FOOD ARE GOING TO WASTE IN AMERICAN HOMES BECAUSE U.S. HOUSEWIVES LACK THE SUGAR TO PRESERVE THEM.

WASHINGTON, FEB 19-(AP)-THE STATE DEPARTMENT PUT A "FINISHED BUSINESS" LABEL TODAY ON AN EXCHANGE OF DIPLOMATIC NOTES WITH RUSSIA IN WHICH SECRETARY MARSHALL FIRMLY REJECTED A SOVIET PROTEST OVER REMARKS OF UNDERSECRETARY ACHESON.

MARSHALL'S REPLY TO THE RUSSIAN CONTENTION THAT ACHESON'S REMARKS TO A SENATE COMMITTEE WERE "SLANDEROUS AND HOSTILE" WAS HANDED TO FOREIGN MINISTER MOLOTOV IN MOSCOW YESTERDAY.

STATE DEPARTMENT OFFICIALS SAID THAT SO FAR AS THIS GOVERNMENT IS CONCERNED THE INCIDENT NOW IS CLOSED UNLESS RUSSIA DESIRES TO RENEW THE PROTEST.

MARSHALL TOLD MOLOTOV THAT ACHESON, IN TELLING THE SENATE ATOMIC COMMITTEE THAT RUSSIA'S FOREIGN POLICY IS "AGGRESSIVE AND EXPANDING" WAS SPEAKING IN "THE LINE OF DUTY."

HE REMINDED THE RUSSIAN FOREIGN MINISTER THAT UNDER THIS COUNTRY'S SYSTEM OF GOVERNMENT AN EXECUTIVE OFFICIAL CALLED BEFORE A LEGISLATIVE COMMITTEE IS REQUIRED TO ANSWER RELEVANT QUESTIONS FRANKLY AND THAT THEREFORE ACHESON'S CONDUCT COULD NOT BE "DESRIBED AS INADMISSIBLE."

"YOU CHARACTERIZE THE CONTENT OF HIS STATEMENT AS A RUDE SLANDER AND HOSTILE TO THE SOVIET UNION. UNDER OUR STANDARDS, A RESTRAINED COMMENT ON A QUESTION OF PUBLIC POLICY IS NOT A SLANDER.

"THEREFORE, I KNOW THAT ON SECOND THOUGHT YOU WILL NOT ATTRIBUTE HOSTILITY TO FRANKNESS."

U.N.

BY JOHN A. PARRIS, JR.

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., FEB. 19-(AP)-RUSSIA SET OUT TODAY TO TAKE THE TEETH OUT OF THE AMERICAN PLAN FOR INTERNATIONAL CONTROL OF ATOMIC ENERGY.

BEFORE THE MEMBERS OF THE U.N. SECURITY COUNCIL WAS A SERIES OF SOVIET PROPOSALS WHICH, IF ADOPTED, WOULD ESTABLISH A SEPARATE WORLD CONVENTION TO OUTLAW ATOMIC WEAPONS AND PERMIT THE USE OF THE VETO ON PUNISHMENT OF VIOLATORS OF CONTROL REGULATIONS.

MEANWHILE, THE COUNCIL RESUMED ITS HEARING OF BRITISH CHARGES THAT ALBANIA HAS COMMITTED A "CRIME AGAINST HUMANITY" BY MINING THE CORFU CHANNEL WHERE TWO BRITISH DESTROYERS WERE DAMAGED WITH A LOSS OF 44 BRITISH SEAMEN KILLED AND 42 WOUNDED LAST OCT. 22.

FOR THE FIRST TIME, COUNCIL MEMBERS WERE CONFRONTED WITH RUSSIAN PROPOSALS ON ATOMIC ENERGY CONTROL. THE RUSSIANS DECLINED TO MAKE PROPOSALS IN THE ATOMIC ENERGY COMMISSION, WHOSE REPORT IS NOW BEFORE THE COUNCIL FOR DISCUSSION AND APPROVAL.

SOVIET DELEGATE ANDREI A. GROMYKO SUBMITTED 13 PROPOSALS ON THE ATOMIC QUESTION TO THE COUNCIL YESTERDAY.

THESE WILL BE DISCUSSED IN GENERAL DEBATE BY THE COUNCIL TOMORROW.

IN EFFECT, THE SOVIET PROPOSALS, IF ADOPTED, WOULD TEAR OUT OF THE REPORT THE HEART OF THE ATOMIC CONTROL PLAN ADVOCATED BY THE UNITED STATES.

AS A FIRST STEP TOWARD INTERNATIONAL CONTROL OF ATOMIC ENERGY, RUSSIA PROPOSES THE IMMEDIATE ABOLITION OF ATOMIC ENERGY FOR WARLIKE PURPOSES.

AS THE NEXT STEP, SHE SUGGESTS THAT AN EFFECTIVE SYSTEM OF CONTROL BE ESTABLISHED BY SEPARATE CONVENTION "WHICH MUST BE ADMINISTERED WITHIN THE FRAMEWORK OF THE SECURITY COUNCIL."

THIS WOULD LEAVE THE VETO PRIVILEGE IN THE COUNCIL UNDISTURBED AND WOULD RUN AGAINST THE SOLID U.S. POSITION THAT NO VETO SHOULD APPLY ANYWHERE ON ATOMIC MATTERS.

THIS CONVENTION, GROMYKO PROPOSED, WOULD ESTABLISH AN INTERNATIONAL CONTROL COMMISSION WHICH WOULD CARRY OUT THE DAY-TO-DAY DUTIES INVOLVED IN INTERNATIONAL CONTROL.

INSPECTION AND CONTROL ORGANS UNDER THIS COMMISSION WOULD MAKE DECISIONS BY MAJORITY RULES AND THE VETO POWER WOULD NOT APPLY TO THEM. THEIR WORK, HOWEVER, WOULD BE SUBJECT TO REVIEW BY THE SECURITY COUNCIL.

A14

HOWEVER, RUSSIA APPEARED TO MAKE SOME CONCESSIONS. A REVIEW OF THE SOVIET PROPOSALS INDICATED THAT MOSCOW HAD ACCEPTED SOME PARTS OF THE U.S. PLAN, THUS NARROWING DOWN THE AREA OF DISAGREEMENT ALTHOUGH THERE STILL REMAINS DISAGREEMENT ON THE MAIN POINTS.

ON THE CONSTRUCTIVE SIDE, RUSSIA APPEARED TO HAVE ACCEPTED THESE PRINCIPLES:

1. THAT EFFECTIVE CONTROL OF ATOMIC ENERGY DEPENDS ON RULING OUT PRODUCTION AND USE OF ATOMIC MATERIALS.

2. THAT AN EFFECTIVE CONVENTION SHOULD PROVIDE FOR ESTABLISHING A COMPREHENSIVE SYSTEM OF INTERNATIONAL CONTROL. THIS SYSTEM WOULD INCLUDE SUPERVISION AND INSPECTION TO INSURE THE FULFILLMENT OF THE TERMS OF THE CONVENTION. IT WOULD PROTECT COMPLYING STATES AGAINST THE HAZARDS OF VIOLATIONS AND EVASIONS.

3. THAT AN INTERNATIONAL CONTROL COMMISSION SHOULD BE ESTABLISHED, CHARGED WITH POWERS AND RESPONSIBILITY FOR EFFECTIVE ADMINISTRATION OF THE ATOMIC CONVENTION.

4. THAT THE CONVENTION SHOULD, AS THE REPORT NOW READS, AFFORD THE "DULY ACCREDITED REPRESENTATIVES OF THE INTERNATIONAL CONTROL AGENCY UNIMPEDED RIGHTS OF INGRESS, EGRESS AND ACCESS FOR THE PERFORMANCE OF THEIR INSPECTIONS AND OTHER DUTIES INTO, FROM AND WITHIN THE TERRITORY OF EVERY PARTICIPATING NATION, UNHINDERED BY NATIONAL OR LOCAL AUTHORITIES."

THIS LAST PRINCIPLE IS CONSIDERED IMPORTANT BY THE AMERICAN DELEGATION, WHICH CONSIDERED RUSSIA'S ACCEPTANCE "PERHAPS HIGHLY SIGNIFICANT."

MEANWHILE, POLAND LINED UP WITH RUSSIA IN A CALL FOR AN INTERNATIONAL CONVENTION PROHIBITING THE PRODUCTION OF ATOMIC AND OTHER WEAPONS OF MASS DESTRUCTION.

POLAND AND RUSSIA ABSTAINED FROM VOTING WHEN THE ATOMIC COMMISSION APPROVED ITS REPORT BY A 10 TO 0 VOTE LAST DECEMBER.

THE UNITED STATES HAS INSISTED THAT ITS CONTROL PLAN, WRAPPED UP IN THE ATOMIC COMMISSION'S REPORT, CARRIED THE CONDITIONS ON WHICH IT WOULD SURRENDER THE ATOMIC BOMB SECRETS TO INTERNATIONAL CONTROL.

NEW YORK,FEB.19-(AP)-AFL PRESIDENT WILLIAM GREEN SAID TONIGHT THE UNITED NATIONS HAD FAILED REPEATEDLY "TO COPE WITH THE POSTWAR HUMAN PROBLEMS," AND CONTENDED THAT THE "REFUGEE JEWS OF EUROPE ARE WORSE OFF NOW THAN BEFORE HITLER'S DEFEAT."

NEW YORK,FEB.19-(AP)-VISCOUNT KEMSLEY, CHAIRMAN OF THE BRITISH NEWSPAPER CHAIN, KEMSLEY NEWSPAPERS, LTD., OF LONDON, SAID TODAY IN AN ADDRESS THAT DESPITE "SNOW OR THE LABOR GOVERNMENT, BRITAIN WILL WIN THROUGH."

VISCOUNT KEMSLEY, REFERRING TO BRITAIN'S PRESENT INDUSTRIAL CRISIS, TOLD THE ADVERTISING CLUB OF NEW YORK THAT THE PRESENT BRITISH GOVERNMENT WAS NOT THE REGIME OF HIS CHOICE, BUT ADDED, "I MUST BE FAIR AND SAY THAT I DO NOT BLAME THEM FOR OUR HEAVY SNOWFALL."

"IF THE LABOR GOVERNMENT HAD NOT CONCENTRATED ON NATIONALIZATION, HE SAID, "AND HAD CONCENTRATED ON COAL, FOOD AND EMPLOYMENT X X X THEY COULD DO ANYTHING THEY WANTED AFTER THAT."

NEW YORK, FEB. 19-(AP)-MRS. ELEANOR ROOSEVELT SAID TODAY THE UNITED STATES WOULD LOSE WORLD PRESTIGE IF IT FAILED TO DO ITS SHARE IN RELIEF WORK, AND SHE CALLED FOR ADMISSION OF REFUGEES "UP TO THE LIMIT OF OUR QUOTAS, WHICH HAVE NOT BEEN FILLED DURING THE PAST YEAR."

MRS.ROOSEVELT ADDRESSED APPROXIMATELY 2,000 WOMEN AT THE INAUGURAL RALLY OF THE WOMEN'S DIVISION OF THE UNITED JEWISH APPEAL OF GREATER NEW YORK.

DISCUSSING THE INTERNATIONAL REFUGEE ORGANIZATION ESTABLISHED BY THE UNITED NATIONS, SHE DEFENDED THE COMMITMENT OF THE UNITED STATES TO PROVIDE "A GOOD PART" OF THE IRO FUNDS.

THE HIGH PERCENTAGE ASKED OF THE UNITED STATES WAS BASED "ON A SURVEY OF THE ABILITY OF THE NATIONS TO PAY, XXXX AND WE ARE THE PEOPLE WHO HAVE MORE LEFT AFTER THIS PAST WAR THAN THE PEOPLES OF EUROPE OR OF ASIA," SHE SAID.

"I THINK WE REALLY IN OUR HEARTS SHOULD SAY 'THANKS' FOR THE POWER THAT SHIELDED US FROM THE DEVASTATING THINGS THAT HAPPENED TO OTHER PEOPLE THROUGHOUT SUCH A GREAT PART OF THE WORLD,'" MRS. ROOSEVELT ADDED.

(ADVANCE) NEW YORK, FEB.19-(AP)-THE NEW REPUBLIC, IN AN ARTICLE BY WILLIAM R.MIZELLE, SAYS TODAY THAT WERNER HEISENBERG, WHOM HE IDENTIFIED AS A WORLD-FAMOUS GERMAN ATOM-SPLITTER, IS GOING TO ARGENTINA TO HEAD A PROJECT TO PRODUCE ATOM BOMBS.

HEISENBERG IS WORLD-FAMOUS, BUT NOT FOR ATOM-SPLITTING. HIS ACHIEVEMENT WAS THE UNCERTAINTY PRINCIPLE FOR WHICH HE RECEIVED THE NOBEL PRIZE. BUT DESPITE THE FACT THAT ATOM-SPLITTING HAS NOT BEEN HIS ACHIEVEMENT, HEISENBERG IS AS WELL QUALIFIED AS ANY OTHER SCIENTIST IN THE WORLD FOR THE ARGENTINE PROJECT.

MIZELLE, A BUENOS AIRES CORRESPONDENT WRITES: "COUPLED WITH THE RECENT DISCOVERY OF A RICH URANIUM DEPOSIT IN THE PROVINCE OF MENDOZA, ARGENTINA'S DETERMINED ATOMIC ADVENTURE AND ITS FRANKLY MILITARY PURPOSE CANNOT BE DISMISSED AS THE IMPRACTICAL DREAM OF A SMALL NATION. SHE HAS THE MATERIALS AND THE MONEY, AND SHE HAS MADE THE PROVISIONS TO GET THE MEN WITH THE NECESSARY SCIENTIFIC AND TECHNICAL KNOWN-HOW TO DO THE JOB."

THE WRITER SAYS IT WILL TAKE ARGENTINA AT LEAST TWO YEARS TO PRODUCE PRACTICAL QUANTITIES OF FISSIONABLE MATERIALS AND TURN THEM INTO ATOMIC BOMBS.

TWO YEARS IS THE SHORTEST PERIOD THAT AMERICAN SCIENTISTS HAVE MENTIONED AS A POSSIBILITY FOR A FOREIGN NATION PRODUCING ITS OWN ATOMIC BOMBS. MOST ESTIMATES RUN LONGER. THERE HAS BEEN NOTHING IN THE RELEASED FACTS ABOUT THE AMERICAN BOMBS TO INDICATE THAT THE JOB WOULD BE IMPOSSIBLE IN ARGENTINA. PROBABLY THE ONLY QUESTION THAT WOULD BE RAISED IS ABOUT THE TWO-YEAR ACHIEVEMENT.

MIZELLE SAYS THAT GUIDO BECK, CZECHOSLOVAKIAN ASTRO-PHYSICIST, IS ALREADY WORKING FOR THE ARGENTINE GOVERNMENT ON THIS PROJECT. HE SAYS THAT BECK WAS AN ASSOCIATE OF HEISENBERG, AND OF THE LATE LORD ERNEST RUTHERFORD OF ENGLAND AND NIELS BOHR OF COPENHAGEN. THE TWO LATTER ARE AMONG THE PRINCIPAL FIGURES IN THE DEVELOPMENT OF NUCLEAR KNOWLEDGE THAT LED TO DISCOVERY OF THE URANIUM EXPLOSION.

LONDON,FEB.19-(AP)-BRITAIN IS PREPARING TO RESHAPE ITS ENTIRE POSTWAR ECONOMIC, INDUSTRIAL AND FINANCIAL RECOVERY PROGRAM--WITHOUT ABANDONING ITS SOCIALIZATION PLANS--AS A RESULT OF THE IMPACT OF THE WANING FUEL CRISIS, A GOVERNMENT SPOKESMAN SAID TODAY.

SPADEWORK WILL BE LEFT TO THE BOARD OF TRADE, WHOSE EXPERTS ARE CONSIDERED BEST PREPARED TO ASSESS CRISIS EFFECTS BECAUSE OF THEIR CLOSE CONCERN WITH DOMESTIC AND FOREIGN TRADE AND PRODUCTION.

AS SOON AS THEIR FINDINGS ON PRODUCTION LOSSES ARE AVAILABLE, THE CABINET WILL REVISE THE NATION'S RECOVERY PROGRAM, THE INFORMANT SAID.

REDUCED PRODUCTION OF MACHINERY, HOUSING CONSTRUCTION ELEMENTS AND CONSUMER GOODS IN TURN WILL IMPOSE A HEAVIER DRAIN ON BRITAIN'S DWINDLING DOLLAR RESOURCES.

THE SPOKESMAN SAID IT BROUGHT NEARER THE TIME WHEN EXPORTS "SIMPLY MUST" PAY FOR IMPORTS.

BRITAIN, HE WENT ON, HAS PLANNED TO END PURCHASES OF FOOD AND CONSUMER GOODS IN THE UNITED STATES BY THE END OF 1948, IN THE HOPE THAT ITS EXPORT DRIVE WOULD HAVE REACHED ITS TARGET BY THEN.

"THE PROBLEM IS BEING FACED NOW OF HOW WE CAN REBUILD OUR EXPORT TRADE IN THE REDUCED TIME AVAILABLE--WITHOUT HAVING RECOURSE TO THE 'SAFETY VALVE' CLAUSES IN THE AMERICAN LOAN," HE ADDED.

BRITAIN MIGHT ASK THE INTERNATIONAL BANK FOR A LOAN TO COVER UNBALANCED TRADE, HE CONTINUED.

THE NECESSARY--"GREATER NOW THAN EVER BEFORE"--TO CONSERVE DOLLARS WOULD PROBABLY CUT DOWN IMPORTS OF U S FILMS AND OTHER "LUXURY LINES," THE SPOKESMAN DECLARED AND ADDED IT WAS THIS NEED TO SAVE DOLLARS THAT MADE THE IMPORTATION OF U S COAL "UNLIKELY" EVEN IF THE COUNTRY'S COAL SITUATION DETERIORATED STILL FURTHER.

THE BASIS OF BRITAIN'S PREDICAMENT, THE SPOKESMAN SAID, IS THAT THE COUNTRY'S ELECTRICITY GENERATING RESOURCES ARE INSUFFICIENT.

THERE HAS BEEN LITTLE OR NO INCREASE IN PLANT AND EQUIPMENT SINCE 1938 AND DEMANDS HAVE NEARLY DOUBLED.

THE COUNTRY'S RECOVERY PROGRAM DEMANDED EQUIPMENT CAPABLE OF SUPPORT

ING A MINIMUM PEAK LOAD OF TWO AND ONE HALF TIMES 1938 OUTPUT BUT THERE IS NO PROSPECT OF OBTAINING THE ADDITIONAL PLANT IN LESS THAN THREE OR FOUR YEARS.

THE SPOKESMAN SAID UNSUCCESSFUL EFFORTS HAVE BEEN MADE TO PURCHASE NEW GENERATORS FROM THE UNITED STATES.

THE SPOKESMAN SAID THE CABINET HAD DECIDED IN PRINCIPLE ON THESE IMMEDIATE PRACTICAL MEASURES TO MEET THE SITUATION:

INDUSTRIES WILL HAVE THEIR HOURS STAGGERED TO SPREAD THE LOAD MORE EVENLY OVER A 24-HOUR PERIOD.

PRIORITY GO-AHEAD WILL BE GIVEN TO ALL MANUFACTURERS OF GENERATING EQUIPMENT.

DOMESTIC CONSUMPTION WILL BE KEPT CURTAILED AT PEAK PERIODS FOR AS LONG AS POSSIBLE.

FOREIGN LABOR WILL BE BROUGHT TO BRITAIN FOR COAL AND OTHER INDUSTRIES. TEXTILES--A MAJOR EXPORT--ARE LIKELY TO BENEFIT MOSTLY FROM FOREIGN LABOR, HE SAID, BECAUSE SO MANY JOBS COULD BE DONE BY WOMEN WORKERS, LARGE NUMBERS OF WHOM ARE AVAILABLE AMONG EUROPE'S DISPLACED PERSONS.

THE GOVERNMENT EXPECTS FULL TRADE UNION ENDORSEMENT OF ITS FOREIGN LABOR IMPORT POLICY BECAUSE IT IS WILLING TO ACCEDE TO UNION DEMANDS FOR "ADEQUATE SAFEGUARDS" THAT LIVING STANDARDS IN SPECIFIC INDUSTRIES WOULD BE ASSURED.

Britain To End Rule Of India By June, '48—Names Viceroy

London, Feb. 20 (AP)—The British today for the first time set a definite date—June, 1948—for getting out of India and designated a great grandson of the first empress of India to liquidate almost 200 years of rule over that rich subcontinent of 400,000,000 people.

Prime Minister Attlee, in a historic statement to a House of Commons listening in strained silence, indicated that unless quarreling Moslems and Hindus resolve their differences over writing a central charter for Indian independence by next year's deadline the British may turn control over to provincial governments. WM. B. KING

Mountbatten To Be Viceroy

Attlee announced the appointment of Admiral Lord Mountbatten, whose mother was a granddaughter of Queen Victoria, to succeed Field Marshal Lord Wavell as Viceroy in March. Despite continued prodding by the opposition leader, Winston Churchill, and cries of "Answer!" from Conservative benches, Attlee refused to explain why Wavell was being recalled.

An informed source said the "whole purpose" of Attlee's statement was to "produce agreement" between Moslems and Hindus, who have refused to work together in drafting a constitution for independence.

The specific date was set, the source added, because "so long as British control continues on an indefinite basis, prospects of encouraging Indian parties to come together is prejudiced."

Fraught With Danger

Attlee voiced the desire of the British to turn over the reins of government in India to authorities established by a constitution approved by all parties in accord with the British Cabinet mission plan of last year, but added "there is at present no clear prospect that such a constitution and such authorities will emerge."

"The present state of uncertainty is fraught with danger and cannot definitely be prolonged," he said. "His Majesty's Government wish to make it clear that it is their definite intention to take the necessary steps to effect the transference of power into responsible Indian hands by a date not later than June, 1948."

Fully Representative

Attlee declared that unless a "fully representative" assembly works out a constitution by next year's deadline "his Majesty's Government will have to consider to whom the powers of the central government for British India should be handed over on the due date, whether as a whole to some form of central government for British India, or in some areas to the existing provincial governments, or in such other way as may seem most reasonable and in the best interests of the Indian people."

Members of the House of Commons listened silently while Attlee delivered his 1,150-word statement. The quiet was broken only when Churchill demanded an explanation of the recall of Wavell, appointed during Churchill's premiership.

"Surely," said Churchill, "the Prime Minister did not wake up one morning and say, 'Oh, let us get another viceroy.' There must be some reason behind this momentous event."

Attlee would say only that Wavell's appointment was a temporary wartime assignment and that this seemed a suitable time to make a change.

In the House of Lords Viscount Cranborne, leader of the opposition, expressed "profound shock" and said the statement "appears to be a reversal of all previous statements of the Government" in that "it provides no safeguards for minorities."

Distributed As White Paper

Attlee in his statement, which was distributed also as a White Paper, made clear that the British did not now intend to hand over powers and obligations of the some 600 princely states to any government of British India. He said that intention was made clear in the Cabinet mission plan and added:

"It is not intended to bring paramountcy as a system, to a conclusion earlier than the date of the final transfer of power, but it is contemplated that for the intervening period the relations of the Crown with the individual states may be adjusted by agreement."

The princely states, comprising an area of more than 700,000 square miles, almost half the total of India, are ruled by potentates subject to paramount British authority. The British, under various treaties, hold supreme power over these states, which are not considered a part of British India, and reserve the right to intervene in event of misgovernment.

Commonwealth Hope

At the end of his statement Attlee restated indirectly the British Government's often expressed hope that a free India would choose to remain within the British Commonwealth.

He said the Government believes British "commercial and industrial interests in India can look forward to a fair field for their enterprise under the new conditions."

Attlee said Wavell, now a viscount, would be raised in peerage to the higher rank of earl.

Mountbatten selected as senior members of his Indian staff Gen. Lord Ismay, one of Churchill's key wartime defense advisors, and Sir Eric Mieville, former senior assistant private secretary to the King. Both men have served previously on the Viceroy's staff in India.

The fact that the Indian Interim Government, first set in that plan, now is threatened with complete breakdown because of continuing disputes between the Moslem League and the Hindu-dominated All-India Congress party apparently was the main element impelling the new action.

Apparently bolstering the widespread belief that Britain was ready to pull out of India were New Delhi reports that hundreds of British officers and thousands of other ranks were preparing to go home for good, beginning next month. One civilian trying to book passage

Wavell Is Recalled, Mountbatten To Succeed Him

London, Feb. 20 (AP)—Prime Minister Attlee announced today that it was the British Government's definite intention to turn India over to responsible Indian rule by June, 1948.

Attlee also announced the recall of Field Marshall Lord Wavell as Viceroy of India and the appointment of Admiral Lord Mountbatten to succeed him.

An authoritative source said Mountbatten was expected to leave for India "sometime in March."

This source said he understood that Lord Wavell would retire from public service.

Attlee Statement Awaited

Prime Minister Attlee was scheduled to give the House of Commons today a statement "of crucial importance" concerning India.

Whitehall sources said yesterday that Wavell was being recalled as a result of the current constitutional deadlock in India between the Congress party and the Moslem League.

Authoritative sources said it was entirely possible that Attlee would announce complete British evacuation of India—which has been under Britain's sway for 200 years—within a stated period, perhaps as little as a year.

A Government White Paper on the subject will be issued at the same time and American correspondents were summoned to a special news conference immediately afterward by members of the Cabinet Mission which evolved the 1946 independence plan.

Breakdown Threatened

was informed that military priorities would stymie her "at least until June."

The present impasse mounted to a crisis recently when Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, leading Minister of the interim Government and the chief strategist of the Congress party, demanded that Wavell oust the five Moslem members of the fourteen-man interim Cabinet.

Nehru maintained that continuing presence of the Moslems in the Cabinet was incompatible with their continued boycott of the Constituent Assembly, now in recess until April. Nehru threatened to take his own ministers out of the Government if his demands were not met.

"Squarely In The Middle"

This put the Viceroy, and Britain, squarely in the middle, between the Moslem League demands for a degree of self rule for Moslem communities and the Congress party's intention of going ahead toward independence, with or without the Moslems and with or without British backing.

The British maintain that the interim Government and the Constituent Assembly, chosen to write a constitution for an independent India, are inseparable parts of the whole independence plan and that the plan itself is the best that can be worked out for a land where differences between the Moslems and the Hindus have recently resulted in thousands of deaths from rioting.

Sets Date for India Self-rule

Attlee Says Britain Will Act by June, 1948 —Mountbatten Is Made Viceroy.

CREAGH

London, Feb. 20 (A. P.).—Prime Minister Attlee announced in the House of Commons today that Britain intends by June, 1948, to turn over to a responsible Indian government the rich sub-continent of India where she has ruled for 200 years. He also announced the recall of Field Marshal Lord Wavell as Viceroy of India and the appointment of Admiral Lord Mountbatten to succeed him. Mountbatten is a great-grandson of Queen Victoria, India's first Empress.

The Prime Minister's statement on India was denounced by the Opposition in the House of Lords, where Viscount Cranborne said it "amounts to the abandonment of India in conditions which, to many of us, can give no hope of a peaceful and prosperous future for her people." In the Commons cheers broke out from the Opposition benches when Winston Churchill, the Conservative leader, demanded an explanation of Wavell's recall. Churchill, however, asked in vain.

Attlee, who made the historic announcement before a tense house in terse, unemotional sentences, said that the present State of uncertainty was fraught with danger, and could not continue. He continued: "His Majesty's Government wish to make it clear that it is their definite intention to take the necessary steps to effect the transference of power into responsible Indian hands by a date not later than June, 1948."

Unless a "fully representative Assembly" writes a constitution for free India—the present British India, excluding the Princely States—by June, 1948, Britain "will have to consider to whom the powers of the central government in India should be handed," he declared, adding that control might then be turned over "as a whole, to some form of central government for British India; or, in some areas, to the existing provincial governments; or in such other way as may seem most reasonable and in the best interests of the Indian people."

Princely States Excluded.

"In regard to the Indian Princely States," Attlee continued, "as was explicitly stated by the Cabinet Mission (which went to India last year), His Majesty's Government do not intend to hand over their powers and obligations under Paramountcy to any Government of British India. It is not intended to bring Paramountcy, as a system, to a conclusion earlier than the date of the final transfer of power, but it is contemplated that, for the intervening period, the relations of the Crown with individual States may be adjusted by agreement.

"His Majesty's Government will negotiate agreements in regard to matters arising out of the transfer of power with the representatives of those to whom they propose to transfer power."

The British Empire, under various treaties, is the Paramount Power over the Princely States, which are not considered part of India proper. The States are ruled by chiefs and princes subject to British paramountcy.

[The Indian States are governed by princes or rajahs who, under paramountcy, are required not to enter into alliances or armed conflict with each other or with foreign States. Under paramountcy Britain also has the right to intervene in the event of misgovernment. The Princely States have an aggregate area of more than 700,000 square miles, almost half the total area of India. The most important are Hyderabad, Mysore, Kashmire, Baroda and Gwalior.]

Commonwealth Tie Not Out.

Only by implication did Attlee restate the British Government's often expressed hope that free India remain within the British Commonwealth. Expressing confidence that commercial connections between India and the United Kingdom would continue, he said: "It will be the wish of every one in these islands that, notwithstanding constitutional changes, the association of the British and Indian peoples should not be brought to an end; and they wish to continue to do all that is in their power to further the well-being of India."

Though announcing that Lord Wavell would be elevated in the peerage from the rank of viscount to the rank of earl, Attlee offered no explanation of the Viceroy's recall. When he had completed his statement, Churchill pressed him repeatedly on this point.

"Surely," said the Opposition leader, "the Prime Minister did not wake up one morning and say, 'Oh, let us get another Viceroy!' There must be some reason behind this momentous event."

From the Conservative benches came cries of "Answer!" but Attlee would say only that Wavell's had been a wartime appointment.

"Lord Wavell," he said, "was not appointed for a fixed term. It is thought the changed phase of the Indian problem is a suitable time to make a change."

A fresh uproar occurred when other Opposition members protested that it was uncertain when there would be a Government in India capable of taking the power.

"We are against drift," Attlee replied. "We want to bring this uncertainty to a close."

Mountbatten to Leave Soon.

An authoritative informant said that Mountbatten was expected to leave for India some time in March, and that he understood Wavell would retire from public service. Government spokesmen had said yesterday that Wavell was being recalled.

Attlee Statement on India

LONDON, Feb. 20 (AP).—The complete text of Prime Minister Attlee's statement on India to the House of Commons today follows:

It has long been the policy of successive British governments to work toward the realization of self-government in India. In pursuance of this policy, an increasing measure of responsibility has been devolved on Indians and today the civil administration and the Indian armed forces rely to a very large extent on Indian civilians and officers. In the constitutional field the acts of 1919 and 1935 passed by the British Parliament each represented a substantial transfer of political power.

In 1940 the coalition government recognized the principle that Indians should themselves frame a new constitution for a fully autonomous India, and in the offer of 1942 they invited them to set up a constituent assembly for this purpose as soon as the war was over.

His Majesty's Government believe this policy to have been right and in accordance with sound democratic principles. Since they came into office they have done their utmost to carry it forward to its fulfillment. The declaration of the Prime Minister of March 15, last, which met with general approval in Parliament and the country, made it clear that it was for the Indian people themselves to choose their future status and constitution and that, in the opinion of His Majesty's Government, the time had come for responsibility for the government of India to pass into Indian hands.

Cabinet Mission's Work

The Cabinet mission which was sent to India last year spent more than three months in consultation with Indian leaders in order to help them to agree upon a method for determining the future constitution of India, so that the transfer of power might be smoothly and rapidly effected. It was only when it seemed clear that, without some initiative from the Cabinet mission, agreement was unlikely to be reached that they put forward proposals themselves.

These proposals, made public in May, last, envisaged that the future constitution of India should be settled by a constituent assembly composed, in the manner suggested therein, of representatives of all communities and interests in British India and of the Indian states.

Since the return of the mission an interim government has been set up at the center composed of the political leaders of the major communities exercising wide powers within the existing constitution. In all the provinces Indian governments responsible to legislatures are in office.

It is with great regret that His Majesty's Government find that there are still differences among Indian parties which are preventing the Constituent Assembly from functioning as it was intended that it should. It is of the essence of the plan that the assembly should be fully representative.

The British government desire to hand over their responsibility to authorities established by a constitution approved by all parties in India in accordance with the Cabinet mission's plan, but unfortunately there is at present no clear prospect that such a constitution and such authorities will emerge. The present state of uncertainty is fraught with danger and cannot be indefinitely prolonged. His Majesty's Government wish to make it clear that it is their definite intention to take the necessary steps to effect the transference of power into responsible Indian hands by a date not later than June, 1948.

This great subcontinent now containing over 400,000,000 people has for the last century enjoyed peace and security as a part of the British commonwealth and empire. Continued peace and security are more than ever necessary today if the full probabilities of economic development are to be realized and a higher standard of life attained by the Indian people.

His Majesty's Government are anxious to hand over their responsibilities to a government which, resting on the sure foundation of the support of the people, is capable of maintaining peace and administering India with justice and efficiency. It is, therefore, essential that all parties should sink their differences in order that they may be ready to shoulder the great responsibilities which will come upon them next year.

After months of hard work by the Cabinet mission, a great measure of agreement was obtained as to the method by which a constitution should be worked out. This was embodied in their statements of May, last. His Majesty's Government there agreed to recommend to Parliament a constitution worked out in accordance with proposals made therein, by a fully representative Constituent Assembly. But if it should appear that such a constitution will not have been worked out by a fully representative assembly before the time mentioned, His Majesty's Government will have to consider to whom the powers of the central government in British India should be handed over on the due date, whether as a whole to some form of central government for British India or in some areas to the existing provincial governments, or in such other way as may seem most reasonable and in the best interests of the Indian people.

Although the final transfer of authority may not take place until June, 1948, preparatory measures must be put in hand in advance. It is important that the efficiency of the civil administration should be maintained and that the defense of India should be fully provided for.

Legislation Planned

But inevitably, as the process of transfer proceeds, it will become progressively more difficult to carry out to the letter all the provisions of the Government of India act of 1935. Legislation will be introduced in due course to give effect to the final transfer of power.

In regard to the Indian (princely) states, as was explicitly stated by the Cabinet mission, His Majesty's Government do not intend to hand over their powers and obligations under paramountcy to any government of British India. It is not intended to bring paramountcy, as a system, to a conclusion earlier than the date of the final transfer of power but it is contemplated that for the intervening period the relations of the crown with individual states may be adjusted by agreement. His Majesty's Government will negotiate agreements in regard to matters arising out of the transfer of power with the representatives of those to whom they propose to transfer power.

His Majesty's Government believe that British commercial and industrial interests in India can look forward to a fair field for their enterprise under the new conditions. The commercial connection between India and the United Kingdom has been long and friendly and will continue to be to their mutual advantage.

His Majesty's Government cannot conclude this statement without expressing, on behalf of the people of this country, their good will and good wishes toward the people of India as they go forward to their final stage in their achievement of self-government.

It will be the wish of every one in these islands that, notwithstanding constitutional changes, the association of the British and Indian peoples should not be brought to an end; and they will wish to continue to do all that is in their power to further the well-being of India.

MOSLEM PREDICTS INDIAN CIVIL WAR

Other New Delhi Sources Expect Amicable Settlement

PRESTON GROVER

New Delhi, India, Feb. 20 (AP)—Great Britain's notice to India to put its house in order by June, 1948, was interpreted by old-time observers here tonight to have placed the country on the verge of either an amicable settlement or a devastating civil war.

The first important Moslem leader available for comment tonight predicted that civil war between Hindus and Moslems would break out soon after the British leave next year, with each side trying to establish its position.

For the next fifteen months, however, the British have chosen for viceroy a one-man charm school in the person of Admiral Lord Mountbatten, evidently in the hope that he may cajole the Indians into an agreement where the less sparkling Field Marshal Lord Wavell failed.

Favorable To Hindus

Prime Minister Attlee's dramatic announcement that the British would leave next year was interpreted in some unofficial quarters, also, as strongly favorable to the predominantly Hindu Congress party which is driving ahead with its purpose of drafting a constitution for a united India.

A source close to Jawaharlal Nehru, a Congress party leader and leading minister in the interim government, said "it is a victory for the principles of the Congress. The interim government will continue as it is. There will be no insistence on withdrawal of Moslem League ministers and there will be a great effort on the part of the Congress to effect a settlement."

Sense Of Responsibility

Several times Nehru has said that once the British withdrew there would be a sense of "responsibility" among Indians for working out a settlement among themselves.

The same informant regarded the replacement of Field Marshal Lord Wavell as a move to placate Nehru, who is known to consider Wavell an obstacle to a settlement with the Moslems because of what Nehru's associates call Wavell's "intriguing." Nehru and Lord Mountbatten became personal friends during Nehru's visit to Singapore last March.

While these factors were working for a settlement, important Congress sources conceded on the other hand that unless a compromise is patched up by the June, 1948, deadline the Moslems might obtain their goal of Pakistan, or partition of India, with the Moslems getting self-rule for their part.

Control Sind And Harachi

At present the Moslems are in political control only of Sind province, whose port is Karachi, and Bengal province, whose port is the Hindu-dominated city of Calcutta.

Mohandas K. Gandhi, spiritual leader of the Congress party, repeatedly has said that the best move for India would be for the British to set a date for their departure.

On the other hand, Mahomed Ali Jinnah, president of the Moslem League, has declared that for the British to leave without first providing "safeguards" to minorities (the 90,000,000 Moslems are the largest minority) would be in "violation of their solemn promises."

Princely States' Problem

Attlee's statement left unsettled the problem of the princely states, ruled over by maharajahs and nawabs and occupying about two fifths of India.

Under the British plan for independence the princes were entitled to a share in framing the constitution. If the British withdraw their support of these states the princes would be in a relatively weak bargaining position with the balance of India for they are widely scattered and divided in their special interests.

Congress leaders have declared they would not allow the British to keep a finger in each princely state after independence. Only time can tell whether the prices could keep their independent status or would be largely overrun by the democratic movement.

Editorial Reaction

First editorial reaction to Attlee's statement was that of Dawn, the Moslem League newspaper published here, which said, "Moslems welcome the declaration of the British purpose to transfer power to Indian hands by a specific date."

The editorial asserted, however, that the Prime Minister's statement "studiously avoids any reference to the future working of the so-called Constituent Assembly" and "by two passages the statement recognizes by implication that the rump assembly is dead."

In Calcutta, Kiran Shankar Roy, Congress party leader in the Bengal provincial legislature, said: "The country is more interested in what happens now—immediately—than what is done in June, 1948."

Descendant of First Empress Will End British Raj in India

LONDON, Feb. 20 (AP).—A great-grandson of the first Empress of India, Queen Victoria, was chosen today to close out British rule over the vast subcontinent she annexed to the Crown in 1877.

Admiral Viscount Mountbatten of Burma, whose mother was Victoria's granddaughter, was named Viceroy to liquidate the "Raj" (reign) over 400,000,000 people—one-fifth the human race.

As Viceroy, or "vice-king," the forty-six-year-old war hero will serve as personal representative of his cousin, King George VI.

Lord Mountbatten himself probably would resent bitterly any hint that the job went to him because of his kinship with the King. In the first years of the war, when he was chief of Britain's Commandos, his men often offered to fight any one who suggested he had won his post by virtue of royal blood. Later he headed the Southeast Asia Command in the war against Japan.

Lord Mountbatten — called "Dickie" in royal society—became one of the kingdom's most popular war chieftains after winning a measure of peace-time notice as a sportsman, social lion and habitue of London night clubs. Prodigiously wealthy, he lived in a thirty-room London penthouse—at a rental of $15,000 a year—and wrote a textbook on playing polo.

His father, Prince Louis of Battenberg, was Admiral of the British Fleet when the first world war began but relinquished his position and title because of public clamor arising over his Teutonic antecedents. The family changed its name to Mountbatten. Lord Mountbatten's mother was Princess Victoria, eldest daughter of Louis IV, Grand Duke of Hesse.

Rift Over Slav Claims On Austria Hits Deputies

London, Feb. 20 (AP)—Yugoslavia's demand for about 1,000 square miles of Austrian territory stirred up another ripple of disagreement among the deputies of the four-power Foreign Ministers today.

British quarters reported that Russia, which supported original Yugoslav claims against the votes of the United States, Britain and France, served notice she would draft a special report on the subject for the Foreign Ministers Conference in Moscow. Russia has contended that Yugoslavia should be given a strip of the Austrian province of Carinthia as a reward for her war effort.

Political Clauses

The sharpening of disagreement on this territorial claim came to light as the deputies reviewed fifteen political clauses of the treaty which is to re-establish Austria as an independent state. It was found that all approve seven of them, and that there is substantial disagreement on eight.

Deputies of the Western states held to their attitude that Austria, if she is to be free and sovereign, could not afford to lose land.

Other political clauses on which the deputies disagreed today were provisions for a guarantee of Austrian independence, recognition of Austrian independence by Germany, prohibition of a political union with Germany, prohibition of naturalization of Germans by Austria, dissolution of Nazi organizations, surrender of war criminals and legislation which the Allies should require Austria to enact.

Question Of Control

There were few total disagreements. In most cases it was a question of how strictly Austria should be controlled, with Russia in most instances holding out for close supervision.

Deputies were agreed on clauses providing for re-establishment of a free Austria, recognition of human and democratic rights, Austrian recognition of a number of treaties and a requirement that administrative documents be returned to Germany.

Points of disagreement were referred back to committees with the hope that many differences may be ironed out before the conference closes February 25.

WESTERN POWERS FIGHT YUGOSLAVS' AUSTRIA DEMANDS

LONDON, Feb. 20—(AP) Deputies of the four-power foreign ministers disagreed again today over Yugoslavia's demand for about 1,000 square miles of Austrian territory.

Russia has contended that Yugoslavia should be given a strip of the Austrian province of Carinthia as a reward for her war effort. Deputies of the western states, on the other hand, held that Austria, if she is to be free and sovereign, could not afford to lose land.

Russia Drafts Stand

British quarters reported that Russia—which supported original Yugoslav claims against the votes of the United States, Britain and France—had served notice that she would draft a special report on the subject for the foreign ministers conference in Moscow next month.

Differences on the subject were revealed as the deputies reviewed 15 political clauses of the treaty which is to reestablish Austria as an independent state. Informants said the deputies approved seven of the clauses but disagreed on eight.

The clauses on which the deputies agreed included provisions for the reestablishment of a free Austria, recognition of human and democratic rights, recognition by Austria of a number of treaties and a requirement that administrative documents be returned to Germany.

Disagreements developed over clauses providing for a guarantee of Austrian independence, recognition of Austrian independence by Germany, prohibition of a political union with Germany, prohibition of naturalization of Germans by Austria, dissolution of Nazi organizations, surrender of war criminals and legislation which the allies should require Austria to enact.

The disagreements largely centered not on the purpose of the clauses but on the precise method of controlling Austria. Russia in most instances held out for close allied supervision.

Colony Swap Proposed

London, Feb. 20 (AP)—Norman Smith, Labor Member of Parliament from Nottingham, offered today for House of Commons debate a proposal that Britain swap her Western Hemisphere colonies for needed capital and goods from the United States.

There was no immediate comment from Government sources.

Presumably Smith's proposal would concern such West Indies possessions as the Bahamas, Barbados, the Leeward Islands, Trinidad and Tobago and the Windward Islands as well as British Honduras.

Smith also proposed that Britain turn away from multilateral trade contracts based on currency and negotiate long-term barter agreements with countries outside the dollar area.

Food Situation Worst In 25 Years: Hoover

London, Feb. 20 (AP)—Herbert Hoover arrived today from his food survey of Europe and said:

"This is the worst period in Europe in 25 years—and that applies to the British, too."

Hoover and an aide, Hugh Gibson, were flown from Berlin by Capt. John A. De Wolfe, of Medford, Mass., with Capt. Joseph R. Kreider, of Lemoyne, Pa., as second pilot.

Military Expenditure Slash Cited By Russia

London, Feb. 20 (AP)—The Moscow radio said tonight that Russia's 1947 military expenditures would be $13,400,000,000—a decrease of $1,120,000,000 from the 1946 figure.

Reporting the 1947 budget of $74,280,000,000 which Arseni Zverev, Finance Minister, submitted today to the Supreme Soviet of the U.S.S.R., the broadcast said:

"The expenditure to the armed forces comprised 32.6 per cent of the total budget expenditure in 1940, while during the war years the percentages were 59.5 in 1943, 52.2 in 1944, 42.9 in 1945 and 23.9 in 1946. For 1947 the share of expenditure on the country's defense is reduced to 18 per cent."

Emir Saud Is Truman Plane

London, Feb. 20 (AP)—Emir Saud, Crown Prince of Saudi Arabia, arrived today on President Truman's personal plane, the Sacred Cow, from the United States.

Halifax Says Friendship Is Best Pact With U. S.

LEEDS, England, Feb. 20 (AP).—The Earl of Halifax, former British Ambassador at Washington, said today that "an association of friendship and understanding" links Great Britain and the United States more strongly than any treaty of alliance.

In an address prepared for delivery at Leeds University, Lord Halifax declared that Anglo-American friendship is "a source of strength to the United Nations."

"I do not personally believe that anything so formal as an alliance between our two countries, even if it were desirable, is either practicable or would at any rate at present be acceptable," he added. "Nor is it necessary. It is easy to exaggerate the importance and even the binding character of written instruments.

"More substantial than any treaty of alliance, which we are unlikely to achieve, is an association of friendship and understanding, founded upon that common interest and way of thought which we already have."

Belgian Housing Damage

Brussels, Feb. 20 (AP)—The Belgian Ministry of Reconstruction said today that 450,000 buildings were damaged during the fighting in Belgium, and that 58,423 of that number were destroyed. The Ministry estimated the damage at about $320,000,000.

RAMADIER IS GIVEN VOTE OF CONFIDENCE

PARIS, Feb. 20 — (AP) The French National Assembly gave a 506 to 59 vote of confidence to the coalition government headed by Socialist Premier Paul Ramadier today after a heated debate on economy and food questions.

The vote was taken after several deputies urged progressive lifting of rationing and expressed confidence in the government's ability to "carry out a policy aimed at assuring a normal food distribution to the French people."

Ramadier told a news conference earlier that a second series of five per cent price cuts ordered by the government to be effective at the end of this month would not be the last in the government's campaign to stabilize internal economy. He said the government believed that continuation of the campaign eventually would bring hidden stocks into the market when their holders saw the government was determined to keep prices down.

Swiss Papers Approved

Bern, Switzerland, Feb. 20 (AP)—French authorities in Baden-Baden have approved the circulation of Swiss newspapers in the French occupied zone of Germany.

Spanish Arrest 20 French

PARIS, Feb. 20 (AP).—Twenty French residents of Bayonne and Birritz in southwestern France have been arrested by Spanish police and transfered to Pamplona after crossing the frontier to make purchases in Spain, the French News Agency (A. F. P.) reported today. No details were given. The French-Spanish border has been closed for months.

Compulsory Work Set For DP's

Berlin, Feb. 20 (AP)—A system of compulsory work for displaced persons in the British zone of Germany was announced officially today at a news conference given by Air Marshal Sir Sholto Douglas.

The British commander in chief said that the 234,000 displaced persons left in the British zone, of which 157,000 are employable, will be obliged immediately to register for work under Allied Control Council Order No. 3. The announcement followed months of negotiations to meet the objections of UNRRA officials.

Prosecution Possible

Douglas said displaced persons who refuse to register or to accept "reasonable offers of employment" will be liable to prosecution, as, for example, by being put on fatigue duty in displaced persons' camps or, if necessary, by imprisonment.

He emphasized, however, that they would not be liable to loss of displaced-person status or to the loss of normal basic scale of rations, which hereafter will be 1,550 calories per day.

Displaced persons, he continued, will be directed to work within the physical capacity of the individual and selected with regard for their educational status. Many of the displaced-person camps will be moved close to industrial centers, he said.

UNRRA Objections

UNRRA, it was declared, originally brought up three main objections to putting displaced persons to useful work:

1. That they should not be

made to work.

2. That they must be allowed to live in idleness if they desired.

3. That they must get higher rations than the Germans.

The British stand, it was stated, was that the displaced persons, after almost two years of idleness, wanted to work. Authorities said that of the present employables, 47,000 were now working in camps and another 40,000 had found jobs on their own.

On maintenance of higher rations, the British taxpayers who either directly or indirectly bear the cost have the right to say Douglas said, and this cost must be reduced.

"UNRRA is in broad agreement with the plan now," he said.

5000 JEWS PREFER REICH TO PALESTINE

Berlin, Feb. 20 (A. P.).—Five thousand Jews in Palestine have applied for permission to come to Germany, Brig. A. G. Kenchington, British Military Government expert for displaced persons, said today at a news conference. "Conditions apparently aren't so rosy in Palestine," he observed.

The applicants complained particularly of bad housing conditions, he added. He said he believed they were mainly German Jews.

ARGENTINA INVITES REICH 'A' EXPERT

Kassel, Germany, Feb. 20 (A. P.).—Dr. Werner Heisenberg, Nobel prize-winning nuclear physicist, said today he had been invited to Argentina, but still lacked permission from British zone authorities to leave Germany.

"It is not my intention to participate in military atomic research for any country," he said. "Utilization of atomic energy for peaceful purposes is my special field."

Dr. Heisenberg, a professor at Goettingen University, said the Argentine invitation was extended by the Buenos Aires University. Dr. Heisenberg was associated from 1927 to 1930 with Dr. Guido Beck in nuclear research at Leipzig.

Temporary Constitution Is Adopted In Poland

Warsaw, Feb. 20 (AP)—The Polish Parliament, by a vote of 330 to 17, adopted last night a temporary constitution that will remain in force until the Constituent Assembly can draft a new charter to replace that of 1921.

It is expected that the Assembly will require about four months to complete its work.

The principal feature of the "Little Constitution" is the creation of a Council of State that will govern the country when Parliament is not in session.

ALBANIA SAID TO BAR WRITER

Objection Reported Expressed To Balkan Probers

Athens, Feb. 20 (AP) — Persons present at recent discussions of press arrangements for the United Nations Commission investigating Balkan border disputes said today the Albanian press officer had declared that L. S. Chakales, Associated Press correspondent, would not be permitted to accompany the commission to Albania.

The Albanian was quoted as having said in a meeting of press officers that "in any case the doors are closed to Chakales, who had the satanic courage to write against the Albanian people and our chief."

In List Assured Visas

Stanley Ryan, press officer with the commission, announced yesterday he had received assurances from Yugoslavia and Bulgaria that entry visas would be given fourteen foreign correspondents accredited by the commission. Chakales is one of these.

Ryan said the Albanians had told him they had to consult their government and that because of poor communications it would take at least five days or a week to get a reply.

The commission, sent by the United Nations Security Council to investigate Greece's charges that her neighbors are fomenting troubles in northern Greece, has been meeting here since January 30. It is to go later to northern Greece and to Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Albania. Dates for those visits have not been announced.

U.N. Opposes Rejection

[At the United Nations press division at Lake Success, N.Y., it was said that United Nations headquarters was insisting that the governments concerned honor the United Nations' accrediation of correspondents and opposing any rejection of individual newsmen.

[Chakales visited Albania on the eve of the election of December 2, 1945, a strictly one-party affair in which no opposition was permitted to Hoxha and his "National Democratic Front." On the eve of the election Chakales sent dispatches telling of his contact with members of the underground opposition. They told him they had planned to distribute pamphlets on election day, declaring that Albania was completely dominated by Generalissimo Stalin and Marshal Tito and that all the "democratic front" candidates were Communists. They withheld the pamphlets, however, because they were informed such opposition action would bring "slaughter."

Refugee Committee Refused Funds

Geneva, Switzerland, Feb. 20 (AP). The Preparatory Commision of the International Refugee Organization was told today that the United Nations Secretary General Trygve Lie had rejected the commission's application for a $250,000 advance to continue its work.

The announcement was viewed as a blow by members of the commission, who sought to extend the current one-week session, scheduled to close last Tuesday, to June 30. United States Delegate Alvin Roseman said his Government's representatives would probably confer further with Lie on the matter.

Sir George Rendel, of the British Foreign Office, British delegate on the commission, said the decision was "depressing," but he hoped the commission might still get funds to carry on.

Hazards Seen

"Whoever wrecks this organization will have it on his conscience," Sir George said "and bands of refugees—political malcontents and criminals—will roam Europe, jeopardizing life and property."

Sir Raphael Cilento, representing Lie, said Lie advised the commission "he was not prepared to make available $250,000 in view of the doubtful position of Iro."

On the commission's plea that Lie should encourage more governments, including Russia, to join Iro, Lie was quoted as having said he felt the commission itself should make such overtures direct to the governments.

VITAL PIPELINE BLASTED OPEN IN HAIFA AREA

Iraq Oil Carrier Blown Up and Cut at Two Points in New Wave of Violence.

R. A. F. DEPOT REPELS ATTACK

Voice on Telephone Says Jewish Underground Made Series of Assaults Overnight.

JOS. C GOODWIN

Jerusalem, Feb. 20 (A. P.).—Explosions near the port city of Haifa ripped open the Iraq Petroleum Company's pipeline early today, after a night of renewed terror punctuated by blasts, mortar fire and small-arm fire.

Later on a woman speaking English, and claiming to represent the Jewish underground organization Irgun Zvai Leumi, telephoned foreign correspondents and said: "We want to inform you the operations carried out last night were done by our soldiers in reply to the fact that Jewish refugees have been exiled from their homeland to which they had returned."

Armored cars today patrolled Haifa, from which uncertified Jewish immigrants sail to detention camps on Cyprus. The renewed violence came after several weeks of comparative quiet in Palestine.

The extent of the damage to the pipeline was unknown, an official communique said. It added that the line was severed at two places in the Haifa area—near the village of Indur and near the plant of Consolidated Refineries, Ltd., on Haifa Bay.

[Pipelines of the Iraq Petroleum Company, an international group, run some 800 miles from an oil field at Kirkuk, in northeastern Iraq, through Transjordan to a Mediterranean terminal at Haifa.]

R. A. F. Station Attacked.

Earlier, at nearby Ein Shemer, a Royal Air Force station was attacked with mortars, machine-guns and light arms. A counter-attacking R. A. F. regiment was credited in a communique with driving off the attackers. Three home-made mortars, twelve empty mortar cases, a Beretta pistol and numerous pieces of gelignite, an explosive, were found in the vicinity, the announcement added.

Officials said that the attack began late last night and lasted for about twenty minutes. The damage was small and there were no casualties. The R. A. F. unit is one of those which had taken part in searches for uncertified immigrants.

Today engineer troops found an unexploded bomb planted on the camp's air strip. An abandoned truck, used in the attack, and a detonating set were found near by. Officials said that the truck had been stolen by four Jews at Hadera. A second truck, said to have been taken by three Jews in Tel Aviv, was found later in Hedera.

Also today the Government Public Relations Office in the all-Jewish city of Tel Aviv announced it had received its third bomb warning in twenty-four hours, but that a search of the building failed to uncover any explosive.

Before the R. A. F. station was attacked, two electrically operated land mines were exploded in the fashionable Mount Carmel section of Haifa just as two heavy War Office vehicles were passing through. Officials said that one vehicle was slightly damaged.

OIL LINES BLASTED IN NEW HOLY LAND WAVE OF VIOLENCE

JOS. C GOODWIN

JERUSALEM, Feb. 20—(AP) Explosions ripped the Iraq petroleum company's pipeline in two to four places near Haifa today and a purported spokesman for Irgun Zvai Leumi said the blasts and other violence were "our soldiers' reply" to British restrictions against Jewish immigration to the Holy Land.

Bomb blasts, mortar fire and the chatter of small arms were heard throughout last night in the area of Haifa, principal Palestine port and scene of forced evacuation of would-be Jewish immigrants to detention camps on Cyprus.

Blasts Cut Oil Lines

A government announcement said the explosions cut the 800-mile oil line from Iraq in two places at 3 a.m. Messages to the press purportedly from Irgun Zvai Leumi, underground Jewish resistance organization, claimed that the line was cut in four places.

The breaks, as reported by the government, were just outside the installations of the giant Consolidated Refineries, Ltd. at Haifa Bay, and in the vicinity of the village of Indur, near Afuleh, 23 miles southeast of Haifa. Extent of the damage was not disclosed.

The British promptly tightened up. Bren carriers moved in steady convoys through Jerusalem. Fourman groups with fixed bayonets patrolled perimeters of the four fortified security zones in the city. All persons entering public buildings were searched with new diligence. Public gatherings at Tel Aviv and Haifa were under armed observation.

Foreign newsmen received a call an English-speaking woman who claimed to represent Irgun.

"We want to inform you that operations carried out last night were done by our soldiers in reply to the fact that Jewish refugees have been exiled from their homeland to which they had returned," she said.

Other acts of violence last night included an attack on an RAF station at nearby Ein Shemer in which mortars, machineguns and light arms were employed. The attackers were driven off and an RAF official here said there were no casualties. The unit at Ein Shemer had taken part in searches for Jews lacking immigration certificates.

Before the attack on the station masked men held up a Jewish driver at the village of Hadera and seized his truck. Police said it was used in the later operations.

Land Mines Set Off

Two electrically detonated land mines were exploded in the fashionable Mount Carmel section of Haifa while the R.A.F. station was under attack. Two heavy army vehicles were passing by at the time and one was damaged, but there were no casualties.

The government public relations office between Tel Aviv and Jaffa received its third bomb warning in 24 hours but a search of the building failed to reveal any explosive.

The public information office said police and troops searched the premises of the Kessem moving picture theater in Tel Aviv early today and questioned 650 persons. One person was detained.

In Jerusalem three persons were arrested after the army and police searched through printing plants, stores and private homes outside the security areas.

An official army announcement said a search was begun for 12 Jews who overpowered guards at the Sarafand garrison's post exchange on Feb. 19 and escaped with 50 live sheep, 50 sheep carcasses, 60 tablecloths, 5,700 yards of cloth and two clocks.

Jewish leaders, meantime, expressed "concern" over reports that Fawzi Kaukji, leader of the 1936 Arab revolt, had been permitted to leave the Russian zone of Germany.

A Jewish Agency spokesman told a news conference "both we and the British have cause to remember him." The 1936 revolt ended in 1939 when the British placed their present limits on Jewish immigration.

One usually reliable Jewish source said France was believed to have been instrumental in the Arab revolt leader's release, and added, "he seems to be following the same channels used by the mufti in his return to the Middle East."

The Jewish press reported that Arab kings also were planning to meet in Saudi Arabia to discuss Palestine.

China Reports Reds Routed In North

Peiping, Feb. 20 (AP)—The Government announced today it had dealt the Communist armies such a severe blow that the great Peiping-Tientsin-Paoting triangle of north China was secure for some time to come.

The Chinese press carried Government reports that the Communists suffered crippling losses in this week's fighting, including 12,000 in one 24-hour battle around Yaotsungcheng, 20 miles north of Paoting.

[The Government in Nanking made similar claims of recent successes but admitted the Communists had staged another raid into the Taitsang area, 27 miles northwest of Shanghai.

Levy Taxes, Seize Food

[This report said the Communists had infiltrated positions at Hsinwanhu, near Taitsang, compelled citizens to pay military taxes, and seized foodstuffs. It said the Government was sending reinforcements into the area, just across the Yangtze.]

Meanwhile, the Communists were preparing to withdraw all of their personnel from the Peiping liaison office of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration. This is being done on order of the Government.

Huang Kwa, former chief of Communist public relations at truce headquarters, said it would be almost impossible hereafter to send relief supplies to some parts of North China.

China Prohibits Automobile Imports

Shanghai, Feb. 20 (AP)—Despite the fact that China is desperately short of transportation, the Government, in its effort to stabilize the nation's disordered economy, has prohibited the importation of automobiles.

Business men, aware that China needs thousands of automobiles, trucks and busses, are hopeful that the ban will be only temporary. China already had postwar regulations prohibiting the importation of automobiles costing more than $1,200.

85 Shanghai Nazis Being Deported

Shanghai, Feb. 20 (AP)—Eighty-five Nazis, including all but one of the 27 Germans tried before an American tribunal on charges of belonging to the sinister Bureau Ehrhardt—were loaded aboard the transport Marine Jumper here today for deportation to Germany.

Approximately 1,200 Germans already were aboard the Marine Jumper. They were picked up at Yokohama, Japan, and, along with the Shanghai Nazis, will be transported to Bremerhaven, Germany. Seven other Shanghai Nazis scheduled for repatriation were missing.

The only member of Bureau Ehrhardt, which by espionage and undercover intrigue aided Japan to carry on the war after Germany had surrendered, who was not brought aboard the ship was Baron Jesco von Puttkamer. He has been sentenced to 30 years' imprisonment for his part in the bureau's activities—which violated Germany's surrender terms—and has been sent to Hong Kong to testify in war-crimes trials there.

Twenty-six of the Nazis were brought to the dock in handcuffs and under guard of American military police. They included Ludwig Ehrhardt, sentenced to life imprisonment, and Mrs. Maria Mueller, of the Peiping office of the bureau, who will serve five years' imprisonment.

Six Germans acquitted in the trial also went aboard. Among them were Ernest Woermann, German Ambassador to the puppet Government set up in Nanking, and Wolfgang Schenke, former German correspondent.

Nanking Closes China Reds' Paper

Nanking, Feb. 20 (AP)—The Communists announced tonight that the Government had closed their only newspaper in Nationalist territory and that the last Communist officials in Peiping would leave Friday, further reducing the remaining tenuous links between the rival Chinese factions.

Mei-yi, a Communist spokesman in the party's Nanking offices, which remain open, said Government authorities had forced closing of the Kunming Hsin Hwa Jih Pao (New China Daily News) because of a story it published to the effect that there had been a popular armed revolt in Yunnan province, of which Kunming is the capital.

The story, received from the Communist Yenan radio, was alleged to have been first published in the independent paper Ta Kung Pao at Tientsin.

Request Is Refused

Meanwhile, the final 21 Communist members of the disbanded Peiping Executive (truce) Headquarters were scheduled to leave Peiping for Yenan by air Friday. The Communists said the Government had refused their request that some be allowed to remain at the Peiping UNRRA liaison office.

Without liaison, it was expected that transport of UNRRA materials into both Communist and Government areas of North China would be virtually impossible, as it is necessary to cross territories held by each side.

Government reports at the same time said that recent fighting in the Peiping-Paoting-Tientsin triangle had so weakened the Communists that the area should be secure for sometime to come.

REDS NEAR SHANGHAI

Nanking, Feb. 20 (A. P.).—Chinese reports from Suchow said today that more than 1,000 Communist troops had infiltrated into a Government-held area only twenty-seven miles northwest of Shanghai, compelled citizens to pay military taxes, and seized foodstuffs.

It said the action came at Hsinwanhu, which is in the Taitsang area twenty-seven miles from Shanghai. The reports said the Government had rushed reinforcements into the region, which is just north of the Yangtze.

More Zaibatsu Assets To Be Liquidated

Tokyo, Feb. 20 (AP)—Allied headquarters said today that it would liquidate 1,165,000,000 (more than $77,000,000) of the assets of Japan's Zaibatsu families to break their stranglehold on the nation's finance and industry.

The Holding Company Liquidation Commission said personal securities of 56 of these families, which controlled the greater part of Japan's industries, would be put on public sale to "scatter them as widely as possible."

"Some of the wealthiest and most influential people in Japan" will be affected by the new move, said Berkeley Henderson, of Cleveland, Ohio, official headquarters' observer at the commission meeting.

The families will be reimbursed in Government bonds that cannot be cashed for ten years and cannot be used for collateral.

JAPANESE FAMILY MONOPOLIES HIT

TOKYO, Feb. 20—(AP) Taking another step in its long-term program to break the power of Japan's family monopoly corporations, occupation headquarters announced today that 1,165,000,000 yen (more than $77,000,000 at the official rate) in securities owned by 56 persons would be sold to the public.

The individuals affected are members of ten of the major commercial and industrial families of Japan, known as the Zaibatsu.

They will be reimbursed for these personal securities with non-negotiation ten-year government bonds.

The Holding Company Liquidation Commission will handle the transaction. Berkeley Henderson of Cleveland, Ohio, official observer at the commission meeting, said the sale would affect "some of the wealthiest and most influential people in Japan" and that investigations were continuing with an eye to increasing the list.

He said all the possessions of these Japanese could be taken over, even jewelry, but that the commission intended to confine itself to securities, as "the scattering of the stock will serve its purpose."

He explained that "the idea is to break up these people—this clique—that had a stranglehold on the nation."

Meanwhile on the industrial front allied headquarters recommended an increase in Japan's textile mill capacity to 4,000,000 spindles to allow moderate expansion in exports over a period of years.

The aim, said Lt. Col. H. S. Tate of Clemson, S. C., chief of the textile division, is to make Japan self-sufficient on a domestic living standard near that of 1930-34.

Brotherhood In Arms Stretches, Breaks

Tokyo, Feb. 20 (AP)—A former Japanese regimental commander bought a small cafe some time ago.

A former subordinate walked in and, after a joyful greeting, was served a meal.

"No charge," said the ex-commander airily.

Next day the same man showed up with a handful of brethren from the old regiment. All dined. None paid.

After several days, during which what seemed like the whole regiment visited him, the ex-commander gave up and today sold his cafe.

G. I. 'King for a Day' in Japan

SAPPORO, Japan, Feb. 20 (AP).—Private First Class Phillip T. Schmitt, of Two Rivers, Wis., ruled here as "King for a Day" after winning an essay contest on the subject of communicable diseases. Pfc. Schmitt was served breakfast in bed by his sergeant, was excused from duty and got a jeep for his use throughout the day.

Philippines To Place Own Interests First

Manila, Feb. 20 (AP)—Vice President Elpidio Quirino, commenting on China's suspension of negotiations for an amity pact with the Philippines, said today the new republic would not "subordinate national interest to the wishes of another country."

China formally notified the Philippines Wednesday through Minister Chen Chi-feng that it was breaking off negotiations because of what it considered discriminatory measures against Chinese residents in the islands.

Ousted From Better Stalls

A principal basis for charges of discrimination has been a law ousting Chinese merchants from operation of the better market stalls in Manila.

The Manila Times will say editorially Friday that this is "not the first time a great power has faced a little nation with a rather thinly veiled warning to behave. In its relations with other governments, the Philippines will undoubtedly encounter similar situations in the future. This would seem to be the time to set precedent."

Ship Still Loading Despite Threats

Batavia, Feb. 20 (AP)—The American freighter Martin Behrman continued loading today at the Indonesian-controlled port of Cheribon a cargo of rubber, sugar and sisal which the Dutch have threatened to seize if the vessel departs. A decision as to whether or not the Behrman will attempt to sail was expected this afternoon.

The Dutch, in threatening to seize the ship's cargo, have maintained that no produce may be shipped out of Java without their permission pending conclusion of Indonesian independence negotiations, which have been under way for the last eighteen months. They contend that the products in question are the property of Dutch estate owners who have been prevented from returning to their lands by the revolution.

The Indonesians, on the other hand, contend that the products in question were grown by Indonesians during the absence of Europeans.

Truman to Occupy Suite in Embassy

Mexico City, Feb. 20 (A. P.).—President Truman, first chief executive of the United States to visit Mexico City, will make the apartment of Ambassador Walter Thurston his headquarters during his three days in the Mexican capital next month.

The Ambassador has moved out of the apartment, at the corner of the United States Embassy, and it is being furnished as a "Presidential suite." Three of the President's official party also will be at the Embassy. The other four, with news and secret service men, will stay at the Hotel Geneva.

Strachey Lands in Ottawa

Attlee Plane, Carrying British Food Minister, Hits Snowbank

OTTAWA, Feb. 20 (AP).—John Strachey, Britain's Food Minister, arrived here today in Prime Minister Attlee's personal plane, which overshot its landing, skidded into a snowbank and was damaged slightly. None of the persons aboard was hurt.

The four-engined plane was moving slowly at the time, officials at the airport said. It had flown here direct from Iceland.

Mr. Strachey is in Canada for consultations on food supplies. He also will visit the United States.

TRUMAN SEES CONFIRMATION OF LILIENTHAL

Atomic Group Nominee 'Appeaser Of Russia,' Bridges Declares

Washington, Feb. 20 (AP)—President Truman predicted today that the Senate will confirm his nomination of David E. Lilienthal as chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission despite bitter opposition by a number of Republicans and Democrats in the controversy.

Supporting Mr. Truman's stand, a group of Southern businessmen paraded before the Senate Atomic Committee to indorse Lilienthal amid a new flareup of clashing views by the lawmakers themselves.

Mr. Truman told his news conference he is standing 100 per cent behind Lilienthal. Furthermore, he said, he is confident that when a vote is taken it will be favorable.

Pressing the fight against Lilienthal, Senator Bridges (R., N.H.) listed ten men whom he described as acceptable for the key atomic-control post, while ruling the presidential nominee out as an "extreme Left-Winger" and "appeaser of Russia."

Bridges's list included James F. Byrnes, former Secretary of State; James Forrestal; Secretary of the Navy; former Senator Robert La Follette, of Winsconsin; Bernard M. Baruch, Ernest Martin Hopkins, president emeritus of Dartmouth College, and George Meany, AFL secretary.

Senator McMahon (D., Conn.), a committee member, said he believes the President made a good guess on the outcome of a vote that may be delayed two weeks or more.

"Grave Doubt," Wherry Says

A representative of the Democratic Police Committee said yesterday that a survey indicates approval. Senator Wherry, of Nebraska, the GOP whip, declared, however, there is "grave doubt" of any such result.

While opposing sides continued to jockey for the support of a large bloc of Senators who have declined to commit themselves publicly, Lilienthal supporters had their day before the Senate committee in the fourth week of its hearings.

Testimony by the group of Southern businessmen, who praised the nominee's integrity and ability, touched off a three-way clash among Chairman Hickenlooper (R., Iowa), Senator McKellar (D., Ten.), chief Lilienthal opponent, and Senator Connally (D., Texas).

McKellar Poses Question

McKellar asked Robert W. Bishop, Guntersville (Ala.) insurance man, what he thought about testimony the committee heard yesterday that Lilienthal had continued to receive pay from a Chicago clearing house while a member of the Wisconsin Railroad Commission.

McKellar said any such outside employment was forbidden by Wisconsin law at the time.

"If he (Lilienthal) did those things, it wasn't right," Bishop replied. Previously he had testified to Lilienthal's reputation for honesty.

Hickenlooper interrupted. He said he thought McKellar was "going pretty far afield" and being "unfair" in asking an Alabaman about something that might have occurred in Wisconsin.

Connally Objects

"May I suggest," he said, "that the morality or lack of morality of that particular transaction is more a matter for the committee to pass upon than a witness who did not hear the testimony or read the record of it."

Connally, who has declined to say publicly how he stands on the nomination, said he thought Hickenlooper was taking a lot on himself to decide whether McKellar's question was fair or not.

"If the witness doesn't want to answer the question, he can say so," Connally declared.

When Gene Monroe, Huntsville (Ala.), Chamber of Commerce president, testified Lilienthal was "well liked" throughout the Tennessee Valley, Senator McMahon asked the witness if he knew any "responsible person" who thinks Lilienthal "is a Communist."

"No," the witness said.

TRUMAN INDICATES VETO IF BUDGET IS CUT SIX BILLIONS

Serves Notice on Congress —Still Sees Hope for Keeping Up OPA.

Washington, Feb. 20 (A. P.).—As the House set itself to chop $6,000,000,000 off the administration's budget, President Truman served notice today that he would have plenty to say if that were the final congressional verdict.

He told reporters, firing questions at a news conference, that he did not want to comment now, but would give his views in no uncertain terms when the time came. That time, he added, would be when the matter reached his desk.

Mr. Truman has declared in the past that his $37,500,000,000 budget is rock-bottom for safe operations by the Government.

The President also told the reporters he was not convinced that the OPA would have to die.

The House has voted to recall $9,000,000 of earlier appropriations for the OPA and officials of the agency say this would virtually kill it. The Senate has not yet approved the recall and, if it does, Mr. Truman could veto the measure if he wished. If vetoed, it would become effective only if approved by two-thirds votes in both House and Senate.

"Is there any way OPA can be kept in operation if Congress withdraws its funds?" one reporter asked.

The President replied he would cross that bridge when he got to it.

Mr. Truman said that he is still 100 per cent behind David E. Lilienthal for the chairmanship of the Atomic Energy Commission and predicted the nomination will be confirmed by the Senate. Mr. Truman's choice of the former Tennessee Valley Authority chief for the atomic control post has been under fire from both Democratic and Republican Senators. Hearings on the nomination are still under way.

Backs Universal Training.

Mr. Truman parried many questions at the conference, but he did say:

1. He is still for universal training and will send a message to Congress urging its adoption as soon as he gets a report from a committee he assigned to study the matter.

2. The question of extension of the draft act beyond its current expiration date of March 31 is still under consideration.

3. He still has to find a man to take the post of Ambassador to Great Britain.

4. He intends to submit to Congress soon proposed legislation to carry out unification of the armed services.

5. The Government is doing all it can to alleviate a shortage of box cars.

6. He does not plan to discuss any political questions on his visit to Puerto Rico next month, but merely wanted to see how the native Government is getting along.

Sees Greater Surplus.

Replying to a reporter who asked whether the Republican economy program would have any effect on American foreign policy, Mr. Truman said he would deal with that when the situation developed. It has by no means developed yet, he added.

Informed that the Treasury surplus has now reached $1,700,000,000, the President forecast this would be greater still. He said the Government will have a cash balance at the end of this fiscal year, but he did not know whether the budget would be balanced because that's two different things.

He refused comment on a statement by Representative Landis (R.-Ind.) that there would be another coal strike if the Government does not get the mine operators and John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers together to settle their differences.

Export-Import Bank Approves Loan to Finns

$2,500,000 Credit Is Going to Private Interests to Push Goods Sales Here

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20 (AP).—The Export-Import Bank announced today authorization of a $2,500,000 credit to Finnish private interests to promote sale of Finland's commodities in the United States.

The funds are to be made available to the Finnish-American Trading Corp. provided additional capital is furnished by both American and Finnish sources.

The corporation was set up in this country by private Finnish capital to carry out a sales promotion campaign in the American market for a wide variety of goods produced in Finland.

The funds are to be used in buying machinery and equipment needed to expand and modernize Finnish industries.

These include ceramics, crockery, chinaware and glassware; various types of wooden articles, granite products, special metal goods, veneers and veneer products, furs and miscellaneous specialties and handicraft articles.

Lumber, pulp and paper products now account for most Finnish exports, but the bank expects the credit to help Finland increase and diversify its sales in this country.

It also expects Finland's ability to pay its previous loans from the bank, including some $32,000,000 in loans made a month ago, to be enhanced by the stepping up of sales of Finnish goods in the American markets.

William McChesney Martin jr., board chairman of the bank, said the loan was in line with a policy of helping private enterprises and with promoting exports from abroad to this country.

The Finnish-American Trading Corp. is to establish headquarters at Finland House, 39-41 East Fiftieth Street, New York.

The $2,500,000 credits would carry an average interest of 3 to 5 per cent, officials said.

Grain Purchase Announced

HELSINSKI, Feb. 20 (AP).—Finland will use one-half of a $10,000,000 credit granted by the Export-Import Bank to purchase 50,000 tons of grain from the United States, the Foreign Office announced today.

WAR BRIDES' SHIP 'UNSAFE'

S.S. Washington Used For A Year Despite Ruling

Washington, Feb. 20 (AP)—The Maritime Commission said today a State Department request led to year-long operation of the S.S. Washington as a war brides' ship and for other purposes, although the Coast Guard considered her an unsafe vessel.

Commodore M. C. Shepheard, head of the United States Coast Guard marine safety division, testified before the House Merchant Marine Committee that safety regulations were "waived" for the Washington.

This was done reluctantly, he said, in the knowledge that the craft is as "hazardous" as its sister ship, the S.S. Manhattan, which burned at sea during its wartime career as a troop transport.

Carried War Brides

The Washington has been operated between New York and French and British ports, transporting American citizens stranded for long periods abroad, displaced persons, war brides and children, official Government travelers, American business men and "others traveling in the national interest."

Shepheard said the Coast Guard approved operation of the Washington at the behest of the Maritime Commission. The Maritime Commission, in turn, said the Washington's operations were performed "at the request and under the direction of the State Department."

Shepheard read into the record a letter from W. W. Smith, Maritime Commissioner, setting out the commission's position. The letter said, in part:

"We have no desire to operate passenger-carrying vessels that afford anything other than the highest possible standards of saftey and comfort.

Cites Danger Of Fire

"However, we have the present obligation to carry forward certain Government programs which will require the use of this vessel (the Washington) and other even more unsuitable ships, which are all that are available to us."

Smith estimated it would cost upward of $11,000,000 to convert the Washington to meet full safety standards, and said this would be unjustified because the ship will be "substantially obsolete in another five or six years."

Shepheard testified that he does not consider the Washington a safe ship as she now stands. Her main deficiency, he said, is lack of fire resistance.

KILIAN PUT UP FOR PROMOTION

Army Says Law Requires His Name to Go on List.

Washington, Feb. 20 (A. P.).—The War Department said today that it will be compelled by law to include again the name of Col. James Kilian in an officer promotion list to go to the Senate for confirmation.

Kilian was convicted by court martial and was fined $500 on charges growing out of investigations of brutality to American prisoners at the Lichfield prison camp in England.

Kilian's nomination for promotion from lieutenant-colonel to the permanent rank of colonel was sent to the Senate in the last Congress, but was not acted upon because his case then was being tried.

Major-Gen. Floyd L. Parks, Army director of public relations, in answering questions of reporters regarding the automatic nomination of Kilian, made two points:

1. The War Department has been working for more than six months on legislation to amend the law requiring automatic promotion by seniority (under which Kilian's nomination comes up despite his court-martial conviction). It proposes instead that promotion be by selection of individuals, in a matter similar to that used by the Navy for several years.

2. With each of the more than 600 names on the list now being prepared will be attached a record of the man's service, including, in the case of Kilian, a notation of his court-martial conviction.

Parks explained that Kilian is a lieutenant-colonel in the Regular Army and by law (the national defense act) will be promoted if he meets certain requirements as to service and eligibility (which Parks said he did meet).

Any list that is issued by the War Department for congressional action, which also contains names of officers of rank junior to Kilian's, would by law have to include his name.

WON'T SAY NAVY WILL LEAVE CHINA

Washington, Feb. 20 (A. P.).—President Truman said today that he has heard no report that the United States Navy is withdrawing from China.

A reporter told Mr. Truman at his news conference: "It has been reported the Navy is withdrawing from China." The President replied that he had not heard about it.

Talk that naval forces as well as Marines may soon be pulling out of China gained impetus as Admiral Charles M. Cooke, commander of United States Naval Forces in the Western Pacific, arrived in Washington yesterday for conferences. Navy officials said only that the subject was "the changing situation in China."

A light carrier, cruisers and destroyers were among American warships originally based at Tsingtao.

Announcement was made on January 29 that United States Marines and the small Army forces there would be brought home from China. This followed abandonment by the United States Government of efforts at mediation between warring Nationalist and Communist factions there.

Italy Honors New York Lawyer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20 (AP)—The Bank of Italy has presented a handsome gift to a man who helped jail its former president, a holdover from the Mussolini era, on the ground that he had collaborated with the Germans. The gift, a reproduction of the Fifteenth Century two-volume d'Este Bible, was presented to Edward H. Foley Jr., Assistant Secretary of the Treasury and a New York lawyer. Mr. Foley formerly was joint director of the finance subcommission of the Allied Control Commission for Italy.

Inverchapel Notifies U. S.

Washington, Feb. 20 (A. P.).—Secretary of State Marshall was informed today by Lord Inverchapel, the British Ambassador, that Lord Mountbatten, wartime Allied commander in the Burma-India theater, has been appointed Viceroy of India.

Inverchapel conferred with Marshall for about thirty-five minutes and told reporters afterward that they discussed "affairs in India."

Walk Out on Inverchapel

Six Maryland Delegates Protest Palestine Policy

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Feb. 20 (AP).—Six members of the Maryland House of Delegates walked out of the chamber today as Lord Inverchapel, British Ambassador to the United States and a guest of the Legislature, mounted the speaker's rostrum.

Later Delegate Jerome Robinson, Baltimore Democrat, said that "we walked out in a dignified protest over the British policy toward Palestine and their breach of faith with the Jewish people." Robinson and the five other delegates who left the chamber are Jewish.

Lord Inverchapel seemed to take no notice of the incident, and did not comment later.

COLUMBIANS' HEAD IS FOUND GUILTY

Burke to Be Sentenced Today for 'Usurping Police Authority.'

ATLANTA, Feb. 20—(AP) Emory Burke, 31, Negro-baiting, Jew-hating president of Columbians, Inc., was convicted today of usurping police authority with his brown shirted troopers.

A 12-man Superior (Circuit) Court jury deliberated one hour and 23 minutes. Burke was convicted on three misdemeanor counts and acquitted on two other counts, the latter at the direction of the court.

Judge Carl Crow deferred sentence until 9:30 a.m. (EST) tomorrow.

Faces Two Other Trials

Burke, whom the prosecution called "this preacher of poison," still faces two other trials growing out of activities of the Columbians last October and November. He is charged with riot and also with illegal possession of dynamite, the prosecutor said.

Homer Loomis, Jr., executive secretary of the organization, was convicted last week of riot and sentenced to 12 months to a public works camp. Loomis also faces two more trials, one for usurping police authority and another for possession of dynamite.

Burke, dapper president of the once-arrogant, ultra-nationalist order, told the jury the Columbians were organized to preserve white supremacy and maintain the color line.

In an unsworn statement permitted under Georgia law, the pallid, sharp-faced Columbian leader denied allegations that he usurped police powers.

Rocking nervously in the witness chair, he lectured the jury on "race purity" and railed hoarsely against "the concerted, deliberate attack against southern institutions, and the attempt to break down the white race which is being carried on by those organizations most prominent in trying to send me and others to the chain gang."

Rebuked by Judge

Superior Judge Carl Crow interrupted him, saying: "You are talking about this case. You are not talking about some biological matter."

Burke, accused along with swaggering crop-haired Homer Loomis, Jr., of ordering the patrolling of Atlanta streets by uniformed Columbians who made arbitrary "arrests," claimed he knew practically nothing of the incidents in which Columbians are accused of invoking force against Negroes. He claimed he was in bed at the time one Negro, Clifford Hines, was blackjacked by a group of Columbians as he walked, unarmed, through a white residential section.

'Iron Curtain' Held But Veil To Beating Taken In War

Titusville, Pa., Feb. 20 (AP)—Russia's so-called "Iron Curtain" across Europe parted with surprising ease for Julien Bryan, director of the International Film Foundation of New York—but he insisted the reason for Soviet secrecy is to keep the world from knowing "what a beating they took," in World War II.

Bryan said he not only pierced the imaginary barrier but spent months behind it, traveling 3,000 to 4,000 miles for the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration, and taking pictures of nearly everything he wanted.

Sees Tourists Welcomed

Bryan flatly predicted that before the end of 1948 Russia would be welcoming tourists from America and other countries with open arms.

A native of Titusville, Bryan came here immediately after his return to the United States Tuesday, to be at the bedside of his 84-year-old father, S. S. Bryan, retired hardware merchant. The elder Bryan died yesterday.

In an interview given before his father's death and authorized for release today, Bryan said he was convinced—after five months in Italy, Poland, Germany and Russia—that the only way the United States can assure stability on the Continent is to see that Europeans don't starve.

Finds Doors Open To Him

Bryan found Russian doors open to him, he reported, because he traveled as a paying guest of UNRRA. He said he had a definite purpose that Russians could understand and approve—to photograph UNRRA food, agricultural machinery and clothing arriving in Russia, and where and how it was being used.

Bryan also made these observations:

On war between the United States and Russia: "There is not the slightest interest of any sort in Russia about war."

On Russia's belligerent diplomatic attitude: "Because they want the best terms possible, for Russia, at the peace conference this March in Moscow."

Bryan brought with him from Russia about 10,000 feet of color movie film.

Atomic-Control Issues Before U.N. Council

Lake Success, N.Y., Feb. 20 (AP)—Three principal points of disagreement between Soviet Russia and the United States on atomic control stood out today as the United Nations Security Council delegates discussed possible ways to harness the atom for peace.

The council was called to meet late today for an important general debate on the Russian and United States proposals now before the delegates.

Points At Issue

It was generally agreed among the delegates that the three outstanding points at issue were:

1. The veto.
2. A convention prohibiting atomic weapons immediately.
3. The lack of powers for constructive work on atomic energy in a control scheme.

On the veto, the United States remained firm in its demand that the veto right in the Security Council must not apply on atomic matters, particularly on punishing offenders of any atomic control setup.

Russian Position

Russia is equally firm in demanding that the veto remain without alteration, which means that the veto would apply on the atomic question as well as any other. Russia also wants all atomic controls established within the framework of the Security Council.

The United States, on the convention issue, has insisted on a treaty or a convention that would button up atomic controls, adequate safeguards, and every phase of atomic development in one tight package.

Russia, on the other hand, wants an immediate convention prohibiting use of atomic energy for warlike purposes immediately and another convention setting up the system of controls.

Inspection Issue

The United States and Russia are virtually together on the question of inspections. Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet delegate, explained later that under his proposals the inspection should be carried out by an international inspection organ in the territory of all nations, both those in which nuclear fuel plants now exist and those in which nuclear fuel plants may be built after the appropriate convention is adopted. He agreed with the United States view that inspectors of control organs should have free access to all countries.

Meanwhile, the Council scheduled a meeting tomorrow to continue debate on the charges filed by Great Britain against Albania. The British charged that Albania laid or was responsible for laying mines that damaged two British destroyers last October 22 and killed 44 British sailors. Albania in a long answer yesterday denied the charges and accused the British of hostile and provocative acts against Albania.

BRITON BACKS U.S. ON VETO

Cadogan Opposes Application To Atom Curb Penalties

Lake Success, N.Y., Feb. 20 (AP)—Sir Alexander Cadogan, British delegate to the United Nations Security Council, reaffirmed today his country's support of the United States demand for no veto on punishment of prospective atomic criminals.

In a 55-minute session of the Security Council, Cadogan said:

"We believe that it is an absolutely essential condition of international control in the field of atomic energy, as in the field of conventional armaments, that there must be no evasion of the system of control of atomic and other weapons through the right of veto."

Fundamental Differences

The British delegate pointed out three fundamental differences between the United States position, written into the report of the Atomic Energy Commission, and the proposals submitted by Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet delegate.

Cadogan listed them as the veto, "the emphasis to be laid on the question of prohibition of the atomic weapon at this stage" and the "emphasis to be given to the development aspects of the (international control) agency's work."

Suggested By Chairman

Fernand van Langenhove, of Belgium, Security Council chairman, suggested that the proper procedure would be to send the commission's report and the Soviet proposals back to the commission, with the Security Council stating just where it was not able to reach agreement.

Baron Guy de la Tournelle, of France, and Faris Bey el Khoury, of Syria, supported the chairman.

The Security Council adjourned the atomic debate until next Tuesday. It will meet tomorrow to continue hearing Great Britain's case against Albania.

PATTERSON WARNS ON DISARMAMENT

NEW YORK, Feb. 20—(AP) Secretary of War Patterson said today that "an army on a blueprint is a poor asset for security" and asserted that if the U. S. disarms "while nations overseas maintain their armament we will be asking for World War Three."

Patterson said this is a world "where power counts" in calling for universal military training, continued recruiting for the regular army, and "an adequate appropriation" for the war department.

"We cannot begin too soon to give the United States the strength required by our place in the world," he said at the formal activation of the 77th Division, the 22nd Corps Artillery and the 305th Anti-Aircraft Brigade as organized reserve units for the New York metropolitan area.

He said the War Department already had pared its budget requests wherever possible, and added:

"If the proposed further cut of $1,000,000,000 is made from the military budget, it will mean a reduction in effect strength of 200,000 soldiers, one-fifth of the army, and that will mean an army too weak to carry out the duties assigned to it."

LONDON, FEB. 20—(AP)—PRIME MINISTER ATTLEE ANNOUNCED TO PARLIAMENT TODAY THAT BRITAIN INTENDED BY JUNE, 1948, TO TURN OVER TO A RESPONSIBLE INDIAN GOVERNMENT THE RIGHT SUB-CONTINENT OF INDIA WHERE SHE HAS HELD FOR 200 YEARS.

THE PRIME MINISTER'S STATEMENT WAS DENOUNCED BY THE OPPOSITION IN THE HOUSE OF LORDS, WHERE VISCOUNT CAMROSE SAID IT "AMOUNTS TO THE SURRENDER OF INDIA IN CONDITIONS WHICH MAY LEAD TO CHAOS."

VISCOUNT OF INDIA AND THE SECESSION OF BURMA FROM THE COMMONWEALTH WERE ANNOUNCED BY ATTLEE ALSO ANNOUNCED THE RECALL OF FIELD MARSHAL LORD WAVELL AS VICEROY OF INDIA, AND HIS REPLACEMENT BY LOUIS MOUNTBATTEN, CHIEF OF ADM. VISCOUNT MOUNTBATTEN, ATTLEE'S FIRST EXPRESS. CHEERS ROSE OUT LATER FROM THE CONSERVATIVE BENCHES IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS

WHEN WINSTON CHURCHILL DEMANDED AN EXPLANATION OF WAVELL'S RECALL.

ATTLEE'S STATEMENT SAID THE BRIVISH DID NOT INTEND TO SURRENDER THEIR POWERS OVER THE PRINCELY STATES, SUCH AS HYDERABAD, "EARLIER THAN THE DATE OF THE FINAL TRANSFER OF POWER, BUT IT IS CONTEMPLATED THAT FOR THE INTERVENING PERIOD THE RELATIONS OF THE CROWN WITH THE INDIVIDUAL STATES MAY BE ADJUSTED BY AGREEMENT."

1947

THE BRITISH EMPIRE, UNDER VARIOUS TREATIES, IS THE PARAMOUNT POWER OVER THE PRINCELY STATES, WHICH ARE NOT CONSIDERED A PART OF INDIA PROPER. THE STATES ARE RULED BY CHIEFS AND PRINCES SUBJECT TO BRITISH PARAMOUNTCY.

ATTLEE, WHO MADE THE HISTORIC ANNOUNCEMENT IN TERSE, UNEMOTIONAL SENTENCES, OFFERED NO EXPLANATION FOR THE RECALL OF LORD WAVELL, VICEROY SINCE 1943. WHEN ATTLEE COMPLETED THE STATEMENT, CHURCHILL REPEATEDLY PRESSED THE POINT.

"SURELY," SAID THE OPPOSITION LEADER, "THE PRIME MINISTER DID NOT WAKE UP ONE MORNING AND SAY, 'OH, LET US GET ANOTHER VICEROY.' THERE MUST BE SOME REASON BEHIND THIS MOMENTOUS EVENT."

FROM THE CONSERVATIVE BENCHES CAME CRIES OF "ANSWER!" BUT ATTLEE WOULD SAY ONLY THAT WAVELL'S APPOINTMENT HAD BEEN A WARTIME ONE, AND THIS SEEMED A SUITABLE TIME TO MAKE A CHANGE.

A FRESH UPROAR BROKE OUT WHEN OTHER OPPOSITION MEMBERS PROTESTED THAT IT WAS UNCERTAIN WHEN THERE WOULD BE A GOVERNMENT IN INDIA CAPABLE OF TAKING THE POWER.

"WE ARE AGAINST THE DRIFT," ATTLEE REPLIED. "WE WANT TO BRING THIS UNCERTAINTY TO A CLOSE."

WITH NIGHT LEAD INDIA (390)

LONDON, FRIDAY, FEB.21-(AP)-THE DAILY MAIL SAID TODAY THAT VISCOUNT WAVELL HAD BEEN "SACKED" AS VICEROY OF INDIA BECAUSE OF DISAGREEMENT WITH THE CABINET OVER HIS INSISTENCE THAT MOSLEM LEAGUE REPRESENTATIVES BE RETAINED IN THE INDIAN INTERIM GOVERNMENT OVER OBJECTIONS OF THE PREDOMINANTLY HINDU CONGRESS PARTY.

THE MAIL'S POLITICAL CORRESPONDENT, WILSON BROADBENT, WROTE THAT "FRICTION" HAD PREVAILED FOR A LONG TIME BETWEEN WAVELL AND THE CABINET AND "THIS DEVELOPED INTO A FEELING OF FRUSTRATION ON THE PART OF THE VICEROY WHICH LED TO THE FINAL BREAK."

MOST LONDON MORNING PAPERS CALLED UPON PRIME MINISTER ATTLEE EDITORIALLY TO AMPLIFY THE REASONS FOR WAVELL'S REPLACEMENT BY VISCOUNT MOUNTBATTEN AT A CRUCIAL STAGE IN INDIAN INDEPENDENCE NEGOTIATIONS, BUT THE CONSERVATIVE DAILY MAIL WAS THE ONLY PAPER TO SPECULATE ON POLICY DISAGREEMENTS.

"THE BREACH IS SAID TO HAVE DEVELOPED OVER CONGRESS' INSISTENCE THAT MOSLEM LEAGUE REPRESENTATIVES SHOULD BE COMPELLED TO WITHDRAW FROM THE INDIAN INTERIM GOVERNMENT IF THE LEAGUE WOULD NOT TAKE PART IN THE CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY," BROADBENT WROTE.

"EVENTUALLY, THERE WAS REASON TO FEAR, IT SEEMS, THAT CONGRESS MEMBERS WOULD RESIGN FROM THE INTERIM GOVERNMENT UNLESS THEIR DEMANDS WERE CONCEDED.

"LORD WAVELL IS SAID TO HAVE BEEN OPPOSED TO THIS FORM OF PRESSURE HE WISHED TO RETAIN THE MOSLEM MEMBERS IN THE HOPE THAT AGREEMENT WOULD ULTIMATELY SPREAD MORE WIDELY.

"THE SITUATION REACHED A CLIMAX QUITE RECENTLY WHEN THE BRITISH CABINET, UNDER THE THREAT OF CONGRESS WITHDRAWAL FROM THE INTERIM GOVERNMENT, CAME DOWN ON THE CONGRESS SIDE."

THE DAILY MAIL, LONG OPPOSED TO ANY SEPARATION OF INDIA FROM THE EMPIRE, SAID IN AN EDITORIAL THAT THE DECISION FOR FINAL SEPARATION NEXT YEAR IS A "GAMBLE WITH INDIA" AND A PRELUDE TO "A FIGHT WITHOUT QUARTER AND WITHOUT MERCY" BETWEEN HINDUS AND MOSLEMS.

THE LABORITE DAILY HERALD SAID ATTLEE'S STATEMENT WAS "FINAL PROOF OF THE FACT THAT THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT IS SINCERE IN ITS DESIRE TO SEE INDIA RULED BY INDIANS AND DOES NOT, AS IS SOMETIMES SUGGESTED, DERIVE SECRET SATISFACTION FROM COMMUNAL QUARRELS WHICH ARE DELAYING THE TRANSFER."

THE LIBERAL NEWS CHRONICLE SAID "TODAY THE ONUS OF A PEACEFUL SETTLEMENT IS PLACED MUCH MORE FIRMLY ON THE SHOULDERS OF THE INDIAN LEADERS." X X X

LORD BEAVERBROOK'S CONSERVATIVE DAILY EXPRESS SAID "INDIA IS IN DANGER OF DISINTEGRATION," AND RAPPED THE GOVERNMENT'S "POLICY OF ABDICATION."

THE CONSERVATIVE DAILY GRAPHIC COMMENTED THAT THE BRITISH DECISION "MUST AGGRAVATE THE UNREST IN EGYPT, BURMA, PALESTINE, MALAYA AND ELSEWHERE."

INDIA

BY ROBERT HEWETT

LONDON, FEB. 21-(AP)-THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT LEFT SQUARELY UP TO FEUDING HINDU AND MOSLEM LEADERS TODAY THE QUESTION OF WHETHER INDIA INTENDS TO WIN INDEPENDENCE IN BLOODY CIVIL WAR OR THROUGH PEACEFUL NEGOTIATIONS BY THE TIME BRITAIN ENDS HER REIGN OVER THE RICH SUB-CONTINENT 16 MONTHS HENCE.

PRIME MINISTER ATTLEE TOLD THE WORLD YESTERDAY THAT BRITAIN INTENDS TO PULL OUT OF INDIA BY JUNE, 1948, AND AT THE SAME TIME APPOINTED ADMIRAL LORD MOUNTBATTEN, A GREAT GRANDSON OF THE FIRST BRITISH EMPRESS OF INDIA, AS VICEROY TO LIQUIDATE 200 YEARS OF BRITISH RULE.

SOME EMPIRE-MINDED CONSERVATIVES AND SECTIONS OF THE BRITISH PRESS DIRELY PREDICTED THAT A BLOODY STRUGGLE FOR POWER IN INDIA WOULD RESULT FROM BRITAIN'S WITHDRAWAL.

LORD TEMPLEWOOD--SIR SAMUEL HOARE BEFORE HE BECAME A PEER-PRE-PRESENTED A MOTION LAST NIGHT DECLARING THAT THE END OF BRITISH RULE "IS LIKELY TO IMPERIL THE PEACE AND PROSPERITY OF INDIA."

DEBATE WAS SCHEDULED IN THE HOUSE OF LORDS NEXT TUESDAY ON THE MOTION AND IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS THE WEEK AFTER NEXT. THE DELAY WAS CAUSED BECAUSE THE HOUSE OF COMMONS IS SCHEDULED TO DEBATE THREE OTHER PRESSING BRITISH PROBLEMS FIRST--FOREIGN AFFAIRS ON THE EVE OF FOREIGN SECRETARY ERNEST BEVIN'S DEPARTURE FOR MOSCOW, TURNING THE PALESTINE MANDATE OVER TO THE UNITED NATIONS AND GOVERNMENT HANDLING OF THE GRAVE COAL CRISIS.

IF TEMPLEWOOD'S MOTION--AMOUNTING TO A VOTE OF CENSURE OF THE LABOR GOVERNMENT--IS PUSHED TO A VOTE, IT PROBABLY WILL PASS IN THE CONSERVATIVE-DOMINATED HOUSE OF LORDS, BUT ATTLEE IS SURE OF HIS SOLID LABOR MAJORITY IN THE ALL-IMPORTANT COMMONS, WHICH PREVIOUSLY HAD VOTED APPROVAL OF THE IDEA OF FREEDOM FOR INDIA.

A17

THE LABOR GOVERNMENT'S ATTITUDE ON THE QUESTION WAS SUMMED UP BY THE COMMENT OF THE DAILY HERALD, THE PARTY ORGAN, WHICH SAID:

"TO THE REST OF THE WORLD IT WILL BE A FINAL PROOF OF THE FACT THAT THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT IS SINCERE IN ITS DESIRE TO SEE INDIA RULED BY INDIANS AND DOES NOT, AS IS SOMETIMES SUGGESTED, DERIVE SECRET SATISFACTION FROM THE COMMUNAL QUARRELS WHICH ARE DELAYING THE TRANSFER."

THE MAIN HOUSE OF COMMONS DISCUSSION, HOWEVER, IS EXPECTED TO BE CONCENTRATED ON THE GOVERNMENT'S ABRUPT REPLACEMENT OF VICEROY LORD WAVELL BY MOUNTBATTEN--AN ACTION WHICH BROUGHT ANGRY PROTESTS FROM WINSTON CHURCHILL YESTERDAY AND FROM SOME BRITISH NEWSPAPERS TODAY.

THE PRIME MINISTER'S OFFICE ANNOUNCED THAT VISCOUNT WAVELL WAS TO BE AWARDED AN EARLDOM AND THAT MOUNTBATTEN WOULD BE APPOINTED TO THE PRIVY COUNCIL.

MOST LONDON MORNING PAPERS CALLED ON ATTLEE TO AMPLIFY THE REASONS FOR WAVELL'S REPLACEMENT. THE DAILY MAIL FLATLY DECLARED THAT THE VICEROY HAD BEEN "SACKED" BECAUSE OF A DISAGREEMENT WITH THE CABINET OVER HIS INSISTENCE THAT MOSLEM LEAGUE REPRESENTATIVES BE RETAINED IN THE INTERIM INDIAN GOVERNMENT IN SPITE OF DEMANDS BY THE HINDU-DOMINATED ALL-INDIA CONGRESS PARTY THAT THEY BE OUSTED.

THE HINDUS MAINTAIN THAT THE CONTINUED PRESENCE OF MOSLEMS IN THE GOVERNMENT IS INCOMPATIBLE WITH THEIR CONTINUING BOYCOTT OF THE CONSTITUTION-DRAFTING CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY, NOW IN RECESS UNTIL APRIL.

THE FIRST REACTION IN INDIA, NEW DELHI DISPATCHES SAID, WAS THAT BRITISH ACTION HAD PUSHED THE VAST NATION AND ITS 400,000,000 RESIDENTS TO THE BRINK OF DECISION--CIVIL WAR OR AMICABLE SETTLEMENT.

CONGRESS LEADERS FELT BRITISH WITHDRAWAL MEANT A VICTORY FOR THE PRINCIPLES OF THE CONGRESS PARTY AND SOME REGARDED WAVELL'S REPLACEMENT AS A STEP TO PLACATE PANDIT JAWAHARLAL NEHRU, LEADING MINISTER OF THE INTERIM GOVERNMENT AND CHIEF STRATEGIST OF THE CONGRESS PARTY.

MAHOMED ALI JINNAH, PRESIDENT OF THE MOSLEM LEAGUE, SAID HE WANTED TO STUDY THE BRITISH STATEMENT BEFORE COMMENTING, BUT OTHER MOSLEM LEADERS DOURLY PREDICTED THAT CIVIL WAR WOULD ERUPT AS SOON AS THE BRITISH LEAVE, AND PERHAPS BEFORE. JINNAH EARLIER HAD SAID THAT FOR THE BRITISH TO LEAVE WITHOUT PROVIDING SAFEGUARDS FOR MINORITIES (THE 90,000,000 MOSLEMS IN INDIA COMPRISE THE LARGEST MINORITY) WOULD BE IN "VIOLATION OF THEIR SOLEMN PROMISES."

ONE INFORMED SOURCE IN LONDON SAID THE WHOLE PURPOSE OF THE NEW BRITISH STEP WAS TO "PRODUCE AGREEMENT" BETWEEN MOSLEMS AND HINDUS, WHO HAVE REFUSED TO COOPERATE IN DRAFTING THE FRAMEWORK OF AN INDEPENDENT INDIA AND WHO HAVE ENGAGED IN BLOODY COMMUNAL RIOTING FATAL TO THOUSANDS.

LONDON, FEB 20-(AP)-TWO INFLUENTIAL LEFTWING WEEKLIES THAT OFTEN REFLECT THE OPINION OF LABOR GOVERNMENT LEADERS--THE TRIBUNE AND THE NEW STATESMAN AND NATION--ADVOCATED TODAY CREATION OF A CABINET MANPOWER BOARD AND MINISTRY OF INFORMATION WITH VIRTUAL WARTIME POWERS TO SPUR PRODUCTION DURING BRITAIN'S ECONOMIC CRISIS.

EDITORS OF BOTH PERIODICALS, WHOSE LEAD EDITORIALS WERE PRINTED BY DAILY NEWSPAPERS BECAUSE OF THE TWO-WEEK POWER-SAVING BAN ON PUBLICATION OF WEEKLIES, DECLARED THAT THE GRAVE COAL SHORTAGE HAD STRENGTHENED DETERMINATION OF LABOR PARTY SUPPORTERS TO PURSUE THE GOVERNMENT'S SOCIALIST PROGRAM OF POSTWAR RECOVERY.

THE "CRISIS EDITION" OF THE CONSERVATIVE SPECTATOR, PRINTED ON THE EDITORIAL PAGE OF THE DAILY MAIL, DECLARED THAT "A GOVERNMENT OBDURATELY INSISTENT ON APPLYING ITS UNTRIED DOCTRINES WHOLESALE IS A GOVERNMENT GAMBLING IRRESPONSIBLY WITH THE NATIONAL WELFARE."

THE TRIBUNE EDITORIAL, PRINTED BY THE DAILY HERALD, DECLARED THAT BRITAIN'S POWER BREAKDOWN HAS EMPHASIZED THE GRAVITY OF THE MANPOWER SHORTAGE AND SAID "THE TIME HAS COME FOR A MANPOWER BOARD WITH POWERS AS COMPLETE AS HAD THE WAR CABINET."

"FOR THE CHIEF PROBLEM IS MANPOWER: THERE IS NO ESCAPE FROM IT X X X ," THE TRIBUNE SAID. "FOR THE IMMEDIATE FUTURE, THEREFORE, THERE IS NO ALTERNATIVE TO REESTABLISHMENT OF THE CONTROL OVER EMPLOYMENT IN THE WIDEST SENSE. NOT DIRECTION OF LABOUR, BUT THE EXERCISE OF CONTROL OVER THE TYPE OF WORK FOR WHICH FIRMS MAY EMPLOY WORKERS, WHILE GIVING AT THE SAME TIME FURTHER INDUCMENTS TO WORKERS TO ENTER UNATTRACTIVE INDUSTRIES."

THE LEFT WING NEW STATESMAN AND NATION, APPEARING IN ABBREVIATED FORM IN THE NEWS CHRONICLE, DECLARED THAT THE CRISIS HAD EMPHASIZED TO BRITAIN'S WORKERS--MAINSTAY OF THE LABOR GOVERNMENT--THAT "THE SITUATION DEMANDS NOT LESS SOCIALIST PLANNING BUT MORE."

THE WEEKLY ADVOCATED RE-ESTABLISHMENT OF THE WARTIME MINISTRY OF INFORMATION "TO MAKE THE SECOND BATTLE FOR BRITAIN NEWS IN EVERY FACTORY AND HOME."

THE MOTION SAID IT ALSO WAS EXPEDIENT THAT THE GOVERNMENT "FOLLOWING THE 1940 PRECEDENT, NEGOTIATE WITH THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA THE EARLIEST POSSIBLE SUPPLY OF NEEDED CAPITAL GOODS IN EXCHANGE FOR THE SOVEREIGNTY OF BRITISH COLONIES AND DEPENDENCIES IN THE WESTERN HEMISPHERE."

PARIS, FEB. 20-(AP)-PREMIER PAUL RAMADIER TOLD A NEWS CONFERENCE TODAY THAT A SECOND SERIES OF FIVE PERCENT PRICE CUTS, TO BE EFFECTIVE ABOUT THE END OF FEBRUARY, WOULD NOT BE THE LAST IN FRANCE'S FIGHT TO SAVE THE FRANC AND STABILIZE HER INTERNAL ECONOMY.

HE SAID THE NEW PRICE CUTS WOULD NOT BE AS ALL-INCLUSIVE AS THE FIVE PER CENT REDUCTION PROGRAM EFFECTED BY THE BLUM INTERIM GOVERNMENT JAN. 2.

BUT HE POINTED OUT THAT THE JANUARY RETAIL PRICE INDEX BACKED DOWN TO 836, WHICH WAS NOVEMBER'S FIGURE, AFTER DECEMBER'S PRICES ROARED TO AN INDEX OF 865.

THE PREMIER SAID A PROLONGATION OF THE CAMPAIGN EVENTUALLY WOULD DRIVE HIDDEN STOCKS INTO THE MARKET WHEN HOLDERS SAW THAT THE GOVERNMENT WAS DETERMINED TO KEEP PRICES DOWN.

BERLIN, FEB. 20-(AP)-AIR MARSHALL SIR SHOLTO DOUGLAS, BRITISH COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF, SAID TODAY THE 157,000 EMPLOYABLE DISPLACED PERSONS IN THE BRITISH ZONE HENCEFORTH WILL BE COMPELLED TO WORK.

THE 234,000 DISPLACED PERSONS IN THE ZONE ALSO WILL HAVE THEIR RATIONS REDUCED TO 1,550 CALORIES A DAY, BRINGING THEM IN LINE WITH THE STANDARD FOR GERMANS, HE SAID.

THE BRITISH COMMANDER SAID THE EMPLOYABLES TILL BE OBLIGED TO REGISTER FOR WORK IMMEDIATELY UNDER ALLIED CONTROL COUNCIL ORDERS AND THOSE REFUSING TO REGISTER OR TO ACCEPT "REASONABLE OFFERS OF EMPLOYMENT" WILL BE LIABLE TO PROSECUTION, FATIGUE DUTY IN THEIR CAMPS AND EVEN IMPRISONMENT. THEY WILL NOT BE LIABLE TO LOSS OF THEIR STATUS OF DISPLACED PERSONS OR THEIR NORMAL SCALE OF RATIONS, HOWEVER.

SIR SHOLTO'S ANNOUNCEMENT FOLLOWED SEVERAL MONTHS NEGOTIATION WITH UNRRA OFFICIALS IN WHICH UNRRA CONTENDED THAT DISPLACED PERSONS SHOOULD NOT BE MADE TO WORK AND THAT THEY SHOULD GET HIGHER RATIONS THAN GERMANS.

SIR SHOLTO SAID THE BRITISH VIEW WAS THAT AFTER TWO YEARS OF IDLENESS MOST DISPLACED PERSONS WANTED TO WORK. ABOUT 87,000 ALREADY HAVE WORK, HE SAID, 47,000 OF THEM AT DUTIES IN THE CAMPS AND 40,000 WHO WENT OUT AND FOUND JOBS ON THEIR OWN.

CONCERNING RATIONS, HE SAID, THE BRITISH TAXPAYER WAS DEMANDING A REDUCTION IN COSTS.

FRANKFURT, GERMANY, FEB.20-(AP)-MAJOR CONSOLIDATIONS OF THE U.S. ARMY IN GERMANY AND INACTIVATION OF THE CONSTABULARY'S LIGHT TANK TROOPS WERE ORDERED TODAY.

"TANKS ARE NO LONGER CONSIDERED NECESSARY DUE TO THE SATISFACTORY SECURITY SITUATION IN THE U.S. ZONE OF GERMANY," HEADQUARTERS ANNOUNCED.

"RECENT INTELLIGENCE REPORTS INDICATE THAT NO LARGE UNDERGROUND MOVEMENT IS EVIDENT IN GERMANY AND ARMORED CARS NOW USED BY THE CONSTABULARY ARE CONSIDERED ADEQUATE," IT WAS SAID.

THE FOUR MILITARY DISTRICTS OF AMERICAN-OCCUPIED GERMANY WERE CONSOLIDATED INTO TWO MILITARY DISTRICTS, WITH THE STATUS OF BREMEN UNDECIDED. BAVARIA WAS DESIGNED AS THE FIRST MILITARY AREA UNDER THE COMMAND OF MAJ. GEN. FRANK W. MILBURN, COMMANDER OF THE FIRST INFANTRY DIVISION.

HESSE AND WUERTTEMBERG-BADEN WERE COMBINED INTO THE SECOND MILITARY DISTRICT UNDER THE CONSTABULARY CHIEF, MAJ. GEN. ERNEST N. HARMON.

THE CHANGES WERE ORDERED IN THE INTERESTS OF "ADMINISTRATIVE EFFICIENCY," GEN.JOSEPH T. MCNARNEY'S OFFICE SAID.

NUERNBERG, GERMANY, FEB 20-(AP)-FRANZ VON PAPEN ASSERTED IN AN INTERVIEW TODAY THAT HE PROPOSED TO ADOLF HITLER IN 1934 THAT PRINCE LOUIS FERDINAND, GRANDSON OF THE EXILED KAISER, BE MADE KING OF GERMANY AND THAT HITLER "SEEMED QUITE SATISFIED WITH THE IDEA."

THE PRINCE THEN WAS WORKING IN THE FORD PLANT IN DETROIT AS A MECHANIC.

VON PAPEN IS AWAITING A VERDICT, WHICH HE SAID HE EXPECTED TO BE A TEN-YEAR SENTENCE AT HARD LABOR, FROM A GERMAN DENAZIFICATION COURT MONDAY. THE FORMER DIPLOMAT SAID HE HAD FELT THAT ONLY RESTORATION OF THE MONARCHY COULD GIVE GERMANY STABILITY.

"I TOOK IT UP WITH HITLER," HE SAID. "HE SEEMED QUITE SATISFIED WITH THE IDEA. BUT HE SAID THE PEOPLE WERE IN A TURMOIL AND THINGS MUST SETTLE DOWN FIRST."

VON PAPEN SAID HE THEN BROACHED THE MATTER TO BENITO MUSSOLINI.

"MUSSOLINI AGREED," THE 68-YEAR-OLD GERMAN SAID. "AFTER ALL IT WAS THE SAME PATTERN HE MAINTAINED IN ITALY AND HE AGREED TO TAKE IT UP WITH HITLER AT THEIR FIRST IMPORTANT MEETING THAT SUMMER."

VON PAPEN SAID HE NEVER GOT A REPORT ABOUT THE DISCUSSION, IF IT ACTUALLY OCCURRED. IN STATING THAT HE EXPECTED THE MAXIMUM 10-YEAR SENTENCE, VON PAPEN COMMENTED:

"IF I WAS WRONG IN THINKING HITLER WAS GOOD FOR GERMANY IN THE BEGINNING, SO WERE MILLIONS OF OTHER LITTLE FELLOWS."

MOSCOW, FEB 21-(AP)-RUSSIA'S SUPREME SOVIET (PARLIAMENT) SCHEDULED DEBATE TODAY ON A 1947 BUDGET CALLING FOR THE SOVIET UNION TO DEVOTE ONLY 18 PERCENT OF HER TOTAL BUDGETED EXPENDITURES TO THE ARMED FORCES, COMPARED WITH 24 PERCENT LAST YEAR.

INFORMED ONLOOKERS, JUDGING BY PAST PERFORMANCES, SAW NO REASON WHY THE BUDGET SHOULD NOT PASS BOTH HOUSES--THE COUNCIL OF NATIONALITIES AND THE COUNCIL OF THE UNION--AS SUBMITTED BY FINANCE MINISTER ARSENI G. ZVEREV TO A JOINT SESSION LAST NIGHT.

ZVEREV RECOMMENDED THAT THE SOVIET UNION THIS YEAR SPEND $74,280,000,000. OF THIS, HE PROPOSED THAT $13,400,000,000 BE SPENT ON DEFENSE. (THE TRANSLATION TO U.S. CURRENCY IS BASED ON THE OFFICIAL EXCHANGE RATE OF 5.3 RUBLES TO THE DOLLAR.)

(PRESIDENT TRUMAN HAS SUBMITTED A BUDGET OF $37,500,000,000 FOR THE UNITED STATES IN THE FISCAL YEAR TO START JULY 1. OF THIS, ABOUT $11,200,000,000, OR SOME 30 PERCENT, WOULD BE FOR DEFENSE CONGRESS NOW IS IN THE PROCESS OF TRIMMING THE PRESIDENT'S BUDGET.)

IN 1946 THE SOVIET UNION'S MILITARY SPENDING TOTALED $14,520,000,000--OR ABOUT 24 PERCENT OF THE TOTAL.

IN 1940, BEFORE GERMANY INVADED RUSSIA, IT WAS ABOUT 33 PERCENT; IN 1943, SOME 60 PERCENT.

ZVEREV MADE HIS REPORT IN THE GREAT PALACE OF THE KREMLIN. PRIME MINISTER STALIN WAS AMONG HIS LISTENERS.

THE FINANCE MINISTER ESTIMATED THAT EXPENSES FOR 1947 WOULD BE 22 PERCENT HIGHER THAN LAST YEAR. HE ESTIMATED THAT REVENUE--$78,300,000,000--WOULD BE 21 PERCENT HIGHER.

HIS RECOMMENDATIONS FOR 1947 SPENDING INCLUDED:

SCIENCE--$1,300,000,000, AGAINST $1,000,000,000 LAST YEAR.

SOCIAL INSURANCE (PENSIONS)--$4,120,000,000 AGAINST $3,402,000,000 LAST YEAR.

AGRICULTURE--$3,058,000,000, AGAINST $2,370,000,000 LAST YEAR.

ZVEREV SAID RUSSIA HAD EXPECTED TO COLLECT $4,680,000,000 IN STATE TAXES IN 1946, BUT FELL $140,000,000 SHORT OF THAT.

HE SAID THE MARGIN WAS DUE PARTLY TO "UNSATISFACTORY WORK OF PARTICULAR FINANCE ORGANS, AND PRIMARILY THOSE OF THE WHITE RUSSIAN, LITHUANIAN AND LATVIAN REPUBLICS, THE MOLDAVIAN AND BASHKIR AUTONOMOUS REPUBLICS AND THE RYAZAN AND YAROSLAV REGIONS."

MOSCOW, FEB.20-(AP)-FINANCE MINISTER A.G.ZVEREV RECOMMENDED TO A JOINT SESSION OF THE SUPREME SOVIET (PARLIAMENT) TONIGHT THAT RUSSIA IN 1947 SPEND BUT 18 PERCENT OF HER TOTAL BUDGETED EXPENDITURES FOR HER ARMED FORCES.

IN 1946 THE MILITARY EXPENDITURES OF THE U.S.S.R. CONSTITUTED 24 PERCENT OF THE NATION'S EXPENDITURES, AND IN 1945 MILITARY EXPENDITURES CONSTITUTED 43 PERCENT OF THE TOTAL.

WITH PRIME MINISTER STALIN LOOKING ON APPROVINGLY IN THE GREAT PALACE OF THE KREMLIN, ZVEREV MADE HIS LENGTHY REPORT TO THE ATTENTIVE DELEGATES.

LAST YEAR THE SOVIET UNION SPENT $14,520,000,000 FOR HER ARMED SERVICES. THE TOTAL THIS YEAR FIGURES OUT TO $13,400,000,000.

THE FINANCE MINISTER MADE THE FOLLOWING OVER-ALL RECOMMENDATIONS:

REVENUE--$78,300,000,000.

EXPENSES--$74,280,000,000.

THE ESTIMATED INCOME FOR 1947 WILL BE 21 PERCENT HIGHER THAN LAST YEAR AND EXPENSES ARE EXPECTED TO BE 22 PERCENT HIGHER.

BOTH HOUSES OF THE SUPREME SOVIET--THE COUNCIL OF NATIONALITIES AND THE COUNCIL OF THE UNION--WILL DEBATE THE FINANCE MINISTER'S RECUO,4ET

THE COUNCIL OF THE UNION--WILL DEBATE THE FINANCE MINISTER'S RECOMMENDATIONS TOMORROW.

THE COUNCIL OF THE UNION--WILL DEBATE THE FINANCE MINISTER'S RECOMMENDATIONS TOMORROW.

IF THE USUAL CUSTOM IS FOLLOWED--AND THERE IS NO REASON TO ASSUME IT WILL NOT BE--ZVEREV'S RECOMMENDATIONS WILL BE ACCEPTED.

JERUSALEM, FEB.20-(AP)-NEW OUTBREAKS OF VIOLENCE WERE REPORTED TODAY IN PALESTINE AS BOTH JEWISH AND ARAB NEWSPAPERS SHARPLY ATTACKED BRITAIN'S PLAN TO TURN THE WHOLE HOLY LAND PROBLEM OVER TO THE UNITED NATIONS.

AN OFFICIAL ANNOUNCEMENT SAID THAT A ROYAL AIR FORCE STATION AT EIN SHEMER NEAR HAIFA WAS ATTACKED DURING THE NIGHT WITH MORTAR AND SMALL ARMS FIRE. THERE WERE NO CASUALTIES.

EARLIER A JEWISH TRUCK DRIVER WAS HELD UP AT NEARBY HEDERAH AND HIS TRUCK TAKEN BY A BAND OF MASKED MEN, WHO WERE BELIEVED TO HAVE STAGED THE EIN SHEMER ATTACK. THEY WERE NOT IDENTIFIED.

CRITICISM OF BRITAIN'S ANNOUNCED INTENTION TO TURN THE PALESTINE DISPUTE OVER TO THE U.N. APPEARED GENERAL.

FALASTIN, JAFFA ARAB PAPER, SAW EVIDENCE IN THE PLAN "THAT BRITAIN ALONE IS OUR OPPONENT AND THAT WE WERE DECEIVED BY HER APPEARANCE AS A NEUTRAL POWER BETWEEN US AND ZIONISM..."

FALASTIN SAID RESORT TO THE U.N. WOULD "TAKE THE CASE OUT OF THE ANGLO-AMERICAN SPHERE OF INFLUENCE, WHICH IS INFECTED WITH THE ZIONIST INFLUENCE, TO ANOTHER SPHERE CONTAINING ARAB AND MOSLEM STATES."

AL DIFAA, ANOTHER JAFFA ARAB NEWSPAPER, CALLED THE BRITISH PLAN "A BREACH OF A PROMISE TO WHICH THEY BOUND THEMSELVES BY THEIR WORD OF HONOR."

DAVAR, TEL AVIV JEWISH PAPER, SAID FOREIGN SECRETARY ERNEST BEVIN, WHO ANNOUNCED THE PLAN, "HAS TOLD THE WORLD THAT 'WE HAVE WASHED OUR HANDS OF THE PALESTINE BUSINESS,' AND WE HERE LISTEN TO THESE WORDS WHILE SURROUNDED BY BRITISH DIVISIONS AND BARBED WIRE."

HAARETZ, ANOTHER TEL AVIV JEWISH PAPER, SAID BRITAIN WAS "REAPING THE HARVEST OF MISTAKES AND HESITATION WHICH SHE DISPLAYED IN THE COURSE OF THE LAST EIGHT YEARS."

THE PALESTINE GOVERNMENT YESTERDAY ISSUED CERTIFICATES AUTHORIZING 1,500 JEWS AND 200 ARABS AND OTHERS TO IMMIGRATE INTO THE HOLY LAND FROM FEB.15 TO MARCH 15. THIS WAS IN LINE WITH ANNOUNCED BRITISH POLICY TO MAINTAIN EXISTING IMMIGRATION QUOTAS PENDING U.N. ACTION.

BRITISH TROOPS WERE REPORTED ON RELIABLE AUTHORITY TO HAVE BEEN STRENGTHENED IN TEL AVIV, JEWISH CITY, BECAUSE OF ROADMINE BLASTS THAT WOUNDED SIX BRITISH SOLDIERS TUESDAY NIGHT.

HAGANA, ARMED FORCE OF THE JEWISH RESISTANCE MOVEMENT, WAS SAID BY OTHER INFORMED SOURCES TO HAVE DESTROYED SEVERAL MINES-PLANTED BY EXTREMISTS OF THE JEWISH UNDERGROUND-IN AN EFFORT TO HALT VIOLENCE AGAINST THE BRITISH.

MONTREAL, FEB.20-(AP)-A SHORTAGE OF 13,000 FREIGHT CARS ON CANADIAN RAILWAYS BROUGHT A NEAR HALT TODAY IN THE HAULING OF NEWSPRINT FROM THE COUNTRY'S PAPER MILLS. AND SLOWED TO A TRICKLE THE FLOW OF GRAINS FROM THE WEST TO EASTERN PORTS.

IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS AT OTTAWA, TRANSPORT MINISTER E.L. CHEVRIER SAID THE SHORTAGE IN ROLLING STOCK WAS "VERY ACUTE." HE PROMISED THAT THE TRANSPORT CONTROLLER AND THE RAILWAYS WOULD DISTRIBUTE AVAILABLE EQUIPMENT IN SUCH A WAY THAT NO INDUSTRIES WOULD HAVE TO CLOSE DOWN.

THE NEWSPRINT INDUSTRY MUSTERED EVERY INCH OF AVAILABLE STORAGE IN SPACE IN AND ABOUT ITS PLANTS IN ORDER TO KEEP IN PRODUCTION WHILE THE OUTGOING FLOW OF FINISHED PAPER REMAINS CURTAILED.

ONE COMPANY SAID IT WAS CONSIDERING STORING NEWSPRINT IN AIRPLANE HANGARS.

THE SHORTAGE OF BOXCARS WAS ATTRIBUTED TO SEASONAL FACTORS, TO THE WESTERN BLIZZARDS WHICH TIED UP HUNDREDS OF CARS ON BRANCH LINES, AND TO A BASIC POST-WAR SHORTAGE RESULTING FROM HEAVY WEAR AND TEAR ON EQUIPMENT AND LIMITED REPLACEMENT DURING THE WAR YEARS.

FOOD PROFUCTS, ALUMINUM, STEEL, AND CEMENT CONCERNS WERE AMONG THE INDUSTRIES WHICH SAW DIFFICULTIES AHEAD.

SPOKESMEN FOR FIVE QUEBEC PAPER COMPANIES AGREED THE NEWSPRINT INDUSTRY FACED A CRITICAL SITUATION, BUT REPORTED NO SHUTDOWNS. REPORTS FROM THE ABITIBI AREA OF NORTHERN ONTARIO INDICATED THE SHORTAGE OF CARS HAD NOT AFFECTED NEWSPRINT PRODUCTION THERE.

MONTREAL, FEB. 20-(AP)-CANADA'S ACUTE FREIGHT CAR SHORTAGE, DESCRIBED AS SEASONAL BUT AGGRAVATED BY WEATHER CONDITIONS AND HEAVIER THAN USUAL DEMANDS, SHOWED NO SIGNS OF IMPROVING TODAY.

PRIORITIES GRANTED BY THE TRANSPORT CONTROLLER TUESDAY HELPED TO EASE THE SITUATION IN THE NEWSPRINT INDUSTRY WHERE ONE COMPANY ALREADY HAS CLOSED ITS PLANT AND OTHERS WERE THREATENED WITH SIMILAR ACTION, BUT OFF-SETTING THIS WAS THE THREAT OF TIE-UPS ELSEWHERE.

THE COMPLETE CANADIAN PICTURE HAS NOT YET CRYSTALLIZED BUT HERE ARE SOME EFFECTS OF THE SHORTAGE WHICH, IT IS ESTIMATED, AMOUNTS TO 13,000 CARS DESPITE THE FACT CAR-LOADINGS ARE AT APPROXIMATELY THE SAME LEVEL AS A YEAR AGO.

THE DONNACONA PAPER COMPANY, DONNACONA, QUE., STOPPED PRODUCTION AND SIX OTHER NEWSPRINT COMPANIES FACED IMMINENT CLOSING UNTIL THEY, LIKE THE DONNACONA COMPANY, WERE GRANTED PRIORITIES FOR CARS TO MOVE THEIR PILED-UP STOCK.

ONLY LAST FRIDAY A SYSTEM OF PRIORITIES WAS INSTITUTED GIVING PREFERENCE TO WHEAT AND FEED GRAIN MOVEMENT IN AN ATTEMPT TO CATCH UP WITH LAGGING SHIPMENTS OF WHEAT TO BRITAIN AND TO PROVIDE EASTERN CANADA FARMERS WITH FEED GRAIN FOR THEIR HUNGRY CATTLE.

THE NEWSPRINT INDUSTRY'S DIFFICULTIES AROSE FROM THIS GRAIN PRIORITIES SYSTEM. UNTIL IT WAS PUT INTO EFFECT CARS WHICH UNLOADED GRAIN AT THE MARITIME PORTS WERE PLACED AT THE SERVICE OF THE NEWSPRINT COMPANIES. UNDER THAT ORDER, HOWEVER, THEY WERE DIRECTED BACK TO THE LAKE-HEAD.

THE SERIOUS PLIGHT OF THE NEWSPRINT PLANTS AND THE MILLING COMPANIES HAS RESULTED IN THE DIVERSION OF SOME CARS FROM THE GRAIN MOVE-MENT TO HELP MEET THEIR NEEDS.

AT OTTAWA LAST NIGHT STUART BROWN, MANAGER OF THE TRANSPORTATION DEPARTMENT OF THE CANADIAN MANUFACTURERS' ASSOCIATION, PREDICTED THAT "QUITE A NUMBER OF INDUSTRIES" WOULD YET FEEL THE PINCH, MENTIONING SPECIFICALLY CANNING, CAN MANUFACTURE AND MOTOR CAR COMPANIES.

HE FOUND THE BOX CAR SHORTAGE THE PREDOMINANT FACTOR IN THE TRANSPORTATION SITUATION, WITH 8,000 MORE CANADIAN-OWNED BOX CARS ON AMERICAN LINES THAN AMERICAN-OWNED BOX CARS ON CANADIAN LINES.

1947

IN PHILADELPHIA, HOWEVER, PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD OFFICIALS CLARIFIED THE OTTAWA REPORT WITH THE FOLLOWING STATEMENT:

"WE ARE MOVING CANADIAN-OWNED BOX CARS BACK HOME AS QUICKLY AS WE CAN. WE ARE RETURNING THEM EMPTY WHEN LOADS ARE NOT AVAILABLE."

THE RAILROAD SAID NO OFFER HAD BEEN MADE TO SEND ITS OWN CARS TO CANADIAN LINES.

(ADVANCE) WASHINGTON, FEB. 20-(AP)-THE SUPERSONIC WIND TUNNEL USED BY THE GERMANS AT PEENEMUNDE TO TEST V-1 AND V-2 MODELS IS BEING INSTALLED IN THE NAVY'S NEW ORDNANCE LABORATORY AT NEARBY WHITE OAKS, MD.

THE NAVY PERMITTED DISCLOSURE OF THIS TODAY ALONG WITH SOME DETAILS OF THE 938-ACRE PROJECT DEVOTED TO RESEARCH, ENGINEERING AND TEST OF NEARLY ALL TYPES OF WEAPONS EXCEPT GUNS.

FIFTEEN GERMANS WHO WORKED WITH THE TUNNEL IN THEIR HOMELAND ARE EMPLOYED AT WHITE OAKS IN THE JOB OF ASSEMBLING AND MODERNIZING THE UNUSUAL AERODYNAMICS EQUOPMENT.

THE WIND TUNNEL PERMITS TEST SPEEDS UP TO "MACH NUMBER 4.4" OR ABOUT 3,600 MILES AN HOUR. THE MACH NUMBER ONE EQUALS THE SPEED OF SOUND.

THE TEST TUNNEL WAS MOVED FROM PEENEMUNDE TO KOCHEL, BAVARIA, AFTER AERIAL ATTACKS FORCED ABANDONMENT OF THE PEENEMUNDE SITE, AND IS NOW KNOWN AS THE KOCHEL TUNNEL. IT COMPRISES THREE TUNNELS--SMALL, MEDIUM AND LARGE--ALL OPERATED FROM A SINGLE VACUUM CHAMBER.

THERE IS PRESENTLY NO AMERICAN TUNNEL IN OPERATION CAPABLE OF MATCHING THE AIR SPEEDS POSSIBLE IN THE GERMAN DESIGNS. THE GERMAN SUPERSONIC TESTS STANDS REVERSE THE POPULAR CONCEPT OF A WIND TUNNEL BY DRAWING THE AIR ACROSS THE MODEL INSTEAD OF BLOWING IT BY MEANS OF HUGE FANS.

THE TUNNEL WORKS LIKE THIS: A VACUUM IS CREATED IN A LARGE SHERICAL CHAMBER (THE KOCHEL CHAMBER IS 42 FEET IN DIAMETER). WHEN A TREMENDOUS QUICK-ACTING VALVE IS OPENED, THE VACUUM DRAWS AIR FROM WHICH ALL MOISTURE HAS BEEN REMOVED THROUGH TWO INGENIOUS THROATS, BETWEEN WHICH THE MODEL IS LOCATED.

ONE THROAT, NEAR THE OUTSIDE AIR INLET, ACTS LIKE A FLOODGATE, RESTRICTING THE VOLUME OF AIR WHICH CAN PASS THROUGH. AT THAT POINT THE SPEED OF THE AIR EQUALS THE SPEED OF SOUND. BEYOND THAT POINT, THE SPEED OF THE AIR ACCELERATES RAPIDLY AND THE TEMPERATURE DROPS TO 300 DEGREES BELOW ZERO FAHRENHEIT. THE SPEED OF THIS VERY THIN AIR IN THE WORKING PART OF THE TUNNEL IS CONTROLLED BY THE SECOND THROAT, WHICH CAN BE ENLARGED OR CONTRACTED FROM THE CONTROL PANEL.

THREE PUMPS EXHAUST AIR FROM THE VACUUM CHAMBER. THE LENGTH OF A TEST RUN VARIES WITH THE SIZE OF THE TUNNEL FROM A MATTER OF SECONDS TO A SEVERAL MINUTES.

PLANS FOR THE SUPERSONIC TESTING INSTALLATION CALL FOR A GRADUAL INCREASE TO SEVEN TUNNELS, OF WHICH FOUR WILL BE AMERICAN IMPROVEMENTS ON THE GERMAN BASIC DESIGN. THEY WILL BE SERVED BY A SINGLE VACUUM CHAMBER TWICE TH

PLANS FOR THE SUPERSONIC TESTING INSTALLATION CALL FOR A GRADUAL INCREASE TO SEVEN TUNNELS, OF WHICH FOUR WILL BE AMERICAN IMPROVEMENTS ON THE GERMAN BASIC DESIGN. THEY WILL BE SERVED BY A SINGLE VACUUM CHAMBER TWICE THE DIAMETER OF THE ONE USED AT KOCHEL, AND AIR SPEEDS UP TO TEN TIMES THE SPEED OF SOUND ARE IN PROSPECT.

THE HIGH SPEEDS TUNNEL WILL BE USED LARGELY FOR MISSILES AND ROCKETS RESEARCH, ALTHOUGH THEY CAN BE USED TO STUDY AIRCRAFT DESIGNS. THE WORK OF THE LABORATORY WILL BE CONCERNED WITH MANY OTHER PHASES OF NAVAL ORDNANCE--TORPEDOES, DEPTH CHARGES, BOMBS, PROXIMITY FUSES AND ELECTRONICS DEVICES.

CONSTRUCTION WORK IS LESS THAN ONE-THIRD COMPLETED AT WHITE OAKS. THE 50 BUILDINGS ARE EXPECTED TO COST AROUND $15,000,000, AND $10,000,000 MORE WILL SPENT FOR EQUIPMENT. THIS WILL INCLUDE A TANK FOR TESTING UNDERWATER WEAPONS AT A SIMULATED DEPTH OF 500 FEET, A POOL AND RACK FOR TESTING HIGH SPEED AERIAL TORPEDO LAUNCHING, A SERIES OF NON-MAGNETIC BUILDINGS FOR ELECTRONICS WORK, CONSIDERABLE TEMPERATURE AND HUMIDITY CONTROL EQUIPMENT, AND A PLASTICS LABORATORY.

SOME RESEARCH WORK ALREADY IS UNDERWAY AT THE SITE. THE PROJECT WAS APPROVED IN 1944 AND CONSTRUCTION BEGAN EARLY IN 1945. THE WIND TUNNELS WILL NOT BE IN USE BEFORE NEXT YEAR.

DALLAS, TEX., FEB.20-(AP)-A PANAMANIAN DELEGATE TO THE SECOND WORLD CONGRESS OF THE JUNIOR CHAMBER OF COMMERCE INTERNATIONAL TODAY SHARPLY CRITICIZED THE UNITED STATES FOR FAILURE TO VACATE WAR-TIME BASES IN HIS HOMELAND.

RODRIGO ~~AROSEMENA~~ OF PANAMA CITY, SPEAKING AT A WORLD FORUM ON INTERNATIONAL PROBLEMS, DECLARED THE UNITED STATES HAD FAILED TO CARRY OUT ITS PROMISE MADE IN 1942 TO TERMINATE THE LEASE OF PANAMANIAN AREAS ONE YEAR AFTER CONCLUSION OF THE WAR.

AROSEMENA, A GRADUATE OF TULANE UNIVERSITY AT NEW ORLEANS, SAID PANAMA CONSIDERS THAT THE LEASES ENDED LAST AUGUST, A YEAR AFTER THE UNCONDITIONAL SURRENDER OF JAPAN, THAT THE U.S. HAD BEEN ASKED TO VACATE THE AREAS AND THAT U.S. OFFICIALS HAD NOT OBTAINED CONSENT FOR CONTINUED USE OF THE BASES.

"THE SITUATION FOR PANAMA IS TODAY EVEN MORE SERIOUS BECAUSE THE GOVERNMENT OF THE UNITED STATES IS DEMANDING OTHER AREAS, TO WHICH, ACCORDING TO THE EXISTING GENERAL TREATY, THEY HAVE NO RIGHT," AROSEMENA CONTINUED. "THEY SHOULD UNDERSTAND THAT IT IS UNACCEPTABLE TO PANAMA THAT HER TERRITORY SHOULD BE OCCUPIED BY FOREIGN FORCES EVERY TIME THE GOVERNMENT OF THE PEOPLE OF THE NORTH THINKS TO ITSELF IT SHOULD BE BE DONE."

DR.A.TORAB MEHRA OF MIDLAND, S.D., A NATIVE OF IRAN AND AN OFFICIAL OBSERVER AT THE CONFERENCE FOR THE IRANIAN GOVERNMENT, REPEATEDLY BUT GOOD-NATUREDLY ASKED DELEGATES FROM SPAIN, GREAT BRITAIN, HOLLAND AND THE DUTCH ~~EAST INDIES TO EXPLAIN~~ EXISTING POLICIES OF THEIR GOVERNMENTS.

EARLIER A VICE PRESIDENT OF THE INTERNATIONAL ORGANIZATION REPORTED THAT A UNIT WAS ORGANIZED IN ROTTERDAM, THE NETHERLANDS, DURING THE GERMAN OCCUPATION AND PUBLISHED AN UNDERGROUND NEWSPAPER WITH A 25,000 DAILY CIRCULATION.

BOSTON, FEB 20-(AP)-THE UNITED STATES, AT PRESENT, "IS NOT CAPABLE" OF FURNISHING MILITARY POWER TO THE UNITED NATIONS TO ENFORCE PEACE IN OTHER LANDS, OR TO DEFEND ITS OWN PEOPLE FROM SUDDEN AGGRESSION, ADMIRAL RICHMOND K. TURNER, U.S.N., SAID TONIGHT.

TURNER, WARTIME COMMANDER OF AMPHIBIOUS FORCES OF THE PACIFIC FLEET AND PRESENT U.S. NAVAL REPRESENTATIVE ON THE UNITED NATIONS MILITARY STAFF COMMITTEE, SPOKE AT THE FIRST ANNIVERSARY DINNER OF THE LT. JOHN P. KENNEDY, JR. POST, VETERANS OF FOREIGN WARS.

ADMIRAL TURNER SAID THAT "WE CANNOT EVER OUTLAW WAR MERELY BY RESOLVING TO DO SO, AND THEN BY DISARMING."

"A MAJOR FEATURE OF THE UNITED NATIONS IS THE PROVISION THAT THE REMOVAL OF THE CAUSES OF WAR," HE ASSERTED, "WILL BE THROUGH THE COLLECTIVE ACTION OF MANY NATIONS, RATHER THAN THE INDIVIDUAL ACTION OF ONLY THOSE NATIONS INVOLVED IN A DISPUTE."

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., FEB 21-(AP)-GREAT BRITAIN TODAY OPPOSED A COLOMBIAN PROPOSAL TO REFER TO THE INTERNATIONAL COURT OF JUSTICE BRITAIN'S COMPLAINT THAT ALBANIA IS RESPONSIBLE FOR THE DEATHS OF 44 SEAMEN IN TWO ROYAL NAVY DESTROYERS BLASTED BY MINES IN CORFU CHANNEL LAST OCT.22.

THE INTERNATIONAL COURT OF JUSTICE IS "NOT A POLICE COURT," BRITISH DELEGATE SIR ALEXANDER CADOGAN REMARKED TARTLY AS THE UNITED NATIONS SECURITY COUNCIL PREPARED TO MEET AT 11 A.M. (EST) AND RESUME DEBATE ON THE ALBANIAN CASE.

THE BRITISH DELEGATION SAID IT WAS NOT AGAINST SENDING THE ISSUE TO THE COURT AT THE HAGUE FOR A JUDGMENT ON PRINCIPLES INVOLVED, BUT INSISTED THAT THE IMMEDIATE CASE SHOULD BE TREATED AS "A CRIME" AND KEPT BEFORE THE COUNCIL UNTIL BRITISH DEMANDS FOR AN APOLOGY AND COMPENSATION ARE SATISFIED.

EDUARDO ZULETA ANGEL, COLOMBIAN DELEGATE, ANNOUNCED HIS INTENTION OF PROPOSING A SETTLEMENT BY THE INTERNATIONAL COURT, WHICH HAS YET TO RECEIVE A CASE FROM THE SECURITY COUNCIL OR THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY. SYRIAN DELEGATE FARIS EL KHOURY SAID HE WOULD SUPPORT SUCH A PROPOSAL.

CADOGAN EARLIER IN THE WEEK PRESENTED A LONG DOCUMENTED INDICTMENT ACCUSING ALBANIA OF A "CRIME AGAINST HUMANITY" AND "CLANDESTINE CRIMINALITY" IN MINING A CHANNEL WHICH HE DESCRIBED AS "AN INTERNATIONAL HIGHWAY BETWEEN TWO PARTS OF THE OPEN SEAS," ALTHOUGH IT LIES WITHIN ALBANIAN TERRITORIAL WATERS.

ALBANIAN REPRESENTATIVE HYSNI KAPO ANSWERED CADOGAN BY DENYING HIS COUNTRY LAID THE MINES OR KNEW WHO DID. KAPO ACCUSED BRITAIN OF INFRINGING ON ALBANIAN SOVEREIGNTY WITH WARSHIPS IN "BATTLE FORMATION" AND AIRCRAFT, WHICH HE SAID HE BEEN USED TO PROVOKE AND INTIMIDATE ALBANIA.

IN A BRIEF MEETING YESTERDAY, THE COUNCIL HEARD CADOGAN REAFFIRM HIS COUNTRY'S SUPPORT OF THE UNITED STATES IN ITS DEMAND FOR NO VETO ON ATOMIC PUNISHMENTS. THE COUNCIL ADJOURNED THE ATOMIC TALKS UNTIL 3 P.M. (E.S.T.) TUESDAY.

CONSIDERABLE SENTIMENT APPEARED TO BE DEVELOPING IN FAVOR OF SENDING THE REPORT OF THE ATOMIC ENERGY COMMISSION, NOW BEFORE THE COUNCIL, AND 13 PROPOSALS SUBMITTED BY RUSSIA BACK TO THE COMMISSION FOR AN ATTEMPT TO RECONCILE DIFFERING VIEWS.

JR305AES 1947

Lake Success Cor respondents.

THIS WOULD MEAN THAT INSPECTORS WOULD GO INTO RUSSIA AS WELL AS OTHER COUNTRIES AND THAT INSPECTIONS WOULD BE MADE OF THE PLANTS IN THE UNITED STATES NOW WORKING ON ATOMIC ENERGY.

ON THE THIRD POINT, SOME DELEGATES HAVE POINTED OUT THAT THE RUSSIAN PROPOSALS ARE AIMED MORE AT POLICING THAN AT DEVELOPMENT OF ATOMIC ENERGY FOR PEACE. THE UNITED STATES PROPOSALS WOULD ESTABLISH A COMPLETE SYSTEM OF RESEARCH AND WORK ON ATOMIC ENERGY TO KEEP ABREAST OF LATEST DEVELOPMENTS.

THE UNITED STATES PLAN FORMS THE BASIS OF THE ATOMIC ENERGY COMMISSION REPORT NOW BEFORE THE COUNCIL. THE RUSSIAN PROPOSALS WERE PUT FORWARD AS AMENDMENTS TO THE COMMISSION'S REPORT.

MEANWHILE THE COUNCIL SCHEDULED A MEETING FOR 11 A.M. (E.S.T.) TOMORROW (FRIDAY) TO CONTINUE DEBATE ON THE CHARGES FILED BY GREAT BRITAIN AGAINST ALBANIA. THE BRITISH CHARGED THAT ALBANIA LAID

30.24-8033

OR WAS RESPONSIBLE FOR LAYING MINES WHICH DAMAGED TWO BRITISH DESTROYERS LAST OCT.22 AND KILLED 44 BRITISH SAILORS. ALBANIA IN A LONG ANSWER YESTERDAY DENIED THE CHARGES AND ACCUSED THE BRITISH OF HOSTILE AND PROVOCATIVE ACTS AGAINST ALBANIA.

NEW YORK, FEB. 20-(AP)-WILLIAM GREEN, PRESIDENT OF THE AMERICAN FEDERATION OF LABOR, LAST NIGHT CRITICIZED THE BRITISH PROPOSAL TO TURN OVER TRUSTEESHIP OF PALESTINE TO THE UNITED NATIONS WHICH, HE SAID, HAS FAILED "TO COPE WITH THE POSTWAR HUMAN PROBLEMS."

"I FAIL TO SEE HOW SUCH A STEP COULD RESULT IN A PROMPT AND SATISFACTORY CONCLUSION," GREEN SAID. "IT WOULD MEAN INTERMINABLE DELAY, WHICH CONSTITUTES, OF ITSELF, A DENIAL OF JUSTICE."

THE LABOR LEADER ADDRESSED THE LABOR DIVISION OF THE AMERICAN FEDERATION OF THE ORGANIZATION FOR REHABILITATION THROUGH TRAINING (ORT), A WORLD-WIDE AGENCY TO ASSIST TRAINING OF JEWISH REFUGEES AND WAR VICTIMS.

GREEN CALLED ON GREAT BRITAIN TO ESTABLISH PALESTINE AS A JEWISH HOMELAND AT ONCE, SAYING THIS WOULD BRING HER "MORE LASTING RESPECT WITH ALL THE FREEDOM-LOVING PEOPLES OF THE WORLD THAN SHE CAN POSSIBLY LOSE IN TEMPORARY DIPLOMATIC MANEUVERS."

Britain Warned Of Peril Unless Output Rises

WM. L. PHILLIPS

London, Feb. 21 (AP)—The Labor Government issued today a White Paper called "a working pattern for the nation." It told the austerity-weary Britons they must increase production or risk the "foundations of our national life."

The White Paper—designation of important official documents issued by the Government—said:

The nation needs coal, production, foreign currency.

The private individual must continue rationing, forego hopes of shorter hours, increase his individual output in mine, mill, factory.

Organized labor must abandon "industrial arrangements which restrict production, prices or employment."

Industry must export one fourth its products and accept a stern system of priority allotments of manpower and supplies.

Plan Not "Totalitarian"

Sir Stafford Cripps, Board of Trade president, told a news conference that the plan is not "totalitarian."

"We do not say that whether you like it or not you have got to go into the coal mine, or a steel factory, or whatever it may be," he said.

"Instead, we try to induce employers and employés to conform to a pattern of industrial production in order to get the greatest benefits for the nation as a whole."

Coal Gets No. 1 Priority

The war-strained nation, currently caught in the pincers of an unprecedented fuel shortage and close-drawn financial plight, was warned that "this is a critical moment in our national affairs."

Without dramatics, Prime Minister Attlee told the people that desperately needed coal was priority No. 1 for 1947 and more workers priority No. 2.

Reflecting crippling effects of the winter's industrial crisis, the White Paper set the export goal for 1947 at 140 per cent of prewar levels—in comparison with the 175 per cent Government economists say Britain needs for a normal standard of living. The report said the long-time goal remained 175 per cent.

Labor Increase Outlined

To get more coal, the report said the Government would exempt miners from military service for five years; would recruit 35,000 new miners; provide more homes for miners; seek to raise the production of coal from 259 tons per man in 1946 to the 308 tons per man mined in the peak year of 1937, and institute a nation-wide fuel rationing system.

To increase the labor force, the Government declared it would take nearly half a million men from the armed forces, bring in foreign workers, seek to attract housewives to the factories and hold veteran laborers in their jobs beyond normal retirement age.

"Unless we concentrate upon these really important things, we may never restore the foundations of our national life," the White Paper warned grimly.

The White Paper opposed shorter working hours being sought by many labor unions, declaring "greater leisure is a very desirable thing but it is not at the moment a prime essential like imported food—it is not as important as coal or clothing or housing."

Warns Of Long Rationing

Warning that food rationing will continue for years unless exports are increased sharply, the White Paper estimated that Britain will be forced to draw $1,400,000,000 from the American and Canadian credits this year to pay for imports

Referring to its dollar position, the Government said that the American loan obligation requiring Britain to begin converting frozen sterling balances this year "might result in some loss of dollars," and a consequent increased drain on the United States and Canadian credits.

Payment of bonuses as an incentive to increase production was advocated by the report—a recommendation expected to draw opposition from some British labor unions traditionally opposed to "speedup" practices.

"There is now no place for industrial arrangements which restrict productions as a means of protecting workers from shortage of work, but now there is no such shortage nor need there ever be under a policy of full employment."

The White Paper said the Government did not propose "direct power over manpower movements" but advocated better working conditions to attract workers into mining, agriculture, building and engineering. It urged workers to transfer to more essential industries from transport, textile manufacturing, distribution and consumers services.

National and local government staffs will be reduced, the White Paper said.

Goals For Each Industry

British factories will have to export an average of 25 per cent of their production to attain the goal of 140 per cent of prewar levels, the report estimated. Individual targets will be set for each industry.

Warning that this means a smaller supply to the home market, the White Paper added:

"The central fact of 1947 is that we have not enough resources to do all that we want to do and barely enough to do all that we must do."

Total volume of imports must remain "tightly controlled," the report said. It estimated 1947 imports would total $5,800,000,000—80 to 85 per cent of the 1938 volume, as compared to 70 per cent in 1946.

"Must Cut" Trade Deficit

Reporting that the adverse balance of trade for 1946 was $1,800,000,000, the White Paper said the deficit must be cut this year to conserve the American and Canadian loans.

The White Paper gave this picture of the country's principal industries:

STEEL—The coal shortage will prevent steel plants reaching the 1946 near-record output of 12,750,000 tons. Steel exports must be cut to a minimum to supply home needs. Long-term goal is home consumption of 9,500,000 tons of steel and 2,250,000 tons of steel exports.

POWER—"Drastic steps" will be taken to curtail nonindustrial use. Total plant capacity is 9,000,000 kilowatts, a deficit of 1,400,000 kilowatts under needs this winter.

Rail Restrictions Necessary

RAILWAYS—Condition of trackage and equipment may make it necessary to impose speed restrictions in the interests of safety.

SHIPPING—Merchant fleet probably will earn a small balance if Britain is given "reasonable time" to turn over United States cargo ships now operated on charter. Shipyards last year turned out nearly one million gross tons of shipping—about the same as 1938. The goal for 1947 is 1,250,000 gross tons in addition to a large repair program.

AGRICULTURE—The world cereals shortage has delayed the Government's plan to shift emphasis from crops to livestock production.

BUILDING—The critical timber shortage may jeopardize the goal of 300,000 new homes for 1947. The labor force is nearly at the 1,300,000 prewar mark but output per man is far below prewar levels.

India Shift Laid To Row

London, Feb. 21 (AP)—Informed sources said today the decision to replace Field Marshal Lord Wavell as Viceroy of India stemmed from a months-long conflict on "political principles" between Wavell and the Labor Cabinet of Prime Minister Attlee.

These informants said that Wavell, as "a soldier and administrator," could not bring his own concept of the empire's strategic, economic and political interests into line with that of the Labor Government. They said Wavell apparently wanted to defer Britain's final decision to quit India completely for an indefinite period.

In Delhi a highly placed official predicted that the moment the British drop the reins of government in India in June, 1948, in accord with Attlee's statement of yesterday, the entire Indian problem would be referred to the United Nations.

Few Are Optimistic

There were few observers in the Indian capital who believe that the Moslem League and the predominantly Hindu All-India Congress could resolve their differences in the next fifteen months and unite in forming a central government.

Moslem League informants in New Delhi said there was not the slightest possibility that anything short of complete separation—the establishment of the Moslem state of Pakistan—would be satisfactory to them.

One Government informant in touch with the British Cabinet said Attlee's declaration implied "very clearly" that Pakistan, as a "political reality," might be achieved. The informant added, however, that such development "is not what the British Government believes will happen."

Expect Punjab Control

At present Moslem ministries control Sind province in the west and Bengal in the east, the latter containing Calcutta, the second largest city in the British Empire and predominantly Hindu in population.

A coalition governs the rich Punjab in Northwest India, but Moslem League members in New Delhi declared they will be in control of that section before the British leave. Numerous disturbances have flared recently in the Punjab with the Moslems claiming discrimination against them by the Punjab ministry.

If Bengal is established as a separate Moslem state the predominantly Hindu province of Assam in the northeast would be separated from the rest of India. The Hindu-controlled frontier province in the northwest also would be cut off if Punjab is established as part of Pakistan.

Might Seek Separation

Complicating the matter even further, a large body of Sikhs and Hindus in southern Punjab might appeal for separation from a Moslem Pakistan.

Government informants in London said that if the Indian Constituent Assembly, with Moslem participation, succeeded in forming a united central Indian government, all Britain's independent treaties with the 562 princely states would be voided.

These sources said that under the Cabinet mission plan for Indian independence the new Indian government would then take over all repsonsibilities in respect of defense, foreign affairs, communications and other overall functions from the princely states and provinces. These are powers now exercised by Britain.

Fate Rests With Feudists

London, Feb. 21 (AP)—The British Government left squarely up to feuding Hindu and Moslem leaders today the question of whether India intends to win independence in civil war or through peaceful negotiations by the time Britain ends her reign over the rich subcontinent sixteen months hence.

Prime Minister Attlee announced yesterday that Britain intends to pull out of India by June, 1948, and at the same time appointed Admiral Lord Mountbatten as Viceroy to liquidate 200 years of British rule.

Some Predict Bloodshed

Some empire-minded Conservatives and sections of the British press direly predicted that a bloody struggle for power in India would result.

Lord Templewood—Sir Samuel Hoare before he became a peer—presented a motion last night declaring that the end of British rule "is likely to imperil the peace and prosperity of India."

Debate was scheduled in the House of Lords next Tuesday on the motion and in the House of Commons the week after next.

Motion Equivalent To Censure

If Templewood's motion—amounting to a vote of censure of the Labor Government—is pushed to a vote, it probably will pass in the Conservative-dominated House of Lords, but Attlee is sure of his solid Labor majority in the all-important Commons, which previously had voted approval of the idea of freedom for India.

The main House of Commons discussion, however, is expected to be concentrated on the Government's abrupt replacement of Viceroy Lord Wavell by Mountbatten—an action which brought angry protests from Winston Churchill yesterday and from some British newspapers today.

Jews Ask Reparations

London, Feb. 21 (AP)—The American Jewish Conference demanded today that Austria be made to pay "token reparations" to Jewry for anti-Semitic persecutions since the Anschluss with Germany in 1938.

The conference, an organization representing American Zionists, non-Zionists and Jewish social and political groups, filed the plea with the Big Four Foreign Ministers' deputies, meeting here to draft Austrian and German peace treaties.

The payments, of an unspecified amount, should be made, the memorandum said, to "an appropriate Jewish body to be, designated by Allied authorities."

Says It Preceded Hitler

The memorandum was signed by Louis Lipsky, chairman of the conference executive and former president of the American Zionist Organization, and Henry Monsky, chairman of the conference "inter-executive."

"Anti-Semitism in Austria preceded Hitler," the memorandum declared.

"It was on the tradition of Austrian anti-Semitism that Hitler built his pseudo-philosophy of racism. . . . After the occupation of Austria, only very small segments of the population resisted the policy of anti-Semitic persecution."

Property Transfer

The memorandum said all heirless or unclaimed Jewish property in Austria should be transferred to a designated Jewish body for use in "rehabilitation and resettlement of surviving Jewish victims of Nazi and Fascist persecution and discrimination."

The deputy Foreign Ministers preparing the groundwork for a German peace treaty again discussed the role of small nations in the peace making, but reached no conclusions.

Transport Federation May Blacklist Spain

London, Feb. 21 (AP)—James Olenbroek, general secretary of the International Transport Workers Federation declared today his group would call for blacklisting Spanish ports if Generalissimo Franco made good a threat to exclude Norwegian ships from Spain.

The Norwegian Seamen's Union, Olenbroek said, had discussed with the international federation a threat to close Spanish ports to Norwegian ships unless Norway changes her policy toward the Franco Government.

"We have promised them support," he announced, explaining that any action probably would require an international conference of unionized seamen and longshoremen. "There should be no doubt something will be done."

British Use U. S. Grain To Get Danish Food

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Feb. 21. — Britain, anxious to brighten its breakfast table with more Danish butter, bacon and eggs, has agreed to help Denmark get feeding stuffs from the United States, an authoritative source stated today.

Joint announcement in London and Copenhagen giving terms of the Danish-British trade agreement is expected today or tomorrow.

It is understood that Britain will place the bulk of her grain-buying facilities in the United States at Denmark's disposal.

British Food Ministry and Danish sources confirmed that final agreement had been reached in negotiations for Britain to obtain all Denmark's exportable food surplus. Russia and eight other nations unsuccessfully sought shares in the Danish surplus.

There were indications that agreed prices were considerably higher than originally offered by Britain, from whom Denmark obtains the bulk of her imports. Denmark owes Britain about $120,000,000.

Vichyite Gets Year In Prison

Paris, Feb. 21 (AP)—Gen. Jean Martin, who commanded France's gendarmerie during the Vichy regime, was sentenced to one year in prison and national degradation for life by a Paris court today.

Viet Nam Jungle Garrison Routed

Paris, Feb. 21 (AP)—A French amphibious task force moving at night through jungle-lined streams northwest of Hanoi surprised and routed a Viet Nam garrison at the town of Lile Cuun Quan, dispatches from Indo-China reported tonight.

A quantity of Viet Nam arms was captured in the surprise attack in an area approximately 10 miles northwest of Hanoi, where the French have been extending their control for the past three weeks.

A French general staff communique reported a two-day action in which French troops were said to have defeated and totally disorganized Viet Nam resistance in the region of Kienan, inland and northwest of the northern Indo-Chinese port of Haiphong.

Several Companies Routed

Several companies of Viet Namese regulars and a battalion of Tu Ve, youthful zealots, were routed in the fight near Kienan, the French said.

In Saigon, officials of the Cochin China Government said incendiary fires had destroyed 2,000 houses in native quarters and made 8,000 homeless in the past four days.

The liner Pasteur sailed today for Marseilles carrying 4,013 French reinforcements for the fighting in Indo-China, now in its third month.

In Paris, Premier Paul Ramadier opened a general conference of all governors-general, governors and high commissioners of French overseas territories. Admiral Georges Thierry d'Argenlieu, high commissioner for Indo-China, was expected to arrive for the conference on Monday.

Ramadier Stands Against Raises

Paris, Feb. 21 (AP)—Premier Paul Ramadier and his coalition Cabinet reaffirmed today the Government's stand that there cannot be any general wage increases in France.

"The buying power problem cannot be resolved in any other way than the policy of price decreases," the Cabinet announced.

This statement was another in a series of repetitions of the Government's attitude expressed when newspaper employés and printing trades workers began their strikes ten days ago demanding a "minimum vital" wage of 7,500 francs ($62.50) monthly and salary increases of 25 per cent.

Monthly Minimum

Ramadier has insisted that the Government would grant labor union demands for setting of the minimum monthly wage, but that the Government would not entertain general wage increase demands.

The Federation of Underground Workers, which includes coal miners, notified Ramadier they would be satisfied with a minimum wage of 7,000 francs ($58) monthly.

In announcing that, Ramadier said he was pleased to see the spirit of that union, which reduced by more than $4 the amount the Government has expressed itself all along as willing to grant.

REICH RULE HELD FAILURE BY McNARNEY

General Says Occupation Will Be Needed For From 10 To 15 Years

Berlin, Feb. 21 (AP)—Gen. Joseph T. McNarney, in his last news conference in Berlin as American Military Governor, declared today that the four-power Allied Control Authority had "failed to carry out its duties" in governing Germany.

Voicing the added conclusion that Germany should be occupied for ten or fifteen years, he said the United States Army should be relieved of the responsibility of administering a military government and that a high commissioner responsible to the State Department should take over.

McNarney, who is being succeeded March 15 by his deputy, Lieut. Gen. Lucius D. Clay, said the Allied Control Council had demonstrated inability to execute its own policies and directives.

Potsdam Accord Not Fulfilled

The chief hindrances, he continued, were attributable to failure to fulfill the Potsdam accord, which envisaged German central agencies. In the absence of such agencies, he said, it was up to the four zone commanders to carry out control authority directives, but it was necessary for the respective governments to order their representatives to carry out the established policies.

He advocated a strategic, rather than a total occupation of Germany, with emphasis upon such places as the industrial Ruhr. This would be necessary for from ten to fifteen years, he added, before the Allies could be sure that a German Government would be set up which would be able to carry out the terms of a peace treaty.

Army Not Proper Instrument

Declaring he was "more than ever convinced" that American occupation government could best be administered by a high commissioner, he said "the Army was not organized or trained for governmental procedure and is not the proper instrument."

He said any peace treaty should be ratified by Germany, either by a German government or a popular referendum, and that the longer Germany remained divided into four occupation zones "the more difficult it will be to unite the country," because each zone tends to develop politically after the pattern of the occupying nation.

The difficulties of the four-power occupation were illustrated by a budget of news today which disclosed that the Control Council will be unable to agree upon many sections of its report to the Foreign Ministers' Council when it meets in Moscow in March.

"Many Agreements"

McNarney said "many agreements" had been reached on the report in the last few days, but each country will make unilateral statements in some sections, setting forth disagreements "in quite plain language."

Another so-far unresolved question is a free and unfettered inspection of the progress in liquidating the German war potential in all four zones.

An American official said the western powers were pressing the Russians for such an inspection, but the Russians, after first agreeing in principle, had balked at details.

Followed Itineraries

In an effort to put an end to charges and countercharges that armaments were still being produced in various zones, in violation of four-power agreements, four-power inspection teams went into each zone beginning January 6, but they followed itineraries prepared in advance from lists submitted by each zone commander.

McNarney announced, however, that a five-month ban by the Russians against American newspaper men entering the Soviet zone will be lifted immediately. The American correspondents were last permitted to visit the zone last September to report elections. Their applications to visit the zone since then have been rejected on the grounds that it would be "dangerous" while many troops were being moved about.

The Control Council has agreed to promulgate a law dissolving Prussia, the foundation state of the German empire and the heart of German militarism. The law will confirm what already has taken place by the splitting of the state between the occupation zones of Britain and Russia.

An official announcement said a reorganization of the American Military Government when McNarney goes to the United Nations military staff and is succeeded by Clay will move Maj. Gen. Frank A. Keating into Clay's job as deputy military governor and commander of the Office of Military Government.

Maj. Gen. Clarence R. Heubner will take on the post of commanding general of United States ground and service forces in Europe. The office of the theater commander will be shifted from Frankfurt to Berlin.

Ambassador Robert D. Murphy will remain as political adviser to Clay.

Lieut.-Gen. Lucius D. Clay is succeeding Gen. Joseph T. McNarney as Commander in Chief of American forces in the European theater and as Military Governor.

The office of the Theater Commander, which has hitherto been in Frankfurt is being switched to Berlin, the announcement said. Major-Gen. Frank A. Keating, who has been assistant to Clay, will move into the latter's post as Deputy Military Governor. He will also become Commanding General of the Office of Military Government for Germany.

Major-Gen. Clarence Huebner will assume the job of Commanding General of United States ground and service forces in Europe in addition to his other duties as Deputy Theater Commander and Chief of Staff to the Commander. Ambassador Robert D. Murphy, at present attending the Deputy Foreign Ministers conference in London, was reaffirmed as political adviser to the theater commander.

Brig.-Gen. W. H. Draper Jr., of New York city, present head of the economics division of the A. M. G., becomes economics adviser to Clay.

Henry Parkman, now director of the civil administration division of the A. M. G., becomes Clay's governmental affairs adviser, and Jack Bennett, presently head of the finance division, becomes his finance adviser.

To Reorganize AMG in Reich

Officials Announce Changes Effective March 15—Prussia to Be Dissolved

Berlin, Feb. 21 (A. P.).—United States authorities announced today that a reorganization of the American Military Government in Germany would become effective with a change in command March 15.

Allied Control Council To 'Dissolve' Prussia

Berlin, Feb. 21 (AP)—Gen. Joseph T. McNarney, in his last news conference in Berlin as American Military Governor in Germany, announced today that the Allied Control Council had agreed to promulgate a law dissolving Prussia, the heart of German militarism.

At the same time, he declared that Germany must remain under occupation for ten to fifteen years to insure world security.

McNarney said the action regarding Prussia would confirm in law what already had taken place in fact through the breaking up of Prussia into Russian and British zones of occupation.

Largest In Reich

Once a German kingdom, Prussia later became the largest, most populous and most important state in the German Reich. By the efforts of Otto von Bismarck it became the cornerstone of a unified Germany in about 1870 and remained so until it was split off from the remainder of Germany by the Polish Corridor after World War I. Later it was an integral part of Adolf Hitler's Third Reich.

McNarney said the control council's co-ordinating committee was instructed to outline the Prussian law yesterday after Marshal Vassily Sokolovsky announced that Russia agreed with American and British suggestions made in connection with the drafting of the council's report on Germany for the foreign ministers' meeting at Moscow next month.

"Significant Progress"

In connection with that report, McNarney said "significant progress has been made the last few days and many agreements reached." He added that the council would meet again February 25, "when we hope to be able to consider and approve the remainder of the report."

Nevertheless, he declared at another point during the conference, the council has "failed to carry out its duties" because its members have not carried out the protocol originally laid down for it.

He added, however, that when four countries participate in governing another country "there always will be some disagreement on policy and some disagreement on the execution of agreed policy." Such disagreements in the report for Moscow, McNarney said, "will be set forth in quite plain language."

Economic Matters

General McNarney has been appointed United States Army Air Force representative on the United Nations Military Staff Committee and will be succeeded by his deputy, Lieut. Gen. Lucius D. Clay.

Asked about reports from German sources that discussions had been held in the economically merged United States and British occupation zones relative to formation of a "government of western Germany" in the event the Moscow conference fails to agree on German unification, McNarney replied:

"We have announced that our bizonal merger concerns only economic agencies and contains no plan for political merger. We still stick by that."

Nationalism Evident

McNarney expressed belief that the American Military Government in Germany should be transferred from the Army and administered by a high commissioner responsible to the State Department.

German reporters as well as foreign correspondents questioned the General and some of their queries indicated that nationalism, somewhat dormant after defeat, was again in German thought.

More than two thirds of the German reporters' questions dealt with whether the Germans, if they so voted in a nationwide poll, would be allowed a strong central government.

One reporter wanted to know if, in fact, the German state as such had not ceased to exist. McNarney replied that the German state remained, though there was no central government and final boundaries were yet to be decided.

Iron Curtain Lifted

The Soviet zone will be opened to the American press after a five-month blackout, McNarney also revealed. He said that Marshal Sokolovsky had informed him that passes into the Russian zone would be issued to American newsmen "with a minimum of delay," now that Russian troop movements have stopped.

American correspondents last went into the Russian zone in mid-September to report on elections. Later applications to tour the zone were rejected by the Russians on the grounds that it would be "dangerous" for correspondents to be in the zone while Red army troops were being redeployed.

Western Allies Seeking 4-Zone German Survey

BERLIN, Feb. 21 (AP).—An American Military Government official said today that the Western occupying powers were pressing the Russians to agree to a plan for free and unfettered inspection of the progress in liquidation of the German war potential in all four zones of occupation.

The official said that in the quadripartite committees of which he is a member, the Americans, British and French had offered to permit four-power inspection teams to visit any factory or installation in their zones, if the Russians would do the same.

"The Russians at first agreed to this in principle, but then stalled," he said. "We are still working on it and may get their agreement. But if we don't, it may become another of those issues of the occupation which are shelved pending the Moscow meeting of the Foreign Ministers' Council."

GI Stork Busy In Reich

Frankfurt, Feb. 21 (AP)—The United States Army in Germany is dwindling in size but the GI stork is busier than ever.

The American hospital in Frankfurt, its twelve regular cribs already occupied, has provided sleeping space for thirteen additional February babies by using plywood boxes.

Bormann Still Alive, British Colonel Says

Venice, Italy, Feb. 21 (AP)—Lieut. Col. Alexander Patterson Scotland, a British intelligence officer, said today he believed Martin Bormann was still alive and hiding "in Uruguay or Brazil or in Spain.

After his appearance as a surprise witness in the war crimes trial of Nazi Field Marshal Albert Kesselring, Scotland said in an interview "We are convinced that Bormann is alive."

He said he picked South American countries and Spain as Bormann's likeliest hiding place because "that was where he sent his money and that is naturally where he would try to hide out."

Pact Lets Italians Move to Argentina

Thousands to Migrate as Rome Accord Is Signed

ROME, Feb. 21 (AP).—An Argentine-Italian immigration accord clearing the way for thousands of Italian workers to go to Argentina was signed at the Foreign Ministry here tonight.

The agreement provides that Italy will permit laborers, artisans and technicians of any field or profession to emigrate freely to Argentina, which, in turn, will give them the same rights and duties as the people of Argentina, including insurance, social welfare and union privileges. Hundreds of thousands of Italians have indicated a desire to seek work in Argentina.

Foreign Minister Carlo Sforza and Giuseppe Lupis, Under Secretary for Italians abroad signed the agreement for Italy. Adolfo Scilingo, head of an Argentine mission which arrived here Dec. 21, and the Rev. Jose Clemente Silva, a member of the mission, signed for Argentina.

RUMANIANS THANK TRUMAN

2 Opposition Parties Grateful for U. S. Diversion of Food

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Feb. 21 (AP)—Two Opposition parties have formally thanked President Truman for his order of last Monday diverting 7,000 tons of food from the United States Army to Rumania and have approved the stipulations the President set up for fair distribution of the supplies.

Burton Berry, United States political representative here, received a letter from Constantin Bratianu, head of the National Liberal party, thanking the President and the American people for assistance in the Moldavian food crisis. The National Peasant party's secretary general also expressed appreciation.

The stipulations set by Mr. Truman were that the food not be used to pay reparations, that it not be exported and that American representatives be free to supervise its distribution.

Soviet Intervention In Hungary Seen

Red Questioning of Accused Plotters Reported

BUDAPEST, Feb. 21 (AP).—A high political source said today that Soviet military forces had intervened in Hungary's current political "crisis" to the extent of questioning Hungarian citizens arrested in connection with an alleged plot against the republic.

The informant told newspaper men he had notified H. F. Arthur Schoenfeld, American Minister to Hungary, that the Russians had intervened in the name of the Allied Control Commission. Schoenfeld replied, according to this source, that he would tell Brigadier General George H. Weems, of Dickson, Tenn., American representative on the control commission.

Weems said today he had not been notified of any intervention on Russia's part.

Between 400 and 500 persons carrying Communist flags and shouting Communist slogans today entered the lower hall of the Parliament building, demanding that the Small Holders party, the majority party in the coalition government, turn over to political police its former secretary-general, Bela Kovacs, accused by the Communists of playing a leading role in the alleged plot.

Supreme Soviet Attended By Zhukov and Litvinov

By The Associated Press.

MOSCOW, Feb. 21—Marshal Georgi K. Zhukov, Marshal Konstantin Rokossovsky and former Foreign Minister Maxim Litvinov were among the delegates attending last night's session of the Supreme Soviet.

The two marshals, wearing their uniforms, sat together. Marshal Zhukov was succeeded last year as chief of the ground forces by Marshal Ivan S. Konev. Subsequently he was reported to have been appointed commander of the Soviet Military District of Odessa.

Mr. Litvinov, former Ambassador to the United States, later was a Deputy Foreign Minister. He was relieved of the latter duties last year and has spent most of his time resting in southern Russia.

RUSS BUDGET SETS RECORD (N)

Industrial Expansion Reflected In Allotments

E. GILMORE

Moscow, Feb. 21 (AP)—The emphasis which Russia is placing on industrial expansion in line with Prime Minister Stalin's latest five-year plan was reflected today in the record 1947 budget submitted to delegates of the Supreme Soviet (Parliament).

The budget calls for total expenditure of 371,400,000,000 rubles, compared with 319,300,000,000 last year. Total income was estimated at 391,500,000,000 rubles, compared with 330,400,000,000 in 1946. Of this year's expenditures 67,000,000,000 rubles, or 18 per cent, would be assigned to the armed forces, as against 72,600,000,000 rubles, or 24 per cent, in 1946.

79,900,000,000 For Industry

On the other hand, industry would receive 79,900,000,000 rubles in 1947, compared with 61,600,000,000 in 1946. Emphasis was placed, too, on scientific research, with an increase of 1,500,000,000 rubles over last year to $6,500,000,000, three times the prewar sum.

Izvestia, the Government newspaper, in its last published figures on February 16, placed the exchange rate at 5.30 rubles to the United States dollar.

[The ruble is not quoted in foreign exchange trade, and 5.3 is the official exchange rate with the dollar. The diplomatic rate is 12 rubles to the dollar. The 1947 Soviet expenditures would amount to $70,075,000,000 at the official rate. However, Russian Government finances include many items which in the United States are handled by private capital.]

Interest In Congress Move

The discussions in the United States Congress on possible reduction of President Truman's budget, especially with reference to any cut in the $11,200,000,000 defense allotments, are being followed with keen interest by the Russians.

Arseni G. Zverev, Finance Minister, who submitted the budget, announced also that last year's decree prohibiting expansion of Government staffs had resulted in the elimination of 730,000 jobs, and that a further reduction will be sought. Persons released from administrative jobs will be used in mines and factories, where manpower is needed.

Comparison Of Years

The 1947 budget calls for an expenditure of 131,800,000,000 rubles for the Soviet internal economy, which includes appropriations for industry, agriculture, transportation, communications, trade and stocks. Last year the total spent was 95,700,000,000 rubles.

A comparison with last year of recommended appropriations for the internal economy in millions of rubles, with 1947 figure first, showed: Agriculture, 16,200 and 12,200; transport-communication, 13,200 and 8,500; trade and stocks, 3,800 and 3,100.

Expenditures for social benefits for 1947 and 1946 included public health and physical culture (sports), 18,900,000,000 and 13,800,000,000; education, 52,400,000,000 and 38,100,000,000; social insurance, 9,300,000,000 and 7,300,000,000; allocations to mothers of several children and mothers without husbands, 5,900,000,000 and 3,600,000,000; pensions, 21,600,000,000 and 17,600,000,000.

Reds Debate Cut In Funds For Armaments (D)

E. GILMORE 1947

Moscow, Feb. 21 (AP)—Delegates to the Supreme Soviet (Parliament) debated today a 1947 budget calling for a decrease in expenditures for the Soviet armed forces and increases for industry, public health, sport, communications and agriculture.

Total income for 1947 was estimated in the budget at 391,500,000,000 rubles and expenditures at 371,400,000,000, rubles, of which eighteen per cent would be assigned to the armed forces as against 24 per cent last year.

The budget, submitted to a joint session last night by Finance Minister Arseni G. Zverev, would assign the armed forces 67,000,000,000 rubles this year, as against 72,600,000,000 in 1946.

70 Billion Estimate

[The ruble is not quoted in foreign exchange trade. The official exchange rate is 5.3 to the dollar. The diplomatic rate is twelve to the dollar. Russian Government finances include many items which, in the United States, are handled by private capital. Russia's estimated expenditures would total about $70,075,000,000 at the "official" rate; or $30,950,000,000 at the "diplomatic" rate.

[President Truman's budget for the fiscal year starting July 1, now under scrutiny in Congress, calls for appropriations of $37,500,000,000. Of this amount $11,200,000,000, some 30 per cent, would go for defense.]

De-Emphasize Military

The budget recommendations, expected to meet with general approval of the many hundreds of delegates from all over the U.S.S.R., conformed with the announced policy of Russia to put less emphasis on the army, navy and air force and accent the internal economy in connection with Prime Minister Stalin's five-year plans.

Russia in 1947 will spend 131,800,000,000 rubles on her internal economy, which includes appropriations for industry, agriculture, transportation, communications, trade and stocks. Last year the U.S.S.R. spent 95,700,000,000 rubles in these fields.

For Internal Economy

The reduction of 5,600,000,000 rubles in the projected outlay for the armed forces is an indication of the movement to get Russians out of uniforms and into factories and on the farms.

The recommended appropriations for the internal economy in millions of rubles, compared to the allocations last year, included:

Field	1947	1946
Industry	79,900	61,600
Agriculture	16,200	12,200
Transport-Communication	13,200	8,500
Trade and Stocks	3,800	3,100

Expenditures for social benefits would include:

Public health and physical culture (sports)—18,900,000,000, compared with 13,800,000,000 in 1946.

Education—52,400,000,000, compared with 38,100,000,000.

Social insurance—9,300,000,000, compared with 7,300,000,000.

Allocations to mothers of several children and mothers without husbands—5,900,000,000, compared with 3,600,000,000.

Pensions — 20,600,000,000, compared with 17,600,000,000.

Expenditures for loans this year were set at 6,100,000,000, compared with 5,200,000,000 last year.

Funds For Research

An allotment of 6,500,000,000 rubles—three times the prewar figure—was recommended for scientific research. The allocation last year was 5,000,000,000 rubles.

The Finance Minister announced that "a further reduction in administrative jobs is sought." A total of 730,000 posts were eliminated by a Government decision last August prohibiting the expansion of staffs in Government. Zverev explained that persons freed from such jobs would be used in factories, mines and other places where labor was needed.

Nevertheless, the Soviet Union will spend 12,800,000,000 for Government administration, courts, prosecution offices and other functions, an increase of 1,200,000,000 rubles. Zverev explained that the increase was due to boosts in wages brought about by a rise in the prices of rationed goods.

U.N. To Be Given Indian Problem, Official Predicts

PROPER

New Delhi, Feb. 21 (AP)—A highly placed official predicted today that the whole Indian problem would be dumped into the laps of the United Nations the moment that Britain drops the reins of government in June, 1948.

Few observers believed it possible that the disputing Moslem League and Congress party could smooth over their differences in the next fifteen months to a point where they could unite in forming a central government.

Moslems' Position

Moslem League sources declared there was not the slightest possibility that anything short of complete separation from Hindu-dominated parts of India would satisfy the Moslems.

Conflict over which part of India would be included in the proposed independent Moslem state seemed likely to send the problem to the United Nations.

At present Moslem League ministries control Sind in the west and Bengal in the east, the latter containing Calcutta, second largest city in the British Empire.

Punjab Change Predicted

While a coalition government now controls the rich Punjab province in northwest India, Moslem Leaguers assert that the league will be in control there before Britain withdraws.

Out of this complex situation, scores of questions arise which the British and Indians have not been able to solve and which might be handed over to United Nations.

There were neither expressions of dismay nor signs of jubilation in New Delhi at the British announcement. No observers in India believed more than a small fraction of the problems could be solved by June, 1948, however.

WIDE CHIANG DRIVE GAINS IN SHANTUNG (N)

NANKING, Feb. 21 (AP)—Government dispatches claimed victories or long advances today along a ragged 230-mile front stretching across southern Shantung and into eastern Honan Province in the growing offensive against the Communists.

Since the Government capture of Lini, big Shantung regional base, on Feb. 15, the Communist troops have fallen back to Ishui, Tenghsien and Mengyin, respectively fifty-two miles northeast, forty-seven west and sixty northwest. All three places were under heavy Government pressure.

Tenghsien and near-by Tsowhsien, both in Communist hands, were reported caught in a north-south pincers attack by the National forces. Thirty-five miles north of Tenghsien, Government attackers pushed into the suburbs of Yenchow.

Isolated in an unspecified sector of that front were Government troops under Gen. Wu Hwa-wen, but the Government accounts said they would be relieved shortly.

Fifty miles farther west, across the Grand Canal, the Government claimed that its forces had captured Kuyeh, an important Communist base, and raced twelve miles north to the outskirts of Yuncheng.

Still farther west, across the provincial boundary in Honan, Communist Gen. Liu Po-cheng was reported leading his troops in a northward retreat from the Lung-Hai railway near Liuho, with Government men in pursuit.

Railway Control Sought

Prime objectives of the Shantung-Honan campaign are the north-south Pukow-Tientsin Railway and the east-west Lung-Hai line.

Indicative of the difficulties was the Government acknowledgment that 20,000 Communists had infiltrated into northern Kiangsu Province, many miles south of the main scene of combat, and that reinforcements were having to be sent to cope with them.

On the political front, the Communists said that the Government was putting pressure on them to get out of their liaison offices in Nanking, Chungking and Shanghai, but that they were "digging in" to stay as long as possible.

Wang Ping-nan, Nanking Communist spokesman, said he had been told twice in a week that the Government might need the two buildings it providd for the Communist delegation last May. He said Government agents occupied at least thirteen buildings surrounding the Communist offices, which were under constant surveillance.

Informed Government sources said the national economic crisis had delayed the governmental reorganization program, which had been planned for February 15.

Ta Kung Pao, leading independent newspaper, bitterly demanded that the reorganization be hastened, declaring the basic government was graft-filled and inefficient.

Economic Crisis Delays Shift In China's Rule (D)

HIRAM MILLS

Nanking, Feb. 21 (AP)—The economic crisis which diverted the attention of China's top officials from politics has upset the timetable for reorganization of the National Government.

Informed sources say the disastrous inflationary trend which disrupted China's economy following the Chinese New Year forced all departments of the Government to center their attention on a new economic program, designed to stabilize the nation's economy, rather than to proceed with the plan to broaden the Government to include minority-party representatives. It had been intended to accomplish this Government reorganization by February 15, officials said.

One Party's Slate Chosen

The Democratic Socialist party already had submitted lists of candidates for seats in the executive, legislative and control yuans, as well as other Government units. The other minority group, the Young China party, is in the process of naming its candidates for Government posts.

Including representatives of these minority parties in the Government will not change the Kuomintang's substantial majority, which has full control of the various yuans.

Chiang Urges Speed

Although attention of most of the Government's high officials is concentrated now on the economic situation, it is known that Chiang Kai-shek has issued orders to expedite reorganization of the Government and clear the way for national elections for members of the new National Assembly, which hereafter is intended to function as a presidential electoral college.

The constitution requires that a new Assembly be elected at least three months before the beginning of constitutional government on December 25.

Speedy Action Urged

A demand that Government reorganization be completed speedily was made today by Ta Kung Pao, China's leading newspaper. The newspaper, published in Shanghai, said the situation was "extremely serious."

"If we look at the vast rural areas and at conditions under which the great majority of our fellow countrymen live, we shall doubt what century we are living in today and what kind of civilization mankind has created," Ta Kung Pao said. "There is no place in the country where the people can obtain enough food and clothing and enjoy a sense of security."

Corruption Charged

The newspaper charged that the basic Government was corrupt, that graft was prevalent and that the system of conscription and rationing was fast deteriorating.

"Such a state of affairs," it added, "can probably find no parallel in the political history of any other nation, whether ancient or modern."

Chinese Reds Give Up Peiping Truce Efforts

Commissioner, Departing, Praises U. S. Attempts to Bring China Peace

PEIPING, Feb. 21 (AP).—Twenty Chinese Communists, including Commissioner Yeh Chien-ying, left by plane today for Yenan, the Communist capital, closing another chapter in China's unsuccessful struggle to end its civil war.

"I sincerely believe that the efforts of General Marshall and America during the last year in helping China to win peace have not been in vain," Yeh said in his first public statement since the United States withdrew from the mediation attempts.

"Peace will prevail," he said. "It is only a question of time. Long live Chinese-American cooperation!"

Lieutenant General Alvan C. Gillem jr., American representative at the defunct executive (truce) headquarters here, and Tsai Wen-chih, the Chinese government representative, arose at dawn to see the last Communists off to their capital city.

"I hope we meet again," General Gillem said to Yeh.

"I am certain we will soon," Yeh replied, reflecting the Communist view that peace negotiations will be resumed within a few months following future Communist victories and the Big Four Foreign Ministers' Conference at Moscow in March.

Romulo Backs Economic Parity for Americans

MANILA, Feb. 21 (AP).—Brigadier General Carlos P. Romulo urged Filipinos today to approve a constitutional amendment granting parity rights to Americans in developing Philippine resources. Time is needed, he said, "to reach the point where our economic independence will be as real as our political independence."

Romulo, chief Philippine delegate to the United Nations, made the plea in his first public address since his return this week from U. N. meetings.

Filipinos will vote March 11 on an amendment granting the parity rights, pegging the peso to the dollar until 1974 and establishing quotas on sugar, coconuts, tobacco and cordage. Provisions of the Philippine trade act passed by the Congress at Washington require amendment of the Philippine Constitution before the act becomes effective.

3 Manila Police Hurt in Fight

MANILA, Feb. 21 (AP).—Three Manila policemen were wounded today in a gunfight with Philippine Army military police who, the Manila police said, opened fire with machine guns because they resented being questioned.

Indonesian-Dutch Firm Proposed for Trade

By the Associated Press.

BATAVIA, Java, Feb. 21.—Dr. A. K. Gani, Indonesian republican Economics Minister and chairman of the Joint Indonesian-Dutch Economic Commission, said today he would call a joint meeting to consider formation of a Netherlands-Indonesian Corp. to bring Java's large stockpiles of sugar, rubber, cinchona and sisal to world markets.

He said the joint meeting probably would be called for March 3. He told James W. Ryan, representative of the Isbrandtsen Co., American shipping corporation, that he would first confer with Indonesian Premier Sutan Sjahrir and call the session after the Indonesian cabinet returns from the republican parliament meeting opening Monday at Malang, Java.

The idea for forming a joint corporation developed from the test case of the Martin Behrman, operated by Isbrandtsen, which today continued loading 3000 tons of rubber consigned to the U. S. Rubber Development Corp., sugar and cinchona (source of quinine) at the republican port of Cheribon. A Dutch destroyer kept her position off the Martin Behrman's bow, and an armed guard of three Dutch sailors was still aboard the American vessel.

Mr. Ryan put his company's case before the joint commission today and formally protested the presence of Dutch guards.

Dr. D. Van Hoogstraten, Netherlands East Indies Director of Economic Affairs, told Mr. Ryan the Dutch had long favored the joint arrangement rather than see the Indonesian products move to Singapore and China through the smuggling trade. The American took this proposal to Dr. Gani.

Australia Combs U. S. Ship

SYDNEY, Australia, Feb. 21 (AP)—Immigration officials combed the United States steamer Marine Phoenix closely today, checking the papers of its 578 passengers when the vessel arrived from San Francisco. The close watch apparently was the result of the Australian Government's decision to check thoroughly all aliens entering the country in view of plans for impending rocket tests in Central Australia.

Bodies of 54 G. I.s Start Home

PARAMARIBO, Surinam, Feb. 21 (AP).—The bodies of fifty-four American soldiers buried in Surinam (Dutch Guiana) during the war were placed today on board a ship bound for the United States. Full military honors were accorded. Governor Johannes C. Brons attended the ceremonies.

Women Undaunted By Snow At U.N.

Lake Success, N.Y., Feb. 21 (AP)—The women just wouldn't give up today, so the snowbound United Nations had one meeting.

With the sprawling, windswept headquarters here all but isolated by drifts, the Security Council delegates remained huddled in their New York city hotels after calling off a scheduled meeting on a British complaint against Albania.

Not so for the Commission on the Status of Women, which has woman delegates from fourteen countries.

But Women Insist

The United Nations secretariat, noting the Council's postponement, advised the women to stay at home. All official cars for use of delegates between New York and Lake Success were withdrawn from service due to hazardous highways.

But the women insisted on meeting. They came by train, bus, taxicabs or banded together for rides in private cars. When their session finally got under way at 1.47 P.M., all delegates were on hand except two.

U. S. Delegate's Comment

The first to arrive was Mrs. Hamid Ali, of India, wearing a sari and disdaining the drifts as small stuff compared with those of the Himalayan foothills.

As the gavel rapped for order, Dorothy Kenyon, United States delegate, spoke up:

"I have been told not to say this, but I think it should go in the records of the United Nations. On this day of the great tempest, the Security Council decided to stay at home, but the women met as usual."

There was much giggling and then the women resumed their task of outlining a program to help the fair sex all over the world.

The virtual shutdown here marked the first time in history that snow has blocked the Security Council.

Hundreds Late Or Absent

Hundreds of secretariat workers were either late or did not arrive at all as busses ran on curtailed schedules and private transportation was cut to a minimum by the condition of the highways.

Trygve Lie, secretary general, who lives in near-by Forest Hills, arrived by private car shortly before noon to set an example.

At least one member of his staff must have looked at the drifts and decided the United Nations would give its employés the day off. Anyway, she arrived at headquarters by bus carrying her skis.

Washington, Feb. 21 (AP)—The Senate approved and sent to the White House today legislation exempting from Federal taxes a gift of $8,500,000 by John D. Rockefeller, Jr., to purchase a site for the United Nations headquarters in New York city.

Governor For Trieste

New York, Feb. 21 (AP)—Five representatives of small countries were being considered by the Big Four tonight for the toughest police job in the diplomatic world—the governorship of Trieste.

An authoritative source who would not be identified said the five men are:

GEN. HENRI GUISAN, of Switzerland.

ALBERTO LLERAS CAMARGO, of Colombia.

LIEUT. GEN. BENGT NORDENSKIOLD, of Sweden.

LEIF EGELAND, of South Africa.

EMIL SANDSTROM, of Sweden.

The Big Four representatives hope that the governor might be named before March 1, but there is no deadline, it was said.

Capable, Cool And Fair

The men under consideration did not know their names had been submitted, the source said.

The four powers—France, United States, Great Britain and Russia—were said to be seeking a capable, cool, fair and strong man for the post. The United Nations Security Council must name the governor.

He will face a multitude of problems in governing the first area which the United Nations has agreed to supervise. The United Nations undertook the supervision of the Trieste area at the request of the Foreign Ministers Council, which made that decision last fall in New York in drawing up the peace treaty for Italy.

General Guisan was commander in chief of the Swiss Army from 1939 to 1945.

Was Ambassador To U.S.

Lleras Camargo was Ambassador to the United States in 1943 and was President of Colombia in 1945-46 upon the resignation of Dr. Alfredo Lopez, present Colombia delegate to the United Nations Security Council.

General Nordenskiold is chief of the Swedish Air Force.

Egeland was Minister to Sweden from 1943 to 1946 and is the present South African Minister to the Netherlands. He was a member of the South African delegation to the San Francisco United Nations conference, and to the first session of the United Nations Assembly in London in 1946. He also represented South Africa at the Paris Peace Conference last summer.

Sandstrom was on the Swedish Supreme Court from 1931 to 1933. He is the present chief of the Swedish bureau disposing of Axis holdings in Sweden.

Truman Asks $350,000,000 For Relief Abroad by U. S.

Message to Congress Sets Out American Control in Distributing Food, Medicine to Liberated Peoples as UNRRA Ends

By FELIX BELAIR Jr.

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21—President Truman urged Congress in a special message today to appropriate $350,000,000 for the relief of destitution in liberated countries abroad. He proposed that distribution of the supplies provided by the fund be controlled directly by the United States, instead of by an international agency.

Following reading of the President's message in the House, Representative Charles A. Eaton of New Jersey, chairman of the Foreign Affairs Committee, introduced an enabling resolution, which was promptly referred to his committee.

In anticipation of Congressional approval of the fund, covered in the President's budget estimates, the State Department is perfecting plans for supervision of relief distribution abroad.

The fund asked by the President would be in addition to $300,000,000 budgeted to the War Department for the relief of destitution in occupied Germany, Austria, Japan and Korea. The War Department item already is under fire from Representative John Taber of New York, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, who has served notice that "they will have to show us that they need this extra money before they get it."

Mr. Eaton's authorizing resolution on the newly proposed fund barred relief assistance to any country failing to give "satisfactory assurances" of meeting the following conditions:

That supplies would be distributed "without discrimination as to race, creed or political belief."

That representatives of the United States Government and the American press and radio be permitted to observe and report on the distribution of supplies.

That the recipient countries furnish, upon the request of the President, information concerning "the production, use, distribution, importation and exportation of any supplies which affect the relief needs of the recipient country."

Senate comment on the President's $350,000,000 request was on the whole favorable and several members stressed advisability of Mr. Truman's suggestion that distribution of relief supplies would be directly controlled by United States representatives.

Before dispatching the President's message to the Capitol, the White House said it had no knowledge of reports that the Rumanian Government, through censorship, had deprived the people of Rumania of information that current relief shipments had been made possible through American generosity. Similar situations in the past led to the President's recommendation for direct United States control in the matter of his new relief proposals.

President Notes Ending of UNRRA

In his message, President Truman said that "on humanitarian grounds, and in the light of our own self-interest as well, we must not leave the task unfinished." He referred to impending end of operations by the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration.

"To "abandon the peoples still in neew" when UNRRA ceased, the President went on, would be to replace hope with despair in the hearts of the liberated peoples and to undermine the spiritual and economic stability "upon which our own hopes for a better world must rest."

President Truman said that "international cooperation in the program and the necessary coordination of our relief activities with those of other contributors can be achieved by informal consultations with all nations concerned through the mechanism of the United Nations and otherwise."

The American relief contribution should be used only "for providing the basic essentials of life, such as medical supplies, food and items which will aid in the production of foodstuffs," the President said.

He told Congress that the fund recommended was for urgent relief needs for the remainder of the fiscal year ending June 30.

Urging swift legislative action "if our help is not to come too late," the President said the most critical period will be in the spring and summer months when UNRRA shipments will cease and the harvests are not yea available.

Mr. Truman added that "the task is nearly finished," that prompt action would insure that "we do not endanger the permanent gains we have helped to achieve."

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 (AP)—The text of President Truman's message to Congress asking $350,000,000 to assist in the relief of liberated countries:

To the Congress of the United States of America:

I recommend that the Congress authorize the appropriation of not to exceed $350,000,000 to assist in completing the great task of bringing relief from the ravages of the war to the people of the liberated countries.

The period of full scale supply operations by the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration is rapidly drawing to a close. In some of the liberated countries UNRRA will have achieved its objective fully, for these countries will once again be self-supporting so far as the basic essentials of life are concerned. In other liberated countries, however, this is not yet the case. Compared with what has already been done, what remains to be done is relatively small and limited in time and scope, but nonetheless vitally important.

On humanitarian grounds, and in the light of our own self-interest as well, we must not leave the task unfinished. We can not abandon the peoples still in need. To do so would be to replace hope with despair in the hearts of these peoples and thus to undermine the spiritual and economic stability upon which our hopes for a better world must rest. Others will help, but such is the preponderance of our economic resources that success can not be achieved without us.

Factor for World Peace

If we fail to do our part, millions of human beings will be denied the elemental necessities of life. Their strength and recuperative powers, which have been slowly growing, will be undermined. The time, now in sight, when they can once more exist without help and make their contributions to the peace, prosperity and progress of the world, will be indefinitely postponed.

I recommend that this relief assistance be given directly rather than through an international organization, and that our contribution be administered under United States control.

International cooperation in the program and the necessary coordination of our relief activities with those of other contributors can be achieved by informal consultations with all nations concerned through the mechanism of the United Nations and otherwise.

I believe that our relief contribution should be used only for providing the basic essentials of life, such as medical supplies, food and items which will aid in the productions of foodstuffs.

The authorization recommended is designed for the urgent relief needs for the balance of the year. The most critical period will be in the spring and summer months, when UNRRA shipments will cease and the harvests are not yet available. Swift legislative action is necessary if our help is not to come too late.

The United States, in keeping with our traditions of immediate and whole-hearted response to human need, has stood in the forefront of those who have checked the forces of starvation, disease, suffering and chaos which threatened to engulf the world in the wake of the war. The task is nearly finished.

I urge the Congress to act promptly to insure that we do not stop short of the goal; that we do not endanger the permanence of the gains we have helped to achieve.

Vandenberg Hits Budget Slash Voted By House

Washington, Feb. 21 (AP)—Senator Vandenberg (R., Mich.) told the Senate today that he cannot vote for a $6,000,000,000 slash in President Truman's budget because he deeply fears such a cut would "jeopardize our winning of the peace."

The presiding officer of the Senate and chairman of its Foreign Relations Committee, opened debate on a House-approved resolution to put a $31,500,000,000 ceiling on Government expenditures in the fiscal year beginning July 1. This is $6,000,000,000 below Mr. Truman's $37,500,000,000 request.

Cautions Colleagues

Vandenberg said he applauded "this drive on swollen Federal expenditures," but cautioned his Republican colleagues not to promise more economy than they might be able to attain "without serious threat to the public welfare."

If the facts later justify a cut of $6,000,000,000, he said, Congress can make it as it votes on individual appropriations bills.

A $6,000,000,000 cut might require taking $2,250,000,000 off the armed services' allotment, he said, and added:

"I deeply fear that would jeopardize our winning of the peace."

For that reason, he said, he personally favors the adoption of an amendment by Senator Millikin (R., Col.) which would limit the budget cut promise to $4,500,000,000.

Taft Urges Quick Action

Senator Taft (R., Ohio) urged that the Senate act without delay.

Taft, who heads the Republican Policy Committee, told a reporter that he saw no reason why a decision could not be reached quickly.

Vandenberg cited the forecasts of army and navy officials as to what the cut would mean in their ability to maintain the nation's armed strength. Then he said:

"This year of all years, when the chips are down, we dare not present to the world the picture of a pacifist America retiring into its vulnerable shell . . . a picture of Uncle Sam with a chip on each shoulder and both arms in a sling."

Recalls Marshall Remark

He reminded the Senate that Secretary of State Marshall, former army chief of staff, has said a "practically impossible" situation would be created for American troops if the people of the occupied countries were left without food. He recalled that Gen. Douglas MacArthur once said "send me food or send me soldiers."

"And we propose to take both away from him," Vandenberg commented.

He went on to say that this nation cannot afford to cut its military strength when "other powers" are increasing theirs, that "this is the year of all years when we must hold the line."

"Offers Best Escape"

Until the United Nations demonstrates it can maintain peace, we must rely upon our own strength, Vandenberg counseled. He said if the United States disarmed alone it would lose all its influence in persuading other nations to disarm.

With three or four exceptions, Senate Democrats supported the Millikin suggestion as offering the best escape from what they consider the too-deep cut pledged by the House yesterday.

Senator Lodge And M.I.T. Head Urge Okay Of Lilienthal

Washington, Feb. 21 (AP)—Support for David E. Lilienthal's nomination as chairman of Atomic Energy Commission came today from Senator Lodge (R., Mass.) and President Karl T. Compton, of Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Lodge said in a statement that he will vote for confirmation because he is convinced the accusations against Lilienthal's character and patriotism are without proof and without foundation."

Furthermore, Lodge said the former Tennessee Valley Authority chief is "exceptionally well trained" as the "only man in the United States who has ever administered" a project as large and complete as the atomic setup.

"Scientists Disgusted"

Compton, reiterating a previous indorsement of Lilienthal asserted that scientists are "disillusioned and disgusted" with Senate handling of the nomination. Failure to confirm the nomination, he declared, would be "a very serious blow" to progress in developing atomic power.

Compton, one of the men who helped develop the atomic bomb, expressed his views in a letter which Senator Vandenberg (R., Mich.) read at the Senate Atomic Committee's hearing on the nomination.

To Curtail Testimony

Vandenberg, presiding officer of the Senate and one of the top Republican leaders, has not announced his position on the appointment, although several other Republicans have lined up against it.

Committee Chairman Hickenlooper (R., Iowa) told reporters the committee had decided to curtail future testimony and expressed hope of getting a vote on the nomination by the end of next week. Members agreed, Hickenlooper said, that no additional witnesses would be called after next Wednesday.

Compton wrote that the industrial and military development of atomic power "will collapse into a hollow shell" if politics and special interests get control.

He described Lilienthal as well qualified and said failure to confirm him could produce serious consequences to the atomic-energy program. Work at Oak Ridge, Tenn., and other atomic centers, he said, already has been impeded by the delay in acting upon the nomination.

As soon as Vandenberg finished, Senator McKellar (D., Tenn.), leading foe of Lilienthal, called up another witness to tell about alleged communistic activities in the Tennessee Valley Authority. Lilienthal formerly headed TVA.

Tells Of Joining

The witness, Mrs. Roxie P. Parris, of Fountain City, Tenn., said she had joined the Communist party in Tennessee in 1939 in order to get evidence which she said later was presented to the House Un-American Activities Committee.

Mrs. Parris, under questioning by McKellar, said she attended numerous party sessions which also were attended by "Murial Borah, David Stone Martin, Frances Martin, Henry Hart and John Frantz."

Frantz, former TVA employé and now an executive here in the Government housing program, denied as a witness yesterday that he ever was a Communist party member.

Hart, also a previous witness and former TVA employé, testified he had held a card in the Communist party, but withdrew.

Mrs. Harris said the party sessions were held "in a Negro room at the RFC Building" and in a "Negro chicken shack."

Asks About Clapp

McKellar wanted to know if the name of Gordon Clapp, nominated to succeed Lilienthal as a TVA director and also opposed by McKellar, ever was mentioned at Communist meetings.

"Oh, my yes, often," Mrs. Parris replied.

She said Communists were told that they must obtain "key men" in the power agencies and that at one meeting one of these was identified "as Gordon."

McKellar wanted to know whether this was Gordon Clapp.

"I don't know," the witness replied.

Mrs. Parris said that the Communists frequently were given cards to send to senators and congressmen regarding pending issues.

But these cards never were sent to Republicans, Mrs. Parris added, because they were "called Tories."

Mrs. Parris scoffed at Hart's declaration that he had withdrawn from the Communist party.

Hard To Get Out, She Says

"You don't get out of the Communist party," she said. "They told me when I tried to resign."

She testified that Hart was active in aranging a meeting in which Communists were interested, three months after he said he left the party.

McKellar said Hart must have been mistaken.

"He's either mistaken or crazy," Mrs. Parris said.

She testified that copies of the Communist Daily Worker had been given her by Frantz, David Stone Martin and others. She called Kenneth Cameron and Henry Hart, two of the most active members of the Communist party in Knoxville in the late 30's. She said Hart was chairman of a Government workers' "cell" in TVA.

Mrs. Parris asserted that her con was turned down for employment at TVA "because he wasn't a Communist." She said she did not see how such things could go on at TVA without Clapp's knowledge.

Divergent Views Voiced

Aides of Senator Wagner (D., N.Y.), who is in Florida, announced today that he will vote for Lilienthal, but Senator Robertson (R., Wyo.) said he is opposed to confirmation.

"Lilienthal is a New Dealer who is only expert in spending Government funds," Robertson said, "and that is not the kind of a man we want to direct atomic developments."

Taft Statement on Lilienthal

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 (AP).—Following is the complete text of the announcement by Senator Robert A. Taft, Republican, of Ohio, that he will vote against confirmation of the appointment of David E. Lilienthal to head the Atomic Energy Commission:

I have decided to vote against the Senate advising and consenting to the appointment of Mr. David Lilienthal as head of the Atomic Energy Commission. I believe he is temperamentally unfitted to head any important executive agency in a democratic government, and too "soft" on issues connected with Communism and Soviet Russia.

This is no party issue. It is an issue of governmental philosophy. The question of confirmation, therefore, is not like that of a member of the President's Cabinet. The Senate has equal responsibility in selecting the right man, because to him are delegated wide legislative powers. There are qualified men from among whom a man of less questionable leanings could be chosen. Mr. Lilienthal has always been a very able propagandist in his own behalf. I have seldom seen cleverer or more carefully organized propaganda than that which is now flooding Congress in behalf of the ridiculous proposition that Lilienthal is the indispensable man.

I see no reason why any Senator should vote for Mr. Lilienthal unless he would have been willing to appoint him, and I think there are few Senators who would ever have made this choice.

Sees Lack of Co-operation

This was a proper case for the exercise of that co-operation which President Truman has promised, but although he delayed for three months in making the appointments authorized by Congress, he never consulted Congress in any way as to the men, or type of men, who should have been appointed.

The Atomic Energy Commission is the most important agency created in recent years. It was necessary to give it tremendous discretion in exercising power over the atom-bomb field and many related activities. It can extend its regulations into many industries. Furthermore, the chairman of the commission is bound to have a tremendous influence in determining our international policy relating to the atom. Mr. Lilienthal is a typical power-hungry bureaucrat, one of the group of men who in recent years dominated the thinking of perhaps half of the government departments and bureaus in the manner seen so clearly in the administration of O. P. A.

They have defied Congress. They have attempted to stretch their powers far beyond the limit of statutes. They have sought vast sums of money from the public purse to help them carry out their plans, concealing as far as possible what the money was really to be used for. They created the conception of the bureaucrat against which the people revolted in the last election. They have been unprincipled crusaders for w at they perhaps thought were the public interests.

Hits Conduct of T. V. A.

Mr. Lilienthal has conducted the affairs of the T. V. A. in a secretive and arbitrary manner. He attempted to build it up into a little independent but all-powerful government. For instance, in his district he has always excluded the Department of Agriculture from the activities it conducts in every other part of the United States.

His treatment of Dr. Arthur Morgan, former president of Antioch College, clearly revealed his character. While Dr. Morgan was T. V. A. chairman, Mr. Lilienthal undermined his authority until he finally brought about his dismissal and obtained the position himself. The T. V. A. investigation was whitewashed by the appointment of Mr. Francis Biddle, another member of the "inside" group, as counsel for the committee.

The minority of the committee found that Mr. Lilienthal had followed methods of concealment, manipulation and lack of candor. In the matter of the Berry claims, Mr. Lilienthal testified that he thought questions of ethics should be disregarded in making the decision. He repeatedly had the T. V. A. minutes changed—months later—to paint a better picture of his own actions. I agree with Dr. Morgan's testimony of last week that Lilienthal has a "personal desire to be irresponsibly in power," and was guilty of dishonest practices at that time.

He also fought bitterly any investigation into his actions as an official of the T. V. A.

"Soft" on Communism

Like the group of which he was a part, Mr. Lilienthal was soft on the subject of Communism.

Members of this group were not Communist, but like the C. I. O., they accepted the Communists' strength and assistance, particularly the Communist propaganda which supported many of their plans. As a result of this attitude, Communists were permitted to infiltrate into many of the bureaus and departments in Washington which they dominated. There is no doubt that a Communist cell was tolerated for a while by Mr. Lilienthal in the T. V. A.

The same general softness appears in the Lilienthal report on the atom bomb. All atom manufacture is to be turned over to an international authority to duplicate our atom-manufacturing plants throughout the world—including Russia. No practical suggestions for safeguards were included. If Communists could infiltrate into the government and into T. V. A., is there any reason to believe that they could not infiltrate into such an international authority? After all, the Russians claimed only recently that the United States and Canada are conspiring against them. No suggestion was made in the Lilienthal report of any method of nullifying Russia's veto against action by that government in seizing the new plants or violating the rules.

The whole emphasis in the report had to be changed by Mr. (Bernard M.) Baruch in presenting a plan to the United Nations.

I do not want to see a man as muddled in his thinking on questions of international power as Mr. Lilienthal in charge of our atom-bomb policies. I would consider his confirmation a real threat to our national safety.

Stassen Hopes To See Stalin, Churchill And Attlee On Tour

Washington, Feb. 21 (AP)—Harold E. Stassen, chips-down candidate for the 1948 Republican presidential nomination, said tonight he expects to see Stalin, Churchill, Attlee and the heads of all governments on his forthcoming tour of nineteen European nations.

The former Minnesota Governor said, however, he will not discuss either American policy or leadership until his return to the United States, since the trip is primarily a "freshener" course on world affairs.

Stassen said he plans to leave New York tomorrow by Pan American Airways en route to Brussels, Belgium, on the first leg of a two-month journey that will encompass almost every country in Europe. He is scheduled to return to New York on April 24.

'In Accord' On Lilienthal

"I am going to study economic conditions abroad, to meet present and future leaders of the other United Nations, and to add to my background on world conditions affecting the future well-being and peace of the American people and of the world," he said.

"I feel that even the most limited observation of people and conditions abroad is almost essential for a candidate for the presidency."

Commenting on domestic affairs, Stassen said he is "in accord" with those senators who have indicated they would vote to confirm David E. Lilienthal, as chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission.

"I have had no opportunity to study Lilienthal's qualifications in detail, however," he said. "If new evidence comes up, I may re-evaluate that opinion."

Stassen said he had received "very strong support" of views expressed in his Lincoln Day speech in New York, in which he called on the Republican party to abandon "all remnants of a policy of economic isolation" and declared a high-tariff policy no longer suits America.

"The response was most encouraging," he said.

"I think Republicans are in the process of developing a new economic policy toward a greater flow of trade around the world. I feel strongly that theeconomic future of all people is closely related."

REPORTS ON EUROPE

Philadelphia, Feb. 21 (A. P.).—The peoples of Europe, in many cases starving and suffering, are looking to the United States for both political and moral leadership, Dr. William Barrow Pugh, stated clerk of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A., declared today. He represented more than 20,000,000 church members on a tour through Europe, and said that everywhere he found a "deep and abiding faith in this country."

Commenting that he encountered the coldest weather in Europe in fifty years on his seven-week tour, Dr. Pugh reported that in the coal crisis "the British are worse off than they were during the war."

Dr. Pugh, secretary of the Western Section of the World Alliance for North and South America, said that the primary goal of his trip was to get acquainted with the leaders of the Presbyterian and Reformed churches. In Edinburgh, he met with leaders of the church of Scotland and set a meeting of the World Alliance of Presbyterian and Reformed Churches for Geneva in the second week of August, 1948.

World Government Parley Under Way

Unified Program Is Sought by 6 Organizations

ASHEVILLE, N. C., Feb. 21 (AP).—Six organizations which hope to achieve a unified program for world government went to work here today. Two hours of open discussion, much of it on parliamentary questions, resulted in the appointment of two committees to formulate a policy and name, and to consider plans of organization. Both committee reports are due tomorrow morning.

The conference was warned by Raymond Swing, commentator, not to become tied up in "ideological" problems, but to realize its big job "is to lay plans to organize a nation-wide movement to awaken the American people to the urgent need of such a (world) government."

Mr. Swing's views were presented in a letter read by F. R. von Windegger, a St. Louis bank executive.

One suggested policy and one plan of organization were presented from the floor, both by members of World Federalists, U. S. A., the largest numerically of the various world government organizations.

The policy statement by Mark Van Doren, poet, had previously been adopted by representatives of twelve world government movements at a meeting in Chicago last fall.

It calls for a world government, federal and democratic in form, with laws applicable to individuals. It says that the world government should have jurisdiction as defined in a world constitution and "must control, among other things, all weapons of mass destruction and supervise universal disarmament."

Trade Barriers' Removal Urged By Inverchapel

Envoy Says Only Expanded Markets Can Absorb U.S. and British Production

BALTIMORE, Feb. 21 (AP).—The huge industrial capacities of the United States and the British Commonwealth can be kept in operation only through expanding world markets and an international commerce, free of oldtime trade barriers, Lord Inverchapel, British Ambassador to the United States, said here tonight.

The trade must flow both ways, and a system of exchanging goods must be re-created if the resources of the two nations are to contribute to the enrichment of mankind, he said in an address at exercises marking the seventy-first anniversary of Johns Hopkins University.

The English "set the highest importance upon the conference of eighteen nations which is to meet in April to promote multilateral trade," he declared.

Receives Honorary Degree

Lord Inverchapel spoke after receiving the honorary doctor of laws degree, first to be awarded to him in the United States. Alger Hiss, Johns Hopkins alumnus and director of the Carnegie Foundation for International Peace, also received the honor.

The British envoy said that after the present dearth of goods in the world passes, industry will depend on open markets and this incentive: "The appalling poverty, squalor and illiteracy in which most of mankind eke out their fleeting lives."

"The removal of those trade barriers and restrictions which are the legacies from the time when each country was trying . . . 'to export its unemployment,' will at least be a first step in raising the world's standard of living," he said.

"The real hope of our world lies in the constructive side of the United Nations charter. I want to see the bank and fund working. I want to see great schemes like your T. V. A. or Missouri project opening up, all over the world, news visions to people who now scratch the soil with primitive implements."

Views on Germany

Lord Inverchapel said both Prime Minister Attlee and Winston Churchill faced at the end of the war the desire of the people for a planned economy, a fairer distribution of incomes and no more mass unemployment.

"Rightly or wrongly, almost all of us thought that the old laissez-faire system had been working wastefully and badly."

He said the English favor socialization of Germany's key industries as a means of getting their control out of Nazi hands.

"Even if our land were flowing with milk and honey instead of watery beer, we should not want to go on paying for the upkeep of a German slum.

"We, therefore, are in favor of a controlled rebuilding of German industry so that she can pay her own way."

U.S. TO GET MORE SUGAR THIS YEAR

Allotted 90 Pounds Per Capita—Individual Ration To Be Boosted

Washington, Feb. 21 (AP)—America will get about 17 pounds of sugar per capita more this year than last under international allocations announced tonight.

The International Emergency Food Council, charged with dividing the world's supplies of scarce foods, alloted the United States enough sugar to provide 90 pounds of refined sugar per capita. Last year's supply was 73 pounds and prewar consumption averaged 96 pounds.

The American share will be used to supply individual consumers as well as industrial and institutional users.

No Division Announced

No announcement was made as to how the allocation will be divided among these classes of consumers. This decision rests with the Agriculture Department and the Office of Price Administration.

Last year individual consumers got 25 pounds through ration stamps, with the remainder of the 73 pounds going to institutions and industrial users. The latter include food manufacturers, candy makers, soft-drink bottlers and others.

The OPA already has announced, however, that the individual ration allowance will be increased five pounds effective April 1. Food officials have indicated that the individual consumer allowance will be at least 35 pounds this year.

Equal To 90 Pounds Per Capita

The United States was allocated 6,800,000 short tons raw value. This compared with 5,433,000 allocated last year.

Agriculture Department officials said that the 6,800,000 tons of raw sugar would be equivalent to about 90 pounds per capita of refined sugar for about 142,000,000 consumers.

24 Nations Get Allotments

The allocations were allotted to the 24 claimant nations so as to give them all at least 75 per cent of their average prewar per capita consumption. The United States, United Kingdom and Canada, however, received slightly more than 75 per cent. The supply allotted to the United Kingdom and Canada was about the same as that given to this country on a per capita basis.

The council estimated the total world supply available for allocation at 14,986,000 short tons, raw value.

The United States' allocation included 1,760,000 short tons from domestic production, 3,146,000 from Cuba, 894,000 from Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands, 800,000 from Hawaii, and 200,000 from other areas yet to be determined.

HOME BUILDERS ASSAILED

Industry Practices Caused Some Shortages, Says Sabath

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 (AP)—Representative Sabath, Democrat, of Illinois, asked Attorney General Clark today for an immediate investigation of what he called "outrageous restraints" in the building industry. The Congressman said he believed "the virtual monopoly of some manufacturers and manufacturers' associations" had contributed to "acute shortages" of essential materials for home building. Gypsum board and rock lath, hardwood flooring and iron pipe were the items cited specifically.

Since wartime controls on these items were removed, Mr. Sabath said, "prices have skyrocketed" with the result that new houses are "completely out of reach of veterans and low-income groups."

HATE WON'T END, SAYS COLUMBIAN

Leader Of Group Sentenced To Three-Year Term

Atlanta, Feb. 21 (AP) — Emory Burke, who gave up his job as a railroad draftsman to lead the Columbians, Inc., in their crusade against Negroes and Jews, drew a three-year prison sentence today, but declared "a few court cases are not going to stop this movement."

The 31-year-old Atlantan, nattily attired in a dark blue suit, heard the sentence without emotion.

He was convicted of usurping police powers in directing patrols to move against Negroes in white residential areas.

Shows No Concern

He was equally unconcerned as he made a $3,000 bond pending argument on a new trial motion May 17, reiterating that if foes of the Columbians think "they are going to win by these tactics (court prosecution) they are dead wrong."

Burke still faces prosecution on two other indictments. One charges riot, on which Homer L. Loomis, Jr., Columbian secretary, drew a one-year sentence last week, and the other charges illegal possession of dynamite. Loomis also is to be tried on the dynamite and usurpation charges.

State Aiming At Charter

The State plans to proceed with its suit to revoke the Columbian Charter after completing prosecution of the officials.

Burke's conviction was based upon testimony that the anti-Negro, anti-Jew Columbians last fall ordered members to assault a Negro walking through a white residential area and on two other occasions tried to prevent Negroes from moving into houses formerly occupied by white persons.

"These rascals are trying to destroy the white race and they are going to be defeated," Burke said of his prosecutors. He explained "They are trying to destroy the white race through inter-marriage" with Negroes.

"Fate Not Important"

He declared "My own individualist fate is not important" and that the Columbians would continue to preach their doctrine "as long as there is one drop of red blood for white supremacy." He added that his opponents "are the same group trying to destroy Herman Talmadge," who was elected governor by the Legislature after the death of his father, Governor-elect Eugene Talmadge, who campaigned on a platform of white supremacy.

Burke's wife voluntarily stood by his side as Superior (Circuit) Court Judge Carl Crow rebuked him sternly before ordering him to serve three years on public works.

"We live under a government of constitutional law, constitutional authority, and the duty of every person is to obey all the laws," the jurist said. He declared "the bulwark of safety of the people in this country is in the constitutional authority."

Four Named to Try Reich War Criminals

Washington, Feb. 21 (A. P.).—President Truman designated four jurists and lawyers today to serve as members of military tribunals set up in Germany for the trial of major war criminals.

They are: Carrington Tanner Marshall, former Chief Justice of the Ohio Supreme Court; Associate Justice James Tenney Brand of the Oregon Supreme Court; former Associate Justice Mallory B. Blair of the Texas Court of Civil Appeals, and Justin Woodward Harding, a member of the Ohio bar.

Mr. Truman authorized them to serve on any of the several military tribunals now functioning in Germany.

Garsson Defense Claims Rejected

Washington, Feb. 21 (AP)—Justice Henry A. Schweinhaut of the United States District Court tentatively brushed aside defense claims today that the grand jury indictment in the Garsson conspiracy case is "faulty."

Former Representative Andrew J. May (D., Ky.), wartime chairman of the House Military Affairs Committee, was present in the role of defendant as the court ruled against throwing out the indictment, but agreed to hear arguments.

Indicted With Garssons

Justice Schweinhaut said he was informed only yesterday that he would handle the case. However, he said, he had read the file.

"I say on the face of it, I don't agree with you," he told May's defense counsel, Sawyer Smith, of Covington, Ky.

May was indicted with Henry and Murray Garsson, heads of a $73,000,000 munitions combine, and Joseph F. Freeman. The defendants are charged with conspiring to defraud the United States of May's "honest services" by allegedly offering him money illegally in connection with war contracts.

Trial Set For March 19

Trial has been set for March 19.

In seeking to quash the indictment, Smith attacked its legality on a number of grounds.

Among other things, the defense contended that the indictment violates May's constitutional rights that portions of his testimony before the Senate War Investigating Committee were used against him illegally by the prosecution.

The former Kentucky lawmaker contends he was promised immunity when he appeared before the Senate committee.

U. S. TO SUPPLY COAL

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 (AP).—The United States will supply British ships with coal for roundtrip transatlantic voyages during the British fuel crisis. Announcing this today, the State Department said the action would relieve the British shortage by between 50,000 and 75,000 tons monthly.

Shipping Authority Extended

Washington, Feb. 21 (AP) — The Senate completed legislative action today on a measure requested by President Truman to extend wartime authority of the Maritime Commission to operate merchant shipping. The bill extends until July 1 the authority, which would have expired March 1.

Kilian Case Stirs Legislators

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 (AP).—Members of the Armed Services Committees of both House and Senate declared today the case of Colonel James Kilian calls for a quick change in the Army's promotion system. Senator Chan Gurney, Republican, of South Dakota, chairman of the Senate group, predicted the law will be amended in time to head off the advancement of Kilian to permanent rank of colonel despite his conviction last year in connection with brutality charges at the Lichfield, England, army prison camp, which he commanded. The court martial fined Kilian $500. Representative Paul W. Shafer, Republican, of Michigan, chairman of a House Armed Services subcommittee considering changes in the promotion rules, told a reporter: "Obviously there is something wrong with a law which makes it mandatory for the Army to recommend for promotion an officer convicted by a court martial."

CONFIRMS 133 GENERALS

Senate Also Approves Marvel as Ambassador to Denmark

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 (AP)—Wartime headliners were among 138 generals whose nominations were confirmed today by the Senate.

Highest in rank were James H. Doolittle, leader of the first raid on Japan and later commander of the Eighth Air Force. He received his wartime rank of lieutenant general in the organized Reserve.

Major general rank in the Reserve was approved for Patrick Jay Hurley, former Secretary of War and later special Ambassador to China; William J. Donovan, who directed the Office of Strategic Services, and Carl Raymond Gray Jr., railroad executive.

Others whose nominations were confirmed:

Josiah Marvel Jr. of Delaware, Ambassador to Denmark.

Dillard B. Lasseter of Georgia, administrator of the Farmers' Home Administration.

Spencer Ball Akin, Chief Signal Officer of the Army, with the rank of major general.

Reinstatement Of GI Insurance Extended

Washington, Feb. 21 (AP)—The Veterans Administration today extended to next August 1 the time during which some 10,000,000 World War II veterans may reinstate their Government insurance policies.

Gen. Omar Bradley, Veterans Administrator, announced the extension immediately after President Truman signed the necessary legislation.

Bradley said that National Service Life Insurance term policies which have lapsed may be reinstated by payment of two monthly premiums provided holders are in as good health as they were at the time of the lapse.

The previous deadline for reinstatements had been February 1.

Sprague Takes New Navy Post

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 (AP).—Rear Admiral Thomas L. Sprague, commander of an aircraft carrier division in the Pacific during World War II, was sworn in today as Chief of Navy Personnel. He replaced Admiral Louis E. Denfeld, who will become commander in chief of the Pacific Fleet at Pearl Harbor on Feb. 28.

NIGHT LEAD AUSTERITY

BY ED CREAGH

LONDON, FEB.21-(AP)-THE BRITISH PEOPLE ERE TOLD TODAY IN A STARK DIRECTIVE FOR 1947 THAT THEY ARE IN FOR MORE AUSTERITY, MORE PINCHING OF BELTS AND HARDER WORK IF THEY ARE TO REBUILD "THE FOUNDATIONS OF OUR NATIONAL LIFE" AND ESCAPE ENDURING NATIONAL POVERTY.

PRIME MINISTER ATTLEE AND HIS CABINET, OUTLINING THE NATION'S ECONOMIC POSITION IN A WHITE PAPER WHICH THEY CALLED A "WORKING PATTERN", SAID THE BRITISH MUST DIG MORE COAL, PUT UP WITH THEIR PRESENT THIN DIET AND GO WITHOUT LUXURIES FOR A LONG TIME T COME.

THE GOVERNMENT, SAID LORD BEAVERBROOK'S EVENING STANDARD, "OFFERS THE BRITISH PEOPLE TOIL, TEARS AND SWEAT. BLOOD ALONE THEY ARE SPARED IN THESE PIPING DAYS OF PEACE."

OUTLINING THE UPHILL FUTURE, THE PAPER DECLARED BRITAIN MUST:

INCREASE COAL PRODUCTION

CONTINUE RATIONING

FOREGO HOPES OF SHORTER WORK HOURS

DO WITH A SMALLER ARMY

BRING IN FOREIGN WORKERS

ATTRACT HOUSEWIVES TO THE FACTORY

HOLD VETERAN WORKERS TO THEIR JOBS

BUILD UP THE INDUSTRIAL PLANT

INCREASE INDIVIDUAL PRODUCTION IN MINE, MILL AND FACTORY

EXPORT ONE-FOURTH OF THE INDUSTRIAL PRODUCTION

IN THIS "CRITICAL MOMENT" OF BRITISH HISTORY, THE GOVERNMENT SAID,

"UNLESS WE CONCENTRATE ON THESE REALLY IMPORTANT THINGS, WE MAY NEVER RESTORE THE FOUNDATIONS OF OUR NATIONAL LIFE."

THE REASON, THE GOVERNMENT EXPLAINED, IS THAT THE NATION FACES A DEFICIT OF AT LEAST $1,400,000,000 THIS YEAR WHICH MUST "BE MET BY BORROWING FROM ABROAD."

"THE CENTRAL FACT OF 1947 IS THAT WE HAVE NOT ENOUGH RESOURCES TO DO ALL THAT WE WANT TO DO AND BARELY ENOUGH TO DO ALL THAT WE MUST DO," THE WHITE PAPER SAID.

THEREFORE, IT WAS EXPLAINED, BRITAIN MUST ATTEND TO "FIRST THINGS FIRST"---STRICTLY CONTROL IMPORTS, GET PRODUCTION INTO HIGH GEAR AND SHARPLY INCREASE EXPORTS BEFORE THE FAST-DWINDLING AMERICAN DOLLAR LOAN RUNS OUT.

A2

TO MEET THE SITUATION, HOWEVER, SIR STAFFORD CRIPPS, PRESIDENT OF THE BOARD OF TRADE, EXPLAINED THAT THE GOVERNMENT WAS NOT ADVANCING A "TOTALITARIAN" PLAN.

"WE DO NOT SAY THAT WHETHER YOU LIKE IT OR NOT YOU HAVE GOT TO GO INTO A COAL MINE, OR A STEEL FACTORY, OR WHATEVER IT MAY BE," HE SAID.

INSTEAD, THE GOVERNMENT WOULD TRY TO PERSUADE EMPLOYERS AND EMPLOYES TO CONFORM TO THE "WORKING PATTERN," HE SAID.

THE SURVEY OF MANPOWER, MATERIAL AND DOLLAR SHORTAGES SAID BRITAIN MUST INCREASE PRODUCTION SO THAT EXPORTS IN 1947 WILL BE 40 PERCENT GREATER THAN BEFORE THE WAR. IN ORDER TO GET BACK TO THE PRE-WAR ~~STANDARD OF LIVING THE EXPORT LEVEL MUST BE BOOSTED TO 75 PERCENT~~

THE GOVERNMENT SAID

THE SURVEY OF MANPOWER, MATERIAL AND DOLLAR SHORTAGES SAID BRITAIN MUST INCREASE PRODUCTION SO THAT EXPORTS IN 1947 WILL BE 40 PERCENT GREATER THAN BEFORE THE WAR. IN ORDER TO GET BACK TO THE PRE-WAR STANDARD OF LIVING THE EXPORT LEVEL MUST BE BOOSTED TO 75 PERCENT ABOVE PRE-WAR--WHICH IS STILL THE GOVERNMENT'S DEFERRED GOAL.

THE GOVERNMENT SAID IT WOULD EXCUSE YOUNG MINERS FROM MILITARY SERVICE FOR FIVE YEARS, IMPORT MINERS FROM EUROPE AND GIVE TOP PRIORITY TO HOUSING FOR MINERS AS AN INCENTIVE TO MINE 11,000,000 MORE TONS OF COAL THIS YEAR THAN LAST.

TO GET SOME INDUSTRIAL WORKERS THE ARMED FORCES WILL BE CUT FROM 1,427,000 TO 1,087,000 BY THE END OF MARCH, 1948.

BUT FOR "LONG TERM" REASONS THE GOVERNMENT WILL GO AHEAD WITH ITS PLAN TO RAISE THE SCHOOL-LAVING AGE FROM 14 TO 15.

ELECTRICITY MUST CONTINUE TO BE RATIONED IN HOMES. FOOD AND OTHER SHORTAGES WILL CONTINUE, PERHAPS GROW WORSE. TRAINS MAY BE ORDERED TO SLOW DOWN AS A SAFETY MEASURE UNTIL EQUIPMENT CAN BE PUT IN SHAPE AFTER ITS WAR-TIME SERVICE.

THE SHORTER WORK WEEK--LABOR HAS BEEN CLAMORING FOR A FIVE-DAY, 40-HOUR WEEK---WAS RULED OUT UNLESS IT GUARANTEES HIGHER PRODUCTION.

ORGANIZED LABOR WAS URGED TO ABANDON "INDUSTRIAL ARRANGEMENTS WHICH RESTRICT PRODUCTION, PRICES OR EMPLOYMENT. THE PAPER SAID "SUCH REGULATIONS AND TRADITIONS GROW UP AS A MEANS OF PROTECTING WORKERS FROM SHORTAGE OF WORK, BUT NOW THERE IS NO SUCH SHORTAGE."

NATIONAL AND LOCAL GOVERNMENT STAFFS WILL BE REDUCED.

INDIVIDUAL PRODUCTION TARGETS WILL BE SET FOR EACH INDUSTRY.

REFLECTING THE CRIPPLING EFFECT OF THE WINTER COAL SHORTAGE ON PRODUCTION, THE GOVERNMENT SAID IT WOULD BE IMPOSSIBLE FOR STEEL PLANTS TO REACH THE 1946 NEAR RECORD OUTPUT OF 12,750,000 TONS. SO STEEL EXPORTS WILL HAVE TO BE CUT TO A MINIMUM.

THE CRITICAL SHORTAGE OF TIMBER MAY JEOPARDIZE THE GOAL OF 300,000 NEW HOMES FOR 1947.

INCENTIVE BONUSES TO WORKERS--WHICH MAY BE OPPOSED BY SOME LABOR UNIONS--WERE RECOMMENDED.

JT414PES

THE LABOR GOVERNMENT'S ATTITUDE ON THE QUESTION WAS SUMMED UP BY THE COMMENT OF THE DAILY HERALD, THE PARTY ORGAN, WHICH SAID:

"TO THE REST OF THE WORLD IT WILL BE A FINAL PROOF OF THE FACT THAT THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT IS SINCERE IN ITS DESIRE TO SEE INDIA RULED BY INDIANS AND DOES NOT, AS IS SOMETIMES SUGGESTED, DERIVE SECRET SATISFACTION FROM THE COMMUNAL QUARRELS WHICH ARE DELAYING THE TRANSFER." - ADL-LDN-(HINDU-MOSLEMS)-XXV TO-DAY.

THE PRIME MINISTER'S OFFICE ANNOUNCED THAT VISCOUNT WAVELL WAS TO BE AWARDED AN EARLDOM AND THAT MOUNTBATTEN WOULD BE APPOINTED TO THE PRIVY COUNCIL.

MOST LONDON MORNING PAPERS CALLED ON ATTLEE TO AMPLIFY THE REASONS FOR WAVELL'S REPLACEMENT. THE DAILY MAIL FLATLY DECLARED THAT THE VICEROY HAD BEEN "SACKED" BECAUSE OF A DISAGREEMENT WITH THE CABINET OVER HIS INSISTENCE THAT MOSLEM LEAGUE REPRESENTATIVES BE RETAINED IN THE INTERIM INDIAN GOVERNMENT IN SPITE OF DEMANDS BY THE HINDU-DOMINATED ALL-INDIA CONGRESS PARTY THAT THEY BE OUSTED.

THE HINDUS MAINTAIN THAT THE CONTINUED PRESENCE OF MOSLEMS IN THE GOVERNMENT IS INCOMPATIBLE WITH THEIR CONTINUING BOYCOTT OF THE CONSTITUTION-DRAFTING CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY, NOW IN RECESS UNTIL APRIL

THE FIRST REACTION IN INDIA, NEW DELHI DISPATCHES SAID, WAS THAT BRITISH ACTION HAD PUSHED THE VAST NATION AND ITS 400,000,000

30.24-8043

RESIDENTS TO THE BRINK OF DECISION--CIVIL WAR OR AMICABLE SETTLEMENT.

CONGRESS LEADERS FELT BRITISH WITHDRAWAL MEANT A VICTORY FOR THE PRINCIPLES OF THE CONGRESS PARTY AND SOME REGARDED WAVELL'S REPLACEMENT AS A STEP TO PLACATE PANDIT JAWAHARLAL NEHRU, LEADING MINISTER OF THE INTERIM GOVERNMENT AND CHIEF STRATEGIST OF THE CONGRESS PARTY.

MAHOMED ALI JINNAH, PRESIDENT OF THE MOSLEM LEAGUE, SAID HE WANTED TO STUDY THE BRITISH STATEMENT BEFORE COMMENTING, BUT OTHER MOSLEM LEADERS BOLDLY PREDICTED THAT CIVIL WAR WOULD ERUPT AS SOON AS THE BRITISH LEAVE, AND PERHAPS BEFORE. JINNAH EARLIER HAD SAID THAT FOR THE BRITISH TO LEAVE WITHOUT PROVIDING SAFEGUARDS FOR MINORITIES (THE 90,000,000 MOSLEMS IN INDIA COMPRISE THE LARGEST MINORITY) WOULD BE IN "VIOLATION OF THEIR SOLEMN PROMISES."

ONE INFORMED SOURCE IN LONDON SAID THE WHOLE PURPOSE OF THE NEW BRITISH STEP WAS TO "PRODUCE AGREEMENT" BETWEEN MOSLEMS AND HINDUS, WHO HAVE REFUSED TO COOPERATE IN DRAFTING THE FRAMEWORK OF AN INDEPENDENT INDIA AND WHO HAVE ENGAGED IN BLOODY COMMUNAL RIOTING FATAL TO THOUSANDS.

PARIS, FEB. 21-(AP)-THE COALITION CABINET OF SOCIALIST PREMIER PAUL RAMADIER RENEWED ITS DRIVE TODAY TO STAMP OUT BLACK MARKETS AND REVIVE NORMAL FOOD DISTRIBUTION FOLLOWING A 506 TO 59 VOTE OF CONFIDENCE ACCORDED IT YESTERDAY BY THE NATIONAL ASSEMBLY.

RAMADIER TOLD REPORTERS THAT A SECOND SERIES OF FIVE PER CENT PRICE CUTS ORDERED BY THE GOVERNMENT--EFFECTIVE AT THE END OF THIS MONTH--WOULD PROBABLY BE FOLLOWED BY OTHERS. THE PREMIER EXPRESSED THE BELIEF THAT CONTINUATION OF THE CAMPAIGN TO STABILIZE INTERNAL ECONOMY WOULD EVENTUALLY BRING HIDDEN STOCKS INTO THE MARKET WHEN IT BECAME EVIDENT THAT THE GOVERNMENT WAS DETERMINED TO HOLD PRICES DOWN.

DURING THE DEBATE THE PRECEDED YESTERDAY'S VOTE OF CONFIDENCE SEVERAL DEPUTIES URGED PROGRESSIVE LIFTING OF RATIONING AND VOICED CONFIDENCE IN THE GOVERNMENT'S HANDLING OF THE FOOD PROBLEM.

THE FOUR POWER INTERZONAL INSPECTION PLAN WAS ADOPTED BY THE ALLIED CONTROL AUTHORITY IN THE HOPE THAT IT WOULD PUT AN END TO RUMORS, CHARGES AND COUNTER-CHARGES BETWEEN THE OCCUPYING POWERS THAT ARMAMENTS STILL WERE BEING PRODUCED IN SOME GERMANY FACTORIES AND THAT THERE WERE STILL UN-DISBANDED UNITS OF THE GERMAN ARMED FORCES ON GERMAN SOIL IN VIOLATION OF FOUR-POWER AGREEMENTS. MOST OF THESE CHARGES HAVE BEEN DIRECTED AGAINST THE BRITISH AND AMERICAN ZONES BY THE MOSCOW RADIO AND THE RUSSIAN-CONTROLLED SECTION OF THE GERMAN PRESS.

THE FIRST QUADRUPARTITE INSPECTION TEAMS WENT INTO EACH OF THE FOUR ZONES JAN. 6, DELAYED BY POSTPONEMENTS GRANTED TO THE RUSSIANS. THE AUTOMOBILE--REPUTEDLY ONCE OWNED BY A GERMAN SS GENERAL--WAS SEIZED LAST NOVEMBER BY ARMY OFFICIALS FROM THOMAS L. FOLEY, HAYWARD, CALIF., LAWYER, WHO HAD BOUGHT IT FROM THE LIEUTENANT, CHARLES C. TEAGUE OF BIRMINGHAM ALA.

FOLEY CABLED A COMPLAINT TO PRESIDENT TRUMAN CHARGING HIS AUTOMOBILE WAS "SUMMARILY IMPOUNDED WITHOUT ANY LEGAL PROCESS."

ARMY OFFICIALS ANSWERED THAT TEAGUE HAD NOT ACQUIRED TITLE TO THE CAR LEGALLY AND SO COULD NOT LEGALLY SELL IT.

TEAGUE, HOWEVER, WAS ACQUITTED OF OBTAINING TITLE TO THE CAR BY FRAUD IN A COURT MARTIAL IN WHICH HE DEFENDED BY FOLEY'S FORMER LEGAL ASSOCIATE, EARL J. CARROLL OF SAN BRUNO, CALIF.

NANKING,FEB.21-(AP)-THE INDIAN EMBASSY CONFIRMED TODAY IT HAD RECEIVED A CHINESE PROTEST OVER AN INVITATION FROM HINDU LEADER JAWAHARLAL NEHRU TO TIBET TO ATTEND A PAN-ASIATIC CONFERENCE AT DELHI MARCH 13.

CHINESE PROTESTED ON THE GROUNDS THAT TIBET WAS A PART OF CHIN AND THE INVITATION SHOWED DISRESPECT FOR THE SOVEREIGNTY OF CHINESE TERRITORY.

IT WAS PREDICTED THE EMBASSY WOULD REPLY BY SAYING NEHRU SENT THE INVITATION NOT AS A REPRESENTATIVE OF THE INDIAN GOVERNMENT BUT IN HIS PRIVATE CAPACITY AS HONORARY CHAIRMAN OF THE INDIAN COUNCIL OF WORLD AFFAIRS, NOT A GOVERNMENTAL ORGANIZATION.

INDIAN EMBASSY CIRCLES SAID NEHRU HAD EXTENDED INVITATIONS TO VARIOUS CULTURAL ASSOCIATIONS IN ASIA, REGARDLESS OF INTERNATIONAL BOUNDARIES OR POLITICAL FAITH. THEY ADDED THAT WHILE THE RUSSIAN GOVERNMENT WAS NOT INVITED, SIX OR SEVEN ASIATIC REPUBLICS OF THE SOVIET UNION HAD RECEIVED BIDS.

TOKYO, FEB. 21-(AP)-HEINRICH GEORG (CORRECT) STAHMER, WHO CAME TO TOKYO IN 1940 AS NAZI FOREIGN MINISTER JOACHIM VON RIBBENTROP'S ENVOY TO NEGOTIATE THE TRIPARTITE PACT, WAS RELEASED TODAY FROM SUGAMO PRISON, WHERE HE HAD BEEN HELD SINCE JAN. 1, 1946, AND PLACED UNDER HOUSE ARREST AT ATAMI. STAHMER PROBABLY WILL BE INCLUDED IN THE NEXT CONTINGENT OF GERMANS TO BE REPATRIATED.

OFFICIALS EXPLAINED THAT THE MOST OBJECTIONABLE GERMANS WERE DEPORTED LAST WEEK AND THERE NO LONGER WAS ANY REASON TO HOLD STAHMER IN SUGAMO.

STAHMER SERVED AS GERMAN AMBASSADOR TO CHINA IN EARLY 1942 AND RETURNED TO TOKYO AS AMBASSADOR IN DECEMBER OF THE SAME YEAR. HE HAD BEEN RESTRICTED TO HIS HOME FROM THE TIME OF THE OCCUPATION UNTIL HE WAS IMPRISONED.

MANILA, FEB. 21-(AP)-THE VIET-NAM RADIO, VOICE OF REBELLING INDO-CHINESE, ADMITTED TODAY THAT VIET-NAM TROOPS HAD EVACUATED THE CHINESE AND INDO-CHINESE QUARTER OF HANOI AFTER WEEKS OF HEAVY STREET FIGHTING WITH THE FRENCH.

THE BROADCAST, HEARD HERE BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS, SAID VIET-NAM TROOPS IN THE QUARTER RECEIVED ON FEB. 17 "THE HIGH COMMAND'S ORDER TO BREAK DOWN THE FRENCH SIEGE AND EVACUATE THE CITY."

"THE SIEGE WAS BROKEN FEB. 18," THE BROADCAST SAID, "AND VIET-NAM TROOPS WITHDREW INTO THE COUNTRYSIDE, CARRYING WITH THEM LARGE NUMBERS OF MODERN WEAPONS CAPTURED DURING STREET FIGHTING WITH FRENCH FORCES."

THERE WAS NO INDICATION WHETHER RADIO HANOI, WHICH THE INDO-CHINESE NATIONALISTS HAD SEIZED, HAD BEEN MOVED TO A NEW LOCATION. TODAY'S BROADCAST WAS LOUD AND CLEAR.

INDO-CHINESE BROADCASTS ALSO INDICATED OTHER VIET-NAM REVERSES IN ANNAM PROVINCE.

ON THE MORNING OF FEB. 17, A BROADCAST SAID, "ALL HOUSES AND STRONG POINTS THAT MIGHT BE USED BY THE ENEMY HAD BEEN DESTROYED AT QUANG-TRI, 36 MILES NORTH OF HUE, CAPITAL OF ANNAM." THE RADIO SAID THE FRENCH HAD ATTACKED DONGHA, 43 MILES NORTH OF HUE, IN AN EFFORT TO FORM A JUNCTION WITH A FRENCH COLUMN AT QUANGTRI.

PEARL HARBOR, FEB 21-(AP)-THE NAVY'S FULL-DRESS BATTLE MANEUVERS BEGINNING NEXT WEEK WILL BE THE FIRST POST-WAR MOVE TO BRING THE PACIFIC FLEET BACK TO COMBAT EFFICIENCY, ADM.JOHN H.TOWERS SAID TODAY.

"THOSE MANEUVERS WILL GO A LONG WAY TOWARD GETTING US STARTED REGAINING THE GROUND LOST SINCE DEMOBILIZATION," THE COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF OF THE PACIFIC FLEET SAID IN AN INTERVIEW.

WARSHIPS ALREADY ARE MOVING ACROSS THOUSANDS OF MILES OF THE PACIFIC, GETTING INTO POSITION FOR THE BEGINNING OF THE WAR GAMES, WHICH WILL GIVE THOUSANDS OF SAILORS THEIR FIRST EXPERIENCE IN SEA OPERATIONS.

"THE EXERCISES WILL BE OF TREMENDOUS VALUE TO TENS OF THOUSANDS OF ARMED FORCES PERSONNEL," THE ADMIRAL SAID, "NOT ONLY FOR THOSE AT SEA BUT FOR THOSE ASHORE WHO WILL HAVE AN ACTIVE PART IN THE GAMES."

THE MANEUVERS WILL NOT INCLUDE THE FLEET OF ADM.CHARLES M.COOKE JR., COMMANDER OF NAVAL FORCES IN THE WESTERN PACIFIC, NOR THE NAVAL OCCUPATION FORCES AROUND JAPAN.

THE JOLTS GIVEN THE NAVY BY THE SPEEDY DEMOBILIZATION HAVE ALMOST BEEN OVERCOME, TOWERS SAID, AND THE PACIFIC FLEET NOW IS FULLY OPERATIVE, ALTHOUGH NOT AT THAT PEAK OF EFFICIENCY WHICH THE HIGH COMMAND DESIRES.

"OPERATIONS SUCH AS THESE," HE ADDED, "WILL HELP A GREAT DEAL, AND IT WON'T TAKE LONG TO BRING THE FLEET BACK TO BATTLE EFFICIENCY."

THE FIRST TASK FLEET UNITS ARE SCHEDULED TO SAIL FROM WEST COAST PORTS TOMORROW AND SUNDAY, LED BY THE CARRIER BOXER.

TASK FORCE 38 IS ASSEMBLING AT KWAJALEIN, AROUND THE CARRIERS PRINCETON AND TAWAWA. THESE TWO FORCES WILL MANEUVER AGAINST EACH OTHER, THEN JOIN FOR A MOCK ATTACK ON PEARL HARBOR ABOUT MARCH 10.

OTTAWA, FEB.21-(AP)-RCAF HEADQUARTERS HERE REPORTED TONIGHT THAT TWO U.S. ARMY FLIERS WHO CRASHED IN THE LABRADOR HINTERLAND TUESDAY HAD BEEN RESCUED BY A DOG TEAM PARTY SENT OUT FROM CAPE HARRISON. LATER THEY WERE PICKED UP BY AN RCAF RESCUE PLANE AND BROUGHT BACK TO GOOSE BAY AIRPORT.

THE RESCUE PARTY TRAVELED CLOSE TO 100 MILES TO RESCUE THE TWO AIRMEN, WHO PLANE BECAME LOST TUESDAY ON A TEST FLIGHT FROM GOOSE BAY, A U.S. FERRYING BASE, TO CAPE HARRISON, 125 MILES NORTHWEST. THE PLANE A C-64, APPARENTLY MADE A FORCED LANDING AFTER RUNNING OUT OF GAS.

RCAF HEADQUARTERS SAID THAT SO FAR AS COULD BE LEARNED, THE FLIERS WERE UNHURT AND WERE BROUGHT BACK IN GOOD CONDITION, SUFFERING LITTLE FROM THEIR EXPERIENCE. THEIR NAMES COULD NOT BE LEARNED. #

WINNIPEG, FEB.21-(AP)-FIORELLO H.LA GUARDIA, WHO WATCHED THE CANADIAN ARMY'S ARCTIC TESTS AT CHURCHILL IN NORTHERN MANITOBA, SAID TONIGHT THAT THE EXPERIMENTATION THERE WAS "NOT JUST A MILITARY UNDERTAKING."

LA GUARDIA, CHAIRMAN OF THE UNITED STATES SECTION OF THE JOINT BOARD ON DEFENSE (U.S. AND CANADA), RETURNED FROM THE CHURCHILL BASE TODAY WITH GEN.A.G.L.MCNAUGHTON, CHAIRMAN OF THE BOARD'S CANADIAN SECTION.

LA GUARDIA SAID THERE WAS LITTLE DOUBT THAT THE ARCTIC WOULD BE OPENED UP TO MINING, NAVIGATION AND OTHER CIVILIAN PURSUITS. HE EXPRESSED BELIEF THAT THE REGION SOME DAY MIGHT SUPPORT A CONSIDERABLE POPULATION.

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., FEB. 21-(AP)-HEAVY SNOW WHICH SWEPT THE EASTERN SEABOARD TODAY FORCED POSTPONEMENT OF THE UNITED NATIONS SECURITY COUNCIL SESSION ON THE ALBANIAN CASE.

THE UNITED NATIONS ANNOUNCED THE COUNCIL WOULD MEET AT 3 P.M. E.S.T. MONDAY TO CONTINUE DEBATE ON THE BRITISH CHARGES AGAINST ALBANIA.

THE ANNOUNCEMENT CAME AS GREAT BRITAIN MADE IT CLEAR SHE WOULD OPPOSE A COLOMBIAN PROPOSAL TO REFER TO THE INTERNATIONAL COURT OF JUSTICE HER COMPLAINT THAT ALBANIA IS RESPONSIBLE FOR THE DEATHS OF 44 SEAMEN IN TWO ROYAL NAVY DESTROYERS BLASTED BY MINES IN CORFU CHANNEL LAST OCT. 22.

BRITISH DELEGATE SIR ALEXANDER CADOGAN REMARKED TARTLY THAT THE INTERNATIONAL COURT OF JUSTICE IS "NOT A POLICE COURT."

THE BRITISH DELEGATION SAID IT WAS NOT AGAINST SENDING THE ISSUE TO THE COURT AT THE HAGUE FOR A JUDGMENT ON PRINCIPLES INVOLVED, BUT INSISTED THAT THE IMMEDIATE CASE SHOULD BE TREATED AS "A CRIME" AND KEPT BEFORE THE COUNCIL UNTIL BRITISH DEMANDS FOR AN APOLOGY AND COMPENSATION ARE SATISFIED.

EDUARDO ZULETA ANGEL, COLOMBIAN DELEGATE, ANNOUNCED HIS INTENTION OF PROPOSING A SETTLEMENT BY THE INTERNATIONAL COURT, WHICH HAS YET TO RECEIVE A CASE FROM THE SECURITY COUNCIL OR THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY. SYRIAN DELEGATE FARIS EL KHOURY SAID HE WOULD SUPPORT SUCH A PROPOSAL.

CADOGAN EARLIER IN THE WEEK PRESENTED A LONG DOCUMENTED INDICTMENT ACCUSING ALBANIA OF A "CRIME AGAINST HUMANITY" AND "CLANDESTINE CRIMINALITY" IN MINING A CHANNEL WHICH HE DESCRIBED AS "AN INTERNATIONAL HIGHWAY BETWEEN TWO PARTS OF THE OPEN SEAS," ALTHOUGH

IT LIES WITHIN ALBANIAN TERRITORIAL WATERS.

ALBANIAN REPRESENTATIVE HYSNI KAPO ANSWERED CADOGAN BY DENYING HIS COUNTRY LAID THE MINES OR KNEW WHO DID. KAPO ACCUSED BRITAIN OF INFRINGING ON ALBANIAN SOVEREIGNTY WITH WARSHIPS IN "BATTLE FORMATION" AND AIRCRAFT, WHICH HE SAID HE KNEW USED TO PROVOKE AND INTIMIDATE ALBANIA.

IN A BRIEF MEETING YESTERDAY, THE COUNCIL HEARD CADOGAN REAFFIRM HIS COUNTRY'S SUPPORT OF THE UNITED STATES IN ITS DEMAND FOR NO VETO ON ATOMIC PUNISHMENTS. THE COUNCIL ADJOURNED THE ATOMIC TALKS UNTIL 3 P.M. (E.S.T.) TUESDAY.

CONSIDERABLE SENTIMENT APPEARED TO BE DEVELOPING IN FAVOR OF SENDING THE REPORT OF THE ATOMIC ENERGY COMMISSION, NOW BEFORE THE COUNCIL, AND 13 PROPOSALS SUBMITTED BY RUSSIA BACK TO THE COMMISSION FOR AN ATTEMPT TO RECONCILE DIFFERING VIEWS.

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., FEB. 21-(AP)-SPOKESMEN FOR BOTH BRITAIN AND INDIA, TAKING A LONG VIEW OF THE LONDON LABOR GOVERNMENT'S PLAN TO QUIT INDIA BY JUNE 1948, WERE SKEPTICAL TODAY BUT DID NOT RULE OUT THE POSSIBILITY THAT INDIA'S COMMUNAL TROUBLES MIGHT EVENTUALLY COME BEFORE THE UNITED NATIONS.

THE BRITISH SIDE RAISED QUESTIONS OF WHO MIGHT BRING THE ISSUE HERE AFTER LONDON'S RELINQUISHMENT OF RULE OVER BRITISH INDIA AND HOW IT COULD BE PRESENTED EXCEPT BY INDIAN CONFESSION THAT IT CONSTITUTED A THREAT TO WORLD PEACE AND SECURITY.

THE BRITISH SPOKESMAN SAW NO PARALLEL ON A BASIS OF SOVEREIGNTY BETWEEN THE LABOR GOVERNMENT'S DECISION TO HAND THE PALESTINE MANDATE PROBLEM TO THE U.N., WITHOUT RECOMMENDATION FOR A SOLUTION AND INDIAN RECOURSE TO THE U.N. FOR A SETTLEMENT OF AN UNPRECEDENTED RIDDLE.

THE INDIAN SPOKESMAN, DOUBTING THAT THE INDIAN PROBLEM EVER WOULD BE BROUGHT BY INDIANS TO THE U.N., WAS SUPPORTED BY MRS.HAMID ALI, A MOSLEM MEMBER OF THE PREDOMINANTLY HINDU ALL-INDIA CONGRESS PARTY, WHO EXPRESSED BELIEF THAT COMMUNAL TROUBLES WOULD RESOLVE THEMSELVES ONCE BRITISH RULE IS ENDED.

MRS.ALI, THE INDIAN DELEGATE TO THE U.N.COMMISSION ON THE STATUS OF WOMEN, SAID SHE WOULD BE "DELIGHTED" IF INDIANS WOULD APPEAL TO THE U.N., BUT ADDED A BELIEF THAT INTERNAL SETTLEMENT WOULD BE ACHIEVED IN THE GIVE AND TAKE OF POLITICS BEFORE JUNE 1948.

HOWEVER, A DISPATCH FROM NEW DELHI RAISING THE POSSIBILITY OF INDEPENDENT INDIAN APPEALS TO THE U.N. FOR A SOLUTION STIRRED UP SPECULATION AS TO INDIA'S FUTURE AS A MEMBER OF THE UNITED NATIONS IN THE EVENT THE BRITISH HAND OVER THE RULE ON A PROVINCIAL BASIS AS A LAST ALTERNATIVE.

THE INDIAN SPOKESMAN, A HINDU, PREDICTED THAT IF HINDUS AND MOSLEMS FAILED TO BRING THEMSELVES TOGETHER IN A CENTRAL GOVERNMENT CAPABLE OF ACCEPTING A UNIFIED HOME RULE THERE WOULD BE AT LEAST A "LOOSE FEDERATION" AT THE CENTER TO CARRY ON FOR INDIA AS A WHOLE AND AS A RESPONSIBLE MEMBER OF THE U.N.

(ADVANCE) WASHINGTON, FEB.21-(AP)-INFLUENTIAL SENATOR TAFT (R-OHIO) CAME OUT AGAINST DAVID E.LILIENTHAL TONIGHT, DECLARING HIS CONFIRMATION AS ATOMIC ENERGY COMMISSION CHAIRMAN WOULD BE "A REAL THREAT TO OUR NATIONAL SAFETY."

TAFT'S ANNOUNCEMENT OF HIS POSITION COULD BE CRUCIAL FOR LILIENTHAL IF SOME DOZEN REPUBLICANS REPORTED ON THE FENCE FOLLOW HIS LEAD.

IT ALSO COULD BRING AN OPEN SPLIT IN THE GOP SENATE LEADERSHIP IF SENATOR VANDENBERG (R-MICH), WHO HAS APPEARED FRIENDLY TO LILIENTHAL DURING HIS QUESTIONING BEFORE THE SENATE ATOMIC COMMITTEE, FORMALLY DECLARES IN HIS BEHALF.

TAFT, CHAIRMAN OF THE GOP POLICY COMMITTEE, IS REGARDED BY MANY REPUBLICANS AS THEIR MENTOR ON DOMESTIC POLICIES. HIS STAND AGAINST LILIENTHAL ALIGNS HIM WITH SENATORS WHITE (ME) AND WHERRY (NEB), THE GOP FLOOR LEADER AND WHIP. VANDENBERG, PRESIDENT OF THE SENATE AND CHAIRMAN OF THE FOREIGN RELATIONS COMMITTEE, IS ACKNOWLEDGED LEADER ON INTERNATIONAL MATTERS.

VANDENBERG READ TODAY TO THE ATOMIC COMMITTEE CONSIDERING LILIENTHAL'S QUALIFICATIONS A LETTER FROM DR.KARL T.COMPTON, PRESIDENT OF MASSACHUSETTS INSTITUTE OF TECHNOLOGY, WHO DECLARED THAT "I WOULD KNOW OF NO ONE AS WELL QUALIFIED AND POSSIBLY AVAILABLE" AS LILIENTHAL.

TAFT ADDED THAT NO PARTY ISSUE IS INVOLVED.

"IT IS AN ISSUE OF GOVERNMENTAL PHILOSOPHY," HE DECLARED, NOTING THAT THE SENATE HAS EQUAL RESPONSIBILITY WITH THE PRESIDENT IN PICKING THE RIGHT MAN.

HE CALLED LILIENTHAL "A VERY ABLE PROPAGANDIST IN HIS OWN RIGHT" AND DECLARED CONGRESS NOW IS BEING FLOODED WITH PROPAGANDA "IN BEHALF OF THE RIDICULOUS PROPOSITION THAT LILIENTHAL IS THE INDISPENSABLE MAN."

TAFT FURTHER CHARACTERIZED LILIENTHAL AS "A TYPICAL POWER-HUNGRY BUREAUCRAT" AND A MEMBER OF A GROUP OF OFFICIALS WHO "HAVE DEFIED CONGRESS."

HE LIKEWISE CRITICIZED THE ACHESON-LILIENTHAL REPORT ON INTERNATIONAL CONTROL OF ATOMIC ENERGY. mor2

"ALL ATOMIC MANUFACTURE IS TO BE TURNED OVER TO AN INTERNATIONAL AUTHORITY TO DUPLICATE OUR ATOM MANUFACTURING PLANTS THROUGHOUT THE WORLD--INCLUDING RUSSIA," TAFT ASSERTED. "NO PRACTICAL SUGGESTIONS FOR SAFEGUARDS WERE INCLUDED.

"IF COMMUNISTS COULD INFILTRATE INTO THE GOVERNMENT AND INTO TVA, IS THERE ANY REASON TO BELIEVE THAT THEY COULD NOT INFILTRATE INTO SUCH AN INTERNATIONAL AUTHORITY?"

VANDENBERG HAS SUPPORTED THE BERNARD M.BARUCH PROPOSALS TO THE UNITED NATIONS BASED LARGELY UPON THE ACHESON-LILIENTHAL PLAN.

THIS PROGRAM, THE OFFICIAL ADMINISTRATION PLAN, PROPOSES THE CREATION OF AN INTERNATIONAL ATOMIC DEVELOPMENT AUTHORITY TO OWN AND OPERATE ALL PRIMARY PLANTS PRODUCING FISSIONABLE MATERIALS. AS THE AUTHORITY COMES INTO BEING, THE UNITED STATES BY STAGES WOULD TURN OVER TO IT ITS OWN KNOWLEDGE AND FACILITIES, AS WOULD ALL OTHER COUNTRIES.

A WRITTEN ENDORSEMENT OF LILIENTHAL CAME FROM BEARDSLEY RUML, NEW YORK BANKER AND BUSINESS MAN. RUML WROTE SENATOR FLANDERS (R-VT THAT IF LILIENTHAL IS REJECTED "NOT ONLY WILL AN ACT OF CONSPICUOUS INJUSTICE HAVE BEEN DONE, BUT THE NATIONAL INTEREST ITSELF WILL HAVE BEEN DAMAGED AS A RESULT OF MALICE, PETTINESS AND INDIFFERENCE."

RUML DESCRIBED LILIENTHAL AS A MAN OF HIGH CHARACTER, AN OPPONENT OF "BIG GOVERNMENT" AND AN OFFICIAL WHO "HAS THE COMPLETE CONFIDENCE OF THE NUCLEAR SCIENTISTS."

FLANDERS EARLIER HAD GONE ON RECORD AGAINST LILIENTHAL.

AT A CLOSED SESSION FOLLOWING A BRIEF MORNING HEARING, THE SENATE ATOMIC COMMITTEE SET NEXT WEDNESDAY AS THE CUT-OFF DATE FOR CALLING ADDITIONAL WITNESSES IN THE CONFIRMATION HEARINGS.

ALTHOUGH MOST OF THE EVIDENCE HAS CENTERED ON LILIENTHAL, FOUR OTHERS ARE UNDER EXAMINATION AS APPOINTEES TO THE COMMISSION--W.W. WAYMACK, ROBERT F.BACHER, L.L.STRAUSS AND SUMNER T.PIKE--AND CARROLL WILSON AS GENERAL MANAGER. ALL ARE NOW SERVING UNDER RECESS APPOINTMENTS.

COMMITTEE CHAIRMAN HICKENLOOPER (R-IOWA) TOLD REPORTERS THAT THE WEDNESDAY WITNESS DEADLINE SHOULD MAKE IT POSSIBLE TO GET A COMMITTEE DECISION BY THE END OF NEXT WEEK.

THE HEARINGS HAVE BEEN GOING ON SINCE JAN. 27, AND IN THAT PERIOD SENATOR K.D.MCKELLAR (D-TENN) HAS BROUGHT ON A NUMBER OF ANTI-LILIENTHAL WITNESSES, MOST OF THEM FROM THE TENNESSEE VALLEY.

IN ADDITION TO BARRING THE CALLING OF NEW WITNESSES AFTER WEDNESDAY, HICKENLOOPER SAID THE COMMITTEE IS GOING TO REQUIRE THAT FUTURE TESTIMONY BE OUTLINED IN ADVANCE, TO DETERMINE WHETHER IT IS "RELEVANT". SENATOR MCMAHON (D-CONN), AMONG OTHERS, HAS PROTESTED THAT MUCH OF THE EVIDENCE BROUGHT IN BY MCKELLAR'S WITNESS HAD LITTLE IF ANYTHING TO DO WITH THE LILIENTHAL CONFIRMATION.

COMPTON'S LETTER TO VANDENBERG DECLARED THAT THERE IS "A UNIVERSAL FEELING OF DISILLUSIONMENT AND DISGUST OVER THE MANNER IN WHICH THE CASE HAS BEEN HANDLED BY THE SENATE." HE SAID MOST OF THE KEY MEN ON THE ATOMIC PROJECT HAVE OTHER OFFERS, AND HAVE BEEN STAYING ON MOSTLY FROM A SENSE OF DUTY.

"IF," HE SAID, "THEY BECOME DISILLUSIONED OR GAIN THE IMPRESSION THAT POLITICAL OR SPECIAL INTERESTS ARE GETTING CONTROL OF THE PROGRAM, I BELIEVE THAT IT WILL COLLAPSE INTO A RATHER HOLLOW SHELL."

DURING THE MORNING HEARING, MCKELLAR PRESENTED MRS.ROXIE J.PARRIS OF FOUNTAIN CITY, TENN., WHO TESTIFIED SHE HAD SEEN COMMUNISTS AT WORK INSIDE TVA AND WHO DECLARED THAT THE HEAD MEN SHOULD HAVE KNOWN ABOUT IT.

MRS.PARRIS SAID SHE JOINED THE COMMUNIST PARTY IN TENNESSEE EIGHT OR NINE YEARS AGO IN ORDER TO GET EVIDENCE WHICH SHE LATER PRESENTED TO THE DIES COMMITTEE.

VH827PES

NEW YORK, FEB.21-(AP)-PROFESSOR ALBERT EINSTEIN SAID IN A STATEMENT BROADCAST HERE TONIGHT THAT FAILURE TO CONFIRM THE APPOINTMENT OF DAVID LILIENTHAL AS HEAD OF THE U.S. ATOMIC ENERGY COMMISSION WOULD CAUSE "GRAVE CONSEQUENCES XX IN THE FIELD OF INTERNATIONAL POLITICS."

EINSTEIN'S STATEMENT, IN THE FORM OF A MESSAGE READ ON A PROGRAM OF STATION WMCA DRAMATIZING THE ISSUES OF THE LILIENTHAL CASE, SAID "THERE IS NO DOUBT THAT THE NOMINATION OF DAVID LILIENTHAL TO THE ATOMIC ENERGY COMMISSION BROUGHT SOME EASING TO THE TENSE SITUATION."

THE PHYSICIST SAID THE TENSE SITUATION HAD BEEN CREATED BY AMERICAN POLICY IN "THE DESTRUCTION OF MAJOR JAPANESE CITIES WITHOUT ADEQUATE PREVIOUS WARNING, THE UNCEASING MANUFACTURE OF ATOMIC BOMBS, THE BIKINI MANEUVERS, THE APPROPRIATIONS OF BILLIONS FOR MILITARY PURPOSES IN THE ABSENCE OF AN OUTSIDE THREAT, THE ATTEMPT TO MILITARIZE SCIENCE."

"IN MY OPINION," HE CONTINUED, "GREAT DAMAGE HAS BEEN DONE ALREADY BY THE MACHINATIONS THAT HAVE JEOPARDIZED LILIENTHAL'S CONFIRMATION. IT WOULD SEEM TO REMAIN FOR THE VOTERS TO PREVENT BY WHATEVER DEMONSTRATION IS REQUIRED, THE GRAVE CONSEQUENCES THAT THE DENIAL OF CONFIRMATION TO HIS MAN WOULD RAISE IN TH DENIAL OF CONFIRMATION TO THIS MAN WOULD RAISE IN THE FIELD OF INTERNATIONAL POLITICS."

WASHINGTON, FEB. 21-(AP)-RUSSIA HAS GIVEN ORAL ASSURANCES THAT CONSIDERATION IS BEING GIVEN TO UNITED STATES' INSISTENCE THAT THE SOVIET SETTLE THEIR WARTIME $11,000,000,000 LEND LEASE ACCOUNT, STATE DEPARTMENT OFFICIALS SAID PRIVATELY TODAY.

THE ASSURANCES, GIVEN AMBASSADOR WALTER BEDELL SMITH IN MOSCOW, WERE VIEWED BY OFFICIALS, HOWEVER, AS A POLITE GESTURE AND NOT AS A COMMITMENT EVEN TO REPLY TO THE SERIES OF AMERICAN REQUESTS THAT RUSSIA, LIKE OTHER WARTIME ALLIES, SETTLE ITS ACCOUNTS.

THIS COUNTRY HAS ASKED MOSCOW SEVERAL TIMES TO OPEN NEGOTIATIONS ON THE MATTER.

FINAL LEND-LEASE SETTLEMENTS ALREADY HAVE BEEN COMPLETED WITH SEVERAL COUNTRIES AND OTHERS ARE PENDING.

DESPITE THE ORAL COMMENTS MADE TO AMBASSADOR SMITH, STATE DEPARTMENT PRESS OFFICER ROGER TUBBY TOLD REPORTERS THAT "THE RUSSIANS HAVE NOT INDICATED AT ANY TIME THAT THEY PLAN TO NEGOTIATE WITH THIS GOVERNMENT CONCERNING A SETTLEMENT."

CHAIRMAN BRIDGES (R-NH) SAID THE COMMITTEE IS CONSIDERING THREE POSSIBLE COURSES: 1. TO WITHHOLD ITS APPROVAL; 2. TO PERMIT SHIPMENTS TO SEVERAL FOREIGN COUNTRIES, AND 3. TO PERMIT SHIPMENTS TO COUNTRIES WHICH PAY CASH FOR THE GOODS.

HOWEVER, HE SAID THE COMMITTEE MAY BE IN NO HURRY TO TAKE ACTION ON A REQUEST BY LEND-LEASE OFFICIALS FOR LEGISLATIVE CLEARANCE OF AN ARRANGEMENT UNDER WHICH RUSSIA AND OTHER COUNTRIES WOULD ADVANCE THE COST OF SHIPPING THE GOODS. ABOUT $25,000,000 IN MATERIALS IS INVOLVED, WITH SMALL AMOUNTS GOING TO OTHER COUNTRIES.

THE COMMITTEE HAS HEARD TESTIMONY THAT $7,810,000 IN GOODS INTENDED FOR RUSSIA ALREADY HAS BEEN PRODUCED AND IS IN STORAGE. IF CONGRESS DOES NOT ACT, THIS MATERIAL WOULD HAVE TO BE DECLARED SURPLUS. THE RUSSIANS HAVE $8,619,000 ON ORDER, WHICH HAD NOT BEEN DELIVERED FEBRUARY 1. THE MATERIAL INCLUDES OIL REFINERY EQUIPMENT, MACHINE TOOLS AND ELECTRICAL SUPPLIES.

IN ADDITION TO RUBBER, THE MARTIN BEHRMAN HAS TAKEN ABOARD CHINCHONA, SISAL AND SUGAR. SHIPMENTS OF SUCH PRODUCTS HAVE BEEN BLOCKED BY THE DUTCH FOR 18 MONTHS PENDING A PEACE SETTLEMENT BETWEEN THE INDONESIANS AND THE DUTCH GOVERNMENT.

BY EDWARD E. BOMAR

WASHINGTON, FEB 21-(AP)-GEORGE C.MARSHALL TODAY ROUNDS OUT HIS FIRST MONTH AS SECRETARY OF STATE WITH HIS TOP AIDES CONVINCED, ALONG WITH SENATOR VANDENBERG (R-MICH), THAT HE ALREADY IS "OBVIOUSLY ON TOP OF HIS JOB."

MARSHALL OBSERVED THE OCCASION BY TURNING AWAY FROM THE GRIND AT HIS BIG OAK DESK FOR A TWO-DAY TRIP TO RECEIVE HONORARY DEGREES FROM COLUMBIA AND PRINCETON UNIVERSITIES.

IT WAS THE CABINET OFFICER'S FIRST ABSENCE OF MORE THAN A FEW HOURS FROM HIS THREE-FOLD TASK OF (A) MASTERING THORNY PROBLEMS OF FOREIGN POLICY, (B) DEALING WITH URGENT CURRENT ISSUES, AND (C) PREPARING FOR THE MARCH 10 MOSCOW CONFERENCE OF THE BIG FOUR FOREIGN MINISTERS.

SANDWICHED IN HAVE BEEN TWO DETAILED REVIEWS OF WORLD PROBLEMS AT CLOSED SESSIONS OF CONGRESSIONAL COMMITTEES, ONE OF WHICH PRODUCED THE "ON TOP OF HIS JOB" COMMENT FROM VANDENBERG, CHAIRMAN OF THE SENATE FOREIGN RELATIONS COMMITTEE.

A RECOGNIZED MASTER, AS THE ARMY'S WARTIME CHIEF OF STAFF, OF ORGANIZING HIS EFFORTS TO BEST ADVANTAGE, MARSHALL HAS DEVOTED HIS CHARPEST ATTENTION TO GETTING READY FOR THE BIG FOUR CONFERENCE ON THE GERMAN AND AUSTRIAN PEACE TREATIES.

TO BRIEF HIM, THE STATE DEPARTMENT'S OWN EXPERTS ON RUSSIAN AND GERMAN AFFAIRS HAVE BEEN REINFORCED BY ELBRIDGE DURBROW, COUNSELOR OF THE EMBASSY AT MOSCOW.

SINCE HE UNWILLINGLY STEPPED INTO THE POST VACATED BY JAMES F.BYRNES' RESIGNATION, THE 66 YEAR OLD MARSHALL ALSO HAS:

1. TACTFULLY BUT FIRMLY BRUSHED ASIDE FOREIGN MINISTER MOLOTOV'S PROTESTS THAT UNDERSECRETARY DEAN ACHESON WAS HOSTILE TO RUSSIA IN DESCRIBING SOVIET FOREIGN POLICY AS "AGGRESSIVE AND EXPANDING."
2. VOICED THIS GOVERNMENT'S DISPLEASURE WITH THE CONDUCT OF POLAND'S NATIONAL ELECTIONS AND RECALLED THE AMERICAN AMBASSADOR, ARTHUR BLISS LANE.
3. GRANTED HUNGARY A NEW $15,000,000 SURPLUS PROPERTY CREDIT TO STRENGTHEN THE HAND OF THAT COUNTRY'S NON-COMMUNIST REGIME.
4. URGED GREECE TO PUT HER HOUSE IN ORDER, JUST AS HE ADVISED CHINA WHEN WINDING UP HIS SERVICE THERE AS PRESIDENT TRUMAN'S SPECIAL ENVOY.
5. SENT AMBASSADOR GEORGE S. MESSERSMITH BACK TO BUENOS AIRES WITH WORD THAT THIS GOVERNMENT WILL NOT RELENT IN ITS DEMAND THAT PRESIDENT PERON CARRY OUT COMMITMENTS TO RID ARGENTINA OF NAZI INFLUENCES.
6. REORGANIZED THE STATE DEPARTMENT BY SETTING UP A SECRETARIAT ALONG MILITARY STAFF LINES AND CENTRALIZING THE DEPARTMENT'S OWN INTELLIGENCE SERVICE.

GERMANS (300)

WASHINGTON, FEB 21-(AP)-REP. BRADLEY (R-MICH) CALLED TODAY FOR A CONGRESSIONAL INVESTIGATION TO DETERMINE WHY THE UNITED STATES IS FOOTING THE BILL TO SEND HOME MORE THAN 5,000 GERMAN CITIZENS WHO HAD BEEN LIVING IN SOUTH AMERICA.

THE DISCLOSURE THAT THE REPATRIATION PROGRAM WAS UNDERTAKEN AT STATE DEPARTMENT EXPENSE WAS MADE TO BRADLEY'S HOUSE MERCHANT MARINE COMMITTEE BY COMMODORE H.C.SHEPHEARD, NAVIGATION SAFETY CHIEF FOR THE COAST GUARD.

THE COMMODORE SAID THE WAR SHIPPING ADMINISTRATION CITED THE SOUTH AMERICAN PROJECT AS ONE OF THE "PRESSING PROBLEMS" MAKING IT NECESSARY FOR THE COAST GUARD TO WAIVE SHIP SAFETY REQUIREMENTS.

SHEPHEARD WAS RECALLED FOR FURTHER TESTIMONY TODAY ON FOREIGN SHIPPING PROGRAMS HINGING ON EXTENSION OF THE COAST GUARD'S AUTHORITY TO PERMIT WHAT THE COMMODORE CALLED "UNSAFE SHIPS" TO GO TO SEA.

BRADLEY, COMMITTEE CHAIRMAN, TOLD NEWSMEN THE PART OF THE COMMODORE'S TESTIMONY YESTERDAY DEALING WITH THE RETURN TO GERMANY OF GERMAN CITIZENS STRANDED IN SOUTH AMERICA WILL BE REFERRED TO "THE PROPER COMMITTEE" FOR FURTHER INQQUIRY.

"THAT MATTER IS NOT UNDER OUR JURISDICTION," THE LAWMAKER SAID, "BUT I DON'T SEE WHY THE UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT SHOULD BE RESPONSIBLE FOR FURNISHING SHIPS AND PAYING THE EXPENSES OF REPATRIATING THOUSANDS OF GERMANS FROM SOUTH AMERICA.

"WE DON'T HAVE ENOUGH SAFE SHIPS FOR OUR OWN PURPOSES. WE MUST CARRY OUR TROOPS, GOVERNMENT PERSONNEL AND PRIVATE CITIZENS IN SHIPS THAT ARE NOT SEAWORTHY SO THAT WE CAN HAUL FORMER ENEMIES FROM A HAVEN OF REFUGE TO THEIR NATIVE COUNTRY."

BRADLEY SAID THAT UNLESS THERE IS EVIDENCE THAT STEPS ARE BEING TAKEN TO REMEDY DEFICIENCIES IN EXISTING SHIPS HE MAY OPPOSE THE ADMINISTRATION'S REQUEST FOR AN EXTENSIOON OF THE LAW ALLOWING THE WAIVING OF SAFETY STANDARDS.

THE PRESENT AUTHORITY ENDS ON MARCH 31.

NEW YORK, FEB 21-(AP)-GEN. DOUGLAS MACARTHUR SAID IN A LETTER TO COLUMBIA UNIVERSITY, MADE PUBLIC TODAY, THAT THE NATION'S INTERESTS IN THE FUTURE "WILL LIE AS MUCH TO THE WEST AS TO THE EAST," AND ASSERTED THAT EVEN NOW THE SITUATION WAS "BADLY OUT OF BALANCE."

WRITING TO DR. FRANK D. FACKENTHAL, ACTING PRESIDENT OF THE UNIVERSITY, TO EXPRESS REGRET THAT HE COULD NOT APPEAR TO RECEIVE AN HONORARY DOCTOR OF LAWS DEGREE ALONG WITH 10 OTHER TOP MILITARY LEADERS, GENERAL MACARTHUR SAID:

"SINCE THE BIRTH OF OUR REPUBLIC, OUR ECONOMY FOR THE MOST PART, BEYOND OUR DOMESTIC NEEDS, HAS BEEN GEARED TO SUPPLY THE LANES OF COMMERCE LEADING FROM OUR EASTERN SHORES, AND OUR NATIONAL DEFENSE LARGELY HAS BEEN PLANNED AGAINST ATTACK UPON THOSE SHORES.

"WE ARE NOW BADLY OUT OF BALANCE. WE MUST REALIZE THAT OUR AMERICAN INTERESTS, BOTH FROM THE STANDPOINT OF NATIONAL SECURITY AND ECONOMIC PROGRESS, IN FUTURE (SIC) WILL LIE AS MUCH TO THE WEST AS TO THE EAST."

SECRETARY OF STATE GEORGE C. MARSHALL, ACCEPTING THE DEGREE IN BEHALF OF HIMSELF AND OTHER ARMY LEADERS BEFORE AN AUDIENCE OF 650 PERSONS, SAID THE NATION'S IMMEDIATE FUTURE DEPENDS LARGELY ON "THE DEGREE OF UNDERSTANDING OF WHAT OUR POSITION IS IN THE WORLD" WHICH COLUMBIA AND OTHER UNIVERSITIES BRING TO THE MINDS OF YOUNG MEN AND WOMEN.

"WHATEVER IS DONE, WHATEVER COMMITMENTS ARE MADE BY THIS COUNTRY," MARSHALL SAID, "LARGELY, ALMOST ENTIRELY, MUST BE GOVERNED--CERTAINLY VERY DIRECTLY INFLUENCED--BY THE UNDERSTANDING AND THE WILL AND THE DETERMINATION OF THE PEOPLE OF THIS COUNTRY."

ADMIRAL ERNEST J. KING SPOKE IN BEHALF OF NAVY LEADERS RECEIVING THE DEGREES.

"THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA," HE SAID, "WILL ENHANCE ITS ENDEAVORS TO CREATE A BETTER WORLD TO THE EXTENT AND IN THE DEGREE THAT IT IS KNOWN THAT IT IS PREPARED TO DEAL, AND DEAL PROMPTLY, WITH THOSE MEN AND NATIONS AND THEIR GOVERNMENTS WHO OBSTRUCT OR OPPOSE THE WORLD AIMS AND PURPOSES OF THE UNITED STATES, AND OF THE UNITED NATIONS."

GENERAL HENRY H. ARNOLD, ALONG WITH GENERAL MACARTHUR, RECEIVED A DEGREE IN ABSENTIA. THOSE APPEARING TO RECEIVE DEGREES WERE GENERALS MARSHALL, DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER, ALEXANDER VANDEGRIFT, LEWIS HERSHEY AND NORMAN KIRK, AND ADMIRALS KING, CHESTER W. NIMITZ, WILLIAM F. HALSEY, AND EMORY S. LAND.

NEW YORK, FEB. 21-(AP)-SECRETARY OF WAR PATTERSON SAYS THAT PROPOSED CUTS OF $1,500,000,000 IN WAR DEPARTMENT APPROPRIATIONS WOULD, AMONG OTHER THINGS, LEAVE THIS COUNTRY WITH "A SECOND-RATE AIR FORCE, WITH PLANES SOON TO BE OBSOLETE."

"IF WE RUSH TO DISARM WHILE NATIONS OVERSEAS MAINTAIN THEIR ARMAMENTS, WE WILL BE ASKING FOR WORLD WAR THREE," PATTERSON SAID YESTERDAY AT A CEREMONY ACTIVATING RESERVE ARMY UNITS HERE.

THE CABINET MEMBER SAID THAT HIS DEPARTMENT "IS WELL AWARE OF THE NEED FOR ECONOMY IN GOVERNMENT EXPENDITURES," AND THAT THIS HAD BEEN TAKEN INTO "FULL ACCOUNT" IN ESTIMATING ITS BUDGET. HE SAID IT LOPPED 40 PERCENT FROM PRELIMINARY ESTIMATES IN DRAWING THE BUDGET.

"IF WE HAVE A STRONG DEFENSE, YOU MAY REST ASSURED THAT IT WILL DETER ANY FUTURE AGGRESSOR FROM STARTING A WAR," PATTERSON SAID, ADDING THAT IT MUST NOT BE MERELY POTENTIAL STRENGTH BUT "READY STRENGTH, AVAILABLE IMMEDIATELY."

THE PROPOSED CUTS, HE SAID, WOULD REDUCE EFFECTIVE ARMY STRENGTH BY 200,000 MEN AND CUT 50 PERCENT THE PROGRAMS FOR THE NATIONAL GUARD AND ORGANIZED RESERVE.

CHICAGO,FEB.21-(AP)-NORMAN MAKIN, AUSTRALIAN AMBASSADOR TO THE UNITED STATES, TODAY CALLED FOR JOINT AUSTRALIAN-AMERICAN USE "TO THE GREATEST PRACTICABLE DEGREE" OF PACIFIC BASES AND FACILITIES.

IN AN ADDRESS TO THE ENGLISH SPEAKING UNION, MAKIN SAID THE TWO COUNTRIES' "COLLABORATION AND MUTUAL ENDEAVOR CAN FURNISH THE KEYSTONE TO THE SECURITY OF ALL PACIFIC NATIONS."

THE AMBASSADOR DECLARED THAT AUSTRALIA "HOLDS THAT AMERICAN SECURITY IS OUR SECURITY, AND VICE VERSA," AND ADDED:

"THAT IS WHY WE BELIEVE THAT OUR MUTUAL EFFORTS AND COLLABORATION SHOULD EXTEND TO THE JOINT USE TO THE GREATEST PRACTICABLE DEGREE OR BASES AND OTHER FACILITIES ESSENTIAL TO THE PRESERVATION OF SECURITY.

"THERE IS A LIMIT TO WHAT OUR GOVERNMENTS CAN DO IN THIS DIRECTION. THE MAIN REQUIREMENTS OF BOTH SIDES, IT SEEMS TO ME, ARE PATIENT TOLERANCE, AND WILLINGNESS TO UNDERSTAND THE VIEWPOINT OF THE OTHER--THE SAME QUALITIES, IN FACT, AS ARE NEEDED TO RESTORE MUTUAL TRUST, STABILITY AND PROSPERITY THROUGHOUT THE WORLD."

MAKIN SAID AMERICA AND AUSTRALIA HAD A "JOINT RESPONSIBILITY TO SEE THAT THE JAPANESE SHALL NEVER AGAIN OFFER A THREAT TO OUR CIVILIZATION."

WHITE SANDS,N.M.,FEB.21-(AP)-THE ARMY HAS SUCCEEDED IN PARACHUTING A ONE-TON INSTRUMENT FILLED WARHEAD OF A GERMAN V-2 ROCKET FROM A HEIGHT OF 68 MILES, MORE THAN TWICE THE ALTITUDE WHICH THE GERMANS THOUGHT POSSIBLE.

THE FEAT WAS ACCOMPLISHED YESTERDAY WITH TWO PARACHUTES. THE FIRST DROP OF AROUND 40 MILES WAS HANDLED WITH ONE EIGHT FEET IN DIAMETER. ANOTHER 14 FEET IN DIAMETER WAS RELEASED THEN BY AN EXPLOSIVE CHARGE. THE WARHEAD TOOK 50 MINUTES TO COME DOWN. IT DRIFTED ABOUT 25 MILES

WITH RADAR AND A HELICOPTER, THE INSTRUMENTS WERE LOCATED IMMEDIATELY, SOLVING A DIFFICULTY WHICH HAS BESET PREVIOUS ATTEMPTS TO OBTAIN DATA ON THE UPPER ATMOSPHERE.

LT.COL.HAROLD R.TURNER, PROVING GROUND COMMANDANT, FORECAST THAT CAMERAS IN THE WARHEAD HAD OBTAINED "EXTRAORDINARY PHOTOGRAPHS."

LIVING THINGS--FRUIT FLIES--WENT UP IN THE WARHEAD FOR THE FIRST TIME, TURNER SAID. PLANT SEEDS ALSO WERE SENT ALONG AND BIOLOGICAL STUDIES WILL BE MADE OF THE AFFECTS OF COSMIC RAYS ON BOTH. THEY WERE PLACED IN A PRESSURIZED CHAMBER FOR THE TRIP TO THE IONOSPHERE.

SCIENTISTS WERE AT WORK TODAY ANALYZING DATA BROUGHT BACK FROM THE IONOSPHERE BY INSTRUMENTS INSTALLED IN THE WARHEAD BY THE UNIVERSITY OF MICHIGAN. TURNER EXPRESSED THE BELIEF IT WOULD BE MORE CONCLUSIVE THAN INFORMATION HERETOFORE OBTAINED BECAUSE OF THE EXCELLENT CONDITION IN WHICH THE INSTRUMENT CONTAINER RETURNED TO EARTH.

IN PREVIOUS TESTS HERE INSTRUMENTS HAVE SUFFERED DAMAGE OR DESTRUCTION, AND IN TWO INSTANCES THE WARHEADS WERE LOST ENTIRELY.

THE ROCKET FAILED TO REACH THE 95-MILE ZENITH WHICH THE WAR DEPARTMENT HAD ANNOUNCED IT WOULD SHOOT AT, AND IT FELL FAR SHORT OF THE RECORD OF 114 MILES SET ON DEC.17.

GERMAN SCIENTISTS DID NOT USE PARACHUTES SUCCESSFULLY AT AN ALTITUDE ABOVE 55,000 FEET AND CALCULATED THEY WOULD BURN FROM FRICTION HEAT AT ALTITUDES ABOVE 150,000 FEET OR ABOUT 28 MILES.

WIND DRIFT ON THE PARACHUTES WAS LESS THAN ANTICIPATED. THE WAR DEPARTMENT HAD ESTIMATED THE BUOYED WARHEAD MIGHT LAND AS FAR AS 60 MILES FROM THE DESERT RESERVATION.

RUSSIA'S DISPLEASURE AT ACHESON'S REMARKS ON SOVIET REITERATED

Molotov Says Marshall's Reply To Note Is 'Not Convincing'

London, Feb. 22 (AP)—The Moscow radio said tonight the Soviet Union had reiterated its displeasure with statements attributed to Dean Acheson, United States Under Secretary of State, in a second note from Vyacheslav M. Molotov, Foreign Minister, to Gen. George C. Marshall, United States Secretary of State.

The note, dated February 20, answered Marshall's reply of February 18 to the original complaint and contended that Marshall's answer was "not convincing," the radio said.

Text Of Broadcast

The text of the broadcast follows:

"Monsieur Molotov sent, on February 20, a reply to Mr. Marshall in which he said that Mr. Marshall's reply concerning the hostile speech of Mr. Acheson was not convincing and that the Soviet Government remained of the same opinion as before and as exposed in Monsieur Molotov's note on February 14."

Russia charged originally that Acheson displayed a "hostile attitude" toward the Soviet Union in describing Russian foreign policy as "aggressive and expanding." Marshall replied that Acheson, who was addressing a Senate committee when he uttered the controversial statement, spoke "in line of duty."

"Under our standards," the Secretary of State's reply continued, "a restrained comment on the matter of public policy is not a slander."

ASK INDEMNITY FROM AUSTRIA

Jews Demand Reparations Because of Persecution.

London, Feb. 22 (A. P.).—The four-Power foreign ministers' deputies had a memorandum today urging that Austria be required to pay Jewry token reparations because of the persecution of Jews there since Germany took over in 1938. The deputies, doing preliminary work on Austrian and German peace treaties, received the recommendation yesterday from the American Jewish Conference.

The conference proposed that Austria pay an unspecified sum to "an appropriate Jewish body, to be designated by Allied authorities." In addition, said the memorandum, all unclaimed Jewish property in Austria should be turned over to such a body to help in the rehabilitation and resettlement of Jewish survivors of persecution.

"Anti-Semitism in Austria preceded Hitler," said the memorandum. "It was on the tradition of Austrian anti-Semitism that Hitler built his pseudo-philosophy of racism."

Signers of the memorandum were Louis Lipsky, chairman of the conference executive, and Henry Monsky, chairman of the inter-executive. The deputies, drawing up recommendations for their superiors, to meet in Moscow on March 10, failed again yesterday to decide upon the voice which little nations should have in making the treaties.

[In Toronto last night, Lester B. Pearson, Canadian Under Secretary of External Affairs, said: "It simply is not good enough for a country like Canada to be implored to make a full and unconditional contribution to the fighting of a war and to be offered a partial and grudging participation in the peace."

[He told the Ontario Secondary School Teachers Association that if the big powers insisted "on controlling peacemaking to the exclusion of the smaller nations, then history will revolve itself into another war."]

BRITAIN ORDERS GAS CURBS IN NEW COAL CRISIS

Blizzards Stall Trains and Ships—Plant Closings Expected

London, Feb. 22—(AP)—The government ordered gas companies to slash coal consumption 10 per cent for 10 weeks today and announced that restrictions on use of gas on homes similar to those on electricity may be ordered next week.

Some gas plants may be closed altogether it was announced, as a result of renewed blizzards which have blocked coal supplies to the plants and threaten a breakdown of the gas industry.

Coming on top of the electricity famine, the prospective gas restrictions were disclosed at a news conference by Sir Guy Nottbower, spokesman for the Ministry of Fuel and Power, who said:

"We shall probably reach a point on Monday when we shall be faced with the alternatives of either immediately bringing gas within the scope of the domestic residential electricity order or possibly, in certain extreme cases, shall be faced with the closing down of individual gas works."

The electricity order forbids use of current in homes for five daylight hours each day on pain of fines or imprisonment.

Attributing the new crisis to the return of heavy snow, Sir Guy declared, "It is a thing we were afraid of and it has exceeded our worst expectations."

He said 40 coal ships were snowbound in northeast ports and fuel stocks at big gas plants have dwindled to a "very dangerous point."

Coal Trains Blocked

Long lines of coal trains were jammed up behind drifts of fresh snow in the north country and in South Wales. In some sections the new fall was 14 inches deep.

Restoration of electric power on Monday to industries in the midlands, after a two weeks shut down, also will place a heavier industrial load on gas plants.

The order to gas companies to cut coal consumption by 10 per cent will be effective until May 2. Gas coal stocks, the British Gas Council said, have dwindled to 11 days' supply. Normally the nation's 1,100 gas plants start the Winter with a six weeks' stock but this Winter closed in with only a three weeks' backlog on hand.

With many villages isolated, highways and railways blocked and temperatures ranging from 10 to 18 degrees below normal, forecasters offered little hope for an early break in Britain's more than month-long cold wave, worst in half a century.

On the continent of Europe, however, there was a letup. Temperatures rose several degrees above freezing in Paris and as high as 60 Fahrenheit on the Riviera, although a later drop was forecast.

New Snow, Cold Delay Britain's Coal Trains

London, Feb. 22 (AP)—Heavy snowfalls blocked rail lines and highways in a wide area of England today, isolated villages in the Yorkshire dales and delayed coal shipments from South Wales to industrial areas blacked out by a shortage of fuel and power.

Temperatures throughout the British Isles ranged from 10 to 18 degrees below normal and weather forecasters said the severe weather would continue "at least" for several days.

On the continent, however, temperatures moderated after more than a month of bitter cold.

16 Degrees In Berlin

Rain was forecast for most of France. In Paris the mercury stood three to five degrees above freezing, and it rose to 50 or 60 degrees Fahrenheit along the Riviera.

Snow fell throughout the German province of Brandenburg. In Berlin, where the temperature was 16 degrees Fahrenheit, forecasters predicted milder but still freezing weather.

Freezing temperatures continued throughout Scandinavia but a falling barometer indicated the possibility of warmer weather with rain.

Strong east winds cleared Swedish and Norwegian harbors of ice and fishermen prepared to put to sea for the first time in two weeks.

30. 24- 8055

To Work Over Week End

Ice floes up to four miles in length menaced small fishing boats along Britain's east coast, but the Admiralty reported the large fields breaking up and not interfering with coal shipments from northeast ports.

In some parts of the island last night's snow was the heaviest of the winter. Railways in particular were hard hit, one of them reporting traffic at a standstill on fourteen routes.

The heads of three railway trade unions appealed to their members today to work throughout the week end to speed coal shipments to the Midlands, where power supplies will be restored Monday to industries shut down for two weeks by the Government's power-conservation order.

More Resumptions Seen

Mine union officials reported thousands of miners would work Sunday overtime tomorrow and that at least 65 pits in South Wales would be in operation.

London's fuel position, however, remained critical. Government spokesmen announced disappointment with the small increase of coal stocks at power stations in the metropolitan area.

Increased coal stocks were reported in the northwest industrial region, also affected by the black-out order. Informed sources said a date for the resumption of its industry would probably be announced by Prime Minister Attlee on Monday.

On the continent, ice floes menaced bridges and shipping in the Danube and Czech aircraft bombed the river; Berlin's reported death toll from exposure grew to some 180 since December 1, and frost was reported to have destroyed 3,000,000 acres of spring wheat in France.

Five persons were killed in Lisbon by a landslide of earth loosened by rain, and the airport there was closed because of storms.

In Britain the influential London Times criticized the Labor Government for "fatal reluctance" to insist that its trade-union supporters work harder to pull Britain out of her grave economic crisis.

"The trade unions hold the fate of this country in their hands as the RAF held it seven years ago," the Times said in an editorial reviewing the Government's 1947 economic survey, published yesterday.

Press Is Critical

Every other London morning newspaper, except the Labor party's organ, the Daily Herald, greeted the Government's economic program with such criticisms as "acute disappointment," incomplete," "not good enough," wishful thinking," "diagnosis, not a plan."

The Times termed the White Paper "the most disturbing statement ever made by a British Government" and added:

"The manpower budget, wages policy, and hours of work all depend upon pious hopes and good intentions. The trade unions may not have had the last word this time, but they have prevented the Government from having it. There is no last word."

Crisis Of Underproduction

The Times added: "The strongest asset of a Labor Government becomes its weakest because the Government cannot issue the required orders without prior consent of the trade unions."

Estimating that 2,000,000 were now unemployed because of the coal shortage, the Times said, "The notion of unemployment caused by underproduction is hard for the workers of this country to grasp.

U.S. Red Leader Predicts Crisis

London, Feb. 22 (AP)—William Z. Foster, chairman of the American Communist Party, today forecast an economic crisis in the United States that "will shake the whole capitalist world."

"The strength of American capitalism is completely illusory," Foster told British Communists in an address to the party's nineteenth National Conference.

Foster said he was "supremely confident," however, that 15,000,000 American organized workers "and their political friends" would be able to beat back what he called "a reactionary offensive aimed at crippling trade unions" in Congress and the state Legislatures.

William Gallacher, one of the British Communist party's two members of Parliament, called for continued, although qualified, support of the Labor Government. Prime Minister Attlee's Cabinet had its "knees steadied," Gallacher said, by the backing of Communist miners during the current fuel crisis.

In an order of the day issued on the twenty-ninth anniversary of the founding of the Red Army, the broadcast said, Stalin declared:

"This is required of us for the sake of the consolidation of peace, for the sake of insuring the security of our motherland."

Paris Police Enforce Ban Despite Crowds

Paris, Feb. 22 (AP)—Hundreds of massed police enforced a Government ban on rival Communist and anti-Communist demonstrations that were to have been held at the Salle Wagram last night as surging crowds threatened a street battle.

The rightist party of Republican Liberty (PRL) had been scheduled to meet to protest the award of the National Defense Ministry to Communist Francois Billoux. A counter-demonstration had been called by the Communists in front of the meeting hall.

After the Government issued an order prohibiting the meetings both demonstrations were canceled, the PRL's under protest.

Demonstrators Arrested

Paris, Feb. 22—(AP)—Forty persons were arrested and two newspaper photographers injured tonight when police broke up a demonstration called by a right wing political group to protest "Marxists" in the present French government.

A crowd, estimated at 250 persons, gathered at the Place de L'Opera at the call of posters which declared "come to the opera and protest against the reign of the Marxists in our government."

Police said the posters were distributed by the PRL (Patri Republican de la Liberte), right wing political group which is opposed to the coalition of Communists, Socialists and the middle-of-the-road MRP in the present government. The PRL lists both Socialists and Communists as "Marxists."

The photographers, both Frenchmen, were employed by the New York Times and the International News Service. They were struck by night sticks wielded by police. Neither was injured seriously.

Last night hundreds of massed police prevented rival demonstrations by Communists and anti-Communists which had been scheduled at the Salle Wagram.

U.S. Group In France Opposes Treaty Plan

Paris, Feb. 22 (AP)—The American Chamber of Commerce in France today opposed ratification by the United States Senate of a proposed French-American treaty which members said was designed to avoid double taxation of American business men in France, but would have the effect of taxing them excessively.

The chamber said the pact would cause many American business men to leave this country, since taxes would be higher than the present rates in the United States and since no American would be allowed to have dollar credits except those assigned to him by the French Treasury.

POLISH STRIFE RENDS CAMPS

Intrigues Of Rival Factions Center In U.S. Zone

Frankfurt, Germany, Feb. 22 (AP). American-occupied soil of Germany, authoritative American sources said today, has become a battleground for rival Polish nationalists who have spun a "netwark of intrigue, spying and propaganda."

The enemies in the tug-of-war are the supporters of Poland's Left-Wing Government and the 284,000 Poles in western Europe who refuse to return home.

Both Ardent Nationalists

Both sides, American sources said, are driven by ardent nationalism, but are divided by opposing political and ideological concepts and with intense hatred are engaged in scheming, spying, threatening and blackmailing against each other.

Although the struggle extends across Europe from London to Poland, it has come to center in the American zone, where 157,000 Poles are living in displaced-persons camps or on the German economy.

Many live in a mystic hope for the rebirth of the Polish Government in exile that was disbanded long ago in London.

The Methods Used

Authoritative sources describe the struggle in this way:

Supporters and agents of the Warsaw Government work among the displaced Poles trying to win them over by arguments, propaganda and sometimes by "plain threats of retaliation against families in Poland."

The Warsaw Government maintains a repatriation mission in the United States zone. These repatriation officers are allowed access to displaced-persons camps and are "under pressure to get back every possible man and spare no effort," one source said.

Minor riots have broken out at some Polish camps upon the arrival of repatriation officers.

Guards Anti-Warsaw

There are 46,000 Poles who have been trained by the American Army as guards to watch American supplies. Charges have been made that the guards are a "Polish army."

"There is no question that 95 per cent of the guards are anti-Warsaw," said an American training officer, "but the United States Army makes every effort to prevent any growth of militarism."

POLES RATIFY AMNESTY

Warsaw Parliament's Action Will Free 25,000 in Jails

WARSAW, Feb. 22 (AP)—An amnesty act, which is expected to free approximately 25,000 persons from jails and prisons, was adopted unanimously by the Polish Parliament today.

In addition to those freed when the new law is published early next week in the official Gazette, approximately 20,000 prisoners will have their sentences reduced.

The law also covers an estimated 10,000 members of underground bands who are expected to lay down their arms and accept amnesty and Polish citizens abroad who have been accused of crimes committed in their homeland and who will be permitted to return without prosecution.

The Parliament also approved a fourteen-point declaration of rights of citizens, including freedom of the press, speech and conscience. This, however, is not to become effective until adoption of a new Constitution.

Germany To Re-Enter World Film Market

Hamburg, Feb. 22 (AP)—The British Military Government plans to restore Germany to the world commercial film market, a military government official declared today.

The script of the first full-length feature film has been completed and work will commence as soon as it has been approved.

The film will be in two versions —English and German. The bulk of it will be the same film, but some dialogue will be filmed twice so as to avoid the clumsiness of "dubbing" (a process by which one language is substituted for another one in the sound track.)

Berlin Paper Penalized For 'French Insult'

Berlin, Feb. 22 (AP)—The Russian-licensed newspaper Berlin Zeitung was banned for 24 hours today by the press section of the Soviet military administration for "insulting the French occupation power" in an article headed "Protector of the Saar Democracy." The paper was also fined, the announcement said.

The article asserted that the "administration of the Saar area was being carried out through collaborationists and Nazi friends" and that French officials were "supporting reactionary and Nazi elements in the French zone."

Greek Threatens Markos's Life

Athens, Feb. 22 (AP)—The Foreign Ministry today released a cable Premier Demetrios Maximos received from Pericles Eliades of the Greek Parliament saying that Eliades personally would "execute" band chieftain "Captain Markos" if the latter appeared before a Balkan investigating commission as proposed by T. G. Thomas, British Member of Parliament.

Eliades, whose 20-year-old daughter was slain recently by guerrillas, described "Markos" as a "blood-stained criminal brigand of the Communist party" and said, "it is inconceivable that the commission could accept such a proposal" as was made by Thomas.

Raid Reported

Meanwhile, press dispatches said one woman was killed and seven houses were burned by an insurgent attack on the village of Thouria, several miles north of Didymotichon near the Turkish border.

Six villagers were reported released after paying a ransom to guerrillas following their seizure from the village of Leftokary several days ago.

A strong band attacked a train between Phlorina and Agra, dispatches said, and two soldiers were killed and three passengers wounded in a three-and-a-half-hour exchange which saw military planes pressed into action.

YUGOSLAVS PROTEST BORDER TROUBLES

Belgrade, Feb. 22 (A. P.)—The Yugoslav Government sent two notes to the Allied Control Commission for Austria today protesting what were described as border incidents and plans to settle 120,000 to 140,000 German peasants in southern Austrian territory claimed by Yugoslavia. The note on alleged border incidents said that armed bands of Nazis and "former Yugoslav Quislings" had been making raids into Yugoslav from Austria since last summer, repeatedly had looted houses, and had fired on Yugoslav border patrols "before the very eyes of British guards and Austrian gendarmerie."

The bands were described as living near British block posts "northwest of Maribor, near Saint Duha, and Repica, on the Austrian border." The Yugoslavs said that the bands were armed with machine guns, rifles and pistols and included one woman member, named Marija Kebler.

Yugoslav protests "against this tolerance of Fascist activity by armed bands of Nazis and members of the former Yugoslav Quisling formations," asked the "Allied Control Commission for Austria to take speedy and effective measures to do away with this situation." The second note said that Yugoslavia had information that "hard-bitten Nazis and Pan-Germans" would be settled in southern Carinthia and Styria, and that this would be considered an unfriendly act against Yugoslavia and "a constant threat to peace and security."

Two American Soldiers Die In Fire In Iceland

Reykjavik, Iceland, Feb. 22 (AP)—Two American soldiers were burned to death today when a fire, whipped by a 55-mile wind, destroyed two quonset huts used as crash stations at Keflavik Airport. Names of the victims, who were 18 and 19 years old, were withheld by military authorities pending notification of next of kin.

Twelve other men in the huts escaped injury after guards gave the alarm.

Russ Say British Are Spying In Hungary

Budapest, Feb. 22 (AP)—Highly placed Hungarians said today the Russian Minister to Budapest has accused the British Government of engaging in anti-Soviet espionage in Hungary since 1945.

These informants, who cannot be identified by name, said Russian Minister Grigori Pushkin had told Hungarian Foreign Minister Janos Gyongyosi that British agents had been working with persons accused by Communists of plotting against the year-old republic. The informants said the Soviet Minister's chief concern was not that the agents might have plotted against the Government but against the Communist leaders who dominate it.

DAY

Monarchy Regime

The Russian military, meanwhile, was reported to be questioning Hungarian citizens arrested in connection with the alleged plot, by which the Communists charge the plotters hoped to restore the regime of former Regent Admiral Nicholas Horty.

A highly political source told reporters he had notified H. F. Arthur Schoenfeld, United States Minister to Hungary, that the Russians had intervened in the reputed political "crisis" in the name of the Allied Control Commission. The informant added that Schoenfeld had replied that he would tell Brig. Gen. George H. Weems, of Dickson, Tenn., United States representative of the control commission.

Weems Not Notified

Weems said later he had not been notified of any intervention by Russia.

Meanwhile between 400 and 500 demonstrators, carrying Communist flags, surged into the lower hall of the Parliament building and demanded that the Small Landholders' party, the majority party in the Coalition Government, turn over to the political police the party's former secretary general, Bela Kovacs, accused by the Communists of being active in the plot.

Reds Say British Hope to Clinch French Alliance

'New Times' Asserts Pact Prior to Moscow Parley of Big 4 Is London Aim

MOSCOW, Feb. 22 (AP)—"New Times," the Soviet magazine on international affairs, declared today that Great Britain hoped to conclude a treaty of alliance with France prior to the Big Four Foreign Ministers meeting next month at Moscow, in order to have a "humble ally" in peace-treaty negotiations.

A more distant aim of Britain, the magazine said, was to make an "Anglo-French pact into a cornerstone of a Western bloc, and maybe an embryo of a United States of Europe."

British policy is opposed to real demilitarization and de-Nazification of Germany, and to an international control of the Ruhr in which Russia would participate, "New Times" asserted, because France would become "too independent in international affairs" if she were freed of the fear of Germany.

NIGHT

Another "New Times" article said the United States, Britain and France, in discussions at London of the peace treaty for Austria, were showing a "dangerous" tendency to regard Austria as a "country that Fascism came to from without." The article added: "To take such a position is to ignore history."

Austria ignored the warning of the Foreign Ministers meeting in Moscow in 1943 to get out of the war, the article continued, asserting: "On the contrary, Austrian troops fought to the very end against Allied armies. Vienna was liberated by the Soviet Army only after bloody fighting, and at that but three weeks before the fall of Berlin. Thus Austria took no part in liberating herself."

"New Times" said Austria "must be forced to learn her lesson" and not be allowed to "evade responsibility."

'Humble Ally' Role For France Charged

Moscow, Feb. 22 (AP)—The magazine New Times said today that Britain hoped to have France serve as a "humble ally" at the meeting in Moscow next month of the Four-Power Foreign Ministers.

Britain hopes eventually to make the "Anglo-French pact into a cornerstone of the western bloc, and maybe into an embryo of a United States of Europe," the article asserted.

New Times said that, despite British statement to the contrary, Britain does not want Germany to be de-Nazified or demilitarized.

Says French Fear Germans

"Britain reasons approximately this way," the article said. "If France, receiving real guarantees of security, will free herself from fear of the German menace, will she not become too independent in international affairs? Is it not then better to deprive France of such actual possibilities? Then she will become more dependent on England."

DAY

In another article, New Times said that the Austrian peace treaty now being drafted by the Deputy Foreign Ministers in London must outlaw any future alliance between Austria and Germany.

The magazine said British, American and French deputies appeared ready ot accept the theory that Fascism came to Austria from neighboring countries but that such a theory "ignores history."

New Times also accused British and American deputies of "showing a tendency to allow Austria to evade her responsibilities" incurred by fighting to the last with the Nazis.

Russ Forces Warned On Data Leaks

Moscow, Feb. 22 (AP)—The Soviet newspaper Red Fleet published a warning to Russian soldiers and sailors today to be on their guard against foreign intelligence agents.

The article, written by Lieut. Col. P. Ancharski, said that the "postwar period shows that international reaction is intensifying its attacks against the U.S.S.R. and that such inciters of a new war as Churchill and his friends in Britain and the United States of America are just as active. This demands that the vigilance of all Soviet people must be increased in every way.

DAY

"Particular vigilance must be shown by the personnel of the Soviet Army and Navy," said Ancharski, "because these foreign intelligence agents are seeking primarily to get information about the state of the armed forces of the U.S.S.R."

Reds To Call 300,000 More For Labor Schools

Moscow, Feb. 22 (AP)—Pravda announced today that the next callup of Soviet youth for factory schools, scheduled for March, should see 300,000 begin training as metal workers and miners.

DAY

Last year labor reserve schools supplied Soviet industry with 382,000 workers. At present 230,000 are graduating for work as metal workers, carpenters, railway men, shoemakers and for other trades.

The current five-year plan calls for training 4,500,000 youths in labor reserve schools.

Russians Say British Radio Distorts Facts

Moscow, Feb. 22 (AP)—The newspaper Culture and Life today accused the British Broadcasting Company in its Russian-language broadcasts of "shuffling the facts" and giving false information under the guise of objective reporting.

This was the first discussion in the Russian press of BBC's daily short-wave broadcasts to Russia, under way about a year. There has been no comment on the United States broadcasts instituted last Monday.

DAY

Assails "Bourgeois Press"

David Zaslavsky, Soviet publicist, also writing in Culture and Life, assailed the "bourgeois press" of several countries and declared that "cheating of readers, falsification and slander are not considered a disgrace in the bourgeois press. An exposed lie does not stain the journalist."

Zaslavsky specifically attacked the New York Times, the Stockholm Aftonbladet, the Manchester Guardian and the United States magazine Fortune. The writer also lashed out at some American authors of books on Russia.

Of Syracuse University history professors "Haines" and "Walsh" he said that among the books they used "there exists no single real scientific book on the Soviet."

4-Power Visas Sought For 52 U.S. Newsmen

Moscow, Feb. 22 (AP)—The United States Embassy has presented a list of 52 American correspondents, photographers and radio commentators to the Soviet Foreign Ministry for consideration as applicants for visas to permit their coverage of the Four-Power Foreign Ministers Conference opening here March 10.

DAY

Russian officials, however, have not indicated any change in their original decision to admit only twenty newsmen.

satellite countries" were joining the movement toward Palestine.

He said there were about 135,000 homeless Jews in the American zone in Germany; another 25,000 in the British zone, and 75,000 scattered throughout Europe, "almost all of whom are seeking underground contacts for transportation to Palestine."

Ship With 600 Jews Aboard Intercepted By British Navy

Jerusalem, Feb. 22 (AP)—The British Navy has intercepted an immigrant ship, the S.S. Julia, with 600 uncertified Jewish refugees aboard, and now is escorting her to the Palestine port of Haifa, unofficial but reliable sources said today.

Meanwhile, Dr. Barnet Brickner, Cleveland rabbi, told a news conference today that Palestine would experience a "terrific movement of Jewish immigrants" this spring and summer.

"Great Explosive Threat"

"There are 235,000 displaced Jews in Italy, Germany and Austria," said Dr. Brickner, who has just completed a tour of European displaced persons' camps. "And approximately 90 per cent of them have but one goal—flight to Palestine. This spring and summer the Mediterranean will be crowded with their ships."

DAY

Dr. Brickner, who is studying the displaced Jewish problem for the United Jewish Appeal, said the British decision to turn the Palestine question over to the United Nations for solution was a "delaying action of at least a year."

"Displaced Jews in Europe constitute a great explosive threat to world peace," he said. "Unless relief is forthcoming, a social epidemic will break out. These people, homeless and desperate, know other countries do not want them."

Returning To United States

Dr. Brickner, who leaves tomorrow on his return trip to the United States, said the numbers of displaced Jews in western Europe constantly are swelled by "those squirming through the iron curtain," adding that "despite restrictions, many Jews from the Soviet Agency Leader Coming To U.S.

London, Feb 22 (AP)—The Jewish Agency said tonight that Moshe Shertok, the agency's political head, left by air today for Washington.

Shertok will confer with Zionists in Washington before deciding on methods of lobbying the Jews' side of Britain's submission of the Palestine issue to United Nations, the agency said.

The agency previously has said it would present arguments for a Jewish Palestine state not only to United Nations officials but to governments in major capitals of the world.

IRANIANS REGAIN TOWN

March Into Place Formerly Held by Kurdish Faction

TEHERAN, Iran, Feb. 22 (AP)—A high-ranking officer attached to the Iranian General Staff said today that Central Government troops had occupied Oshnoo (Ushnuigeh), northern Kurdistan city, fourteen miles from the border of Iraq.

The troops marched on Oshnoo from three directions and occupied it without clashes or fighting with the 10,000 to 12,000 Iraqi-Kurdish followers of Mulla Mustafa el Barzani encamped near the border.

Oshnoo is the main center of the Barzani Kurds, who fled from Iraq to Iran last year because their leaders were sentenced to death by the Iraqi Government. They occupied several Iranian cities, where no Iranian troops entered for more than a year.

CHINESE RULE IN DAIREN SEEN

Speculation Roused By Wang's Mission To Mukden

Peiping, Feb. 22 (AP)—New speculation that China soon might assume administration of Dairen from the Russians was touched off today by disclosure that Wang Shih-Chieh, Foreign Minister, would fly to Mukden tomorrow on a secret mission.

The usually reliable newspaper Hsin Min Pai said the Russians already were shipping their supplies from Dairen to Port Arthur, nearby Soviet naval base, and would be completely out of Dairen by March 12. It said the Russians had shipped 60 locomotives from Dairen to Vladivostok.

A fortnight ago the paper said Chinese Government forces had moved to within 4 miles of Dairen by local agreement with the Russians, but, like the latest report, that was not confirmed.

Rumor Wang Might Resign

Under the Chinese-Russian Treaty of 1945, Dairen, major commercial port of Manchuria, is declared a free port under Chinese jurisdiction, but Russians have occupied it since the Japanese surrender.

NIGHT

Wang, who flew to Peiping yesterday, said he could not discuss the nature of his mission at this time, but the press generally guessed that he would talk to Russian representatives in Mukden.

Rumors from Shanghai said Wang might resign as Foreign Minister as soon as Dairen's status is settled and that Wellington Koo, Ambassador to Washington, might succeed him. Other rumors in Peiping said Wang might make a trip to Moscow.

Little Civil War News

There was a dearth of news on the Chinese civil war, but it was announced that the small American military liaison group in Yenan, Communist capital, would withdraw March 5. That date is the deadline the United States has set for providing transportation for Communist and Government members of the disbanded truce organization to places of safety.

In Shanghai, J. Leighton Stuart, United States Ambassador, said at a Washington's birthday dinner,

30. 24- 8057

"The real enemies of China are now internal. (They) are illiteracy, poverty, disease, the exploitation of public office for private gain, including that of relatives and friends; narrows and ruthless partisan bigotry."

Keep Fingers Crossed

Also in Shanghai, officials and commercial interests alike were keeping their fingers crossed to see if the sweeping emergency economic regulations announced the first of the week would stabilize China's runaway inflation and crippled export trade.

It developed that the Central Bank of China was paying 11,640 Chinese dollars for $1 United States, instead of the 12,000 to 1 fixed by decree. The difference was explained as a three per cent deduction for transportation charges. Most stores refused to accept United States money, and the black market's underground quotations were little higher than the Government's.

Red Evacuation Plan Reported

Peiping, Feb. 22 (AP)—A Russian plan to complete evacuation of Dairen before March 12 was reported today as Chinese Minister of Foreign Affairs Wang Shih-chieh prepared to leave for Mukden, where he was expected to talk with Russians about taking over in Dairen.

The newspaper Hsin Min Pao, which carried the reported Russian evacuation date, said Soviet materials were being shipped from Dairen to Port Arthur and Vladivostok. It added that Soviet troops had completely withdrawn from Liushutun, northeast of Dairen.

Wang, who was expected to leave here tomorrow, refused to disclose his mission. Newspapers speculated that after his return to Nanking he might go to Moscow.

The Chinese-Russian Treaty of 1945 provided for the return of the big Manchurian port city to Chinese control.

Liaison Unit To Leave

Peiping, Feb. 22 (AP)—The American liaison group stationed at Yenan, Chinese Communist capital, will withdraw March 5 after the return of members of Communist delegations who intend to leave Nanking, Chungking and Shanghai.

The evacuation date was set after a conference between the group and American officers, who flew to Yenan yesterday with Yeh Chien-ying, Communist representative at the defunct executive (truce) headquarters here.

One returning American described the atmosphere in Yenan as subdued, although martial overtones still were evident.

'Partisan Bigotry' Called Enemy Of China

Shanghai, Feb. 22 (AP)—United States Ambassador John Leighton Stuart said today that "the real enemies of China are illiteracy, poverty, disease, the exploitation of public office for private gain and narrow and ruthless partisan bigotry."

Addressing a Washington's Birthday dinner in Shanghai, the Ambassador said that in China's struggle to obtain democratic government and individual freedom there was a summons to every Chinese patriot to be willing, like General Washington, to sacrifice all he possessed for the larger good.

"The hope of the country lies in the awakening of a new form of national consciousness which . . . puts the welfare of the vast, inarticulate, suffering masses above all personal ambitions and demands a united emphasis on constructive reforms rather than any more divisive and destructive activities," Stuart said.

He added that the American nation was in sympathy with Chinese patriots in their efforts to establish a free, united, peaceful, democratic China.

Krug Due in Shanghai

SHANGHAI, Feb. 22 (AP).—J. A. Krug, Secretary of the Interior, and a group of thirteen are scheduled to arrive here tomorrow. The group has been inspecting American islands in the Pacific, in connection with their possible future civil administration.

Chinese Military Plane Crashes; 21 Are Killed

Shanghai, Feb. 22 (AP)—A Chinese Air Force transport plane crashed within sight of Chungking's airport yesterday, killing all 21 Chinese aboard, the Central News Agency reported today.

Reports from Chungking said the big plane, flying up from Sichang, ran into such heavy icing conditions that one wing snapped in two.

The plane had been held at Sichang, 285 miles southwest of Chungking, for two days by bad weather, then risked the flight over some of the most rugged terrain in China.

It was the worst accident involving the Chinese Air Force this year.

Chinese Land Flooded In Diversion Of River

San Francisco, Feb. 22 (AP)—The Chinese Communist radio at Yenan reported today that more than 60 villages and much land had been inundated by the Chinese Government's action to divert the Yellow River to its prewar course.

The Chinese News Service, a Government agency, reported yesterday that work of restoring the river to the old channel had been resumed as the result of an agreement by the Chinese Communists with UNRRA and the Chinese National Relief and Rehabilitation Agency.

Making no mention of this, the Communist broadcast, heard in San Francisco by the Associated Press, said 300,000 persons had been made homeless and 40 drowned by partial rediversion of the river because protective dikes along the old course had not been completed.

In a new release in San Francisco today, the Chinese News Service confirmed that water had begun to flow back into the old bed but said it was less than one foot deep and that squatters were being aided in moving out. It said more than 2,200 tons of foodstuffs were ready for shipment to the Communist-held areas for relief of some 250,000 affected persons.

Anti-Fascist Chief Bids Burmese Surrender Arms

RANGOON, Feb. 22 (AP).—General C. Aung San, president of the Anti-Fascist People's Freedom League, appealed today to all league supporters and others who had organized resistance groups and collected illicit arms through "impatient patriotism" to surrender such arms to local authorities. He said that "revolutionary upheaval at this stage is undesirable."

The announcement added that a general amnesty was being granted to those who surrendered before March 31.

Nehru Lauds Britain's Plan To Quit India

Hindu Leader Acclaims 'Wise' Decision, Calls It 'Challenge to All of Us'

Bids Moslems End Boycott of Regime

Urges Speed in Creating Independent Nation; Jinnah Keeps Silence

By The Associated Press

NEW DELHI, India, Feb. 22.—Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, vice-president of the executive council of the Indian interim government, said tonight that the British government's decision to withdraw completely from India not later than June, 1948, was "wise and courageous" and a "challenge to all of us."

"We look forward to a peaceful and co-operative transition and to establishment of close and friendly relations with the British people for the mutual advantage of both countries and for the advancement of the cause of peace and freedom all over the world," he said in a statement.

He coupled the statement with a strong plea for the rival Moslem League to end its boycott of the Constituent Assembly.

Reply to Attlee

Asserting that the "work of the Constituent Assembly must now be carried on with greater speed so that a new and independent India may take shape," Nehru said the Assembly's work could proceed only "on a voluntary basis" and that "there can be no compulsion except the compulsion of events which none can ignore."

Nehru's was the first official Indian reaction to Prime Minister Attlee's announcement Thursday. He said the Congress working committee would meet and give its "considered views" of Attlee's statement early next month.

So far the reaction of Mahomed Ali Jinnah, Moslem League leader, has not been disclosed.

Appeal To Moslems

Although Nehru said Attlee's statement was "obscure in some places and requires careful consideration," he said the definite declaration that Britain will get out not later than June, 1948, "not only removes all misconception and suspicion but also brings reality and a certain dynamic quality to the present situation.

"I trust that we shall all endeavor to get out of ruts and end the internal conflicts that have frustrated our efforts and delayed our advance," he said in his appeal to the Moslems.

"We ask all to be partners in this joint and historic undertaking [of writing a constitution], casting aside fear and suspicion which ill become a great people on the eve of freedom."

"No external authority is going to help or hinder us in the future," he concluded.

Report Called "Unjust"

Earlier, Nehru had criticized as "unjust" a report carried by the Associated Press which quoted sources close to the Indian leader as saying he had considered Viceroy Lord Wavell an obstruction to an Indian settlement. Wavell is being replaced next month by Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten.

Nehru declared he had "never doubted Lord Wavell's sincerity and desire to serve India's interests."

[Informed sources in London Friday said the replacement of Wavell stemmed from a months-long conflict on political principles between Wavell and the Attlee Cabinet in which Wavell took the view that Britain's decision to quit India should be postponed for an indefinite period.]

'Never Doubted Wavell's Sincerity', Nehru Declares

New Delhi, Feb. 22 (AP)—Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, chief Minister of India's interim government and leader of the Hindu-dominated Congress party, said today he "never doubted Lord Wavell's sincerity and desire to serve India's interests."

His statement was issued with regard to what he called an "unjust" report, carried by the Associated Press, on his relations with Wavell, who is being replaced as viceroy by Admiral Lord Mountbatten.

The report to which Nehru referred quoted a New Delhi source close to Nehru as saying the Congress party leader had been known to consider Wavell as an obstacle to settlement of the Congress party differences with the Moslem League.

Statement Issued

This source said Nehru's associates objected to what they called Wavell's intriguing and added that the replacement was regarded as a move to placate Nehru.

Nehru's statement said:

"A news agency report purporting to emanate from a source close to me is unjust both to Lord Wavell and to me. Regarding our reactions to Prime Minister Attlee's statement, my colleagues and I will no doubt express our views. What has been stated in the news agency report is likely to mislead opinion.

"What I am concerned about especially, however, are the references to Lord Wavell and to Lord Mountbatten. There have been differences of opinion during past months, but I have never doubted Lord Wavell's sincerity and desire to serve India's interests. He carried a heavy burden and has worked hard. I have a high regard for him and I shall be sorry in many ways to part with him.

Mountbatten Meetings

"I met Lord Mountbatten during my brief visit to Singapore last year, and he was very courteous to me. I met him once again as he was passing through Delhi to discuss certain matters relating to the transport of paddy rice in husk form from Java to India. These are the only two meetings I have had with him so far.

"I regret that unauthorized and often incorrect speculations should be made at a time when we have to face a new situation which requires the fullest consideration."

London Discord Reported

London, Feb. 22 (AP)—Informed sources say that the British Cabinet recalled Viceroy Lord Wavell from India because of a drawnout disagreement over "political principles."

They indicated yesterday that Wavell was replaced partly because he felt Britain should postpone indefinitely its decision to get out of India altogether.

Prime Minister Attlee announced this week that Lord Mountbatten was being sent to take Wavell's place as viceroy. At the same time he disclosed that the British Labor Government planned to take its hand out of Indian affairs by June, 1948.

Calcutta Strike Centers Searched

Calcutta, Feb. 22 (AP)—The 32-day-old streetcar strike of 8,000 workers here took a dramatic turn when police simultaneously searched the offices of trade unions, the Communist party and four newspapers and seized a labor leader's statement on the strike.

Police also searched some labor leaders' houses. They arrested Abdul Monin, secretary of the Bengal Trade Union Congress, and Gopal Achharyya, vice president of the Calcutta Tramway Workers Union.

The police action followed Premier H. S. Suhrawardy's statement in the Bengal Assembly Tuesday that the strike was illegal and his threat of "Government action when patience is exhausted."

Streetcar workers struck January 21 for a "basic living wage," stopping 358 cars carrying a daily load of about 1,000,000 passengers.

TOJO DEFENSE TO BE OPENED

Attorneys Expect Evidence To Run For Six Months

Toko, Sunday, Feb. 23 (AP)—Former Premier Hideki Tojo and 25 other Japanese former leaders will launch their defense against war crimes charges before the International Military Tribunal tomorrow in a burst of oratory intended to outline the evidence they will spend six months in presenting.

It is expected to take more than a full day for Ichiro Kiyose, counsel for Tojo, and Kenzo Takayanagi, international law expert, to present the opening arguments.

American defense attorneys intend, however, to get down as quickly as possible to the business of attempting to refute prosecution charges that the defendants conspired to plan and wage wars of aggression as far back as 1928.

Six Major Divisions

Testimony in the first of six general divisions of the defense case is expected to begin Tuesday. It will deal with the defendants' views on international law and Japan's rights as a nation under treaties, along with the responsibility of the defendants for acts performed in official capacities.

The defense contention is that when policy was determined, the defendants were acting as officials of the Japanese Government and not as individual conspirators.

The first phase also will touch on some defendants' claims to diplomatic immunity and will attempt to refute prosecution charges that Japan's industrialization since 1937 was mostly for war production.

In the latter connection, the defense will attempt to show that various allied nations stepped up their war production potentials at the same time.

Under New Yorker's Direction

William Logan, of New York, attorney for Marquis Koichi Kido, will direct the first phase of the defense on behalf of all the accused. He said he expected to present evidence for at least two weeks.

The subsequent five divisions of the defense will deal with Manchuria, China, Russia, the Pacific war and, last, individuals' defense of themselves.

During a three-week recess since the prosecution rested, defense attorneys have questioned more than 1,000 prospective witnesses.

They said the interval had enabled them to eliminate many witnesses and documents which they had proposed to present, but that it still would take six months to complete their case.

Jap Cabinet Change Due

Tokyo, Feb. 22 (AP)—Hiro Wada, former Minister of Agriculture and Forestry, will be appointed state minister and director of the economic stabilization board Monday by Premier Shigeru Yoshida. Wada, a sympathizer of the opposition Social Democratic party, resigned during the Cabinet shuffle of February 13.

Tojo Brother Seized In Vagrant Roundup

Tokyo, Feb. 22 (AP)—The newspaper Jiji Shimpo said today that Osaka police began rounding up vagrants the other day—and one of their first pickups admitted he was Tadoao Tojo, younger brother of former Premier Hideki Tojo.

Tadoao Tojo, a boxcar sleeper, said he had a job with a munitions firm but had been unemployed since the surrender.

Hideki Tojo also has been unemployed since the surrender.

McNutt to Quit at Manila, Hints Early Bases Accord

MANILA, Feb. 22 (AP).—American Ambassador Paul V. McNutt said today that he will resign soon and he indicated an early agreement on American military bases in the Philippines.

In a Washington's Birthday speech to students of Far Eastern University, McNutt said that after completing "a number of pending matters" he would return to private law practice in the United States.

"I expect you will hear of some of those matters within a short time," he said. Besides the question of bases, they were believed to include a pact of military assistance and agreements permitting American agencies to operate in the Philippines to assist in a rehabilitation program.

McNutt compared President Manuel A. Roxas to George Washington as "one of the great apostles of liberty" in the early history of a freed country.

Manila, Feb. 22 (AP)—Paul V. McNutt said today that he would return to the United States soon to resign as Ambassador to the Philippines. This was believed to forecast early conclusion of an agreement on the United States military bases in the Philippines.

In a Washington's birthday address before students of Far Eastern University, McNutt said that when he accepted the ambassadorship he had not expected to stay more than a month or two. However, he added, "I heeded the request of my Government to remain at my post until a number of critical questions were disposed of.

"I expect you will hear of some of those matters within a short time."

Compares Roxas, Washington

Matters involved, besides the granting of bases to the United States, were believed to include a pact of military assistance between the two countries and a number of bilateral agreements permitting the United States Federal agencies to operate in the republic to further the rehabilitation program.

McNutt compared President Manuel Roxas to General Washington as "one of the great apostles of liberty" in the early history of a freed country.

Upholds Drive On Huks

The Ambassador defended Roxas's use of force against Hukbalahap armed peasants, comparing it with Washington's action against the whisky rebellion of Pennsylvania farmers.

Answering criticism by opposition leaders that the Roxas administration was influenced too much by American advisers, McNutt declared that Washington was not afraid to accept the help of men like Kosciuszko, von Steuben and Lafayette.

Record Imports in Manila

MANILA, Feb. 22 (AP)—The Philippines Collector of Customs reported today the Port of Manila handled a record 200,000 tons of import cargo in January, three times the pre-war volume for the same period.

Philippines To Buy Eight Church Estates

Manila, Feb. 22 (AP)—The Philippine Government will acquire eight large estates owned by the Roman Catholic Church in Manila and central Luzon Sunday in the most important step taken so far to implement President Roxas's agrarian reform policy.

The Republic will pay $2,865,000 for the properties—about 50 per cent of current market value. The lands will be sold to present tenants on an installment basis.

The Manila Evening News said that at the request of Archbishop of Manila Michael J. O'Doherty, the Government will drop all pending civil court cases involving church properties.

REVITALIZED FLEET STARTS WAR GAMES

Pearl Harbor, Feb. 22 (A. P.).—The powerful United States Pacific Fleet—declared by its chief to be again fully operative—began taking positions today for its first full-dress post-war maneuvers.

Admiral John H. Towers, commander of the Pacific Fleet, said that his forces had recovered from the jolt of swift demobilization and were ready for next week's battle games. While the fleet is not yet at peak efficiency, Towers declared that with "operations such as these," it would not take long to bring the fleet back to battle efficiency.

As the Admiral spoke, his warships already were on the move across thousands of miles of the Pacific. Task Force 38, built around the carriers Princeton and Tarawa, were assembling at Kwajalein. The first task fleet units, led by the carrier Boxer, were scheduled to begin moving out of West Coast ports today and Sunday.

The two forces will maneuver against each other and then unite for a simulated attack on Pearl Harbor about March 10.

These maneuvers," said Towers, "will go a long way toward getting us started regaining the ground lost since demobilization. The exercises will be of tremendous value to tens of thousands of armed forces personnel, not only for those at sea but for those ashore who will have an active part in the games."

B-29 Believed Missing Is Located In Alaska

Ladd Field, Fairbanks, Alaska, Feb. 22 (AP)—An Army Air Forces B-29 Superfortress of the 46th Reconnaissance Squadron (long range photographic plane), reported missing yesterday, was found today to have made a forced landing at an undisclosed location. All aboard were reported safe.

The Army said the plane's last wireless message, heard by the station at Barrow, said the gasoline supply was running low and that a forced landing was probable.

Search planes took the air today from here and from Elmendorf Field, near Anchorage.

FRIGID FORCE ON TREK

14 in Alaska Unit to Travel 150 Miles in Five 'Weasels'

HEADQUARTERS, Task Force Frigid, Alaska, Feb. 17 (AP) (Delayed)—With daily air contact planned and arrangements for medical evacuation by helicopter if necessary, fourteen members of Company "E," 505th Parachute Infantry, left today on a 150-mile overland trek through the frozen wilderness.

The party, traveling in five "weasels," was in command of Capt. Charles E. LaChausee of Alexandria, Va. One two-ton sledge, carrying supplies for ten days afield, was being towed.

Captain LaChausee said that his men would carry on exploration and reconnaissance to determine feasibility of overland travel in subarctic wooded areas. The shelter will be a lightweight pyramidal tent, heated by a yukon stove, and the trip was expected to take five days.

Aerial reconnaissance showed that the most difficult going might be near Clear Creek, where large stretches of open water and marsh not frozen over will be encountered.

Test Nazi Circuit Breaker

Device Seized From Germans Works Well at 2,000 Amperes

VANCOUVER, Wash., Feb. 22 (AP).—An air-blast circuit breaker, seized from the Germans, underwent preliminary tests on Bonneville power lines early today and functioned so smoothly that a flicker of lights in the area was almost imperceptible.

The breaker let loose a sharp blast and brilliant flash when the line to which it was connected was short-circuited at Chehalis, 100 miles north of here. Had it failed to work, engineers said, service would have been disrupted briefly throughout much of this area.

S. E. Schultz, Bonneville chief engineer, said the German device, built on a new design, met designers' claims in breaking a 230,000-volt current at 2,000 amperes. What it will do when 8,500 amperes are put on the line tonight and Sunday remains to be seen, he said.

DEADLINE SET IN HEARINGS ON LILIENTHAL

Testimony to Conclude Wednesday—Lehman and Fosdick Back Him

Washington, Feb. 22—(AP)—A Wednesday deadline was set today for hearing additional witnesses on David E. Lilienthal's qualifications to head the Atomic Energy Commission and the fight headed to the first-round bell.

The Senate Atomic Committee which has been holding hearings for four weeks may decide then whether to report the nomination of Lilienthal and the other commission members favorably or unfavorably. The decisive second round will follow on the Senate floor.

Committee Chairman Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) set the Wednesday deadline and said he would like to end the hearings Monday.

Two more national figures—former Gov. Herbert L. Lehman of New York and Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick of New York, religious leader—gave public support to Lilienthal today in telegrams to Senator Wagner (D-N. Y.). Two more Democratic senators—Chavez of New Mexico and Taylor of Idaho—announced they will vote to confirm Lilienthal and the other nominees of President Truman who have been holding their important posts under interim appointments.

Lehman urged "prompt confirmation of David E. Lilienthal and the other men nominated as members of the Atomic Energy Commission."

Fosdick Sees 'Grudge'

Dr. Fosdick said that if the Senate should refuse such action it would be "a national disgrace." He added that the "main motive for attack" is a "political grudge hiding behind utterly unfounded accusations concerning Communism."

The committee spent two and one-half hours today hearing Kenneth Cameron, 33-year-old government economist and former messenger in the Tennessee Valley Authority, deny reports of Communist activities in the TVA when Lilienthal was its chairman.

Cameron denied in detail testimony of previous witnesses that he was a member of the Communist party or a fellow-traveler.

Hickenlooper said the committee had been unable to locate one witness sought by Senator McKellar (D-Tenn.), a Mrs. Muriel Borah Williams, identified by several witnesses as a leader of Communist activities at TVA.

Friends Expect Lilienthal Win Despite Taft

Washington, Feb. 22 (AP)—Supporters of David E. Lilienthal for confirmation as chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission expressed confidence today he will win despite a blast from one of the Senate's top Republicans, Robert A. Taft, of Ohio.

Taft announced he is going to vote against Lilienthal because he considers him a "power-hungry bureaucrat" who is "temperamentally unfitted" for the position and "too soft on issues connected with communism and Soviet Russia."

M'Mahon Voices Confidence

Senator McMahon (D., Conn.), a member of the Atomic Energy Commission which is considering the former TVA head's nomination, commented:

"While I recognize Senator Taft's influence and power as chairman of the Republican policy committee, I do not believe his stand will be persuasive with respect to his colleagues in the face of the record of the hearing, which demonstrates Mr. Lilienthal's complete suitability."

Two Democratic senators—Taylor, of Idaho, and Chavez, of New Mexico—announced their support for Lilienthal today.

$7,600,000,000 Seen Total For Jap Budget

Tokyo, Feb. 22—(AP)—Finance Ministry sources predicted today that Japan's budget for 1947-48 would approach the "staggering figure" of 115,000,000,000 yen (more than $7,600,000,000), Kyodo News Agency reported.

Among major expenditures listed were 27,000,000,000 yen for emergency public works, 10,000,000,000 yen for increased wages for government workers, and 20,000,000,000 yen for subsidies.

Taxes were expected to bring in 60,000,000,000 yen.

nominee by Senator McKellar (D., Tenn.), are "small potatoes—that's the best term we have for it out in Idaho."

Scientist Albert Einstein also has given his support to Lilienthal.

"In my opinion," said Einstein, "great damage has been done already by the machinations that have jeopardized Lilienthal's confirmation."

Taft said Lilienthal was a member of a group which was "soft on the subject of communism," and added: "Members of this group were not Communists, but like the CIO they accepted the Communist assistance."

Two Unaccounted For

Taft was the third Republican Senate official to go on record against Lilienthal. Floor Leader White (Maine) and the party whip, Wherry (Neb.), previously announced their decisions to vote against him.

This left two other Republicans unaccounted for. Both of them—Vandenberg, of Michigan, and Millikin, of Colorado—are members of the committee considering the nomination. Neither has indicated how he is going to vote.

Vandenberg, however, read the committee a letter from Dr. Karl T. Compton, president of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, urging prompt approval of all the commission nominees.

munists, or fellow - travelers.

Story of Ouster.

Cameron told the committee that he took an active part in the successful ouster of James L. Smith as chief of the TVA central files section. Smith has testified that he was ousted as the result of a Communist plot, and named Cameron and others as responsible.

"There were no Communists or persons I considered fellow-travellers in the union in central files at that time," Cameron declared at one point. Hickenlooper broke in to ask about Henry Hart, former TVA worker who told the committee that he had been a Communist for a brief time.

Cameron said that he roomed with Hart and knew that his roommate held Marxist views, was sympathetic to Russia, and read the Daily Worker, Communist paper, but did not know that he was a Communist.

Washington, Feb. 22 (A. P.).—Kenneth Cameron, 33-year-old governmental economist, told Senators today that previous testimony about widespread communistic activity in the Tennessee Valley Authority was false and inaccurate.

Cameron, former TVA messenger and research assistant, appeared as a volunteer witness before the Senate Atomic Committee considering the nomination of David E. Lilienthal and others for the Atomic Control Commission. The witness ran into critical questions from Chairman Hickenlooper (R.-Iowa) and Senators Connally (D.-Tex.), and Edwin C. Johnson (D.-Col.), about his close association with other TVA employees who have been described as Com-

Compromise Accepted On Tariff Revisions

In general, these officials said, the changes will follow the recommendations of Senators Vandenberg (R-Mich.) and Millikin (R.-Colo.).

In the wake of Republican demands for broad revision of the trade agreements program, and for a holiday in agreement-writing until the G. O. P.-controlled Congress can write a new tariff policy, Vandenberg and Millikin have been working with Undersecretary of State Will Clayton toward a compromise.

Acceptance of the Vandenberg-Millikin revisions, in an effort to obtain Republican backing for administration economic policy abroad, had been generally predicted.

Clayton was understood to have carried the compromise proposal to the White House yesterday for President Truman's approval.

Officials expected executive orders putting it into force to be issued soon, perhaps early next week.

The principal change reported would provide for public hearings by the Tariff Commission on any duty cuts agreed to by State Department negotiators. In the hearings the Commission would obtain industry views for a recommendation to the White House. The actual decision on whether to make the proposed tariff cuts, however, would be up to the President—not to the Commission.

State Department officials also were reported to have accepted a Vandenberg-Milliken proposal for inclusion of "escape clauses" in all future trade pacts. The Administration's intention to do that, however, had been announced months ago. Under such clauses, which already have been written into some of the agreements, the United States can get out of any tariff-cutting arrangement that proves a hardship to Americans.

The Tariff Commission is an independent agency set up by law to provide factual information to Congress and the President on import duties.

White House and State Department Reported Agreeing to Changes—Commission Gets Review Powers Over Import Cuts Under Reciprocal Pacts

Washington, Feb. 22—(AP)—Officials closely connected with the reciprocal trade agreements program said tonight that the Administration has agreed to changes which will give the Tariff Commission review powers over cuts in import taxes under such agreements.

Economy-U.N. Test Due On Relief Bill

Washington, Feb. 22 (AP)—President Truman's request for a $350,000,000 foreign relief appropriation set the stage today for an early test of how far an economy-bent Congress will go in backing up United Nations commitments with funds and food.

The initial reaction on Capitol Hill was favorable. It was prompted, at least in part, by the Administration's decision to part relief work company with its wartime UNRRA associates.

The House Foreign Affairs Committee ordered hearings on a measure authorizing the appropriation soon after the appeal reached Congress yesterday. Committee approval, with likely limitations on where and how the money is spent, is deemed a certainty.

Taber Raises Question

The real hurdle will come when a bill to set aside the money reaches the Appropriations Committee, whose Republican members are fighting to slash President Truman's $37,500,000,000 budget.

"It seems to me that in the two years since the war has ended something should have been done to get these liberated people back on their feet and at work," Chairman Taber (R., N.Y.) of the appropriations group said.

Chairman Eaton (R., N.J.) of the Foreign Affairs Committee already has introduced a bill requiring countries which receive relief to:

1. Guarantee distribution without discrimination as to race, creed or political belief.

2. Permit representatives of the United States Government, press and radio "to observe freely and report fully" on distribution and utilization of the relief.

3. Furnish the United States with prompt information on the use, distribution, importation and exportation of any supplies affecting their needs.

The United States led the United Nations Assembly fight to put post-UNRRA relief work on a nation-to-nation basis. As major contributor to UNRRA, this country prevailed despite strong Soviet opposition.

Russ Influence An Issue

That opposition appeared to stem chiefly from Russian fear that the United States would channel its relief away from Soviet-dominated areas.

It is on this point that a struggle may develop before the $350,000,000 wins approval. Some congressmen have served notice that they intend to spell out the countries to be aided.

Senator McClellan (D., Ark.) declared: "There are a lot of countries on which I wouldn't spend one dime—Russia, for example, or any of her satellite countries."

In the House, there have been repeated demands to withhold assistance from Poland until she complies with pledges to hold free elections.

SENATORS ROW OVER SUM FOR DEBT PAYMENT

Backers of Plan to Apply 3 Billions of Budget Cut Stand Pat.

REJECT COMPROMISE BID

Taft Turned Down on Suggestion 2 Billions Be So Earmarked to Permit Tax Slash.

Washington, Feb. 22 (A. P.).—Advocates of applying to the Federal debt $3,000,000,000 of any saving made by a slash in President Truman's budget rejected compromise overtures today by Senator Taft (R.-Ohio).

Taft told a reporter he is willing to support writing a $2,000,000,000 debt retirement pledge into whatever resolution the Senate votes on Monday for reducing the President's $37,500,000,000 spending estimate. The Senate resolution is expected to call for a $4,500,000,000 budget cut.

But Senator Knowland (R.-Cal.), chief sponsor of the move to guarantee the $3,000,000,000 debt payment, said that he isn't in a compromising mood.

When the House voted earlier in the week a promise to lop $6,000,000,000 off Mr. Truman's request, it provided only that a portion of any spread between Government income and outgo should be channeled back into the Treasury to meet previous obligations.

Will Affect Tax Cut.

The amount that goes to debt reduction will vitally affect the sum available for proposed income tax decreases. Senator Green (D.-R. I.) moved yesterday to prevent any tax cuts, proposing that the Senate require all surplus revenues to be applied on the debt.

Taft reiterated his determination that at least $3,500,000,000 should be left to cut income taxes an aggregate of 20 per cent. He said that if the Senate votes to hold budget cuts to $4,500,000,000, the resulting $33,000,000,000 budget pledge would be $6,000,000,000 less than expected income.

The Ohio Senator said that he is willing to see a minimum of $2,000,000,000 of that amount applied on the debt, but that he doesn't want so big a payment made that the deflationary effects will be felt too strongly and too rapidly.

Knowland, counting on substantial Democratic support, asserted that tax reductions ought to take second place.

The tax question took a back seat in Senate debate yesterday to bipartisan contentions that the House-approved pledge of a $6,000,000,000 cut would damage American prestige abroad by reducing this country's military strength.

SENATE PLANS TO DELVE INTO RFC DEALINGS

Full Inquiry, First to Face Agency, Coming, Declares Tobey

Washington, Feb. 22—(AP)—A complete Senate inquiry into the varied multi-billion dollar lending operations of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation—the first ever undertaken—was promised today.

Chairman Tobey (R-N. H.) of the Senate Banking Committee told a reporter it will take place before the group considers extension of RFC lendings authority now due to expire June 30.

"We want to know what they have done, how they have done it and what they propose to do," Tobey said.

He added that Jesse Jones, former Federal loan administrator, may be invited to tell of past observations. The Texas banker was the leading figure in RFC operations under the late President Roosevelt during the New Deal and the war.

Although the RFC was first set up in 1932 under former President Hoover and has been extended and expanded many times since, it never has been subjected to a full-dress Congressional inquiry.

"We will need all the information we can get before we decide if the RFC is to continue and to what extent," Tobey said.

There have been some suggestions that the powerful loan agency be made a permanent part of the Government machinery.

LABOR BOTTLENECK FEARED IN HOUSING

Creedon Predicts Lower Costs in Building for '47 but Says Manpower May Be Short

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22 (AP) — Housing Expediter Frank R. Creedon predicted tonight the 1947 housing effort would find building costs lower but might hit a "major bottleneck" in a shortage of labor.

Mr. Creedon, in a final report on the 1946 housing drive run by his predecessor, Wilson Wyatt, said that 1,003,600 new dwellings were started and 661,900 completed, and that the housing industry was almost completely reconverted "to a peacetime basis."

For 1947 he predicted 1,000,000 new homes started and an equal number completed in a "big construction year" to be marked by continued improvement of the materials shortages.

There should be further relaxation of building controls, Mr. Creedon said, adding:

"It is expected that lower building costs will result from greater efficiency in construction and production.

"If the volume of new construction in 1947 approximates $15,000,000,000 as the Department of Commerce estimates, labor shortages may well become the major bottleneck in the housing program.

"It is generally expected that labor requirements this year will outstrip last year's demand considerably. The result will probably be more numerous and more serious craft shortages than in 1946."

Of the 661,900 completions last year, two-thirds were new permanent houses and apartments. The record was given as follows:

New permanent units, 670,900 begun, 453,800 completed; Federal temporaries, 191,000 begun, 101,900 completed; trailers, 48,000 begun, 48,000 shipped; temporaries financed by schools and local governments, 29,200 begun, 12,900 finished; conversions of existing structures, 64,500 begun, 45,300 finished.

The last figure covers residences remodeled to provide new rental rooms or apartments. It is sharply lower than previous estimates of the expediter's office, which had 50,000 completed in the first ten months of 1946 alone.

The report does not cover "conversions" which depleted the housing supply. The National Association of Real Estate Boards estimates 120,750 residences have been rebuilt into stores or offices since 1942.

The average sales price of new houses last year was $7,500 and the average monthly rental $59, Mr. Creedon said, adding, "a large portion of new housing was too expensive for many veterans."

The report indicated that the December decline in new housing construction continued through January. Although it gave no figures on the number of dwellings started, it showed that the dollar value of residential work actually done totaled $325,000,000, or 8 per cent under December.

"Virtually complete reconversion of the construction industry to a peacetime basis was achieved in 1946," the report continued.

"Private financing, which was severely curtailed during the war years, accounted for 78 per cent of total new construction, whereas during the war private funds had accounted for little more than one-fifth of the total."

The greatest disappointment was in the drive for factory-built, prefabricated homes. Prefabricators shipped only 37,200 units, as against an original goal of 250,000. Shortage of materials was the basic cause, Mr. Creedon said.

BOXCAR LACK TIGHTENS GRIP ON INDUSTRIES

Business Executives To Confer With Officials On Relief Plan

Washington, Feb. 22 (AP)—The worst boxcar shortage in twenty years slowly tightened its throttling grip on American industry Saturday as representatives of the nation's railroads, steel companies, rail-car builders, and Government agencies sought some solution to the critical situation.

The consensus in most quarters was that more new cars are needed to bring any real relief. And railroad spokesmen predicted the situation would get worse before it improves.

Conference Wednesday

Chairman Reed (R., Kan.) of a Senate Commerce subcommittee, which has been holding hearings on the shortage, called a conference of industry executives and Government officials in Washington for next Wednesday in an attempt to work out a plan to obtain 10,000 new boxcars a month.

The railroads have ordered 88,000 cars which still are undelivered. They claim cars are wearing out and being retired at the rate of 2,500 to 4,000 a month. However, only 2,408 cars were produced in January.

Under a previous arrangement worked out with steel companies, box-car makers and the Civil Production Administration, this output was scheduled to swell to 7,000 cars by April.

Only Part Of Story

However, this is only part of the story. Railroad spokesmen in Chicago said if there was any chance of getting them, a lot more than the 88,000 cars on order would be sought. These sources point to expanding industrial production and a record winter wheat crop harvest expected in the spring and summer as further prospective burdens for the already overtaxed transportation facilities available.

The almost unprecedented demand for steel is the crux of the boxcar shortage. Some railroad sources contend that, at the expense of the rail-car makers, the steel mills have concentrated on filling demand for high-grade steel for automobiles, refrigerators, washing machines, and a mass of other consumer goods.

Cut In Percentage

Last year the railroads, which normally take seventeen per cent of the nation's steel output, got 7.2 per cent. And the railroads say that their available equipment is old and wearing out much faster than before the war.

Meanwhile, the effects of the boxcar shortage continued to pyramid. From many sections of the country came reports of cuts in manufacturing output and employment, overflowing warehouses, shutdowns of flour mills, and drastic curtailment of newspaper advertising space because of a newsprint scarcity.

No estimates were available on the tonnage of freight tied up at warehouses and loading platforms, but some cities reported a critical situation.

Products Piled On Ground

The Pittsburgh (Pa.) Chamber of Commerce estimated the car shortage at 51 per cent of normal for the last half of January, with some firms piling their finished products on the ground because of the lack of additional warehouse space.

In South Dakota, C. J. Anderson, chairman of the Wagner Chamber of Commerce, said "millions" of bushels of that state's corn and grain faced the threat of rot unless boxcars were made available. In an appeal to that state's congressional delegation for early relief, he said one county alone had more than 4,000,000 bushels of corn and 7,000,000 of other grains on the farms with more than half on the ground.

Flour Mills Closed

Some flour mills have closed in Ohio and Illinois and others reported production down 40 per cent. The American Steel and Wire Company's North Chicago (Ill.) plant closed down until Tuesday because of the shortage of tankcars for shipping bottled gas used for heating and treating wire. Ohio lime plants, which turn out most of the country's building lime, were down to 40 per cent of capacity.

Daily newspapers in several cities dropped advertising or reduced the number of pages because of the newsprint shortage.

Further Cut Seen

The Birmingham (Ala.) News and Age-Herald have been limiting advertising space to 60 per cent of normal since January 17 and threatened a further cut unless newsprint shipments approach a normal level. The Washington Star "urgently requested" its advertisers to reduce their space.

Existing or planned space curtailments also were announced by the Detroit (Mich.) News, the Quincy (Mass.) Patriot-Ledger, the Raleigh (N.C.) News and Observer, the Danbury (Conn.) Times, and the Miami (Fla.) Herald and Daily News.

Five hundred sawmills in the interior of British Columbia faced the possibility of a prolonged shutdown, making 10,000 workers idle.

Not All Areas Suffer

Although the boxcar shortage was felt in all parts of the country, the following areas reported no important shutdowns or critical freight pileups as yet:

New York, Denver, New Orleans, Omaha, San Francisco, Kansas City, the Pacific Northwest and Texas Panhandle.

Senator Reed has estimated the railroads were suffering from a shortage of 100,000 cars, but some suggestions have been made designed to speed new car production or permit more efficient utilization of present facilities.

R. E. Clark of the Association of American Railroads said efforts are being made to work out an arrangement whereby box cars now moving west empty can carry loads.

Boxcar Shortage, Cramping Industry, Adds To Tight Newsprint Picture

Newsprint Held Up

Senator Capehart (R-Ind.), chairman of a Senate newsprint subcommittee, said in Chicago he had called a meeting in Washington next Wednesday and invited presidents of major railroads and steel companies to attend. The group will discuss "means of alleviating the boxcar shortage" to facilitate shipment of newsprint, he said.

The railroads have ordered 88,000 cars which still are undelivered. They claim cars are wearing out and being retired at the rate of 2,500 to 4,000 a month. U. S. to Get More Sugar in 1947

Accepts Division of World Supply Assuring Americans 17-lb. Increase This Year.

Washington, Feb. 22 (A. P.).—The United States accepted today a division of the world sugar supply for 1947 which will give Americans an increase of about seventeen pounds apiece over last year.

This country's share of the world's export supply, coupled with its own production, will provide a per capita supply of about ninety pounds of refined sugar this year. Consumption last year was seventy-three pounds, while usage in the pre-war period was about ninety-seven pounds.

The allocation was made last night by the International Emergency Food Council, and intergovernmental agency representing more than twenty nations, charged with the responsibility of apportioning scarce foods among the nations of the world.

More Candy to Result.

The United States was granted 6,800,000 short tons, raw value, of a total world export supply of 14,986,000 tons. (The refining process diminishes raw sugar about 7 per cent.) This, compared with 5,433,000 tons alloted this country last year and with an average annual pre-war consumption of 6,700,000 tons.

Of the 1947 per capita supply of ninety pounds, individual consumers probably will get thirty-five pounds through ration stamps and the remaining fifty-five pounds in the form of candy, bakery products, other foods, soft drinks and similar products.

Last year the individual consumer ration allowance was twenty-five pounds.

Division of the domestic supply among various classes of users will be made by the Department of Agriculture and the Office of Price Administration, providing, of course, these agencies obtain congressional authority and funds to continue rationing. The rationing authority will expire on March 31 unless Congress approves a request by President Truman that it be continued until the end of this year.

How Ratio Was Fixed.

In dividing the world export supply among twenty-four principal importing nations, the Food Council adopted the rule of granting each enough to allow a per capita consumption at least 75 per cent of the pre-war figure.

Exceptions to this rule were allocations to the United States, Canada and Great Britain, which will receive enough to allow about 90 per cent of pre-war usage.

30.24-8061

The United States allocation includes 1,760,000 tons from domestic production, 3,146,000 from Cuba, 894,000 from Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands, 800,000 from Hawaii and 200,000 from other sources to be determined later.

Farms in U. S. AreSeenFacing Fertilizer Lack

Steelman Says Shortages Already Are Appearing; Food Price Rise Feared

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22 (AP).—John R. Steelman, Presidential assistant, reported tonight that there will not be enough fertilizer to meet the demands of American farmers this year despite all government efforts.

"Serious regional shortages have already begun to appear," said his statement on the inter-agency fertilizer program, a report which placed fertilizer in the first rank of Federal problems.

Amid the scarcity, the Army has been directed to cut down its production of nitrogen fertilizer in ordnance plants, Mr. Steelman announced, because of the shortage of railroad tank cars which are needed also for other products.

Five plants will be closed and the Army's output reduced from 88,000 tons of ammonium nitrate monthly to 65,000 tons. The plants are Missouri Ordnance, Louisiana, Mo.; Holston Ordnance, Kinsport, Tenn.; Wabash River, Clinton, Ind.; Cornhusker Ordnance, Grand Island, Neb., and Milan Arsenal, Milan, Tenn.

The Army has been producing fertilizer for the occupied countries.

Mr. Steelman said American famers will use twice as much fertilizer this year as in 1935-'39, and the output of commercial fertilizer nitrogen will hit an annual rate of 673,000 tons by May—three times the rate of 1940.

"But even the unprecedented supply of fertilizer that will be available in this country will not be large enough to satisfy all domestic demands," Mr. Steelman reported.

Air-Ground Teamwork In Georgia Maneuvers

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22 (AP).—New foot soldiers will learn at maneuvers in Georgia this spring how the war-developed infantry-air force combination works in battle.

The Army Air Forces announced tonight that a tactical air-indoctrination course for men from eight Army schools will be conducted by the 9th Air Force at Lawson Field, Fort Benning, Ga., from Monday through May 3.

Because a growing percentage of infantry troops are youngsters who entered the Army after the end of the recent war, they are inexperienced in the technique of air support and air-borne operations used in all theaters in the war.

The course will include tactical demonstrations employing fighter planes, including jet-propelled craft (something veterans of the recent war never saw in action), high and low-level bombing, a rocket attack on an armored column, airplane-distributed smoke screens, troop carrying by air and the removal of wounded and resupply of forces in the field by gliders.

TerminalLeavePayments More Than Half Issued

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22 (AP).—The government has now sent out almost two-thirds of the amount it figures G.I. terminal leave pay will cost this fiscal year, and more than half of the entire total.

Treasury records disclosed today that former soldiers, sailors, marines and Coast Guardsmen have received more than $1,127,500,000 in bonds and checks to make up for leave time they failed to get in service.

Bonds are still streaming out through the mail to millions of ex-servicement the country over at a rate of more than $9,000,000 a day, and checks at about $650,000 a day.

Several bills are pending in Congress to make the bonds instantly cashable, at the option of the holder. They bear 2½ per cent interest a year and now cannot be cashed for five years.

The government originally figured G.I. terminal leave would cost $2,300,000,000 in bonds and cash this fiscal year, which ends June 30, but later cut that estimate to $1,900,000,000. It expects to complete the payments in the next fiscal year with another $250,000,000 outlay.

The payments got under way in October and hit a peak in December. Since then they have eased off slightly.

Atcheson Cites Japan's Need

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22 (AP).—Ambassador George Atcheson jr., political adviser to General Douglas MacArthur, said tonight Japan needs economic assistance so she can be self-supporting and develop democratic practices. In a statement for the State Department's weekly broadcast, "Our Foreign Policy," Mr. Atcheson declared if the Japanese "can look to reasonable economic security—a fair living as well as a free political life—there is a good prospect that the objectives of the occupation can be achieved."

Russia Gives 'Polite Lend-Lease Gesture'

Washington, Feb. 22 (AP)—State Department officials today viewed as a "polite gesture" assurances they said Russia has given orally in Moscow that it is considering United States insistence on a settlement of the Soviet's lend-lease account.

The assurances, officials said, have been given Ambassador Walter Bedell Smith in the Soviet capital.

Press Officer Roger Tubby said, however, that "the Russians have not indicated at any time that they plan to negotiate with this Government concerning a settlement.

Not Even Pledge To Reply

Consequently, the Russian move, department officials said, is regarded here as a polite gesture and not even a commitment to reply to the series of American requests that Russia settle up its $11,000,000,000 wartime bill.

Final settlements have been reached or are under negotiation with several other countries.

The United States in several notes last year asked Russia to arrange for negotiations but received no formal reply.

Harriman to SpurHawaiiTrade

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22 (AP).—W. Averell Harriman, Secretary of Commerce, announced today that George Gunn jr., of Seattle, is en route to Hawaii to study means of stimulating trade between the territory and continental United States. Mr. Gunn, president of the Kirsten Pipe Company, is making the trip as a special adviser to the Commerce Department, Harriman said.

Faked Passports Ring Believed Operating Here

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22 (AP).—An inquiry to determine whether a New York ring is supplying foreign agents with faked passports will be undertaken soon by the House Committee on un-American Activities.

Representative Karl E. Mundt, Republican, of South Dakota, said today a subcommittee will go to New York soon to make the investigation. He emphasized that it will be only part of a broader mission which, he declared, must remain secret.

It was learned also that the committee plans to introduce legislation, probably early next week, to tighten up the immigration laws.

The two actions stemmed from the committee's recent investigation into the activities of Gerhart Eisler, a German-born, acknowledged Communist and described by J. Edgar Hoover, of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, as one of the party's most influential officials.

ISLAND PLANS OF U.S. STAND

United Nations Proposal Will Not Be Pressed

New York, Feb. 22 (AP)—In the face of Russian-British opposition, the United States will not demand immediate acceptance of its plan for placing the Japanese-mandated islands in the Pacific under a United Nations strategic trusteeship, informed sources said today.

Instead, Warren R. Austin, American delegate, was said to be ready to let the proposal stand once it has officially reached the floor of the Security Council and gone on the agenda. However, the United States will make it clear that it intends to remain on the islands.

The American request that the vast chains of Marshalls, Carolines and Marianas be designated a strategic area under United States administration will go before the Security Council next Wednesday.

Held Essential To Security

Great Britain already has indicated it will renew objections to the plan. London contends that such a step is legally impossible until the Japanese peace treaty has been signed.

Preliminary Russian opposition also centered around the time element.

The United States considers the 623 islands essential to American security. The chains include such wartime bases as Saipan, Tinian, Truk, Eniwetok, Majuro and Kwajalein.

Acceptance of the strategic-area proposal would amount to virtual outright annexation. As administering authority, the United States would have rights to erect fortifications, ban foreign planes and close the islands for security reasons.

French Suggest Governor

On another Security Council problem—the selection of a governor for Trieste—the French suggested Pablo de Azcarate y Flores, who was a prewar Spanish Ambassador to London. He also served as assistant secretary general of the League of Nations and as chief of the League's minority section.

Azcarate is a Republican but has not held any official position in the present Spanish Government in exile.

Others which have been suggested include Gen. Henri Guisan, former commander in chief of the Swiss Army; Leif Egeland, South African Minister to the Netherlands; Alberto Lleras Camargo, former President of Colombia; Lieut. Gen. Bengt Gustafsson Nordenskjold, chief of the Swedish Air Force, and Alfred Emil Frederick Sandstrom, of Sweden, chairman of the bureau disposing of Axis holdings in Sweden.

Albanian Complaint Coming

The Security Council meets again tomorrow on the British mine-laying complaint against Albania. As the debate neared a decisive stage, three possible solutions were reported—find Albania responsible, refer the case to the International Court of Justice for legal opinion, or name a commission to study the evidence further.

The British demand an apology and compensation for loss of life and property in the damaging of two warships, with 44 deaths, last October 22 in the Corfu Channel off the Albanian coast.

Albania denied laying the mines and in turn accused British ships of invading territorial waters.

U.N. Set To Take Up U.S. Request On Islands

Lake Success, N.Y., Feb. 22 (AP)—Authoritative sources said today that the United Nations Security Council would take up next Wednesday America's request that the Japanese-mandated islands in the Pacific be placed under a United Nations strategic trusteeship.

Under the United States plan, the 623 islands—including the Marshalls, Carolines and Marianas—would be administered by the United States, which would be allowed to fortify them.

But whether the Security Council approves the plan or not, the United States Government has made it clear that she intends to keep this strategic chain of islands because she considers them essential to American security.

Trieste Governorship

Meanwhile, the Big Four of the Security Council—the United States, Britain, Russia and France—appeared to be near to naming a candidate for the governorship of Trieste—a tough police job.

An authoritative source who would not be identified said five representatives of small countries were being considered for the job. They are:

Gen. Henri Guisan, commander in chief of the Swiss Army from 1939 to 1945, considered the strongest man in Switzerland.

Leif Egeland, a South African of Norwegian parentage who is now South African Minister to the Netherlands.

Alberto Lleras Camargo, former president of Colombia and one-time Ambassador to the United States.

Lieut. Gen. Bengt Gustafsson Nordenskjold, chief of the Swedish Air Force.

Alfred Emil Frederick Sandstrom of Sweden, chairman of the bureau disposing of Axis holdings in Sweden.

More Candidates Possible

The Big Four representatives hope that the Governor can be named before March 1, but there is no deadline, it was said. The presentation of other candidates, sources said, is not ruled out.

None of the five men mentioned has been notified that he is being considered for the job, which was made when the four-power foreign ministers wrote the peace treaty for Italy.

American sources said that when the council meets next Wednesday the United States delegate, Warren R. Austin, will ask that the plan be placed on the council agenda. If there is discussion at that time on the issue, these sources said, Austin is prepared to state the United States position.

U.S. Interests Lie To West: M'Arthur

New York, Feb. 22 (AP)—The future interests of the United States, says Gen. Douglas MacArthur, "will lie as much to the West as to the East."

Even now, the situation is "badly out of balance," he added in a letter to Dr. Frank D. Fackenthal, acting president of Columbia University.

The letter was to express regret that he could not attend yesterday's exercises to receive an honorary doctor of laws degree along with ten other top military leaders.

Gearing Of Economy

"Since the birth of our republic," MacArthur wrote, "our economy for the most part, beyond our domestic needs, has been geared to supply the lanes of commerce leading from our Eastern shores, and our national defense largely has been planned against attack upon those shores.

"We now are badly out of balance. We must realize that our American interests, both from the standpoint of national security and economic progress, in future will lie as much to the West as to the East."

Secretary of State George C. Marshall, former Army chief of staff, accepted degrees in behalf of himself and the other Army leaders before an audience of 650.

Position In World

Marshall said the nation's immediate future depended largely on "the degree of understanding of what our position is in the world" which is brought to the minds of young men and women by Columbia and other universities.

Admiral Ernest J. King, speaking in behalf of the Navy leaders receiving degrees, said:

"The United States of America will enhance its endeavors to create a better world to the extent and in the degree that it is known that it is prepared to deal, and deal promptly, with those men and nations and their governments who obstruct or oppose the world aims and purposes of the United States and of the United Nations."

Degree For Arnold

Along with General MacArthur, Gen. Henry H. Arnold received a degree in absentia.

Those who appeared to receive degrees were Generals Marshall, Dwight D. Eisenhower, Alexander Vandegrift, Lewis Hershey and Norman Kirk, and Admirals King, Chester W. Nimitz, William F. Halsey and Emory S. Land.

FREE EXCHANGE OF INFORMATION HELD FAILURE

MacLeish Reports Efforts of U. N. Group Ending 'in Complete Frustration'

New York, Feb. 22—(AP)—Archibald MacLeish, U. S. representative to the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization, said today that a campaign for international freedom of information had ended in "apparent complete frustration."

MacLeish, former assistant secretary of state, spoke at an American Civil Liberties Union meeting devoted to panel discussions of "the critical issues of the democratic liberties."

World exchange of information has bogged down, MacLeish added, because it cannot be attained merely through words and because "a great many very honest people think that when we Americans talk about freedom of information we are thinking of ourselves."

He said residents of foreign countries distrusted America's vast communication powers, "the radio programs produced by advertising agencies in New York" and the "mass-produced day dreams" of this country's motion picture industry.

"They are afraid we will destroy the richness and variety of the several cultures of the world," he said.

MacLeish urged that a "positive" way of thinking replace the present attitude toward a free exchange of views and happenings and recommended that the United Nations be used as "an active, positive force" in international information.

The U. N. representative said the United States had undergone an "extraordinary deterioration of the will of peace." Not long ago, he added, talk of war with Russia was a subject to be avoided but "now almost anyone who feels inclined talks in direct or indirect terms of war" with the Soviet Union.

Russ Rockets Peril U.S., Legion Warns

New York, Feb. 22 (AP)—Paul Griffith, national commander of the American Legion, today accused Russia of firing rockets over Sweden "just to find out if those rockets could reach our cities of Chicago, Cleveland and Detroit" if dispatched from Spitzbergen.

The Legion chief, in a Washington's birthday address, said Russia "demands of Norway co-operative control of Spitzbergen, only 3,500 miles over the top of the Arctic to our own industrial cities of Chicago, Cleveland and Detroit."

Griffith said "with Russia overrunning the nations of Europe," America needs "the security of George Washington—security by strength" more than ever before.

EX-GI, PARISIAN WED AT LAST

Marriage Delayed By Rape Charge, Immigration Woes

New York, Feb. 22 (AP)—A French woman and the Missouri man whose wedding had been delayed by a rape charge, immigration troubles and New York's 72-hour law, won their week-long battle today, with some Big City Samaritans playing a part.

At 4.30 P.M., just one hour after the legal waiting period on their license expired, Mrs. Joseline Motte, 32, of Paris, and Drexel G. Chitty, 28, of Marysville, Mo., former soldier, were married at the home of Justice Rodman Richardson, of Queens Municipal Court.

Mrs. Motte, in a borrowed silk dress with flowers in her hair, and Chitty, in a business suit, were attended by Herman Wasserberger, who put up Chitty's $500 bail, and Mrs. Terry McCully.

Reception Is Held

After the ceremony they were rushed to Davy Jones' Locker, Long Island City restaurant operated by Mrs. McCully's husband, Joe, where a gay wedding reception was not a bit less gay because the bridegroom must go back to Missouri Monday to face a statutory rape charge.

"We're doing it because one poor little girl comes from France and nobody knows her," said McCully. "When our boys went to France they were nice to them. Now we're trying to treat one little French girl right."

The Chittys' troubles began when Drexel, waiting at LaGuardia Field in the truck he drove from Missouri, was arrested before Mrs. Motte's plane arrived from France.

Drexel Bailed Out

Drexel was later bailed out on the charge brought by a 15-year-old Marysville (Mo.) girl, but in the meantime immigration authorities had taken Joseline off the plane and hurried her to Ellis Island because of "irregularities" in her papers.

Finally an immigration hearing, with Drexel attending, cleared up that difficulty, and the couple applied for a marriage license. However, with officers from Missouri due the next day, the judge turned down their pleas for a waiver of the 72-hour wait.

The Missouri officials arrived on schedule, but authorities postponed until Monday the hearing, at which Drexel had promised to waive extradition.

'We Have No Genuine Peace,' Says Marshall

Princeton, N.J., Feb. 22 (AP)—Gen. George C. Marshall, Secretary of State, said today that " a strong lead and definite assistance from the United States will be necessary" if "democratic processes in many countries are to resume their functioning."

Speaking at a luncheon of the Princeton National Alumni Association after he had been awarded an honorary degree of doctor of laws by the university, Marshall said "we have had a cessation of hostilities, but we have no genuine peace."

He urged that the United States lend its aid, "if the productive facilities of the world are to be restored."

Tendency To Relax Noted

"Now that an immediate peril is not plainly visible, there is a natural tendency to relax and return to business as usual, pleasure as usual," he said.

Marshall said that many of our people are becoming indifferent "to the long-term danger of the nation's security" and generally have the attitude of spectators.

"Spectators of life are not those who will retain their liberty, nor are they likely to contribute to their country's security," he added.

Calling for a deeper understanding of history "that records the main events of what led to, created and destroyed great civilizations," and urging young people to take part in politics, the Secretary of State recalled that:

"Twenty-five years ago the people of this country, and of the world for that matter, had the opportunity to make vital decisions regarding their future welfare. I think we must agree that the negative course of action followed by the United States after the first World War did not achieve order or security and that it had a direct bearing upon the recent war and its endless tragedy."

35 Get Honorary Degrees

Besides Marshall, 34 others received honorary degrees.

Among those honored were Robert McLean, Princeton class of 1913, president of the Associated Press and publisher of the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin; A. Dayton Oliphant, New Jersey chancellor, and Chester I. Barnard, president of the New Jersey Bell Telephone Company, all receiving doctor of laws degrees. James Stewart, motion picture actor '32, and José Ferrer, '33, actor, producer and director, both received master of arts degrees.

MARSHALL GETS PRINCETON LL.D.

Cited for War and Peace Work—Others Honored.

Princeton, N. J., Feb. 22 (A. P.)—Secretary of State George C. Marshall received the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws at Princeton University today, after being cited as "chief architect of Allied military victory and now charged with the planning of world peace, a dual role breath-taking in its magnitude."

The secretary of State later was to deliver an extemporaneous address at the Princeton National Alumni Association's annual mid-winter luncheon.

An audience of more than 2,000 watched the convocation ceremony, in which degrees were awarded to Marshall and thirty-four other persons in varied fields of art, education and public service.

McLean Gets Degree.

Another degree of doctor of laws went to Robert McLean, Princeton class of 1913, who is president of the Associated Press and publisher of the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin.

McLean was cited as "a leader in the continuing struggle for a free press," as "publisher of a great metropolitan daily noted for its editorial independence," and as "head of the world's foremost news gathering organization with the heavy responsibility of collecting and distributing the news of the world with accuracy, responsibility and truth."

Marshall's citation, read by Princeton University orator, Walter E. Hope, lauded the Secretary of State for his work, first as a military leader and now as a peace planner, a double role which the citation said was "one rarely attained by a single individual."

"As he embarks on his new and critical undertaking, he possesses in full measure the faith and confidence of the American people—a faith and confidence based upon long observation of his simplicity, integrity, forceful ability, courage and selfless love of country. The country feels that its interests are safe in honest hands and its fervent hopes go with him," the citation concluded.

Actors Get Degrees.

Master of Arts degrees were presented to James Stewart, motion picture actor, of the Class of '32, and to Jose Ferrer, '33, actor, producer and director, who is currently appearing in the Broadway production "Cyrano de Bergerac."

Among New Jerseyans receiving the honorary degrees which were bestowed by Dr. Harold W. Dodds, Princeton president, were Chancellor Alfred Dayton Oliphant and Chester I. Barnard of Newark, president of the New Jersey Bell Telephone Company, both Doctor of Laws.

New Jersey Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll appeared in the academic procession.

Oliphant was honored as "eleventh chancellor of New Jersey and the eighth Princeton alumnus to occupy that State's highest judicial office since it was established a century ago to the task of maintaining the highest standards in the conduct of the Court of Chancery, he brings ability, experience, resourcefullness, and above all courage."

Leader in Industry.

Barnard was named as "a leader of American industry in whom is combined rare talent in corporate and public administration, a scholar's zeal in the search for truth, a pervading sense of responsibility in the solution of the social and economic problems facing our State and nation."

Of Moses, the citation said, "he needs no better monument than the incredible system of parks and parkways, playgrounds, beaches, bridges, which in the past decade have arisen in and around New York, as though by the touch of Alladin's lamp. Few men could have dreamed them, very few could have brought them toreality and future generations of children, not to mention their parents, should rise up and call him blessed."

Patterson Cites Washington's Advice To Keep Nation Strong

Mount Vernon, Va., Feb. 22 (AP). Robert P. Patterson, Secretary of War, recalled to the nation today the advice of George Washington to keep the United States so strong that "belligerent nations . . . will not lightly hazard giving us provocation."

Universal military training, Patterson said, is the answer.

Patterson spoke in ceremonies commemorating the two hundred and fifteenth anniversary of the birth of Washington.

President Truman, bareheaded in a chilling wind, stood silently as a bugler sounded "taps" at the snow-mantled tomb of George and Martha Washington. When the last note faded away, the President walked into the red brick vault and laid the wreath of red carnations.

"May Be Our Last Chance"

"The perfect example of the soldier and citizen," Patterson called Washington, deploring "our error in neglecting our great leader's advice" to maintain "suitable establishments" necessary for defense.

"We now have another chance to heed Washington's warning and to achieve, in world affars, the self-determination that he urged," the War Secretary continued. "It may be our last chance."

To keep America strong, Patterson urged universal military training—which Mr. Truman also advocates.

"Flintlock Over Mantelpiece"

"The duty to defend the nation in war is beyond challenge," Patterson said. "The duty to be ready to come to its defense when necessary follows logically.

"In 1797, a flintlock over the mantelpiece, a horn of dry powder and a few days in training might have been enough. To be ready in 1947, thorough training in the use of complex weapons has become basic to the individual soldier. Universal military training will provide that training."

President Truman and his party drove to Mount Vernon from Washington over roads glazed with snow and ice.

The presidential yacht Williamsburg had preceded them here, anchoring in the Potomac prior to a week-end cruise for Mr. Truman and his staff. A group of sea scouts did the honors as the President boarded a launch to take him to the Williamsburg.

To Unveil Statue In Cathedral

Tomorrow afternoon, the President will attend ceremonies at the unveiling of a new statue of Washington in the Washington Cathedral. It is a seven-foot-six-inch marble statue, showing Washington as a worshipper in church, rather than as a general or statesman.

The services at Mount Vernon, conducted by patriotic organizations, had their counterparts over the nation and in distant spots of the world.

O'Dwyer Hails Truman Role in Stabilizing U.S.

Tells Democrats in Kansas 'We Can Well Be Proud of Party's Achievements'

TOPEKA, Kan., Feb. 22 (AP).—Mayor William O'Dwyer, of New York, expressed "unalterable opposition" to restrictive labor legislation in a speech prepared for delivery tonight before Kansas Democrats at the party's annual Washington Day dinner.

Praising the work of the Division of Labor Relations, which he created last October in New York, Mayor O'Dwyer declared:

"We have proven in our city that in disputes which affect the general public and its welfare both management and labor will recognize their responsibility to the community to adjust peacefully their differences, if the public, on a purely voluntary basis, will share with the parties to the dispute the responsibility of reconciling the difference."

Mr. O'Dwyer said that it was to the "everlasting credit" of President Truman that "despite these trying times our country has already achieved a great measure of stability."

"We can well be proud of our party's achievements," he said. "United by a common faith in our nation, in our party, and in our party leadership, we can again look forward to a Democratic victory next year."

"There is no diversity of interest between the city and the plains," Mr. O'Dwyer said. "All of us—we in the East and you here in the Middlewest—are interested in establishing and preserving a healthy economy for our country and providing decent housing, adequate health and welfare facilities, so that our people and their children can live in peace, plenty and security."

At a press conference before the dinner Mayor O'Dwyer said he has heard but one name—that of President Truman—seriously mentioned as a Democratic candidate for the Presidency in 1948. He said that the Vice-Presidential situation in his party was much less clear.

Asked about his own availability for the office, Mr. O'Dwyer said: "There is one subject on which I can be definite. I was born in Ireland and am ruled out by the Constitution."

Art Prize Honors War Hero

Parents Establish Phillips Exeter Award in Son's Memory

EXETER, N. H., Feb. 22 (AP).—Mr. and Mrs. John A. Larkin, of New York, today established an art prize at Phillips Exeter Academy in memory of their son, John Adrian jr., a lieutenant killed in Germany a month before V-E Day.

Lieut. Larkin passed three years at Exeter, won one history and two Latin prizes and was a member of the wrestling squad. After graduation from Princeton he served overseas with the 898th Field Artillery Battalion of the 75th Division and posthumously received the Silver Star medal.

William G. Saltonstall, principal of the academy, said the income from $1,000 would be given each year to the student who does the best work in oil painting, pastels or watercolor.

Ickes Suggests Doubling Ad Rates to Save Paper

ATHENS, Ga., Feb. 22 (AP).—Harold L. Ickes, newspaper columnist and former Secretary of the Interior, advocated today the "rationing by price" of newspaper advertising as one method of combating a growing shortage in newsprint while still giving readers more news and editorial interpretations.

The suggestion was contained in an address he had prepared for delivery before the Georgia Press Institute before a throat infection forced cancellation of his appearance. Copies of the speech were distributed at the morning session, to which he was to have spoken.

"I propose that you double your advertising rates, at least for display advertising," Mr. Ickes said. He added that the result would not be a doubling of profits because "advertisers would take smaller ads and in this way you would save newsprint."

He declared the newsprint shortage could be eased also by controlled tapping of the rich forest resources of Alaska through Federal development, which he said he had advocated while Secretary of the Interior.

Philadelphia Honors Halsey

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 22 (AP)—Admiral William E. Halsey Jr., wartime commander of the Pacific Fleet, received today the Good Citizenship Medal of the Philadlphia Chapter, Sons of the American Revolution. In an acceptance speech he urged that the United States remain strong militarily to assure world peace.

B-29 Formation Off to Uruguay

SALINA, Kan., Feb. 22 (AP)—Maj. Gen. Charles F. Born, commander of the Fifteenth Air Force, led a formation of seven B-29 Superfortresses this morning from Smoky Hill Army Airfield for Monevideo, Uruguay. The planes will participate in inaugural ceremonies for Uruguay's President-elect, Tomas Berreta, March 1. Stops are scheduled for Florida, the West Indies and Brazil.

MRS. ROOSEVELT HITS REDS

Boston, Feb. 22—(AP)—Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt says that "the same tactics used by American Communists in this country have been used by Communists working with us in the United Nations." She told the Joint Council for International Co-operation last night that those tactics included their methods of delaying and obstructing measures they did not favor.

Mrs. Roosevelt was recently chosen chairman of the United Nations Commission on Human Rights.

NIGHT LEAD DEPUTY FOREIGN MINISTERS

BY JACK SMITH

LONDON, FEB. 22-(AP)-THE "LITTLE PEACE CONFERENCE" OF THE FOUR-POWER DEPUTY FOREIGN MINISTERS NEARED AN END TODAY WITH ONLY A FEW SHORT STEPS TAKEN DOWN THE ROAD TO FORMAL PEACE WITH GERMANY AND AUSTRIA.

THE SIX WEEK CONFERENCE ADJOURNS NEXT TUESDAY TO SUBMIT REPORTS TO THE COUNCIL OF FOREIGN MINISTERS, WHICH WILL ATTEMPT TO DRAW UP PACTS WITH GERMANY AND AUSTRIA IN MOSCOW NEXT MONTH.

TODAY THE DEPUTIES RECOMMENDED TO THEIR CHIEFTAINS THAT THE AUSTRIAN ARMY BE RESTRICTED TO APPROXIMATELY 50,000, AN AIR FORCE OF 90 PLANES BUT NO BOMBERS, AND AN ARMORED CORPS OF 30 TANKS. FORMER GENERALS OF GERMAN OR AUSTRIAN ARMIES WOULD BE BANNED FROM THE NEW ARMY.

MILLIONS OF WORDS HAVE BEEN EXCHANGED HERE. THE NET RESULT IS THAT MUCH OF THE AUSTRIAN TREATY HAS BEEN WRITTEN, AND PROBLEMS CONNECTED WITH THE GERMAN PACT HAVE BEEN EXPLORED. THAT LARGELY FULFILLS THE DEPUTIES' ASSIGNMENT.

SOME DISPUTED POINTS IN THE AUSTRIAN TREATY WILL BE REFERRED TO MOSCOW. BY STRICTEST INTERPRETATION OF INSTRUCTIONS TO THE DEPUTIES THAT DOES NOT CONSTITUTE FAILURE. THEY WERE ORDERED ONLY TO "PROCEED WITH THE PREPARATION OF A TREATY."

THREE MAIN POINTS OF DISAGREEMENT HAVE ARISEN OVER AUSTRIA:

1. YUGOSLAVIA'S CLAIM TO A LARGE PART OF THE AUSTRIAN PROVINCE OF CARINTHIA WAS SUPPORTED BY RUSSIA AND OPPOSED BY THE UNITED STATES, BRITAIN AND FRANCE. WESTERN DIPLOMATS BELIEVED RUSSIA WAS GIVING ONLY TOKEN SUPPORT TO YUGOSLAVIA AND WOULD BACK DOWN LATER.

2. RUSSIA SOUGHT MORE OF AUSTRIA'S "GERMAN ASSETS" THAN BRITAIN, FRANCE AND THE U.S. WERE WILLING SHE SHOULD HAVE. ALL AGREED THAT GERMAN ASSETS IN AUSTRIA MUST BE SURRENDERED TO THE ALLIES. THE PROBLEM WAS HOW TO IDENTIFY THEM, AND IT WAS A VITAL ONE FOR FINANCIALLY WEAK AUSTRIA.

3. RUSSIA WANTED AUSTRIA TO SURRENDER TO ANY ALLY, ON DEMAND, ANY DISPLACED PERSON ACCUSED BY ANY ONE OF THE ALLIES OF WAR CRIMES. THE UNITED STATES ASKED "SUBSTANTIAL EVIDENCE" OF GUILT TO BE SUBMITTED WITH THE DEMAND FOR EXTRADITION.

OTHER POINTS OF DISAGREEMENT GENERALLY WERE ON QUESTIONS OF PHRASING.

DEPUTIES FOR GERMANY, HANDLING FAR THE MORE COMPLEX PROBLEM, HAD BEEN TOLD TO HEAR THE SMALL NATIONS' VIEWS ON THE GERMAN PEACE AND TO "CONSIDER QUESTIONS OF PROCEDURE WITH REGARD TO THE PREPARATION OF A PEACE TREATY FOR GERMANY."

THE DEPUTIES WERE STILL STUDYING PROCEDURE, TRYING TO IMPLEMENT THEIR AGREEMENT ON THE PRINCIPLE THAT SMALL POWERS SHOULD BE ADVISED AND CONSULTED DURING THE PEACE MAKING.

STATEMENTS FROM THE SMALLER POWERS HAVE SHOWN, THOUGH IN SOMEWHAT BLURRY OUTLINE, A MEASURE OF AGREEMENT ON GERMANY'S FUTURE GOVERNMENTAL SYSTEM. more

POLAND, YUGOSLAVIA AND CZECHOSLOVAKIA FAVOR A CENTRALIZED GERMAN STATE. WHITE RUSSIA, SUGGESTING THE SOVIET VIEW, PLUMPED FOR A GOVERNMENTAL SYSTEM ON FEDERAL LINES, BUT WITH A STRONG CENTRAL GOVERNMENT. MOST OF THE WESTERN NATIONS CALLED FOR A FEDERAL GERMANY. UNTIL THE NATIONS DEFINE TERMS, HOWEVER, THERE WILL BE NO CLEAR PICTURE OF ANY OVERALL AGREEMENT OR DISAGREEMENT.

THE DEPUTIES WERE UNABLE TO AGREE TODAY ON AN EXACT MAXIMUM FIGURE FOR THE AUSTRIAN ARMY. RUSSIA THOUGHT 50,000 WOULD BE SUFFICIENT, WHILE THE UNITED STATES, FRANCE AND BRITAIN SUGGESTED 55,000.

BANNED FROM EVER SERVING IN THE NEW AUSTRIAN ARMY WOULD BE OFFICERS WHO HAD RECEIVED MORE THAN TWO PROMOTIONS IN THE GERMAN ARMY, AND INDIVIDUALS WHO WERE GERMAN NATIONALS BEFORE THE ANNEXATION OF AUSTRIA BY GERMANY IN 1938, OR WHO BELONGED TO NAZI ORGANIZATIONS SUCH AS THE SS OR GESTAPO.

THE DEPUTIES RECOMMENDED THAT ATOMIC WEAPONS BE BANNED TO AUSTRIA, AS WELL AS RESEARCH IN DEVELOPMENT OF MODERN WEAPONS.

FEODOR GOUSEV, THE SOVIET DEPUTY, ARGUED THAT AUSTRIA SHOULD BE OBLIGED TO MAKE ALL HER OWN WEAPONS FOR HER ARMY. GEN. MARK CLARK OF THE UNITED STATES OBJECTED THAT SUCH A REQUIREMENT WOULD MAKE IT NECESSARY FOR AUSTRIA TO REBUILD HER ARMAMENTS INDUSTRY AT THE EXPENSE OF NEEDED CIVILIAN MANUFACTURING.

THERE WAS INDICATION THAT THE OCCUPYING POWERS WOULD GET TOGETHER ON WITHDRAWAL OF THEIR FORCES 90 DAYS AFTER THE AUSTRIAN TREATY BECOMES EFFECTIVE. THE ALLIED CONTROL COMMISSION IN VIENNA WOULD CEASE FUNCTIONING ABOUT THE SAME TIME.

NIGHT LEAD COMMUNISTS

LONDON, FEB 22-(AP)-MUTTERINGS AROSE FROM THE RANKS TODAY AT THE BRITISH COMMUNIST PARTY'S 19TH NATIONAL CONGRESS OVER THE PARTY LEADERSHIP'S LINE FOR 1947--GENERAL SUPPORT OF THE LABOR GOVERNMENT AGAINST "TORYISM" DURING THE PRESENT INDUSTRIAL CRISIS.

"WE WANT NO SOCIAL DEMOCRATIC DEVIATIONS," A DELEGATE SHOUTED AT HARRY POLLITT, PARTY GENERAL SECRETARY.

IN A TWO HOUR ADDRESS POLLITT HAD LAID DOWN AN OFFICIAL ATTITUDE LIMITED TO DEMANDS FOR THE GOVERNMENT TO "REORGANIZE" TO BATTLE "MONOPOLISTS" AT HOME AND CHANGE ITS FOREIGN POLICY FROM "DEPENDENCE ON AMERICAN MONOPOLIST REACTION" TO ONE LOOKING TOWARD THE SOVIET UNION.

WILLIAM Z. FOSTER, CHAIRMAN OF THE AMERICAN COMMUNIST PARTY, ANOTHER OF THE DAY'S SPEAKERS, PREDICTED THAT THE UNITED STATES WOULD MEET WITH AN ECONOMIC CRISIS THAT "WILL SHAKE THE WHOLE CAPITALIST WORLD." HE SAID STRENGTH OF AMERICAN CAPITALISM WAS "COMPLETELY ILLUSORY."

AMENDMENTS SET DOWN FOR VOTE TOMORROW, ALONG WITH THE OFFICIAL POLICY RESOLUTION, INCLUDE ONE DECLARING THAT "BRITAIN'S COMING CRISIS CAN BE SOLVED ONLY BY A PROLETARIAN REVOLUTION."

DISCUSSIONS INSIDE THE HALL WERE ORDERLY BUT OUTSIDE POLICE BROKE UP A FIST FIGHT BETWEEN COMMUNISTS AND LEAFLET SELLERS OF THE ANTI-STALINIST "REVOLUTIONARY COMMUNIST PARTY" (TROTSKYITES). THE LATTER SAID THEY WOULD BE BACK TOMORROW.

BRITISH COMMUNISTS HAVE ONLY TWO MEMBERS OF PARLIAMENT, BUT THERE ARE 25 TO 30 SO-CALLED "CRYPTO COMMUNISTS," MEMBERS OF THE LABOR PARTY WHO ARE ACCUSED OFTEN OF FOLLOWING THE COMMUNIST PARTY LINE.

paris, feb. 22-(ap)-the ministry of the interior disclosed today that french police had uncovered a pro-german spy ring operating among collaborationists awaiting trial in fresnes prison near paris.

the ministry said the ring was forging identity cards to enable accomplices to go abroad. the communiue added that it also faked documents, in order to compromise officials of the fourth republid.-- documents which accused prominent french politicians with having contact with the germans during the nazi occupation.

the communique said french security police discovered that the head of this brain trust was andre cavailhe, ex-agent of adm. francois darlan, who worked later for german intelligence. he is at present detained at fresnes prison. the documents were passed outside the prison to be typewritten on german machines and secretly brought back to fresnes where the fake seals were added.

VENICE, ITALY, FEB 22-(AP)-BELIEF THAT MARTIN BORMANN, FORMER DEPUTY TO HITLER, IS ALIVE AND HIDING "IN URUGUAY, OR BRAZIL, OR PERHAPS IN SPAIN", HAS BEEN EXPRESSED BY LT.COL.ALEXANDER PATTERSON SCOTLAND, BRITISH INTELLIGENCE OFFICER.

SCOTLAND TESTIFIED YESTERDAY AT THE WAR CRIMES TRIAL OF FIELD MARSHAL ALBERT KESSELRING. QUESTIONED AFTERWARD CONCERNING REPORTS THAT BORMANN HAD BEEN KILLED ON A BERLIN BRIDGE IN MAY, 1945, WHILE ATTEMPTING TO ESCAPE FROM THE REICH CHANCELLORY, SCOTLAND SAID, "THAT IS THE STORY AND IT IS THE BEST STORY WE HAVE, BUT WE DO NOT ACCEPT IT. WE ARE CONVINCED BORMANN IS ALIVE."

THE BRITISH INTELLIGENCE OFFICER SAID THAT HE HAD NAMED SPAIN AND SOUTH AMERICAN COUNTRIES AS LIKELY HIDING PLACES BECAUSE "THAT WAS WHERE BORMANN SENT HIS MONEY AND THAT IS NATURALLY WHERE HE WOULD TRY TO HIDE OUT."

WARSAW, FEB. 22-(AP)-THE BRITISH EMBASSY STAFF WAS INVITED TO A WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY PARTY AT THE UNITED STATES EMBASSY TODAY BECAUSE, SAID AN EMBASSY SPOKESMAN, GEORGE WASHINGTON "WAS FIRST AN ENGLISHMAN AND THEN AN AMERICAN."

"AND," HE ADDED, "IT SHOWS THE SOLIDARITY BETWEEN BRITAIN AND AMERICA."

THE BRITISH AMBASSADOR, SIR VICTOR CAVENDISH-BENTINCK, HOWEVER, COULDN'T ATTEND THE PARTY. HE IS FLYING TO LONDON TODAY ON A PERSONAL MISSION.

FOR AMBASSADOR AND MRS. ARTHUR BLISS LANE, IT WAS A FAREWELL RECEPTION TO SOME 300 MEMBERS OF THE AMERICAN COLONY IN WARSAW AND POLISH EMPLOYES OF THE EMBASSY.

THE AMBASSADOR HAS BEEN CALLED TO WASHINGTON FOR CONSULTATIONS IN AN AFTERMATH OF THE JAN. 19 POLISH ELECTION, TO THE CONDUCT OF WHICH THE U. S. OBJECTED, AND IS NOT EXPECTING TO RETURN. HE AND HIS WIFE WILL LEAVE BY PLANE FOR LONDON MONDAY AND SAIL FROM SOUTHAMPTON ON THE QUEEN ELIZABETH NEXT FRIDAY.

WARSAW, FEB.22-(AP)-U.S.AMBASSADOR ARTHUR BLISS LANE TOLD A PARTY OF AMERICAN AND POLISH EMPLOYES CELEBRATING WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY AT THE EMBASSY TONIGHT THAT "ONLY THE FIRST CHAPTER HAS BEEN WRITTEN" IN THE HISTORY OF POST-WAR POLAND.

THE AMBASSADOR WHO IS RETURNING TO THE UNITED STATES MONDAY, SAID HE WAS LEAVING POLAND AT HIS OWN REQUEST AND THAT HE THOUGHT HE WOULD DO THE POLISH PEOPLE MORE GOOD ABROAD THAN HERE.

WASHINGTON, FEB 22-(AP)-UNDERSECRETARY OF WAR KENNETH C. ROYALL SAID TODAY A PRELIMINARY INVESTIGATION HAD NOT SUBSTANTIATED REPORTS THAT THE ARMY WAS ENGAGED IN SECRET WORK AT THE BLAST-DEMOLISHED O'CONNOR ELECTROPLATING PLANT IN LOS ANGELES.

ROYALL'S FINDINGS WERE CONTAINED IN A LETTER WRITTEN TO REP. HELEN GAHAGAN DOUGLAS (D-CALIF) WHO MADE IT PUBLIC.

MRS. DOUGLAS TOLD A REPORTER SHE HAD REQUESTED AN IMMEDIATE INVESTIGATION BY THE DEPARTMENT ON THE BASIS OF "REPEATED REPORTS" THAT THE ARMY HAD DONE SOME SECRET WORK AT THE PLANT.

ASSERTING THAT HE HAD BEEN "UNABLE TO DISCOVER ANY WAR DEPARTMENT CONTRACTS FOR WORK AT THIS PLANT," ROYALL SAID:

"IN THE EVENT THAT FURTHER INVESTIGATION REVEALS WAR DEPARTMENT ACTIVITIES IN THIS INSTALLATION, I WILL ADVISE YOU IMMEDIATELY.

"SOME SMALL WORK WAS DONE OCCASIONALLY BY THIS COMPANY FOR THE DOEHLER METAL FURNITURE CO., INC., OF NEW YORK CITY WITH WHOM THE QUARTERMASTER PROCURES METAL FURNITURE FOR THE VETERANS ADMINISTRATION. HOWEVER, THE DOEHLER METAL FURNITURE COMPANY INFORMED US THAT THIS COMPANY HAS DONE NO WORK FOR THEM IN THE PAST SIXTY DAYS."

THE $1,500,000 BLAST OCCURRED THURSDAY IN DOWNTOWN LOS ANGELES AND WAS REPORTEDLY CAUSED BY A MIXTURE OF PERCHLORIC ACID AND ACETIC ANYDRID.

FLEMING WILL CARRY HIS ARGUMENT TO THE SENATE APPROPRIATIONS COMMITTEE TUESDAY. HE SAID HE IS CONFIDENT THE HOUSE-APPROVED $9,000,000 CUT FOR OPA WOULD NOT STAND.

SHOULD THE OPA BE STRIPPED OF THESE FUNDS, HE CONTINUED IN A STATEMENT:

"1. VIOLATIONS OF THE RENTAL REGULATIONS WOULD BECOME RAMPANT.
"2. UNDOUBTEDLY RENTS WOULD BE INCREASED CONTRARY TO THE LAW.
"3. TENANTS, WITHOUT THE PROTECTION FROM EVICTIONS PROVIDED THROUGH THE GOVERNMENT'S ADMINISTRATIVE MACHINERY, WOULD BE WITHOUT ADEQUATE REDRESS."

NEW YORK, FEB.22-(AP)-THE FIRST ATTEMPT IN THIS COUNTRY, AND PROBABLY IN THE WORLD, TO USE ATOMIC ENERGY TO PROPEL AIRCRAFT WAS STARTED LAST JULY AND IS NOW WELL UNDER WAY, THE NEW YORK TIMES SAYS.

THE WORK, SAYS THE TIMES, IS BEING CARRIED OUT BY THE NEPA PROJECT (NUCLEAR ENERGY FOR PROPULSION OF AIRCRAFT), AND IS A COMBINED EFFORT OF THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT, THE NATIONAL ADVISORY COMMITTEE ON AERONAUTICS, THE ARMY AIR FORCES AND A NUMBER OF PRIVATE FIRMS.

"THAT THE FIRST ATOMIC-POWERED AIRCRAFT WILL BE A PILOTLESS PLANE IS CONSIDERED A CERTAINTY BY THOSE WHO UNDERSTAND ATOMIC ENERGY," THE TIMES SAYS. "TO SHIELD THE PILOT FROM THE DEADLY RADIATION WOULD REQUIRE A WEIGHT THAT WOULD MAKE THE PLANE OF LITTLE USE. IT IS THOUGHT THAT THE VAST POWER MIGHT BEST BE USED IN GUIDED MISSILES OR IN DRONES THAT COULD BE GUIDED BY A MOTHER PLANE."

THE SPEED OF ATOMIC-POWER AIRCRAFT, SAYS THE NEWSPAPER, WOULD BE LIMITED ONLY BY THE STRENGTH OF MATERIALS IN THE PLANE OR MISSILE, SINCE ONE KILOGRAM OF PLUTONIUM OR URANIUM 235 POTENTIALLY COULD GENERATE 30,000,000 HORSEPOWER.

THE PRIME CONTRACTOR, IN THE PROJECT, ACCORDING TO THE TIMES, IS THE FAIRCHILD ENGINE AND AIRPLANE COMPANY, WITH THE OAK RIDGE, TENN., ATOMIC ESTABLISHMENT, TOP-RANKING SCIENTISTS AND ARMY OFFICERS, SEVERAL CHEMICAL COMPANIES AND 10 AIRCRAFT MANUFACTURING FIRMS COOPERATING.

THE LATTER INCLUDE UNITED AIRCRAFT CORP., EAST HARTFORD, CONN.; WRIGHT AERONAUTICAL CORP., WOOD-RIDGE, N.J.; CONTINENTAL MOTORS CORP., DETROIT; ALLISON DIVISION, GENERAL MOTORS OF INDIANAPOLIS; LYCOMING DIVISION, AVIATION CORPORATION OF WILLIAMSPORT, PA.; FLADER, NORTHRUP AIRCRAFT, INC., HAWTHORNE, CALIF.; MENASCO MANUFACTURING CO., BURBANK, CALIF., AND THE WESTINGHOUSE ELECTRIC CORP., OF PHILADELPHIA, THE PAPER SAYS.

CONSULTANTS INCLUDE DR.H.A.BETHE, CORNELL UNIVERSITY; PROFESSORS C.R.SODERBERG AND W.H.MCADAMS, MASSACHUSETTS INSTITUTE OF TECHNOLOGY; DR.MORRIS KOLODNEY, COLLEGE OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK; DR.H.H.GOLDSMITH, ARGONNE NATIONAL LABORATORIES, CHICAGO; K.A.BROWNE, CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO RAILROAD ENGINEERING OFFICIAL, AND W.C.ROCKEFELLER OF A.P.ADAMS AND ASSOCIATES, LOS ANGELES, IT WAS REPORTED.

THE NEPA PROJECT WAS SAID TO BE HEADED BY MAJ.GEN.CURTIS LEMAY, DEPUTY CHIEF OF AIRSTAFF FOR RESEARCH AND DEVELOPMENT, WITH GORDON SIMMONS JR., FORMER CHIEF MECHANICAL ENGINEER FOR THE CONSTRUCTION OF THE GASEOUS DIFFUSION PLANT AT OAK RIDGE FOR CONCENTRATING U-235, AS TECHNICAL DIRECTOR.

THE TIMES SAYS NEPA OFFICIALS STRESSED THAT IT WOULD BE MANY MONTHS BEFORE POSITIVE RESULTS WERE FORTHCOMING, AND ALL POSSIBLE APPLICATIONS OF NUCLEAR ENERGY TO AIRCRAFT WOULD BE STUDIED. AMONG THESE ARE CLOSED CYCLE TURBINES, OPEN CYCLE TURBINES, TURBO-JETS, RAM JETS AND ROCKET DEVICES.

THE TIMES QUOTED THE OAK RIDGE JOURNAL, A WEEKLY NEWSPAPER, AS SAYING WORK WAS ALREADY UNDER WAY AT THE CLEVELAND LABORATORY OF THE NATIONAL ADVISORY COMMITTEE ON AERONAUTICS, THE MASSACHUSETTS INSTITUTE OF TECHNOLOGY AND THE FREDRIC FLADER, INC., PLANT AT TONAWANDA, N.Y.

A PHYSICAL CHEMISTRY AND ELECTRONICS LABORATORY NOW BEING BUILT AT OAK RIDGE IS EXPECTED TO BE IN OPERATION SOON, THE NEWSPAPER SAYS.

DELIVERY AT THE ANNUAL DREW UNIVERSITY ALUMNI ASSOCIATION BANQUET.

"THE HOPE OF HUMANITY," HE SAID, "IS THAT THE UNITED NATIONS WILL DO AWAY WITH ALL WARFARE. HOWEVER, LET US LAY PLANS FOR GOVERNMENT AND LEGISLATION BY TELEVISION IF NEED BE."

SENATOR WILEY CALLED FOR IMMEDIATE SUCCESSION OF AUTHORITY "IF WE IN CONGRESS AND IF THE PRESIDENT AND HIS OFFICERS ARE KILLED BY ATOMIC ATTACK. ALL THIS MUST BE DONE NOW, FOR THERE WILL BE NO TIME IN THE NEXT WAR."

STATING THAT A "MANY-POINTED" PROGRAM GOES HAND IN HAND WITH THESE SUGGESTIONS, SENATOR WILEY OUTLINED HIS PLAN, WHICH INCLUDES: 1947

1. DECENTRALIZATION OF FACTORIES AND HOUSING.
2. STOCKPILING OF VITAL MATERIALS.
3. MODERNIZATION OF MILITARY AND NAVAL TRAINING.
4. ASSURANCE OF ADEQUATE MILITARY AND NAVAL APPROPRIATIONS.
5. ENCOURAGEMENT OF RESEARCH.
6. LAYING OF GOVERNMENTAL PLANS FOR STREAMLINED EMERGENCY WARTIME AGENCIES.
7. UNIFICATION OF MILITARY AND NAVAL SUPPLY PROGRAMS.

REFERRING TO THE CELEBRATION OF WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY, SENATOR WILEY SAID THAT "IN HIS DAY, THE WORLD WAS HUGE; IT TOOK MONTHS TO CROSS THE OCEAN. WERE HE ALIVE TODAY, I THINK WE WOULD FIND THAT WASHINGTON WOULD BE THE FIRST TO REALIZE THAT WE ARE LIVING IN A NEW DAY IN A NEW, CONTRACTED WORLD.

"THE INVENTIVE GENIUS OF MAN AND AMERICA'S PREEMINENCE IN THE WORLD," HE CONTINUED, "HAS CHANGED OUR OBLIGATIONS SO THAT IT IS INCUMBENT UPON US TO DO EVERYTHING HUMANLY POSSIBLE TO SEE IF THE U.N. CAN BE MADE TO WORK."

SEN.WILEY POINTED OUT THAT "WE CANNOT FORGET THAT AFTER THE FIRST WORLD WAR THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS CAME INTO BEING, AND WE EVEN 'ABOLISHED WAR' WITH THE KELLOGG-BRIAND PACT. BUT WAR CAME. AND YET, WITH ONE APOSTAL PAUL, WE KNOW THAT GOD IS NOT THE AUTHOR OF CONFUSION, BUT OF PEACE. AND ONLY AS MANKIND FOLLOWS IN HIS WAY WILL THE MILLENIUM BE ACHIEVED."

ASHEVILLE, N.C., FEB. 22-(AP)-A UNIFIED WORLD GOVERNMENT ORGANIZATION IN THE UNITED STATES MOVED CLOSER TO REALITY TONIGHT AS SIX GROUPS AGREED UPON A COMMON NAME AND STATEMENT OF POLICY.

ACTUAL MERGER AT TOMORROW'S FINAL SESSION OF THE WORLD GOVERNMENT CONFERENCE APPEARED PROBABLE.

THE NEW MOVEMENT WILL BE KNOWN OFFICIALLY AS "UNITED WORLD FEDERALISTS (CAPS) FOR WORLD GOVERNMENT WITH LIMITED POWERS ADEQUATE TO PREVENT WAR."

THE COMMITTEE WHICH SELECTED THE NAME ADMITTED IT WOULD UNDOUBTEDLY BE SHORTENED IN COMMON USAGE, BUT URGED THE MEMBERSHIP TO RETAIN THE ENTIRE 13-WORD TITLE WHENEVER POSSIBLE.

IT TOOK FIVE HOURS TO AGREE UPON THE TWO-PARAGRAPH STATEMENT OF BELIEFS AND PURPOSES.

THE STATEMENT OF POLICY AS ADOPTED READS:

"WE BELIEVE THAT PEACE IS NOT MERELY THE ABSENCE OF WAR, BUT THE PRESENCE OF JUSTICE, OF LAW, OF ORDER--IN SHORT OF GOVERNMENT AND THE INSTITUTIONS OF GOVERNMENT; THAT WORLD PEACE CAN BE CREATED AND MAINTAINED ONLY UNDER WORLD LAW, UNIVERSAL AND STRONG ENOUGH TO PREVENT ARMED CONFLICT BETWEEN NATIONS.

"THEREFORE WHILE ENDORSING THE EFFORTS OF THE UNITED NATIONS TO BRING ABOUT A WORLD COMMUNITY FAVORABLE TO PEACE WE WILL WORK PRIMARILY TO STRENGTHEN THE UNITED NATIONS INTO A WORLD GOVERNMENT OF LIMITED POWERS ADEQUATE TO PREVENT WAR AND HAVING DIRECT JURISDICTION OVER THE INDIVIDUAL."

THE SIX ORGANIZATIONS WHICH WOULD MERGE ARE, IN ORDER OF SIZE, WORLD FEDERALISTS, U.S.A.; AMERICANS UNITED; STUDENT FEDERALISTS; WORLD REPUBLIC, INC.; MASSACHUSETTS COMMITTEE FOR WORLD FEDERATION; AND THE WORLD CITIZENS OF GEORGIA.

PRESENT TOTAL PAID MEMBERSHIP IN THE SIX GROUPS IS 18,027.

BESIDES THE BYLAWS, THE CONFERENCE HERE MUST CONSIDER A PLAN OF ACTION AND IF THE PROPOSED BYLAWS ARE ADOPTED, ELECT 30 MEMBERS OF AN EXECUTIVE COUNCIL. ADJOURNMENT IS SET FOR TOMORROW AFTERNOON.

Hundreds Seized in Plot To Wage Nazi 'Germ War'

U. S., British Troops Crack Down in Widespread Series of Raids.

EX-OFFICERS SEIZED

Group Claimed Possession of Secret Bacteriological Weapon.

BERLIN, Feb. 23—(AP) American and British troops cracked down today on a widespread Nazi underground movement which claimed possession of a secret bacteriological weapon to turn against the occupying powers. A former colonel in the German army section that worked on war-with-germs projects was among the "hundreds" seized.

It was the biggest push against the underground since the war ended, and the first on a bizonal scale.

Authorities said they had not learned definitely whether the group actually possessed a bacteriological weapon. Lt. Gen. Lucius D. Clay reported American authorities did not consider the movement "particularly dangerous," while a British spokesman said it was "silly and pretentious" but could not be allowed to spread.

Swift Raids Staged

Moving swiftly over ice-glazed roads and in a snowstorm, soldiers and intelligence agents picked up a number of former high ranking officers in the SS (Elite Guard) and other Nazi organizations. The Americans reported the arrest of about 30 suspects in their zone but said most of the raids were in British Germany. There authorities said hundreds of persons were seized by "thousands" of Allied troops in what was described as "operation selection board." With arrests continuing, they disclosed no specific totals.

British officials said the movement had tentacles in the Soviet and French zones, and that its aims included restoration of German militarism and a Nazi dictatorship "in order to lead the nations of Europe against Russia." The Russians and French were kept informed of the progress of the raids.

Among those arrested in the American zone were former SS Major Gen. Kurt Ellerick, Hitler Youth Col. Walter Shimmelpfeng, Army Major Felix Buck, SS Major Martin Zinzt, SA (Storm Troops) Major Fridolin Backer, SS Captains Ernst Barndt, Siegfried Bettke and Werner Roepke, and SS Lieutenants Hans Payel and Hans Becker. Some were connected with other military men seized on similar charges in the past three months, officials said.

The British nabbed Col. Hans Eismann, former officer of the bacteriological warfare division, who had been living under an assumed name; Col. Heinz Kling, former SS officer who headed a tank regiment at the end of the war; Dr. Rolf Wilkenning, SS officer described as an important member of the former German intelligence service and founder of the Koelner Kreis, pre-war group used by German intelligence for pre-invasion penetration of the Low Countries.

Wilkenning was editor of a Brussels newspaper and member of the German propaganda ministry there during the occupation.

Raids Cover Wide Area

British authorities said "scarcely a single portion" of the American and British zones was exempt from the widespread raids. The soldiers quietly sealed off white-blanketed streets while intelligence agents entered houses which had been under surveillance for some time.

The U. S. Army announced that the movement had nationlistic aims which opposed denazification and reparations measures, and agitated for a return of German's lost territories.

Clay, American military governor-designate, said that "along with the British we have been watching this group for some time and thought it was time to move in and clean them up."

A British authority said:

"Despite their silliness, which underestimated allied intelligence, and their pretentiousness, because they did not have the necessary military strength, there was a point beyond which they could not be allowed to proceed. We felt this point had been reached and that's why we swooped down upon their leaders."

The U. S. Army said a tremendous potential exists for formation of groups which would aim at creating a new Germany bent on military domination. It added that subversive activity "must naturally be expected from a people who were completely indoctrinated in nationalistic propaganda and who are now still smarting under a defeat. As long as we are able to maintain our army in Germany, detection and supression of future subversive movements can be made before they become dangerous."

Russia Luring German Experts In Atom Study, Scientist Says

GOETTINGEN, Germany, Feb. 23 —(AP) Dr. Werner Heisenberg, foremost German atomic scientist, disclosed today that Russia had made a standing offer of 6,000 rubles a month to any German atomic expert who would engage in research for the Soviet government.

The Nobel prize winner in physics for 1932 said three Germans already were known to have accepted the offer, equivalent to $500 monthly at the diplomatic exchange rate.

No Longer Science Problem

Heisenberg observed the production of atom bombs "is no longer a problem of science in any country but a problem of engineering."

He said Germany possessed a uranium pile in the last phase of the war and that American agents spirited it away from the territory that was to be occupied by France.

"Germany's uranium pile, which I was building up to create energy for machines and not for bombs, was located at Haigerloch, 40 miles south of Stuttgart," the cheerful little man with bushy brows and receding sandy hair said in an interview.

"It consisted of two tons of uranium, two tons of heavy water, and ten tons of graphite. As the world now knows, the explosive, plutonium, is produced in such a uranium pile.

"Haigerloch was within the zone which the French army was in the process of occupying early in 1945. But the French didn't get the uranium pile. All of it was transported off by an American (scientific intelligence) force before, apparently, the French knew what was happening. I heard that the French were very irked when they found out."

Now Studying Cosmic Ray

Dr. Heisenberg, 45, and six of his associates whom he directed in uranium research sponsored by the Nazi government, are now pursuing "research in the cosmic ray" here under British control. British officials recently advised him not to ask their permission to accept an invitation to lecture at Buenos Aires University in Argentina, saying it could not be granted "for obvious reasons."

Dr. Heisenberg said the scientists who now were "somewhere in Russia" after accepting the Soviet offer were:

"Prof. Gustav Hertz, who built Germany's cyclotron for smashing the atom and who is an authority on the separation of the explosive isotope U-235 from uranium.

Dr. Robert Doepel, the Leipzig physicist, and

"Dr. Ludwig Bevilogua, my assistant during the war."

Heisenberg said an authorized German from the Russian zone approached him last September on behalf of the Russian government with an invitation to join his colleagues.

"The prevailing salary, I was told, was 6,000 rubles a month," he said. "I was promised in addition 50 pounds of fresh meat a month, a ration of 3,500 calories of food a day for each of my six young children, and a comfortable, well-furnished house with many amenities.

Turned Down Red Offer

"I rejected the offer because I wish to keep on living in my own country. I don't want to do bomb research for anybody and if I go abroad anywhere, it will be to give a few lectures during a brief visit, and not to make bombs.

"My three associates went to Russia very soon after the end of the war. Dr. Bevilogua, for a while, was working in the Crimea. Then he was suddenly moved. I am not certain of the whereabouts of any of them now, but I would guess the vicinty of the Urals."

Heisenberg said he rejected an invitation from Dr. Enrico Fermi, the Italian scientist who is now an American citizen, to join the "Chicago group."

"I'd like very much to lecture for a little time in the United States, as I did before the war, but I simply don't want any part of bomb making," he said.

The scientist said he had read the Smyth report on the American development of the atomic bomb and "now I know exactly what was done, except for some small technical details." The report had been criticized in the United States for allegedly betraying military secrets.

Got Data from Smyth Report

"I estimate, on the basis of the Smyth report, that the bomb is about a 20-pound sphere of plutonium, say the size of a volley ball," he said, "it is separated in two halves. Each is completely harmless and can even be safely put into a stove. But bringing them together in a few millionths of a second created the greatest lethal explosion in the world."

As director of the Kaiser Wilhelm physics institute, Heisenberg supervised all of Germany's atomic research during the war. He asserted that German achievements equaled those of the United States until June of 1942.

On June 6 at a decisive meeting, we reported to Armaments Minister Albert Speer that atomic explosives could be produced in two ways, either by separation of the isotope from uranium or by building a uranium pile," he said.

Hitler Too Impatient

"But Mr. Hitler was a madly impatient man. We were asked how soon it would be possible to extract the explosive plutonium, and we replied, two years or longer. Hitler refused to consider any military measure that would take more than six months. At that time, he was dreaming of winning the Caucasus oil fields and the Suez Canal —the old blitzkrieg dream.

"Germany, in any case, did not have the huge industrial capacity which the United States had to divert to the separation of the isotope, from which the bomb used on Hiroshima was made. We went ahead with the uranium pile, having committed ourselves to nothing more than research into energies for machines.

"Seven days after the meeting with Speer, American atomic scientists had a similar meeting with their government at which they got the go ahead signal and, I understand, some $2,000,000,000. Then they outmatched us at least 1,000 to one in money, men and material.

"As a moral issue to a scientist," he continued, "it must be remembered that every tool invented by man since the first axe has been used to slay his neighbor. Yet the development of tools is essential for the development of mankind. They are what distinguishes man from the animals. I pray that the politicians will be clever enough to save us from the evil misuse of science."

He concluded that atomic energy was "on the threshold of great benefits to the human race, both in medical use and in the production of cheap power for industry."

Soviet Lures "No Secret"

CHICAGO, Feb. 23 (AP).—One of the "Chicago Group" of atomic scientists today asserted that "it is no secret that the Russians are very eager to further atomic research and are undoubtedly making attractive offers to scientists of other countries to engage in Soviet atomic research."

Dr. Samuel K. Allison, director of the University of Chicago's Institute of Nuclear Studies, commenting on Heisenberg's statement, said it "sounds plausible." He added that he had not "previously heard" that Heisenberg had rejected an invitation from Dr. Fermi to join the 'Chicago group.' "Although I am in a position to know about such invitations."

In Rockford, Ill., where he received the honorary doctor of laws degree from Rockford College today, Dr. Fermi said he had "never advised Dr. Heisenberg to come to Chicago."

U.S. SEEKS TO PUSH ACTION ON ATOMIC, ALBANIAN ISSUES

HARRELSON

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Feb. 23 —(AP) Delegates to the United Nations Security Council were hopeful tonight that they would be able to conclude the present phase of atomic control discussions this week and at the same time dispose of the Albanian-British dispute.

As the council prepared for one of its busiest weeks, informed quarters summed up the outlook as follows:

1. The Albanian case would be concluded either at tomorrow's meeting (at 3 p.m., E.S.T.) or at another meeting later in the week. Three possible solutions were reported — that Albania would be found responsible for mine-laying in Corfu Channel, as Britain charged; that the case would be referred to the international court of justice for legal opinion, or that a commission be named to study the evidence.

2. The atomic control issue, which comes up Tuesday, would be sent back to the Atomic Energy Commission with instructions that additional efforts be made to reconcile United States and Russian views. This would avoid a showdown in the council over controversial sections of the atomic commission's initial recommendations.

The council may begin discussions on a third issue Wednesday—the United States proposal that Japanese-mandated islands in the Pacific be placed under a UN strategic trusteeship. U. S. Delegate Warren R. Austin was understood to be ready to ask that the trusteeship question be placed on Wednesday's agenda, but authoritative sources said he would not demand immediate acceptance of the U. S. plan in the face of Russian-British opposition.

Gromyko Turns Over a New Leaf, Jokes, Chats with Correspondents

HARRELSON

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Feb. 23 —(AP) The "new" Andrei A. Gromyko has the corridors buzzing at this sprawling headquarters of the United Nations.

Prime subject of speculation is the sharp upturn in the Russian delegate's public relations which has found him chatting informally with correspondents, joking with delegates and even talking to visitors.

Overall the Soviet deputy foreign minister still remains the most aloof of all the delegates but his recent mellowing has surprised veteran followers of the UN.

Common Diplomatic Trait

In his informal session with writers, Gromyko has proved himself a master at dodging direct answer —an accomplishment common to diplomats. Still he has replied to some questions and, more important, has shown a new willingness to discuss the issues before the council.

On his pronouncements to the council on atomic energy, Gromyko was careful to see that correspondents had copies of his speeches and proposals from which to work. This procedure long has been followed by most other delegates, but is something new to Soviet public relations here.

Since coming to New York a year ago for the start of UN sessions, Gromyko has granted perhaps a dozen interviews to various correspondents. Otherwise he has maintained no direct contact with the press and let his words on the council floor stand without further explanation or interpretation.

Commenting on the new moves, a member of one delegation said bluntly:

"He's out to sell his point of view."

The 38-year-old Russian also was reported to have grown more congenial in dealings with other delegates.

Possible Explanation

Persons close to council affairs cite as a possible explanation the tireless efforts of delegates to reach compromises and avoid immediate showdowns on serious splits between Russia and the western powers. This trend, these persons feel, has taken off the pressure, given Gromyko more opportunity to work toward middle ground, and led to a closer feeling in the council.

Gromyko, too, apparently has become accustomed to American crowds. Long a center of attention from visitors to UN sessions, he was stopped in the corridor after a council meeting by a well-dressed woman who said:

"Mr. Gromyko, I am an American but I want to tell you what a fine speech you made today."

The Soviet delegate, who had spoken less than three minutes on procedure, thanked her and said: "Did I make a speech today?"

BRITAIN LIFTS BAN ON USE OF POWER IN MIDLANDS AREA

LONDON, (Monday) Feb. 24 — (AP) The British government, confident it was successfully restocking the nation's dangerously depleted coal piles, lifted the two-weeks-old electric power ban in the rich industrial Midlands early today, sending nearly 1,000,000 men back to work.

Powerhouse switches releasing vital electrical current to industrial plants in the Midlands were thrown just after midnight, exactly two weeks after the government decreed the most drastic economic shutdown in the nation's history, except for the short-lived general strike of 1926.

The total power embargo for industrial use was dropped in eight industry-packed Midlands counties, but power still was withheld from 30 other counties and shires in London and areas in northwest and southeast England.

Prime Minister Clement R. Attlee was expected to announce in the House of Commons today whether industrial power in the other "blacked out" counties will be restored this week.

The daily five-hour ban on the use of electricity for all purposes in homes and stores, including lighting, remained in effect despite the first recovery step from the grave coal crisis. The fuel ministry announced yesterday that the British Isles' most recent blizzards brought the threat of widespread cuts in the use of gas this week as a coal preserving measure.

"There was a slight thaw today," a spokesman said, "but the forecast is frost and probably more snow all over the country tonight, and gas stocks are dangerously low. Unless householders exercise the greatest economy—"

"Also," said an air ministry forecaster, "there is a prospect of fog tomorrow in many sections, with continued cold."

England went to bed with the assurance that the weather would return to its normal beastliness before morning.

Britons 'Grouse' Over King's Trip

LONDON, Feb. 23—(AP) A wave of public "grousing" over King George's tour of South Africa at a time of severe hardships at home was brought into the open under scare headlines today on the mass-circulation Sunday Pictorial.

In bold face type on page one, the tabloid repeated—and sought to refute—the gripes that have been voiced privately in pub and sewing-circle conversations since the king, queen and princesses sailed away from the homeland on the eve of its grave industrial crisis.

Not Widespread

Disgruntlement was confined to an apparently small section of the populace, and many Britons were angered because the feeling— unprecedented since George VI became king—was there.

But even normally king-loving folk, harassed by food, housing and heating problems, burst into derisive laughter when newsreel commentators described as "austere" the furnishings of the royal suite on the battleship Vanguard. Some audiences booed newsreel shots showing the royal family in summer attire while the homel and struggled through a snow crisis.

Chief complaints, heard mostly from working class people but not uncommon in swank Mayfair, and the Sunday Pictorial's replies:

"The king should never be away from the mother country at a time of crisis." Answer: "The royal family shared the rigors of aerial bombardment. It does not relish the necessity of absence xxx."

"The choice of South Africa was a political blunder of the first magnitude." (The complaint reflected British feeling over reported racial discrimination against Indians in South Africa.) Answer: "The visit has no political significance other than strengthening the bonds of the commonwealth."

The tour, planned long before the crisis, was seen by political observers as designed to cement British-South African relations at a time when South Africa is taking on more importance in British concepts of imperial strategy and when an anti-empire party is opposing premier Smuts' pro-British party.

Britons Get Glimpse of Sun

LONDON, Feb. 23 — (AP) The sun came out in England today for the first time in three weeks, but after a long, red-eyed glance at the countryside it went back into hibernation.

Squinting, blinking Englishmen were so astonished by the spectacle that hundreds of them called newspapers to ask if the record period of 22 sunless days had really ended.

Dazzling Spectacle

For a few minutes it was a full strength, orange groves and bathing suit kind of a sun, bright enough to strike golden sparks from the cross atop St. Paul's Cathedral and cast a delicate network of shadows on the fresh snow outside Westminster Abbey.

It was a sight that made traffic cops chuckle and old men cavort. It brought school children out of their cocoons of coats and mufflers. It lured nursemaids, each with a perambulator, into the slippery paths of Kensington Gardens.

Beaming more brightly than the sun itself, one apple-cheeked Nannie pointed to the twins in the pram she was pushing, and confided:

"It's the first sun they've ever seen, God love them. They were born three weeks ago today!"

But the ministry of fuel and power scowled at the unaccustomed brightness in the sky and said people mustn't get silly notions.

RUSSIANS CLAIM CREDIT

Say Their Army Needed No Aid in Vanquishing Germany

LONDON, Feb. 23 (AP)—Russian commentators denied today that Russia had needed military aid to occupy Germany and liberate France in 1944.

"When Hitler Germany was on the eve of complete defeat, the military strategical position was such that the Soviet Union could have occupied the whole of Germany with its own forces and liberated France without help of the Allies," I. Lyadov asserted in a Moscow broadcast. "It was just that fact, as documents and books published by prominent British and American political figures now show, that compelled Winston Churchill, who had opposed in every way the opening of the second front in Europe, to undertake the invasion of western Europe."

British Reds Go Along

Will Back Labor Government's Production Drive

LONDON, Feb. 23 (AP).—British Communists voted today to support the industrial production drive of the Labor government. They turned down an amendment demanding immediate steps toward "the proletarian revolution."

The action, taken at the close of the party's nineteenth congress, was in line with the policy of the party leadership. Harry Pollitt, general secretary, said the party would support Labor candidates in by-elections wherever it might appear necessary to defeat "Toryism."

Public Order Chief Sworn

ATHENS, Feb. 23 (AP)—Gen. Napoleon Zervas, leader of the Nationalist party, was sworn into office today as Minister of Public Order.

Press dispatches said that fighting continued in both northern and southern Greece. Fifteen guerrillas were reported killed about twenty miles northeast of Salonika, in the north, and three others were said to have been killed in a two-hour fight west of Megalopolis, in the Peloponnesus, to the South.

Another dispatch said seven Rightist villagers had been slain by axe-wielding guerrillas in the central square of the village of Elatohori, near Katerine, north of Mount Olympus.

REDS OPTIMISTIC ON MOSCOW MEET

MOSCOW, Feb. 23 — (AP) Pravda expressed qualified optimism today over prospects for the success of the March meeting of the four-power foreign ministers. It said that "with the presence of good will, harmonious decisions may be reached."

The foreign ministers of Britain, the United States, France and Russia will meet here two weeks hence to write a German peace treaty.

The Communist party newspaper said "organs of the foreign press" were attempting to create an atmosphere of pessimism around the Moscow session, but that the people of the United States wanted to be friends with the Soviet Union.

Optimistic Tone

"It should be borne in mind that the council of foreign ministers begin their work armed with a great and many-sided experience gained in the postwar period," said the article, written by M. Marinin. "This experience has proved that with the presence of good will harmonious decisions may be reached."

He said the foreign ministers' success in drafting acceptable peace treaties for Nazi satellite nations left no doubt that the ministers could work together successfully.

The same writer, in the government newspaper Izvestia, charged that Edwin W. Pauley, President Truman's personal representative on reparations, had a "rather flamboyant past and as is well known his career inside the United States ended in a big scandal."

(This apparently was a reference to accusations made against Pauley by United States senators last year when they were considering his nomination by President Truman as Undersecretary of the Navy. The charges, denied by Pauley's supporters, included an allegation that he had solicited campaign funds improperly when he was Democratic national treasurer. President Truman finally withdrew Pauley's nomination last March 13, after a vigorous defense of his "integrity and ability.")

Accuse Pauley of Untruth

Marinin said Pauley had "been spreading a lie throughout the world concerning enormous withdrawals alleegdly made by the Soviet Union from industry in Manchuria."

The Izvestia article declared Pauley "repeats like a parrot" the statement that the Russian occupation of Manchuria has damaged that country to the extent of $2,000,000,000.

Hotel in Moscow Suing Aid of Brazil's Embassy

MOSCOW, Feb. 23 (AP).—The newspaper "Evening Moscow" reported today that the National Hotel here had filed suit for damages against Joao Batista Hoares de Pinna, former First Secretary of the Brazilian Embassy, who recently left Russia "at the request of the Soviet Foreign Office."

"Evening Moscow" said that on Dec. 8 De Pinna became "intrigued with the idea of mounting the bandstand" in the hotel cafe. The newspaper said that the Brazilian "struck one of the musicians, then hit the maitre d'hotel, smashing the latter's watch."

[The Brazilian Foreign Minister announced last month that his government had refused Soviet demands for compensation for any damages to the hotel and had accused Russia of unfair treatment of Brazilian diplomats in Moscow.]

"Pravda" Hopeful About Big Four

MOSCOW, Feb. 23 (AP).—An article in "Pravda," Communist party newspaper, said today that the Big Four Foreign Ministers, at their meeting at Moscow next month, would begin work armed with a great and many-sided experience gained in the post-war period." The article, written by M. Marinin, added: "This experience has proved that, with the presence of good will, harmonious decisions may be reached. The signing of peace treaties with Italy and others leaves no doubt about this."

RED ARMY MARKS 29TH BIRTHDAY

MOSCOW, Feb. 23—(AP) Guided by Prime Minister Stalin's order of the day—phrased perhaps in the most pacific tone of any since the start of the war—the Soviet Army today celebrated its 29th anniversary.

Stalin announced the Russian people successfully fulfilled the first year of the five-year plan, and that the "Soviet Army is fulfilling the tasks of combat training placed before it in conditions of peace."

"It is also obliged to advance and gain new higher successes in combat and political training," he said. "The cause of of strengthening peace, the cause of securing security—our country demands this from us."

Stalin made no mention of "enemies," nor did he stress vigilance or give any indication that he felt the U.S.S.R. was living in a hostile world.

He made no mention of atomic weapons, disarmament or "capitalistic encirclement," and gave no purely nationalistic interpretation of the Soviet Union's position in the world today.

SouthAfricanDoughnuts Pleasing to Royal Family

ABOARD THE ROYAL TRAIN, South Africa, Feb. 23 (AP).—King George VI, on an official visit to this dominion, returned today with a sunburn after a day passed outdoors, while Queen Elizabeth had received a recipe for the South African version of the sugared doughnut.

The royal family tasted the doughnuts for the first time at a late afternoon tea, and all members of their party agreed it was a choice delicacy. Queen Elizabeth asked her hostesses how to make it, and the recipe was copied at her request.

The Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret left the train during the morning to attend an open-air religious service beside a lagoon set amid tall hills near the town of George, where the train is stopping for the week end. The only music for the service was that of a harmonium, or reed organ.

JINNAH REAFFIRMS PAKISTAN DEMAND

Says India's Moslems Will Not Yield an Inch—Praises Refugees From Bihar

NEW DELHI, India, Feb. 23 (AP)—Mohamed Ali Jinnah, president of the Moslem League, declared at Karachi today that the League would not yield "an inch" in its demand for Pakistan, an independent Moslem State within India.

In his first public statement since Prime Minister Attlee's announcement that Britain would withdraw from India by June, 1948, Mr. Jinnah made no direct reference to the British declaration.

Speaking at a camp housing Moslem refugees from communal disorders in Bihar Province, he said:

"The sufferings Moslems undervent in Bihar and elsewhere clearly showed we should have the separate State of Pakistan. I am really proud of the Bihar Moslems who sacrificed so much. Their sacrifices will not go in vain. They have brought the Pakistan goal nearer and have shown readiness to make any sacrifice for its attainment."

In New Delhi, Allama Mashriqui, leader of the Khaksars, an independent Moslem party, declared that the date for withdrawal of British forces from India would be "the zero hour for the start of a terrible carnage of Moslems." He called Mr. Attlee's statement "camouflaged mischief."

OUTLAWED ARAB LEADER RETURNS

BBK—OUTLAWED ARAB .....

CAIRO, Feb. 23 — (AP) The outlawed Fawzi el Kaukji, leading figure of the Arab revolt in 1936, arrived in Cairo today after a flight in which his plane refuelled in Palestine where an $8,000 price rested on his head.

(There was conjecture that the exiled mufti of Jerusalem, Haj Amin el Husseini, might appoint him general of two recently-merged Arab "youth organizations.")

Kaukji, released recently from the Russian zone of Germany, was reported to have flown in a French plane from Paris. The refuelling stop in Palestine was made at Lydda. Subsequently he was met at the Almaza airfield near Cairo by prominent Arabs.

As a transit passenger in Egypt en route to the Levant, he was granted a 24-hour leave by the Egyptian government.

Kaukji visited Abdel Rahman Azzam Pasha, secretary general of the Arab League, and interviewed members of various Arab delegations. There was speculation that he might visit the mufti.

Questioned regarding the government's action in permitting Kaukji only 24 hours leave, Premier Nokrashi Pasha said the action was "normal" and that Kaukji was only a passenger in transit.

CHINA'S REDS OPEN MANCHURIA ATTACK

Offensive Is Resumed Along Sungari River, Backed by Recently Built Forts

NANKING, Feb. 23 (AP)—Chinese dispatches from Manchuria today said that Communists had resumed an offensive along the Sungari River north of Tunghwa, which is 125 miles east of Mukden.

These Mukden reports said that four Communist brigades were advancing on the Tunghwa region and had at their backs the support of powerful fortresses built along the river in recent months.

Other dispatches from Tsinan, capital of Shantung Province, said that Communist forces still were retreating northward under Government attack but were regrouping for a new stand in central Shantung.

It was reported from Peiping that the Shantung fighting already had shifted to the central part of the Province and that very heavy encounters were said to be in progress just south of the Tsingtao-Tsinan railway.

Chinese field reports said that Government troops had stormed and captured Yuncheng, ninety-five miles southwest of Tsinan, along with a number of smaller places.

Yenchow Encircled

Reinforced Government columns also were reported encircling the Communist stronghold of Yenchow, on the strategic Tientsin-Pukow railroad 200 miles northwest of Nanking. Its fall was expected momentarily.

Bitter fighting was reported to be raging in central Shantung at Laiwu, 290 miles northwest of Nanking. In this operation the Communists were on the offensive and were believed to be feinting at Tsinan.

On the political side, a most reliable Foreign Office source said that Foreign Minister Wang Shih-chieh was on an inspection tour in Manchuria and would return to Nanking in a fortnight after "seeing for himself conditions in Manchuria for the first time since the war ended."

This source said there was no probability that Dr. Wang's visit was the prelude to international negotiations affecting Manchuria.

Still Russian-Occupied

The Chinese press speculated that he might be going to arrange with the Russians to hand Dairen over to the Chinese Government. Dairen is designated as a commercial free port under Chinese authority in the Chinese-Russian treaty of 1945, but still is Russian-occupied.

The Foreign Office informant said that Dr. Wang's party did not include the head of the Chinese Foreign Office's Russian department, whose presence, he said, would be essential to any negotiations with the Russians.

The Central News Agency, in a Peiping dispatch, said, however, that the Government had granted permission to the Russians to open a consulate in Mukden.

The Nanking source added that China had not requested permission to participate in the Moscow Foreign Ministers' conference in March, as previously rumored, as it was not believed that the China question would be discussed at that meeting.

Krug Arrives in Shanghai

SHANGHAI, Feb. 23 (AP)—United States Secretary of the Interior J. A. Krug and his party arrived in Shanghai today for a brief, unofficial visit. The group, which has been touring United States administrative areas in the Pacific, was entertained at a reception by United States Ambassador J. Leighton Stuart.

RIFTS MARK START OF TOJO DEFENSE

Court Denounces Army Paper for Premature Story—Five Japanese Reject Counsel

TOKYO, Monday, Feb. 24 (AP)—Japan was portrayed as a "misunderstood" nation and former Premier Hideki Tojo and the twenty-five other wartime leaders on trial were depicted as patriots in the opening defense argument before the International War Crimes Tribunal today.

There were stormy preliminaries to the defense presentation.

Chief Justice Sir William Webb called "gross contempt" a premature publication this morning of the defense points in the Army newspaper Pacific Stars and Stripes.

Capt. Charles B. Taylor explained later that the premature release was "due to error" and Sir William dismissed him with a warning.

Then before Dr. Ichiro Kiyose, representing Tojo, could deliver his outline of the defense case, five defendants announced they were rejecting his entire statement and wanted to reserve the right to make their own opening arguments. They cited no reasons.

They were former Premier Baron Kiichiro Hiranuma, former Foreign May Mamoru Shigemitsu, Lieut Minister Mamoru Shigemitsu, Lieut. Gen. Kenji Doihara of Manchuria fame, former Foreign Minister Koki Hirota and Teiichi Suzuki, former head of the Japanese Planning Board. A sixth, Hiroshi Oshima, former Ambassador to Germany, said he did not agree with all of Dr. Kiyose's argument, and that he would ask some exceptions later.

Before Dr. Kiyose began, the Chief Justice also instructed him to delete such portions as constituted "arguments previously presented to the tribunal."

Dr. Kiyose, who is recognized as Japan's leading authority on criminal law, asked the tribunal to reconcile Japan's actions in the Orient with the United States' good neighbor policy in Latin America and even compared the Japanese "imperial way" with United States democracy.

This "imperial way," he declared, "stands for benevolence, righteousness and moral courage. It respects courtesy and honor. Its ideal is to let everyone have his own part and fulfill his duty. * * * It is just the opposite to the idea of militarism."

As for the sneak attack on Pearl Harbor, Dr. Kiyose said evidence would be introduced to show that Japan was being encircled by the Allied powers, that United States embargoes were cutting off Japan, and that the nation had acted in self-defense.

Dr. Kiyose further asserted that the defense aimed to show that the late President Roosevelt, on reading an interception of the Japanese final note on Dec. 6, 1941, commented, "This means war," and that United States policy already had been placed in the hands of the armed forces.

As for failure to deliver word of the attack before it began, Dr. Kiyose said evidence would show that this was due to "unexpected" clerical difficulties in the Japanese Embassy, so that the note was not ready until twenty minutes after the opening of hostilities, and that former Secretary of State Cordell Hull then had kept Ambassador Kichisaburo Nomura waiting another thirty-five minutes.

Dr. Kiyose said the defense also would present evidence that no conspiracy existed among the defendants at any time from 1928 until the surrender in September, 1945—the period covered by the trial.

MACARTHUR SEES TROUBLE IN JAPAN IF RELIEF IS CUT

Warns Hungry People Would Become Prey to 'Any Ideology.'

CITES TASK AHEAD

Views on Budget Cut Made Known in Message to War Department.

TOKYO, Monday, Feb. 24—(AP) General MacArthur expressed confidence today that Congress would not slash the budget to a point that would "prejudice fulfillment of occupation objectives," and warned that cutting off American relief would make starving Japanese "easy prey to any ideology, however evil," which offered food.

The occupation commander's statements were made in a long letter to the War Department, which had requested his views to be presented to Congress in support of appropriations for occupational purposes.

MacArthur lauded the objective of economy, saying it guided his every strategic plan during the war, and expressed "full intention to recommend removal of existing military controls over Japan as soon as civilian controls safely may be substituted."

Sees Long Occupation

He warned, however, that the occupation might last a long time and that occupation forces in Japan already had been cut to "the lowest numerical level consistent with either reasonable security or the accomplishment of the regeneration of an entire race."

He continued, "highlighting all else, of course, lies the grave responsibility of protecting our national security against future threat to our Pacific coast; in short, the consolidation of the gains which victory has brought, that we may have peace.

"Our task is thus but a final phase of war, and it is inescapable that its avoidance may only be at the expense of victory itself."

Describing Japan as still a closely blockaded country, dependent upon outside resources and unable to obtain them by normal trade, MacArthur said, "cut off from our own projected relief supplies in these circumstances, countless Japanese would face starvation—and starvation breeds mass unrest, disorder and violence.

"Worse still, it tenders a people easy prey to any ideology, however evil, which bears with it life-sustaining food.

"To permit such a condition to arise would be to repudiate those very ideals and principles for which our country has always stood and for which many of our countrymen have selflessly died."

Says Aid Not Charity

The general described relief for the Japanese as "not charity," saying that "if reasonable precautions are taken," the American taxpayer would not "ultimately be out of pocket a single dollar as a result."

He noted that the United States had a first lien on all of Japan's production to guarantee repayment.

If the occupation is successful, MacArthur stated, "we shall not only have finalized the victory by bringing under control the basic causes of war, but we shall have erected here in the western Pacific a strong bulwark against the reappearance and spread of those same causes which are calculated to plunge the world into future war."

He concluded that "a rationalization of the cost involved in this great task shows it in the aggregate infinitesimal compared with that which might have been incurred in a comparable period of extended combat."

MacArthur Hails Jap Constitution

Tokyo, Monday, Feb. 24 (AP)—General MacArthur, in a monthly report devoted largely to his views on Japan's new constitution, today characterized adoption of this basic law as a milestone on the road to democracy.

He warned the Japanese, however, against permitting irresponsible elements to attain power or to subvert the constitution, which places sovereignty in the people and abolishes Japan's armed forces. The new laws go into effect May 3.

Food Situation Improved

MacArthur's report also touched on Japan's economic situation, his observations reflecting the difficulties Japan is undergoing. The report said:

Unemployment persists. Production of oil, steel, machine tools, rayon and paper pulp has decreased and the amount of coal mined does not meet the quota. Copper, zinc and fertilizer production are satisfactory, although Japan is still producing only a fraction of the fertilizer she needs.

The food situation in November was somewhat improved by increased rice collections and the harvesting of the largest crop of sweet potatoes ever produced in this country.

Yen Decreases In Value

However, MacArthur said the "overall supply of food still is insufficient to meet requirements of the increasing population.

What food is available is costing the Japanese much more, the report added. The yen decreased in value as the number of Bank Japan notes in circulation increased. The report noted that more than 98,000 Japanese had violated price and rationing laws.

M'NUTT TO VISIT CHINA BEFORE RETURN TO U. S.

MANILA, Monday, Feb. 24—(AP) Ambassador Paul V. McNutt prepared to leave today in a State Department transport plane for Tokyo and Nanking, to call on General MacArthur and Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek. He will be back in Manila in seven days, and expects to return soon thereafter to the United States.

A spokesman for the ambassador denied Shanghai speculation that McNutt might become ambassador to China. Instead, the spokesman insisted, he will resum private law practice in America.

A last minute snag in U.S.-Philippine negotiations on American military base sites in the islands is expected to be resolved this week, before McNutt's return.

Planes Brave Arctic Wastes To Rescue 11 Trapped Fliers

B-29 Down Since Friday; 10 Die as Coast Guard 'Mercy' Ship Crashes.

NEW YORK, Feb. 23—(AP) Aerial rescue missions from two parts of the world converged upon Greenland tonight in a giant-scale operation to evacuate 11 Army airmen marooned in the icy reaches of northwestern Greenland following the crash landing of a B-29 superfortress.

One C-54 rescue craft in a group from Westover Field, Mass., already had landed at Sondrestron Fjord

Greenland, and established radio contact with the downed B-29, which was forced to land during a photographic reconnaissance mission Friday.

Men Ask for Fuel

The superfortress personnel asked for fuel, preferably coal, but said nothing about medical supplies, possibly indicating that no one had been injured. A search plane located the B-29 earlier, dropping a two-week supply of food, and noted the 11 crew members walking about.

Meanwhile, Maj. Gen. Howard A. Craig, commanding general of the Alaskan command, announced that three Army transports and a troop glider took off from Ladd Field at Fairbanks for Thule, Greenland, to establish an operational base for the rescue.

The general said the downed plane, which was attached to the 46th Long Range Reconnaisance Squadron based at Ladd Field, was 200 miles north of Thule. In New York, the air transport command said the site of the crash landing was on the west coast of Greenland somewhat north of the middle of Greenland.

Names of Fliers

Three rescue planes had taken off from Westover Field.

Gen. Craig said those aboard the B-29, the "Kee Bird," were Lt. Vern H. Arnett, instructor pilot, Riverside, Calif.; Lt. Russell S. Jordan, Albany, Calif.; Second Lt. Robert Lluedke, engineer, Los Angeles, Calif.; Lt. John G. Lesman, navigator, Kearny, N. J.; Lt. Burl Cowan, navigator, Grand Island, Neb.; Lt. Talbert M. Gates co-pilot, Fenwood, N. J.; M-Sgt. Lawrence L. Yarbrough, photo-gunner, Springfield, Ore.; S-Sgt. Ernest C. Stewart, photo-gunner, Birmingham Ala.; T-Sgt. Robert Leader, radio operator, Philadelphia; S-Sgt. Paul R. McNamara, photo-gunner, Geneva, Ohio, and Lt. Howard R. Adams, Radar Observer, Lebanon, Pa.

The C-54 which had reached Sondrestron Fjord made radio contact with the B-29 shortly after it landed following a non-stop flight from Westover Field.

LILIENTHAL GIVEN SLIGHT MARGIN IN POLL OF SENATORS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23. — (AP) David E. Lilienthal has a substantial—but not conclusive—margin of Senate support for confirmation as chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, an Associated Press poll showed today.

A check of all but four of the 95 qualified senators disclosed these results:

Forty favor confirmation, including 22 stating their stand publicly and 18 who disclosed their position with the stipulation that their names not be used.

Twenty-eight oppose the nomination, including 15 who have publicly announced their position and 13 who desire to remain anonymous for the time being.

23 Are Undecided

Twenty-three say they have not made up their mind and decline to give any indication which way they are leaning.

Four were out of town and not reached for the poll.

The survey indicates the fate of Lilienthal's nomination, the subject of more than four weeks of hearings before the Senate Atomic Energy Committee, lies with the 23 undecided and the four not polled.

The actual vote, of course, may not include all of the 95 senators, since there usually are several absentees.

It has been generally accepted that the five other nominations for the atomic commission will stand or fall on the Lilienthal vote, with the other appointees refusing to serve in the case of his rejection even if they are confirmed.

Support and opposition to Lilienthal, former chairman of the Tennessee Valley Authority, has cut across party lines and has even threatened to split the Republican leadership into opposing camps.

Senator Taft of Ohio, the GOP policy committee chairman, has opposed confirmation, along with Senators White of Maine, the party floor leader, and Wherry of Nebraska, the Republican whip.

Senator Vandenberg of Michigan, the presiding officer, generally is expected to support Lilienthal, as is Senator Millikin of Colorado, chairman of the GOP conference. Both are members of the atomic committee, which may reach a decision on the nominations late this week if it can close the hearings by the Wednesday deadline set by Chairman Hickenlooper (R-Iowa).

Hearings Resume Today

The committee resumes hearings tomorrow with Gordon Clapp, nominated to succeed Lilienthal on the TVA board, and Edward O'Neal, president of the Farm Bureau Federation, as possible witnesses.

Of the 40 senators who told the Associated Press they are inclined now to vote for Lilienthal, 13 are Republicans and 27 Democrats.

Of the 28 against confirmation, 22 are Republicans and six Democrats.

Of the 23 who would not give any indication of how they will vote, 18 are Republicans and five Democrats. The four absentees who were not polled all are Democrats.

Democratic floor strategists contend that all signs point now to Lilienthal's confirmation. But Republicans opposing Lilienthal dispute this.

Both sides concede that the decision of the five Republicans and four Democrats who must vote on the nomination in the atomic committee will have great influence on the undecided group and might even change the minds of some who now say they are inclined one way or the other.

Here is how those willing to state their views publicly line up:

For confirmation (22).

Republicans for — Aiken, Lodge, Tobey, Morse (4).

Democrats for — Hatch, Myers, McMahon, Sparkman, Ellender, Hill, Kilgore, Magnuson, Barkley, Pepper, Thomas (Utah), Lucas, Green, Murray, Wagner, Taylor, Tydings, Chavez (18).

Against confirmation (15).

Republicans against — Moore, Bridges, Wherry, Kem, Brooks, Brewster, Bushfield, White, Flanders, Ecton, Robertson (WYO) (11).

Democrats against — McKellar, Stewart, O'Daniel, Overton (4).

FARMERS BATTLE FOR BUDGET FUNDS

Senate Bloc Seeks to Spare Agriculture in Proposed Slash.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23—(AP) Farm state senators gave notice today they want funds for agriculture, as well as the armed services, in the so-called "untouchable" part of the budget when Congress swings its pruning knife.

Senator Lucas (D-Ill.) of the Agriculture Committee told a reporter he expects a strong fight to be made for farm appropriations in individual money bills even if the Senate approves this week a pledge to cut $4,500,000,000 out of President Truman's $37,500,000,000 budget.

Lesser Cut Seen

Strong bipartisan backing has made it almost certain the Senate will approve this pledge—$1,500,000,000 less than the House's $6,000,000,000 economy promise—when it gets around to voting. A series of proposed speeches may carry the issue through tomorrow's session and over until Wednesday, when the Senate meets again.

A vote by midweek would send the budget ceiling resolution to conferees from the two chambers for a settlement of differences.

No matter what the final economy promise is, Lucas said Congress is morally bound to carry out obligations to support farm prices for the next two years under the program it adopted previously. This would not cost much if prices stay up, but Lucas noted that no one knows when a dip may come.

He said he does not believe cuts can be made, as suggested by some Republicans, in allowances for soil conservation, irrigation, reclamation and power projects.

Senator Young (R-N.D.), an appropriations committee member, told his colleagues last week he will fight any attempt to eliminate irrigation, reclamation, flood control, electric power and soil conservation projects.

Senator Morse (R-Ore.) said western farmers ought to get busy, "irrespective of political party," to see that budget cutters do not become "penny-wise and pound-foolish."

Senators Aiken (R-Vt.) and Langer (R-N.D.) promised their help in preventing too deep clashes in agriculture funds.

Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.), a supporter of the House-aproved $6,000,000,000 cut, told a reporter he expects not only a drive from those interested in farm benefits, but from every other quarter when the appropriations committee, of which he is a member, gets down to the actual appropriations.

"Every agency of the government will be up here fighting for funds," he said. "The only way we are going to make any economies is to face it out and go down the line."

Debate Resumes Today

Ferguson is scheduled as the first speaker tomorrow when the Senate resumes debate on the ceiling resolution.

The House and Senate may vote this week on legislation aimed at the $5,785,000,000 worth of portal pay suits.

The Senate judiciary committee tentatively plans to ballot tomorrow on approving a bill which would declare the bulk of portal litigation "null and void." If it reaches final agreement then, the Senate may take it up late in the week.

In the House, a bill to outlaw the suits is scheduled to reach the floor Thursday.

It will be the first major labor legislation to reach the voting stage. The Republican leadership has given it priority.

The House and Senate labor committees, meanwhile, will continue their hearings on general labor legislation. Other committees also will be busy with such items as the David E. Lilienthal nomination for the Atomic Energy Committee and rent control proposals.

The Senate Agriculture Committee will open hearings tomorrow on a bill by Senators Bushfield (R-S.D.) and Young (R-N.D.) to extend the Commodity Credit corporation to June 30, 1949.

54-MILLION PLAN FOR AIR SAFETY HANDED TO SENATE

Survey Committee Recommends U. S. Finance 18-Month Program.

PROTESTS LOOM

Money Would Be Taken from Funds Voted for Airport Expansion.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23—(AP) A $54,000,000 program for making air travel safer was handed to the Senate tonight with a recommendation that the treasury foot the entire bill.

The proposals came from the Senate Commerce Committee as a result of the special inquiry into air crashes by a five-man "air safety" subcommittee headed by Senator Brewster (R-Me.).

18-Month Program

Brewster told reporters the entire program could be completed within 18 months and the funds could be found without upsetting President Truman's budget proposals or economy plans of Congress.

But the report showed that most of the money—$42,750,000—would have to be diverted from a $45,000,000 fund Congress voted last session to expand airports.

As to the proposed diversion expected to stir protests from states and cities planning new or improved airports, the report declared:

"There is much to be said for adequately equipping existing airports to serve the safety of the traveling public before adding to the hazards by building more airports."

During the public hearings, several witnesses suggested that airlines might pay back part of the costs through a special tax on gasoline or reduced rates on government air traffic.

But the committee ruled this out. Because of the "critical financial conditions of most domestic and international American flag airlines," its report said, such payments "may force one, and possibly more (airlines) into bankruptcy."

Legislation to authorize the diversion of funds must be introduced later.

Brewster said the proposed safety program, calling for installation of war-tested equipment and devices, should allow "more than 90 per cent of commercial aircraft" to operate in this country under all weather conditions.

The senators noted that scheduled air travel safety in this country has improved steadily in recent years, with accident records showing "that transportation by air on domestic American flag airlines is among the safest forms of travel available."

The Brewster subcommittee criticized operations by "non-scheduled carriers," those which haul passengers and cargo under specific contracts, in contrast with the scheduled airlines which haul mail, passengers and cargo on regular runs.

It said there now are more than 7,000 operators in the non-scheduled class and that a tentative breakdown of accidents last year "would indicate the scheduled airlines are 20 times as safe as the non-scheduled."

In general, the safety aid program recommended to the Senate is similar to that outlined at House and Senate hearings by representatives of the Civil Aeronautics Administration, the airlines and their trade associations, and airline pilots.

Recommended Improvements

It would include special "high intensity" approach and runway lights for about 160 major airports; electronic devices that enable airliners to approach a field under "blind" conditions either through flying along radio beams or being "talked down"; and fog dispersal equipment.

The Senate group differed with CAA plans to install a neon lighting system which costs about $10,000 per airfield and instead urged the stronger "high intensity" lights for 3,000 feet on each end of 6,000-foot lighted runways.

It recommended that only a single fog dispersal system be installed for testing because these cost upwards of $350,000 each. Government officials plan a test installation at Los Angeles.

With its interim safety report filed, Brewster's subcommittee now has been authorized to study the financial condition of airlines and relation of proposed mergers to national air policies.

Other members of the aviation subcommittee are Senators Hawkes (R-N.J.), Capehart (R-Ind.), McFarland (D-Ariz.) and McMahon (D-Conn.).

Welles Says Messersmith Aids U.S.-Argentine Ties

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23 (AP).—Sumner Welles, former Under Secretary of State, declared tonight that the differences between the United States and Argentina were now being solved by the "intelligent diplomacy" of Ambassador George Messersmith.

Mr. Welles said in his weekly broadcast that the differences would have been solved long ago had Mr. Messersmith "been able freely to carry out the policies in which he believes, namely, policies based on full respect for the sovereign rights of the Argentine people and of their freely elected and constitutional government, rather than the policies of browbeating and of attempted unilateral imposition which the Department of State has so mistakenly and so unsuccessfully been trying to put over."

Mr. Messersmith returned recently to Buenos Aires after conferences with Secretary of State George C. Marshall and Spruille Braden, Assistant Secretary in charge of Latin-American affairs. Mr. Messersmith and Mr. Braden have disagreed in the past over details of policy toward Argentina.

30.24-8075

Mr. Welles called for the "immediate termination of the wholly unnecessary deadlock" between the United States and Argentina and asserted that any inter-American defense treaty would be worthless without "loyal" Argentine co-operation.

World Government Groups Merge

ASHEVILLE, N.C., Feb. 23—(AP) Six major world government movements in the United States today merged themselves into a single organization with a single policy aimed at "bringing about the overwhelming support of the American people and their government for a world authority backed by law."

The merger climaxed three days and two nights of heated discussion. It became possible only when a fiery group of college students from Evanston, Ill., temporarily abandoned its last ditch fight to broaden the chosen method of achieving world government.

The new organization—United world federalists—is committed at least until Nov. 1 to work primarily through strengthening the United Nations.

The Evanston group—formerly World Republic, Inc.—wanted to work through a peoples' world constitutional convention. It sought repeatedly to include such a convention in the policy of the merged group.

The students met with failure so many times that they had to yield.

Final vote on the merger resolution was unanimous. It was followed by the adoption of a detailed plan of action which included the recommendation that members of United World Federalists actively seek political office.

The action report stated that the aim of U.W.F. "must be to mobilize popular opion and action toward world government so that the local and national representatives of the people will be impelled to world federalism by an irresistible political force."

United World Federalists will include both adult and student chapters, which presently have 18,027 members. It envisions a huge campaign to touch every county, town and city in the United States with world government information.

HOOVER BACK IN U. S.

MITCHEL FIELD, N.Y., Feb. 23 (AP) Herbert Hoover returned today by plane from a 6,000-mile round trip to Europe to survey food problems in the German and Austrian occupation zones.

The former president, looking tired, said he would have no comment until he had made his official report to President Truman, at whose request he went to Europe. He declined to say when he planned to go to Washington.

Accompanying Hoover were Hugh Gibson, former U.S. Ambassador to Belgium, and D.A. Fitzgerald, secretary general of the International Emergency Food Council.

TROOPSHIP ARRIVALS

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Three troop transports from Bremerhaven are scheduled to reach New York today. They are the Wilson Victory, with 852 troops, previously due yesterday, the Westerly Victory with 719 troops, and the hospital ship Charles Stafford, with 481 patients and other personnel.

No troopships arrived in the U. S. yesterday.

UNDER THE AMERICAN PLAN, THE 623 ISLANDS--INCLUDING THE MARSHALLS, CAROLINES AND MARIANAS--WOULD BE ADMINISTERED SOLELY BY THE UNITED STATES, WHICH COULD FORTIFY THEM AS "STRATEGIC AREAS."

BRITAIN AND RUSSIA, ALONG WITH AUSTRALIA, HAVE TOLD THE STATE DEPARTMENT THAT THE TRUSTEESHIP PROPOSAL SHOULD NOT BE CONSIDERED UNTIL A JAPANESE PEACE TREATY IS CONCLUDED.

THIS WEEK'S ACTIONS ON THE ALBANIAN AND ATOMIC QUESTIONS DEPENDED LARGELY ON THE ATTITUDE OF SOVIET DELEGATE ANDREI A. GROMYKO, WHO WAS EXPECTED TO EXPRESS HIS VIEWS ON THE TWO ISSUES MONDAY AND TUESDAY.

ON THE ALBANIAN DISPUTE, BRITISH DELEGATE SIR ALEXANDER CADOGAN ALREADY HAS EXPRESSED FIRM OPPOSITION TO A COLOMBIAN PROPOSAL THAT THE CASE BE SENT TO THE INTERNATIONAL COURT OF JUSTICE. CADOGAN WAS EXPECTED TO INSIST ON A DEFINITE FINDING BY THE COUNCIL. A COMMISSION TO STUDY THE EVIDENCE MIGHT BE PROPOSED AS A COMPROMISE.

ON THE ATOMIC QUESTION, THE COUNCIL NOW HAS BEFORE IT ATOMIC COMMISSION RECOMMENDATIONS WHICH FOLLOW CLOSELY THE U.S. PLAN, AND 13 AMENDMENTS OFFERED BY RUSSIA. MOST OF THE DELEGATES, INCLUDING AUSTIN, HAVE EXPRESSED THE VIEW THAT THE COUNCIL HAS NO AUTHORITY TO AMEND THE COMMISSION'S REPORT, BUT MUST SEND THE RECOMMENDATIONS BACK FOR RECONSIDERATION IN THE LIGHT OF THE COUNCIL'S DEBATE.

GROMYKO STILL HAS NOT EXPRESSED HIS VIEWS ON THIS PROCEDURE. HE TOLD REPORTERS HE WOULD DETERMINE HIS POSITION AFTER HEARING THE REMAINING DELEGATES' VIEWS.

LONDON, FEB. 23-(AP)-CAUTIOUS AUSTRIAN OBSERVERS IN LONDON BELIEVE THAT THE FUTURE OF THEIR COUNTRY IS BRIGHTENING A LITTLE.

THE PROSPECT IS STILL DREARY ENOUGH FOR 7,000,000 PERSONS' LIVING IN A PLEASANT BUT ONLY MODERATELY PRODUCTIVE LAND IN CROWDED CENTRAL EUROPE. BUT SOME AUSTRIANS WHO ARE WATCHING AN AUSTRIAN TREATY TAKE FORM AT THE FOUR-POWER DEPUTY FOREIGN MINISTERS CONFERENCE ARE MORE HOPEFUL THAN THEY WERE SIX WEEKS AGO.

WHAT THE AUSTRIANS SAW WAS A GLIMMER OF HOPE THAT AUSTRIA MAY BECOME A NEUTRAL STATE IN THE HEART OF THE CONTINENT, WITH ITS SECURITY PLEDGED AND RESPECTED BY NEIGHBORS WEST AND EAST. THE HOPE OF THE AGED PRESIDENT KARL RENNER WAS REPORTED TO BE THE CREATION OF ANOTHER SWITZERLAND- TOO SMALL TO COUNT IN POWER POLITICS BUT ABLE, GIVEN A FRIENDLY ATTITUDE ON THE PART OF NEIGHBORS, TO TAKE CARE OF ITSELF.

AT THE PRESENT STAGE OF TREATY DRAFTING IT SEEMED REASONABLY CERTAIN THAT THE COUNTRY CAN COUNT ON THE FOLLOWING FIXED POLICIES AND PROMISES:

AUSTRIA WILL BE RECOGNIZED AS A SOVEREIGN STATE, WITH MEMBERSHIP IN THE UNITED NATIONS; POWERFUL GUARANTEES AGAINST FUTURE AGGRESSION BY GERMANY ARE CERTAIN AS WELL AS GUARANTEES THAT AUSTRIA MAY CONTINUE TO BE A DEMOCRACY, PROTECTED AGAINST SUCH POSSIBLE DISTURBANCES AS A RESTORATION OF A HAPSBURG MONARCHY; BORDER QUESTIONS WILL BE SETTLED PERMANENTLY, EITHER WITH NO LOSS, OR LITTLE LOSS OF TERRITORY.

AUSTRIA WILL NOT BE BURDENED WITH VAST REPARATIONS BILLS, ALTHOUGH A FEW CLAIMS ARE ON FILE; EARLY END OF OCCUPATION BY ALLIED TROOPS, AND AN END OF THE HAMPERING DIVISION OF THE COUNTRY INTO ZONES, IS FORESEEN; A LITTLE AUSTRIAN ARMY, TOO SMALL FOR WAR BUT BIG ENOUGH TO PRESERVE INTERNAL ORDER, WILL BE PERMITTED; SOME TRADE WITH THE WORLD, TO BALANCE AUSTRIA'S LOPSIDED ECONOMY, IS PROMISED.

THERE ARE UNSETTLED PROBLEMS, SOME OF WHICH MAY TAX THE INGENUITY OF THE FOREIGN MINISTERS AT THEIR MEETING IN MOSCOW NEXT MONTH. MANY LIE IN THE ECONOMIC FIELD.

AUSTRIA MAY ESCAPE PAYING REPARATIONS. THE BIG FOUR RECOGNIZED IT AS A LIBERATED COUNTRY WHICH SHOULD NOT BE BURDENED EXCESSIVELY FOR PARTICIPATION IN THE WAR. YUGOSLAVIA HAS MADE A REPARATIONS CLAIM, APPARENTLY WITH CONSIDERABLE RUSSIAN ENCOURAGEMENT. HOWEVER IT MAY BE SETTLED, THE REPARATIONS DRAIN ON AUSTRIA WILL BE SLIGHT COMPARED WITH THAT TO BE DEMANDED FROM GERMANY.

BUT WHILE AUSTRIA MAY MAKE NO DIRECT PAYMENTS, THE COUNTRY WILL HAVE THE PAINFUL IMPRESSION THAT IT IS PAYING A GOOD DEAL BECAUSE GERMAN ASSETS WILL BE REMOVED OR SEIZED.

GERMANS ACQUIRED MUCH PROPERTY IN AUSTRIA. RUSSIA AND THE WESTERN POWERS RENOUNCED CLAIMS OF REPARATIONS FROM AUSTRIA, BUT THESE GERMAN ASSETS MUST BE SURRENDERED TO MEET THE VAST CLAIMS AGAINST GERMANY.

QUESTIONS OF NATIONALITY AND CITIZENSHIP ARE CONFUSED, HOWEVER, AND THE FOREIGN MINISTERS WILL BE CALLED UPON TO MAKE SOME SHARP DEFINITIONS. DEPUTIES AGREED THAT PROPERTIES OF GERMAN NAZIS, WHO FLOCKED IN AFTER THE ANNEXATION TO EXPLOIT THE COUNTRY, SHOULD BE SEIZED. THERE WAS NO FINAL AGREEMENT ON OTHER CATEGORIES OF OWNERS.

YUGOSLAV CLAIMS DIRECTLY AGAINST AUSTRIA, FOR REPARATIONS AND A STRIP OF SOUTH CARINTHIAN TERRITORY INCLUDING THE CITIES OF KLAGENFURT AND VILLACH, PROBABLY WILL BE PASSED ON TO THE MOSCOW MEETING WITH THE DISAPPROVAL OF THE THREE WESTERN POWERSM

ALL OF THE ALLIES, RUSSIA AND FRANCE ESPECIALLY, INSISTED EMPHATICALLY THAT AUSTRIA MUST NEVER AGAIN UNITE WITH GERMANY. THE RUSSIAN FORMULA, ACCEPTED BY THE DEPUTIES, WAS TO PROHIBIT KNOWN NAZIS FROM SERVING IN THE ARMY, TO EXCLUDE ALL OLD GENERALS AND ALL OLD OFFICER WHO IN THEIR CAREERS HAD WON MORE THAN TWO PROMOTIONS. IT WAS DECIDED TO KEEP THE NEW ARMY AT 50,000 TO 55,000 MEN.

THE DISPOSAL OF 500,000 DISPLACED PERSONS WAS ONE OF THE DIFFICULTIES AUSTRIANS HOPED WOULD BE SETTLED AT MOSCOW.

ASSOCIATED PRESS SCIENCE REPORTER WITH RUSSIAN ATOMIC
NEW YORK, FEB. 23-(AP)-DR. WERNER HEISENBERG'S STATEMENT THAT THE RUSSIANS ARE OFFERING TO HIRE GERMAN ATOMIC SCIENTISTS CAN BE INTERPRETED IN TWO WAYS.

ONE IS THAT THE RUSSIANS ARE NOT VERY FAR ALONG AND THAT THEIR OWN SCIENTISTS NEED TO BE SUPPLEMENTED.

THE OTHER IS THAT THE RUSSIANS MAY BE DOING VERY WELL ON THEIR OWN, BUT WISH TO HURRY THEIR PROGRESS WITH OUTSIDE WORKERS.

THE HIRING OF GERMAN SCIENTISTS IS NOT IN ITSELF ENOUGH TO PRODUCE ATOMIC BOMBS. THE RUSSIAN SCIENTISTS PROBABLY KNOW AS MUCH ABOUT THE BOMB PRINCIPLES AS THE GERMANS.

HEISENBERG'S STATEMENT THAT IT IS MOSTLY A MATTER OF ENGINEERING TO PRODUCE BOMBS IS NOT COMPLETE. ONE PROBLEM, WHICH IS MORE SCIENTIFIC THAN ENGINEERING, IS HOW TO ASSEMBLE THE PIECES OF URANIUM OR PLUTONIUM AT THE HIGH SPEED NECESSARY TO MAKE THEM EXPLODE.

THAT IS PROBABLY THE SINGLE BIGGEST SECRET OF THE ATOM BOMB. THE SMYTH REPORT GAVE THE PRINCIPLES THAT THE AMERICANS USED TO MAKE BOMBS, BUT EVEN SO, LEFT AN ALMOST INSOLUBLE PROBLEM.

THE FACT THAT THE GERMANS ARE WORKING ON COSMIC RAYS FOR THE BRITISH HAS NO DIRECT CONNECTION WITH ATOM BOMBS. COSMIC RAYS ARE ONLY TOOLS

ARE ONLY TOOLS FOR INVESTIGATING UNKNOWN NUCLEAR PROBLEMS.

THE STATEMENT THAT THE GERMANS HAD AN ATOMIC PILE AT WORK AGREES WITH THE OFFICIAL REPORTS AT THE END OF THE WAR, WHICH PUT THEM AT LEAST TWO YEARS BEHIND THE AMERICANS.

HEISENBERG SAYS THIS PILE WAS MAKING PLUTONIUM. THAT IS UNDOUBTEDLY TRUE BECAUSE ANY ATOMIC PILE AUTOMATICALLY PRODUCES PLUTONIUM. THE PROBLEM IS TO SEPARATE AND PURIFY THE PLUTONIUM. THIS PROBLEM IS COMPARATIVELY EASY SINCE IT IS A SORT OF CHEMISTRY THAT IS WELL KNOWN THE WORLD OVER.

U.S., RUSSIA IN DISPUTE ON ALBANIA CASE

Johnson Supports British Charge About Mining Of Channel

F. Carpenter

Lake Success, N.Y., Feb. 24 (AP). The United States and Russia took opposing sides today in a four-hour wrangle in the United Nations Security Council which ended without any progress on the British case against Albania.

The Security Council adjourned the Albanian discussion until Thursday after failing to agree on an Australian proposal to turn the case over to a three-man subcommittee for study and a report by next Monday.

Herschel V. Johnson, United States delegate, told the Security Council that this country supported Great Britain in its contention that Albania was responsible for mine damage to two British warships and the consequent death of 44 British sailors in Corfu Channel last October 22.

Albania has disclaimed responsibility.

NIGHT

Charges British Rejection

Johnson said the United States finds it difficult to believe that Albania knew nothing about the mines.

Gromyko attacked the British charges as "groundless."

Furthermore, Gromyko said, the British had rejected an Albanian effort to settle the case bilaterally and there was no reason for the Security Council to be discussing it. He said Albania was consistently ignored by the British in all mine-sweeping arrangements off the Albanian coast.

Gromyko came to the defense of the Soviet satellite after Paul Hasluck of Australia, proposed that the Security Council name a subcommittee of three members to sift the evidence and report back next Monday.

Opposed By Cadogan

Johnson sided with Hasluck. Jerzy Michalowski, of Poland, who joined Gromyko against Hasluck, proposed that the case be sent to the International Court of Justice. However, he met quick opposition from Sir Alexander Cadogan, of Great Britain, who said Michalowski's proposal should have been ruled out of order.

Cadogan made it clear prior to the session that he was opposed to all suggestions that the case go to the international court.

Gromyko Speaks 30 Minutes

In a 30-minute speech in Russian, Gromyko said there was no evidence to confirm the British allegation that mines recently were laid in Corfu Channel be decided by done by the Albanian authorities or with their knewledge.

Gromyko demanded that the question of the safety of navigation in Corfu channel be decided by direct negotiations between Albania and Britain.

The Security Council will turn tomorrow to atomic energy, continuing its debate on the report submitted by the United Nations Atomic Energy Commission last December.

U.S. Seen Undecided

The United States was reported undecided on its position, but was inclined to favor appointment of a subcommittee to consider details of the complaint before voting on whether the Council should handle the question or toss it to the court. Australia was said to be ready to go along with this tentative American proposal.

Great Britain gave up her vote as a complaining party, but was ready to argue firmly for Council action on the charges that Albania had committed "a crime against humanity."

The British seek an apology and compensation for damage to two destroyers and the loss of 44 British officers and seamen in a Corfu Channel mining incident last October 22.

Atomic Issue Pushed

Delegates were hopeful that they would be able to dispose of the Albanian dispute and conclude the present phase of atomic control discussions this week. However, there was some doubt that this hope would be fulfilled. (INSERT)

The atomic control issue comes up tomorrow. Some delegates believed that the issue might be sent back to the Atomic Energy Commission with instructions that additional efforts be made to reconcile the Russian and American views.

The Council may begin discussions Wednesday on the United States proposal that the Japanese-mandate islands in the Pacific be placed under a United Nations strategic trusteeship.

Three Nations Opposed

United States Delegate Warren R. Austin was understood to be ready to ask that the trusteeship question be placed on Wednesday's agenda, but authoritative sources said he would not demand immediate acceptance of the plan in the face of Russian-British-Australian opposition. (ADD)

Pole Favors Referring Albania Case To Court

1947

L. Haack

Lake Success, N.Y., Feb. 24 (AP)—A Polish delegate said today that the United Nations Security Council should refer Great Britain's mine-laying charges against Albania to the International Court of Justice.

DAY

Poland's stand, disclosed as the Council prepared to resume debate, was viewed as an indication that Soviet Delegate Andrei Gromyko would plump for the court idea. Poland has voted with Russia consistently on major issues before the Council.

Dr. Julius Katz-Suchy, alternate Polish delegate, said his country would introduce a resolution to send the case to The Hague court if such a step was not taken formally by some other nation.

GERMAN PACT DELAY LIKELY

Official Of Deputies Doubts Complication At Moscow

A. Steinhoff

London, Feb. 24 (AP)—An American official working with the Deputy Foreign Ministers Council declared today the complexity of some issues involved would make it impossible for the four-power Foreign Ministers to complete a German peace treaty in Moscow next month.

"There has been too much ballyhoo about the Moscow conference," he said. "The world has been led to expect too much."

NIGHT

Predicts Brief Discussion

The official asserted the ministers would be doing well if they completed the Austrian treaty and he predicted the deputies would be given the German pact to debate anew after the Moscow conference closed. The deputies were scheduled to end their current meetings here tomorrow.

He said there was no adequate appreciation of the intricate nature of issues involved in the German treaty and that no four men, possessing the best of will, could reach complete agreement on all of them in a few weeks.

At the final session of the Austrian section today, the deputies failed to agree on a proposal that Austria should compensate citizens of the United Nations whose properties were damaged, destroyed or confiscated in that country.

U.S. Would Turn To Germany

France and Britain held that Austria should make restitution up to two thirds of the value of properties lost. The United States declared that such claims should be made against Germany.

Another proposal by the United States was that Austria be permitted to get back some of its "lost" railway cars by negotiating bilaterally with states now using the missing rolling stock.

The question of defining German assets in Austria to be seized for reparations was referred to the Moscow meeting.

The deputies working on the German treaty held a 5½-hour meeting tonight and discussed the procedure the Foreign Ministers follow at Moscow, but reported no progress.

Feodor T. Gusev, Russian deputy, was quoted by American sources as saying it appeared impossible to reach agreement here on Moscow procedure.

2-Treaty Task Held Too Big For Parley

A. Steinhoff

London, Feb. 24 (AP)—An American official working here on the preliminaries of a German peace treaty predicted today that the Foreign Ministers could not finish a treaty draft at their meeting in Moscow next Month.

The Ministers will be doing well at Moscow, he said, if they complete an Austrian treaty.

This official said there is a danger that a sense of disappointment will sweep the world when the accomplishments of Moscow are surveyed.

DAY

The official added that there is no adequate appreciation of the complexity of issues involved. No four men, even with the best of will, he said, could come to complete agreement on all aspects of all German problems in a matter of a few weeks.

Deputies May Get Job

His prediction was that the task of the actual drafting of the German treaty would be passed to the deputy foreign ministers who have been meeting here since mid-January.

The deputies today referred to the Moscow conference the definition be placed on "German assets" in Austria.

The United States, Russia, Great Britain and France have agreed that "German assets" in the reconstituted nation must be surrendered to the Allies. Russia has sought a broad definition, British officials sources said, while the other three nations asked a narrower interpretation. (ADD)

Anglo-German Trade Resumes on March 4

DAY

London, Feb. 24 (A. The revision was timed to coincide with similar action by the United States, the board said.

SOME BRITISH PLANTS REOPEN AS CRISIS EASES

Tom Gilliams

LONDON, Feb. 24—(AP) Britain's industrial Midlands resumed limited operation today in the first break of the two-week coal crisis, and Prime Minister Attlee announced in the House of Commons that more idle factories would be given the go-ahead next Monday.

Near-record low temperatures served notice, however, that the coal shortage was far from solved, and forecasters said the cold wave would continue several more days. Moreton-in-the-Marsh, in southern England, reported a night temperature of two below zero, lowest in the British isles in 29 years.

4 Million Still Idle

A million workers were affected by the switch-on of electricity in industries in eight midland counties. Another 4,000,000 remained idle, mostly in 30 other counties in which industrial power was cut off two weeks ago.

NIGHT

Attlee told the House that power would be restored a week from today in factories in Manchester and the textile-producing northwest region. He made no mention, however, of easing the island-wide electrical cut-off of five hours a day to domestic consumers.

Restoration of industrial power in London and the southeast region, the Prime Minister declared, will depend on further fuel economies.

Some steam-operated cotton mills, burning tires, wood and other pieces of scrap, resumed operation at Bolton in the northwest area. One plant used a lawnmower engine to drive a machine.

The ministry of fuel and power announced that for the moment, at least, threatened further restrictions would not be imposed on the use of gas. A complete report on coal supplies at the nation's 1,100 gas plants is scheduled to be issued tomorrow.

Recovery Is Slow

Coal stocks in the northwest industrial area have been built up to a 15 1-2-day supply, but recovery has been slowed in the London region, principally because of its distance from the coal fields.

The weather still was the critical factor in the race to build up coal piles. A pea soup fog and frozen railroad switches slowed shipments of coal, but more miles of track were cleared of snow.

The temperature in London dropped to 14 degrees, coldest since 1929. (ADD)

Million Af Work, British Opening More Plants

T. Williams

London, Feb. 24 (AP)—Midlands factories employing 1,000,000 workers reopened today and Prime Minister Attlee told the House of Commons that plants in Manchester and the northwest would resume operations Monday.

Attlee did not indicate when the industrial blackout, resulting from the Government's drastic fuel and power conservation order, would be revoked in the London and southeast area.

Industries in the Midlands, which include Birmingham and central England, reopened on the coldest day of the winter after two weeks of idleness which had extended to 38 out of the 64 English and Welsh counties.

Four Million Still Idle

However, 4,000,000 workers remained idle.

Attlee gave no hint of easing the island-wide restrictions denying power to domestic users for five hours daily. Coal stocks in the northwest, which includes a large proportion of the nation's textile mills, have been built up to an average of 15½ days' supply since imposition of the blackout, he said.

The Prime Minister added that restoration of power for nonessential industries in London and the southeast depended on further fuel economies.

Danger Of Fog

Reporting that weather still was the dominating factor in the battle against the worst fuel famine in Britain's history, Attlee said coal now is moving with but little interference but that there is danger of widespread fog.

A pea-soup fog blacked out London and large areas of England, delaying coal shipments and putting heavier strains on the short coal and waning gas supplies.

Moreton-in-the-Marsh in the Cotswolds of southern England reported a night temperature of 2 degrees below zero, lowest in the British Isles in 29 years and about 34 degrees below normal. London had a 14 degree minimum, coldest since February, 1929. Forecasters said the cold wave would continue several days.

Gas Users Warned

The Ministry of Fuel and Power called for a ten per cent reduction in coal consumption by gas companies and warned domestic users of further cuts in service, probably equaling the five-hour restrictions on the use of domestic electricity.

Many factories in the Midlands were unable to resume work today despite the lifting of the power ban. A priority on coal shipments in the last two weeks has been given to power stations, and stocks at many industrial plants were too low to permit operation.

The Austin automobile plant (15,000 workers) and Cadbury's candy works (8,000 workers) remained closed. Others, such as the Dunlop Rubber Company (7,000 workers), the Imperial Chemistry Industries (6,000 workers) and General Electric (7,000 workers) planned a three or four day week.

Meanwhile, Britain has appealed to Argentina for rush shipments of meat to avert a further cut in the present ration.

A Ministry of Food spokesman said today labor troubles had interrupted the flow of meat imports from the southern dominions and "if there are any further serious delays it will be impossible to maintain rations at the present rate."

$70,000,000,000 Russ Budget

London, Feb. 24 (AP)—Tass reported from Moscow today that the Supreme Soviet of the Soviet Union had approved unanimously the 1947 budget of 371,400,000,000 rubles. (This is about $70,000,000,000 at the official exchange rate, or $30,950,000,000 at the rate at which diplomats can exchange dollars from rubles.)

Paris Price Cut In Effect Wednesday

Paris Feb. 24 (A. P.).—The second mandatory price reduction of five per cent will go into effect Wednesday, Premier Paul Ramadier announced tonight. It will give Frenchmen prices 10 per cent lower than those of late 1946.

D'Argenlieu Arrives in Paris.

Paris, Feb. 24 (A. P.).—Admiral Georges Thierry D'Argenlieu, French High Commissioner in Indo-China, arrived by plane today from Saigon. He had been called back by the Government for consultations on the warfare which has troubled Indo-China since last autumn.

A Vienna dispatch, however, said the Austrian government had "no further interest" in prosecuting von Papen, in view of the sentence imposed today.

In addition to the prison term, the diplomat's personal fortune—including vast, ancient estates in the British and French occupation zones—was confiscated and he was assessed court costs of $41,300. He will be allowed to retain only $500.

The one year and five months which von Papen served while a prisoner under the jurisdiction of the international military tribunal, which acquitted him of war crimes charges, will be credited against his eight-year sentence. Camil Sachs, court president, said he did not believe the prisoner would be required to do much "hard labor," because of his health.

The prisoner's wife and four children were among those in the crowded courtroom.

Von Papen, who wept during his trial and complained that no one would believe his statements, will start serving his term immediately, regardless of any intention to appeal to the German superior court and possibly the military government.

Called Master Schemer

Sachs said Von Papen was a "major offender" and master schemer of German politics, but had not been sentenced to the maximum of 10 years because he had made a speech opposing lawlessness under Hitler's regime in 1934 and had opposed the launching of the second World War.

However, the judgment declared that "he made many speeches declaring himself a Nazi supporter and he signed laws that did not respect human rights."

Von Papen was one of three top-ranking Nazis acquitted last October by the international tribunal which sentenced Hermann Goering and 10 others to death. The other two were Hans Fritzsche, radio propagandist sentenced to nine years by a denazification court, and Hjalmar Schacht, financier, still awaiting trial on denazification charges.

Von Papen was a reichschancellor before Hitler came to power and became vice chancellor under Hitler. Besides serving as Nazi ambassador to Austria in the days immediately preceding the anschluss, he was wartime ambassador to Turkey and worked to keep Turkey from joining the Allies.

At a news conference held in a jail cell after the trial, Von Papen said he had sought peace terms as early as 1942 with Laurence A. Steinhardt, then U. S. ambassador to Turkey, and George H. Earle, former American minister to Bulgaria.

He said he was convinced at that time the Nazis were leading Germany to ruin. The peace talks were instigated by the "other side," he added, but he participated in them quickly and freely.

As to his role in Austria, Von Papen said he strived to prevent what he called a "Danube confederation" of Austria, Italy and Romania. Mussolini wanted Austria as a buffer state against Germany, the diplomat told newsmen.

He said Court President Sachs "tried" to give him a fair trial, but failed because the denazification law makes it "impossible."

Trembling Von Papen Given Eight Years at Hard Labor

NUERNBERG, Germany, Feb. 24—(AP) A German denazification court today sentenced Franz von Papen to eight years at hard labor for his activities as the sly ace of Adolf Hitler's diplomatic corps.

Von Papen flushed and trembled as he heard the sentence.

The term was considered equivalent to life imprisonment, since the 68-year-old von Papen is suffering from hardening of the arteries, and is not expected to live more than a few years.

Shortly after the sentence was pronounced, the seven-man court said it had received notice from Austria that the prisoner was wanted in that country for trial in connection with activities as Nazi ambassador to Vienna. The diplomat has been accused of paving the way for the absorption of Austria.

Von Papen Gets 8-Year Term As A Nazi

Nuernberg, Feb. 24 (AP)—Franz von Papen, ace of Adolf Hitler's diplomatic corps, was sentenced by a German de-Nazification court today to serve eight years at hard labor.

The court found the former Reichschancellor and Ambassador guilty as a "major offender" who helped Hitler to power and stayed with the Nazi regime to the end.

The court also ordered von Papen's personal fortune confiscated.

Von Papen was acquitted of war crimes charges only last October by the International Military Tribunal which sentenced Hermann Goering and ten other Nazi leaders to death.

Austria May Try Him

The de-Nazification court was advised today that the Austrian Government wants to place the diplomat on trial for his activities in the absorption of Austria by Germany in 1938.

Prosecutor Werner Fiebig said Dr. Josef Gerge, Minister of Justice in Vienna, had written him that his Government "has taken steps with competent authorities" to gain custody of von Papen.

The Allied Control Council in Berlin is the sole authority that could grant extradition.

Von Papen now is 68 and has hardening of the arteries. The court's sentence was regarded as tantamount to a life term.

Sought To Aid Reich

Von Papen's confiscated property includes centuries-old estates in both the French and British zones of Germany.

At the de-Nazification trial, he protested that he had been motivated by a desire not to help Hitler but to help Germany. He insisted that after the Führer rose to power, he, like all others, was helpless to intervene.

Von Papen said he had opposed the union of Austria with Germany when he was Ambassador to Austria and had worked for peace as Ambassador to Turkey.

The court, however, ruled that his possession of a gold Nazi party badge, however honorary, and lack of evidence of any break with Hitler were enough to justify his conviction.

May Keep Only $500

The judges said Von Papen would be given credit for time he served as a prisoner of the International Tribunal. This will take one year and five months off his eight-year term.

The court also announced that he would be assessed 413,000 marks ($41,300) "as costs of his trial" and would be allowed to keep no more than 5,000 marks ($500).

Von Papen was ordered held under arrest to start his term immediately, regardless of any intention to appeal the verdict to the German Superior Court and possibly to the Military Government.

Served Reich 30 Years

This was the same procedure a Nuernberg de-Nazification court took in the case of Hans Fritzsche, radio propagandist acquitted with Van Papen and Hjalmar Schacht by the International Tribunal.

Fritzsche got nine years from the de-Nazification court. Now in Langwasser Labor Camp, he said in jocular vein yesterday, that he was preparing a bed for Von Papen.

Van Papen's wife, son and three daughters were present at the conclusion of his trial.

Van Papn served Germany as a diplomat, soldier, legislator or executive for some 30 years.

In World War I he was a military attache in Mexico and the United States and a German chief of staff of a Turkish Army. He was thrown out of the United States in a diplomatic incident.

Arranged 1938 Parley

As ambassador to Austria, he induced Chancellor Kurt von Schuschnigg to go to see Hitler in 1938. Shortly afterward, Germany took over her neighbor.

As ambassador to Turkey from 1939 to 1944, von Papen worked to keep the Turks neutral. In February, 1942, a bomb blast on an Ankara street wounded him slightly. Von Papen was dismissed in 1944. United States troops captured him in the Ruhr in April, 1945.

Longer Papen Term Sought

Munich, Germany, Feb. 24 (AP)—Bavarian de-Nazification officials said tonight they would ask a new trial for Franz von Papen, Adolf Hitler's ace diplomat, in an attempt to obtain a maximum prison sentence of ten years.

The eight-year term to which von Papen was sentenced today by a de-Nazification court in Nuernberg "is not enough," the officials said.

Must Serve Immediately

One official spokesman for the de-Nazification ministry said Minister Aldfred Loritz would ask the Nuernberg public prosecutor to appeal the sentence by which the aged diplomat was condemned to eight years at hard labor and confiscation of his entire personal fortune. Von Papen was convicted of having supported the Nazi regime in Germany.

The spokesman said also that von Papen must begin to serve his sentence in a labor camp immediately despite an appeal by Camil Sachs, presiding judge of the Nuernberg De-Nazification court which convicted von Papen.

Von Papen's Health Cited

Deploring conditions in the Langwasser labor camp where von Papen will be sent and citing von Papen's ill health, Sachs asked Loritz to let the former "gray fox" of European diplomacy stay in the comparatively comfortable Nuernberg jail until appeals have been ruled on.

"In accordance with an order by American occupation authorities, all persons convicted by a de-Nazification court must be arrested immediately and sent at once to an interment camp," the spokesman explained.

Egon Kubischok, von Papen's attorney, announced that he also would appeal today's sentence and would seek either acquital or reduction of the eight-year term.

Leader in Nazi Underground Plot Had 'Inside' Job with U. S. Army

FRANKFURT, Feb. 24—(AP) A former German SS captain who worked for the United States Army hiring German bands to play for American entertainments was one of the leaders seized in the smashing of a widespread Nazi underground movement, it was revealed today.

U. S. Army officers made the disclosure as the British and Americans, continuing an operation launched in a Saturday night snowstorm, made more arrests in the wrecking of an underground plot to restore German armed might. Authorities said the movement claimed possession of a secret bacteriological weapon.

Says Plot "Smashed"

In the British zone, where the bulk of arrests was made, an intelligence officer said the subversive movement could be regarded as "smashed." He described the raids as "extraordinarily successful," but declined to give the exact number of arrests. Previously the British said "hundreds" were seized.

An official British spokesman in Berlin said tonight the raids had resulted in "one or more arrests in almost every town in the British zone." He said the operation, now 80 per cent complete, would end within the next 48 hours.

The German ex-captain seized, an employe in the entertainment branch of the headquarters command in Frankfurt, was Werner Roepke.

His main job was to hire German bands to play in officers' and enlisted men's clubs. As master of ceremonies he also had entertained U. S. military leaders at Frankfurt's exclusive "Cogen House," a club reserved for generals and colonels.

30.24-8083

There he had an opportunity to mingle with the highest ranking American officers and their wives.

Roepke had a faultless American accent and got his job with the Army because of his excellent command of the English language. He said he had been a radio announcer in Florida in 1935-36, and attended school in Vermont.

"Nice, Harmless Guy"

"He kept his mouth shut in the office, and except that he was bitter against Germans working for the U. S. military government he was very courteous to everybody and seemed to be a nice, harmless guy," said an officer with whom Roepke worked.

The Americans seized 30 suspects in their zone. Allied agents in both zones were questioning prisoners in an attempt to gain information that would lead to additional arrests.

A U. S. oficer said there was "close liaison" between underground leaders in the British and American zones. American authorities said they had no immediate plans for prosecution of the suspects.

"We have to break them down fully before we can think of that," an investigating officer said.

The British identified two more Germans arrested by intelligence agents as Walther Teich, former SS lieutenant colonel who had made contact with Danish Nazis, and Edmund Biedelmeyer, former chief of the German secret service in Lublin, Poland.

A British intelligence officer described the conspirators as "all of the Nazi SS gangster type." He said they started plotting in the autumn of 1945 and had been watched for months by British-American intelligence.

"They planned to intimidate German political leaders and then threaten the Allies with what they claimed was a devastating secret weapon," the officer said. "When they began putting out feelers into German political bodies we suspected they were beginning to move."

British authorities said they expected to obtain more details of the movement and its methods from captured documents. They discounted suggestions they might be linked with recent bombings of denazification courts at Stuttgart in the American zone. They said the movement was financed by black market deals and had channels of communication into prisoner of war camps.

NAZI SUSPECT WAS EMPLOYED BY U. S. ARMY

Frankfurt, Feb. 24 (A. P.).—One of the Germans arrested over the week end on suspicion of leading the Nazi underground movement, now smashed, worked for the United States Army and recently moved among the highest ranking American officers and their wives, it was learned today. The army authorities identified him as former SS Capt. Werner Roepke, employed by the entertainment branch of the Frankfurt headquarters command. He was said to be among the ten most important of the thirty plotters caught in the American zone.

He has a faultless American accent, and he also had an opportunity to spy on the Army's activities. He could talk to generals as well as privates. American officers said today that his main job was to engage German bands to play in officers' and enlisted men's clubs, but that, as master of ceremonies, he also entertained American military leaders at Frankfurt's exclusive Cogen House, a club reserved for generals and colonels.

Roepke was hired because of his excellent English and his claim to have been a radio announcer in Florida in 1935-36. He said he was educated in Vermont.

"He kept his mouth shut in the office but he was bitter against Germans working for the United States Military Government," said an American officer with whom Roepke worked.

Ruling Reversed In Murder Trial

Frankfurt, Germany, Feb. 24 (AP). Brig. Gen. C. E. Ryan ordered a military court today to reverse its ruling and proceed with the murder trial of Pfc. Daniel P. Walczak despite Ryan's refusal to surrender official documents the court once held were necessary for the defense.

Walczak is charged with killing a German girl.

Earl J. Carroll, attorney for the Detroit soldier, protested that the general "is usurping the functions of the court to determine the necessity of evidence."

Court Grants Request

"I submit that is an unauthorized interference," said the civilian attorney from San Bruno, Cal.

The court granted Carroll's request for the documents last month and asked Ryan, commandant of headquarters of United States forces in the European theater, to produce them.

When Ryan refused, the court declared itself unable to proceed further with the trial and referred the case back to Ryan, who had appointed the court.

A Month Of Stalemate

After a month of stalemate, Ryan wrote the court today that, "in my opinion, the production of the documents in question is not necessary to the defense of Walczak or the further progress of his trial."

"The court will reconvene, reconsider its action in respect to the matters in which I am not in accord with it, and proceed with the trial," Ryan ordered.

The court then reversed itself, denied Carroll's previously granted request for the documents, and resumed the hearing.

German to Hang For Killing U.S. Flyers

Dachau, Feb. 24 (A. P.).—A United States military court today sentenced Fritz E. Haehner, former Mayor of Ettersberg, Germany, to be hanged for the murder of three American flyers in 1944. Haehner admitted shooting the Americans after they had surrendered. Two accomplices were given sentences of life and twenty years.

British Army Chaplain Shot Traveling In Bus

Rome, Feb. 24 (AP)—A Catholic chaplain attached to the British army was wounded by machine-gun fire when the bus in which he was riding was attacked, British officers reported today. The priest was reported to be in a serious condition with three bullet wounds. He is at the British military hospital in Mestre.

The priest, who has been serving as chaplain to German war prisoners, was returning to Padua from a conference of Catholic Chaplains in Trieste. Three men fired a machine-gun volley at the bus at San Dona Del Piave near Venice, investigators said.

Polish Cabinet Heads Fly to Moscow

Warsaw, Feb. 24 (A. P.).—Premier Josef Cyrankiewicz headed a staff of experts who flew to Moscow today to discuss political and economic relations between Poland and Russia. Also in the delegation were Foreign Minister Zygmunt Modzelewski and Hilary Minc, the Minister of Industry.

Pintar Sentence Commuted

Belgrade, Feb. 24 (AP)—The death sentence imposed recently on Chicago-born Ivan Pintar following his conviction on charges of international espionage, has been commuted by the Yugoslav Federal Praesidium.

The decision reversed a Federal Supreme Court ruling which rejected Pintar's appeal from sentencing by a local court in Croatia.

Truman's Conditions Accepted By Romania

Bucharest, Romania, Feb. 24 (AP). A reliable source said the Romanian Government accepted today President Truman's conditions for food shipments designed to stem starvation in the northern province of Moldavia.

[The conditions were that Romania use none of the American grain to pay reparations; that no grain be exported for trade or other purposes; that American representatives be free to supervise the distribution "in such manner as they see fit" and that the distribution be "without racial, religious or social discrimination."]

The Government also was said to have accepted American Red Cross gifts, guaranteeing distribution.

Moscow Preparing For Big Four Parley

Moscow, Feb. 24 (AP)—All Moscow seems to be preparing for the coming conference of the Four-Power Foreign Ministers.

The hotels—particularly the Moscow, Metropole and National—are being redecorated. The Soviets are spending several million rubles on renovating the Moscow alone. New electric fixtures are being installed in the Metropole. The rooms are being done over, including papering and painting, and new furniture is being moved in.

Repair work is going on all over the city. There have been unusually heavy snowfalls, and hundreds of workers struggle daily to keep the snow from banking on the side streets.

The first American group is expected to arrive here Friday, with Secretary of State Marshall and the main delegation expected March 7. (UNSEA)

The Hall of Columns, located downtown almost across the street from the big, modern Moscow Hotel, is where most of the delegates will stay. It is about three minutes' walk from the National and Metropole hotels, about five minutes from the American Embassy and ten from the Kremlin.

Spiridonovka Palace is a long way from the center of the city, about fifteen minutes by automobile. Transportation to it by subway or bus is long and difficult.

STALIN HAILS ARMY IN SUBDUED TONES

Moscow, Feb. 24 (A. P.).—Premier Stalin marked the twenty-ninth anniversary of the Soviet Army yesterday by issuing an order of the day notable for its restrained tone and lack of reference to world affairs.

Stalin told the Russian people that they had successfully fulfilled the first year of the current Five Year Plan, and that the army was "fulfilling the tasks of combat training placed before it in conditions of peace." He added: "It is also obliged to advance and gain new higher successes in combat and political training. The cause of strengthening peace, the cause of securing security—our country demands this from us. The most important condition of the combat ability of our armed forces is a firm discipline based on the high conscience and political education of our service men."

Toasts to continued friendship between the Soviet, British and American armies were drunk last night at a formal reception given by the Russians.

Few Russ Hear Broadcasts By U.S. 'Voice'

By Eddy Gilmore

Moscow, Feb. 24 (AP)—The "Voice of America," the radio beamed to Russia by the United States Department via Munich, appeared today to be yelling itself hoarse across steppes with little effect.

A number of Russians, interviewed after the first week of operation, expressed these opinions:

1. Reception is very poor.
2. The programs are too highbrow.
3. There is considerable amateurishness.
4. The broadcasts are dull and uninteresting at times.
5. They do not sound American.

Such Russians as have heard the program must be very few, because the broadcasts are so difficult to pick up. There is a great amount of interference from other "voice" stations and from code transmitters. The program fades badly. Apparently the program is not beamed well, because the American station at Frankfurt, Germany, is heard much better in Moscow.

Aside from the mechanical faults, it appears that not many Russians will continue listening to the program unless its contents are improved.

This correspondent has found about 25 Russians who have heard the program. All said the broadcasts were not of general interest to the Russian public.

"British Programs Better"

All but two said the British Broadcasting Corporation's Russian-language broadcasts were better. The two dissenters said both were bad and there was no difference.

Several commented that the American programs were apparently intended to give the Russians something that Americans want Russians to listen to rather than to give the Russians something they would like.

Others suggested that the American program should feature songs by Bing Crosby and Deanna Durbin if a listening public is wanted. They suggested more jazz music, which Russians consider definitely American and which comes in despite fading.

No criticism was voiced to this correspondent about the news.

Reception last night was the best yet.

EGYPT GRANTS FAWZI PERMIT

Outlawed Arab Leader May Stay Week In Country

Cairo, Feb. 24 (AP)—The Egyptian Government today granted the outlawed Fawzi El Kaukji, leading figure in the 1936 Arab revolt, permission to remain in this country for one week.

It was reported unofficially, however, that Kaukji, who flew here yesterday, planned to leave within four days for Syria and Lebanon. He was released recently from the Russian zone of Germany, and was believed to have flown in a French plane from Paris.

The government, which said yesterday that Kaukji could remain in Egypt for only 24 hours, agreed to the one-week stay at the behest of Abdel Rahman Azzam Pasha, secretary general of the Arab League. The Egyptian press had criticized the 24-hour deadline, and said "there should be no obstacles in the way for Arab leaders who come to this country, which welcomes all fighters for freedom."

In Palestine, where there is an $8,000 price on Kaukji's head, an official government announcement conceded that Kaukji and his wife had landed yesterday at Lydda, en route to Cairo, and added: "It was presumed they were traveling under assumed names and unfortunately escaped the vigilance of frontier control." A reliable private source in Jerusalem said the former Arab general was traveling under a Syrian passport carrying the name of Faouski Fouazzi.

SILENT ON JEWISH SHIP

Jerusalem, Feb. 24 (A. P.).—The British military authorities today denied knowledge of a Jewish refugee ship heading toward Palestine with 650 uncertified immigrants aboard. "As far as we know, it's all the figment of some one's imagination," said a high ranking officer. He explained, however, that the Army was usually unaware of refugee ships until notified by the Navy that a ship is in custody. He added: "It has been common for the Jews, knowing that a ship is supposed to be on the way, to spread rumors about it, so that the military will publish what information it has, if any."

Jewish informants identified the ship as the Ulua, flying the Honduran flag, manned by an American crew and carrying mostly young male Jews, who were said to have renamed the ship Ben Hecht in honor of the American playwright. The informants said the ship had sailed from a Swedish port, stopping at Le Havre and Marseille.

Chiang Balked by Yellow River In Plan to Turn It Against Reds

J. Roderick

By The Associated Press

PEIPING, Feb. 24.—The Yellow River, long notorious as "China's sorrow" and currently the object of bitter political contention, has thwarted an effort to divert it to its pre-war channel, United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration officials reported today.

NIGHT

Now, as at the time of its change of course in 1938, it is an important factor in warfare, with the Chinese government and Communists issuing conflicting statements on developments.

It was in May, 1938, that Chinese government troops, attempting to bar the Japanese, dynamited dikes between Kaifeng and Chenghsien in Honan Province. The mighty stream surged southeastward to the Yellow Sea along a course it had followed prior to 1852.

Last April a vast U. N. R. R. A. project was begun to restore it to the former channel, emptying into the Gulf of Chihli, 450 miles northeast of the broken dikes. The announced aim was to salvage vast farmlands inundated along the unprotected present course.

Opposing the change, the Communists contended that 300,000 persons had moved into the old dry bed, that 10,000,000 lived along the old banks and that their losses would offset any gains of land in the present channel. The region of the old bed was and still is Communist-controlled.

Word reaching the U. N. R. R. A. branch in Peiping today said that last week the governn ent, acting on orders of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, suddenly diverted the river to the old channel.

The river, however, refused to be tamed, and quickly threw up a bank of silt at Huayuanko, east of Chenghsien, choking off the flow almost completely. The blocked waters hammered against the nearly completed dam, widened the small remaining gap, and resumed the post-1938 course.

The brief flow down the northern channel destroyed and damaged homes and probably killed a few people, this report said, but now only puddles remain.

The Communist radio at Yenan, which last week angrily disclosed the diversion, contended that 300,000 had been rendered homeless and more than sixty killed.

Reasons for the sudden attempt at diversion were not disclosed. Communist anger was based on the belief that it was done in an attempt to cut off Communist forces in Shantung from their interior bases, and to aid the government drives in southern and central Shantung.

1-Area Sino-Russ Treaty Hinted

Nanking, Feb. 24 (AP)—A high Foreign Office official said today that Gen. Sheng Hsi-tsai, former governor of Sinkiang province, may have concluded, without Central Government authority, a secret "treaty" with the Soviet Union providing for joint exploitation of minerals and development of trade.

The present governor of the far-western province, Gen. Chang Chi-chung, said his predecessor might have concluded such a "treaty." He promised a formal statement clarifying the matter.

The newspaper Ta Kang Pao, comparing the reported "treaty" to Japan's 21 demands on China, said the pact would give the Soviet Union privileges in exploiting Sinkiang's oil and ore resources and establish companies with Sino-Russian capital to develop trade.

A Government official said China could not be expected to recognize commitments made by a local government official without authorization.

CONVICTED IN HONG KONG

Japanese Wartime Police Chief There to Be Hanged

HONG KONG, Feb. 24 (AP)—Col. Noma Kennosuke, commander of Japanese gendarmes during the occupation of Hong Kong, was convicted as a war criminal today by a British court and was sentenced to be hanged.

Kennosuke, the fifty-first Japanese to be tried here and the tenth condemned to death, was accused specifically of responsibility for cruel and inhuman treatment of Allied prisoners of war.

Opposition To British Indian Plan

G. Mason

New Delhi, Feb. 24 (AP)—The Moslem League's newspaper Dawn declared today the British Cabinet mission plan for giving India her independence was "dead and cannot be revived," but expressed willingness to co-operate with the All-India Congress party "in spheres that admit of common endeavor."

The league's newspaper said such co-operation would be a "new approach" to the Indian problem, but would be possible only if the Congress party would "abandon its dream of Hindu domination."

The statement, made in the light of Britain's announced intention to withdraw from India by June, 1948, was interpreted by some observers as indicating the league's possible willingness to enter into a loosely knit Indian federation, provided its demands for Pakistan—an independent Moslem state—were realized.

Dawn reiterated demands for Pakistan.

"Still," it added, "the Moslems would far rather take over their inheritance by mutual agreement, if that were possible, and should it not be possible? If 20,000,000 Moslems are prepared to throw in their lot with some 120,000,000 Hindus in Hindustan, why cannot 30,000,000 Hindus throw in their lot with but 60,000,000 Moslems in Pakistan?"

[The Cabinet mission rejected the Moslem demand for creation of separate Moslem states in the northwest and the northeast of India, holding that it would not solve "the communal minority problem" and that the areas involved "contain the two most vulnerable frontiers in India."]

The predominantly Hindu Congress party has bitterly opposed the idea of setting up a separate Moslem state. Jawaharlal Nehru, chief Congress Minister in the interim government, has welcomed the statement of the British saying they will quit India by June, 1948, and has appealed to the league to join the Constituent Assembly writing a charter for Indian independence.

The league has been participating in the interim government, but not the assembly. Both were created under the British Cabinet mission plan.

Of the plan Dawn declared:

"That scheme is dead and cannot be revived. The machinery it set up for the purpose is no longer valid."

Regarding the Moslem League's original acceptance and subsequent rejection of the plan, the newspaper added: "The experiment has failed . . . not again will the Moslem League gamble with its fate."

Mohammed Ali Jinnah, Moslem League president, said yesterday the league would not yield in its demands for Pakistan. It was his first public statement since the British set a date for getting out of India.

Lahore Police Fire On Moslems; Two Killed

Lahore, India, Feb. 24 (AP)—Two persons were reported killed and 35 others wounded today in fighting which broke out when police fired several volleys at Moslem League demonstrators in Amritsar, Sikh stronghold in northern India 25 miles east of Lahore.

An unofficial source said a Sikh policeman and a league demonstrator were killed, and that a magistrate was among those injured. Order was reported restored tonight.

NIGHT

Earlier the Punjab Provincial Government said the situation in Amritsar was "exceedingly dangerous" and that troops "likely are to be called in." A communiqué said that police had fired on the mob, but made no mention of casualties.

Demonstrations also were intensified in Lahore. A procession of women and children damaged a district courtroom in this city and blocked traffic. Moslem shops were closed in Lahore and Amsitsar.

The demonstrations were part of the league's continuing protest against bans on processions and meetings. The civil disobedience campaign now is in its second month.

Siamese Police Battle 'Tiger' Guerrilla Band

Bangkok, Siam, Feb. 24 (AP)—Five hundred Siamese police, trying to wipe out guerrillas who have been terrorizing the countryside, were reported battling today against a band of 300 entrenched in a village in the hills of Ban Kahphi, north of Ratburi.

A telegram from the area said 29 bandits and three police were killed yesterday.

The guerrillas, led by Sua (Tiger) Phai and Sua Saing, are armed with heavy and light machine guns and grenades. They have been accused of kidnapping a Catholic priest and several other persons.

Police Chief Phra Phicharn, in Bangkok, said his men would wipe out the band in ten days.

Malay Increases Export Rubber Duty

Kuala Lumpur, Malay States, Feb. 24 (AP)—The Malayan Union Government announced today an increase from 2.75 to 3.10 Straits cents per pound in the export duty on rubber.

DAY

The new rate is five per cent ad valorem plus a fourth of a cent, applied to the present fixed-rubber price of 41.78 Straits cents per pound.

The Malayan Union also announced five per cent ad valorem duties on copra, palm oil and coconut oil. These rates apply on controlled prices fixed at 343 Straits dollars per ton for copra and 600 per ton for palm and coconut oil.

Korean Royalty Run Tea Shop

TOKYO, Feb. 24 (AP).—The newspapr "Mainichi" reported today that members of the former Korean monarchy were operating a stationery store, tea shop and sweet drin kstall at Shibuya, a black market center in Tokyo. Their income used to come from the Japanese government in Korea. Befroe the surrender they were treated by the Japanese as royalty.

McNutt Going To Tokyo

Tokyo, Feb. 24 (AP)—Paul V. McNutt, United States Ambassador to the Philippines, will arrive in Tokyo on Tuesday to confer with General MacArthur.

Geisha, Save That Tree!!

Tokyo, Feb. 24 (AP)—Ten geisha girls have been called to Kumagaya, just west of Tokyo, to save the city's cherry trees, which, branch by branch, have been disappearing into cook stoves of shivering citizens.

The geishas will sing and dance near the Chichibu charcoal district, attempting to persuade producers to deliver more fuel.

Lectures for British Troops

KURE, Japan, Feb. 24 (AP).—R. G. Giddens of the British Labor Ministry arrived today to lecture troops on resettlement and other problems connected with their post-service life. He plans to be in Japan six weeks, during which he will tour the British occupation area.

Gets 20-Year Sentence

YOKOHAMA, Feb. 24 (AP).—Fukusaburo Adachi was sentenced by an American 8th Army military court today to twenty years at hard labor for maltreatment of Allied prisoners of war. He was prosecuted by Leonard M. Rand, of Newark, N. J., and Abraham Black, of New York City.

Transport Lands 583 in Japan.

Yokohama, Feb. 24 (A. P.).—Capt. Robert B. Nett of Lynchburg, Va., holder of the Congressional Medal of Honor, was among 124 officers and 459 enlisted men who arrived today aboard the transport Gen. Eltinge. Nett received the medal for heroism in the battle of Leyte.

U. S. TOURISTS FLOCK TO JAPAN

Yokohama, Feb. 24 (A. P.).—United States military railway service officers took a look at their December reports today and decided the motto of Americans in this country is "See Japan first."

In December, 670,000 Americans edged their way into packed Japanese trains and traveled 32,000,000 miles. Heaviest haul was on the seventeen-mile Tokyo-Yokohama electric line, which drew 532,000 passengers.

Americans in Japan are barred only from the subways. On long rail trips they battle for reservations aboard the crack occupation trains—the Allied Yankee and the Dixie.

JAPAN'S BILL INCREASED

Far East Board Rules She Must Pay Reparations Delivery

WASHINGTON, Feb 24 (AP)—The Far Eastern Commission announced tonight a ruling that "Japan, in paying reparations, must bear the cost of packing and delivering goods to ports for shipment to Allied countries."

In a directive sent to Gen. Douglas MacArthur the commission decided also that:

(1) Claimant countries will be consulted in the dismantling and removal of plants and other goods and must accept delivery at Japanese ports.

(2) Each must supply sea or air shipping to transport the reparations.

Officials described the ruling as a necessary preliminary to the start of reparations deliveries, which have been held up by inability to agree with Russia on terms.

Surprise Attacks Mark Fighting Around Hanoi

Manila, Feb. 24 (AP)—The Viet-Nam radio, official voice of the Indo-China resistance movement, said today that the 2-month-old battle around Hanoi had entered a new phase, with "daily surprise attacks" on French positions replacing street fighting.

"These attacks will be concerted with future action by Viet-Nam troops who presently are encircling the French Army in Hanoi," the radio said in a broadcast heard here. It added that Viet-Nam troops "are having to annihilate French outposts" around Hanoi.

The Chinese and Indo-Chinese quarter of Hanoi, center of Viet Nam resistance within the city, fell to the French last week.

The broadcast also quoted Marcel Aschelimann, head of the International Red Cross delegation in Hanoi as saying an agreement had been reached for the transfer of foreign missionaries from Viet Nam territory to French military authorities at front lines.

French Storming Stronghold

Paris, Feb. 24 (AP)—News dispatches from Indo-China reported today that French troops were storming an "important position" held by Viet Nam five miles west of the Langson citadel on the Chinese border.

Some Viet Nam troop movements were said to have been noted near the western suburbs of Hanoi, Indo-China's capital. French patrols were reported active along the railroad from Hanoi to the port of Haiphong; the French control the railway.

The French press agency said that Jean Sainteny, French high commissioner to the northern Indo-Chinese province of Tonkin, had met an "enthusiastic" reception on a tour prior to his return to France late this week to report. The agency quoted Thai Chief Deo Van Long as saying that the local populations wanted to "remain forever under the French protectorate."

Admiral Georges Thierry d'Argenlieu, French high commissioner in Indo-China, arrived by plane today from Saigon.

He had been called back by the Government for consultations on the warfare which has troubled Indo-China since last autumn. There have been rumors in Paris that he would resign or be asked to resign, but they never have had official confirmation.

Parity Dispute Blocks Pact

Manila, Feb. 24 (AP)—One of the basic causes for suspension of negotiations on an amity treaty between China and the Philippines arose over parity rights for Chinese similar to those proposed for Americans in the Philippines, it was learned today.

Elpidio Quirino, vice president and Secretary of Foreign Affairs, in a note to Chinese Minister Chen Chi-peng, disclosed that the controversy had developed over most-favored-nation clauses.

The provision to which Chen objected contained these words: "Stipulations of this treaty do not extend to advantages which are accorded now or which may hereafter be accorded by the Republic of the Philippines to the United States or its nationals."

The clause added, however, that such trade advantages, if granted to any third country, "shall be extended to China gratuitously."

Chinese negotiators balked at granting recriprocal rights to the Philippines for most-favored-nation trading while the proviso which which would eliminate the benefits of parity remained in the proposed treaty.

Under parity, which will be voted upon at a national plebiscite March 11, Americans would have rights to exploit Philippine natural resources and to own or control public utilities until 1974.

Quirino commented in his note to the Chinese Minister that "it is believed the provision objected to by Your Excellency would insure reciprocity of treatment to Filipino nationals in China, although such reciprocity would be only true in theory because there are very few Filipinos living in China while there are hundreds of thousands of Chinese living and doing business in the Philippines."

BOMB WRECKS RADIO STUDIO

Buenos Aires Blast Follows Peron's Communist Attack

Buenos Aires, Feb. 24 (AP)—A bomb explosion wrecked the studios of the pro-Government radio Libertad tonight a few minutes after President Juan D. Perón completed an address broadcast from the Colon Theater.

Two girl performers rehearsing in a near-by building were injured by flying glass. The radio performers and employés in the bombed building had been driven out before the explosion by five armed men who entered carrying two suitcases.

The employés reported that three of the men remained on the lower floor while the other two went to the top floor, then descended driving all the occupants before them. Three floors of the building were damaged and the broadcasting equipment was wrecked.

Attack Communists

The armed men, the studio employés said, left the scene in a taxi which later was reported stolen.

Police said another group of armed men approached the offices of the newspaper La Prensa tonight, but were frightened away by the approach of policemen.

In his speech Perón declared Communists would not be permitted to use the Argentine workers' movement to "carry out their anti-patriotic ends."

He also said that workers had "essential rights" to jobs, adequate pay, self education, proper working conditions, preservation of health and strength through enough rest, economic betterment through better pay for better work and defense of professional interests. The families of workers should be protected, he explained, and the welfare of the workers should include adequate food, housing, clothing and social security.

Protection of these rights, he said, should not depend on labor contracts but should be guaranteed by society as a whole.

Speaking to a cheering crowd of at least 50,000 persons celebrating the first anniversary of his election to the presidency, Perón described the occasion as a good time "to ratify the democratic republican principles of our institutions."

These institutions, he asserted, were the only ones able to protect human liberties against "extremist foreign tendencies."

Gives Warning To Communists

Perón said his Government would continue to encourage labor unions but added that some unions in Argentina were being used for extraneous purposes and that agitators were taking advantage of their union offices to cover up their activities.

"I want to take this opportunity," he said, "to warn Communists who are trying to use the workers' movement that they will not be permitted to carry out their anti-patriotic ends under cover of Argentine workers."

The 3,000 seats in the Colon Theater, where Perón spoke, were filled and his address was carried by amplifiers to a crowd which filled four square blocks of the Plaza LaValle outside.

During his 50-minute speech, one of the longest he has made since he became president, Perón made frequent references to "humanizing the capital," which he said was one of the aims of his administration.

An aide said the President's speech was intended to be "Argentina's solution to the most important problems which are worrying the world."

Copy Sent To Union Head

When Perón finished, his list of workers' rights was delivered to Aurelio Hernandez, head of the General Confederation of Workers.

Perón's speech was regarded by observers as a strong attack on the Communists.

Argentina renewed relations with Russia soon after Perón took office last June 4. Argentine Communists who had opposed him during the campaign then extended the olive branch even to the extent of dissolving the Communist Meat Workers Union and advising the members to join a pro-Perón union.

But the peace offer was not accepted and the official Communist newspaper La Hora later returned to its attack on the government.

Flyers Rescued Off Greenland Ice Cap

New York, Feb. 24 (AP)—The eleven-man crew of a wrecked B-29 was rescued from a Greenland ice cap today in a daring flight by an Army C-54 which carried them safely to Thule, Greenland, the Army Air Transport Command announced today.

Ladd Field, Fairbanks, Alaska, Feb. 24 (AP)—Eleven Army Air Forces flyers whose plane crashed on the west coast of Greenland were rescued today and flown to Thule, Greenland, the Army reported here.

Search headquarters at Ladd Field received word that an Army Transport Command plane landed on a lake near the crash scene and picked up the men, all apparently uninjured, at 11.35 A.M.

The rescue plane was not identified further, but officers here assumed it was one based on Newfoundland.

Returning Men To Ladd Field

The eleven men, crew members of the B-29 photographic reconnaissance Superfortress, Kee Bird, which crashed Friday, will be returned to Ladd Field "by regular air routes," the Army said.

No attempt will be made to fly them back over the ice pack. There was no indication when the rescued men would leave Thule.

The quick rescue climaxed a large-scale evacuation operation which the Army started in a race against time and weather.

2,000 Miles From Fairbanks

The crash scene was located by General Atkinson as 200 miles north of Thule, a distance of more than 2,000 miles northeast of Fairbanks.

Radio contact yesterday brought a plea for coal from the marooned men. No request for medical supplies was made. The coal was to have been dropped as soon as weather conditions permitted, along with Arctic tents, blankets and food. A two-week supply of food was dropped Saturday by the Alaskan Air Command search plane which located the flyers.

The Transport Command said drops would have to be made from low levels necessitating good weather, because it was uncertain whether the men were equipped with proper footwear to walk any distance in the snow.

The Kee Bird became lost and ran out of gas.

11 ARMY FLIERS RESCUED FROM ARCTIC ICE CAP

Huge Transport Plane Makes Spectacular Landing to Save Marooned Men.

ALL IN GOOD CONDITION

Start 2,310 Mile Non-Stop Flight to Westover Field in Massachusetts.

NEW YORK, Feb. 24. — (AP) Eleven army fliers, marooned for three days after their B-29 crashed above the Arctic Circle, were flying back to the United States tonight in a heavy transport plane which made a spectacular landing on a Greenland ice cap to rescue them from the frozen wasteland.

The rescued fliers, all reported to be in good condition, were being brought back in an 18-ton C-54 transport plane piloted by the same 22-year-old pilot who made the daring rescue landing and then took off with the aid of rockets on the first lap of the homeward flight.

Flying to Westover Field

After a stop of several hours at Thule, Greenland, about 200 miles from the crash scene, the C-54 took off, air transport command headquarters here said, in "heavy head winds and Arctic temperatures" on a 2,310-mile non-stop flight to Westover Field, Chicopee Falls, Mass.

At the controls was Lieut. Bobbie Joe Gavnar, of Okmulgee, Okla., whose feat in landing the heavy craft without skis or other special attachments to effect the rescue brought a recommendation from Maj. Gen. William H. Turner, commanding general of the ATC's Atlantic division, that he be awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross.

Gavnar, who has been engaged in Arctic operations for the ATC since 1945, completed the rescue operation in three hours and 35 minutes—setting down the giant craft with wheels on an ice cap beside the stricken B-29.

The C-54 is 94 feet long and has a wing spread of 117 feet.

Gen. Tunner, in announcing that Cavnar had been recommended for the Distinguished Flying Cross with an oak leaf cluster for the rescue, said the award also was being recommended in recognition of "other extremely hazardous arctic operations" undertaken by the Oklahoma flier.

The rescue climaxed a far-flung evacuation operation begun after the B-29 crewmen had radioed that they had crashed Friday. The plane went down on an ice cap after becoming lost in a sudden storm while the 11 men were on a photographic mission.

Three transports and a troop-carrying glider were sent across northern Canada to Thule from Ladd Field, Fairbanks, Alaska, base of the ill-fated B-29. Three other transports were sent to the area from Westover Field.

The ATC here said, however, that the rescue plane had been flying missions off Labrador and Greenland and thus already was in the crash area. Cavnar is based at Westover field.

Those Rescued

The Army had planned to use a helicopter or dog teams if necessary. A two-week supply of food was dropped to the men Saturday by the Alaskan air command search plane which rescued them.

CANADA EASES RENT CONTROLS

OTTAWA, Feb. 24. — (AP) The Canadian government today announced steps freeing resort hotel and some commercial rentals from rent controls and permitting a 25 per cent boost in rentals of all other types of commercial buildings.

The changes, announced in the Dominion's House of Commons by Finance Minister D. C. Abbott and effective March 1, have no effect on private housing rentals, which remain unchanged at present ceilings.

Rooms in resort hotels or resort boarding houses where the principal business is catering to people on vacation are released from rent control.

Commercial accommodation which is offered for rent for the first time, or which now is vacant or hereafter becomes legally vacant or which is sublet in whole also is being released.

Commercial accommodation will be released from rental control in cases where the landlord and the tenant negotiate a lease agreeable to both parties for a minimum term of three years.

On all other commercial accommodation, the maximum rental may be increased by 25 per cent, provided the landlord is prepared to enter into a lease for a minimum term of two years. If the tenant refuses, he may be required to vacate at the end of the present lease.

The release of resort accommodation from control does not apply to such summer houses and tourist cabins as durin[g] the present housing shortage a[re] being used as permanent housi[ng] by non-transients. These remai[n] under present ceilings.

R. C. A. F. Commands Cut

Reduced to Two in Peace-Time Set-Up of Services

OTTAWA, Feb. 24 (AP).—The peace-time organization of the three regular Canadian armed forces became clearer today upon an announcement that the Royal Canadian Air Force is reducing its present five commands to two, in a reorganization resembling the one announced recently by the Canadian Army.

Defense Minister Brooke Claxton, in a statement giving also a broad picture of air force activities in the present year, disclosed that Trenton, Ont., and Edmonton, Alta., will become the only two command headquarters in the country, and that existing commands at Halifax, Winnipeg and Vancouver will be reduced to group headquarters under these two.

TRUMAN ASKS REFUGEE STEP

Senators Start Move For U.S. Member On U.N. Unit

Washington, Feb. 24 (AP)—President Truman urged Congress today to set an example for other nations and speedily authorize United States participation in the International Refugee Organization so it may start functioning July 1.

Senator Vandenberg (R., Mich.), chairman, and Senator Connally (D., Texas), of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, immediately introduced a resolution for the purpose. It would provide for an American representative to the agency at $12,000 a year, with two alternates.

Legislation for actual appropriations would follow later. The President's budget message in January asked "adequate support" for the refugee organization and listed $75,000,000 for American contributions to the various United Nations organizations for the year starting July 1. A State Department official said most of this would go to refugees.

Called for Begin. In December

The constitution for the Refugee Organization was adopted by the United Nations in December. It is to take over the work of caring for and repatriating displaced persons which has been conducted by the UNRRA and other agencies. The UNRRA is winding up its work preparatory to going out of existence.

"I believe that it is of the utmost importance," Mr. Truman wrote, "that the International Refugee Organization be established as soon as possible. It would indeed be serious if it were not in a position to begin operations on July 1 of this year.

"It is not unreasonable that many of the other potential members of the International Refugee Organization should watch closely the attitude of the United States before making their own definite commitments.

Limits To Powers Noted

"I feel sure that with the firm and prompt leadership of the United States, this organization will be in a position to function as an international body to perform an essentially international service."

With many Congressmen wary of any lowering of American immigration bars, the President noted that the Refugee Organization "will have no governmental powers" and "can in no way alter the statutes of any of its members."

"It can obtain funds only by appropriations by the constitutional processes of its members," he continued. "It will be solely a service organization to aid in the solution of a common problem."

Truman Urges U.S. Join World Refugee-Aid Unit

Washington, Feb. 24 (AP)—President Truman today asked Congress to authorize the United States to participate in an international refugee organization.

Mr. Truman said in a message there are more than 1,000,000 displaced persons still in Germany, Austria and Italy, and told Congress:

"Almost two thirds of these are under United States care and control. The Allied military victory over the Axis powers brought with it a practical and moral responsibility with reference to victims of the Axis."

Enabling Resolution Offered

Immediately after the President's message reached the Capitol, Senators Vandenberg (R., Mich.) and Connally (D., Texas) introduced a resolution to give congressional approval to participation in the organization agreement.

The resolution called for the appointment of one American representative to the organization at a $12,000 yearly salary, with provision for two alternatives. Any congressman who served would receive no additional pay.

At the State Department it was said the President's financial budget listed $75,000,000 for the United Nations organizations on refugees, trade and health. The bulk of this sum, an official told reporters, would go to refugees.

U.N. Agreement Recalled

Mr. Truman recalled that the General Assembly of the United Nations agreed that: (1) The problem of displaced persons was international in scope; (2) every effort should be made to facilitate the repatriation of displaced persons desiring to return to their homes and (3) those with valid objections to returning home should be cared for by an international agency until new homes are found for them.

The United Nations Economic Council, the President said, recommended establishment of the organization and submitted the draft of a proposed constitution. Warren Austin, United States United Nations representative, signed the constitution, subject to approval by Congress.

In requesting this approval, Mr. Truman said it was of the "utmost importance" that the organization be established as soon as possible. He added:

"It would indeed be serious if it were not in a position to begin operations on July 1 of this year.

Hopes U.S. Will Set Example

"It is not unreasonable that many of the other potentional members of the international refugee organization should watch closely the attitude of the United States before making their own definite commitments. I feel sure that with the firm and prompt leadership of the United States, this organization will be in a position to function as an international body to perform an essential international service."

Mr. Truman said the refugee organization will have no governmental power and no effect on the laws of its members. Its funds would be obtained by appropriations of participating nations.

"It will be solely a service organization to aid in the solution of a common problem," the President said.

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24 (AP)—The text of President Truman's message to Congress recommending United States participation in the International Refugee Organization:

To the Congress of the United States of America:

I recommend that the Congress authorize the United States to participate as a member of the International Refugee Organization.

As an aftermath of the war, there are more than 1,000,000 displaced persons remaining in Germany, Austria and Italy. Almost two-thirds of these are under United States care and control. The Allied military victory over the Axis powers brought with it a practical and moral responsibility with reference to these victims of the Axis.

The General Assembly of the United Nations has considered the problem of these displaced persons carefully and at great length. At the first session in London, certain basic principles were established. It was agreed that this problem is international in scope and nature, that every effort should be made to facilitate the repatriation of displaced persons who desire to return to their homelands, that displaced persons who have valid objections to return should not be forced to do so, but should be cared for by an international agency until new homes can be found for them elsewhere.

Between the January and October sessions of the General Assembly, the Economic and Social Council made a detailed study of the entire problem and recommended the establishment of an International Refugee Organization which would provide an integrated and effective solution. At the meeting of the General Assembly in New York which ended in December, the draft constitution recommended by the Economic and Social Council was adopted.

The United States representative to the United Nations, Senator Warren Austin, signed the constitution of the International Refugee Organization, subject to subsequent approval by the Congress.

This constitution represents an earnest effort by the United Nations to solve one of the most poignant and difficult problems left in the wake of the war. The organization to be created will have no governmental powers. It can in no way alter the statutes of any of its members. It can obtain funds only by appropriations by the constitutional processes of its members. It will be solely a service organization to aid in the solution of a common problem.

I am confident that, with the full support of the United States, the International Refugee Organization will demonstrate the practical effectiveness of cooperation and understanding among nations. The participation of this nation in the organization was proposed in my budget message for the fiscal year 1948, and provision was made for the necessary funds within the proposed budget.

Army's Record Praised

With respect to those displaced persons in our own areas of occupation, the United States Army has an excellent record of performance in a field which is not traditionally the responsibility of soldiers. The Army from the first recognized the need for making the maximum use of international civilian agencies, and has done so.

With the forthcoming termination of the supply of civilian personnel from other organizations now used in the care and supply of displaced persons, I believe that it is of the utmost importance that the International Refugee Organization be established as soon as possible. It would, indeed, be serious if it were not in a position to begin operations on July 1 of this year.

It is not unreasonable that many of the other potential members of the International Refugee Organization should watch closely the attitude of the United States before making their own definite commitments. I feel sure that, with the firm and prompt leadership of the United States, this organization will be in a position to function as an international body to perform an essentially international service.

Truman Backs Jewish Drive

Tells U. J. A. He Is Still Trying to Gain Palestine Entry for 100,000.

Washington, Feb. 24 (A. P.).—President Truman today expressed "high commendation" of the work of the United Jewish Appeal in its effort to relieve the "terrible" plight of homeless Jews in Europe.

The White House released this statement by the President after appeal leaders called on him:

"The President heard with interest the statement of the leaders of the United Jewish Appeal and expressed high commendation of their work for the relief of human suffering."

The delegation outlined to the President the appeal's campaign for $170,000,000 to be used for the relief, rehabilitation and resettlement of European Jews. The group was headed by Henry Morgenthau Jr., former Secretary of the Treasury, and Herbert H. Lehman, former Governor of New York and later director-general of the UNRRA.

The White House quoted the President as telling the delegation:

"The situation you are dealing with is terrible. We have 247,000 Jewish refugees in the American zone in Germany. We have been trying to arrange to get 100,000 into Palestine. We are still endeavoring to get that job done.

"In your effort to alleviate the plight of the victims of Hitler and to place them on the road to recovery, you are performing tasks which will contribute to the reconstruction of the countries and people shattered by war and to the establishment of a greater sense of comradeship and co-operation among all men."

Eisenhower Backs Drive.

The acute disaster which faces European Jews cannot await the functioning of machinery which eventually will eliminate the tragedies of persecution, General of the Army Dwight D. Eisenhower declared yesterday in launching the campaign.

"Only one who has seen, as I have seen, the mental and physical effects of savagery, repression, and bigotry upon the persecuted of Europe can realize the full need for the material help and encouragement you propose to give," Eisenhower told the national conference.

SOVIET BUILDING ARMY IN KOREA, SAYS GEN. HODGE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24 — (AP) Lt. Gen. John R. Hodge said today the Russian radio has acknowledged Soviet conscription of Koreans into the army in their occupation zone and that negotiations to unify Korea now "appear hopeless."

"I feel that I have done all that I can on a local level," the commander of the U. S. occupation forces told a news conference after a report to President Truman.

With Secretary of State Marshall preparing for the foreign ministers' conference at Moscow next month, these other developments in Russo-American relations arose:

Other U. S., Red Issues

1. A dispute broke out between the State Department and the Russian embassy here over delivery of the latest Soviet protest against Undersecretary Dean Acheson's characterization of Russian foreign policy as "aggressive and expanding."

2. A plea by Senator Langer (R-ND) on the senate floor that the president "pick up the telephone and call Joe Stalin, arrange a meeting, and get this matter of fear which each country has for the other out of the road." Langer made his suggestion during debate on the budget, contending that removal of "war fears" would permit both nations to reduce their expenditures.

The dispute over the latest Russian note arose when the department press officer, Michael J. McDermott, told reporters today it had not been received. As reported by the Moscow radio Saturday, it said that Foreign Minister Molotov had rejected as unsatisfactory Marshall's statement that Acheson's remark was frank but not hostile.

The Soviet embassy promptly put out a statement saying that Molotov's message was delivered to the State Department Friday "by a special embassy messenger." It added that "Mrs. M. B. Kerr, division of central services, State Department," received it.

State Department officials then checked up and found the note had been delivered Friday after all. It was in Russian, they said, and Mrs. Kerr, in charge of the reception room at the main entrance, without knowing what it was, sent it to the translators. Then came the Washington's Birthday holiday on Saturday, and the Sunday holiday, and the note had not been translated and its identify discovered when McDermott gave his report at midday.

The original Russian protest, on which Marshall's reply was based, was delivered to Ambassador Walter Bedell Smith in Moscow and forwarded by him.

Pessimistic Over Korea

Hodge indicated his negotiations with the Russians in Korea for unification of the two zones looking toward Korean self-government are being abandoned and that anything further will have to be done on a higher level.

He declined comment as to whether he would ask Marshall to bring up the matter at Moscow, but said the Koreans would like to have the secretary do so.

Hodge reported that Koreans from the north are admitted freely to the American southern zone, but as for Koreans going from the south into the Russian northern zone, "the Russians have been very assiduously arresting Koreans except for a favored few."

The general said Koreans conscripted by the Russians are given regular military training, and that Chinese Communists possibly are giving the training. He noted the Chinese Communists have some Koreans in their army.

Hodge told White House reporters there appears to be "something to" reports of Soviet conscription of Koreans. At his news conference at the War Department later he said the Russian radio had carried reports that Koreans from 17 to 25 years of age were being drafted.

Based on a population of 10,000,000 to 11,000,000 in the northern zone, he said in reply to further questions, this could mean an army of 500,000.

This figure was given in another interview by Dr. Syngman Rhee, leader of the South Korean Democratic League, who said the recruits were for the Red army.

"This development in North Korea is placing the Korean nationalists in South Korea under the Americans in a very vulnerable position," he said.

LILIENTHAL IS ACCUSED OF BREAKING LAW

Senator Claims Wisconsin Violation In 1931 By Double Pay

Washington, Feb. 24 (AP)—Senator Stewart (D., Tenn.) accused David E. Lilienthal today of violating Wisconsin law by accepting pay from a private concern while a member of the Wisconsin Railroad Commission in 1931.

Carrying the Lilienthal fight to the Senate floor, Stewart based his accusation on testimony of Mrs. Meads Leitzel, who was Lilienthal's secretary while he was employed by a Chicago clearing house. She told the Senate Atomic Committee that Lilienthal continued to receive some compensation from the firm when he first became a member of the Railroad Commission.

Lilienthal said he has looked up his records and will make a statement to the committee at the proper time.

Vote By Saturday Sought

The committee, driving for a vote by Saturday on whether to approve Lilienthal's appointment as chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, looked further today into conflicting accounts of a disputed letter. It purported to tell of communistic activities within the Tennessee Valley Authority, which Lilienthal formerly headed, but its actual existence has been denied.

Robert B. Barker, former investigator for the House Committee on un-American Activities, testified last week he had taken such a letter, signed Henry C. Hart, from the files of the Communist party at Birmingham, Ala., in 1940 and had photographic copies made of it. Hart, one-time TVA employé, denied writing such a letter and said if there was one, it was a forgery.

Questioned On News Dispatch

Senator McMahon (D., Conn.) called Alfred Friendly, a reporter for the Washington Post, to the stand today to question him about a news dispatch in the Post this morning contradicting part of Barker's testimony.

Barker had denied having given a copy of the letter to the Knoxville Journal, which published it in 1943. Friendly said he interviewed Stephen F. Humphrey, former news editor of the Knoxville paper, who told him that Barker gave him a mimeographed copy of the letter. Friendly said Humphrey told him he considered the letter genuine at the time, and still does.

The senators discussed the conflicting testimony in a brief closed session. Chairman Hickenlooper (R., Iowa) said the matter was "taken under further advisement" along with the possibility of summoning Humphrey and others as witnesses.

LAW VIOLATION IN 1931-32 LAID TO LILIENTHAL

Senator Stewart Asserts He Was on Both Public and Private Pay Rolls.

O'NEAL SUPPORTS NOMINEE

Head of Farm Bureaus Strongly Urges His Confirmation for Atomic Chairmanship.

Washington, Feb. 24 (A. P.).—Senator Stewart (D.-Tenn.) told the Senate today that David E. Lilienthal "violated the public laws of Wisconsin" by accepting payment for private employment while a member of the Wisconsin Railroad Commission in 1931-32.

Stewart read to the Senate excerpts from testimony before the Senate atomic energy committee last week by Mrs. Meads Leitzel, former secretary to Lilienthal. She said that the nominee for chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission had been paid by the Commerce Clearing House, Inc., of Chicago while he held the Wisconsin government job.

Before taking the Wisconsin position, Lilianthal edited a publication on legal matters for the clearing house.

Stewart said the Wisconsin statutes provided that a Railroad Commission member should "do no other work, serve no other master and should not even have private employment."

Lilienthal previously told a reporter he had looked up the records bearing on the alleged double employment, but would not divulge his findings until he testified again before the committee.

The committee is holding hearings to develop information to guide the Senate in deciding whether Lilienthal should be approved for the Atomic Commission.

Farm Leader Backs Lilienthal.

Senator Hickenlooper of Iowa, chairman of the committee, read into the record today a letter from Edward R. O'Neal, president of the Farm Bureau Federation, strongly urging confirmation of Lilienthal and W. W. Waymack of Iowa, nominated as a commission member. O'Neal said they are "exceptionally qualified."

Senator McKellar (D.-Tenn.) then read a telegram which he said he received today from Rufe Wilson, chairman of the legislative committee of the Loudon County (Tenn.) Farm Bureau Federation, saying that O'Neal didn't speak for the entire membership.

Hickenlooper closed the hearing by calling the committee into closed session. He announced that it would be resumed on Wednesday.

Asked after the closed meeting whether the committee has received a report from the FBI or any other Government agency on the loyalty of Lilienthal or other members of the Atomic Energy Commission, the chairman said: "I have no knowledge of any such report."

He added that the Atomic Energy Control Law provides for a loyalty check on employees of the Commission, but not on the Commission itself.

Hopes for Vote by Saturday.

Hickenlooper said he was hopeful of getting a committee vote on Lilienthal by Saturday.

A Senate poll showed that Lilienthal needs to win only eight of twenty-three undecided Senators to be confirmed as chairman of the commission. An Associated Press check over the week end of all but four of the chamber's ninety-five members listed forty in favor of Lilienthal and twenty-eight opposed. If a full membership were on hand when the issue comes to a vote, forty-eight "ayes" would be necessary for confirmation.

Alfred Friendly, a Washington Post reporter, testified today that a Knoxville newspaper man who wrote a story about a letter purporting to disclose communistic activities within the Tennessee Valley Authority told him he only had seen a mimeographed copy of the alleged letter. Friendly was called as a witness by Senator McMahon (D.-Conn.). Lilienthal formerly was chairman of TVA.

Henry C. Hart, a former TVA employee whose name was appended to the letter referred to by Friendly, has denounced it as a forgery. Robert B. Barker, former Dies committee investigator, testified however, that he abstracted it from Communist party files at Birmingham, Ala., in 1940 and had photographic copies made of it. The letter was dated January 31, 1939. The atomic committee has been able to find only what purported to be mimeographed copies of the document.

Tells of Trip to Knoxville.

Friendly said the Washington Post sent him to Knoxville, Tenn., Friday to investigate the circumstances surrounding publication of a story about the letter in the Knoxville Journal on June 27, 1943. He said he talked to Stephen F. Humphrey, former news editor of the Journal, and to Guy L. Smith, the editor, who verified Humphrey's account.

Friendly said Humphrey told him he wrote the story on the basis of a mimeographed copy of the letter given him by Barker, along with a transcript of the Dies committee hearings. The Post reporter testified that Humphrey told him he considered the letter genuine at the time he wrote the story, and still does.

Friendly also told the committee that he had telephoned Martin Dies, former chairman of the House Committee on un-American Activities at his home in Lufkin, Tex. He said Dies told him he had no recollection of the Hart letter, other than a vague recollection of some newspaper stories.

At his news conference later, Hickenlooper said the committee decided "to take under further advisement" the disputed Barker testimony. McMahon said the committee "will have to give consideration to Mr. Barker's statements under oath."

SENATE PUTS CURB ON BUDGET DEBATE TO SPEED ACTION

Seeks to Reach Vote Tomorrow on Proposed 4 1-2 Billion Slash.

DELAY MOVE BEATEN

Murray, Pepper Lose Fight to Postpone Fixing of Spending Ceiling.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24—(AP) An armistice proposal in the Senate's budget fight was shouted down late today and a debate limitation adopted in efforts to reach a vote Wednesday on a $4,500,000,000 slash in President Truman's estimates for the year starting July 1.

Leaders at first proposed a night session but it later became apparent the vote could not be reached tonight. Then the debate curb was agreed to. It limits each senator to 20 minutes of debate on each motion and amendment and on the resolution itself.

Senator Murray (D-Mont) proposed that the fixing of any spending ceiling be delayed until April 1. Senator Pepper (D-Fla) in another resolution proposed a delay until April 2. Both were defeated by tumultuous voice votes.

"This is budgetary blind man's bluff," Pepper protested, declaring that Congress does not know now how large a cut can be made.

Barkley Opposes Delay

Democratic Leader Barkley (Ky) was among those opposing delay, holding that nothing would be gained by it.

The House has voted a $6,000,000,000 reduction in the Truman estimates. The figure finally approved by Congress probably will be a compromise worked out by a Senate-House conference committee.

The Senate debate brought a suggestion from Senator Langer (R-ND) that President Truman "pick up the telephone and call Joe Stalin, arrange a meeting, and get this matter of fear which each country has for the other out of the road."

Then with "war fears" eliminated, Langer said, both the United States and Russia could reduce their spending drastically.

Dispatches from Moscow have reported that Russia plans to spend $13,000,000,000 on its military services this year, compared with $11,200,000,000 proposed by Mr. Truman for the Army Navy.

Langer declared that even a total budget of $31,500,000,000, as voted by the house, "is an invitation to the other countries to arm to get ready for another war, to keep the United States from being the master, the ruler of the world."

He blamed American policy since 1932 for a situation in which, he said, "we find ourselves with few dependable allies and the overwhelming population of the world standing in actual fear of America."

To Cut U. S. Workers

Langer, chairman of the Senate Civil Service Committee, also reported that the number of federal employes will be reduced to 1,500,000, compared with 2,283,890 on Jan. 1. He set no date for achievement of this figure, but said that on the sixth anniversary of the war, next Dec. 7, the employment will be approximately what it was when the war started—1,620,922.

Since the war ended, he added, 1,483,100 civil service employes have left the payroll.

"This doesn't sound as if the fellows who have been yelling 'fire a million employes!' were telling you all of the story, does it?" he asked.

Senator O'Daniel (D-Tex) broke away from the position of most of his Democratic colleagues to assert that the budget ceiling should be fixed at $25,000,000,000 this year and only $20,000,000,000 next but noted that economy will not be easy.

"Every time you unhook a coach from the gravy train that has been running the past 13 or 14 years" he remarked, "there are going to be plenty of squawks from the passengers on that train."

Favors Military Cuts

Senator Cain (R-Wash), a World War II veteran, contended the army and navy can take some cuts. As examples, he said Congress should abolish extra pay for flying duty and demand that some integration of supply, facilities and services be started by the army and navy.

He said he supports the House-approved $6,000,000,000 resolution because he assumes the president "guarded against a sizeable cut by fashioning his budgets accordingly."

Senator Ferguson (R-Mich), who led off the day's debate, asserted that if Congress does not cut out "shameless duplication, overlapping of functions and waste of taxpayers' money" now, it will never do it.

He took Mr. Truman to task for what he called a budget that "is neither fish nor fowl—neither a peacetime transition nor a wartime budget."

"Justification for some of its billions appears to be based on the possibility of immediate war," he said. "Other billions are proposed on a 'now-the-war-is-over-we-must-catch-up' kind of reasoning. Still other billions are excused on what seems to be little more foundation than that 'we have the money—let's spend it.'"

10 Billion Budget Slash Possible, Cain Asserts

Washington, Feb. 24 (AP)—Senator Cain (R., Wash.) told the Senate today he believes that if Congress knew how to do it, it could "cut the budget $10,000,000,000 without injury to anyone."

He said he would vote for a $6,000,000,000 slash because he assumed that President Truman "guarded against a sizable cut by fashioning his budgets accordingly."

Mr. Truman has asked for $37,500,000,000 for operation of the Government in the fiscal year beginning July 1. The House has voted to cut that by $6,000,000,000, but a majority of the Senate apparently has lined up for a lesser cut of $4,500,000,000.

Suggests Ways To Save

T major argument of those opposing the bigger cut is that it might trim too much from army and navy funds.

But Cain, a World War II veteran, said he does not agree that any cut in military funds means "a turn back to isolation." As examples of savings that might be made, he suggested that Congress eliminate extra flight pay for military personnel and demand that the Army and Navy do away with duplicating supply lines, facilities and services.

"If the services are to be integrated, isn't it about time that this very considerable task was undertaken?" he asked.

Ferguson For Big Slash

Senator Ferguson (R., Mich.) told his colleagues that it now costs the American people "more to be governed than it does to eat."

That, Ferguson asserted, is one reason he is supporting the House-approved economy promise instead of a $4,500,000,000 reduction pledge offered by Senator Millikin (R., Col.).

Besides Ferguson, Senators Barkley, of Kentucky, the Democratic leader; Hatch (D., N.M.), Langer (R., N.D.) and others were listed on a long speaking schedule that threatened to postpone a final vote until Wednesday, when the Senate meets again.

Barkley For Small Cut

Barkley has told friends he will support the $4,500,000,000 proposal. Hatch has already given notice that he dislikes the promise to cut $4,500,000,00 but will accept it as the "lesser evil."

Advocates of the Millikin proposal have contended it would leave the Army and Navy relatively free from reductions in their aggregate $11,200,000,000 allotment. They say indications point to a maximum slash of $750,000,000 for the two services if defenders can hold the line at that point.

From Tokyo, General MacArthur wrote the War Department that he is confident that Congress will not "take any action which would prejudice fulfillment of occupation objectives."

Farm Bloc Hits Reduction

Farm state senators have already served notice that they would fight to keep agriculture appropriations intact, and Ferguson said he expects every other Government agency to make a fight for its full quota.

"Justification for some of its billions appears to be based on the possibility of immediate war," Ferguson said. "Other billions are proposed on a 'now-the-war-is-over-we-must-catch-up' kind of reasoning. Still other billions are excused on what seems to be little more foundation than that 'we have the money—let's spend it.'"

Representative Mason (R., Ill.) said today that House fiscal leaders, committed to a 20 per cent cut this year in personal income taxes, are aiming at a further reduction next year.

WITNESS FAINTS AT DURANT TRIAL

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24. — (AP) A fainting witness interrupted today the court martial of air forces Col. Jack W. Durant on a charge of stealing the Hesse crown jewels from a German castle.

Dr. Reuben Mark, Chicago physician, suffered a fainting spell in the midst of testimony that Col. Durant showed him some jewels last March and asked if he "knew any jewelers."

Durant is charged with taking the Hesse fortune, valued at between $1,500,000 and $7,000,000, from Kronberg Castle, and selling many of the gems in this country.

Shortly after he began testifying, Dr. Mark passed his right hand over his forehead and gestured for help. He rose uncertainly to his feet, reeled forward a few steps, and was escorted from the court room by a military policeman. Dr. Mark was taken on a stretcher to the army's Pentagon headquarters dispensary where another doctor ruled he must rest for several hours. He is expected to take the stand again tomorrow.

Before his fainting spell, Dr. Mark said that in Chicago last March Col. Durant showed him 15 or 20 jewels which "appeared to be diamonds" and asked if Dr. Mark knew any jewelers. Mark said he told Durant he knew several jewelers.

The witness said Col. Durant told him the jewels had been acquired "very cheaply" in Germany.

HANNS EISLER NEXT ON LIST

House Group to Question Film Music Composer.

Washington, Feb. 24 (A. P.).—The House Committee on Un-American Activities today listed Hanns Eisler, Hollywood music composer, as the next member of the Eisler family due for questioning.

Hanns' sister, Ruth, testified to the committee on February 6 that he is a Communist. At the same time, she backed up committee evidence that another brother, Gerhardt Eisler, is the top Communist in this country, and called him a "dangerous terrorist."

Committee agents are known to have built up a file on Hans. Some of the data deals with how he got into the United States.

Representative Nixon (R.-Cal.), a committee member, may be sent to Hollywood to dig into the case.

Representative J. Parnell Thomas (R.-N. J.), committee chairman, told a reporter:

"With Gerhardt out of the way (in custody of immigration authorities), Hanns is next. We'll get around to him shortly."

What Committee Plans.

But first the committee plans to consider this week an angle of Gerhardt Eisler's case concerning a passport he used to leave the United States a dozen years ago.

Passport falsification is one of the charges on which the committee urged the Department of Justice to prosecute Gerhardt. It accused him also of income tax evasion, perjury, contempt of Congress and conspiracy to overthrow the Government.

Before the House cited Gerhardt for contempt last Tuesday for refusing to take the oath without making a statement first, Nixon told his colleagues that the passport bore Eisler's picture, but the handwriting of Leon Josephson and the name of Samuel Liptzin. Now the committee wants to question Josephson and Liptzin. They already are under subpoena.

Educators Urge More Teachers For Atomic Age

Double Present Numbers, Revised Activities and Tripled Budget Asked

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24 (AP).—Twice as many teachers and three times as much money are needed, a group of ten educators declared today, if the public school system is to train future American citizens adequately for life in the atomic age.

The educators added, however, that not only should there be more teachers and more money, but schools must revamp their activities if they expect to turn out citizens who will make atomic power a "boon to our civilization and culture and not the instrument of its destruction."

Assigned by the American Association of School Administrators to study what is required of schools in the post-war world, the group outlined its findings in a report to be discussed at the association convention beginning March 1 at Atlantic City. The administrators' organization is a branch of the National Education Association.

N. E. A. officials estimated that if the committee's recommendations were carried out, it would mean a force of "between 1,700,000 and 1,800,000 teachers, and about $8,000,000,000 in funds for elementary and secondary schools." At present, the association said, there are about 860,000 teachers, while appropriations for public elementary and secondary schools currently are close to the $2,500,000,000 spent during the 1944 school year. It added that figures for later years are not yet available.

The report said school activities must be revised to aim at "strengthening, improving and unifying American life" and helping to train each citizen so that he may become a "self-directing, self-respecting and self-responsible economic unit in a free society."

The report was prepared by Claude V. Courter, of Cincinnati, chairman; Herbert B. Bruner, of Oklahoma City; Harold F. Clark, of New York; Stephen M. Corey, of Chicago; C. L. Cushman, of Philadelphia; Clyde A. Erwin, of Raleigh, N. C.; Robert J. Havighurst, of Chicago; C. Frederick Pertsch, of New York; Grant Rahn, of Long Beach, Calif., and Benjamin C. Willis, of Hagerstown, Md.

100 Million Drawn By Britain on Loan

Brings Total Withdrawals to 900 Million

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24 (AP).—Britain has drawn another $100,000,000 in cash from the $3,750,000,000 credit-loan advanced last July, Treasury records disclosed today.

This brought total withdrawals to $900,000,000 in the seven months since the loan was made.

When Treasury officials recommended that Congress approve the loan, they estimated Britain would take out $1,500,000,000 during the first twelve months of its life. They forecast that withdrawals would slow to $1,200,000,000 in the second twelve-month period, beginning next July 1.

Byrnes For Ratification Of Four Peace Treaties

Washington, Feb. 24 (AP)—James F. Byrnes, Former Secretary of State, said after an 80-minute conference with President Truman today that he would testify in favor of Senate ratification of peace treaties with Bulgaria, Hungary, Italy and Romania.

Byrnes said he discussed these treaties and many other matters in the course of his "social call" on President Truman, his first since retiring as Secretary of State in mid-January.

Byrnes, who came here in connection with the burial of a sister, said he had no plans for re-entering the government.

He said that Gen. George C. Marshall, Secretary of State, and Senator Vandenberg (R., Mich.), chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, had requested him to testify before it in connection with its discussion of the four treaties.

Byrnes said he assumed they would be taken up in about ten days to two weeks.

Truman to Send Congress Views on Draft Soon

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24 (AP).—The White House said today that it probably will be April or May before President Truman's special committee to study problems of universal military training has a report ready.

Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross told reporters Mr. Truman will await its recommendations before sending Congress a message on the subject but, in the meantime, will send the legislators a communique regarding the draft law.

The present draft act expires March 31. Mr. Ross said the President will advise Congress soon what he thinks should be done about it.

Mr. Truman's committee on universal training is headed by Dr. Karl Compton, president of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Its membership includes educators and churchmen. Mr. Ross said the group is meeting twice a week and "working very hard."

Gen. Milton Rejects Non-Combat Rank

Permanent Commission Was in Chemical Branch

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24 (AP).—Senate confirmation of the appointment of Hugh Meglone Milton 2d, president of New Mexico Agricultural College, as a brigadier general in the Army was vacated today on motion of Senator Carl A. Hatch, Democrat, of New Mexico, who said he acted at General Milton's request.

The nomination was returned to the Senate Military Affairs Committee.

General Milton entered the war as a colonel in the Army's chemical warfare branch. The permanent commission would be in that branch.

Senator Hatch told the Senate General Milton wrote him that he had earned his temporary commission as brigadier general in combat service and, if he couldn't continue in that branch, he didn't desire the commission.

(The chemical warfare service is not a combat outfit, a War Department aid explained. It is a specialized service. General Milton's service record shows he attended officers' school for line and staff officer, engineers, general staff. He served as a staff officer on Bougainville.)

"It was so unusual," Senator Hatch told a reporter, "that I telephoned Milton to be sure I understood what he wanted."

O'Konski Attacks Policy On Argentina as 'Blunder'

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24 (AP).—Representative Alvin E. O'Konski, Republican, of Wisconsin, said today "our State Department's blunder in Argentine affairs was the most stupid and arrogant blunder in our nation's history."

In a speech on the floor of the House, Representative O'Konski declared that "it is time that this Congress and the people of America published a 'blue book' about the State Department and lift the ghastly iron curtain behind which it operates.

"It should be publicized the world over," Mr. O'Konski said, "that the State Department's attitude toward Argentina does in no way reflect the attitude of the American people.

"The American people want friendly relations with their friends —the Argentines."

Mr. O'Konski said "Argentina has been the victim of the most outrageous smear campaign during the last six years."

Truman-Stalin Meeting Demanded by Langer

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24 — Senator William Langer, Republican, of North Dakota, urged today that President Truman "take charge of negotiations with Russia himself" and seek a meeting with Premier Stalin.

Mr. Langer suggested that Mr. Truman "pick up the telephone and call Joe Stalin, arrange a meeting and get this matter of fear which each country has for the other out of the road. It is my belief," he said, "that these two men can sit down and, through mutual understanding and covenants openly arrived at, do away with the feeling that we are on the verge of war with each other and secure peace."

General Barker to Retire

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24 (AP).—Major General Ray W. Barker, fifty-seven, former American representative on the Allied command in Berlin, will retire from active military service on March 1, the War Department said today. General Barker's appointment as superintendent of the Manlius Military School was announced recently.

DSM Is Awarded to Col. Johnson

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24 (AP)—The Distinguished Service Medal has been awarded posthumously to Col. Earle Johnson, National Commander of the Civil Air Patrol who was killed in an airplane accident at Cleveland on Feb. 16, the Army said today. He had been recommended for the medal before his death.

Hoover to Testify on Relief

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24 (AP)—The House Foreign Affairs Committee today invited former President Herbert Hoover to testify on legislation authorizing a $350,000,000 relief program for devastated foreign countries. The legislation was requested last week by President Truman. Committee hearings will start tomorrow, with Mr. Hoover invited to testify Friday.

3d Army 'Replaces' 7th in South

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24 (AP).—General Jacob L. Devers, Army Ground Forces commander, announced today a paper transfer by which the 3d Army will replace the 7th Army in the South, with headquarters at Atlanta, Ga., on March 15. Actually, no troops are involved by the change. The personnel and equipment of the present 7th Army simply were named the 3d Army and the 7th Army was pronounced "inactivated." The designation of 3d Army has been held by certain troops in Germany. These will become part of the United States Constabulary in Germany.

ARMY SEEKS OLYMPIC AID

Asks Congress for Permanent Authority to Train Teams

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24 (AP)—The Army asked Congress today for permanent authority to train and equip teams for the Olympic Games. The request was filed with the House clerk, and a letter from Secretary of War Patterson, accompanying the proposed measure, urged it as "a morale factor and incentive for men in the service."

The Army plans to support an equestrian team and a modern pentathlon team, the letter stated, and will assist any individual athletes capable of meeting Olympic competition.

TRUMAN ORDERS U. S. PAYROLL CUT

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24—(AP) President Truman today directed government departments and agencies to fire or demote all incompetent employes as a step toward shrinking the federal job payroll back to peacetime status.

A White House statement said the President's executive order, effective May 1, "strengthens the merit system" for federal employes.

Government jobs are being "sharply cut," the White House said, but it emphasized that veterans, their widows and the wives of disabled veterans will continue to get preference in civil service appointment and retention.

Noting that almost 1,500,000 federal employes have been released since V-J Day, the statement said:

"Additional reductions are planned during the next few months. As the federal government shrinks back to peacetime size, it is more necessary than ever that it attract, develop and retain on the basis of merit the most competent employes available."

The President's order "specifically directs that inefficient federal workers be discharged," the White House said, adding that more than 100,000 employes were ousted for cause during the last fiscal year.

Get New Powers

"This was in addition to the large number of layoffs due to curtailment of government activities," the statement said.

Among other things, Mr. Truman gave federal agencies considerably more authority in matters of promotions, transfers, reassignments, hiring and firing. These were formerly directed by the Civil Service Commission.

The President's order directed both the commission and the agencies "to see that standards are observed" and declared that "when fewer decisions are referred to Washington, time is saved and red tape cut."

The new rules, replacing the time civil service regulations fect since 1942, call upon the head of each agency to "remove, demote or reassign" any employe "whose conduct or capacity is such that his removal, demotion or reassignment will promote the efficiency of the service."

HOUSE IS STIRRED BY PAPER FAMINE

Special Unit May Investigate Newsprint Shortage

Washington, Feb. 24 (AP)—The House, spurred by reports that newsprint supplies in cities over the nation have dropped to levels called "critical" and "desperate," will vote Wednesday on a resolution to create a special committee to look into the paper situation.

There were indications, meanwhile, that the situation may grow worse before it grows better, aggravated by weather that delayed loadings and train movements and by the boxcar shortage in this country and Canada.

Would Continue Inquiry

The proposed special House committee would continue the inquiry into newsprint supply and distribution which was carried on in the last Congress by the special subcommittee of the Interstate Commerce committee headed by former Representative Boren (D., Okla.).

If the new special group gets approval from the House — and there have been no open indications of an organized fight against it—the chairman probably will be Representative Brown (R., Ohio).

A Senate small business subcommittee under Senator Capehart (R., Ind.) will start hearings in the same field March 3.

Emergency Order

Aside from the weather that has held up shipments, the biggest recent factor in the tightening shortage has been an emergency order in Canada, source of 80 per cent of the United States newsprint supply, giving boxcar priority to grain shipments to the coast for export to Europe and to eastern Canada, where cattle feed is badly needed.

As of last Thursday, a Canadian survey indicated newsprint carloadings were running about the same as last year. With increased demand, however, the shortage of boxcars was estimated at 13,000.

So serious was the newsprint producers' plight that some cars had been diverted to their relief. The grain priority, however, was expected to stay generally in effect for at least a month.

Cars Made Available

Prior to the emergency grain order, cars from the West were made available to the newsprint plants upon being unloaded. The emergency order required them to be sent directly back for more grain.

Cranston Williams, general manager of the American Newspaper Publishers Association, has advised publishers to warn their readers that curtailment of the size of newspapers might come at any time because of the disruption of shipments.

"There are not enough boxcars in Canada and the United States to care for all needs," Williams said.

BANKERS STUDY HOUSING NEEDS

Urge Creation of National Policy Board.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 24.—The creation of a National Housing Policy Board to coordinate the activities of all Federal housing agencies, enforcement of local health and building laws, and elimination of rent controls on new construction were three steps advocated in a broad-scale report on housing problems made public today by Guy T. O. Hollyday, Baltimore, president of the Mortgage Bankers Association of America.

The report encompasses the principal points at issue in the present housing and housing-financing fields and is the result of several months of study by various committees of the organization in Washington and elsewhere, Hollyday stated. It has just been approved by the board of governors of the association and its regional vice-presidents. The report is aimed at making a constructive contribution to the solution of the present crisis in housing, Hollyday declared, and added that "the country is tired of trade associations and other special groups which fight but fail to lead."

Report on Public Housing.

Rent ceilings should be removed immediately from new construction, the report maintains, in order to stimulate the construction of new rental housing.

Part of the report is devoted to public housing and expresses the opinion of the association that "a large program for millions of public housing units would be abruptly rejected by Congress and the public, first, on the basis of the tremendous cost to the Government, and, second, because of severe loss of taxes to local governments."

The report further states:

"The argument for a small public housing program is much less valid than that for a large program because a small program solves no problem but tends to relieve private enterprise of any responsibility for low income housing, and effectively eliminates any possibility of its participation in that field.

Sees Large Program Inevitable.

"A small program leaves the real housing program largely unsolved and makes more public housing the only possible solution. A small amount of public housing therefore makes a large program mandatory and a large program is untenable."

Regarding existing public housing, the association recommends that the Government relinquish ownership as soon as possible, and Hollyday is setting up a committee to study the matter and offer a program for attaining this objective. "Any such program," he stated, "must assure the continued availability of this housing to low-income families with the ownership of the properties, where possible, by private interests."

13th House GOP Probe Slated

Washington, Feb. 24 (AP)—House Republicans speeded up today their machinery for "opening each day with a prayer and closing it with an investigation."

Although slow in getting underway on that campaign pledge, the GOP leadership plans to set up at least two new special committees this week, one designed to safeguard the interests of small business, the other to inquire into the supply and distribution of newsprint.

Eleven Other Probes

Eleven formal investigations are already under way in the House alone.

The House investigations already formally ordered include:

1. The operation of the Administration's reciprocal trade writing powers, by the House Ways and Means Committee.
2. Policies, procedures and personnel of the State Department, by the Foreign Affairs Committee.
3. Causes of airplane accidents, by the Commerce Committee.
4. Wartime shipbuilding, by the Merchant Marine Committee.
5. Charges of Communism among State Department employés, by the Un-American Activities Committee.
6. A study of Federal Government personnel generally by the Civil Service Committee.
7. A separate investigation of the State Department's personnel, by an Expenditures subcommittee.
8. A general investigation of charges that Federal bureaus exceed their powers, by a second expenditures subcommittee.
9. An investigation to determine whether the Justice Department has been enforcing the Hobbs anti-racketeering law, designed to prevent interference in the movement of interstate commerce, by a third expenditures subcommittee.
10. A study of what Government agencies can be abolished, by a fourth expenditures subcommittee.
11. An investigation of surplus property disposal, by a fifth expenditures subcommittee.

U.S. IS GIVEN THOMAS O.K.

5-Time Socialist Candidate Cites Some Good Points

New York, Feb. 24 (AP)—Norman Thomas, five times Socialist candidate for President, who admits spending "most of my yesterdays telling what's wrong with America" found today a number of things O.K. with the nation.

Thomas's indorsement of the American scene, in a signed article in Harper's Magazine, included:

Giving our Allies $50,500,000,000 in lend-lease, receiving less than $7,500,000,000 in reverse lend-lease, while the United States "has not demanded in return either from its former enemies or its debtor associates any territory or special trade and economic concessions."

Praises "Generous Credits"

Postwar lending to Britain and "generous credits" to France.

Carrying through our promise of independence to the Philippines.

Joining the United Nations and ratifying the Bretton Woods agreement.

Voluntarily proposing to turn over to international authority our "temporary monopoly of atomic energy, the greatest physical force in the world."

NIGHT

Surviving the war, alone of the major powers, without conscription of labor or any major infringements on the rights of free speech, free press and assemblage.

Proving "the capacity of men of quarreling nationalities to live and work together."

But here and there Thomas still noted items on the red side of the ledger:

"Not too graciously or adequately we have carried the main burden of allaying famine."

Other Things "On Wrong Side"

Evacuation of the Japanese and Japanese-Americans on the West Coast has been accomplished in a manner "wholly inconsistent with the finest traditions of Anglo-American justice."

"On racial discrimination the American record is bad—perhaps the worst made by any nation, always excepting South Africa."

"We have not lived up to the four freedoms nor even to the Bill of Rights of our own Constitution. . . ."

Thomas then concluded that "tomorrow I shall go back to pointing out some of the things wrong in America. . . ."

"I shall do it with more confidence because we have a heritage and a history which justify faith in man's capacity for freedom and fair play," he wrote.

bomb, said tonight that "a weapon that might destroy millions" overnight is no guarantee of security.

The chief of staff, in an address at a civic reception here, did not mention the word atom bomb as he pleaded indirectly against any drastic cut in defense funds with the argument that it is "increasingly difficult to state, at any time, exactly what constitutes adequate defense."

His implications seemed obvious, however, when he declared:

"Our scientists already have astounded the world by their mastery of the universe's hidden power.

"However [illegible] loose and sometimes gloating talk about the degree of security implicit in a weapon that might destroy millions overnight. Those who measure security solely in terms of offensive capacity distort its meaning and mislead those who pay them heed.

"No modern nation had ever equalled, prior to the outbreak of war, the crushing offensive power attained by the German war machine in 1939. No modern nation has ever been broken and smashed as was Germany six years later."

"Security in the absolute sense cannot be achieved by force," Eisenhower said, adding that it never can be attained in full by any nation until all have it.

"But until a truly effective organization can be fully trusted," he added, "our own relative security must rest firmly in our own hands."

Essential elements of that "relative security," he said, include adequate regular armed forces to serve as an outer shield to repel attack and seize or destroy the sources of attack, plus a citizen reserve "annually revitalized by trained reinforcements" and the backing of a unified nation willing to pay for the defense it gets.

Illustrating his point that real defense needs are almost beyond precise determination in the changing conditions of the world, Eisenhower declared that "the mood of an international conference, the outcome of a test tube experiment, the discovery of a mineral lodge, even the abundance of an annual harvest—each of these has its impact on our security in a world where isolation is impossible."

"One example is at your very door," he went on. "Today hunger stalks many sections of the earth, and when men are themselves starving or see before their eyes their families and loved ones wasting away, it is idle to talk of peace and freedom and the rule of right.

"No excess, no act that we normally class as crime, will balk man, either individually or collectively, from attempts to satisfy this basic need."

Seattle Firemen Exposed To Bikini Radioactivity

By The Associated Press.

SEATTLE, Feb. 24 — Ten Seattle firemen, in fighting a $2,000 fire last night at the University of Washington fisheries department, were exposed to radioactivity from the atomic bomb explosion on Bikini Atoll last summer.

During the fire-fighting they used empty barrels in which fish, shellfish and shells taken from Bikini waters were shipped to the university for study after the bomb test. The barrels were radioactive.

Dr. L. R. Donaldson of the fisheries school said a Geiger counter indicated ten of the firemen were affected by the radiation. Some showed it on their hands, others only on their gloves.

The gloves were burned and the men directed to wash their hands with soap and water. Radioactivity still was present after this precaution, according to Assistant Fire Chief R. B. Rogers.

Dr. Donaldson said, however, that the exposure was slight and would soon wear off.

FEDERAL MEN ACT TO SMASH SUGAR RACKET

Counterfeiting And Theft Of Huge Ration Stamp Stock Alleged

Chicago, Feb. 24 (AP)—Government agents investigating what they described as a "gigantic black market" operation involving counterfeiting and theft of from one to two million sugar ration stamps today arrested four persons and moved to indict 30 to 50 others.

J. Albert Woll, United States District Attorney, said seven arrest warrants issued today were for alleged key figures in a mid-West stamp ring he said was responsible for diverting an estimated 5,000,000 pounds of sugar into illegal channels.

Grand Jury Probe

A grand jury investigation of the ring at which more than 100 persons have testified still continues, Woll said.

The persons arrested by a deputy Federal marshal today pleaded innocent when arraigned on charges of possessing counterfeit sugar stamps.

Nathan M. Cohen, Woll's assistant, who has been conducting the grand jury investigation, said the jury heard testimony which linked previously isolated cases in Chicago, Detroit, Tulsa, Columbus, Ohio, and Milwaukee.

Three Others Involved

Cohen declined to name the other three persons for whom warrants were issued today. He said that two men and a woman arrested in Chicago October 27 and indicted in connection with possession of a set of counterfeiting plates, were linked with the sugar ring.

Woll said that stamps had been printed at various places in the Middle West and were widely distributed. He said the ring sold stamps at rates varying from 4 to 13 cents a pound of sugar.

COMMODITY PRICES IN UPWARD SURGE

Hogs and Other Meat Animals, Grains, Cotton, Eggs and Silver in Broad Advance

ALL MARKETS AFFECTED

New Record Highs for Pork Highlight Day's Trading—Receipts Show Big Drop

CHICAGO, Feb. 24 (AP)—New record prices for pork-on-the-hoof today highlighted an upward surge in prices that spread throughout the nation's commodity markets.

Participating in the broad advance, in addition to hogs and other meat animals, were grains, cotton, eggs and silver.

With supplies of porkers at livestock markets running unusually low, quotations shot up in spectacular fashion. At Chicago, a top of $29 a hundred pounds was paid.

Grain for future delivery on the Chicago Board of Trade spurted in an active market. All wheat contracts sold above $2 a bushel. Winter wheat now in the ground was bringing the highest price on record at Chicago for mid-winter.

Cotton Prices Advance

In New York cotton for future delivery closed $2.75 to $3.40 a bale higher after spurting more than $4 a bale during the session. Cotton at New Orleans finished $2.75 to $3.40 a bale higher.

Sales of foreign silver in New York were made at 74½ cents an ounce, or ½ cent above the "official" price. On Friday foreign silver at New York brought 71 cents.

October egg futures at Chicago advanced to a new seasonal high at 43.35 cents a dozen. Flax at Minneapolis sold at $8..00 a bushel, a record high and up 25 cents from Friday. Rye was quoted at a record high of $3.26 to $3.27 a bushel at Omaha.

The Associated Press average of thirty-five weighted cash wholesale commodities hit a record peak for the fourth consecutive day at 173.74.

$1 a Pound Pork Chops

Russ Jeter, pork market specialist for the Agriculture Department, said the jump in live hog and wholesale pork prices may result in pork chops as high as $1 a pound in retail butcher shops.

A scarcity of hogs in the country was offered as part explanation for soaring prices by livestock experts, plus the strong consumer demand for all types of meat.

Marvin Henning of the Agriculture Department said the decline in hog receipts had been expected, but that "it appears to be a little more acute than generally anticipated."

Another spokesman of the Department of Agriculture said that about 80 per cent of last spring's pig crop has already been marketed, farmers having rushed many unfinished hogs to market following lifting of OPA controls. He added that a continuing small run is in prospect for the next few months.

One reason for the scarcity is that last spring's production was comparatively small, authorities said, and last fall's pigs haven't enough weight yet for the market. Weather conditions were not mentioned by any sources as possible factors.

Hog receipts at twelve principal livestock markets today totaled only 34,700 head, compared with 64,200 head a year ago.

Bailey Exhorts Banks to Help Conserve Soil

Offers Farm-Aid Program; Hanes Suggests Ways to Serve Small Business

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Feb. 24 (AP).—Increased support by banks for the nation's soil conservation movement and plans for serving the credit needs of small business were emphasized in speeches prepared for delivery at the opening session of the two-day Southern Banking Conference here today.

C. W. Bailey, president of the American Bankers Association, proposed a five-point program of service to farmers, and called for leadership on the part of banks in this movement.

Robert M. Hanes, chairman of the asssociation's small business credit commission, outlined a program for serving small businesses.

Mr. Bailey, also president of First National Bank of Clarkeville, Tenn., urged that banks assist the soil conservation movement including financing of soil conservation and improvement of farms, support of balanced farming, encouragement of the reduction of farm mortage debts, efforts to control farm land price inflation and support of youth activities.

"A sound country banking structure must be supported by a well balanced farm program," he said. "Banks can, by their leadership, promote such balanced farming."

Mr. Hanes, president of Wachovia Bank & Trust Co., Winston-Salem, N. C., advocated strongly a trend away from government banking, which he said encouraged socialism.

"We must keep small business free," he said, "and if we are going to keep it free, we must make it possible for them to do business with chartered banks. If small business men have to run to the government for credit, we have taken a long step toward state socialism."

Talmadge Opposes Columbian Charter

Tells Attorney General to Press Revocation

ATLANTA, Feb. 24 (AP).—Governor-claimant Herman Talmadge directed the Attorney General today to press court action to revoke the Georgia charter of the anti-Negro, anti-Jew Columbians, Inc.

The suit was instituted several months ago by the Attorney General, Eugene Cook, at the direction of the then Governor, Ellis Arnall.

Emory C. Burke, Columbian president, and Homer L. Loomis sr., secretary recently were convicted in Superior Court on charges growing out of the organization's activities. Burke was sentenced to three years and Loomis to a year.

"This administration of the state government will be one of law and order," said Mr. Talmadge, "and I do not propose to tolerate any private groups who seek to arrogate unto themselves the powers of the duly elected law enforcement agencies.

"Officials of the Columbians, Inc., have been convicted in our courts of seeking to do this. We should, therefore, proceed judiciously and quicker to withdraw any semblance of state sanction for its operation."

Mr. Talmadge's election as Governor by the Legislature Jan. 15 to take the place his late father, Eugene Talmadge, would have filled is being contested in the courts by Lieutenant Governor

Sanity Hearing for Chandler

BOSTON, Feb. 24 (AP).—A sanity hearing for Douglas Chandler, charged with treason through propaganda broadcasts over Berlin radio, was ordered in Federal Court today by Judge Francis J. W. Ford. Judge Ford appointed three psychiatrists to examine the fifty-four-year-old Chicagoan, indicted in December with Robert Best, fifty-one, of Sumter, S. C., after they had been flown from Germany to face trial.

Annapolis Gets 2 Nazi Ships

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Feb. 24 (AP).—A sailing vessel formerly owned by Admiral Karl Doenitz, commander of the German Navy, and another Nazi yacht have been assigned to the naval academy. Officials said oday the two vessels would become part of the academy's yacht fleet, which already contains several famous ocean-racing yachts. Doenitz's former yacht is the East Wind, an eighty-five-foot steel-hulled yawl. The oher boat is the Nordeny, a nine-meter racing sloop.

E. S. Mason to Assist Marshall

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Feb. 24 (AP)—Secretary of State Marshall will have a Harvard University professor as his chief economic advisor at the forthcoming Council of Foreign Ministers in Moscow. Harvard reported today that Prof. Edward S. Mason of its economics department had been granted a leave of absence to fill the post beside Secretary Marshall.

22 Ships Head Into Pacific

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Feb. 24 (AP).—Twenty-two warships, led by the battleship Iowa, sailed from here today to engage in a practice Pacific war that will include an attack on Hawaii.

TROOPSHIP ARRIVALS

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Five transports are scheduled to arrive in the U. S. today. They are:

At New York: The General Muir from Leghorn, Italy, with 1,857 troops. The General Sturgis from Bremerhaven with 1,000 troops. The Zebulon Vance from Bremerhaven with 229 troops. The Joseph V. Connolly from Bremerhaven with 12 soldiers.

At San Francisco: The Marine Devil from Korea with 1,250 Army, one Navy, and 31 civilians.

BERLIN, FEB. 24-(AP)-AMERICAN AND BRITISH AUTHORITIES ARRESTED MORE GERMANS DURING THE NIGHT IN SQUELCHING A REPORTED NATIONWIDE NAZI PLOT TO RESTORE GERMAN ARMED MIGHT TO "LEAD THE NATIONS OF EUROPE AGAINST RUSSIA."

THE NAZI CAPTIVES, INCLUDING FUGITIVE STORM TROOP OFFICERS, CLAIMED TO HAVE A SECRET BACTERIOLOGICAL WEAPON.

A SENIOR BRITISH INTELLIGENCE OFFICER SAID 80 PER CENT OF THE WANTED MEN HAD BEEN ARRESTED AND THAT THE SUBVERSIVE MOVEMENT MIGHT BE REGARDED AS "SMASHED." HE DECLINED TO GIVE THE EXACT NUMBER OF ARRESTS IN THE BRITISH ZONE, BUT SAID THE RAIDS WERE "EXTRAORDINARILY SUCCESSFUL."

A BRITISH ANNOUNCEMENT SAID THE CLEANUP WAS "PROGRESSING SMOOTHLY," ALTHOUGH SNOW AND ICE ON ROADS HANDICAPPED RAIDING SQUADS.

AMERICAN AND BRITISH INTELLIGENCE AGENTS WERE QUESTIONING THE HUNDREDS ARRESTED, SEEKING INFORMATION THAT WOULD LEAD TO MINOR PLOTTERS IN A GROUP OVERLOOKED OR UNKNOWN BEFORE THE SWIFT RAIDS OF SATURDAY AND SUNDAY BROKE THE ORGANIZATION DEDICATED TO A NEW TOTALITARIAN GERMANY.

AMERICAN OFFICIALS SAID HEADQUARTERS OF THE SUBVERSIVE GROUP APPARENTLY WAS IN THE BRITISH ZONE.

"THERE WAS VERY CLOSE LIAISON BETWEEN THE LEADERS IN THE BRITISH ZONE AND THE 30 HIGH NAZIS SEIZED IN AMERICAN TERRITORY," ONE U.S. OFFICER COMMENTED.

30.24—8083

THOSE SEIZED IN THE AMERICAN ZONE, ARRESTED AT THEIR HOMES, WERE FOUND TO POSSESS FALSE DOCUMENTS. SOME USED FALSE NAMES. THE AMERICAN OFFICER SAID "WE WILL HAVE TO BREAK THEM DOWN FULLY BEFORE WE CAN THINK" OF TRYING THEM. ALL ARE LIABLE TO THE DEATH PENALTY AS PLOTTERS.

UNITED STATES AND BRITISH SOLDIERS AND INTELLIGENCE MEN, STRIKING THROUGHOUT THEIR OCCUPATION ZONES DESPITE A SNOWSTORM AND ICY ROADS, YESTERDAY SEIZED ONCE-HIGH OFFICERS OF THE OLD SS (ELITE GUARD), SA (STORM TROOPS), HITLER YOUTH, GERMAN INTELLIGENCE AND OTHER SIMILAR AGENCIES IN THE BIGGEST SUCH MOVEMENT SINCE THE WAR--THE FIRST TO COVER TWO ZONES.

A BRITISH SENIOR INTELLIGENCE OFFICER AT HERFORD SAID THE MOVEMENT CLAIMED POSSESSION OF A SECRET BACTERIOLOGICAL WEAPON READY FOR USE.

OTHER OFFICERS DECLARED THEY HAD NOT LEARNED FOR SURE WHETHER THE GROUP HAD SUCH A WEAPON. COL.HANS EINSMANN, ONE-TIME OFFICER OF THE GERMAN BACTERIOLOGICAL WARFARE DIVISION, WAS CAPTURED IN THE BRITISH ZONE.

U.S. AUTHORITIES REPORTED THE ARREST OF SOME 30 SUSPECTS AND BRITISH AUTHORITIEU THE ARREST OF "HUNDREDS" IN THEIR RESPECTIVE ZONES. SOLDIERS SEALED OFF STREETS AND INTELLIGENCE AGENTS WENT INTO HOUSES THEY LONG HAD BEEN WATCHING.

THE BRITISH SAID THE MOVEMENT STRETCHED INTO THE RUSSIAN AND FRENCH ZONES AND AUTHORITIES THERE WERE BEING KEPT POSTED.

THEY REPORTED THE UNDERGROUND WANTED TO RESTORE GERMAN MILITARISM AND NAZI DICTATORSHIP TO "LEAD THE NATIONS OF EUROPE AGAINST RUSSIA."

THE U.S. ARMY SAID IMMEDIATE AIMS WERE TO HAMPER DENAZIFICATION AND REPARATION MEASURES AND TRY TO GET BACK LOST GERMAN TERRITORIES.

LT. GEN. LUCIUS D. CLAY, AMERICAN MILITARY GOVERNOR-DESIGNATE, SAID U.S. OFFICIALS DID NOT CONSIDER THE GROUP "PARTICULARLY DANGEROUS" BUT "THOUGHT IT WAS TIME TO MOVE IN AND CLEAN THEM UP."

A BRITISH SPOKESMAN SAID: "DESPITE THEIR SILLINESS, WHICH UNDERESTIMATED ALLIED INTELLIGENCE, AND THEIR PRETENTIOUSNESS, BECAUSE THEY DID NOT HAVE THE NECESSARY MILITARY STRENGTH, THERE WAS A POINT BEYOND WHICH THEY COULD NOT BE ALLOWED TO PROCEED."

A19

U.S. MILITARY HEADQUARTERS REPORTED A TEMENDOUS POTENTIAL FOR SUBVERSIVE ACTIVITY EXISTING IN "A PEOPLE WHO WERE COMPLETELY INDOCTRINATED IN NATIONALISTIC PROPAGANDA", BUT SAID IT COULD BE CONTROLLED "AS LONG AS WE ARE ABLE TO MAINTAIN OUR ARMY IN GERMANY."

SUSPECTS SEIZED INCLUDED:

BERLIN, FEB. 24-(AP)-THE ALLIED CONTROL AUTHORITY'S COORDINATING COMMITTEE COMPLETED TONIGHT, FOR SUBMISSION TO THE FOREIGN MINISTERS MEETING IN MOSCOW MARCH 10, A REPORT SETTING OUT SHARPLY DISAGREEMENTS IN THE FOUR-POWER ADMINISTRATION OF GERMANY.

THE REPORT NOW GOES TO THE CONTROL COUNCIL, WHICH WILL CONVENE TOMORROW ON THE DEADLINE ESTABLISHED BY THE MINISTERS FOR THE DRAFTING OF THE DOCUMENT.

THE COORDINATING COMMITTEE, COMPOS

THE COORDINATING COMMITTEE, COMPOSED OF THE FOUR DEPUTY MILITARY GOVERNORS, SPENT NEARLY THREE MONTHS WORKING ON THE REPORT. MOST OF THE DISPUTES WERE BETWEEN THE RUSSIANS ON THE ONE HAND AND THE AMERICANS AND THE BRITISH ON THE OTHER, AND CONCERNED REPARATIONS, THE LEVEL OF ONDUSTRIAL PRODUCTION AND DENAZIFICATION.

THESE DISAGREEMENTS ENDED IN A COMPROMISE WHICH PERMITTED EACH POWER TO GIVE ITS OWN OPINION ON MATTERS ON WHICH NO ACCORD COULD BE REACHED.

IN ITS FINAL FORM, THE REPORT CONTAINS RELATIVELY FEW AGREEMENTS, AND MANY INDIVIDUAL VIEWPOINTS.

ON THE QUESTION OF THE REMOVAL FROM GERMANY OF EQUIPMENT FOR REPARATIONS, THE RUSSIANS MAINTAINED THEY WOULD FURNISH REPARATIONS DATA ONLY TO THE FOREIGN MINISTERS THEMSELVES. THE SOVIETS TOOK THE SAME STAND ON DISCLOSING THE NUMBER OF GERMAN PRISONERS OF WAR THEY NOW HOLD AND THE VALUE OF GERMAN MARKS WHICH THEY HAVE PRINTED.

LT. GEN. LUCIUS D. CLAY, DEPUTY AMERICAN MILITARY GOVERNOR, SAID RECENTLY THAT THE REPORT WOULD PROVE VALUABLE TO THE FOREIGN MINISTERS BECAUSE IT RENDERED A SHARP PICTURE OF THE ISSUES HERE ON WHICH THE FOUR POWERS WERE UNABLE TO AGREE.

BY DANIEL DE LUCE

WIESBADEN, FEB.24-(AP)-THIS SAD OLD WORLD TICKLES THE FUNNY-BONE OF WILHELM VON OPEL, WHO BUILT 1,000,000 AUTOMOBILES AND NOW HAS TO THUMB A RIDE.

"ACH,JA," HE CHORTLES. "I WAS BORN INTO A THREE-ROOM HOME WHERE THE FIVE CHILDREN SLEPT LIKE A STACK OF SPOONS IN TWO BEDS.

"SO WHAT DO I HAVE NOW? THREE ROOMS, BORROWED FROM MY FORMER GARDENER, AND DOWN THE STREET IS MY MANSION THAT AN AMERICAN GENERAL REQUISITIONED."

HIS FACE CRINKLES IN RENEWED LAUGHTER.

"I COULDN'T BE HAPPY IN MY MANSION, BECAUSE I WOULD HAVE NO COAL, NO SERVANTS, NO MONEY TO PAY TAXES, AND NO TILE TO FIX THE HOLES IN THE ROOF.

"BUT HERE I AM HAPPY, IF I WEREN'T HAPPY, I WOULD ALREADY BE SIX FEET UNDER THE VERY COLD GROUND."

THE 76-YEAR-OLD MANUFACTURER, ONCE DUBBED THE "HENRY FORD OF GERMANY," CHUCKLES AGAIN AT THAT NICKNAME.

"I STOLE WITH MY EYES MR. FORD'S ASSEMBLY LINE TECHNIQUE," HE RECALLS, "HE INVITED ME LONG AGO TO SEE HIS GREAT PLANT. WHEN I CAME HOME I MADE AN ASSEMBLY LINE OF MY OWN. ACH, IT WAS WUNDER-BAR!"

EVEN MENTION OF HIS MEMBERSHIP IN THE NATIONAL SOCIALIST PARTY AND THE DENAZIFICATION TRIAL LAST MONTH WHICH ADJUGED HIM A 'FOLLOWER' (THE LEAST PUNISHABLE CLASSIFICATION) DOES NOT DAMPEN HIS GOOD SPIRITS.

"TWO COMMUNIST WORKERS FROM MY OLD FACTORY WERE BROUGHT ON BY THE PROSECUTION. WHAT DID THEY TESTIFY? THAT I WAS A GOOD EMPLOYER AND AN UPRIGHT MAN," VON OPEL EXCLAIMS.

"ONLY LATER, ANOTHER COMMUNIST WROTE A COMPLAINT TO THE COURT AND SO I MAY HAVE TO BE TRIED AGAIN. BUT AT MY AGE, I DON'T WORRY. I AM PERFECTLY CONTENT."

1947

AMERICAN MILITARY GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS HAVE BEEN INFORMED PRIVATELY THAT VON OPEL, WHO SOLD CONTROL OF HIS AUTOMOBILE INTERESTS IN 1929 TO GENERAL MOTORS FOR APPROXIMATELY $30,000,000, BECAME A NAZI PARTY MEMBER IN 1933 ON THE ADVICE OF AMERICAN BUSINESS FRIENDS.

"THAT'S TRUE, BUT I WON'T EMBARRASS ANYBODY BY NAMING NAMES," HE SAYS. "IT WAS A DIFFERENT THING, THIS NAZISM, IN 1933, WHEN EVERY BIG GOVERNMENT IN THE WORLD SENT GOOD WISHES TO THE GERMAN CHANCELLOR HITLER ON HIS BIRTHDAY.

"SO HITLER ABOLISHED HIGH AUTOMOBILE TAXES, BUILT MARVELOUS HIGH-WAYS, SHOOK HANDS WITH AMERICAN AUTO MAKERS WHEN THEY CAME TO GERMANY, AND GAVE THEM GOVERNMENTAL DECORATIONS. I PAID MY 12 1/2 MARKS DUES EACH MONTH TO THE PARTY, BUT I DIDN'T MEDDLE IN POLITICS. THAT'S WHY NOW I CAN SLEEP WELL AT NIGHT."

VON OPEL, BECAUSE OF HIS NAZI MEMBERSHIP, WAS REQUIRED BY LAW TO RESIGN AS CHAIRMAN OF THE OPEL COMPANY'S BOARD LAST OCTOBER. HIS PRESENT SUCCESSOR AT THE 30 PERCENT WAR-DAMAGED FACTORY, WHICH HE FOUNDED AT RUESSELSHEIM NEAR HERE IN 1897, IS DR. WALTER G. BEHRENS, A HALF-JEW, WHOM VON OPEL HAD RETAINED IN IMPORTANT POSTS THROUGHOUT THE NAZI ERA.

VON OPEL DENIES THE ALLEGATIONS OF COMMUNISTS IN MOSCOW AND BERLIN THAT AMERICAN AUTOMOBILE COMPANIES ARE GETTING ANY PROFITS NOW OUT OF GERMANY.

"FOUR REPRESENTATIVES OF GENERAL MOTORS BRIEFLY INSPECTED THE OPEL PLANT THIS WINTER. BUT THEY COULD ONLY LOOK--THEY COULDN'T BUY OF SELL ANYTHING," HE SAID.

CONTRIBUTING TO VON OPEL'S ROSY OUTLOOK IS THE FACT THAT HIS SON, FRITZ, FORMER EXPERIMENTER WITH ROCKET-PROPELLED RACING CARS, IS EXPECTING TO OBTAIN AMERICAN CITIZENSHIP SOON. THE SON RESIDES AT 433 EAST 51ST STREET, NEW YORK CITY.

"FRITZ WAS CONSULTED BY THE U.S. WAR DEPARTMENT ABOUT ROCKETS DURING THE WAR," HE REMARKS PROUDLY. "I'M SURE HIS ADVICE WAS VALUABLE. OF COURSE, THE JUSTICE DEPARTMENT ALSO LOCKED HIM UP FOR THREE YEARS IN TEXAS. BUT TEXAS IS A HEALTHY PLACE. ACH, IT DIDN'T DO HIM ANY HARM."

ATOMIC (600)

BY DANIEL DE LUCE

GOETTINGEN, GERMANY, FEB 24-(AP)-THE NOBEL-PRIZE PHYSICIST WHO HEADED GERMANY'S WARTIME ATOMIC RESEARCH SAYS THREE OTHER GERMAN ATOMIC SCIENTISTS NOW ARE DOING RESEARCH "SOMEWHERE IN RUSSIA."

DR.WERNER HEISENBERG, 1932 WINNER OF THE NOBEL PHYSICS PRIZE AND DIRECTOR DURING THE WAR OF THE KAISER WILHELM PHYSICS INSTITUTE, ADDED IN AN INTERVIEW YESTERDAY THAT THE SOVIET UNION HAD MADE A STANDING OFFER TO HIRE ANY GERMAN ATOMIC EXPERT AT 6,000 RUBLES A MONTH.

(THE OFFICIAL RATE OF EXCHANGE IS 5.3 RUBLES TO THE DOLLAR; THE DIPLOMATIC RATE IS 12 TO THE DOLLAR.)

HEISENBERG, A JOVIAL LITTLE MAN OF 45 WITH SANDY HAIR AND THICK EYEBROWS, ALSO SAID THAT:

(1) GERMANY WAS EVEN WITH THE UNITED STATES IN ATOMIC RESEARCH IN JUNE, 1942, AND ON THE WAY TO BEATING THE U.S. TO DISCOVERY OF THE ATOMIC BOMB--BUT WAS STYMIED BY HITLER'S STRATEGY AND THE COUNTRY'S INDUSTRIAL INFERIORITY TO THE U.S.

(2) U.S. SCIENTIFIC INTELLIGENCE MEN SPIRITED AWAY GERMANY'S URANIUM PILE (SUCH AS THE U.S. USED IN PRODUCING THE BOMB) FROM UNDER THE NOSE OF THE OCCUPYING FRENCH ARMY EARLY IN 1945 AND THE FRENCH WERE REPORTED "VERY IRKED WHEN THEY FOUND OUT."

HEISENBERG SAID THAT HE HIMSELF HAD TURNED DOWN INVITATIONS TO WORK IN THE UNITED STATES AND IN RUSSIA IN FAVOR OF A JOB WITH THE BRITISH HERE. HE REPORTED HE AND SIX WARTIME ASSOCIATES WERE CARRY-ING ON "RESEARCH IN THE COSMIC RAY."

(COSMIC RAYS BOMBARD THE EARTH FROM ALL DIRECTIONS. SOME SCIENTISTS BELIEVE THEM TO BE THE PRODUCT OF CHANGES IN ATOMS TAKING PLACE IN OUTER SPACE.)

A33

THE GERMAN SCIENTIST SAID THE THREE RESEARCHERS AT WORK IN RUSSIA WERE DR.LUDWIG BEVILOGUA, HIS WARTIME ASSISTANT; DR. ROBERT DOEPEL, LEIPZIG PHYSICIST, AND PROF. GUSTAV HERTZ, BUILDER OF GERMANY'S CYCLOTRON (ATOM SMASHER) AND AUTHORITY ON SEPARATION OF AN EXPLOSIVE FORM OF URANIUM.

HEISENBERG SAID THEY WENT TO GERMANY "VERY SOON" AFTER THE WAR IN EUROPE ENDED IN MID-1945.

30.24—8095

HE REPORTED AN AUTHORIZED GERMAN FROM THE RUSSIAN OCCUPATION ZONE INVITED HIM LAST SEPTEMBER TO JOIN THEM AND PROMISED HIM, IN ADDITION TO THE 6,000-RUBLE MONTHLY SALARY, 3,500 CALORIES OF FOOD DAILY FOR EACH OF HIS SIX CHILDREN, 50 POUNDS OF FRESH MEAT MONTHLY AND A COMFORTABLY FURNISHED HOUSE.

"I REJECTED THE OFFER BECAUSE I WISH TO KEEP ON LIVING IN MY OWN COUNTRY," HE SAID. "I DON'T WANT TO DO BOMB RESEARCH FOR ANYBODY."

HE ALSO SAID THAT DR.ENRICO FERMI, ITALIAN-BORN U.S. PHYSICIST, HAD INVITED HIM TO JOIN THE "CHICAGO GROUP" BUT THAT HE HAD TURNED DOWN THAT INVITATION AS WELL AS RUSSIA'S.

(DR.FERMI AND OTHER UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO SCIENTISTS ACHIEVED THE FIRST ATOMIC CHAIN REACTION--BASIC PROCESS OF THE BOMB-- IN A GRAPHITE-AND-URANIUM "BRICKPILE" UNDER THE UNIVERSITY STADIUM.)

HE SAID GERMANY'S ATOMIC RESEARCH WAS DIVERTED FROM THE GOAL OF BOMB MAKING ON JUNE 6, 1942. KAISER WILHELM PHYSICISTS ON THAT DAY TOLD ARMAMENTS MINISTER ALBERT SPEER, HE SAID, THAT THEY COULD EXTRACT EXPLOSIVE PLUTONIUM FROM URANIUM IF GIVEN "TWO YEARS OR LONGER."

"HITLER REFUSED TO CONSIDER ANY MILITARY MEASURE THAT WOULD TAKE MORE THAN SIX MONTHS," HE SAID. "AT THAT TIME, HE WAS DREAMING OF WINNING THE CAUCASUS OIL FIELDS AND THE SUEZ CANAL--THE OLD BLITZ-KRIEG DREAM. GERMANY, IN ANY CASE, DID NOT HAVE THE HUGE INDUSTRIAL CAPACITY WHICH THE UNITED STATES HAD X X X."

HEISENBERG SAID HE HAD READ THE SMYTH REPORT ON U.S. DEVELOPMENT OF THE ATOMIC BOMB AND NOW KNEW "EXACTLY WHAT WAS DONE, EXCEPT FOR SMALL TECHNICAL DETAILS."

(PRINCETON PHYSICIST HENRY DEWOLF SMYTH PREPARED THE WAR DEPARTMENT'S OFFICIAL 1945 REPORT ON A-BOMB RESEARCH. DAVID E.LILIENTHAL, NOMINEE FOR CHAIRMAN OF THE U.S. ATOMIC CONTROL COMMISSION, RECENTLY CRITICIZED RELEASE OF THE REPORT AS A THREAT TO ATOMIC SECURITY."

HEISENBERG SAID ATOMIC ENERGY WAS "ON THE THRESHOLD OF GREAT BENEFITS TO THE HUMAN RACE, BOTH IN MEDICAL USE AND IN THE PRODUCTION OF CHEAP POWER FOR INDUSTRY."

"I PRAY," HE DECLARED, "THAT THE POLITICIANS WILL BE CLEVER ENOUGH TO SAVE US FROM THE EVIL MISUSE OF SCIENCE."

NUERNBERG, FEB.24-(AP)-THE GERMAN COURT WHICH SENTENCED FRANZ VON PAPEN TO EIGHT YEARS AT HARD LABOR AS A NAZI LEADER WAS ADVISED TODAY THAT THE AUSTRIAN GOVERNMENT ALSO WANTED TO PLACE THE DIPLOMAT ON TRIAL FOR HIS ACTIVITIES AS HITLER'S AMBASSADOR TO VIENNA.

PROSECUTOR WERNER FIEBIG SAID DR. JOSEF GEROE, MINISTER OF JUSTICE IN VIENNA, HAD WRITTEN HIM OF INTENTIONS TO TRY VON PAPEN IN CONNECTION WITH GERMANY'S ABSORPTION OF AUSTRIA IN 1938. VON PAPEN HAS BEEN ACCUSED OF PAVING THE WAY FOR THIS ANSCHLUSS.

FIEBIG SAID THE MINISTER WROTE THAT HIS GOVERNMENT "HAS TAKEN STEPS WITH COMPETENT AUTHORITIES" TO GAIN CUSTODY OF VON PAPEN. THE LETTER, THE PROSECUTOR REPORTED, DID NOT ELABORATE.

THE ALLIED CONTROL COUNCIL IN BERLIN IS THE SOLE AUTHORITY THAT COULD GRANT EXTRADITION OF VON PAPEN TO AUSTRIA. THERE WAS NO IMMEDIATE INDICATION HERE WHETHER IT WOULD DO SO.

NANKING, FEB.24-(AP)-CHINA'S HIT-AND-RUN CIVIL WARFARE IS ERUPTING IN "HEAVY ENCOUNTERS" IN CENTRAL SHANTUNG PROVINCE, ASSOCIATED PRESS CORRESPONDENT JOHN RODERICK REPORTED FROM PEIPING, WHILE MANCHURIAN DISPATCHES SAID A CHINESE COMMUNIST OFFENSIVE WAS UNDER WAY TODAY ALONG THE SUNGARI RIVER 125 MILES EAST OF MUKDEN.

RODERICK SAID THE CENTRAL SHANTUNG FIGHTING WAS REPORTED TO BE SOUTH OF THE TSINGTAO-TSINAN RAILWAY. CHINESE FIELD DISPATCHES SAID GOVERNMENT FORCES HAD CAPTURED YUNCHENG, 95 MILES SOUTHWEST OF TSINAN.

THE MUKDEN REPORTS SAID FOUR COMMUNIST BRIGADES WERE ADVANCING ON THE TUNGHWA REGION EAST OF MUKDEN IN THEIR NEW OFFENSIVE.

PEIPING, TUESDAY, FEB.25-(AP)-WHILE THE GOVERNMENT'S TOP MILITARY CHIEFS GATHERED HERE TO MAP THEIR "PACIFICATION" CAMPAIGN, NANKING MILITARY SOURCES SAID TODAY THAT MORE THAN 100,000 CHINESE COMMUNIST TROOPS WERE MOVING INTO THE "UNPRECEDENTEDLY BLOODY" FIGHTING IN CENTRAL SHANTUNG PROVINCE.

UNCONFIRMED PRESS DISPATCHES ALSO CLAIMED GOVERNMENT CAPTURE OF MALANSHIH, IMPORTANT COMMUNIST BASE 66 MILES NORTHWEST OF SIKING (SIAN) IN INLAND SHENSI PROVINCE.

THE COMMUNIST ONSLAUGHT IN SHANTUNG WAS AIMED AT CUTTING THE GOVERNMENT'S VITAL TSINAN-TSINGTAO RAILROAD LINE. SOME 50,000 RED TROOPS WERE REPORTED ALREADY PRESSING GOVERNMENT POSITIONS JUST SOUTHWEST OF THE POSHAN COAL MINING REGION OF CENTRAL SHANTUNG. AND CENTRAL DAILY NEWS DISPATCHES SAID SMALL BANDS OF COMMUNISTS WERE PROBING THE OUTER DEFENSES OF TSINAN, THE PROVINCIAL CAPITAL.

CHINA'S DEFENSE MINISTER PAI CHUNG-HSI IS EXPECTED TO REACH PEIPING SOON FOR THE "PACIFICATION" CONFERENCE, DATE OF WHICH WAS NOT ANNOUNCED.

PEIPING, FEB.24-(AP)-NATURE AGAIN HAS DEFEATED MAN'S ATTEMPT TO TURN THE YELLOW RIVER BACK TO ITS OLD NORTHERN CHANNEL.

THE GOVERNMENT, ACTING ON ORDERS FROM GENERALISSIMO CHIANG KAI-SHEK, SUDDENLY DIVERTED THE TORRENT ABOUT A WEEK AGO, BUT NEWS REACHING THE UNRRA BRANCH HERE TODAY SAID RIVER SEDIMENT HAD THROWN UP HUGE SANDBARS AT HUAYUANKO, EAST OF CHENGCHOW, CHOKING OFF THE FLOW ALMOST COMPLETELY.

AT THE SAME TIME, TONS OF PRESSURE ON A NEARLY-COMPLETED DAM INTENDED TO HALT THE SOUTHWARD FLOW HAD WIDENED THE SMALL REMAINING GAP, THE REPORT SAID.

UNRRA SOURCES SAID THE RECENT DIVERSION PRODUCED AN 80 PERCENT FLOW IN THE PREWAR BED. THIS WAS MOVING AT THE RATE OF FIVE MILES A DAY AND HAD DESTROYED AND DAMAGED HOUSES AND "PROBABLY KILLED A HANDFUL OF PEOPLE," THESE SOURCES SAID. THEY ADDED THAT THE SANDBARS HAD REDUCED THE FLOW TO A TRICKLE, LEAVING PUDDLES BEHIND.

THE CHINESE COMMUNIST RADIO REPORTED YESTERDAY THAT MORE THAN 60 VILLAGES AND MUCH LAND HAD BEEN INUNDATED BY THE GOVERNMENT'S ACTION. IT SAID 300,000 PERSONS HAD BEEN MADE HOMELESS AND 40 DROWNED BECAUSE PROTECTIVE DIKES ALONG THE OLD COURSE HAD NOT BEEN COMPLETED.

COMMUNIST ANGER APPARENTLY WAS BASED ON THE BELIEF THE DIVERSION WOULD CUT OFF RED FORCES IN SHANTUNG PROVINCE FROM INTERIOR BASES.

NEW DELHI, FEB. 24-(AP)-IN HIS FIRST PUBLIC STATEMENT SINCE BRITAIN ANNOUNCED PLANS TO WITHDRAW FROM INDIA BY JUNE, 1948, MOHAMED ALI JINNAH DECLARED YESTERDAY THAT HIS MOSLEM LEAGUE WOULD NOT YIELD IN ITS DEMAND FOR PAKISTAN -- A SEPARATE MOSLEM STATE.

AT THE SAME TIME ALLAMA MASHRIQUI, LEADER OF KHAKSAR, AN INDEPENDENT MOSLEM PARTY, ASSERTED THAT THE WITHDRAWAL OF BRITISH FORCES FROM INDIA WOULD BE "THE ZERO HOUR FOR THE START OF A TERRIBLE CARNAGE OF MOSLEMS."

MASHRIQUI CALLED THE BRITISH ANNOUNCEMENT "CAMOUFLAGED MISCHIEF."

JINNAH MADE HIS STATEMENT IN AN ADDRESS AT A CAMP HOUSING MOSLEM REFUGEES FROM COMMUNAL DISORDERS IN BIHAR. WHILE AVOIDING DIRECT REFERENCE TO THE BRITISH DECLARATION, HE SAID:

"THE SUFFERINGS MOSLEMS UNDERWENT IN BIHAR AND ELSEWHERE CLEARLY SHOWED WE SHOULD HAVE A SEPARATE STATE OF PAKISTAN. I AM REALLY PROUD OF THE BIHAR MOSLEMS WHO SACRIFICED SO MUCH. NIGHT LEAD WAR TRIALS (200)

BY FRANK L.WHITE

TOKYO, TUESDAY, FEB.25-(AP)-AN ATTEMPT BY THE INTERNATIONAL WAR CRIMES DEFENSE STAFF TO PORTRAY THE ALLIED POWERS AS TREATY VIOLATORS--A CHARGE THE ALLIES FORMALLY FILED AGAINST THE 26 JAPANESE LEADERS ON TRIAL--WAS BLOCKED TODAY BY COURT ORDER AFTER A PROSECUTION PROTEST.

THE COURT DID NOT RULE ON THE ADMISSABILITY OF SUCH EVIDENCE, BUT CHIEF JUSTICE SIR WILLIAM WEBB INSTRUCTED DEFENSE ATTORNEY WILLIAM LOGAN TO DELETE ANY SUCH REFERENCES FROM HIS OPENING ARGUMENTS TODAY.

THE NEW YORK ATTORNEY HAD PREPARED A SYNOPSIS OF DEFENSE EVIDENCE WHICH INCLUDED ACCUSATIONS THAT RUSSIA WAS GUILTY OF AGGRESSION AGAINST MANCHURIA, FINLAND, AND THE BALTIC STATES; AND THAT BRITAIN AND RUSSIA WERE SIMILARLY GUILTY IN THE OCCUPATION OF IRAN.

LOGAN AT FIRST SAID HE MIGHT AS WELL WITHDRAW HIS ENTIRE SUMMATION, BUT HE LATER PROCEEDED ON THE UNDERSTANDING THAT THE COURT WAS NOT AT THIS TIME RULING OUT LATER EVIDENCE ON SUCH TOPICS.

THE COURT EARLIER HAD REFUSED TO ALLOW DR.KENZO TAKAYANAGI, A JAPANESE FOREIGN OFFICE LEGAL ADVISER, TO ARGUE THE QUESTION OF JURISDICTION OF THE TRIBUNAL.

WEBB HALTED TAKAYANAGI IN MID-SENTENCE AND INFORMED THE DEFENSE COUNSEL THAT THE COURT'S CHARTER PROVIDES THAT ALL SUCH QUESTIONS CAN BE ARGUED ONLY AT THE END OF THE TRIAL.

TRIAL

TOKYO, FEB.24-(AP)-THE DEFENSE LAUNCHED ITS CASE BEFORE THE INTERNATIONAL WAR CRIMES TRIBUNAL TODAY, ATTEMPTING TO PROVE THE 26 JAPANESE WAR LEADERS ON TRIAL WERE PUBLIC SERVANTS FIGHTING COMMUNISM IN ASIA AND ECONOMIC ENCIRCLEMENT BY THE WESTERN POWERS.

VERBAL EXCHANGES INVOLVING TRIBUNAL PRESIDENT SIR WILLIAM WEBB MARKED ONE OF THE MOST DRAMATIC SESSIONS SINCE FORMER PREMIER HIDEKI TOJO AND THE OTHER DEFENDANTS WERE ARRAIGNED LAST APRIL. THE EXCHANGES WERE PRECIPITATED BY DEFENSE EFFORTS TO RENEW ATTACKS UPON THE TRIBUNAL'S CHARTER, JURISDICTION AND INTERPRETATIONS OF INTERNATIONAL LAW.

WEBB ENDED A HEATED EXCHANGE WITH DR.KENZO TAKAYANAGI, A LEGAL ADVISOR TO THE JAPANESE FOREIGN OFFICE AND COUNSEL FOR DEFENDANT TEIICHI SUZUKI WITH DIRECT INSTRUCTIONS TO DELETE FROM HIS OPENING STATEMENT ANY ARGUMENT ON QUESTIONS OF LAW OR JURISDICTION.

"AT THE PROPER STAGE WE WILL HEAR EVERY ARGUMENT ON LAW YOU CARE TO PRESENT," WEBB TOLD TAKAYANAGI.

DR.ICHIRO KIYOSE, REPRESENTING TOJO, PRESENTED THE OPENING ARGUMENT FOR THE DEFENSE, HOLDING THAT JAPAN'S MOTIVES WERE MISUNDERSTOOD. HE ATTRIBUTED TO BOTH CHINESE AND RUSSIAN COMMUNIST INSPIRATION MUCH OF JAPAN'S TROUBLES ON THE ASIATIC MAINLAND. HE ACCUSED THE UNITED STATES, GREAT BRITAIN AND THE NETHERLANDS OF JOINING AGAINST JAPAN'S FIGHT FOR "INDEPENDENCE."

AT THE START OF THE AFTERNOON SESSION, FORMER PREMIER BARON KIICHI HIRANUMA, THE OLDEST OF THE DEFENDANTS, WAS UNABLE TO RISE WHEN THE JUDGES ENTERED. THE 80-YEAR-OLD MAN WAS REMOVED FROM THE DOCK. DOCTORS SAID HIS CONDITION WAS NOT SERIOUS.

TOKYO, FEB.24-(AP)-OCCUPATION FORCES IN JAPAN AND KOREA HAVE BEEN CUT TO BARE ESSENTIALS AND ARE ADMINISTERED WITH RIGID ECONOMY, GENERAL MACARTHUR TOLD THE AMERICAN CONGRESS TODAY IN A LETTER WHICH EXPRESSED CONFIDENCE CONGRESS WOULD NOT "TAKE ANY ACTION WHICH WOULD PREJUDICE FULFILLMENT OF OCCUPATION OBJECTIVES."

BOTH NATIONAL SECURITY AND WORLD PEACE ARE AT STAKE, HE WARNED IN HIS LETTER, WRITTEN, BY REQUEST, TO THE WAR DEPARTMENT FOR PRESENTATION TO CONGRESS DURING BUDGET DISCUSSIONS.

CAREFULLY AVOIDING NAMING ANY FOREIGN POWER OR POLITICAL PARTY, HE NEVERTHELESS NOTED THAT "STARVATION . . . RENDERS A PEOPLE EASY PREY TO ANY IDEOLOGY, HOWEVER EVIL, WHICH BEARS WITH IT LIFE-SUSTAINING FOOD." AND CONSEQUENTLY, HE EMPHASIZED, PROPOSED RELIEF SHIPMENTS SHOULD NOT BE CUT OFF.

"IT IS NOT CHARITY," HE EXPLAINED, SINCE THE COST IS TO BE REPAID BY JAPAN WHEN SHE IS PERMITTED TO RESUME NORMAL WORLD TRADE. THE UNITED STATES HAS FIRST CLAIM ON JAPANESE PRODUCTION TO GUARANTEE SUCH REPAYMENT, HE NOTED, AND IN THE LONG RUN THE AMERICAN TAXPAYER WOULD NOT "BE OUT OF POCKET A SINGLE DOLLAR..."

IN HIS MONTHLY REPORT ON THE OCCUPATION, ISSUED AS A SIMULTANEOUS PRESS RELEASE, MACARTHUR WARNED THE JAPANESE AGAINST PERMITTING "IRRESPONSIBLE ELEMENTS" TO GAIN POWER.

HE PRAISED THE COUNTRY'S NEW POWER-TO-THE-PEOPLE CONSTITUTION AS A MILESTONE ON THE ROAD TO DEMOCRACY, AND SAID THE CURRENT ALLIED PURGE WOULD WEED OUT POLITICIANS, BUREAUCRATS, NEWSPAPERMEN AND BUSINESS LEADERS WHO HELPED TO FORM "THE TOTALITARIAN STATE WHICH PREPARED FOR AND PROSECUTED THE WAR."

UPDATED WEEKEND AIR CRASHES (WITH LADD FIELD)

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

(NY) THREE AIRPLANE CRASHES THAT KILLED 17 PERSONS AND ANOTHER THAT LEFT 11 ARMY AIR FORCE FLIERS STRANDED ON THE BLEAK ICE CAP OF NORTHWESTERN GREENLAND WERE REPORTED OVER THE WEEKEND.

THE MOST COSTLY CRASH WAS THAT OF A COAST GUARD PBM MARINER FLYING BOAT WHICH STRUCK NEAR THE TOP OF A MESA IN THE VICINITY OF TIJUANA, MEX., WHILE ON A MERCY MISSION SATURDAY NIGHT. NINE COAST GUARDSMEN AND A FISHERMAN ILL OF PNEUMONIA WERE KILLED.

THE FLYING BOAT WAS RETURNING FROM A 1,400-MILE ROUND TRIP TO SEA TO BRING THE STRICKEN FISHERMAN FROM HIS SHIP. THE PLANE'S LAST MESSAGE SAID IT WAS "LETTING DOWN OFF THE CORONADO ISLANDS IN A DENSE FOG."

TWO OF THE CREW SURVIVED.

JOHN G. "TEX" RANKIN, 53, NATIONALLY-KNOWN STUNT PILOT AND AUTO RACER, WAS ONE OF THREE PERSONS KILLED IN A CRASH YESTERDAY NEAR KLAMATH FALLS, ORE. THEIR PLANE LOST POWER AFTER A TAKEOFF AND STRUCK A POWER LINE. A FOURTH MAN WAS INJURED.

NEAR OFFENBACH, GERMANY, A FRENCH MILITARY TRANSPORT BECAME LOST IN A SNOWSTORM FRIDAY NIGHT, RAN OUT OF FUEL, AND CRASHED, KILLING ITS CREW OF FOUR.

THE ELEVEN MEMBERS STRANDED IN THE GREENLAND WASTE WERE MEMBERS OF A B-29 PHOTOGRAPHIC RECONNAISSANCE SUPERFORTRESS WHICH CRASHED FRIDAY.

BOTH THE ALASKAN AIR COMMAND AND THE ATLANTIC DIVISION OF THE AIR TRANSPORT COMMAND WERE PUSHING ELABORATE RESCUE EFFORTS TODAY. PLANES AND EQUIPMENT FOR BRINGING THE MEN OUT BY HELICOPTER, BY DOG SLED OR BY "GLIDER SNATCH"--WHICHEVER PROVES THE MOST FEASIBLE--WERE INCLUDED IN THE RESCUE PREPARATIONS.

RUSSIAN

WASHINGTON, FEB. 24-(AP)-RUSSIA, STILL UNCONVINCED THAT THE "ACHESON INCIDENT" WAS NOT A HOSTILE GESTURE, APPEARED LIKELY TODAY TO HAVE TO AWAIT SECRETARY OF STATE MARSHALL'S ARRIVAL IN MOSCOW FOR ANY FURTHER EXPLANATION.

MARSHALL IS DUE IN THE SOVIET CAPITAL JUST TWO WEEKS HENCE FOR THE BIG FOUR FOREIGN MINISTERS CONFERENCE ON AUSTRIAN AND GERMAN PEACE TREATIES.

THAT OCCASION WILL GIVE THE CABINET OFFICER AN OPPORTUNITY TO TELL SOVIET FOREIGN MINISTER MOLOTOV FACE TO FACE THAT UNDERSECRETARY OF STATE DEAN ACHESON INTENDED NO "SLANDER" WHEN HE CHARACTERIZED RUSSIA'S FOREIGN POLICY AS "AGGRESSIVE AND EXPANDING."

MARSHALL ALREADY HAS SO INFORMED MOLOTOV IN A NOTE, BUT THE MOSCOW RADIO ANNOUNCED OVER THE WEEKEND THAT HIS EXPLANATION WAS "NOT CONVINCING AND THAT THE SOVIET GOVERNMENT REMAINED OF THE SAME OPINION AS BEFORE."

NEVERTHELESS, STATE DEPARTMENT OFFICIALS LEFT LITTLE DOUBT THAT THIS COUNTRY HAD MARKED THE INCIDENT CLOSED WHEN MARSHALL'S NOTE WAS DELIVERED TO MOLOTOV LAST TUESDAY.

THE RUSSIAN PROTEST GREW OUT OF ACHESON'S TESTIMONY BEFORE THE SENATE ATOMIC ENERGY COMMITTEE WHICH IS CONSIDERING THE NOMINATION OF DAVID E.

LILIENTHAL AND OTHERS TO THE DOMESTIC ATOMIC CONTROL COMMISSION. THE REQUEST FOR HIS VIEWS ON RUSSIA'S FOREIGN POLICY WAS MADE BY SENATOR MCKELLAR (D-TENN), WHO HAS BEEN LEADING THE FIGHT TO BLOCK LILIENTHAL'S CONFIRMATION.

IN HIS NOTE TO MOLOTOV LAST WEEK, MARSHALL DECLARED THAT ACHESON WAS SPEAKING "IN THE LINE OF DUTY" AND THAT UNDER AMERICAN STANDARDS "A RESTRAINED COMMENT ON A QUESTION OF PUBLIC POLICY IS NOT A SLANDER."

"I KNOW," THE SECRETARY CONCLUDED HIS REPLY, "THAT ON SECOND THOUGHT YOU WILL NOT ATTRIBUTE HOSTILITY TO FRANKNESS."

WHILE THE "SECOND THOUGHT" FAILED TO PRODUCE THE DESIRED EFFECT, MOST DIPLOMATIC AUTHORITIES HERE SHOWED LITTLE INCLINATION TO REGARD THE NEW RUSSIAN PROTEST AS ANYTHING MORE THAN A FAMILIAR SOVIET STRATEGY--THAT OF SEEKING TO BUILD UP PRESSURE IN ADVANCE OF AN IMPORTANT INTERNATIONAL GATHERING.

IT ANNOUNCED TODAY THAT THE WAR DEPARTMENT RESEARCH AND DEVELOPMENT DIVISION IS COOPERATING WITH SCIENTIFIC SOCIATIES OF THE NATION "IN WORKING OUT A PLAN WHICH WILL PROVIDE FOR AN EQUITABLE ALLOCATION, IN TIME OF NECESSITY, OF THE AVAILABLE SUPPLY OF SCIENTIFICALLY TRAINED PERSONS--TO THE UNIVERSITIES, THE INDUSTRIES, THE CIVILIAN SERVICES AND THE ARMED FORCES."

THE ARMY ALSO HAS UNDERWAY A PROGRAM, SAID THE ANNOUNCEMENT, FOR "A CONCENTRATED EFFORT WITHIN THE WAR DEPARTMENT TO MAKE CERTAIN THAT SCIENTIFICALLY TRAINED PERSONS IN THE ARMY, OR WORKING WITH IT, ARE PROPERLY UTILIZED." AMONG OTHER THINGS, SAID THE RESEARCH DIVISION, IT WANTS TO BE SURE THAT ITS SCIENTISTS "ARE PROVIDED WITH THE KIND OF ENFIRONMENT IN WHICH THEY CAN FURTHER THEIR WORK AND CAREER."

THE SCIENTIFIC SOCIETIES RECENTLY INSTITUTED A CENSUS TO BRING UP TO DATE A COMPLETE RECORD OF EVERY SCIENTIFICALLY TRAINED PERSON IN THE COUNTRY.

SAN FRANCISCO,FEB 24-(AP)-THE PEOPLE OF ENGLAND CAN EXPECT TO PRACTICE SELF DENIAL FOR AT LEAST ANOTHER FIVE YEARS, SIR ROBERT DALTON, UNITED KINGDOM TRADE COMMISSIONER IN AUSTRALIA, SAID IN AN INTERVIEW HERE TODAY.

SIR ROBERT IS EN ROUTE TO GENEVA TO ATTEND THE FORMATION OF THE INTERNATIONAL TRADE ORGANIZATION.

HE SAID ENGLAND'S ONLY SALVATION IN INTERNATIONAL TRADE WOULD BE TO INCREASE PRODUCTION TO THE POINT WHERE SHE COULD PAY FOR HER IMPORTS WITH HER EXPORTS. AT PRESENT, HE SAID, AS MUCH PRODUCTION AS POSSIBLE MUST BE DIVERTED INTO EXPORTS--MEANING THAT THE PEOPLE OF ENGLAND CAN GET LITTLE OF WHAT THEY ARE PRODUCING.

ENGLAND IS STILL HEAVILY IN DEFICIT ON OVERSEAS TRADING ACCOUNTS, HE SAID, ALTHOUGH DEVELOPMENTS WERE BETTER LAST YEAR THAN HAD BEEN EXPECTED. "GREAT BRITAIN WILL STILL HAVE A CONSIDERABLE TRADE DEFICIT AT THE END OF THIS YEAR UNLESS SOME MIRACLE OCCURS THAT CAN RAISE PRODUCTION," HE ADDED.

ASSOCIATED PRESS SCIENCE WRITER

(ADVANCE)...PALO ALTO,CALIF.,MARCH 7-(AP)-POISON GAS, EARTHQUAKES AND OTHER THINGS WHICH MAY HAVE CHANGED THE NATURE OF SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA'S OFFSHORE WATERS ARE AMONG THE FACTORS BEING CONSIDERED BY SCIENTISTS SEEKING TO LEARN WHY THE SARDINE HAS VIRTUALLY DISAPPEARED FROM THE MONTEREY AND SAN FRANCISCO FISHING AREAS.

THE POISON GAS HYPOTHESIS IS ONLY ONE OF MANY SPECULATIONS OF UNCERTAIN ORIGIN. IT HOLD THAT THE SARDINES DISAPPEARED AFTER POISON GAS AMMUNITION WAS DUMPED INTO THE OCEAN BY THE ARMY.

THE UNITED STATES MADE KNOWN DURING WORLD WAR II THAT IT HAD HUGE SUPPLIES OF POISON GAS READY FOR RETALIATORY USE IN CASE THE AXIS POWERS RESORTED TO THAT METHOD OF WARFARE. BUT WHERE IT WAS KEPT AND HOW IT WAS DISPOSED OF, IF AT ALL, IS TOP SECRET.

OCEAN BOTTOM EARTHQUAKES ALSO FIGURE PROMINENTLY IN THE SPECULATION ABOUT THE FATE OF THE SARDINE. THIS IDEA ENVISIONS OCEAN FLOOR CHANGES WHICH ALTER CURRENTS IN SOME WAY DETRIMENTAL TO SARDINE LIFE.

ALL THIS IS GUESSWORK SO FAR, SAYS OSCAR E. SETTE, OF THE STANFORD UNIVERSITY STATION OF THE U.S. FISH AND WILD LIFE SERVICE, WHOSE STAFF NOW IS TRYING TO UNCOVER THE FACTS.

SETTE BELIEVES THAT THE SOLUTION OF THE MYSTERY LIES WITHIN THE OCEAN ITSELF. HE AND HIS STAFF ARE DESIGNING SPECIAL EQUIPMENT AND RECRUITING SCIENTIFIC MANPOWER TO INVESTIGATE. THIS, HE ADDS, WILL TAKE SOME TIME.

THEY MUST LEARN THE CONDITIONS OF THE WATER BENEATH THE SURFACE; HOW THE CURRENTS RUN AND HOW THEY VARY; HOW MUCH ALGAE IS PRODUCED FOR SARDINE FOOD, AND HOW UPWELLING EFFECTS THE SARDINE "PASTURES." UPWELLING IS THE MOVEMENT OF BOTTOM WATER, WHICH IS RICH IN MINERALS NEEDED FOR THE GROWTH OF ALGAE TOWARD THE SURFACE. IT IS CAUSED BY WINDS FROM OFFSHORE PUSHING SURFACE WATER TOWARD THE LAND AND CAUSING DEEPER, COLDER WATER TO RISE.

THE SARDINE'S NATURAL ENEMIES ALSO MUST BE CONSIDERED. ONE OF THESE IS THE HALIBUT, WHICH THRIVES ON A SARDINE DIET. ANOTHER IS SOME NOT FULLY UNDERSTOOD PHENOMENON WHICH WREAKS WHOLESALE DESTRUCTION ON THE HATCHING EGGS.

WINTER PARK, FLA., FEB. 24-(AP)-THE SPECIAL COMMISSION ON ATOMIC ENERGY SHOULD BE KEPT INTACT FROM THE DISARMAMENT COMMISSION, DR.V.K. WELLINGTON KOO, CHINESE AMBASSADOR TO THE UNITED STATES, DECLARED TODAY.

HE ADDRESSED THE ROLLINS COLLEGE MID-WINTER CONVOCATION SHORTLY BEFORE THE INSTITUTION CONFERRED UPON HIM THE HONORARY DEGREE OF DOCTOR OF HUMANITIES.

"IT IS OF VITAL IMPORTANCE TO THE CAUSE OF PEACE AS WELL AS TO THE EVENTUAL SUCCESS OF THE WORK OF GENERAL DISARMAMENT THAT POWERS AND FUNCTIONS OF THIS COMMISSION TO DEAL WITH THE PROBLEMS RAISED BY THE DISCOVERY OF ATOMIC ENERGY, SHOULD BE LEFT INTACT, SO THAT AN EFFECTIVE SYSTEM OF INSPECTION AND CONTROL OF WEAPONS OF MASS DESTRUCTION CAN BE DEALT WITH AS CLOSELY RELATED PARTS OF AN INTEGRAL WHOLE," DR.KOO ASSERTED.

"ALL THESE PROBLEMS, NAMELY THE ESTABLISHMENT OF AN INTERNATIONAL POLICE FORCE, THE REDUCTION AND GENERAL REGULATION OF ARMAMENTS AND THE ABOLITION OF ATOMIC WEAPONS ARE CLOSELY RELATED TO ONE ANOTHER."

THE CHINESE AMBASSADOR ADDED THAT WHILE THESE PROBLEMS ARE BEING OR WILL BE DEALT WITH BY THESE THREE SEPARATE BODIES, THEY EVENTUALLY WILL BE TAKEN UP FOR CONSIDERATION BY THE SECURITY COUNCIL.

"UNLESS THEY CAN AGREE AND DECIDE ON THE STEPS TO BE TAKEN TO IMPLEMENT THEIR DECISIONS, THE HOPE OF ESTABLISHING A SYSTEM OF COLLECTIVE SECURITY TO SAFEGUARD WORLD PEACE WILL BE ILLUSORY AND THE PEACE OF THE WORLD WILL REMAIN PRECARIOUS."

Bevin Charges Truman 'Spoiled' Palestine Talks by Injecting Plea For Jews Into 1946 U. S. Politics

PALESTINE CRISIS LAID TO TRUMAN

Bevin Charges Plea to Admit 100,000 Jews 'Spoiled' Negotiations.

LONDON, Feb. 25 — (AP) Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin declared today that President Truman had "spoiled" Britain's negotiations on Palestine by insisting on issuing a statement during the United States congressional election campaign last fall calling for the admission of 100,000 Jews to the Holy Land.

Bevin told the House of Commons that he had "begged" James F. Byrnes, then U. S. Secretary of State, "that the statement should not be issued, but I was told that if it was not issued by Mr. Truman a competitive statement would be issued by Mr. Dewey." (Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York).

"I really must point out that in international affairs I cannot settle things if my problem is to be made the subject of local elections," he said.

NIGHT
"Some More Try" Seen

The foreign minister said Britain was still willing to make one more try to settle the Palestine problem before referring it to the United Nations. He also asserted that Arabs could be persuaded to allow 100,000 Jews to enter the Holy Land if future immigration "was to be determined by the elected representatives of the people of Palestine."

"There is still a chance of a settlement yet, if people will come off their arbitrary position, without going to the United Nations," he said.

"I am still open to a try. If it was only a question of alleviating Europe of 100,000 Jews, I believe a settlement could be found. x x x Unfortunately that is not the position. From the Zionist point of view, 100,000 is only a beginning. The Jewish Agency talks in terms of millions."

Bevin apparently ruled out the possibility of dividing Palestine into separate Arab and Jewish states.

He said that as he saw it, there were three alternatives for the UN to consider:

Three Alternatives

"1. Shall the claim of the Jews be admitted that Palestine is to be a Jewish state; or

"2. Shall the claim of the Arabs be admitted that it is to be an Arab state with safeguards for the Jew, under the decision for a national home; or

"3. Shall it be a Palestinian state in which the interests of both communities are as carefully balanced and protected as possible?"

The foreign minister said he had decided that two states capable of surviving as nations could not be formed out of Palestine, but added "you can make one x x x and transfer the rest to another Arab state."

In the slow, deliberate voice of a classroom lecturer, Bevin told the house that he was on the verge of what might have been a solution last fall, when "the whole thing was spoiled" by President Truman's statement.

"At that stage things looked more hopeful and there was a feeling—I don't think I over-estimate it—that I had the right approach at last. But what happened?

"I went back to Paris to the peace conference and the next day—I think it was Atonement Day or one special day of the Jewish religion—the prime minister telephoned me at midnight and told me the President of the United States was going to issue another statement on this 100,000.

Tells of Protest to Byrnes

"I think the country and the world ought to know this: "I went next morning to the Secretary of State, Mr. Byrnes, and told him how far I had got the day before, and that I believed we were on the road if only they would leave us alone."

The foreign secretary then said that Byrnes told him Dewey planned to issue the "competitive statement." Amid cheers and cries of "hear hear," he continued:

"I hope I am not saying anything to causes bad feeling in the United States, but I feel so intense about this. When you have got a vexed problem with a thousand years of different religions, it has got to be handled with the greatest detail and the greatest care. x x x They can lead to civil war before you know where you are."

Bevin said that in 1945 he persuaded Arabs to accept immigration of 18,000 Jews a year, and that he might have been able to raise the quota "if the bitterness of feeling had not been increased by American pressure for the immediate decision on 100,000.

"I should have been happy if they (the Americans) had remembered that we were the mandatory power and we were carrying the responsibility," he continued amid cheers. (CONT'D)

Churchill Absent

Winston Churchill, originally scheduled to lead the conservative party's rebuttal, was absent because of the death of his brother.

Instead, Oliver Stanley, former colonial secretary, criticized Bevin for offering no specific recommendations to the UN.

Conservatives do not oppose referring the matter to the world organization, Stanley said, but "surely it would be better to say now what we shall have to say in the end—that failing agreement between the United Nations upon some policy which we ourselves could support, we should surrender the mandate."

Bevin did not indicate Britain considered surrendering her mandate, though he declared Palestine must eventually become independent as "the mandatory power cannot go on forever."

30. 24 - 8105

London, Feb. 25 (A. P.).—Foreign Secretary Bevin charged today that President Truman wrecked the negotiations for a peaceful settlement of the Palestine problem by calling for the immediate admission of 100,000 Jews to the Holy Land during the American congressional election campaign last DAY

Opening a House of Commons debate on the Holy Land question, Bevin declared that there was still a chance of settling it outside the United Nations. He said he was engaged in crucial negotiations with Jews and Arabs last October.

"At that stage," he continued, "things looked more hopeful and there was a feeling—I don't think I overestimate it—that I had the right approach at last, but what happened? I went back to the Paris peace conference, and the next day—I think it was Atonement Day or one special day of the Jewish religion—the Prime Minister telephoned me at midnight and told me the President of the United States was going to issue another statement on this 100,000."

Sees Fear of Dewey.

Bevin paused and then said slowly: "I think the country and the world ought to know this: I went next morning to the Secretary of State, Mr. Byrnes, and told him how far I had got the day before, and that I believed we were on the road, if only they would leave us alone. I begged that the statement should not be issued, but I was told that if it was not issued by Mr. Truman, a competitive statement would be issued by Mr. (Thomas E.) Dewey."

Amid cries of "Hear, Hear," Bevin declared: "I really must point out that in international affairs I cannot settle things if my problem is to be made the subject of local elections."

'Whole Thing Spoiled.'

When the cheering had died down, he added: "I hope I am not saying anything to cause bad feeling in the United States, but I feel so intense about this. When you have got a vexed problem with a thousand years of different religions, it has got to be handled with the greatest detail and the greatest care. . . . They can lead to civil war before you know where you are."

Despite his protests, Bevin said, Truman's statement was issued, "and the whole thing was spoiled." (ADD)

White House Is Silent.

Washington, Feb. 25 (A. P.).—The White House declined comment today on Foreign Minister Bevin's assertion that President Truman wrecked a settlement of the Palestine problem last fall.

Excerpts From Bevin's Speech on Palestine

LONDON, Feb. 25 (AP)—Excerpts from Mr. Bevin's Palestine statement follow:

The issue which the United Nations must consider and decide is this: (1) Shall the claim of the Jews be admitted that Palestine is to be a Jewish state; or (2) Shall the claim of the Arabs be admitted that it is to be an Arab state with safeguards for the Jews under the decision for a national home; or (3) Shall it be a Palestinian state in which the interests of both communities are as carefully balanced and protected as possible?

I have put it in that form because, in all the negotiations I have had to conduct, whatever proposals we had had to make, I came back to these provisions every time.

We as the mandatory power cannot solve that problem until the United Nations has recommended which of these three alternatives is to form the basis of the future organization of Palestine.

No Power of Decision Given

We as a mandatory power have no power to make that decision. Nothing I can find in any of the documents either of the League of Nations or in the discussions between the great powers either at Versailles and after indicate that we have that power. The mandate certainly does not give it and I am quite sure that the Anglo-American Commission, faced with that problem as we have been faced with it, came down to the view not to recommend a Jewish state. * * *

All the proposals we have made for the gradual evolution of Palestine toward independence have been judged by Arabs and Jews according to the effect they might have on the final decision of the kind of state Palestine is to become when it becomes independent—as independent it must become. The mandatory power cannot go on forever. * * *

The Government came to the conclusion that after all the force we had seen throughout the world in the last twenty-five years, force applied to this problem would not produce a final solution and might produce wide difficulties in the Middle East and start us on a road which may well lead, in another quarter of a century, to another war. * * *

White Paper Unenforceable

First of all, we agreed we could not enforce the White Paper of 1939 as a basis for our policy.

The Arabs took the White Paper as a decision of the British Parliament. I should be reluctant to remain Foreign Secretary five minutes if I thought I went to international conferences without the vote of the majority of this House, and I gave undertakings that those undertakings were not going to be torn up without proper negotiation in the end. * * *

Immigration is now proceeding at 18,000 a year. There seems to be an impression everywhere that this is not an abnormally large rate of entry, but it has only been exceeded five times in the whole history of the mandate—in 1925 and in the first four years of Nazi rule in Germany. * * *

We might have been able to have done more for the Jews and increased this rate at that time [December, 1945] if the bitterness of feeling had not been increased by American pressure for immediate decision on 100,000.

I do not desire to create any ill-feeling with the United States and I have, as a matter of fact, done all I can to promote the best possible relations with America as with other countries, but I should have been happy if they had remembered that we were the mandatory power and we were carrying the responsibility. * * *

Praises British Jews

I do not want to set one section of Jews against the other, but those trained in England under English customs and practices wanted to come in [to a British-sponsored Arab-Jewish conference] but the Jewish Agency, largely dominated by New York, would not really come in and it was with the gentlemen from there that I had to deal so much. * * *

At that stage [before the Anglo-Arab conference began last September], things looked more hopeful and there was a feeling—I do not think I overestimate it—that I had the right approach at last. But what happened?

I went back to the Paris peace conference and the next day—I think it was Atonement Day, or one special day of the Jewish religion—the Prime Minister telephoned me at midnight and told me the President of the United States was going to issue another statement on this 100,000.

I think the country and the world ought to know this. I went next morning to the Secretary of State, Mr. Byrnes, and told him how far I had got the day before and that I believed we were on the road if only they would leave us alone. I begged that the statement should not be issued but I was told that, if it was not issued by Mr. Truman, a competitive statement would be issued by Mr. Dewey.

I really must point out that in international affairs I cannot settle things if my problem is made the subject of local elections. I hope I am not saying anything to cause bad feeling in the United States but I feel so intense about this. * * *

The statement [Mr. Truman's] was issued, however, and the whole thing was spoiled. * * *

Criticizes Jewish Agency

If it was only a question of alleviating Europe of 100,000 Jews I believe a settlement could be found. I believe a settlement can now be found if it is purely a humanitarian thing I have got to solve. Unfortunately that is not the position. From the Zionist point of view, 100,000 is only a beginning. The Jewish Agency talks in terms of millions.

I think the Arabs could be persuaded to agree to 100,000 new immigrants in an orderly way on humanitarian grounds, having regard to the European situation, if—and I emphasize this—immigration after that was to be determined by the elected representatives of the people of Palestine.

The claim made by the Arabs is a very difficult one to answer. They say * * * "Why should an external agency, largely financed from America, determine how many people shall come into Palestine and interfere with the economy of the Arabs, who have been there for 2,000 years?" * * *

Cites Arab Plan

In their plan the Arabs agreed that the Jews should have their own language, their own universities, their own religion—everything. I think if other countries who persecuted Jews gave them that there would never have been a problem. It is the human rights which are the basis of the United Nations.

I did not accept the proposals because they were too limited but I thought they were fundamental principles which gave effect to what I understand to be basis of the claim [for a Jewish national home] originally made by Nathan Rothschild and others.

The Jews say that if that were done they will be tolerated as a minority, but I cannot alter the balance of people in a state no more than any man could alter it between Nehru and Jinnah in India. The numbers are there. * * *

There is a chance of settlement yet, if people will come off their aribtrary position, without going to the United Nations, and I, am open to try it. * * *

It would be a great thing * * * to try and establish a British dominion to solve the problem. But really it is too late for that. * * *

Says Agency Balks Peace

I am convinced that, if Jews and Arabs in Palestine are given a chance to work together, they will work together to solve this problem. But if it has to be settled in accordance with Jewish Agency dictates it will never be settled. * * *

When the Balfour Declaration was made and in the subsequent mandates nobody said or indicated, so far as I can discover, when the [Jewish] national home would have been established. It was thought by most people prior to 1939 that the steps that had been taken up to that date did really fulfill the Balfour Declaration. * * *

Many people have said that the way out of the difficulty was partition. But I am sure if we agreed to partition we would have ten times the row as to where the frontiers should be. But you cannot make two viable states of Palestine, however you try. You can make one viable state. * * *

Refers to Previous Efforts

I believe they [successive British Governments] honestly tried to do their best and, if there has been a failure, it has not been the Palestine mandate as administered on the original basis which has been a failure but it is the failure of the moral consciences of international organizations to grapple with this problem as a whole and to leave it as it is left.

Take the position now. One million people living as displaced persons on the Continent. I have said to the Government week after week: "What is a million people out of the 4,000,000,000 in the world?" I have made offers that to get over this problem we will take a proportion of our population with all the other countries in the world in order to get rid of this miserable state of affairs.

I have pleaded with the United States to take in thousands—I do not mean merely Jews, I mean displaced persons. Nobody wants these people and I think it is a tragedy. * * *

We have been asked if we cannot do something before September. It is very difficult and I cannot give an answer. We are studying the matter to see whether there is any process by which we could get it considered earlier. I am in consultation with Sir Alexander Cadogan.

I would prefer even now that—rather than that it should go to the U. N.—that Britain, with all her tradition, should be allowed to deal with this on a humanitarian basis and get back to relieving Europe of the 100,000 [Jews]. If there is a dispute, let there be arbitration, and, in the quickest possible time, create an independent state in Palestine with Jew and Arab, who have such traditions, working together and end this century-old conflict.

FIGHT FELLOW JEWS

Jerusalem, Feb. 25 (A. P.).—The Government announced today that unknown persons, attempting to post pamphlets for the extremist stern group in Kfar Saba, repulsed protesting villagers with a flash bomb. The village is near Petah Tiqvah, in the area of recent minor clashes between Jewish terrorists and other Jews opposing them.

The announcement said that twenty-five Jewish youths wrecked a downtown shop in the all-Jewish city of Tel Aviv and that one person was detained after the police and troops had searched several houses. Jewish spokesmen expressed the belief that the attack was the work of a terrorist group which has been extorting funds from Jewish merchants by threats and violence.

400 Europeans Expected To Leave Palestine

Jerusalem, Feb. 25 (AP)—Approximately 400 displaced persons, including 350 Poles and some Jews, were expected to gather in Jerusalem, Tel Aviv and Haifa tomorrow for their transportation by UNRRA to an undisclosed Egyptian port en route to their former homes in central Europe.

Arrangements for the repatriation have been carried on with the greatest secrecy, presumably because of official fear that the departure of Jews from Palestine might be used for political purposes. Fifty-five people in the Polish contingent are Jews, an official of the Polish consulate said.

The director of UNRRA, Miss Elizabeth Brown, declined to discuss the movement until she received instructions from the Cairo headquarters. Cairo approved news coverage today and Miss Brown agreed to meet news men tomorrow.

Six hundred Czechoslovaks already have been repatriated from Palestine since V-E day and many others have registered with UNRRA. Miss Brown declined to disclose the actual number registered from all countries.

BIG 4 DEPUTIES IN LAST SESSION

Soviet Relaxes Censorship on Conference News

London, Feb. 25 (A. P.).—The Big Four Deputy Foreign Ministers who have striven vainly for six weeks to complete a draft peace treaty for Austria adjourned on schedule today. The deputies working on the German peace arranged a final meeting for this afternoon to approve a report explaining their disagreements on treaty-making procedure.

The deputies for Austria, due to be recreated as an independent nation, approved a rough treaty draft—with bracketed phrases indicating the key points at issue among the powers—for submission to the Council of Foreign Ministers' March meeting in Moscow.

Two Main Issues

The negotiators for Austria had disagreed on two main points:

1. Yugoslavia's claim to 1,000 square miles of territory in the Austrian province of Carinthia. Russia supported the demand, and the United States, Britain and France opposed it.

2. A definition of "German assets" in Austria. The powers have agreed that German assets there should be turned over to the Allies. Russia sought a loose definition of the term and the Western nations asked a narrow definition. The question was described as vital to Austria's economy.

There were other disagreements among all four powers on several questions, few of which were considered vital. Western sources said privately they expected agreements would be reached "without too much trouble" during the Moscow meeting.

Deputies for Germany already had approved a report summarizing smaller nations' views on the German problem as expressed during the conference. Their last problem today was to get on paper a summary of their agreement and disagreement on the role to be assigned to small powers during remaining stages of the peace negotiations.

So meager has their progress been on drafting a German treaty since they first convened January 14 that one American official predicted the Big Four foreign ministers themselves would find it impossible to complete the pact when they meet in Moscow March 10.

He suggested the deputies might get the German treaty back for further work after the Moscow conference.

An American source quoted Russian deputy Feodor T. Gousev as declaring that it appeared impossible to reach agreement here on procedure to be followed in Moscow on the German treaty.

The principal sticking point — the same one which has stymied the deputies from the beginning — was the basic inability of the western powers and Russia to agree on the extent of small nation participation in writing the treaties.

The deputies considering the German question were unable to overcome differences on the question of how large a share 18 smaller allies shall have in making a peace for Germany, and the foreign ministers who meet in Moscow March 10 will have no agreed recommendation on basic procedure before them.

Suggestions Only

Instead, the foreign ministers will receive diverse recommendations from the four deputies and a mass of suggestions from smaller allies. The council therefore will have to begin with deciding how to work out the German treaty rather than with getting down to the substance of the peace.

In the final session the deputies bogged down even on the question of how they were to report their disagreement.

Feodor Gousev, the Russian deputy, objected to a report which would have summarized points on which Russia, Britain, France and the United States were agreed and would have presented disagreed points in the form of marginal notes or annexes. The Russian deputy said he would not associate himself with such a report.

Finally it was agreed the deputies would simply report in this language: "The deputies failed to work out procedure for consultations with allied governments."

Split on Small Powers

Throughout the conference Russia has objected to the full participation in the German peace making demanded by the smaller powers. The other three powers had reached a measure of agreement on participation of the smaller nations in much of the committee work preceding the peace conference and participation or at least the right to listen to all proceedings.

The deputies considering a treaty for an independent Austria succeeded only in organizing a rough draft, in which are many blank spaces and unagreed sections.

The four-power negotiators disagreed on two main points: Yugoslavia's claim to 1,000 square miles of Austrian Carinthia, and a definition of "German assets" in Austria to be distributed as reparations.

London Parley Ends Without Agreement on German Treaty

Moscow Conference Will Receive Only Diverse Recommendations

LONDON, Feb. 25—(AP) The deputies of the four-power foreign ministers council ended a six-weeks conference tonight without an agreement on how the victorious allies are to write a peace for Germany or the draft of a treaty for Austria.

NIGHT

NEW STORM THREAT MENACES BRITAIN

LONDON, Feb. 25—(AP) The important Lancashire manufacturing center of Bolton got the "warm-up" signal tonight for its electric-powered cotton mills and other industries to resume production next week, but a new snow storm, sweeping in from the west, threatened fresh hazards to shrunken coal piles.

A central electricity board spokesman authorized industries in the Bolton area to use 10 per cent of the electricity they consumed before the switchoff to ready plants for resumed production.

Meanwhile Prime Minister Attlee's "coal cabinet" heard electricity board recommendations for a "substantial proportion" of night shifts to ease the load on powerhouse generators when all industries are working again.

Widespread Resumption

Industries resumed operation in the central area, embracing Birmingham and the industrial midlands, yesterday. London, and most of eastern England, still were switched off with no date indicated for renewing operations.

Sir Guy Nott-Bower, spokesman for the ministry of fuel, told a news conference that the crisis has not yet passed and can not be considered over until all British industrial areas have been put back into production.

While London experienced its highest temperature since Feb. 10 —36 degrees—reports from Wales said snow was falling thickly again after a day of freezing winds.

The new blizzard gave Ireland its severest snowstorm in 10-years and severe hardships were felt on the island where soaked peat bogs hampered autumn fuel gathering and Britain's ban on coal exports closed industries and cut train services to three days a week.

NIGHT

RUSSIAN LEADER TO RESIGN POST

LONDON, Feb. 25.—(AP) Marshal Andrei Aleksandrovitch Zhdanov, hero of the Battle of Leningrad, has asked to be relieved of his post as chairman of the Council of the Union of the Supreme Soviet, the Moscow radio said tonight.

The reason for the request, the broadcast said, was "pressure of work connected with his main duties."

NIGHT

Zhdanov is secretary of the central committee of the Communist party and has been a leading figure in a post-war drive to purge Soviet literature and art of tendencies to stray from their ideological aims. He also is chairman of the Allied Control Commission for Finland.

The distinguished soldier, a close friend of Prime Minister Stalin, is a member of the Politburo, the inner council of the Soviet government, and several times has been mentioned in western newspaper speculation as a possible successor to Stalin as head of the government.

The post which Zhdanov is relinquishing is the leadership of the smaller of the two houses of Russia's parliament.

The Soviet Monitor in London said the radio had no further statement on Zhdanov and that little or no amplification of the announcement was expected. There was no immediate indication of the significance of his request.

Newsprint Famine To Continue in Britain

London, Feb. 25 (A. P.).—British newspapers, cut back to wartime size by the current coal crisis, will have to continue size limits throughout this year, Lord Layton, chairman of the Newsprint Supply Company's rationing committee, announced today. The wartime restriction limits most dailies to four pages.

DAY

Lord Layton said he expects papers will not be able to print six pages daily before the end of the year.

AUSTIN PRESSES FOR U. N. ACCORD ON ATOM CONTROL

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Feb. 25 —(AP) The United States suggested tonight that the United Nations Atomic Energy Commission try once more to reach unanimous agreement on the long-debated problem of harnessing the atom for peace.

Warren R. Austin, chief American delegate to the Security Council, asked the council to send back to the Atomic Commission its December report, which carried the United States plan for atomic control, and defer the changes offered by Soviet Russia and the Council's comment on the whole question.

Russia Delays More

However, Soviet Delegate Andrei A. Gromyko blocked a vote on the U. S. resolution by telling the council he would speak at the next meeting. The council adjourned at 5:43 (EST) and will take up atomic energy again Friday at 3 p.m. (EST).

NIGHT

The meeting was overshadowed by developments in the trusteeship field which will have a decided bearing on council session at 3 p.m. (EST) tomorrow when the delegates will hear Austin make a major speech on the American request for sole authority to administer the Japanese-mandated Pacific islands.

Russia informed the United States that she approved the American trusteeship. This caused expressions of surprise and evident pleasure among the council delegates.

Austin pointed to disagreements and agreements between the United States atomic plan, adopted by a 10 to 0 vote of the 12-member atomic commission, and the Russian plan, as put before the council by Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet delegate to the council.

"We are not going to allow a breakdown in our negotiations or force it to where the veto would be used," Austin said.

Colombia Backs U. S.

Eduardo Zuleta Angel of Colombia made his first statement on Colombia's stand since becoming a member of the council in January, lining up his country beside the United States.

Guy de la Tournelle, of France, favored the United States resolution but proposed that the commission be instructed to make a report to the council before the UN Assembly meets next September.

The United States and Russia are divided mainly over the veto question. The United States has insisted there must be no veto on atomic matters. Russia has demanded that all atomic control come within the final authority of the security council, in which Russia and four other great powers hold the authority to kill any vital matter.

The United States also has proposed creation of an atomic development authority to handle all atomic matters. Russia has suggested a control commission which, in effect, would be principally a police body.

U.S. WOULD SEND ATOMIC ISSUE TO COMMISSION

U. N. Council Deadlocked by Russia's Demand Veto Be Kept

Lake Success, N. Y., Feb. 25—(AP) —In an effort to break the American-Russian deadlock on international atomic control, the United States prepared today to ask the U. N. Security Council to send the controversial issue back to the Atomic Energy Commission.

Under the proposed American plan, the Atomic Energy Commission would be asked to exert its efforts to reconcile the American and Russian views which have prevented the Council from agreeing on a system to control atomic energy and divert its power to peacetime purposes.

DAY

Austin Proposal Expected

An authoritative source said U. S. Delegate Warren R. Austin was prepared to propose that the Council refer the issue to the commission.

Austin was expected to make his proposal when the Council meets this afternoon if other delegates do not ask to be heard on the issue. If the debate is continued, these sources said, then Austin will make such a proposal when the discussions are concluded.

British sources said Sir Alexander Cadogan, Britain's chief delegate to the U. N. Council, would support the American proposal.

Both the American and British delegations were understood to hold the view that every member's position should be recorded before the issue is sent back to the Atomic Energy Commission.

U. S. Atomic Proposal

(Special to The New York Times)

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., Feb. 25—Following is the text of the United States resolution submitted to the Security Council today:

The Security Council, having received and considered the first report of the Atomic Energy Commission dated 31 December 1946, together with its letter of transmittal of the same date,

Notes with satisfaction the wide areas already explored by the commission, the progress made by it, and the far-reaching extent of agreement on its interim report;

Notes that many important questions have been considered only in broad outline and remain to be dealt with in more detail by the commission;

Notes that the Security Council's consideration of this report has broadened and more clearly defined the areas of unanimous agreement among the members of the Council on the fundamental principles and basic organizational mechanisms which are indicated as being necessary to attain a strong and comprehensive system of international control of atomic energy;

Recognizes that any agreement expressed by the members of the Council to the separate portions of the report is preliminary since final acceptance of any part by any nation is conditioned upon its acceptance of all parts of the control plan in its final form;

Transmits the record of its consideration of the first report of the Atomic Energy Commission to the commission for the purpose of acquainting it as to the portions of the report on which the members of the Security Council are in agreement and those on which the members of the Security Council are not yet in agreement;

Urges the Atomic Energy Commission, in accordance with the General Assembly resolutions of 24th January and 14th December 1946, to continue its inquiry into all phases of the problem of the international control of atomic energy and to develop as promptly as possible the specific proposals called for by Section 5 of the General Assembly resolution of 24th January 1946, and in due course to prepare and submit to the Security Council a draft treaty or convention incorporating its ultimate proposals.

Votes Tax Exemption For U. N. Alien Workers

By The Associated Press.

ALBANY, Feb. 25 (AP)—The Senate voted today to exempt foreign employes of United Nations headquarters from state income taxes.

Senator Pliny Williamson, Westchester Republican, who is steering United Nations bills through the Legislature, explained that similar state income tax exemptions would be extended to Americans employed by the U. N. if Congress first took such action.

The tax-exemption measure, endorsed unanimously, was sent to the Assembly for concurrence, along with a bill to prohibit use of the United Nations name or any official U. N. symbol for commercial purposes without U. N. permission.

French Prisoner Loss Questioned

Paris, Feb. 25 (AP)—A report that 300,000 German prisoners captured by the Americans and turned over to the French had died or escaped was questioned today by a high United States military source in Paris.

The officer declared that 740,000 German prisoners of war had been lent to France. He said he was "surprised" when the French Government said today there were only 440,000 remaining.

He said he knew hundreds had died and thousands escaped, "but hundreds of thousands did not escape."

In explaining the loss a spokesman for the French Government said "most of them escaped."

Gold Reserve Cut

PARIS, Feb. 25 (AP).—The National Assembly voted today to reduce the gold reserve of the Bank of France from 96,000,000,000 francs to 84,000,000,000 ($705,600,000) to meet France's obligations to the Bank for International Settlements.

The difference, 12,000,000,000 gold francs, is to increase France's deposits with the international bank. This additional deposit is in line with the international bank's recent decision to increase its gold reserves from $450,000,000,000 to $757,000,000,000. The increase is to be contributed by member nations on a proportional basis.

Bidault to Lead Delegation

PARIS, FEB. 25 (AP).—Foreign Minister Georges Bidault officially was named chairman of the French delegation to the Foreign Ministers Council in Moscow by Premier Paul Ramadier today. Other French delegates are General Georges Catroux, Maurice Couve de Murville and Herve Alphand.

Reich Coal Basic, Stassen Asserts

Paris, Feb. 25 (AP)—Harold E. Stassen said tonight that the German coal output was so basic in world economy that its level in the future would affect even the standard of living in the United States.

He made the statement on his arrival in Paris by train tonight from Brussels on a tour of seventeen countries.

"I am interested most of all in economic conditions, because living standards depend on economy," he said.

"One of the things I most want to learn about in Europe is the economic prosppect for Germany. And I consider the German coal mines the main factor in the German economy. What happens there will affect the standard of living in Europe and even in the United States."

Stassen will remain in France until March 2, before leaving for Greece. Tomorrow he will see Jefferson Caffery, American Ambassador.

Stassen was accompanied by Jay Cooke, Pennsylvania Republican leader, and Robert Matteson, research assistant on his personal staff.

Ex-French Minister, Baudouin, Put On Trial

Versailles, France, Feb. 25 (AP)—Paul Baudouin, 54-year-old former Vichy Minister of Foreign Affairs, went on trial today charged with acts which contributed to France's collapse in 1940.

Eisler's Release Urged

BERLIN, Feb. 25 (AP).—Neues Deutschland, official newspaper of the Soviet-sponsored Socialist Unity party, said today it was "silly and laughable" to maintain that Gerhard Eisler was the real head of the Communist party in America and urged his release.

Eisler has been under investigation in the United States by the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

The newspaper asserted that Eisler, whom it referred to as "this small, lively German Communist," was the object of an "anti-Bolshevist attack which certain reactionary circles in the United States are exploiting to strengthen their domestic political objectives."

HIMMLER AID CAUGHT

Frankfurt, Feb. 25 (A. P.).—A former high-ranking Gestapo agent, who hid his identity by wearing fake glasses and masquerading as a scholar, was among the hundreds of persons arrested over the week end in the roundup of Nazi plotters, United States Army Intelligence officers said today. He was stated to be Kurt Ellersiek, former deputy chief of Heinrich Himmler's National Political Education Institute. A die-hard Nazi fanatic, he had been masquerading as Herr Ehlers.

Arrested with the 45-year-old, heavily-scarred agent was a pajama-clad woman companion who attempted to hide highly important documents, the officers said, first by concealing herself under the bed covers and then by attempting to slip the papers into a glove. Ellersiek and the woman, whom he identified as Frau Katischeff, were arrested in the middle of the night in a bedroom barred by four heavy doors in a hide-away near Fulda.

APPEAL TO SEEK LONGER SENTENCE FOR VON PAPEN

Munich, Feb. 25—(AP)—Franz Von Papen, veteran Nazi diplomat, faced the possibility of a new trial today as Bavarian de-Nazificaition officials threatened to have the former envoy's eight-year sentence appealed in an attempt to obtain a maximum penalty of 10 years.

The eight-year sentence was imposed upon Von Papen by a Nuernberg de-Nazification court yesterday, after it had convicted him of having supported the Nazi regime in Germany. His personal fortune was confiscated.

Bavarian de-Nazification officials felt, however, that this was "not enough" and said that Minister Alfred Loritz would ask the Nuernberg prosecutor to appeal the sentence.

An appeal also will be entered by Von Papen's attorney, Egon Kubischok, who said he would either seek acquittal or reduction of the eight-year term.

Munich Bishop Nominated

MUNICH, Germany, Feb. 25 (AP)—Pope Pius XII has nominated Prelate Johannes Neuhaeusler, former inmate of the concentration camp at Dachau, as Auxiliary Bishop of Munich, it was announced today.

DUEL REFUSED BY POLITICIAN

Italian Republican Leader Will Not Fight Writer

Rome, Feb. 25 (AP)—Randolfo Pacciardi, Republican leader, tonight politely begged off meeting Journalist Giovanni Artieri on the field of honor.

Pointing out that seconds had composed his differences with the editor of Artieri's newspaper over an article Artieri wrote, Pacciardi said he now must consider Artieri's "prose" as though it had never been.

"I do not intend either to challenge him or to receive a challenge from him," Pacciardi wrote the seconds who bore him Artieri's challenge to duel yesterday.

A signed front page column Artieri wrote for the Giornale Della Sera last week took vigorous exception to a speech Pacciardi made in the Italian constituent assembly criticizing the fighting qualities of Italy's World War II armies.

Pacciardi demanded satisfaction of his fellow deputy, Tullio Benedetti, the "responsible editor" of the Giornale Della Sera.

Their seconds discovered last night that Pacciardi did not intend to criticize Italian soldiers, but only their fascist leadership and, ruling that Artieri's article was based on misunderstanding, held that no cause for a duel existed.

Artieri, however, angered at Pacciardi's going over his head to Benedetti, sent his seconds around yesterday.

NAZI ADMITS 12 CIVILIAN MURDERS

Venice, Feb. 25 (A. P.).—A German naval commander related without emotion to a War Crimes Court today how he had twelve Italian civilians shot, their homes burned and their village fined in reprisal for the wounding of four German soldiers.

Tall, stooped Commander Waldemar Krinnhaar testified at the trial of Field Marshal Gen. Albert Kesselring, Nazi wartime commander in Italy, that he did not believe this was in excess of the crimes committed by the partisans.

Krinnhaar, who led an anti-partisan campaign near Lake Maggiore in Northern Italy during 1944, said he had been ordered to kill three Italian civilians for every German wounded in that particular incident. He said he ordered the destruction of the house of the twelve in the village of Borgo Ticino, "as a souvenir."

PREFECT OF MILAN WON'T BAN 'TRISTAN'

MILAN, Italy, Feb. 25 (AP)—Ettore Troilo, prefect of Milan, announced today he had rejected the request of a former Italian partisan leader that he ban a scheduled performance of Wagner's "Tristan und Isolde" because the opera is to be presented in the original German.

Kirsten Flagstad and Einar Beyron, Swedish tenor, are scheduled to appear in the production at La Scala Opera House tomorrow night.

The request was delivered to the prefect by Egidio Liberti, former Chief of Staff of the "Corps of Volunteers of Liberty."

In rejecting the petition, Troilo said:

"We cannot confound Wagner's Germany with the Germany of Hitler. There are no reasons at all to suspend a Wagner opera because it is being presented in the original text."

Von Reeder to Be Tried by Belgians

Brussels, Feb. 25 (A. P.).—Gen. Eggert von Reeder, who headed the wartime Nazi administration in Belgium and northern France, has been handed over to the Belgian Government by Allied authorities, it was learned today. He will be tried by a Belgian military court on a charge of having sent more than 200,000 Belgian men and women to Germany as slave laborers.

TROOPS SENT TO SALONIKA

Reinforcements Converge As Amnesty Deadline Is Set

Salonika, Greece, Feb. 25 (AP)—Troop reinforcements and large quantities of materiel converged by ship today on this northern Greek stronghold as the Government made ready an army of possibly 50,000 men for a full-scale offensive in mid-March against guerrilla bands.

Simultaneously, a parliamentary commission in Athens passed a decree granting amnesty to guerrillas who surrender their arms by March 15. The total number of guerrillas has been estimated at 15,000.

A Foreign Ministry source said the general offensive and the amnesty deadline had been timed to coincide because the Greek Government did not want its extension of leniency to appear as a sign of "weakness," and at the same time wanted to be able to enforce a "dynamic" program in quelling disorders.

Inner Cabinet Meetings

Plans for the double-barreled drive to snuff out guerrilla activity were completed last week end after almost continuous meetings in Athens of the inner cabinet—composed of seven leaders of the political parties represented in the coalition government.

The Cabinet has agreed on the promotion of Gen. Constantin Ventiris to the post of chief of the general staff. The General is regarded as a capable man for the assignment, in view of his extensive experience against guerrillas in Macedonia as commander of the 2d Army Corps.

Official reports said twelve guerrillas were killed and ten captured when a band of 400 "Leftists" unsuccessfully attacked a military unit at Kentrikon, near Kilkis, north of Salonika.

Rail Bridge Blown Up

A rail bridge near Pharsala, in central Greece, was blown up by guerrillas Saturday night, press reports said, and two other smaller bridges also were destroyed. The band later was ambushed by troops, and five guerrillas were killed.

A correspondent of a Right-wing newspaper said a band of 500 to 600 attacked Sourmena, a village only a few miles from the Yugoslav frontier in the Lake Dorian region. This was said to be the ninth attack on the community.

Newspapers also reported that a 1,000-man band captured a small village in the Grevena area in north central Greece.

U.N. Commission Meets

Meanwhile, the United Nations commission investigating the Balkans held a closed session this morning, its first meeting since establishing headquarters in Salonika.

The commission was reported to have discussed for three hours a letter from a guerrilla leader who calls himself "General Markos," inviting the group to visit guerrilla territory and offering to meet the commission any place it suggested. Markos's headquarters is reported to be in the mountains west of Lamia, 110 miles north of Athens.

Two members of the Greek Parliament—one whose daughter was killed and the other whose wife was killed by guerrillas—have sworn to "execute" Markos if he comes down out of the hills.

DENIES BUDAPEST PLOT

Budapest, Feb. 25 (A. P.).—Members of the Smallholders party said today that Bela Kovacs, the party's former Secretary-General, accused by the Communists of being involved in a plot against the Hungarian Republic, has voluntarily gone to Political Police headquarters and made a statement denying complicity in any such plotting. These informants said that this action represents a minor victory over the Communists for the Smallholders, who hold a majority of the seats in Parliament.

They said that Parliament will now possibly not be called upon to lift Kovacs's immunity and that thus the Smallholder leader cannot be arrested by the Communist-dominated Political Police.

The Russian military authorities have charged that espionage was being carried on in Hungary, directed against the Soviet Union.

Soviets Study 8-Hour-Day Law

MOSCOW, Feb. 25 (AP).—Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky proposed to a joint session of the Supreme Soviet today that the eight-hour day be incorporated into the Russian constitution. He also suggested that the charter include provision for the presidium of the Supreme Soviet to denounce as well as to ratify treaties and grant certain rights to foreigners living in Russia.

Moscow Announces New Air Technic

Moscow, Feb. 25 (A. P.).—The Government announced today the award of the Order of Lenin to Lieut.-Col. Yuri Antipov for courage displayed in mastering a new aviation technic.

There was no further explanation of the award, which evoked the interest of foreign military observers.

Cyrankiewicz in Moscow

MOSCOW, Feb. 25 (AP).—Premier Josef Cyrankiewicz of Poland and his Minister of Industry, Hilary Minc, arrived here today by train from Warsaw. They were welcomed by Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov and his deputy, A. Y. Vishinsky.

A. P. Writes as It Pleases

Moscow Has Not Trimmed a Word of Conference Dispatches

MOSCOW, Feb. 25 (AP).—Soviet censors already appear to have put into effect the principle enunciated by Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov that foreign correspondents will be free to write as they wish concerning the Foreign Ministers' conference here next month.

Although there has been no official announcement of policy, not a word has been eliminated from Associated Press dispatches concerning the conference for several days, and the messages have passed through censorship rapidly.

Iran Troops Take 3 Northern Cities

Tehran, Iran, Feb. 25 (AP)—Central Government troops today captured Yesveh, Haghdeh and Kohlin, cities around Oshnoo in northern Kurdistan 14 miles from the Iraq border.

The Iranian general staff said that following the capture of Oshnoo, governmental troops marched toward the adjacent three cities where the Barzani Kurd defenders withdrew toward the frontier without resisting.

Further north of Oshnoo another garrison was reported fighting a band of 700 Armenians, Assyrians and Kurds. The general staff said that after heavy fighting the guerrillas fled to near-by mountains, suffering heavy losses.

CHINA WAR HEADS MAP DRIVE; CHIANG IN VISIT TO FRONT

NANKING, Feb. 25 — (AP) The Chinese government made urgent plans today to intensify its war against the Chinese Communists but repercussions of its recent economic crisis plagued its home front.

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek flew to a war zone—reported to be Tsinan in Shantung province — while his top military leaders planned an offensive that one official declared would decide "existence or death for North China."

Chiang's previous trips to war zones — this was his third in a month—have been followed almost immediately by successful government campaigns. National troops captured Lini, a big Communist base in southern Shantung, after his most recent visit.

Shanghai meantime heard that Chiang had ordered the arrest of an unidentified high government official accused of using more than 350,000,000 yuan (Chinese dollars) of government funds for speculation in the recent panic-producing manipulation of the black market in gold and U. S. currency. The official was being sought.

The Shanghai Evening Post said the official's speculation contributed to the economic crises which drove the yuan down to 19,500 to $1 on the black market and forced the government to revise the official exchange rate from 3,350 yuan to $1 down to 12,000 to $1.

Chinese newly arrived from overseas protested angrily to Nanking that they had been compelled, under a new emergency order, to exchange their U. S. dollars for yuan and therefore had none to use on a projected visit to Hong Kong and other foreign cities. They carried $1,000 to $3,000 each.

The government kept details of Chiang's flight secret, although a Chinese press dispatch from Tsinan reported he and more than 20 staff members flew to that city. He was reported back in Nanking tonight.

Equally secret was the strategy conference of military leaders at Peiping. Chiang sent his Minister of National Defense, Pai Chung-hsi, to the meeting.

The reference of one of the conferees to North China presumably meant the long forecast battle for Manchuria is imminent. It had been expected to open as soon as that region's bitter winter ended.

The Sungari River, 30 miles south of Harbin, generally is the boundary line between Communist-held northern Manchuria and the Government-controlled southern territory. There was some activity along the river a few weeks ago, but it did not go beyond the skirmishing stage.

Coal Region Battle

Tempo of the battling for the Poshan coal producing region of central Shantung province increased noticeably. Government sources said the Communists had thrown more than 100,000 troops into an "unprecedentedly bloody" battle to cut the Tsinan-Tasingtao railroad. They conceded the Nationals' hold on the sector was precarious.

[The Communists' Yenan radio broadcast this claim:

["The unprecedentedly great victory in Shantung has thoroughly shattered plans of Chiang Kai-shek to annihilate our armies in south Shantung. It has furthermore given Chiang Kai-shek his greatest and most serious blow." It gave no details of the "victory."

[The broadcast, recorded by the Associated Press in San Francisco, also reported Chiang was moving Government forces into position to attack Yenan.]

British Hang 10 at Singapore

SINGAPORE, Feb. 25 (AP).—Seven Japanese soldiers and three Korean guards were hanged today for war crimes. The highest ranking among the ten was Lieutenant Colonel Masugi Kazuo, convicted of killing three British flyers at Batavia, Java, in 1945. The others were convicted of atrocities on workers on the Burma-Siam railroad and in Sumatra.

Jap Treaty Advocated

Tokyo, Feb. 25 (AP)—The Interior Secretary, J. A. Krug, and Gen. Douglas MacArthur today advocated a speedup of democratization processes for American controlled islands of the Pacific and for Japan.

Krug, on a tour of Pacific islands administered by the United States, said the natives should be given "a measure of the freedom we have at home." Specifically, he advocated United States citizenship for Samoans and Guamanians in recognition of their long association with the United States.

MacArthur told Representative Poulson (R., Cal.), Representative Engle (D., Cal.) and Delegate Farrington (R., Hawaii), all of Krug's party, that:

1. A formal peace treaty should be signed quickly with Japan which "can become a more thorough democracy than Germany."

2. Delay in concluding the peace is handicapping Japan's development and might make the country too dependent upon the United States.

3. Japan has a capable self-government—one of the conditions named last year by James F. Byrnes, former Secretary of State, as prerequisite to a treaty.

Krug also conferred with MacArthur, discussing for two hours self-government for Pacific islands. The Secretary declined to say what proposals he would make to President Truman after his return to Washington March 4 but said after the conference:

1. "Government of the islands should be based on minimum interference with the natives' traditions and tribal customs. Native chieftains govern well when left alone."

Okinawa Proposal

2. Okinawa should be disassociated from other, smaller islands. It "is a large land mass with some 400,000 residents. It presents different problems. I was very much impressed with the job being done there under MacArthur."

Under the present setup, the United States Army, through MacArthur, administers Okinawa and the Ryukyus; the United States Navy administers Guam, Samoa and other islands, and the Hawaii group is under the Interior Department.

Congress soon is expected to decide whether Pacific islands shall continue to be administered chiefly by military government under overall United States Navy control or whether jurisdiction shall be transferred to the Interior Department.

Early Jap Treaty Urged By MacArthur

Tokyo, Feb. 25—(AP)—General MacArthur told a group of congressmen today that a formal peace should be signed quickly with Japan, which he said, can become a more thorough democracy than Germany.

Rep. Norris Poulson (R-Calif.), one of the congressmen visiting here with Secretary of Interior Krug, reported that MacArthur said delay in concluding the peace was handicapping Japan's development and had the potential danger of making the nation too dependent on the United States.

MacArthur declared Japan had a capable self-government now and that there was no impediment in the way of a formal peace seen, Poulson said. Self-government was one of the conditions mentioned several months ago by former Secretary of States Byrnes as necessary before the Japanese treaty could be considered.

Philippine Trade Balance Down

MANILA, Feb. 25 (AP) — The Philippines had an unfavorable trade balance of $54,338,000 last year, despite huge expenditures by the United States armed forces and American business, the Government Bureau of Census and Statistics reported today. The Bureau estimated international receipts for 1946 at $287,290,000 and payments at $341,628,000.

The New York Leaves Bikini

Atom Target Ship Is Being Towed to West Coast for Study

KWAJALEIN, Feb. 25 (AP).—The battleship New York, still "hot" from the Bikini atom-bomb blast, is being towed to the Pacific Coast, where Navy scientists will make further studies of her radioactivity.

The first capital ship of the Bikini target fleet to be moved to the coast, the New York left Sunday in tow of two Navy tugs. Lieutenant Commander Robert A. Conard, of Guntersville, Ala., said he did now know her destination, but that most of the atom fleet was destined to go to Hunters Point, San Francisco, where the Navy has established a radiological laboratory. Some smaller ships of the target fleet already have reached the coast, and preparations are being made to return others.

WESTOVER FIELD, Mass., Feb. 25—(AP) The weary band of 11 American airmen whose B-29 crashed on Greenland's barren ice cap and their daring rescuers relaxed tonight in this peaceful New England countryside.

All flew back here today in a C-54 that defied death by settling on a Greenland lake, taking off the B-29 crew by rocket power, and flying a grueling 2310 non-stop miles against Arctic headwinds before coming to rest at this army air base.

Pilot Is Hero

Hero to the public was Lt. Bobbie Joe Cavnar, 22, of Okmulgee, Okla., pilot of the army air transport command C-54, who made lightning calculations in putting the wheels of his plane on ice and taking off again in a swift 20-minute operation yesterday.

To Cavnar, confident but not cocky, it's all in a day's work.

"The crew and I figured we could make it," he said.

But Lt. Vern Arnett of Riverside, Calif., pilot of the B-29 which crashed Friday after being driven off course by a storm, said simply of the rescue operation:

"Cavnar was wonderful. He did a wonderful job."

Arnett, his face grey with fatigue and the smoke of oil fires that warmed the men in sub-zero cold during the three days they hoped for rescue, was the only member of the B-29 crew permitted to talk with newsmen.

He talked in a whisper, his voice temporarily lost in thet northern ordeal. His crew-mates, none of whom suffered more than exhaustion, slept off the effect in the base hospital.

But his words were measured, his talk lucid.

"We were on a routine flight" out of Fairbanks, Alaska, he said. "We were not making photos."

Hit Arctic Storm

An Arctic storm struck them and although he pulled his plane to 24,000 feet they could not ride it out. Carried completely off course they belly-landed in Greenland and within four hours established radio communications and launched one of the biggest air rescue efforts since the end of the war.

Cavnar, calm as a professor teaching a class in aerodynamics as he sat beside his pretty wife and two-year-old son, told newsmen:

"We dragged the lake twice. The third time around the B-29 crew lined up on each side of a landing area—a strip about 2,500 feet long and 300 feet wide. We approached over an 800 foot hill and at air speed of 120 miles so we would not bounce in. In case the ice gave we had sufficient speed to go on.

"We were able to stop about 500 feet from the B-29. We taxied back and forth to smooth the snow so as to be sure the snow would not stop our wheels when we tried to take off.

Rockets Aid Takeoff

"When we got the men on board we started off and then fired the four rockets which gave a 1450-horsepower thrust. The rockets burned only about eight seconds. It was enough. We were off at a speed of about 85 miles an hour."

The crew of the B-29, besides Lt. Arnett, included Lt. Russell S. Jordan, Albany, Calif.; 2nd Lt. Robert Lluedke, Los Angeles, Calif.; Lt. John G. Lesman, Kearny, N. J.; Lt. Burl Cowan, Salina, Kans.; Lt. Talbert M. Gates, Fenwood, N. J.; M-Sgt. Lawrence Yarbrough, Springfield, Ore.; S-Sgt. Ernest C. Steward of Birmingham, Ala.; T-Sgt. Robert Leader, Philadelphia; S-Sgt. Paul R. McNamara, Geneva, Ohio; and Lt. Howard R. Adams, Lebanon, Pa.

Cavnar's crew included Lt. Fred Sporer, Dallas, Tex.; the co-pilot; T-Sgt. Walter Hustus, South Portland, Me.; T-Sgt. John H. Schuffert, Newcastle, Pa.; Lt. William Seward, Stoneham, Mass., the navigator; Pfc. Charles J. Erchak, Beallsville, Ohio.

Also in the plane were Capt. Donald A. Shaw of Concord, N. H., an arctic specialist with dog teams, and Capt. Herbert G. Dorsey of Washington, D. C.

Rescued Army Fliers Relax At Airfield in Bay State

PRAISE PILOT FOR DARING C-54 LANDING ON ICE

Exhausted Men in Hospital —Flier Tells of Snatching Group From Arctic

30-24-8109

Westover Field, Mass., Feb. 25 — (AP) — Eleven American airmen who cheated death for three days 600 miles from the North Pole after their B-29 crashed in Northern Greenland, were flown back here today.

Lt. Bobbie Joe Cavnar, 22, of Okmulgee, Okla., set down the rescue plane—a big C-54 transport—of the Army Air Transport Command at 7:55 A. M. here after a 2,310-mile non-stop flight from Thule, Greenland.

Less than 24 hours earlier, Lieutenant Cavnar wagered his life that a sheet of ice beside the crashed B-29 would hold his 20 ton four-engined plane—[illegible].

The 11 men climbed stiffly from the rescue plane. They appeared exhausted from their ordeal.

An Army medical officer said none was in serious condition.

Lt. Vern Arnett of Riverside, Calif., pilot of the downed B-29, only crewman to discuss the belly-landing and rescue before all were hospitalized for rest and observation, described Lieutenant Cavnar's landing as a "wonderful job."

Permitted to talk to newsmen for five minutes, Arnett said his ship was "on a routine training flight. We were, not making photos."

Blown Off Course

The big plane ran into a storm which blew it completely off course, he related and added:

"We were running short of fuel and since we had been flying for 15 hours, there was nothing to do but make a belly landing.

"We landed on a lake and luckily no one was hurt.

"We made regular contact four hours after we crashed. We stayed on the plane and had plenty of food."

Other members of the crew were: Lt. Russell S. Jordan, Albany, Calif.; Second Lt. Robert Lluedke, Los Angeles, Calif.; Lt. John G. Lesman, Kearny, N. J.; Lt. Burl Cowan, Grand Island, Neb.; Lt. Talbert M. Gates, Fenwood, N. J.; Master Sgt. Lawrence Yarbrough, Springfield, Ore.; Staff Sgt. Ernest C. Stewart of Birmingham, Ala.; Tech. Sgt. Robert Leader, Philadelphia; Staff Sgt. Paul R. McNamara, Geneva, Ohio; and Lt. Howard R. Adams, Lebanon, Pa.

Lieutenant Cavnar said his plane with a seven-man crew left Westover Field at 3:30 A. M. Sunday and flew to Sondrestrom Yard, Greenland, where emergency supplies were picked up.

The flight continued to Thule.

"The crew and I figured we could make it," Cavnar said.

"We were informed there were two to ten inches of smooth snow on the lake where the B-29 crashed. So we loaded supplies and took off."

"We found the aircraft without difficulty. The men had built a fire with oil from the engine and when they saw us they got so excited they tossed a life-raft on the fire."

He said the C-54 cruised the area and "dragged" the lake where the crashed plane rested twice before making a landing.

'Sort of Tense'

"It was sort of tense," he said. "The B-29 crew lined up on each side of a landing area — a strip about 2,500 feet long. We approached over an 800 foot hill and at air speed of 120 miles so we would not bounce in. In case the ice gave we had sufficient speed to go on.

"We were able to stop about 500 feet from the B-29. We taxied back and forth to smooth the snow so as to be sure the snow would not stop our wheels when we tried to take off."

The C-54 crew unloaded all unnecessary supplies.

At the time the weather was 25 to 30 degrees below zero.

"When we got the men on board we started off and then fired the four rockets which gave a 1450-horsepower thrust. The rockets burned only about eight seconds. Then we were off at a speed of about 85 miles an hour."

The entire operation took only 20 minutes, Cavnar said.

The crew members of the C-54 were: Tech. Sgt. Walter Hustus of South Portland, Me.; Lt. Fred Sporer of Dallas, Texas, the co-pilot; Tech. Sgt. John H. Schuffert of Newcastle, Pa.; Lt. William Seward of Stoneham, Mass., the navigator; Pfc. Charles J. Erchak of Bealsville, Ohio.

In the plane also, were Capt. Donald A. Shaw of Concord, N. H., an Arctic specialist with dog teams, and Capt. Herbert G. Dorsey of Washington, D. C.

When Lieutenant Cavnar and his crew stepped from their plane they were greeted by Maj. Gen. William H. Tunner, commander of the Atlantic division of the Army Air Transport Command. Tunner said yesterday he was recommending Cavnar for the Distinguished Flying Cross with oak leaf clusters for this and other Arctic rescue feats.

Rescue Units Converge

In carrying out the rescue the Army launched one of its most intensive efforts since the end of the war, racing against time and weather to save those who crashed in the B-29 — "Kee Bird."

Efforts converged in a vast pincer operation from the limits of the North American continent—from Ladd Field, Fairbanks, Alaska, where "Kee Bird" was based, and Northward from the United States into Greenland.

Three transports and a troop carrying glider winged across Northern Canada to establish a base at Thule.

Three other plans of the Atlantic division of the ATC sped North from Westover Field.

POLAR RESCUERS RECEIVE MEDALS

Head Of AAF Pins Awards On Six Young Flyers

Washington, Feb. 25 (AP)—Gen. Carl Spaatz, head of the Army Air Forces, pinned medals today on six tired and sleepy young flyers shivering beside the big transport plane in which they had rescued eleven crewmen of a downed B-29 only 540 miles from the North Pole.

Three first lieutenants, two sergeants, and a private made up the crew of the "Red Tailed Raider," an AAF Air Transport Command C-54 equipped for cold-country operations.

They had had but five hours' sleep since Friday, when they left Greenland on a routine flight to Westover Field, Massachusetts, and immediately were sent back to the scene of the B-29 mishap, nearly 3,000 miles away.

Cavnar Is Youngest

Lieut. Bobbie Joe Cavnar, 22, an Oklahoman, is the youngest of the crew, pilot of the plane, and the only married one of the six. His wife, Margaret, and their son and daughter live at Westover. Cavnar received the Distinguished Flying Cross.

The other five crewmen received the Air Medal. They are Lieut. Fred Sporer, 24, of Mesquite, Texas, copilot; Lieut. William A. Seward, 23, of Stoneham, Mass., navigator; Sergt. Walter L. Hustus, 26, of Portland, Maine; Sergt. John H. Schuffert, 26, of Newcastle, Pa., and Pfc. Charles J. Erchak, 26, of Bellsville, Ohio.

The eleven airmen they rescued relaxed peacefully at Westover. Cavnar and his crew had left them there before being ordered to Washington for the medal presentation.

Little Made Of Feat

Cavnar made little of his lightning calculations in the tricky rescue landing and takeoff.

"The crew and I figured we could make it," he said.

But Lieut. Vern Arnett, of Riverside, Cal., pilot of the B-29 which crashed Friday after being driven off course by a storm, said simply of the rescue operation:

"Cavnar was wonderful. He did a wonderful job."

Arnett, his face gray with fatigue and the smoke of oil fires that warmed the men in subzero cold during the three days they hoped for rescue, was the only member of the B-29 crew permitted to talk with newsmen.

Talks In Whisper

He talked in a whisper, his voice temporarily lost in the northern ordeal. His crew-mates, none of whom suffered more than exhaustion, slept off the affects in the base hospital.

But his words were measured, his talk lucid.

"We were on a routine flight," out of Fairbanks, Alaska, he said. "We were not making photos."

An Arctic storm struck them and although he pulled his plane to 24,000 feet they could not ride it out. Carried completely off course they belly-landed in Greenland and within four hours established radio communications and launched one of the biggest air-rescue efforts since the end of the war.

Russia Backs U. S. On Pacific Islands, Recalls 'Sacrifices'

Concedes Greater Sacrifices by America Warrant Rule.

MOVE IS SURPRISE

Marshall Silent on Suggestion Reds Seek Land Grab Precedent.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25—(AP) In a surprise move, Russia has stamped its cordial approval on a plan for American control of the 623 Pacific islands wrested from Japanese mandate, Secretary of State Marshall disclosed today.

A Moscow note took the position that United States control would be entirely fair because the blood shed in evicting the Japanese was largely American.

NIGHT

The note, contrasting so sharply with Russia's frequent disagreements with this country, set the capital buzzing with speculation about possible motives. Marshall was asked at a news conference whether he thought Moscow was trying to set a precedent to justify the Soviets' own postwar land acquisitions. He declined comment.

Russia had been generally expected to side with the British and Australian contention that the United Nations should postpone the whole question of the future of the strategic Marshal, Marianas, and Caroline groups until a peace treaty is written with Japan.

Marshall gave a news conference a paraphrase of the Russian note which made no mention of delay. Moscow in the communication which arrived yesterday said Russia took into account that the islands were won chiefly by American armed forces, which made incomparably greater sacrifices in this than their allies.

The United States proposal to administer the former Japanese-mandate islands as a "strategic area" was submitted last week to the United Nations Security Council. It would give this Government virtually the same rights as would come under outright annexation.

Only Case Of Concurrence

The text of the proposal was circulated in advance to nations represented on the Council and the Moscow note was in response to this.

Marshall said as far as he knew no nation other than Russia had given its concurrence thus far. The trusteeship plan will be taken up tomorrow by the United Nations Security Council.

Russian-American affairs on the eve of next month's Moscow peace conference of the Big Four Foreign Ministers dominated a series of announcements and comments by Marshall, which included:

1. There has been no change whatever in general policies of the United States on terms of a European postwar settlement from the pronouncements of James F. Byrnes, former Secretary of State, last fall at Stuttgart and the American positions at the 1945 Potsdam conference.

2. An American delegation of 84 has been selected for the Moscow conference and will leave by air probably March 5. It includes John Foster Dulles, Republican foreign affairs adviser, who has attended earlier conferences and was chosen for Moscow with the concurrence of Senator Vandenberg (R., Mich.), chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. In New York, Dulles issued a statement calling for united effort by Americans to aid in winning "the kind of peace for which so many suffered and died."

3. Marshall considers as closed the diplomatic quarrel resulting from the comment by Dean Acheson, Under Secretary of State, that Soviet foreign policy was "aggressive and expanding." The State Department plans no reply to the latest note from Vyacheslav M. Molotov, Foreign Minister, which said that Marshall's explanation was unconvincing.

Circumstances To Be Guide

4. At Moscow Marshall will be guided by circumstances, in taking up with Molotov issues not involved in the German and Austrian peace settlements. He said, however, he did not anticipate bringing up the stalemate over Korea. Lieut. Gen. John R. Hodge has said there is "something to" reports that the Russians are drafting Koreans into their armed forces.

5. Romania has assured the United States that it will refrain from discrimination and carry out faithfully other stipulations made by President Truman, in distributing 7,000 tons of United States Army food to famine-stricken Moldavia province.

6. The United States "profoundly hopes," Marshall said in a formal statement, that India will accept the "challenge" of the British offer of self-government by 1948 and proceed to break the impassé between the Congress party and the Moslem League.

Source Of New Tension

Secretary Marshall warned that civil strife in India could become the source of "new international tensions in a world only now beginning to grope its way back to peace" and specifically appealed to the Congress party and the Moslem League to resolve their political differences.

Marshall recalled that Prime Minister Attlee pledged Britain to transfer power "into responsible Indian hands by a date not later than June, 1948."

The American Government, Marshall added, has made clear its interest in India's peaceful transition to full self-government and has welcomed Britain's "persistent and sincere efforts" to bring the major Indian political parties together on the federal union play.

Just Basis For Co-Operation

"We continue to believe that this plan offers a just basis for co-operation," he said, adding:

"The Indian internal crisis threatens to prevent India from making its rightful and honorable contribution to the maintenance of international peace and prosperity.

"An India torn by civil strife would not only find it difficult to make this positive and greatly needed contribution but could conceivably become the source of new international tensions in a world only now beginning to grope its way back to peace."

Concedes Greater Sacrifices Warrant Rule —Marshall Silent on Suggestion Reds Seek Precedent for Land Grabs.

Washington, Feb. 25 (A. P.).—Secretary of State Marshall disclosed today that Russia had given its formal approval to an American trusteeship over mandated islands wrested from Japan in the Pacific.

Marshall told a news conference also that at next month's meeting in Moscow the American delegation would be guided by the general policies for a European post war settlement voiced by former Secretary of State Byrnes at Stuttgart and followed at the 1945 Potsdam conference.

The Russian indorsement of an American trusteeship for the 623 islands mandated to Japan by the League of Nations—the Marianas, Carolines and Marshalls—has been received in a communication from Moscow, Marshall said.

Sacrifices Are Conceded.

Paraphasing its contents, he said that the Soviet government advised that it felt it was entirely fair for the United States to assume control, since the islands were conquered chiefly by American armed forces which made incomparably greater sacrifices than other allies in the campaign.

The Secretary said that Russia was the only nation to concur thus far in the trusteeship proposal submitted last week to the United Nations. Australia and Britain have proposed that action be postponed until a peace treaty with Japan has been concluded. Previously there were reports that Russia favored delay.

A reporter asked whether the Russian note suggested that the Soviets might be trying to set a precedent to justify their own land acquisitions. Marshall declined comment on that, observing that the note had just arrived. The questioner did not specify to what land acquisitions he referred.

Studying Korea Impasse.

As to China, Marshall said he was not familiar with schedules of troop withdrawals, but that the United States Marines were coming out as fast as transport is available.

Marshall said he summoned Lieut.-Gen. John R. Hodge to discuss a detailed study being made by the State and War departments on the impasse with Russia over administration of occupied Korea. He told a questioner he did not expect that the Korean issue would be raised at Moscow.

At the Capitol, Hodge conferred for more than an hour with the Senate Armed Services Committee. Chairman Gurney (R.-S. D.) told reporters that the discussion was completely off the record.

Acheson Incident Closed.

Marshall also told reporters at his conference that:

1. He considers the incident over Undersecretary Dean Acheson's Senate testimony that Russia's foreign policy was "aggressive and expanding" was closed. He does not intend to reply, he said, to a second Russian protest.

2. Romania has assured the United States that it will comply fully with President Truman's stipulation that American food in famine-stricken Muldavia be distributed without discrimination. Marshall noted that the American Red Cross is paying $3,500,000 for food diverted from United States Army shipments for hunger relief.

3. The United States, Marshall said in a statement, has expressed hope that India will accept the "clear-cut challenge" of Great Britain's independence plan and "proceed to break the impasse between the Congress and the Moslem League."

Dulles Joins Delegation.

4. The American delegation to the Big Four conference at Moscow has been completed with the addition of John Foster Dulles, Republican foreign policy adviser. The delegation will number eighty-four, about half of whom are clerks and stenographers. Marshall said that he plans to leave on March 5 for Moscow. He said Dulles was added after consultation with Senator Vandenberg (R.-Mich), chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

5. Efforts are being made to remove technical difficulties in the transfer of surplus goods to China and to arrange for transfer of ships as authorized by Congress.

Korea today occupied a greater space in the picture of Russo-American difficulties after Hodge said he had given up trying to negotiate with Russia for unification of the country under a provisional government.

Commission Deadlocked.

Under the Moscow agreement of 1945, a joint Korean Commission is supposed to set up a provisional government over both United States and Russian zones. The commission broke up in a deadlock last year over Russian insistence that no Koreans who opposed the Soviet plan for a five-year trusteeship over their nation should take part in the Government.

Hodge also told reporters that there appeared to be something to reports that the Russians were conscripting a Korean army. The Soviet radio, he said, has carried announcements that Koreans from 17 to 25 years of age were being called up. He calculated that on the basis of present population this could mean a force of 500,000. Dr. Symgman Rhee, leader of the South Korean Democratic League, cited the same figure in a separate interview and asserted that the troops were intended for the Red Army.

Austin Encouraged By Russian Reply

Lake Success, N.Y., Feb. 25 (AP)—Warren R. Austin, United States delegate to the United Nations Security Council, said today that Russia's note approving American trusteeship over Japanese-mandated islands in the Pacific was "very encouraging."

Austin will speak tomorrow to the eleven-nation Security Council when it takes up the United States request for sole administration of the 623 islands mandated to Japan by the League of Nations and taken by American forces in the recent war.

Austin received word of Russia's position and the text of the note this morning as he was drafting his speech to the Council on the mandates, and he immediately began rewriting to meet the new development.

Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet delegate, had "no comment" on the development, which caused considerable surprise in the United Nations circles here.

An authoritative informant said the British delegation might agree also to the United States proposal if there was no objection from other quarters.

The Australian delegate, Paul Hasluck, declined to comment until he received instructions from his government.

Dr. Quo Tai-chi, Chinese delegate, said China had supported the United States "in principle" on the question of the mandated islands from the beginning.

TRUMAN TIGHTENS TRADE PROTECTION

Acts to Safeguard U. S. Interests in Pacts with Other Lands.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25—(AP) President Truman today announced he had ordered tighter safeguards on reciprocal trade agreements with other countries as a prelude to the 19-nation world trade conference in Geneva in April.

The President issued an executive order which, he said, is designed to make "doubly sure that American interests will be properly safeguarded."

Apparently leading to calm fears that the United States might become a dumping ground for cheap foreign goods, the President ordered the insertion of "escape clauses" in trade pacts with other nations, so that tariff or other concessions which proved harmful to American producers could be cancelled.

To Provide for Appeals

He also set up machinery providing for appeals to the Tariff Commission by persons who feel they are damaged by imports.

Senators Vandenberg (R-Mich) and Millikin (R-Colo), who had suggested that the President modify the trade pact program in order to head off a congressional movement to scrap or greatly modify it, issued the following joint statement tonight:

"We welcome the President's order as a substantial advance in the legitimate and essential domestic protections which should be part of an equally essential foreign trade program. The President refers to the fact that his order is the result of suggestions by us. This is entirely true in respect to the provisions for post-agreement appeals if and when affected domestic interests may be jeopardized. Here the United States Tariff Commission has responsibility to make direct protective recommendations to the President.

"The president's order differs, however, from our suggestions that the Tariff Commission should have somewhat similar direct responsibilities to prevent errors before they occur. But in the main we count the president's order as highly useful progress in a desirable direction. As to the proposed Geneva negotiations for a new world trade organization, we shall of course reserve our positions and our judgment until the completed agreement is submitted for constitutional approval."

Other Reaction Mixed

Other reaction on Capitol Hill was mixed. Some Democrats applauded the president's move, while foes of low tariff barriers vigorously renewed their cries against "free trade."

Senator Butler (R-Neb) termed the executive order "just a gesture to make it appear that the administration has made concessions to the criticism of the trade agreements program."

One of the key points in the president's order is a provision that the U. S. Tariff Commission, an independent agency set up by law, may investigate and make recommendations directly to the president regarding tariff or other concessions which business interests may oppose as harmful.

The president would then have final authority either to revise or wipe out any concessions deemed to jeopardize American production. So-called "escape clauses" in international agreements will leave the way open for scrapping any harmful concessions.

Undersecretary of State Will Clayton told a news conference:

"We believe that with the escape clause and other provisions, anybody who feels he is being hurt has only to go to the Tariff commission and explain his case.

Asked whether he expects the order to win approval from traditionally high-tariff Republicans, Clayton replied:

"There are some Republicans and some Democrats, too, who won't be satisfied until we return to the old log-rolling, back-scratching tactics. But they don't run the country."

Chairman Knutson (R-Minn.) of the House Ways and Means committee, commenting on the provision for the tariff commission to hear complaints and make recommendations, said:

"The tariff commission has been making such findings as it was told to make."

Praised By O'Mahoney

On the other side of the picture, Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.) called Mr. Truman's action "another indication of the good sense that has characterized the president's operations."

The President emphasized in a statement that his order, sharply modifying the administration's reciprocal trade agreements program, followed consultations with Republican Senators Vandenberg of Michigan and Millikin of Colorado.

Mr. Truman also said that the order adheres to the principles laid down in 1934 by former secretary of state Cordell Hull, who fathered the program.

In brief, the order establishes a system of checks and balances to restrict the import of any articles "threatening domestic producers."

As recommended in the Vandenberg-Millikin proposals, it provides for "escape clauses" in agreements with foreign nations, whereby the President could modify or wipe out low-tariff concessions that jeopardize American business.

In addition, every trade agreement will contain a "most favored nation" clause guaranteeing American exporters as fair terms as any other nation in the foreign market. At present, certain nations have agreements with other states which tend to discriminate against the exports of the United States and other countries not a party to the agreements.

U. S. FOREIGN TRADE PACTS ARE MODIFIED

Truman Orders Changes Doubly to Safeguard American Interests

ALL WITHIN HULL PRINCIPLES

Says Bipartisan Support of Nation's Foreign Policy Is Essential.

Washington Feb. 25 (A. P.).—President Truman today sharply modified the reciprocal trade agreements program to make "doubly sure that American interests will be properly safeguarded."

Mr. Truman said in a statement that an executive order providing for procedural changes followed conversations he held with Senators Vandenberg (R.-Mich.) and Millikin (R.-Col.), and Under-Secretaries of State Dean Acheson and William L. Clayton.

The order, Mr. Truman said, "formalizes and makes mandatory certain existing trade agreement procedures" and in addition "makes some procedural changes."

The President said that the provisions of the order do not deviate from the traditional principles of former Secretary of State Cordell Hull, who fathered the program, and added in his statement:

"All of us must now recognize that bi-partisan support of our foreign economic policy, as well as of our foreign policy in general, is essential."

Provisions of Order.

Mr. Truman's executive order provides that:

1. A clause shall be included in all future trade agreements to provide that any concession granted by the United States on any article may be withdrawn if the article is being imported in quantities threatening domestic producers.

2. The United States Tariff Commission may investigate to determine if such concessions threaten serious injury to domestic producers and make recommendations to the President concerning withdrawal or modification of the concession.

3. The Tariff Commission shall hold public hearings in connection with investigations.

4. The Tariff Commission shall submit at least once a year a factual report on the operation of the trade-agreements program.

5. An inter-departmental committee will act as the agency through which the President will obtain information and advice before concluding a trade agreement.

6. On each dutiable import item considered by the inter-departmental committee, the Tariff Commission is required to analyze and publish the possible domestic effects.

7. The Commerce Department also will analyze the production, trade and consumption of each export item proposed for inclusion in a trade agreement.

8. The President will receive a report by dissenting members of the interdepartmental committee in connection with any concession lacking unanimous recommendation.

9. Every trade agreement will contain a "most-favored-nation provision" securing for exports of the United States "the benefits of all tariff concessions and other tariff advantages hereafter accorded by the other party or parties to the agreement to any third country."

To Check Discriminations.

The interdepartmental committee will be required to keep informed of any discriminations against the United States "which cannot be removed by normal diplomatic representations," and recommend "the withholding from such country of the benefit of concessions granted under such act."

Concerning the international trade meeting planned for Geneva April 10 at which the United States will be represented, Mr. Truman said:

30.24-811

"We plan to complete the draft of a charter establishing common principles of world trade policy and setting up an international trade organization. We also shall negotiate the reduction of tariffs, the removal of other barriers to trade and the elimination of discriminatory practices. I am very

President Truman's Trade-Pact Order

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 (AP).—The complete text of President Truman's executive order on reciprocal trade procedure follows:

PRESCRIBING PROCEDURES FOR THE ADMINISTRATION OF THE RECIPROCAL TRADE AGREEMENTS PROGRAM

By virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution and statutes, including section 332 of the tariff act of 1930 (46 stat. 698) and the trade agreements act approved June 12, 1934, as amended (48 stat. 943; 59 stat. 410), in the interest of the foreign affairs functions of the United States and in order that the interests of the various branches of American production shall be effectively safeguarded in the administration of the trade-agreements program, it is hereby ordered as follows:

PART I

1. There shall be included in every trade agreement hereafter entered into under the authority of said act of June 12, 1934, as amended, a clause providing in effect that if, as a result of unforeseen developments and of the concession granted by the United States on any article in the trade agreement, such article is being imported in such increased quantities and under such conditions as to cause, or threaten, serious injury to domestic producers of like or similar articles, the United States shall be free to withdraw the concession, in whole or in part, or to modify it, to the extent and for such time as may be necessary to prevent such injury.

2. The United States Tariff Commission, upon the request of the President, upon its own motion, or upon application of any interested party when in the judgment of the Tariff Commission there is good and sufficient reason therefor, shall make an investigation to determine whether, as a result of unforeseen developments and of the concession granted on any article by the United States in a trade agreement containing such a clause, such article is being imported in such increased quantities and under such conditions as to cause or threaten serious injury to domestic producers of like or similar articles. Should the Tariff Commission find, as a result of its investigation, that such injury is being caused or threatened, the Tariff Commission shall recommend to the President, for his consideration in the light of the public interest, the withdrawal of the concession, in whole or in part, or the modification of the concession, to the extent and for such time as the Tariff Commission finds would be necessary to prevent such injury.

3. In the course of any investigation under the preceding paragraph, the Tariff Commission shall hold public hearings, giving reasonable public notice thereof, and shall afford reasonable opportunity for parties interested to be present, to produce evidence, and to be heard at such hearings. The procedure and rules and regulations for such investigations and hearings shall from time to time be prescribed by the Tariff Commission.

4. The Tariff Commission shall at all times keep informed concerning the operation and effect of provisions relating to duties or other import restrictions of the United States contained in trade agreements heretofore or hereafter entered into by the President under the authority of said act of June 12, 1934, as amended. The Tariff Commission, at least once a year, shall submit to the President and to the Congress a factual report on the operation of the trade-agreements program.

PART II

5. An International Committee on Trade Agreements (hereinafter referred to as the Interdepartmental Committee) shall act as the agency through which the President shall, in accordance with Section 4 of said act of June 12, 1934, as amended, seek information and advice before concluding a trade agreement. In order that the interests of American industry, labor, and farmers, and American military, financial, and foreign policy, shall be appropriately represented, the Interdepartmental Committee shall consist of a Commissioner of the Tariff Commission and of persons designated from their respective agencies by the Secretary of State, the Secretary of the Treasury, the Secretary of War, the Secretary of the Navy, the Secretary of Agriculture, the Secretary of Commerce, and the Secretary of Labor. The chairman of the Interdepartmental Committee shall be the representative from the Department of State. The Interdepartmental Committee may designate such subcommittees as it may deem necessary.

6. With respect to each dutiable import item which is considered by the Interdepartmental Committee for inclusion in a trade agreement, the Tariff Commission shall make an analysis of the facts relative to the production, trade, and consumption of the article involved, to the probable effect of granting a concession thereon, and to the competitive factors involved. Such analysis shall be submitted in digest form to the Interdepartmental Committee. The digests, excepting confidential material, shall be published by the Tariff Commission.

7. With respect to each export item which is considered by the Inter-departmental Committee for inclusion in a trade agreement, the Department of Commerce shall make an analysis of the facts relative to the production, trade, and consumption of the article involved, to the probable effect of obtaining a concession thereon, and to the competitive factors involved. Such analysis shall be submitted in digest form to the Interdepartmental Committee.

8. After analysis and consideration of the studies of the Tariff Commission and the Department of Commerce provided for in paragraphs 6 and 7 hereof, of the views of interested persons presented to the Committee for Reciprocity Information (established by executive order 6750, dated June 27, 1934, as amended by executive order 9647, dated October 25, 1945), and of any other information available to the Interdepartmental Committee, the Interdepartmental Committee shall make such recommendations to the President relative to the conclusion of trade agreements, and to the provisions to be included therein, as are considered appropriate to carry out the purposes set forth in said act of June 12, 1934, as amended. If any such recommendation to the President with respect to the inclusion of a concession in any trade agreement is not unanimous, the President shall be provided with a full report by the dissenting member or members of the Interdepartmental Committee giving the reasons for their dissent and specifying the point beyond which they consider any reduction or concession involved cannot be made without injury to the domestic economy.

PART III

9. There shall also be included in every trade agreement hereafter entered into under the authority of said act of June 12, 1934, as amended, a most-favored-nation provision securing for the exports of the United States the benefits of all tariff concessions and other tariff advantages hereafter accorded by the other party or parties to the agreement to any third country. This provision shall be subject to the minimum of necessary exceptions and shall be designed to obtain the greatest possible benefits for exports from the United States. The interdepartmental committee shall keep informed of discriminations by any country against the trade of the United States which cannot be removed by normal diplomatic representations and, if the public interest will be served thereby, shall recommend to the President the withholding from such country of the benefit of concessions granted under said act.

U.S. Relief Publicity Demanded

Washington, Feb. 25 (AP)—Will Clayton, Under Secretary of State, told Congress today that the United States intends to slap a distinct "Made in America" label on future foreign relief and that shipments will be under terms so tough that some countries may refuse them.

Clayton testified before the House Foreign Affairs Committee on a proposed $350,000,000 relief program to be limited to Austria, Greece, Hungary, Italy, Poland and China.

The intention, he said, is to let the people of foreign lands know where their bread and butter is coming from—an assurance designed to meet criticism that they were kept in the dark on this nation's UNRRA aid.

Countries Not Specified

Clayton did not specify which of the six countries may refuse to accept the aid rather than meet terms to be written in individual agreements.

Committee members had pressed for assurance that countries "under Russian domination" would be required to distribute the American-bought relief without discrimination and under open scrutiny of the American press and radio.

In a related field, Chairman Vandenberg (R., Mich.), of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, asked prompt action on President Truman's request for United States participation in the International Refugee Organization.

"Only Permanent Solution"

"Resettlement of these war refugees is the only permanent solution for the problem of displaced persons," Vandenberg said. He estimated the cost at $70,000,000 to $75,000,000.

"Before anyone has apoplexy about this expenditure," he added, "it should be pointed out that this merely substitutes for present control of displaced persons in camps in the American zone of Germany and Austria."

Vandenberg called for his committee to meet Saturday on the necessary legislation.

57 Per Cent Of Minimum

Clayton, in asking approval of the measure authorizing the $350,000,000 relief program, said that it amounted to about 57 per cent of the "minimum needs" of the six countries listed.

Absent from the list was any reference to Yugoslavia, White Russia and the Ukraine—three areas which were big recipients of UNRRA relief. The United States furnished 72 per cent of that international agency's financial support.

To a query from Representative Mundt (R., S.D.) on "who else will chip in" toward meeting the "minimum" requirements, Clayton said Britain already had set up a $40,000,000 program to aid Austria; that Canada was "very sympathetic," and that some help was anticipated from South American countries.

Principle Reiterated

Clayton repeatedly told the committee that relief would be denied countries which refused to accept conditions laid down for the distribution of the supplies, and would be withdrawn from those who violated the terms.

Representative Merrow (R., N.H.) observed at one point that it would be difficult to allow the various governments "under Russian domination" to control the distribution of relief within their borders without "advancing the cause of communism," and added:

"I think that if Russia is going to dominate these countries, then she ought to help feed them."

Relief To Be Limited

Clayton said that relief would be limited to a "few basic essentials, primarily food, medical supplies, seeds and fertilizers."

He emphasized that foreign relief could not be abruptly terminated now, with UNRRA in the process of liquidation.

"If we fail to provide the relief now when it is needed," Clayton said, "much of the humanitarian work heretofore done by our Government and others will be undermined, much suffering and economic deterioration will undoubtedly occur, with political and economic consequences to the rest of the world, ourselves included, not pleasant to contemplate."

Former President Hoover will testify before the committee Friday. He has been on a food-study mission to Germany and is to report to President Truman Thursday.

U. S. TO BE TOUGH IN ITS AGREEMENTS ON FUTURE RELIEF

Clayton Tells Congress Some Countries May Even Reject Terms.

Washington, Feb. 25 (A. P.).—Under-Secretary of State Clayton told Congress today that the administration will be so "tough" with future relief agreements that some countries may refuse to accept help.

Clayton's statement was made before the House Foreign Affairs Committee after members pressed for assurance that countries "under Russian domination" would be required to distribute relief without discrimination and under inspection of the American press and radio.

Simultaneously, Chairman Vandenberg (R.-Mich.) asked speedy action by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee on President Truman's request for United States participation in the International Refugee Organization.

"Resettlement of these war refugees is the only p ermanent solution for the problem of displaced persons," Vandenberg told reporters.

He called for a spectil hearing Saturday on participation in the IRO, and said he hopes his committee will dispose of the bill then so that Tuesday it can open hearings on the proposed peace treaties with Italy, Bulgaria, Romania and Hungary. Vandenberg said the IRO operation would call for the expenditure of $70,000,000 to $75,000,000.

Clayton did not say what countries he thought might refuse to accept aid under specific conditions. Earlier, however, he said that American aid will be limited to Austria, Greece, Hungary, Italy, Poland and China—a list from which Yugoslavia and White Russia were absent.

Clayton asked the committee to approve a measure authorizing expenditure of $350,000,000 for relief work, saying that it amounted to approximately 57 per cent of the minimum needs for the six countries.

Representative Mundt (R.-S. D.) inquired what other countries plan to "chip in" with the balance. Clayton replied that Great Britain already had set up a $40,000,000 fund for aid in Austria, that Canada is "very sympathetic" with the project, and that aid is expected from some South American countries. He said this country has not discussed with Russia the possibility of Soviet assistance to some of her neighbors, but added that the Russian food situation is "not too good."

UNRRA's operations in Europe will begin winding up on March 31, and President Truman has asked that Congress vote $350,000,000 for direct relief from the United States.

Clayton asserted that to stop the flow of relief when UNRRA folds would be "disastrous."

"If we fail to provide the relief now when it is needed," he said, "much of the humanitarian work heretofore done by our Government and others will be undermined, much suffering and economic deterioration will undoubtedly occur, with political and economic consequences to the rest of the world, ourselves included, not pleasant to contemplate." He said, too, that "even with the minimum of assistance which has been planned, the peoples involved will still have barely enough to eat."

Wheat Exports To Be Limited

Washington, Feb. 25 (AP)—The Agriculture Department announced today that grain shipments to shortage areas abroad during May and June will be limited largely to corn, barley, grain sorghums and oats. Little wheat will be included.

The decision to curtail wheat shipments before the new crop is ready reflects a tightening domestic supply situation which has caused wheat prices to advance considerably in recent weeks.

The Department also announced an April grain export allocation of 1,500,000 long tons or about 56,000,000 bushels—of wheat, flour, corn, grain sorghums, oats and barley.

500,000,000 Bushels

Shipments and allocations between last July 1 and April 30 will total about 403,000,000 bushels. The Government plans to ship at least 97,000,000 bushels more by the end of the marketing year June 30.

The department said exports of 1947 crop wheat, which normally become available in May and June, are planned as soon as early harvests are completed in the Suthern great plains. Present prospects point to a record 1947 wheat crop.

The department said it had bought virtually all the 1946-crop wheat it needs to meet allocations for the current year. Since last July 1, its purchases have totaled about 153,000,000 bushels for export. This was in addition to 30,000,000 bushels owned by the department on last June 30.

December Exports Up by $109,000,000

Census Bureau Reports Total at $1,097,000,000

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 (AP)—Exports rose by $109,000,000 in December to a total of $1,097,000,000, the Census Bureau reported today. The advance was attributed principally to greatly expanded shipments to Asia and Latin America.

Gains in export to those two areas were partly canceled by smaller shipments to the Union of South Africa and to Europe, particularly Great Britain, France, Belgium and Switzerland.

Exports to Asia rose $80,000,000 over the previous month to a total of $195,000,000. This included gains of $33,000,000 in shipments for the Philippines, $19,000,000 for China and $13,000,000 for India.

There were substantial increases in exports to each of the countries of Latin America, sending the total for that area up $54,000,000 to a total of $306,000,000.

A $29,000,000 reduction in shipments to Britain was the principal factor in a $28,000,000 decline in exports to Europe to a total of $362,000,000.

An advance in general imports from $482,000,000 in November to $536,000,000 in December was helped by a 16 per cent increase in each in receipts from Latin America, Asia and Europe.

KOREA DISPUTE HELD PROBLEM FOR BIG FOUR

Hodge Admits Deadlock—Reds Seen Training Army Of 500,000

Washington, Feb. 25—(AP)—Korea jumped several notches higher today on the list of Soviet-American difficulties confronting Secretary of State Marshall in his preparation for the Moscow foreign ministers conference next month.

Lt. Gen. John R. Hodge, commander of American forces in Korea, said last night he has given up trying to negotiate with Russia for unification of the country under a provisional government.

"I have done all I can over there and have come back for discussions at higher levels," Hodge told a news conference after a visit with President Truman.

"What further is done is up to someone higher up."

Marshall May Act

The general declined to say whether he has suggested that Marshall tackle the problem at the Big Four conference in Moscow March 10, but he said the Koreans favor this course.

Under the Moscow agreement of 1945, a joint Korean commission is supposed to set up a provisional government over both U. S. and Russian zones. The commission broke up in a deadlock last year over Russian insistence that no Koreans who opposed the Soviet plan for a five year trusteeship over their nation should take part in the government.

Troops Set At 500,000

Dr. Syngman Rhee, leader of the South Korean Democratic League, said in an interview here that the Russians are drilling and equipping 500,000 troops there for incorporation in the Red Army.

Hodge told reporters there appeared to be "something to" reports that the Russians are conscripting a Korean army. The Soviet radio, he said, has carried announcements that Koreans from 17 to 25 years of age are being called up.

He calculated that on the basis of present population, this could mean a force of 500,000.

Soviet Charge on Korea

MOSCOW, Feb. 25 (AP).—The newspaper "Trud" asserted today that Dr. Syngman Rhee, leader of the South Korean Democratic League, was trying to obtain weapons from the United States with which to begin a military campaign against Communists in northern Korea.

(Dr. Rhee, who is now in Washington, said in an interview Monday that the Russians were drilling and equipping 500,000 Koreans in their northern occupation zone for incorporation into the Red Army. He said that under the Moscow agreement American occupation authorities in the south "are not in a position to train the southern Koreans, and as a result south Korea is left at the mercy of the Communists in the north." Dr. Rhee came to the United States some weeks ago for the announced purpose of obtaining "American support for a settlement of the Korean independence question."

"Trud," trade union organ, also attacked the progress of "democratization" in the American zone in southern Korea, comparing the situation unfavorably with that in the north. "Maneuvers of reaction in the south have been especially increased recently," "Trud" declared.

MARSHALL BACKS BRITAIN'S PLAN FOR FREE INDIA

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 (AP) The United States today threw its moral support behind Britain's efforts to set up a free and independent India by June, 1948, and urged India's leading political factions to get together.

Secretary of State Marshall, in announcing U. S. backing for Britain's program, warned in a statement that civil strife in India could become the source of "new international tensions in a world only now beginning to grope its way back to peace."

Marshall's Appeal

Marshall specifically appealed to the Congress Party and the Moslem League to resovle their political differences.

The two groups are cooperating in an interim government set up last September by the British but the Moslem League has refused to participate in an assembly to draw up a constitution for a federal union of India.

The League continues to campaign for a separate Moselm state, an arrangement strongly opposed by the Congress Party. The assembly has met twice without league representation but its work has been confined generally to discussion of procedural matters.

Marshall recalled that Prime Minister Attlee pledged Britain to transfer power "into responsible Indian hands by a date not later than June, 1948."

Referring to the "grave character" of this decision, the secretary said the United States "profoundly hopes that Indian political leadership will accept this clear cut challenge and proceed to break the impassee between the Congress and Moslem League."

Backs British

The American government, Marshall added, has made clear its interest in India's peaceful transition to full self-government and has welcomed Britain's "persistent and sincere efforts" to bring the major Indian political parties together on the federal union plan.

"We continue to believe that this plan offers a just basis for cooperation," he said, adding:

"The Indian internal crisis threatens to prevent India from making its rightful and honorable contribution to the maintenance of international peace and prosperity.

"And India torn by civil strife would not find it difficult to make this positive and greatly needed contribution but could conceivably become the source of new international tensions in a world only now beginning to grope its way back to peace."

LILIENTHAL HELD UNAWARE OF REDS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25—(AP) A former typist assured senators today that her two years of membership in the Communist party while working for the Tennessee Valley Authority "in no way involved any policy-making officials" of TVA.

The witness, Mrs. Muriel Borah Williams, who now lives in Atlanta, made it clear that her statement took in David E. Lilienthal, former TVA chairman, who is up for confirmation as chairman of the Atomic Energy commission.

"It has been charged that Mr. Lilienthal tolerated a Communist cell in TVA," she said. "That statement is incorrect, for one simply cannot tolerate anything of which he is ignorant."

Mrs. Lilienthal

She said she had never met either Lilienthal or Gordon Clapp, TVA general manager, and declared that Clapp, who had general charge of all employes, had no knowledge that she had carried a Communist party card until her own admission of that fact to a Dies subcommittee in 1940.

Earlier, Mrs. Margaret H. Worrell, who said she was spokesman for the Women's Patriotic Conference on National Defense, urged the committee to reject the nomination of Lilienthal "or any other man against whom the finger of suspicion has been or can be pointed." A group of women in the hearing room applauded.

Senator Knowland (R-Cal.) asked Mrs. Worrell if she did not subscribe to the theory that a man is innocent until proven guilty.

"Yes," Mrs. Worrell replied, "but where there's a lot of smoke there's some fire."

Senate Group Approves Rent Hike; Commodity Prices Start Soaring

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 (AP)—A Senate subcommittee voted today to raise rents 10 per cent, while soaring commodity prices brought talk of "dollar bacon" in Chicago and scared the New York stock market into a decline.

The day didn't bring totally bad news for consumers, however.

A Washington meeting of the American Retail Federation heard these d[illegible]

Retailers Give Views

By Chairman Jerome M. Ney of the federation—"Prices are higher than consumers want to pay and as supply reasserts itself, the consumer will become more selective in buying. Retailers must, in the consumer interest, insist on economic prices from their sources and see to it that quality returns to even better than pre-war standards."

By President Walter Morrow of the federation—"Many industry leaders are moving positively in the direction of lower prices (and this will) do more than any one thing to take the steam out of raising wage demands."

By Chairman Edwin G. Nourse of President Truman's Council of Economic Advisers—Business in 1947 will swing definitely from a seller's market to a buyer's market."

New York reported there already is a buyer's market in scores of its hotels, with week-enders finding accommodations available without reservations. In Washington also hotel space was reported much easier to get than in the war years.

Labor Department officials who fit retail and wholesale prices into consumer price indexes declined to predict what might happen to food prices in the next few months.

Nevertheless, some of the department experts agreed that the recent highs for wholesale prices point naturally to higher retail prices.

At Chicago today, record high marks were reached in commodity prices with hogs selling for $30 a hundred pounds. Cotton got as high as 35.02 cents a pound before it broke and wheat futures for a time were at a 30-year high of $2.39 a bushel.

Russ Jeter, wholesale market analyst for the Agriculture Department, said in Chicago that wholesalers are marking pork prices up in line with hog advances and that these increases should reach consumers later this week.

"Some retail shops may translate wholesale prices into pork at $1 a pound for center cuts," he said.

A spokesman for one meat packer said that consumers had shown a willingness to pay high for pork; another said hog prices would drop if consumers showed resistance to pork prices.

Stocks in New York sold $1 to $4 lower in a sudden move to unload holdings. Brokers attributed the break to fears that high prices for hogs and other cost-of-living items might bring a new round of higher wage demands or strikes endangering current production rates.

In Washington, Maj. Gen. Philip B. Fleming, head of the Office of Temporary Controls, told the Senate Appropriations Committee he sees danger of sugar going as high as 30 cents a pound.

He said this could well happen unless congress grants some $16,000,000 of funds slashed by the house from OPA and other control agencies.

Fleming also said that a fund-less OPA could cost most families a rent increase of $7.50 a month. He said the house cuts would "for all practical purpose stop rent control and end sugar rationing."

Rent control would be stopped officially December 31 in the bill which the Senate Banking Subcommittee adopted on a 3 to 2 vote. The bill provides that a 10 per cent increase be allowed immediately.

Chairman Buck (R-Del) said the bill is intended to help compensate landlords for increased costs incurred "during the period of controls when taxes and cost of general upkeep have risen."

Senator Bricker (R-Ohio) observed that other prices have climbed without a general rent increase and said property owners are carrying a greater burden. He added that there are indications the housing shortage may be "pretty well over" by the end of the year.

The third members voting "aye" was Senator Cain (R-Wash).

Two Voice Protests

Senator Sparkman (D-Ala), subcommittee member, said it "will not be workable." Senator Taylor (D-Idaho), who with Sparkman voted against the flat rent hike, declared it is not "a fair method of handling the problem."

All the senators' comments were to reporters following a closed meeting.

Buck said the bill probably will be ready for the full committee next Monday. One member predicted privately that this body will be "freely divided" on the issue.

The measure proposes to vest enforcement of ceilings in the courts with all OPA control of rents terminating at the end of 1947. It would freeze rent ceilings as of last Dec. 31, permitting 10 per cent to be added.

It would permit states to take controls by certifying to a federal agency, probably the commerce department, that the legislature had made such provision. Federal records would be made available to them.

The subcommittee proposed to take controls off housing made ready for occupancy after Feb. 1 and to decontrol housing which was not rented between Feb. 1, 1946 and Jan. 31, 1947.

The bill would make violation of the legal rent figure subject to a $500 fine or triple damages, whichever is greater, with the sum being paid to the tenant.

Evictions Under State Law

Evictions would be put under the jurisdiction of state law with the proviso that there must be some reason for eviction other than simply a desire to terminate tenancy.

The bill also would do this:

1. Decontrol hotel accommodations.

2. Take off ceilings where the rent is $225 or more after the 10 per cent increase is added. "People who pay this much need no protection," Buck commented.

3. Allow rent to be increased in event improvements or repairs are made if the tenant agrees to the increase. However, if there is no advance agreement, the tenant could not be evicted for failing to pay the increase.

4. Require the landlord to continue services which were furnished on the rent freeze date.

Sparkman told a reporter the bill would "clutter up the dockets" by "throwing the whole burden on the courts." He favored using the present control machinery, but was agreeable to allowing the states to take over their own controls.

Taylor said the bill is "bad" particularly because of the 10 per cent general rent increase. He declared many landlords don't need it, and for many it would not bring the relief to which they are entitled. He declared increases should be based on merits of each case.

He favored giving the OPA additional personnel to handle hardship cases. Taylor also expressed fear that an increase would throw labor relations out of balance.

Senate Committee Schedules Probe Of Newsprint Shortage

Washington, Feb. 25 (AP)—A Senate small business subcommittee, appointed to study the general newspaper situation, decided today to concentrate at the start on the newsprint shortage.

Senator Capehart (R., Ind.), chairman, announced a revision of the witness list for public hearings which will open March 4. He said the boxcar shortage has aggravated the newsprint shortage so seriously that immediate consideration of the problem is imperative.

First Witnesses

Ed M. Anderson, publisher of the Brevard (N.C.) Transylvania Times and chairman of the National Editorial Association newsprint committee, will be the first witness.

He will be followed by Cranston Williams, general manager of the American Newspaper Publishers Association and a member of that association's newsprint emergency committee.

Capehart said that as the hearings proceed, newsprint producers and consumers will be heard, along with interested Government officials. Later, consideration will be given to general newspaper problems.

Advertising Curtailed

New York, Wednesday, Feb. 26 (AP)—Newspapers in many sections of the country today were forced to curtail advertising because of dwindling newsprint supplies arising in part from a recent Canadian Government order diverting boxcars to grain shipments needed in Europe.

Spokesmen for the Saguenay Industrial Association, at Arvida, Quebec, today were quoted as predicting a shutdown of Canadian mills if adverse weather or other conditions prevented arrival of available boxcars on time. All storage space and warehouses available were filled with newsprint, they said.

Meanwhile, some newspapers described the situation as worse than at any time during the war and others reported that they had warned their readers to expect sharp reductions in features and advertising until a more abundant supply of white paper could be found.

The Publishers Report

Typical of reports from cities on a coast-to-coast survey was New Orleans, which reported the situation "critical," with one paper saying it was printing only two thirds of advertising available."

Other reports included:

DALLAS—One paper reducing advertising 50 per cent.

WOONSOCKET—Cutting all features and advertising sharply.

MIAMI—Taking only two-inch ads daily and four-inch Sunday with exception of department stores with year's account of 25,000 lines. These limited to one column.

BOSTON—One paper described situation as "worse than war years"; three others reported "situation tight but no space slash yet."

NEW HAVEN—Drastic cut in advertising.

SEATTLE—Situation tight; supplies acutely short.

BALTIMORE—One paper said situation "critical"; another "precarious."

J. D. Funk, president of California Publishers Association, said the shortage on the Coast was purely a temporary one caused by a decision of the Maritime Commission to divert ships to other purposes, thereby dropping the entire burden of newsprint transportation onto the railroads.

Newspapers in other areas described the situation as one that needed watching but few cuts in space were anticipated.

Record High In Circulations

Two San Francisco newspapers, the Chronicle and Call Bulletin, reported supplies currently were satisfactory and that no curtailment was planned. The Oakland Tribune, however, said it had curtailed circulation and refused some advertising.

In Omaha, Portland, Kansas City, Des Moines, and Pittsburgh the situation was described as "fair," with supplies short but little restriction in space. One Pittsburgh paper said it knew where newsprint could be had if boxcars were available.

Meanwhile, Editor and Publisher announced that daily circulation for newspapers in the United States jumped to a record high of 50,927,505 in 1946, and described last year as the greatest year for national advertising since the start of the network radio boom. The circulation gains were general in all states and showed an increase of five per cent over 1945, Editor and Publisher said.

Situation In Britain

At Washington, the House, taking cognizance of the newsprint shortage, planned to vote tomorrow on a resolution to create a special committee to look into the paper situation.

The committee, if authorized, will carry on an inquiry into newsprint supply and distribution which was conducted during the last Congress by a special subcommittee of the Interstate Commerce Committee, headed by Representative Boren (D., Okla.).

British newspapers, meanwhile, were warned today that they would probably have to continue on a wartime basis for the remainder of the year, due to the coal shortage. Most British newspapers are limited to four pages.

10 P. C. Rent Rise Approved By Senate Sub-committee

Bill Wipes Out Federal Controls by Dec. 31 and Shifts Remaining Supervision From OPA to Courts.

Washington, Feb. 25 (A. P.).—Legislation permitting a 10 per cent increase in rents and wiping out all Federal rent controls by next December 31 was approved today by a Senate Banking sub-committee.

The bill also would eliminate the Office of Price Administration as administrator of remaining controls and give that authority to the courts except in States where an enforcement system is established. The proposed 10 per cent hike in rents would apply to ceilings in effect last December 31.

Several other major changes in the rental setup were provided in the legislation, which would become effective on the first day of the month following its adoption.

Senator Buck (R.-Del.), chairman of the sub-committee, told reporters that the bill would be ready for consideration by the full committee in about a week. He added that the five-man subcommittee split 3 to 2 on several provisions but did not disclose the actual line-up.

Shortly after the sub-committee acted, Philip B. Fleming, administrator of the Office of Temporary Contracts, told the Senate Appropriations Committee that a House-approved slash in OPA funds "will, for practical purposes, stop rent control and sugar rationing."

"The disastrous effect of such an action can hardly be exaggerated," he said in a statement.

Fleming appeared before the committee to appeal for restoration of $9,000,000 in OPA funds and $1,200,000 in 1947 appropriations for the Civilian Production Administration which the House ordered rescinded a week ago.

Noting that rent control stays in effect under present law until June 30 and that the President has urged further extension, Fleming told the Senators that the House apparently acted without "full realization of the implications to veterans, wage earners, the industry of our country and to the Federal Government itself."

Aside from killing rent and sugar controls, he said the House action would cause the Government to lose "millions of dollars" in subsidy payments which are being saved as a result of audits by the OPA accounting staff. Savings have already exceeded $19,000,000, he said.

Furthermore, he said, it would cost the Government $75,000,000 in claims to be made against price violators. He explained that the claims can not be perfected unless funds for the work are available.

Many Sweeping Changes.

Buck gave this outline of the provisions in the rent bill which his group approved:

1. Permission to increase rents 10 per cent over the ceilings of last December 31.

2. Decontrol of new housing and accommodations which were not rented between February 1, 1946, and January 31, 1947.

3. Lift controls on all hotel accommodations including trailer camps.

4. Remove ceilings on rents above $225 a month after application of the 10 per cent increase. Buck had urged this provision, saying people who can afford to pay that amount, need no protection.

5. Allow reasonably increased rent by agreement between landlord and tenant for certain improvements.

6. To continue rent control but without the help of the OPA, ending Federal supervision next December 31.

7. Leave enforcement to the Courts, permitting the tenant to go into any court with his grievance. Recovery would be fixed at $500 or triple damages, whichever was greater.

8. Allow the States to apply to a Federal agency not yet designated to take over controls.

9. Transfer of rent records and files to the Department of Commerce, where they would be made accessible to the courts, tenants or landlords.

10. Make the bill effective the first day of the first month after its adoption.

11. Exempt the District of Columbia from the provisions of the bill. This area has its own rent control law.

12. To require continuance of present services for which the tenant was paying last December 31.

TAFT PREDICTS BIG ARMY-NAVY SLASH IN '48

Sees $7,500,000,000 Top —Senate Limits Debate on Budget Ceiling

Washington, Feb. 25—(AP)—Senator Taft (R-Ohio), put the Army and Navy on notice today that while they may escape severe budget cuts this year the next Congress session very likely will trim their combined funds to $7,500,000,000.

As the Senate marked time before resuming limited debate tomorrow on a Government spending ceiling goal, Taft tol da reporter he believes the armed services ought to begin now to plan to taper off costs to a peacetime level.

Taft, who heads the Senate Republican Policy Committee, said he regards $7,500,000,000 as the top limit Congress is likely to provide for military needs in the year beginning July 1, 1948.

That compares with $11,200,000,000 President Truman asked for the services in the $37,500,000,000 Government budget he recommended for the year beginning next July 1.

Barkley Fears Service Cuts

Senator Barkley of Kentucky, the Democratic leader, told the Senate yesterday the $6,000,000,000 economy pledge of the House contemplates taking $2,250,000,000 away from the armed forces.

Barkley and Senators Pepper (D-Fla.), and O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.), chided Chairman Bridges (R-N.H.), of the Senate Appropriations Committee about Bridges' refusal to disclose where slashes would be made.

Pepper said he understood the $6,000,000,000 economy backers planned to reduce Agriculture Department expenditures from a proposed $947,000,000 to $553,000,000, wiping out a $75,000,000 fund for school lunches.

Sacrificing children's luncheons is no way to save, he declared.

Bridges said he personally contemplates no cut in the school lunch program, but O'Mahoney said that had been mentioned to the Senate-House Budget Committee as one of the places where reductions would be made.

Debate Limited

Resumption of debate tomorrow will be under a limitation of 20 minutes for each senator on any motion, amendment or on the ceiling resolutions itself. The Senate yesterday shouted down attempts by Pepper and Senator Murray (D-Mont.), to put off all action until April.

Back on the House side, Republican members of the Ways and Means Committee announced that hearings on a bill by Chairman Knutson (R-Minn.), to cut income taxes 20 per cent will begin as soon as the budget fight is resolved.

The tax-trimming sessions originally had been set for last week, but were delayed pending the outcome of the spending controversy.

Chairman Taber (R-N. Y.), of the House Appropriations Committee lambasted the Commerce Department today as a "haven for homeless economists" and suggested slashing its funds by more than a third.

Naming a specific agency for the first time in connection with his drive to pare $6,000,000,000 out of President Truman's 1948 budget, Taber told a reporter the Commerce Department could stand "a cut of about $100,000,000" in its $261,000,000 spending estimate.

Taber said there were only 13,000 employes in the department in 1939, but the 1948 estimates call for 36,500, "without any corresponding increase in duties."

Taft Tells His Political Likes and Dislikes As 32 Students Query Him at Breakfast

CLEVELAND, Feb. 25 (AP)—Senator Robert A. Taft made some candid answers today as thirty-two representatives of Cleveland's high school newspapers interviewed him at breakfast.

The young people offered some searching questions, and oh only one did the senior Senator from Ohio side-step the query with an "off-the-record" answer. Asked whom he would like to see as chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, in preference to David Lilienthal, Mr. Taft answered:

"I'll tell you, but it's off the record. I don't want to be placed in the position of suggesting someone, because then the President certainly would not care to appoint him."

Senator Taft then named, not for publication, his two choices. One is a high-ranking Army officer, the other a former Senator.

The interview then proceeded something like this:

Q. Senator Langer suggested yesterday that President Truman handle negotiations with Russia directly. Do you agree?

A. I would think not, except in the most extraordinary circumstances. But, as a Frenchman said "generalizations are never true, not even this one."

Q. Do you approve of socialized medicine?

A. I am opposed. Such matters should be left to the States, with Federal assistance and stimulus.

Q. Whom would you support for the Republican Presidential nomination if you did not run?

A. No intelligent politician (Taft laughed heartily at this point) would decide whom he was for now. A lot can happen next year.

Q. How can teachers' salaries be raised?

A. The Legislature must work that out. Ohio has at present a large surplus in the treasury. The cost of living has risen 50 per cent. Wages are up 100 per cent. If wages rise taxes should rise, too.

Q. Should the United States open its quotas and allow displaced persons to come here?

A. I am not decided.

Q. Are you opposed to any New Dealer appointed by President Truman?

A. Yes. I oppose anyone in the inside crowd for an administrative position. I do not oppose such a man as a member of the Presidential Cabinet, but for a board like the National Labor Relations Board I would be opposed. After all, I spent eight years fighting New Deal-ism.

That wound up the questioning.

The high school writers are organized as the Hi-News Correspondents Corps, a group under sponsorship of The Cleveland News, which arranged the interview.

Chamber Supports U. N. Trade Group

But Urges U. S. to Defend Private Enterprise

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 (AP).—The United States Chamber of Commerce urged today that the charter of the International Trade Organization include "most positive declarations in behalf of the maintenance of private initiative and enterprise in world commerce."

The purpose of the I. T. O., which is being formed under the United Nations, is to eliminate economic dislocations and trade barriers.

The chamber "fully supports the objective," Vice-President Wilbert Ward of New York, who is also vice-president of the National City Bank, told the State Department's executive committee on foreign policy in a statement prepared for a hearing today.

But he said American negotiators helping to draft the I. T. O. charter "should oppose any activities by international organizations which would preclude our freedom of action with regard to domestic policies."

Speaking for the chamber's foreign commerce committee, Mr. Ward added:

"The chamber regards the International Trade Organization as a possible force for great good in world commerce. . . . Its formation is a logical step in the development of a peaceful world."

War Communications Board

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 (AP).—The Board of War Communications went out of business today, by executive order of President Truman. The board came into being soon after Pearl Harbor with full power over all forms of American communications.

GEN. SMITH APPOINTED CIVIL AIR PATROL CHIEF

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25—(AP) Brig. Gen. Frederick H. Smith, chief of staff of the Strategic Air command, was appointed national commander of the Civil War Patrol today. He fills a vacancy caused by the recent death of Col. Earl E. Johnson, CAP commander, in a Cleveland air crash.

Smith, whose appointment was announced by Gen. Carl Spaatz, Army Air Forces commander, is stationed at Andrews Field, Md., headquarters of the Strategic Air command. He served most of the war with the Fifth Air Force in the Pacific.

In announcing the apointment, Spaatz said the CAP performed vital service during the war and "its importance as a key part of the aviation defense structure in peacetime cannot be overemphasized."

Yugoslav Envoy Confers With Under-Secretary Acheson

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 (AP)—Yugoslavia's Ambassador, Sava N. Kosanovitch, said after a conference today with Under-Secretary of State Dean Acheson that they discussed lectures given in this country by Richard C. Patterson, United States Ambassador to Yugoslavia.

Mr. Patterson, on his leave from his Belgrade post, has given "off the record" lectures on Yugoslavia's Marshal Tito on a tour of several cities.

Ambassador Kosanovitch declined to say whether he had complained to the State Department but told reporters that "he could not deny" he had discussed the subject.

Royal Navy Cadets To Visit Academy

Washington, Feb. 25 (AP)—British Royal Naval cadets will meet Uncle Sam's future admirals next month in their first visit to the Naval Academy at Annapolis, it was announced today.

The cadets—180 strong—will arrive aboard H.M.S. Frobisher, a British light cruiser, which will anchor in Annapolis Roads on March 5.

Rear Admiral James L. Holloway, Jr., academy superintendent, said the invitation was extended last December by Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz to the British Admiralty.

The cruiser will also visit the ports of Trinidad, St. Lucia, Montega Bay and Kingston in the West Indies.

British midshipmen, equivalent to newly graduated American ensigns, have previously visited the academy.

White House Silent on Byrnes

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 (AP).—The White House declined to comment today on an editorial suggestion by "The Washington Post" that former Secretary of State James F. Byrnes be appointed Ambassador to London.

JUSTICE DEPT. OK'S SALE OF PIPELINES

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 — (AP) The War Assets Administration announced today the Justice Department has approved sale of the Big Inch and Little Inch pipelines to the Texas Eastern Transmission Corporation for $143,127,000.

WAA Administrator Robert M. Littlejohn immediately signed a formal letter of intent which means that WAA had accepted the company's cash proposal to buy the lines for the movement of natural gas to the eastern seaboard.

The Texas Eastern Company, however, still must obtain a certificate of public convenience and necessity from the Federal Power Commission before it can begin deliveries. Senator Myers (D-Pa) has said the sale is "not final at all" and has asked a thorough investigation by FPC before gas is moved east of the Alleghenies.

The line is now in limited operation by the Tennessee Gas and Transmission Company, carrying natural gas as far as the Pittsburgh area. Pennsylvania interests have opposed the movement of natural gas into the New York-Philadelphia area where it would compete with production of anthracite coal in Pennsylvania.

Approval by the Justice Department is required on all large real property sales of government surplus, to assure that they do not contravene anti-trust laws.

Texas Eastern must be ready in nine months to put up the full purchase price. This is the meaning of "cash" under the terms of the disposal contract.

Earle Quits Anti-Communist Unit

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 (AP)—The American Anti-Communist Association said today that George H. Earle, former Governor of Pennsylvania and once Ambassador to Bulgaria, had resigned as its national president. Representative Alvin E. O'Konski, Republican, of Wisconsin, was unanimously elected as his successor by the board of directors. They said Mr. Earle resigned because "pressure of other duties prevented him from giving time necessary" to the office.

W. N. McNair Plans To Run For President

Pittsburgh, Feb. 25 (AP)—William N. McNair, exponent of the single-tax theory who served three turbulent years as mayor of Pittsburgh (1934-36), tonight announced himself a candidate for the Democratic nomination for President.

The 66-year-old politician said his platform would be:

"1. Go back to the gold standard.

"2. Absolutely free trade.

"3. Unrestricted immigration.

"4. The Government should be restricted to living on its own earnings."

Bar Urges Removal Of U.N. Court Curb

'Domesticity' Restriction Is Opposed by Delegates

CHICAGO, Feb. 25 (AP).—The American Bar Association overrode its governors' recommendation today and called upon the government to remove the "domesticity" restriction imposed on the jurisdiction of the United Nations International Court of Justice.

The A. B. A. House of Delegates voted 85 to 45 to approve a resolution introduced by Frederic M. Miller, former Chief Justice of the Iowa Supreme Court, who declared that without a world court "there will never be another means of determining disputes except by war."

Mr. Miller's resolution asked the Senate and Federal government to withdraw from its declaration to the international court a resolution which would determine whether a particular dispute should be excluded from the court's jurisdiction because of its connection with matters essentially within the domestic jurisdiction of the parties to the dispute.

Earlier, the House of Delegates reaffirmed its support of United Nation's activities.

TROOPSHIP ARRIVALS

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

No troop ships are due to arrive today in United States ports.

The General Muir, originally scheduled to dock at New York Wednesday, has been delayed by storms at sea, and its arrival time is uncertain.

Four ships carrying service personnel arrived yesterday in the United States, three at New York and one at San Francisco.

The New York arrivals: The General Sturgis with 1,000 troops, the Zebulon Vance with 229 troops and the Joseph V. Connolly with 12 troops, all from Bremerhaven.

The Marine Devil, with 1,250 army and one navy personnel in addition to 31 civilians, docked at San Francisco from Korea.

LONDON,FEB.25-(AP)-SIR ROBERT RENNICK, HEAD OF THE LARGEST ELECTRIC POWER COMPANY IN GREAT BRITAIN, CHARGED TODAY THAT THE LABOR GOVERNMENT'S "LACK OF FORESIGHT AND INCOMPETENCE" CAUSED THE INDUSTRIAL BLACKOUT WHICH WAS BEING LIFTED BY DEGREES AS COAL STOCKS SLOWLY INCREASED.

"NOTHING LESS THAN THE DRIVE AND ENERGY OF SOMEONE LIKE LORD BEAVERBROOK WILL DO, INCONVENIENT THOUGH THE METHODS OF SUCH INDIVIDUALS MAY BE TO THE LAGGARD AND THE BUREAUCRAT."

BEAVERBROOK, THE CANADIAN-BORN PUBLISHER, WAS CREDITED WITH SPARKING THE BRITISH AVIATION COMEBACK AFTER THE DUNKERQUE DISASTER AS MINISTER OF AIRCRAFT PRODUCTION IN PRIME MINISTER CHURCHILL'S WARTIME GOVERNMENT.

WITH 1,000,000 OR THE 5,000,000 JOBLESS BACK ON PARTIAL WORK SCHEDULES IN THE INDUSTRIAL MIDLANDS, PRIMER MINISTER ATTLEE SAID POWER WOULD BE RESTORED NEXT MONDAY IN FACTORIES IN MANCHESTER AND THE NORTHWEST TEXTILE REGION. LONDON AND THE SOUTHEAST MUST AWAIT MORE COAL, HE SAID.

THE FUEL SHORTAGE PROMPTED ARRANGEMENTS TO CUT IN HALF THE CANDY RATION FOR MARCH BECAUSE OF CURTAILED SUGAR PRODUCTION. BRITONS WILL BE ALLOWED TWO OUNCES A WEEK DURING MARCH, INSTEAD OF FOUR.

LONDON, FEB.25-(AP)-BRITAIN HAS SENT AN "INTERIM REPLY" TO A U.S.STATE DEPARTMENT REQUEST FOR CLARIFICATION OF HER DECISION TO REFER THE PALESTINE CASE TO THE UNITED NATIONS, A FOREIGN OFFICE SPOKESMAN SAID TODAY. DETAILS WERE NOT MADE PUBLIC.
QQ10AES

IN A STEP-BY-STEP DESCRIPTION OF RECENT ATTEMPTS TO SOLVE THE PROBLEM, HE SAID BRITAIN HAD SOUGHT A NEGOTIATED SETTLEMENT RATHER THAN ONE IMPOSED BY FORCE WHICH "MIGHT PRODUCE WIDE DIFFICULTIES IN THE MIDDLE EAST AND START US ON THE ROAD WHICH MAY WELL LEAD, IN ANOTHER QUARTER OF A CENTRY, TO ANOTHER WAR."

THE 1939 WHITE PAPER LIMITING JEWISH IMMIGRATION AND ESTABLISHING LAND TRANSFER RESTRICTIONS "WAS TAKEN BY ALL THE ARAB STATES AS AN UNDERTAKING BY THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT," HE SAID.

"THE PARTY COMING INTO POWER DOES NOT JUST TEAR UP EXISTING UNDERTAKINGS, BUT SEEKS TO CHANGE THEM BY NEGOTIATIONS AND SUBSTITUTING ANOTHER POLICY," HE ADDED.

A SPOKESMAN AT PRIME MINISTER ATTLEE'S RESIDENCE DECLARED THE STATEMENT WAS "REGRETTABLE" AND WOULD "PREJUDICE" A PALESTINE (well) SETTLEMENT. THE SPOKESMAN SAID ATTLEE HAD ASKED THE PRESIDENT TO DELAY ISSUING THE STATEMENT BUT "THIS REQUEST WAS NOT COMPLIED WITH."

(GOVERNOR DEWEY IN A SPEECH IN NEW YORK ON OCT.6 SAID THE INFLUX OF JEWS TO PALESTINE "MUST BE AN IMMIGRATION NOT OF 100,000 BUT OF SEVERAL HUNDREDS OF THOUSANDS.")

QQ402PES

THE FOREIGN SECRETARY DECLARED THAT JEWS WHO HAD "GROWN UP IN THE BRITISH CUSTOM" HAD BEEN WILLING TO RESUME NEGOTIATIONS ON THE PALESTINE QUESTION, BUT THAT THE JEWISH AGENCY, "LARGELY DOMINATED FROM NEW YORK, WOULD NOT COME IN."

THE ARABS, HE SAID, ASK "WHY SHOULD AN EXTERNAL AGENCY, LARGELY FINANCED FROM AMERICA, DETERMINE HOW MANY PEOPLE SHALL COME INTO PALESTINE AND INTERFERE WITH THE COUNTRY OF THE ARABS WHO HAVE BEEN THERE FOR 2,000 YEARS?"

ANSWERING OPPOSITION DEMANDS THAT BRITAIN TAKE THE PROBLEM TO THE U.N. BEFORE THE REGULAR SEPTEMBER SESSION OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY, BEVIN SAID HE WAS CONSULTING WITH SIR ALEXANDER CADOGAN, BRITAIN'S SECURITY COUNCIL REPRESENTATIVE, "TO SEE WHETHER THERE IS ANY PROCESS BY WHICH WE COULD GET IT CONSIDERED EARLIER." (well)

THE FOREIGN MINISTER SHOWED NO SIGN OF PHYSICAL ILLNESS OR FATIGUE DURING HIS HOUR AND A QUARTER SPEECH, OPENING THE PALESTINE DEBATE. Insert (NL-Bevin-Palestine) after 20th Graf XXX Cheers

THE FOREIGN SECRETARY SAID "THERE IS A CHANCE OF A SETTLEMENT YET, IF PEOPLE WILL COME OFF THEIR ARBITRARY POSITION, WITHOUT GOING TO THE UNITED NATIONS." ADD LON (DAY-BEVIN-PALESTINE) XXX SPIKED 1947.

"I AM STILL OPEN TO TRY," HE DECLARED. BUT HE ADDED:

"IF IT WAS ONLY A QUESTION OF ALLEVIATING EUROPE OF 100,000 JEWS, I BELIEVE A SETTLEMENT COULD BE FOUND XXX. UNFORTUNATELY, THAT IS NOT THE POSITION. FROM THE ZIONIST POINT OF VIEW, 100,000 IS ONLY A BEGINNING. THE JEWISH AGENCY TALKS IN TERMS OF MILLIONS."

EARLIER, AFTER SAYING HE HAD PERSUADED THE ARABS OF PALESTINE TO ACCEPT JEWISH IMMIGRANTS AT THE RATE OF 18,000 A YEAR SINCE 1945, BEVIN SAID:

"WE MIGHT HAVE BEEN ABLE TO HAVE DONE MORE FOR THE JEWS AND INCREASED THIS RATE AT THAT TIME (1945) IF THE BITTERNESS OF FEELING HAD NOT BEEN INCREASED BY AMERICAN PRESSURE FOR THE IMMEDIATE DECISION ON 100,000.".

INTERRUPTED BY CHEERS, HE SAID HE HAD "DONE ALL I CAN TO PROMOTE THE BEST POSSIBLE RELATIONS WITH AMERICA AS WITH OTHER COUNTRIES," ADDING:

"BUT I SHOULD HAVE BEEN HAPPY IF THEY HAD REMEMBER THAT WE WERE THE MANDATORY POWER AND WE WERE CARRYING THE RESPONSIBILITY."

AT ANOTHER POINT HE SAID JEWS "WHO HAD BEEN TRAINED IN ENGLAND AND HAD GROWN UP IN THE BRITISH CUSTOM" WERE WILLING TO RESUME NEGOTIATIONS WITH ARAB AND BRITISH REPRESENTATIVES.

"BUT", HE SAID, "THE JEWISH AGENCY, LARGELY DOMINATED FROM NEW YORK, WOULD NOT COME IN."

BEVIN SAID A NATIONAL HOME FOR THE JEWS "IS NOT THE ISSUE NOW."

"ALL THAT IS OVER," HE SAID. "THE ISSUE WHICH THE UNITED NATIONS MUST CONSIDER AND DECIDE IS THIS:

"1. SHALL THE CLAIM OF THE JEWS BE ADMITTED THAT PALESTINE IS TO BE A JEWISH STATE; OR

"2. SHALL THE CLAIM OF THE ARABS BE ADMITTED THAT IT IS TO BE AN ARAB STATE WITH SAFEGUARDS FOR THE JEWS, UNDER THE DECISION FOR A NATIONAL HOME, OR

"3. SHALL IT BE A PALESTINIAN STATE IN WHICH THE INTERESTS OF BOTH COMMUNITIES ARE AS CAREFULLY BALANCED AND PROTECTED AS POSSIBLE?"

THUS APPARENTLY RULING OUT THE MUCH-DISCUSSED POSSIBILITY OF DIVIDING PALESTINE INTO SEPARATE ARAB AND JEWISH STATES, BEVIN SAID:

"WE AS THE MANDATORY POWER CANNOT SOLVE THE PROBLEM UNTIL THE UNITED NATIONS HAS RECOMMENDED WHICH OF THESE THREE ALTERNATIVES IS TO FORM THE BASIS OF THE FUTURE ORGANIZATION OF PALESTINE."

AFTER STUDYING MAPS, BEVIN SAID, HE CONCLUDED THAT "YOU CANNOT MAKE TWO VIABLE STATES OF PALESTINE--YOU CAN MAKE ONE XXX AND TRANSFER THE REST TO ANOTHER ARAB STATE."

A VIABLE STATE MEANS ONE CAPABLE OF SURVIVING AS A NATION.

THE FOREIGN SECRETARY GAVE NO INDICATION DURING HIS 75-MINUTE SPEECH WHEN BRITAIN WOULD SURRENDER ITS LEAGUE OF NATIONS MANDATE, ALTHOUGH HE DECLARED THAT "THE MANDATORY POWER CANNOT GO ON FOREVER" AND THAT PALESTINE MUST BECOME INDEPENDENT.

HE EXPLAINED AT THE OUTSET WHY BRITAIN REFUSED TO IMPOSE A SETTLEMENT BY FORCE OF ARMS.

"FORCE APPLIED TO THIS PROBLEM WOULD NOT PRODUCE A FINAL SOLUTION AND MIGHT PRODUCE WIDE DIFFICULTIES IN THE MIDDLE EAST AND START US ON THE ROAD WHICH MAY WELL LEAD, IN ANOTHER QUARTER OF A CENTURY, TO ANOTHER WAR," HE SAID. #

JERUSALEM, FEB 25-(AP)-ELIAHU DOBKIN, OF THE JEWISH AGENCY EXECUTIVE, ANNOUNCED TODAY THAT THE AGENCY AND THE AMERICAN JEWISH "JOINT DISTRIBUTION COMMITTEE" HAD CONCLUDED AN AGREEMENT WHICH ENVISAGES INCREASED AID FOR ADULTS AND CHILDREN IN JEWISH DISPLACED PERSONS CAMPS IN CENTRAL EUROPE.

THE PLAN WOULD PROVIDE VOCATIONAL OCCUPATIONS FOR SOME 15,000 JEWS IN THE U.S. ZONE, SPARING THEM THE NECESSITY OF WORKING TOGETHER WITH GERMANS OR FOR GERMAN ENTERPRISES, DOBKIN SAID. THE JEWS INVOLVED WOULD WORK IN SPECIAL WORKSHOPS, OR FOR SOME RELIEF ORGANIZATION.

THE PROJECT, WHICH HAS THE APPROVAL OF U.S. MILITARY AUTHORITIES, ALSO PROPOSES THAT INSTEAD OF RECEIVING GERMAN MONEY THE D.P'S BE PAID IN FOOD, TOOLS, AND ADDITIONAL MACHINERY FOR MANUAL WORK, DOBKIN DECLARED. FOLO LON (BEVIN-PALESTINE)

HE SAID IT HAD ALSO BEEN DECIDED THAT 200 JEWISH TEACHERS WOULD BE SENT FROM PALESTINE TO A NUMBER OF D.P. CAMPS IN GERMANY, AUSTRIA AND ITALY, WHERE THEY WOULD SELECT AND INSTRUCT 2,000 POTENTIAL TEACHERS FOR JEWISH BOYS AND GIRLS IN THE AMERICAN ZONE.

DOBKIN SAID THERE WERE NOW ABOUT 180,000 JEWISH CHILDREN IN EUROPE --NOT COUNTING THOSE LIVING IN BRITAIN AND THE SOVIET UNION. HALF OF THEM, HE SAID, HAVE HAD NO SCHOOLING, WHILE MOST OF THE OTHERS HAVE HAD INSUFFICIENT EDUCATION.

THE COST OF CARRYING OUT THE TEACHING PROGRAM WILL BE PAID BY "JOINT DISTRIBUTION," DOBKIN SAID.

WASHINGTON, FEB 25-(AP)-REP.EMANUEL CELLER, NEW YORK DEMOCRAT, TONIGHT BRANDED AS "A DAMNABLE LIE" BRITISH FOREIGN MINISTER BEVIN'S STATEMENT THAT THE UNITED STATES HAD "IRRESPONSIBLY" INTERFERED IN PALESTINE AFFAIRS.

COMMENTING ON BEVIN'S REVIEW OF THE PALESTINE SITUATION IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS TODAY, CELLER SAID "BEVIN IS SIMPLY SEEKING EXCUSE FOR HIS DAMNABLE CONDUCT AND FOR THE CONTINUANCE OF THE NEFARIOUS MACDONALD WHITE PAPER OF 1939 WHICH SLAMMED THE GATES OF PALESTINE AGAINST THE DRIVEN JEW."

THE NEW YORK CONGRESSMAN SAID IN A STATEMENT THE SPEECH CONTAINED "A GRATUITOUS INSULT TO FORMER SECRETARY OF STATE BYRNES AND PRESIDENT TRUMAN." HE ADDED:

"HE FORGETS THAT GREAT BRITAIN INVITED THE UNITED STATES TO JOIN AN ANGLO-AMERICAN COMMITTEE OF INQUIRY ON PALESTINE TO SOLVE THE VEXATIOUS PALESTINE PROBLEM.

"BEVIN PERSONALLY TOLD THE MEMBERS OF THAT COMMITTEE THAT IF THEIR RECOMMENDATIONS WERE UNANIMOUS HE WOULD IMPLEMENT THEM AT ONCE WITH ACTION.

"HE REPUDIATED THEIR RECOMMENDATIONS INCLUDING THE IMMEDIATE ADMISSION OF 100,000 DISPLACED JEWS INTO PALESTINE WHICH HAD BEEN THE RECOMMENDATION OF PRESIDENT TRUMAN."

CELLER SAID BEVIN'S ACTION IN TURNING THE ENTIRE MATTER OVER TO THE UNITED NATIONS "IS ANOTHER DODGE AND STALL FOR TIME."

"IT SHALL BE NECESSARY FOR THE UNITED STATES TO USE ITS GREAT PRESTIGE AND POWER TO SEE TO IT THAT THE JEW GETS A SQUARE DEAL IN PALESTINE," HE ADDED. #

COMMENTING IN A STATEMENT ON BEVIN'S CHARGE THAT PRESIDENT TRUMAN WRECKED NEGOTIATIONS FOR A PEACEFUL SETTLEMENT OF THE PALESTINE PROBLEM, SHARESIN, FORMER PHILADELPHIA CITY SOLICITOR, SAID:

"IN DECEMBER, 1945, FORMER SENATOR GUY M.GILLETTE OF IOWA, JUDGE WILLIAM S.BENNETT OF NEW YORK CITY OF THE SONS OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION, PROF. RUSSIA SUPPORTED YUGOSLAVIA'S DEMAND, AND THE OTHER THREE POWERS, BRITAIN, FRANCE AND THE UNITED STATES OPPOSED IT. THE WESTERN NATIONS SOUGHT A DEFINITION OF GERMAN ASSETS WHICH WOULD RULE OUT FORMER AUSTRIAN PROPERTY SEIZED BY THE GERMANS. THE RUSSIANS SOUGHT A LOOSE DEFINITION.

THERE WERE OTHER DISAGREEMENTS, BUT FEW WERE CONSIDERED VITAL, AND WESTERN DIPLOMATS SAID PRIVATELY THEY BELIEVED AGREEMENTS ON THESE SECTIONS COULD BE REACHED AT MOSCOW WITHOUT "TOO MUCH TROUBLE."

THE DEPUTIES, DESPITE A WIDE LACK OF ACCORD, EXPRESSED THE VIEW THAT THEY HAD ACCOMPLISHED MUCH, INCLUDING THE HEARING OF THE VIEWS OF AT LEAST 13 OF THE ALLIES. THERE WAS AN ATMOSPHERE OF GOOD FELLOWSHIP WHEN THE DEPUTIES AND NEGOTIATORS GOT TOGETHER TONIGHT FOR A DINNER.

AN AUSTRALIAN COMMUNICATION SENT IN THE LAST HOUR OF THE SESSION BY J.A.BEASLEY, AUSTRALIAN HIGH COMMISSIONER, DECLARED THAT THE SMALL ALLIES' CONTRIBUTIONS HAD BEEN SO GREAT THAT VICTORY MIGHT HAVE BEEN IMPOSSIBLE WITHOUT THEM. THE LETTER EXPRESSED "DISMAY" THAT SO LITTLE ATTENTION HAD BEEN GIVEN TO GHE VIEWS OF HERSELF AND THE SMALLER POWERS.

THE LETTER APPARENTLY ROUSED THE ANGER OF GOUSEV WHO WAS QUOTED BY AMERICAN SOURCES AS DECLARING "WE WASTED TOO MUCH TIME ON THE QUESTION OF CONSULTATION WITH ALLIED GOVERNMENTS. MANY SEEM TO HAVE AN IMPRESSION THAT THEY KNOW MORE ABOUT THE GERMAN PROBLEM THAN WE DO. IT IS EASY TO SEE THAT THE EXISTING MACHINERY OF THE COUNCIL OF FOREIGN MINISTERS PROVIDES ADEQUATE SCOPE FOR CONSULTATION."

DY631PES

THE WESTERN NATIONS INSIST THAT THE SMALLER ALLIED NATIONS HAVE A FULL VOICE IN COMMITTEE WORK ON THE TREATY, BUT RUSSIA CONTENDS THEIR PARTICIPATION SHOULD BE LIMITED.

THERE WERE MANY OTHER COMPLEX ISSUES, HOWEVER, AND ONE COMPETENT SOURCE SAID THAT SO INTRICATE WERE MANY OF THESE PROBLEMS THAT NO FOUR MEN, WORKING UNDER THE BEST POSSIBLE CONDITIONS, COULD HOPE TO REACH FULL AGREEMENT ON ALL OF THEM IN A FEW WEEKS.

"THERE HAS BEEN TOO MUCH BALLYHOO ABOUT THE MOSCOW CONFERENCE," HE DECLARED. "THE WORLD HAS BEEN LED TO EXPECT TOO MUCH."

THE ALLIED CONTROL AUTHORITY'S COORDINATING COMMITTEE IN BERLIN COMPLETED LAST NIGHT A REPORT SHARPLY DELINEATING MANY OF THE DISAGREEMENTS IN THE FOUR-POWER ADMINISTRATION OF GERMANY. THE REPORT IS FOR SUBMISSION TO THE FOREIGN MINISTERS IN MOSCOW.

IT CONTAINS FEW AGREEMENTS AND MANY INDIVIDUAL VIEWPOINTS. IN SOME RESPECTS IT IS INCOMPLETE. THE RUSSIANS, FOR INSTANCE, SAID THEY WOULD FURNISH DATA ON THE REMOVAL OF GERMAN EQUIPMENT FOR REPARATIONS TO THE FOREIGN MINISTERS THEMSELVES. THEY TOOK THE SAME STAND ON THE NUMBER OF GERMAN PRISONERS OF WAR THEY NOW HOLD AND THE VALUE OF GERMAN MARKS THEY HAVE PRINTED.

SOME OF THE PRINCIPAL DIFFERENCES CONCERNED REPARATIONS,

DENAZIFICATION AND THE LEVEL OF INDUSTRIAL PRODUCTION.

THE SOVIET MAGAZINE NEW TIMES, COMMENTING ON THE APPROACHING MOSCOW CONFERENCE, SAID BRITAIN'S IMMEDIATE AIM IN NEGOTIATING A BRITISH-FRENCH ALLIANCE WAS "TO HAVE FRANCE A SUBMISSIVE ALLY" DURING THAT SESSION. THE ARTICLE, BROADCAST BY MOSCOW RADIO, SAID SUCH A BLOC WOULD BE BOTH ANTI-RUSSIAN AND ANTI-AMERICAN.

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., FEB.25-(AP)-~~THE SUGGESTED~~ SECURITY COUNCIL SUBCOMMITTEE TO INVESTIGATE BRITISH MINE-LAYING CHARGES AGAINST ALBANIA WOULD BE THE THIRD SPECIAL BODY OF INQUIRY SET UP IN THE COUNCIL'S ONE-YEAR HISTORY.

OF THE PREVIOUS GROUPS, THE REPORT OF THE FIRST WAS KILLED BY A RUSSIAN VETO AND THE SECOND STILL IS FUNCTIONING.

THE SUB-COMMITTEE ON SPAIN, SET UP LAST SPRING, SPENT A MONTH COMPILING INFORMATION ABOUT THE FRANCO REGIME FROM MEMBER GOVERNMENTS AND FROM PERSONAL TESTIMONY BY JOSE GIRAL, THEN PREMIER OF THE SPANISH REPUBLICAN LEADERSHIP. FRANCE, POLAND, AUSTRALIA, CHINA AND BRAZIL HAD SEATS ON THE BODY.

THE REPORT CONTAINED A MORAL CONDEMNATION OF THE FRANCO REGIME AND CALLED UPON THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY TO TAKE UP THE CASE SHOULD FRANCO REFUSE TO STEP DOWN.

IN BITTER COUNCIL DEBATE, SOVIET DELEGATE ANDREI A.GROMYKO VETOED THE REPORT AFTER ARGUING THAT IT WAS TOO WEAK.

HOWEVER, THE ASSEMBLY DID TAKE UP THE QUESTION FOUR MONTHS LATER AND EVENTUALLY ADOPTED A RESOLUTION RECOMMENDING THAT ALL MEMBER STATES WITHDRAW AMBASSADORS AND MINISTERS FROM MADRID.

THE SECOND COMMISSION WAS ORGANIZED LAST MONTH TO LOOK INTO COMPLAINTS OF A SERIES OF INCIDENTS ON GREECE'S NORTHERN BORDERS. THIS GROUP INCLUDED REPRESENTATIVES OF ALL COUNCIL MEMBERS--RUSSIA, UNITED STATES, GREAT BRITAIN, FRANCE, CHINA, AUSTRALIA, POLAND, BELGIUM, SYRIA, BRAZIL AND COLOMBIA.

AFTER HOLDING PRELIMINARY HEARINGS IN ATHENS TO LISTEN TO REPRESENTATIVES OF GREECE, ALBANIA, YUGOSLAVIA AND BULGARIA, THE COMMISSION MADE SEVERAL SHORT SIDE TRIPS AND THEN MOVED TO SALONIKA. EVENTUALLY, THE MEMBERS ARE SCHEDULED TO VISIT THE BORDER AREAS TO LOOK AT FIRST HAND INTO CHARGES BY GREECE THAT HER NORTHERN NEIGHBORS ARE FOMENTING TROUBLE AND COUNTER-COMPLAINTS BY ALBANIA, YUGOSLAVIA AND BULGARIA THAT THE ATHENS GOVERNMENT IS RESPONSIBLE FOR THE UNREST.

THE NEWLY PROPOSED SUBCOMMITTEE WOULD NOT BE AUTHORIZED TO MAKE AN ON-THE-SCENE INQUIRY UNDER TERMS LAID DOWN BY AUSTRALIA IN SUGGESTING IT. ITS THREE MEMBERS WOULD COLLECT INFORMATION FROM GREAT BRITAIN AND ALBANIA AND THEN REPORT BACK TO THE COUNCIL IN APPROXIMATELY ONE WEEK.

RB610AES

AMERICAN SOURCES SAID THE U.S. DELEGATION WAS ANXIOUS TO "GET ON THE RECORD" AS MANY VIEWS AS POSSIBLE IN AN EFFORT TO NARROW THE FIELD OF DISAGREEMENT.

THE PRINCIPAL POINT OF DISAGREEMENT BETWEEN THE RUSSIANS AND THE AMERICANS IS ON THE USE OF THE VETO IN THE CONTROL PLAN. THE U.S. INSISTS THAT THE VETO MUST NOT BE USED. THE RUSSIANS INSIST THAT THE CONTROL PLAN MUST COME UNDER THE JURISDICTION OF THE SECURITY COUNCIL WHERE THE VETO CAN BE USED IN CASE THERE ARE VIOLATIONS.

BOTH THE BRITISH AND THE AMERICANS ARE ANXIOUS THAT SOME MOVE BE MADE IMMEDIATELY WHICH WOULD ENABLE THE ATOMIC ENERGY COMMISSION TO PROCEED WITH ITS WORK.

BRITISH SOURCES, HOWEVER, FEEL THAT IF THE COMMISSION IS INFORMED ON THE PARTS OF THE PLAN ON WHICH THE COUNCIL IS AGREED AND THE PARTS ON WHICH THERE IS DISAGREEMENT, IT CAN AT LEAST DO SOME WORK WHILE TRYING TO IRON OUT THE PARTS ON WHICH THERE IS DISAGREEMENT.

ONE AMERICAN SOURCE SAID THAT THE U.S. DELEGATION WILL ATTEMPT TO GET OTHER MEMBERS OF THE SECURITY COUNCIL TO EXPRESS THEIR VIEWS BEFORE AUSTIN MAKES ANY STATEMENT.

THERE WAS LITTLE DOUBT THAT THE COUNCIL WOULD BE ABLE TO MAKE A DECISION ON THE ISSUE TODAY.

MEANWHILE, THE COUNCIL APPEARED SPLIT ON WHAT TO DO ABOUT BRITAIN'S CHARGES THAT ALBANIA HAS COMMITTED A "CRIME AGAINST HUMANITY" BY SOWING MINES IN CORFU CHANNEL.

BEFORE THE COUNCIL WAS AN AUSTRALIAN PROPOSAL SUGGESTING THAT THE CASE BE REFERRED TO A COMMISSION OF INVESTIGATION. POLAND ALSO SUGGESTED THAT THE CASE BE TURNED OVER TO THE INTERNATIONAL COURT OF JUSTICE FOR A LEGAL OPINION.

THE U.S. LINED UP WITH GREAT BRITAIN ON THE ISSUE WHILE THE SOVIET UNION WENT TO THE DEFENSE OF ALBANIA.

RUSSIAN DELEGATE ANDREI A. GROMYKO YESTERDAY ATTACKED AS "GROUNDLESS" GREAT BRITAIN'S CHARGES AND SAID THAT BRITAIN HAD REFUSED TO SETTLE THE CASE BILATERALLY.

THE COUNCIL, AFTER WRANGLING FOR FOUR HOURS ON THE ISSUE, ADJOURNED THE DISCUSSION UNTIL 3 P.M. (EST) THURSDAY.

OPINIONS EXPRESSED BY MEMBERS OF THE COUNCIL INDICATED THAT A PROPOSAL FOR SENDING THE CASE TO THE INTERNATIONAL COURT OF JUSTICE WOULD BE DEFEATED. AT THE SAME TIME, IT SEEMED LIKELY THAT THE AUSTRALIAN PROPOSAL WOULD RECEIVE A MAJORITY VOTE.

PARIS, FEB.25-(AP)-FACED WITH REPLACING 800,000 MEN FRANCE LOST BECAUSE OF THE WAR, THE GOVERNMENT OF PREMIER PAUL RAMADIER MOVED TODAY TO IMPORT HALF THAT NUMBER FROM ALGIERS, ITALY AND GERMANY AND TO SUPPLY THE REMAINDER FROM GERMAN PRISONER OF WAR CAMPS.

APPROXIMATELY 500,000 FRENCHMEN DIED IN GERMAN CONCENTRATION CAMPS OR WHILE WORKING AT FORCED LABOR, A GOVERNMENT SPOKESMAN SAID. ANOTHER 300,000 WERE KILLED DURING THE WAR.

FRANCE'S CRIPPLED MANPOWER POSITION CAME TO LIGHT IN A SERIES OF NOTES BETWEEN THE FOREIGN OFFICE AND SECRETARY OF STATE GEORGE C. MARSHALL WHEN THE UNITED STATES ASKED THIS COUNTRY TO FREE 740,000 GERMANS CAPTURED BY AMERICAN TROOPS AND TURNED OVER TO FRANCE.

OF THE 740,000 PRISONERS, ABOUT 300,000 ALREADY HAVE DIED, ESCAPED OR BEEN LIBERATED.

"MOST OF THEM ESCAPED," THE SPOKESMAN SAID, ADDING: "IT ISN'T VERY DIFFICULT."

OF THE 440,000 LEFT, FRANCE TOLD THE UNITED STATES SHE WOULD LIBERATE 240,000 WORKING IN MINES AND ON FARMS AND 130,000 WHO ARE NOT WORKING BECAUSE OF ILLNESS BY DEC.31, 1947. THE REMAINDER WILL BE FREED DURING THE FIRST SIX MONTHS OF 1948.

SECRETARY MARSHALL IS ASKING FRANCE TO LIBERATE ALL THE PRISONERS CAPTURED BY AMERICANS BY OCT. 1, 1947.

FRANCE WILL LIBERATE THE 190,000 PRISONERS CAPTURED BY FRENCH SOLDIERS AT THE RATE OF 31,000 MONTHLY, COMPLETING THE TRANSFER BY THE END OF 1948.

RAMADIER'S GOVERNMENT IS PLANNING TO BOLSTER PRIVATE INDUSTRY WITH 45,000 CIVIL SERVANTS. THERE ARE 1,300,000 GOVERNMENT EMPLOYEES IN FRANCE TODAY, COMPARED WITH 700,000 BEFORE THE WAR.

FRANCE ALSO EXPECTS TO IMPORT 200,000 WORKERS FROM ITALY, 85,000 FROM ALGIERS AND 50,000 DISPLACED PERSONS FROM CAMPS IN GERMANY.

A MISSION HAS JUST RETURNED FROM GERMANY AFTER TOURING THE FRENCH OCCUPATION ZONE AND OFFERING GERMAN WORKERS FOOD, RATIONS AND CLOTHES PLUS A SALARY COMPARABLE TO THE FRENCH SCALE OF ANY INDUSTRY THEY MIGHT WANT TO ENTER. IT IS HOPED THAT THIS WILL ADD SEVERAL THOUSAND MORE.

OF ALL THE LOSSES TO FRENCH MANPOWER, THE STRANGEST CASE IS THAT OF 10,000 OR MORE FRENCHMEN WHO, AFTER BEING TAKEN TO GERMANY DURING THE WAR YEARS, NOW REFUSE TO RETURN. WELL SITUATED ON FARMS OR IN VILLAGES AND MOST OF THEM CONTENT WITH GERMAN FAMILIES AND FRIENDS, THEY JUST DID NOT COME HOME WHEN THE TIDES OF WAR CHANGED.

PRECEDE ATHENS GREEK (400)
BY L.S.CHAKALES

SALONIKA, GREECE, FEB.25-(AP)-TROOPS AND SUPPLIES MOVED BY SEA TO THIS PORT TODAY TO SUPPORT WHAT WAS EXPECTED TO BE A GENERAL OFFENSIVE AGAINST LEFTIST GUERRILLAS IN STRIFE-TORN NORTHERN GREECE.

UNOFFICIAL SOURCES SAID THE OPERATION MIGHT INVOLVE 50,000 MEN, INCLUDING GENDARMERIE. GUERRILLA STRENGTH IS ESTIMATED TO BE ABOUT 15,000 MEN.

THE PLANS, IT WAS LEARNED, WERE COMPLETED OVER THE WEEK-END DURING ALMOST CONTINUOUS SESSIONS OF THE INNER CABINET--LEADERS OF THE SEVEN POLITICAL PARTIES NOW PARTICIPATING IN THE COALITION GOVERNMENT OF ROYALIST PREMIER DEMETRIOS MAXIMOS.

PROMOTION OF GEN.CONSTANTIN VENTIRIS TO THE POST OF CHIEF OF THE GENERAL STAFF AND OTHER SHIFTS IN THE COMMAND ALL ARE PART OF THE PROGRAM. VENTIRIS, AS COMMANDER OF THE SECOND ARMY CORPS WITH HEADQUARTERS HERE, HAD EXTENSIVE EXPERIENCE DURING THE FALL AND WINTER VIOLENCE IN MACEDONIA.

THE OPERATION WAS EXPECTED TO BEGIN SIMULTANEOUSLY IN MID-MARCH WITH THE APPLICATION OF A NEW AMNESTY PROGRAM, APPROVED IN ATHENS TODAY BY A PARLIAMENTARY COMMISSION. UNDER THE AMNESTY DECREE, WHICH PARLIAMENT ITSELF IS EXPECTED TO APPROVE SOON, IMMUNITY WILL BE GRANTED ALL GUERRILLAS WHO SURRENDER TO THE AUTHORITIES BY MARCH 15, PROVIDED THEY ARE NOT GUILTY OF COMMON CRIMES.

A FOREIGN MINISTRY INFORMANT SAID THE INNER CABINET HAD TIMED THE TWO ACTIONS TO COINCIDE BECAUSE IT DID NOT WANT THE AMNESTY PROGRAM TO INDICATE ANY WEAKNESS ON THE PART OF THE GOVERNMENT. AT THE SAME TIME, THE INFORMANT SAID, THE INNER COUNCIL WANTED TO MAKE SURE IT HAD SUFFICIENT STRENGTH TO ENFORCE A DIRECT PROGRAM TO QUELL THE DISORDER IN THE NORTH.

A112

THE UNITED NATIONS COMMISSION, WHICH IS INVESTIGATING CONDITIONS ON BOTH SIDES OF GREECE'S NORTHERN BORDER, WENT INTO CLOSED SESSION HERE THIS MORNING FOR ITS FIRST MEETING SINCE ESTABLISHMENT OF HEADQUARTERS IN SALONIKA.

IT WAS LEARNED THAT THE GREEK GOVERNMENT HAD ADDRESSED A NEW LETTER TO THE COMMISSION, REQUESTING YUGOSLAVIA, BULGARIA AND ALBANIA ACCUSED BY GREECE OF FOMENTING THE DISORDERS, TO ANSWER IMMEDIATELY WHETHER THEY WOULD ACCEPT THE BASIS OF RECIPROCITY FOR THE ADMISSION OF GREEK NEWSPAPERMEN ACROSS THEIR BORDERS.

THE LETTER SAID THE FAILURE OF GREECE'S NORTHERN NEIGHBORS TO ANSWER A PREVIOUS LETTER ON THE SUBJECT WAS "DILATORY," AND ADDED THAT IN VIEW OF THIS FAILURE, GREECE MIGHT RECONSIDER THE ISSUANCE OF VIAS TO FIVE YUGOSLAV, ONE BULGARIAN AND TWO ALBANIAN NEWSMEN WHO ACCOMPANIED THEIR RESPECTIVE LIAISON GROUPS TO THE HEARINGS.

OFFICIAL REPORTS FROM SALONIKA TODAY SAID 12 GUERRILLAS WERE KILLED, 10 CAPTURED AND MANY OTHERS WOUNDED DURING AN UNSUCCESSFUL ATTACK BY A LEFTIST BAND 400 STRONG ON A MILITARY UNIT AT KENTRIKON, NEAR KILKIS, NOT FAR FROM THE YUGOSLAV FRONTIER.

ANNOUNCEMENT OF THE AMNESTY IS CAUSING THOUSANDS OF UNDERGROUND MEMBERS TO LAY DOWN THEIR ARMS. THE COMMANDER OF ONE ORGANIZATION IN THE BIALYSTOK DISTRICT AND 15 MEMBERS SURRENDERED TO SECURITY POLICE AND WERE FREED IMMEDIATELY. NEARLY 1,000 UNDERGROUND MEMBERS HAD QUIT THEIR FOREST HIDEOUTS BEFORE THE AMNESTY WAS ANNOUNCED.

NANKING, WEDNESDAY, FEB.26-(AP)-GOVERNMENT DISPATCHES ASSERTED TODAY THAT THE LAST COMMUNIST STRONGHOLD IN SOUTHERN SHANTUNG HAD BEEN CRUSHED BY TWO GREAT VICTORIES. HIGH-LEVEL MILITARY CONFERENCES INDICATED THAT EVEN HEAVIER OFFENSIVE STROKES WERE IN THE OFFING.

THE GOVERNMENT'S CENTRAL NEWS AGENCY CLAIMED THAT TROOPS OPERATING ALONG THE SOUTHERN SECTION OF THE TIENTSIN-PUKOW RAILWAY BROKE COMMUNIST RESISTANCE AND ENTERED TENGHSIEN.

(TENGHSIEN IS 60 MILES WEST OF LINI, UNTIL RECENTLY THE MAIN COMMUNIST BASE IN SOUTHERN SHANTUNG. FROM THE TENOR OF THIS DISPATCH IT APPEARED THE COMMUNISTS HAD MADE TENGHSIEN AN ALTERNATE BASE.)

FROM TENGHSIEN, THE AGENCY ADDED, VICTORIOUS GOVERNMENT TROOPS WERE PUSHING QUICKLY NORTHWARD FOR AN EXPECTED EARLY JUNCTION WITH OTHER GOVERNMENT TROOPS DRIVING DOWN FROM THE NORTH.

SIMULTANEOUSLY, CENTRAL NEWS DECLARED, OTHER GOVERNMENT FORCES FOR THE SECOND TIME CAPTURED YUNCHENG, 80 MILES NORTHWEST OF TENGHSIEN, AND HAD DRIVEN FRAGMENTS OF THE COMMUNIST DEFENDERS INTO A TRIANGLE FORMED BY THE YELLOW RIVER AND THE GRAND CANAL, WHERE THEY FACED ANNIHILATION.

THINGS WERE NOT GOING SO WELL FARTHER NORTH, HOWEVER, IN CENTRAL SHANTUNG. THERE, THE NEWSPAPER HSIN MIN PAO REPORTED, GOVERNMENT FORCES WERE GIVING GROUND IN THE FACE OF CONCENTRIC COMMUNIST ATTACKS ON THE VITAL POSHAN COAL MINING REGION.

WESTWARD OF THIS BATTLEGROUND, 30,000 COMMUNIST TROOPS UNDER GEN. CHEN YI OVERRAN GOVERNMENT DEFENSES AT HSINTAI AND LAID SIEGE TO TAIAN, ON THE TIENTSIN-PUKOW RAILROAD 80 MILES NORTH OF TENGHSIEN.

THIS WOULD PUT THE COMMUNISTS ONLY 30 MILES SOUTH OF TSINAN, THE PROVINCIAL CAPITAL WHICH GENERALISSIMO CHIANG KAI-SHEK VISITED THIS WEEK.

PEIPING, FEB. 25-(AP)-CHINA'S TOP MILITARY MEN WENT TO PEIPING TODAY TO PLAN AN OFFENSIVE AGAINST CHINESE COMMUNIST ARMIES. ONE OFFICIAL SAID "EXISTENCE OR DEATH FOR NORTH CHINA DEPENDS "ON THE OUTCOME OF THE OPERATION.

THE BLOODIEST FIGHTING IN CHINA'S CIVIL WAR WAS REPORTED MEANWHILE, IN FIELD DISPATCHES AS PLANS WENT AHEAD FOR THE EXTRAORDINARY MILITARY MEETING. IT WILL OPEN WITH THE ARRIVAL FROM NANKING, POSSIBLY THURSDAY, OF WAR MINISTER PAI CHUNG-HSI.

THE INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER HSIN MIN-PAO SAID THE MILITARY LEADERS WOULD CONSIDER "EXTENSION OF PACIFICATION AREAS" -- IN OTHER WORDS, EXTENDING GOVERNMENT POWER OVER TERRITORY NOW HELD BY THE REDS.

SHANTUNG PROVINCE IS STILL THE PRESENT PRIME OBJECTIVE, WITH SHANSI, TO THE WEST, LIKELY TO BE NEXT IN LINE.

HOTTEST OF THE SCATTERED BATTLEGROUNDS WAS THE IMPORTANT POSHAN COAL-PRODUCING AREA OF CENTRAL SHANTUNG PROVINCE. THERE FIELD REPORTS SAID 50,000 REDS WERE CLOSING IN ON GOVERNMENT POSITIONS.

IN ALL, GOVERNMENT MILITARY SOURCES SAID, MORE THAN 100,000 TROOPS UNDER COMMUNIST GEN. CHEN YI HAD BEEN PITCHED INTO THE "UNPRECEDENTEDLY BLOODY" CENTRAL SHANTUNG BATTLE TO CUT THE GOVERNMENT'S TSINAN-TSINGTAO RAILROAD.

THE GOVERNMENT'S GRIP ON THE SHANTUNG SECTOR REMAINED PRECARIOUS. THE OFFICIAL CENTRAL NEWS AGENCY SAID COMMUNISTS WERE MOVING TOWARD THE POSHAN MINES FROM THREE DIRECTIONS, AND WERE WITHIN SIX MILES OF THEIR OBJECTIVE.

THE GOVERNMENT, MEANWHILE, CAPTURED MALANSHIH, IMPORTANT RED INLAND BASE IN THE GENERAL AREA OF YENAN, THE CHINESE COMMUNIST "CAPITAL." MALANSHIH IS 66 MILES NORTHWEST OF SIKING (SIAN) IN SHENSI PROVINCE.

THE NANKING CENTRAL KAILY NEWS ALSO REPORTED SMALL RED FORCES WERE TESTING THE GOVERNMENT'S OUTER DEFENSES OF TSINAN, THE PROVINCIAL CAPITAL AND INLAND ANCHOR OF THE VITAL RAIL LINE.

(IN NANKING, THE NEWSPAPER HSIN MIN PAO REPORTED THE 20TH NATIONALIST DIVISION, WHICH TOOK TENGHSIEN MONDAY, HAD ADVANCED 12 MILES NORTH ALONG THE TIENTSIN-PUKOW RAILWAY TO CAPTURE CHIEHHO, AFTER ANNIHILATING THE COMMUNIST REGIMENT DEFENDING THE TOWN.

(THE NATIONALISTS WERE SAID TO HAVE PUSHED TO WITHIN EIGHT MILES OF TSOW-HSIEN, WHERE THEY EXPECTED TO JOIN FORCES WITH OTHER GOVERNMENT COLUMNS FROM TSINING, 18 MILES TO THE NORTHWEST.)

MEANWHILE, POLICE IN PEIPING CONTINUED TO MAKE ARRESTS AIMED AT SECURING INTERNAL SAFETY. CHIEF OF POLICE TANG YUNG-HSIEN SAID FLATLY THAT THE SEARCHES AND ARRESTS WERE NECESSARY BECAUSE OF "UNSETTLED CONDITIONS" IN PEIPING'S SUBURBS.

SHANGHAI, FEB. 25-(AP)-THE ARREST OF A HIGH GOVERNMENT OFFICIAL ALLEGEDLY INVOLVED IN RECENT PANIC-PRODUCING MANIPULATION OF THE GOLD BAR BLACK MARKET WAS REPORTED TODAY TO HAVE BEEN ORDERED BY GENERALISSIMO CHIANG KAI-SHEK. THE OFFICIAL'S NAME WAS NOT ANNOUNCED.

A GROUP OF VISITING CHINESE FROM OVERSEAS MEANWHILE SENT AN ANGRY PROTEST TO THE MINISTRY OF OVERSEAS AFFAIRS AT NANKING, AFTER THEY HAD BEEN COMPELLED TO EXCHANGE THEIR U.S. CURRENCY INTO CHINESE MONEY.

THEY COMPLAINED THEY HAD NOT BEEN FOREWARNED OF THE NEW REGULATIONS, AND THAT THERE WAS NO WAY THEY COULD REGAIN THEIR U.S. DOLLARS WHEN THEY VISITED HONG KONG AND OTHER NON-CHINESE TERRITORIES.

THE VISITORS CARRIED FROM $1,000 TO $3,000 (U.S.) APIECE.

THE SHANGHAI EVENING POST SAID A HIGH OFFICIAL HAD USED MORE THAN 350,000,000 CHINESE DOLLARS IN GOVERNMENT FUNDS FOR SPECULATION IN GOLD, WHICH THE POST SAID CONTRIBUTED TO THE RECENT GOLD PANIC IN SHANGHAI.

TOKYO, FEB. 25-(AP)-NATIVES OF PACIFIC ISLANDS UNDER U.S. CONTROL SHOULD RECEIVE "A MEASURE OF THE FREEDOM WE HAVE AT HOME," SECRETARY OF INTERIOR KRUG TOLD THE ASSOCIATED PRESS TODAY.

KRUG, IN TOKYO FOR A BRIEF VISIT AFTER TOURING PACIFIC ISLANDS, CONFERRED WITH GENERAL MACARTHUR FOR TWO HOURS LAST NIGHT ON PROBLEMS OF CIVIL GOVERNMENT FOR THE ISLANDS.

"HE WAS VERY HELPFUL IN SUPPLYING IDEAS AND BACKGROUND FROM HIS LONG EXPERIENCE," KRUG SAID.

THE SECRETARY AND HIS PARTY LEAVE BY AIR TONIGHT FOR HAWAII, VIA WAKE ISLAND. THEY ARE DUE IN HONOLULU EARLY THURSDAY MORNING TO BEGIN TWO-DAY HEARINGS ON HAWAIIAN STATEHOOD.

WITH KRUG ARE REP.NORRIS POULSON (R-CALIF), AND CLAIR ENGLE (D-CALIF), DELEGATE JOSEPH FARRINGTON (R-HAWAII), C.G.DAVIDSON, ASSISTANT SECRETARY OF INTERIOR, AND OTHER DEPARTMENT OFFICIALS.

KRUG SAID THAT AFTER RETURNING TO WASHINGTON MARCH 4 HE WOULD REPORT TO PRESIDENT TRUMAN ON PROPOSALS FOR GOVERNING PACIFIC ISLANDS TO BE HELD BY THE UNITED STATES.

DECLINING TO REVEAL PRECISE PROPOSALS HE WOULD MAKE, KRUG SAID IN AN INTERVIEW THAT GOVERNMENT OF THE ISLANDS SHOULD BE BASED ON "MINIMUM INTERFERENCE WITH THE NATIVES' TRADITIONS AND TRIBAL CUSTOMS."

HE SAID HE APPROVED U.S. CITIZENSHIP FOR THE GUAMANIANS AND SAMOANS, DECLARING THAT "THEIR LONG ASSOCIATION WITH THE UNITED STATES SHOULD BE RECOGNIZED."

KRUG SAID HE WAS NOT PREPARED TO STATE HOW MUCH LOCAL AUTONOMY NATIVES SHOULD BE GIVEN, BUT ADDED "THEY SHOULD HAVE A MEASURE OF THE FREEDOM WE HAVE AT HOME AND FOR WHICH WE FOUGHT." HE SAID THE UNITED STATES HAD LEARNED BY EXPERIENCE THAT NATIVE CHIEFTAINS GOVERNED WELL WHEN LEFT ALONE.

THE SECRETARY EXPRESSED BELIEF THE GOVERNMENT OF OKINAWA SHOULD BE DISSOCIATED FROM OTHER, SMALLER PACIFIC ISLANDS.

"OKINAWA IS A LARGE LAND MASS WITH SOME 400,000 RESIDENTS," HE SAID. "IT PRESENTS DIFFERENT PROBLEMS. I WAS VERY IMPRESSED WITH THE JOB BEING DONE THERE UNDER MACARTHUR."

OKINAWA IS BEING GOVERNED BY LOCAL OFFICIALS UNDER U.S. MILITARY GOVERNMENT TEAMS, FOLLOWING THE PATTERN USED IN JAPAN.

KRUG POINTED OUT THAT ONLY A FEW OF THE SEVERAL THOUSAND ISLANDS INVOLVED PRESENTED THE QUESTION OF GOVERNMENT SINCE THE MAJORITY OF ISLETS WERE UNINHABITED OR SUPPORTED ONLY A FEW PEOPLE.

IT WAS UNDERSTOOD FROM OTHER INFORMED SOURCES THAT ONE OF THE PRINCIPAL PROBLEMS CONCERNING GUAM WAS THE EXACT AREAS TO BE DESIGNATED AS NAVAL AND ARMY DISTRICTS AND KEPT SOLELY UNDER MILITARY JURISDICTION.

REAR ADM.CHARLES POWNALL, MILITARY GOVERNOR OF GUAM, TOLD A GROUP OF AMERICAN EDITORS WHO VISITED GUAM RECENTLY THAT A NEW CHARTER GRANTING CONSIDERABLY MORE LOCAL AUTONOMY AND MODERNIZING LAWS WAS EXPECTED TO BE FORMULATED AFTER KRUG'S VISIT.

NIGHT LEAD WAR CRIMES (170)

TOKYO, WEDNESDAY, FEB. 26-(AP)-THE WAR CRIMES DEFENSE INTRODUCED TODAY MORE TREATIES SIGNED BY JAPAN WHEN IT WAS A WORLD POWER, THUS LAYING THE GROUNDWORK FOR THE ARGUMENT THAT HIDEKI TOJO AND HIS CO-DEFENDANTS WERE NOT THE INTERNATIONALLAW-BREAKERS PICTURED BY THE PROSECUTION.

THE DEFENSE EXPECTED TO PLACE IN EVIDENCE NEARLY A SCORE OF TREATIES AND DOCUMENTS BEARING UPON THE TREATIES BEFORE PROCEEDING WITH TESTIMONY RELATING TO CHARGES IN THE INDICTMENT.

MEANWHILE, FRANK S.TAVENNER, WOODSTOCK,VA., ON LEAVE AS U.S. DISTRICT ATTORNEY FOR WESTERN VIRGINIA, WAS NAMED CHIEF OF THE TRIAL STAFF OF THE INTERNATIONAL PROSECUTION SECTION. HE WILL LEAD THE PROSECUTION DURING THE DEFENSE PHASE.

ASSOCIATE PROSECUTOR CARLYSLE P.HIGGINGS WAS SCHEDULED TO DEPART FOR HIS HOME AT GREENSBORO,N.C., WHERE HE IS EXPECTED TO DISCUSS HIS FUTURE STATUS AS U.S. DISTRICT ATTORNEY FOR THE CENTRAL DISTRICT OF NORTH CAROLINA.

CHIEF PROSECUTOR JOSEPH B.KEENAN WENT BACK TO WASHINGTON LAST NOVEMBER FOR CONSULTATION, AND LATEST ADVICES SAY HE IS UNDER A PHYSICIAN'S CARE AND HAS BEEN ORDERED TO TAKE A COMPLETE REST. HE HAD EXPECTED TO RETURN TO TOKYO BEFORE THE DEFENSE OPENED ITS CASE.

TOKYO, FEB. 25-(AP)-DEFENSE ATTORNEYS TOLD THE WAR CRIMES TRIBUNAL TODAY THEY WOULD UNDERTAKE TO PROVE THAT JAPAN DID NOT USE OPIUM IN CHINA TO RAISE FUNDS FOR HER ARMIES OR TO DEBAUCH THE CHINESE PEOPLE.

THIS WAS BROUGHT OUT BY ARISTIDES G.LAZARUS OF NEW YORK CITY, COUNSEL FOR FORMER WAR MINISTER SHANROKU HATA, DURING AN EXCHANGE WITH CHIEF JUSTICE SIR WILLIAM WEBB WHEN THE DEFENSE INTRODUCED IN EVIDENCE THE PORTSMOUTH TREATY OF 1905 BETWEEN RUSSIA AND JAPAN. SIR WILLIAM WANTED TO KNOW WHAT BEARING IT HAD ON THE CASE.

LAZARUS EXPLAINED THAT THIS TREATY "CONTROLS OPIUM TRADE AND WILL SHOW JAPAN DID NOT VIOLATE ITS PROVISIONS."

THERE WERE NUMEROUS OTHER CLASHES BETWEEN THE DEFENSE AND SIR WILLIAM OVER THE RELEVANCY OF TREATIES THE DEFENSE WANTED TO READ INTO THE RECORD. UNDER PRODDING OF THE CHIEF JUSTICE, THE DEFENSE DELETED THOSE PORTIONS WHICH HAD NO BEARING ON THE ISSUES.

THE DEFENSE EXPLAINED THAT PARTS OF THE TREATIES PREVIOUSLY HAD BEEN INTRODUCED BY THE PROSECUTION BUT NOT READ INTO THE RECORD AND THAT ADDITIONAL TREATIES THEY SOUGHT TO BRING BEFORE THE TRIBUNAL WOULD BE REFERRED TO LATER.

THE DEFENSE IS TRYING TO SHOW THAT THE 26 JAPANESE WARTIME LEADERS ON TRIAL AS ACCUSED WAR CRIMINALS WERE ACTUALLY DOING THEIR DUTY AS GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS.

BUENOS AIRES, FEB. 25-(AP)-GEN. JUAN D. PERON OBSERVED THE FIRST ANNIVERSARY OF HIS ELECTION TO THE ARGENTINE PRESIDENCY LAST NIGHT WITH A SPEECH WHICH OBSERVERS REGARDED AS A STRONG ATTACK ON COMMUNISM.

"I WANT TO TAKE THIS OPPORTUNITY," HE DECLARED AT ONE POINT, "TO WARN COMMUNISTS WHO ARE TRYING TO USE THE WORKERS' MOVEMENT THAT THEY WILL NOT BE PERMITTED TO CARRY OUT THEIR ANTI-PATRIOTIC ENDS UNDER COVER OF ARGENTINE WORKERS."

ARGENTINE COMMUNISTS, WHO OPPOSED PERON DURING HIS CAMPAIGN FOR THE PRESIDENCY, MADE OVERTURES OF PEACE TO HIM AFTER ARGENTINA RENEWED RELATIONS WITH RUSSIA FOLLOWING PERON'S INAUGURATION JUNE 4, BUT THE OFFERS WERE REJECTED AND THE OFFICIAL COMMUNIST NEWSPAPER LA HORA NOW REGULARLY ATTACKS THE GOVERNMENT.

A FEW MOMENTS AFTER PERON HAD FINISHED HIS 50-MINUTE SPEECH IN THE PACKED COLON THEATER, A BOMBED WRECKED THE STUDIOS OF THE PRO-GOVERNMENT LIBERTAD RADIO, SEVERAL BLOCKS AWAY -- ONE OF SEVERAL STATIONS WHICH HAD BROADCAST THE ADDRESS.

FIVE ARMED MEN ORDERED STATION EMPLOYES OUT OF THE BUILDING BEFORE THE BLAST, BUT TWO GIRL PERFORMERS REHEARSING IN A BUILDING NEARBY WERE CUT BY FLYING GLASS. THERE WERE NO OTHER CASUALTIES.

PRESIDENT PERON OUTLINED WHAT HE CALLED WORKERS' "ESSENTIAL RIGHTS:" TO JOBS, ADEQUATE PAY, SELF-EDUCATION, PROPER WORKING CONDITIONS, PRESERVATION OF HEALTH AND STRENGTH THROUGH SUFFICIENT REST, ECONOMIC BETTERMENT THROUGH BETTER PAY FOR BETTER WORK AND DEFENSE OF PROFESSIONAL INTERESTS.

HE SAID THE FAMILIES OF THE WORKERS SHOULD BE PROTECTED AND THE WELFARE OF THE WORKERS SHOULD INCLUDE SOCIAL SECURITY, AND ADEQUATE FOOD, HOUSING AND CLOTHING.

THE RIGHTS SHOULD BE PROTECTED, PERON DECLARED, BY GUARANTEES OF SOCIETY AS A WHOLE AND NOT THROUGH LABOR CONTRACTS.

HE TOLD HIS AUDIENCE OF 50,000 PERSONS THAT HE THOUGHT THE OCCASION WAS A GOOD ONE "TO RATIFY THE DEMOCRATIC REPUBLICAN PRINCIPLES OF OUR INSTITUTIONS" AND ADDED THAT THESE INSTITUTIONS WERE THE ONLY ONES CAPABLE OF PROTECTING HUMAN LIBERTIES FROM "EXTREMIST FOREIGN TENDENCIES."

THE ARGENTINE GOVERNMENT, PERON DECLARED, WOULD CONTINUE TO ENCOURAGE LABOR UNIONS, BUT HE WARNED THAT SOME UNIONS IN THE COUNTRY WERE BEING USED FOR EXTRANEOUS PURPOSES AND THAT AGITATORS WERE USING THEIR UNION OFFICES TO COVER UP THEIR REAL PURPOSES.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: THE FOLLOWING IS THE DRAMATIC STORY OF THE RESCUE OF 11 AMERICAN AIRMEN FROM AN ARCTIC ICECAP TOLD BY LIEUT.BOBBIE JOE CAVNAR OF OKMULGEE,OKLA., PILOT OF THE MERCY PLANE, TO THE BOSTON TRAVELER.)

BY BOBBIE JOE CAVNAR

WESTOVER FIELD,MASS., FEB 25-(AP)-WE RETURNED FROM A ROUTINE TRIP AND ARRIVED AT WESTOVER SATURDAY AT 4:30 P.M. WE WERE INFORMED BY THE COMMANDING OFFICER THAT AN AIRCRAFT WAS DOWN NORTH OF THULE, GREENLAND. WE WERE ORDERED TO ASSIST BUT OUR AIRCRAFT NEEDED MAINTENANCE. THE CREW HAD IT READY SUNDAY AT 2 A.M.

WE LEFT HERE SUNDAY AT 3:30 A.M., INTENDING TO STOP AT GOOSE BAY AND PICK UP SOME EMERGENCY SUPPLIES. BUT BAD WEATHER KEPT US IN THE AIR AND WE, WITH THE HELP OF THE MEN AT BOUIE WEST (SONDERSTROM FJORD) LANDED THERE.

"123 2343 9, 5£3 &497,$ -, £974 -,$ - £-)

LANDED THERE.

"WE WERE ON THE GROUND AN HOUR AND A HALF. WE TOOK OFF AGAIN AND LANDED AT THULE. WE TALKED TO THE DOWNED B-29 ON THE GROUND 230 MILES NORTH AND ASKED THEM OVER THE RADIO ABOUT THE CONDITIONS OF THE GROUND AND SNOW AND LAKE SURFACE.

THE B-29 DIDN'T KNOW WHAT A '54' COULD DO, BUT HE GAVE US THE INFORMATION WE ASKED FOR.

THERE WERE 2 TO 10 INCHES OF SNOW ON THE LAKE. THE SURFACE WAS SMOOTH. THERE WERE NO DRIFTS. CAPT.SHAW AND CAPT.DORSEY, WITH THE HELP OF EDDIE GOODALE, A WEATHERMAN AT THULE, WHO HAD HAD A LOT OF EXPERIENCE IN ICE CONDITIONS, THOUGHT WE COULD LAND. THEY GAVE ME THEIR DECISION.

I TALKED TO THE CREW AND WE FIGURED WE COULD MAKE IT--PROBABLY. WE UNLOADED MOST OF OUR EQUIPMENT. WE GOT RID OF EVERYTHING EXCEPT PARACHUTES AND MEDICAL SUPPLIES. WE THREW AWAY 10 CASES OF EMERGENCY RATIONS--EVERYTHING--TO LIGHTEN THE PLANE. THEN WE FLEW UP THE COAST OF GREENLAND.

WE HAD NO TROUBLE FINDING THE B-29. THE BOYS HAD STARTED A LARGE FIRE FROM THE ENGINE OIL AND HAD TOSSED ON ALL SORTS OF EQUIPMENT, EVEN A LIFE RAFT.

WE LOOKED OVER THE LAKE AND DECIDED WE COULD LAND.

WE DRAGGED THE LAKE TWICE. THE THIRD TIME AROUND, THE MEN IN THE B-29 LINED UP AND MARKED OUT A LANDING STRIP ABOUT 2500 FEET LONG. THAT WAS YESTERDAY MORNING AT 11:03.

WE CAME OVER A HILL 800 FEET HIGH. WE CARRIED OUR AIR SPEED HIGH, COMING IN FOR THE LANDING AT 120 MILES PER HOUR. WE MADE THE TOUCHDOWN EASY. WE DIDN'T EVEN BREAK THE CRUST ON THE SNOW AT FIRST, BUT AS WE CAME NEAR THE B-29 WE BROKE THROUGH AND FINALLY STOPPED 500 FEET FROM THE B-29.

372 (Q)

WE TAXIED UP AND DOWN SEVERAL TIMES TO SOFTEN UP THE CRUST SO OUR WHEELS WOULDN'T STICK AND WE WOULD BE SURE WE COULD GET OFF.

WE KEPT THE MOTORS GOING BECAUSE WE DIDN'T WANT THEM TO COOL OFF. IT WAS 25 TO 30 DEGREES BELOW ZERO.

WE HAD THE JET ASSISTED TAKEOFF ROCKETS HOOKED UP. THERE WERE FOUR OF THEM AND THEY GAVE US 1450 HORSEPOWER, JUST LIKE ANOTHER ENGINE.

WE GOT THE CREW OF THE B-29 ABOARD. ENGINEER ERDECH HOOKED UP THE ROCKETS. WE TAXIED TO THE END OF THE STRIP AND TURNED AROUND TO TAKE OFF. THERE WERE 21 MEN ABOARD, BUT UNDER NORMAL FLYING CONDITIONS WE WOULD NOT HAVE BEEN OVERLOADED.

WE PUT THE MEN IN THE TAIL, TO KEEP US TAIL-HEAVY, BECAUSE WE WANTED OUR NOSE WHEEL OFF THE GROUND. WE GOT IT OFF WHEN THE ENGINES WERE REVVED UP. WE TAXIED AT 50 MILES AN HOUR AND FIRED THE JATO. I CHANGED THE FLAPS FROM 10 DEGREES TO 20 DEGREES AND WE LEFT THE GROUND AT 85 MILES AN HOUR.

A B-29 FROM FAIRBANKS, ALASKA, ARRIVED OVERHEAD 10 MINUTES AFTER WE LANDED, AND CIRCLED. WE TALKED TO HIM AND HE AGREED TO FOLLOW US BACK IN CASE WE NEEDED HIM.

WE GOT TO THULE AND STAYED THERE THREE HOURS. WE DECIDED TO FLY BACK HERE BECAUSE THE SURVIVORS WERE SUFFERING FROM SHOCK AND NERVOUSNESS. THEY TOOK GOOD CARE OF THEMSELVES AND DIDN'T SUFFER FROM FROSTBITE.

THE SURVIVORS NEEDED REST, BUT THERE WERE NO QUARTERS AT THULE. SO WE TOOK OFF ON THE NON-STOP FLIGHT FROM THULE TO WESTOVER--2900 MILES--AT 5 P.M.

WE SURE WERE TIRED WHEN WE GOT HERE. WE HAD BEEN UP SINCE FRIDAY NIGHT AND ONLY HAD FIVE HOURS OF SLEEP ON SUNDAY.

WESTOVER FIELD, MASS., FEB 25-(AP)-TO LIEUT.BOBBIE JOE CAVNAR, THE SPECTACULAR RESCUE OF 11 MAROONED AMERICAN AIRMEN IN THE ARCTIC SEEMED ALMOST ROUTINE.

AT LEAST, THAT WAS THE IMPRESSION NEWSMEN GOT IN TALKING TO THE INTREPID 22-YEAR-OLD ARMY TRANSPORT PILOT FROM OKMULGEE, OKLA., AS HE TOLD THE STORY OF THE RESCUE IN A CALM, MATTER-OF-FACT MANNER.

CAREFULLY, HE RELATED EACH DETAIL LIKE A PROFESSOR PRESIDING AT A SEMINAR.

WESTOVER FIELD, MASS., FEB 25-(AP)-FOR LIEUT.WILLIAM A.SEWARD, JR., THE RESCUE OF 11 MAROONED AIRMEN IN THE ARCTIC WAS ABOUT AS TOUGH AN ASSIGNMENT AS HE'S EVER HAD--AND HE'S HAD SOME TOUGH ONES.

THE 22-YEAR-OLD NAVIGATOR ON THE RESCUE TRANSPORT PLANE WAS TWICE SHOT DOWN BEHIND ENEMY LINES DURING THE WAR--ONCE SPENDING 49 DAYS IN GERMAN-OCCUPIED TERRITORY BEFORE MAKING HIS WAY TO SAFETY.

BUT THE ARCTIC TOPS ALL FOR DESOLATE PLACES.

SEWARD SAID THAT WHEN THE RESCUE PLANE LANDED THE MAROONED MEN "SEEMED TIRED AND DEJECTED."

"THAT IS THE MOST DESOLATE SPOT IN THE WORLD AND THE TOUGHEST PLACE I'VE EVER BEEN IN IN MY LIFE," SAID THE YOUNG FLIER.

ARCTIC RESCUE (270)

NEW YORK, FEB. 25-(AP)-ELEVEN ARMY FLIERS WHO RADIOED THEY WERE "VERY, VERY TIRED" BUT OTHERWISE UNHURT AFTER BEING MAROONED 1,000 MILES NORTH OF THE ARCTIC CIRCLE FOR THREE DAYS WERE BEING FLOWN HOME EARLY TODAY BY THE 22-YEAR-OLD PILOT WHO RESCUED THEM.

LIEUT. BOBBIE JOE CAVNAR OF OKMULGEE, OKLA., WHO LANDED HIS BIG C-54 ON A FROZEN LAKE YESTERDAY TO RESCUE THE 11 MEN, MESSAGED THAT HE WAS BUCKING STRONG HEADWINDS ON THE 2,310-MILE NONE-STOP FLIGHT FROM THULE, IN NORTHWESTERN GREENLAND, TO WESTOVER FIELD, CHICOPEE FALLS, MASS.

THE ATLANTIC DIVISION OF THE AIR TRANSPORT COMMAND SAID CAVNAR RADIOED HE EXPECTED TO REACH WESTOVER FIELD ABOUT 8 A.M. (EST).

THE 11 RESCUED MEN WERE MEMBERS OF THE CREW OF THE "KEE BIRD," A B-29 FROM LADD FIELD, FAIRBANKS, ALASKA, WHICH BECAME LOST IN A SUDDEN STORM WHILE ON A PHOTOGRAPHIC MISSION FRIDAY AND CRASH LANDED ON THE BLEAK GREENLAND ICE CAP.

WHILE THE ATC SAID NONE SUFFERED FROM THE FRIGID EXPERIENCE, A FLIGHT SURGEON STOOD BY AT WESTOVER FIELD TO EXAMINE THEM UPON ARRIVAL. TEMPERATE CLIMATE UNIFORMS WERE WAITING THERE TO REPLACE THE HEAVY SUB-ARCTIC GEAR THEY WERE WEARING.

CAVNAR SAW THE POSSIBILITY OF MAKING A LANDING AND IMMEDIATE RESCUE WHEN HE FLEW TO THE AREA YESTERDAY TO DROP COAL AND OTHER SUPPLIES. JETTISONING ALL UNNECESSARY EQUIPMENT, HE LANDED ON THE ICE, PICKED UP THE 11 MEN, AND USED FOUR WING ROCKETS FOR THE TAKE-OFF. HE FLEW SOUTH THE 200 MILES TO THULE AND STOPPED THERE BEFORE STARTING THE LONG HOP HOME LAST NIGHT.

THE YOUNG OKLAHOMAN'S EXPLOIT BROUGHT FROM MAJ. GEN. WILLIAM H. TUNNER (CQ), COMMANDING GENERAL OF THE ATC ATLANTIC DIVISION, AN ANNOUNCEMENT THAT HE WAS RECOMMENDING CAVNAR FOR THE DISTINGUISHED FLYING CROSS.

WASHINGTON, FEB 25-(AP)-FOUR NEWSPAPER EXECUTIVES ARRIVING FROM AN INSPECTION TOUR IN THE ORIENT REPORTED TODAY THAT:

1. THE JAPANESE PEOPLE ARE SINCERE IN THEIR COOPERATION WITH OCCUPATION AUTHORITIES AND "FEEL LIKE A LIBERATED RATHER THAN A CONQUERED PEOPLE!"

2. IN KOREA THE SITUATION "IS VERY DISTURBED" WITH THE KOREANS STILL DEMANDING WITHDRAWAL OF OCCUPATION FORCES;

3. THE WAR AND STATE DEPARTMENTS ARE HOLDING UP CONCLUSION OF A TREATY FOR CONTINUED AMERICAN USE OF MILITARY BASES IN THE PHILIPPINES, THAT THE DOCUMENT IS IN WASHINGTON NOW.

THE FOUR EXECUTIVES, MEMBERS OF AN ORIGINAL PARTY OF NINE EDITORS AND PUBLISHERS WHO MADE THE TRIP AT THE ARMY'S INVITATION, ARE: SEVELLON BROWN, PUBLISHER-EDITOR OF THE PROVIDENCE (R.I.) JOURNAL; ERWIN

D.CANNHAM, EDITOR, CHRISTIAN SCIENCE MONITOR, BOSTON, MASS.; WAYNE COY, ASSISTANT TO THE PUBLISHER OF THE WASHINGTON (D.C.) POST; AND RALPH J.DONALDSON, EDITORIAL WRITER, THE CLEVELAND (OHIO) PLAIN DEALER.

AT A NEWS CONFERENCE UPON THEIR ARRIVAL THE EDITORS MADE THESE POINTS:

TO A QUESTION ABOUT THEIR VISIT TO THE PHILIPPINES AND NEGOTIATIONS FOR A TREATY TO ALLOW CONTINUED AMERICAN USE OF MILITARY BASES THERE, AND ESPECIALLY WHAT WAS DELAYING THE TREATY, COY REPLIED:

THAT THE WAR AND STATE DEPARTMENT ARE HOLDING UP THE TREATY. "THE DOCUMENT IS RIGHT HERE IN WASHINGTON NOW."

CANHAM: "I THINK AN OVERWHELMING PERCENTAGE OF THE (JAPANESE) PEOPLE FEEL LIKE A LIBERATED RATHER THAN A CONQUERED PEOPLE--THEY'VE HAD THE POLICE LIFTED OFF THEIR BACKS," ALONG WITH OTHER OPPRESSIONS OF THE JAPANESE MILITARY CLIQUE WHICH RULED THEM FOR SO MANY YEARS.

COY: IT IS SIGNIFICANT THAT NO UNDERGROUND MOVEMENT HAS BEEN DISCOVERED IN JAPAN.

BROWN: IT WILL BE TO THE ADVANTAGE OF THE AMERICAN TAXPAYER TO RESTORE JAPANESE ECONOMY AND END OCCUPATION AS SOON AS POSSIBLE, THUS TERMINATING THE NECESSITY FOR CONTINUED FEEDING AND OTHER ECONOMIC SUPPORT OF THE JAPANESE POPULATION.

DONALDSON: (IN ANSWER TO A QUESTION ABOUT WHETHER RUSSIA WAS STIRRING UP LABOR TROUBLE IN JAPAN) THERE IS A GREAT DEAL OF UNREST, A LARGE PART OF IT IS BECAUSE "THE JAPANESE HAVE A NEW PLAYTHING--A LABOR UNION AND STRIKE. PROBABLY THE COMMUNIST ELEMENTS ARE JUST AS ACTIVE FOMENTING STRIKES AS THEY ARE IN THIS COUNTRY."

COY: (IN ANSWER TO A QUESTION AS TO WHETHER THE AMERICAN OCCUPATION FORCE IS TRYING TO DISTINGUISH FOR THE JAPANESE THE DIFFERENCE BETWEEN COMMUNISM AND DEMOCRACY)--"AMERICAN DEMOCRACY AS SET FORTH BY OUR ADMINISTRATION THERE IS A VERY POSITIVE THING. THERE IS NO EFFORT TO COMPARE IT WITH EITHER RIGHTIST OR LEFTIST DICTATORSHIPS. IT STANDS ON ITS OWN BOTTOM."

CANHAM: THE KOREANS WERE KEPT FOR 40 YEARS IN SERVITUDE BY THE JAPANESE AND THAT LEFT KOREA A "KINDERGARTEN" NATION UPON HER LIBERATION. THE "SITUATION IS VERY DISTURBED" IN KOREA, AN ENTIRELY DIFFERENT SITUATION FROM THAT OF JAPAN.

BROWN: "THE KOREANS KNOW THAT WHEN WE WITHDRAW FROM THERE THE VACUUM WILL BE FILLED IN A HELL OF A HURRY BUT NEVER THE LESS THEY STILL" ARE DEMANDING WITHDRAWAL OF OCCUPATION FORCES.

(ADVANCE)...WASHINGTON, FEB 25-(AP)-THE "TURNING POINT" IN WORLD WAR II CAME WHEN THE AXIS POWERS LOST CONTROL OF THE MEDITERRANEAN SEA IN THE OPINION OF NAZI VICE ADMIRAL EBERHARD WEICHOLD.

WEICHOLD'S VIEWPOINT WAS CONTAINED IN A DETAILED ANALYSIS MADE PUBLIC HERE TONIGHT BY THE NAVY DEPARTMENT. THE ANALYSIS, BASED ON WEICHOLD'S EXPERIENCES AS COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF OF GERMAN NAVAL FORCES IN THE MEDITERRANEAN DURING THE WAR, WAS RELEASED SIMULTANEOUSLY IN LONDON.

"GERMANY DID NOT LOSE THE WAR THROUGH THE ENEMY'S SUPERIORITY IN MEN AND MATERIAL BUT X XX PRINCIPALLY THROUGH MISTAKES OF THE HIGH COMMAND," WEICHOLD CONTENDED.

HE ACCUSED THE HIGH COMMAND SPECIFICALLY OF FAILURE TO UNDERSTAND THAT A WORLD WAR WAS "INTRINSICALLY A NAVAL WAR" AND OF BELIEVING GREAT BRITAIN'S EARLY WEAKNESSES "COULD BE PUT ON ICE UNTIL RUSSIA HAD BEEN COMPLETELY DEFEATED ON THE CONTINENT."

IDEAS DIFFERENT FROM HITLER AND HIS ARMY CHIEFS AT BEST WERE CONSIDERED "PRESUMPTIONS" AND AT WORST "TREASON", WEICHOLD SAID.

"THE AXIS POWERS' LOSS OF THE MEDITERRANEAN WAR FREED BRITAIN FROM DANGER IN THE MIDDLE EAST AND SO MADE POSSIBLE THE ALLIED LANDING IN ITALY AND THE BREAKING OF THE ITALIAN ALLY," HE CONTINUED.

"IT WAS THESE OPERATIONS ALONE THAT ENABLED THE ALLIES TO MAKE THEIR DECISIVE ATTACK AGAINST THE GERMAN FORTRESS IN EUROPE. X X X .

"WITHOUT ITS MEDITERRANEAN POSITIONS SECURED, THE BRITISH COMMAND WOULD NOT HAVE HAD THE FREEDOM OF MOVEMENT IN ITS REAR AND THE FORCES TO SPARE TO CARRY OUT A LANDING IN FRANCE. THE LOSS OF THE MEDITERRANEAN WAS, THEREFORE, THE TURNING POINT OF THE WAR. THE IMPORTANCE OF THIS POSITION AND THE EFFECT IT WOULD HAVE ON THE WHOLE WAR WAS NOT RECOGNISED BY THE GERMAN COMMAND ALTHOUGH THERE WAS NO LACK OF REPRESENTATIONS AND WARNINGS ON THIS MATTER." ##

WASHINGTON,FEB.25-(AP)-MEMBERS OF THE SENATE EXPENDITURES COMMITTEE TODAY QUESTIONED THE NAVY'S WISDOM IN BUILDING THE $14,500,000 SAN DIEGO CALIF., AQUEDUCT AS AN "EMERGENCY WAR PROJECT."

SENATOR MCCARTHY (R-WIS) SUGGESTED FIGURES ON WATER SUPPLY IN THE SAN DIEGO AREA INDICATED THE CITY, WITH NORMAL RAINFALL, WOULD HAVE WATER ENOUGH TO LAST SIX AND A HALF YEARS.

"IF THAT IS THE CASE, THERE IS NO EMERGENCY," HE SAID.

MCCARTHY ALSO DECLARED AT A COMMITTEE HEARING ON THE PROJECT THAT THE COMMITTEE SHOULD "EXAMINE THE PROPRIETY OF THE NAVY BUILDING PROJECT THAT POSSIBLY SHOULD HAVE BEEN UNDERTAKEN AS A RECLAMATION PROJECT."

THE HEARING WAS CALLED BY COMMITTEE CHAIRMAN AIKEN (R-VT) TO CONSIDER A REPORT BY COMPTROLLER GENERAL LINDSAY WARREN THAT THE NAVY IS BUILDING THE AQUEDUCT WITH NAVY FUNDS WITHOUT AUTHORITY TO DO SO UNDER THE WAR POWERS ACT. THE NAVY AGREED, AFTER SURRENDER OF GERMANY AND JAPAN, TO BUILD THE AQUEDUCT AND LEASE IT TO SAN DIEGO FOR $500,000 A YEAR FOR 32 YEARS.

BOTH WILLIAM E.WARNE, ASSISTANT RECLAMATION COMMISSIONER, AND SENATOR DOWNEY (D-CALIF) TOLD THE COMMITTEE SAN DIEGO FACED A CRITICAL WATER SHORTAGE CAUSED BY THE HEAVY DRAIN ON LOCAL SUPPLIES DURING AND SINCE THE WAR BY THE EXPANDED MILITARY AND NAVAL ESTABLISHMENT IN SAN DIEGO.

WARNE SAID IT IS CONCEIVABLE THAT SAN DIEGO WILL BE OUT OF WATER BY EARLY IN 1948.

MCCARTHY CITED FIGURES SHOWING SAN DIEGO RESERVOIRS NOW HAVE ABOUT 39,000,000,000 GALLONS OF STORED WATER, THAT 10-INCH RAINFALL WOULD SUPPLY 30,000,000 GALLONS A DAY, AND THAT PRESENT CONSUMPTION IS 50,008,000 GALLONS A DAY.

HE SUGGESTED THE COMMITTEE "LOOK INTO THE QUESTION WHETHER THE AQUEDUCT PROJECT SHOULD NOT BE TURNED OVER TO THE RECLAMATION BUREAU FOR COMPLETION."

DOWNEY SAID HE IS CONVINCED MCCARTHY'S CALCULATIONS ARE "ALL TOTALLY WRONG" BECAUSE EVAPORATION EQUALS CONSUMPTION.

DOWNEY SAID HE CONCEIVED THE IDEA OF HAVING THE NAVY BUILD THE AQUEDUCT, NOW 70 PERCENT COMPLETED, AS AN EMERGENCY WAR PROJECT BECAUSE IT WAS PRINCIPALLY NAVY CONSUMPTION OF WATER THAT HAD CAUSED THE WATER SHORTAGE. WASHINGTON,FEB 25-(AP)-PRESIDENT TRUMAN'S STATEMENT TODAY ON THE RECIPROCAL TRADE PROGRAM FOLLOWS: (ABOUT 450)

I WISH TO REAFFIRM THE FAITH OF THIS ADMINISTRATION IN THE CORDELL HULL RECIPROCAL TRADE AGREEMENTS PROGRAM, WHICH BECAME EFFECTIVE IN 1934 AND WHICH HAS BEEN EXTENDED BY CONGRESS ALL THESE YEARS. THIS PROGRAM IS BASED ON THE PRINCIPLE OF NEGOTIATION BETWEEN THIS AND OTHER COUNTRIES FOR THE REDUCTION OF TRADE RESTRICTIONS AND ELIMINATION OF DISCRIMINATIONS ON A MUTUALLY ADVANTAGEOUS BASIS; FOR EACH CONCESSION GRANTED BY THE UNITED STATES, A CORRESPONDING CONCESSION IS RECEIVED. THIS PROGRAM HAS BECOME AN INTEGRAL PART OF OUR FOREIGN POLICY, AND HAS WIDESPREAD SUPPORT FROM INDUSTRY, LABOR AND FARMERS.

I AM TODAY ISSUING AN EXECUTIVE ORDER WHICH FORMALIZES AND MAKES MANDATORY CERTAIN EXISTING TRADE AGREEMENTS PROCEDURES AND WHICH, IN ADDITION, MAKES SOME PROCEDURAL CHANGES. I WISH TO MAKE CLEAR THAT THE PROVISIONS OF THE ORDER DO NOT DEVIATE FROM THE TRADITIONAL CORDELL HULL PRINCIPLES. THEY SIMPLY MAKE ASSURANCE DOUBLY SURE THAT AMERICAN INTERESTS WILL BE PROPERLY SAFEGUARDED.

THIS ORDER IS THE RESULT OF CONVERSATIONS BETWEEN UNDER SECRETARIES OF STATE ACHESON AND CLAYTON AND SENATORS VANDENBERG AND MILLIKIN, AND HAS BEEN CAREFULLY CONSIDERED BY THE INTER-DEPARTMENTAL TRADE AGREEMENTS ORGANIZATION. THIS ORGANIZATION IS COMPOSED OF REPRESENTATIVES OF THE DEPARTMENTS OF STATE, WAR, NAVY, TREASURY, AGRICULTURE AND COMMERCE, AND THE TARIFF COMMISSION.

B85WX

THE UNITED STATES IS PREPARING TO MEET WITH EIGHTEEN OTHER NATIONS IN GENEVA ON THE TENTH OF APRIL TO NEGOTIATE ON POLICIES AFFECTING WORLD TRADE. WE PLAN TO COMPLETE THE DRAFT OF A CHARTER ESTABLISHING COMMON PRINCIPLES OF WORLD TRADE POLICY AND SETTING UP AN INTERNATIONAL TRADE ORGANIZATION. WE ALSO SHALL NEGOTIATE THE REDUCTION OF TARIFFS, THE REMOVAL OF OTHER BARRIERS TO TRADE, AND THE ELIMINATION OF DISCRIMINATORY PRACTICES. I AM VERY HAPPY THAT SENATORS VANDENBERG AND MILLIKIN AGREE THAT WE SHOULD GO FORWARD WITH THE GENEVA NEGOTIATIONS.

ALL OF US MUST NOW RECOGNIZE THAT BI-PARTISAN SUPPORT OF OUR FOREIGN ECONOMIC POLICY, AS WELL AS OF OUR FOREIGN POLICY IN GENERAL, IS ESSENTIAL. IF WE ARE TO SUCCEED IN OUR EFFORTS, THROUGH THE UNITED NATIONS, TO ORGANIZE THE WORLD FOR PEACE, WE CANNOT REFUSE OUR COOPERATION WHERE ECONOMIC QUESTIONS ARE INVOLVED. HERE, AS ELSEWHERE IN OUR FOREIGN RELATIONS, WE MUST ABANDON PARTISANSHIP AND UNITE IN OUR SUPPORT OF A FOREIGN POLICY THAT SERVES THE INTERESTS OF THE NATION AS A WHOLE.

FORRESTAL SAID CONDITIONS DO NOT YET EXIST WHICH PROVIDE THE BACKGROUND FOR DISARMAMENT, "NOR WILL THEY UNTIL WE HAVE WRITTEN THE PEACE TREATIES WITH GERMANY AND JAPAN, UNTIL THE UNITED NATIONS HAS PROVED ITSELF A SUCCESSFUL GOING CONCERN, UNTIL IT IS CLEAR THAT THE REST OF THE WORLD WANTS TRUE DISARMAMENT."

"SECRETARY MARSHALL HAS ASKED ME TO ACCOMPANY HIM TO THE MOSCOW CONFERENCE AND I HAVE ACCEPTED. I HAVE DONE SO AFTER CONSULTATION WITH, AMONG OTHERS, SENATOR VANDENBERG (R-MICH), CHAIRMAN OF THE SENATE FOREIGN RELATIONS COMMITTEE."

HE SAID THAT THE MOSCOW NEGOTIATIONS "ARE OF VITAL IMPORTANCE" AND ADDED THAT "THEY WILL LARGELY DETERMINE WHETHER EUROPE WILL REALIZE THE KIND OF PEACE FOR WHICH SO MANY SUFFERED AND DIED."

"TO ACHIEVE THOSE GOALS WILL REQUIRE A SUSTAINED WILL TO SUCCEED AND AN ATTITUDE OF MUTUAL CONSIDERATION AND UNDERSTANDING," DULLES SAID. "THIS TASK OF WINNING THE PEACE IS ONE WHICH CALLS FOR UNITED EFFORT ON THE PART OF THE AMERICAN PEOPLE JUST AS DID THE TASK OF WINNING MILITARY VICTORY."

HIS STATEMENT CONCLUDED: "I AM GLAD TO ENGAGE MY SERVICES IN THAT GREAT EFFORT AND AS A REPUBLICAN TO EVIDENCE THE CONTINUANCE OF BI-PARTISAN COOPERATION TO ACHIEVE A JUST AND DURABLE PEACE."

ISLAND BASE PLAN BACKED BY RUSSIA (AP)

Gromyko Gives U.S. Formal Support In Security Council

F. CARPENTER

Lake Success, N.Y., Feb. 26 (AP)—The United States won speedy Russian indorsement tonight on its request for immediate American trusteeship over the strategic Japanese-mandated islands of the western Pacific where Japan mounted her attack on Pearl Harbor, Guam and Wake.

The quick Russian approval and informal expressions from other members of the United Nations Security Council indicated that the United States would gain eventual approval of its request. The Security Council, however, adjourned further action on it until March 7 so the delegates could consult their governments.

Asked For Action Now

Warren R. Austin, United States representative to the United Nations, formally laid this country's proposed trusteeship agreement, announced by President Truman last November 6, before the Council with a request for action now.

Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet delegate, spoke briefly to record Russia's approval of the principles and main terms involved in the United States proposal. He submitted three amendments to the agreement but they apparently would make no vital change in the United States plan.

Austin in a twenty-minute speech said the United States would observe the provisions of the United Nations Charter in administering the vast chain of 98 islands and satellite clusters comprising the Marshalls, Marianas and Carolines.

Could Close Islands

He said the United States, as sole administering authority, could close the islands when it chose for security reasons and could erect and maintain fortifications.

He pledged the United States to abide by all international control and inspection measures that may become part of a system of international control of atomic energy, other weapons of mass destruction and conventional armaments.

"The United States," Austin said, "is willing to submit to international supervision, as provided in the agreement, the political, economic, social and educational development of the inhabitants of the trust territory. It is equally willing to submit military and naval installations to whatever degree of supervision and control may be provided by agreements for the international control of armaments and armed forces."

Details Security Reasons

The United States has served notice that it will continue to occupy the islands regardless of United Nations action, but Austin devoted a good portion of his speech to detailing reasons for United States concern with the security aspects of the islands.

He said the Japanese used them to strike at Pearl Harbor, Guam and Wake Island; to carry out operations against United States shipping in the Eastern Pacific for years, to screen Japanese movements against the Philippines and the British and Dutch possessions and as a base for their projected attack against Australia.

"Tens of thousands of American lives, vast expenditures of treasure and years of bitter fighting were necessary to drive the Japanese aggressors back from these islands," Austin said. "These islands constitute an integrated strategic physical complex vital to the security of the United States."

"The American people," he added, "are firmly resolved that this area shall never again be used as a springboard for aggression against the United States or any other member of the United Nations."

Countering possible objections that the trusteeship agreement should await conclusion of the peace treaty with Japan, Austin said that as a result of the war, Japan had ceased to exercise authority in these islands; that the United States does not consider there is any barrier to placing these islands under trusteeship in accordance with the Charter, and that it is his Government's view a trusteeship agreement can take effect "at this time." He said it "need not await the general peace settlement with Japan."

Gromyko's amendments were based on points for which Russia fought vainly during long discussions on trusteeship matters before the General Assembly in New York.

Opposes "Integral Part"

His first would delete the phrase "as an integral part of the United States" from the section of the agreement giving the administering authority full powers over the territory.

His second would add the words "or independence" to the United States pledge to foster development of the inhabitants of the trust territories "toward self-government."

His third would have the effect of lodging final approval for changing the terms of the agreement or discontinuing it in the Security Council. The United States proposed that this country must give its consent to any changes or termination. The United States and Russia both hold the veto power in the Security Council, so the United States would, in effect, have the final word even if the Russian amendment prevailed.

U.S. Asks Quick Action On Isle Trusteeship

J. PARRIS

Lake Sucess, N.Y., Feb. 26 (AP)—United States Delegate Warren R. Austin declared today that the Japanese mandated islands in the Pacific are vital to the security of this country, and asked the United Nations Security Council to designate the vast chains as a strategic area under United Nations trusteeship with the United States as sole administrator.

In one of his major policy speeches before the Council, Austin sought immediate action on the agreement, but made it clear that the United States would remain on the islands regardless.

The terms of the proposal would amount to virtual outright annexation in that Washington, as administering authority, would be empowered to close the islands at will for security reasons.

No Mention Of Russ View

Also included were provisions for erection and maintenance of fortifications.

Austin took no note of the surprise Soviet agreement to the American plan as announced by Secretary of State Marshall, but struck at British and Australian requests for delay with the statement that he saw "no barrier to placing these islands under trusteeship whenever the Security Council approves the draft."

The British-Australian view was that final decision on the issue should await signing of the Japanese peace treaty. However, a Foreign Office spokesman said in London today that Britain would not oppose any "unanimous-looking" Council decision.

Vital To U.S. Security

Declaring that "tens of thousands" of American lives were lost in driving back the Japanese from the islands, Austin said:

"These islands constitute an integrated, strategic, physical complex, vital to the security of the United States.

"The American people are firmly resolved that this area shall never again be used as a springboard for aggression against the United States or any other member of the United Nations."

Austin stressed that the United States was illustrating its faith in the United Nations by moving for trusteeship rather than annexation.

Pledged To Peace Role

"Our purpose is to defend the security of these islands in a manner which will contribute to the building of a genuine, effective and enforceable collective security for all members of the United Nations," he said.

He pledged that the administration would be carried out so that "this trust territory shall play its part in the maintenance of international peace and security."

In discussing provisions for closing the 9 8islands and island clusters—comprising the Marshalls, Marianas and Carolines—Austin noted that his Government was ready to throw them open to inspection in the event of an agreement on a control system covering atomic energy and other armaments.

Includes Major Bases

Included in the territory are some of the most important bases of the war—Saipan, Tinian, Truk, Eniwetok, Kwajalein and Majuro.

Austin made no mention in his address of such bases as Iwo Jima and Okinawa, which were not mandates and thus remain outside the proposed strategic area.

American sources said no decision would be made on these, pending gtheir final disposition in the Japanese treaty, but that there was a good chance that the United States would offer a similar trusteeship plan for them.

It was understood that the United States would welcome suggestions on the text from Council members, but Austin said:

"It (the agreement) contains the terms upon which the United States is prepared to administer the former Japanese mandate islands as a trust territory."

Speedy Action Urged

In arguing for speedy action on his proposal, Austin noted that "all authority in these islands is now exercised by the United States" and that Japan has forfeited the right and capacity to be the mandatory power over the islands because of her aggression.

He also noted that no other nation had asserted any claim for trusteeship.

For these reasons, Austin said, there was no need to wait for the signing of the Japanese treaty.

Russia had been expected to side with the British and Australian contention that the United Nations should postpone the whole question of the future of the strategic Marshall, Marianas and Caroline groups until a peace treaty with Japan is written.

British Ask Instructions

A British representative said that in view of the Soviet move, his delegation had cabled London for instructions.

nous economic resources.

The tremendous strategic value of the mandated islands to Japan is evident, however, in the way these islands were used in carrying out its basic plan of aggression. Before Japan entered the war on Dec. 7, 1941, she had established fortified positions, naval bases and air bases in the islands of the Japanese mandates. As a whole, the islands formed a deep, well defended barrier between the United States and Guam, the Philippines, and its British and Dutch allies in the Far East. * * *

Tens of thousands of American lives, vast expenditures of treasure and years of bitter fighting were necessary to drive the Japanese aggressors back from these islands. These islands constitute an integrated strategic physical complex vital to the security of the United States.

The American people are firmly specific provisions for strategic needs in special areas, but also to the draft agreements for non-strategic areas recently submitted to the General Assembly by five of the mandatory powers. This draft trusteeship agreement is viewed by the Government of the United States as conforming, in substance and in form, with the Charter and as promoting the interests both of the inhabitants of the islands and of the United Nations. It contains the terms upon which the United States is prepared to administer the former Japanese mandated islands as a trust territory.

In conformity with the provisions of the Charter for strategic areas the trust territory will contain bases. Many atolls in the territory have potential value as base sites or as anchorages. Few such sites, however, are being developed and maintained at present.

prejudice the full application to the entire trust territory of all international control and inspection measures that become part of a system of international control of atomic energy, other weapons of mass destruction and conventional armaments.

The United States is willing to submit to international supervision, as provided in the agreement, the political, economic, social and educational development of the inhabitants of the trust territory. It is equally willing to submit military and naval installations to whatever degree of supervision and control may be provided by agreements for the international control of armaments and armed forces. * * *

* * * It is the view of this Government that the conclusion of a trusteeship agreement pursuant to the Charter for the former Japanese mandated islands clearly can take effect at this time and does not depend upon, and need not await, the general peace settlement with Japan.

Excerpts From Austin Trusteeship Statement

Excerpts from a statement yesterday by Warren R. Austin, United States representative, before the United Nations Security Council follow:

Mr. President, the United States, like other nations adhering to the United Nations Declaration of Jan. 1, 1942, subscribed to the Atlantic Charter principle that "their countries seek no aggrandizement, territorial or otherwise." * * *

Final disposition of islands belonging to Japan must, of course, await the peace settlement with Japan. The draft trusteeship agreement submitted to the Security Council for its approval relates only to the former Japanese mandated islands, which never belonged to Japan, but were a part of the League of Nations mandate system. The United States has consistently and strongly supported the position of the General Assembly that former mandated territories should be placed under the trusteeship system as soon as possible. * * *

The Japanese mandated islands —the Marshalls, Marianas and Carolines—consist of some ninety-eight islands and island clusters with a total land mass of only 846 square miles, a total population of only about 48,000 native inhabitants and negligible indige-resolved that this area shall never again be used as a springboard for aggression against the United States or any other member of the United Nations.

Most of the strategically important areas of the world, including those in the Pacific, are at present under the exclusive sovereignty of various of the larger nations. The United States, however, is proposing trusteeship rather than annexation as the basis for its administration of these highly strategic islands.

In undertaking to place under trusteeship a territory of such strategic importance to the United States as these islands, the United States is expressing its faith in the United Nations.

Our purpose is to defend the security of these islands in a manner that will contribute to the building up of genuine, effective and enforceable collective security for all members of the United Nations.

The first of the four basic objectives of the trusteeship system set forth in Article 76 of the Charter is "to further international peace and security." Since the area of the former Japanese mandated islands is of paramount strategic importance, the United States proposes, in accordance with the Article 82 of the Charter, that the trust territory be designated a strategic area.

In preparing this draft trusteeship agreement, the Government of the United States gave long and careful study not only to the Charter as a whole and to its

The United States will administer this strategic trust territory in accordance with the provisions of the Charter. In particular, the United States will administer the territory in accordance with the obligations contained in Article 2, Paragraph 4 "to refrain from the threat or use of force against the territorial integrity or political independence of any state or in any other manner inconsistent with the Purposes of the United Nations."

The United States as administering authority will insure that this trust territory shall play its part in the maintenance of international peace and security in accordance with its obligation under Article 1 of the Charter—"to take effective collective measures for the prevention and removal of threats to the peace and for the suppression of acts of aggression or other breaches of the peace." Its administration will also be in accordance with Article 84 of the Charter, relating to the part to be played by trust territories "in carrying out the obligations toward the Security Council" of the administering authority.

The United States intends, therefore, to include this trust territory as fully as those territories under its sovereignty in the special agreement or agreements it will conclude with the Security Council for the provision to the United Nations of armed forces, assistance and facilities, including rights of passage, necessary for the purpose of maintaining international peace and security as envisaged under Article 43 of the Charter. * * *

The United States draft agreement provides that the administering authority may from time to time specify certain areas as closed for security reasons. This provision will not, of course,

Austin to Represent U. S. On U. N. Armament Body

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26—President Truman nominated today Warren R. Austin, United States delegate to the United Nations, as this country's representative on the United Nations Commission for Conventional Armaments.

The commission was established two weeks ago by the Security Council to work for international disarmament. It will deal with all weapons except the atomic bomb.

AUSTIN CHOICE HAILED IN U.N.

American Fifth Named As Arms Commission Member

Lake Success, N.Y., Feb. 26 (AP)—United Nations officials greeted warmly today the nomination of Warren R. Austin, United States representative to the United Nations, as this country's member of the important United Nations commission which will work out a program for the reduction and control of "conventional" arms.

The designation of Austin by President Truman, which is expected to be confirmed by the Senate, brought to five the number of states on the eleven-member Security Council which have named members of the commission.

May Not Meet For Month

The commission, officially known as the United Nations Commission for Conventional Armaments, may not meet for another month, informed sources said.

Created by a Security Council resolution on February 14, the commission was instructed to submit within three months proposals for arms reductions and for cutting armed forces. But it is acknowledged by United Nations officials that the commission will be able barely to scratch the surface in that time.

The United Nations had received the names of four representatives on the commission.

Four Previously Named

They are:

Sir Alexander Cadogan, Great Britain.

Faris el Khouri, Syria.

Fernand van Langenhove, Belgium.

Dr. Oswaldo Aranha, Brazil.

It is expected that the remaining six countries will nominate their present representatives on the Security Council. These are:

Andrei A. Gromyko, Russia.

Alexandre Parodi, France.

Dr. Quo Tai-chi, China.

Dr. Eduardo Zuleta Angel, Colombia.

Dr. Oscar Lange, Poland.

Paul Hasluck, Australia.

None of the six has given any indication yet when it will name the representative so that the commission may go to work.

Looking For Deputy

Austin is looking for a deputy to sit for him on the armaments body, just as he is searching for a deputy on the Atomic Energy Commission which still must deal separately with the control of the atomic bomb and weapons of mass destruction.

Informed of his nomination just before the Security Council meeting today, Austin said he would have to have someone to sit for him at the long meetings. His duties as chief of the United States mission to the United Nations involve considerable policy-making and some deputy must handle the day-to-day details.

Ambassador Hershel V. Johnson has been named Austin's deputy for the Security Council.

Austin, former Republican senator from Vermont, took his seat as chief delegate from this country last month, but he has been active in United Nations planning and thinking for years. While he was in the Senate he frequently was consulted on United Nations matters and has a wide background of knowledge of its affairs.

Truman Signs U. N. Site Bill

Washington, Feb. 26 (A. P.).—President Truman signed today a bill freeing from approximately $3,500,000 in gift taxes John D. Rockefeller Jr.'s donation of an $8,500,000 New York city site for the United Nations headquarters.

LABOR PARTY HIT ON PLAN TO QUIT

Night Shift Is Proposed For Industry in Britain

GLENN WILLIAMS

LONDON, Feb. 26. — (AP) A British government spokesman reluctantly announced tonight that Britain must adopt another innovation—introduction of the "night shift" in industry.

More than a third of Britain's workers must be put on a night shift "at once" to level off the load on the country's time-worn and war-impaired electric power generators, Sir Stafford Cripps, president of the Board of Trade, told the House of Commons.

Sees No Other Solution

"There is really no other solution," he said.

Introduction of the night shift—almost unheard of in Britain where few fireside-loving Britons worked at night even during the war-time production crises—will mean "a revolution in the nation's social habits," an official said.

"It will cause a great deal of inconvenience and even discomfort to managements and to operatives," said Anthony Eden, former foreign secretary, who nevertheless declared "I think everybody will admit it has some temporary advantage."

Virtually the entire nation is geared for day-time work only. Subways close soon after midnight. Most restaurants and pubs shut their doors by 10 p. m., and theaters are empty soon after.

Eden Cites 'Problems'

Transporting, feeding and accommodating millions of night workers therefore promise to be what Eden called problems "very difficult to work out."

A joint committee of labor, employers and government representatives called for reports from local industrial areas on plans for the change.

The committee, aware that new blizzards in the coal producing Northlands mean a prolongation of the industrial crisis, agreed to sit in a special session March 13 when it will attempt to implement the new plan.

The committee said the change would affect about 7,000,000 workers, including 2,300,000 women.

INDIA NEXT YEAR

G. WILLIAMS (N)

LONDON, Feb. 26—(AP) Lord Cranborne, Conservative spokesman, declared tonight that it was "almost impossible" to create an agreed independent government of India, as the House of Lords debated the government's plan to pull out of India by June, 1948.

Pressing a sharply worded attack on the Labor party, Lord Cranborne said that if the plan failed "We shall have played fast and loose with the lives and property of 400,000,000 people and may well have plunged the country (India) x x x into the welter of civil war."

However, Cranborne urged the peers not to press for a vote on a motion criticizing the proposal, and the motion finally was withdrawn by its sponsor, Lord Templewood (Sir Samuel Hoare) former foreign secretary.

Templewood earlier had attacked the plan as "a gambler's throw."

Lord Halifax, former viceroy of India, foreign secretary and ambassador to the United States, declared "the truth is that for India today there is no solution which is not fraught with the gravest objection and danger."

The government's viewpoint was set forth by Lord Jowitt, Lord Chancellor, who said that although a "grave risk" was involved, it was hoped that "to put the problem fairly and squarely on Indian shoulders might have some effect."

Jowitt said British troops would stay in India until the transfer of power from Britain to some Indian government was effected. British subjects would not have to leave India, he said, "although members of the civil service and of the Indian armed forces who were not invited to remain in the service of the new authority, or do not wish to do so, will leave."

Special U.N. Session On Palestine Studied

London, Feb. 26 (AP)—British representatives at Lake Success, N.Y., are investigating the possibility of whether a special session of the United Nations General Assembly can be called to consider the Palestine problem, a Government source said today.

Unless the special meeting is called, the Holy Land issue will await action at the next regular meeting of the Assembly next September, the informant said.

Accord Hopes Slight

Although Ernest Bevin, Foreign Minister, told the House of Commons yesterday that he was willing to try again to settle the problem before referring it to the United Nations, the Government source said there was "not much hope" of new efforts.

The informant said Prime Minister Attlee fully supported Bevin's accusations to the House yesterday that President Truman had wrecked Palestine negotiations by issuing a statement on Jewish immigration during the United States congressional election campaign last fall.

A secret brbadcast by the Jewish extremist organization, Irgun Zvai Leumi, heard in the Holy Land, declared that Bevin "tries to turn our people into a lot of beggars on one side and into mercenaries of rival American parties on the other side."

Arab Asks Anti-Zion Drive

LONDON, Feb. 26 (AP).—A Palestinian Arab editor today urged a world-wide Communist campaign to discredit Zionism—especially in the United States—as "an ally of imperialism."

Emil Touma, a leader of the Palestine National Liberation League and editor of the newspaper "Al Ittihad," outlined his views to delegates and guests from thirty countries at the first British Empire Conference of Communist parties.

"The problem of Palestine is independence," Touma said in an address discussing a proposed resolution to demand immediate British evacuation of Palestine, India, Burma, Ceylon, Egypt and all Arab countries.

The first step should be evacuation of the 100,000 British troops now in Palestine, Touma said, and the second, an end to the flow of Jewish immigrants "misguided" by Zionism.

Warning that "American monopoly capitalism is preparing for a new war and is infiltrating the Middle East," the Arab delegate said the center of Zionism is moving from Britain across the Atlantic.

"Zionism is trying, by promoting immigration, to keep its hold on the masses in Palestine and thereby to promote imperialism, especially American imperialism," he said.

Touma dismissed Britain's reference of the Palestine case to the United Nations as "a mere delaying maneuver," which he said was designed to keep Palestine as a military base "against the Soviet Union and the Arab freedom movement."

British Reds Hit Imperialism

London, Feb. 26 (AP)—A British Empire Communist Conference Committee demanded today full independence for India, Burma, Ceylon, Egypt and Palestine.

A report, prepared for submission to the party's empire conference, also asked that Britain turn over the strategic Mediterranean island of Malta to Italy and bring about the union of Cyprus with Greece.

R. Palme Dutt, chairman of the conference's international affairs committee, said in his report to delegates from all parts of the empire that the Communists considered the newly announced British plan for India a scheme "to play off one section against another and finally impose a British partition as the basis of continued British domination in 1948.

Criticizes Royal Tour

Dutt bitterly criticized the current royal tour of South Africa, describing it as an attempt "to cover up the blood-stained Smuts regime of racial oppression, denial of democracy and murderous exploitation."

Dutt said his party demanded "full independence for India, Burma, Ceylon, Egypt and Palestine, together with all the Arabian countries which are held under indirect control."

"In addition," he said, "the party demands the ending of colonial control and the right of self-determination for Cyprus to unite with Greece and Malta with Italy in accordance with the wishes of their people."

Crisis Centered In Britain

A "developing crisis in the whole colonial system," Dutt said, "is centered today in the heart of the empire, in Britain."

"As American imperialism advances, British imperialism is declining and being thrown on the defensive, though also not without aggressive aims," he declared.

"It is well known that the aims of the American expansion extend to the absorption of the British Empire as the richest prize. This dilemma the British imperialists endeavor to solve by accepting the position of junior partnership with the United States."

Says Stalin Fears Anglo-U. S. Pact

London Official Quotes Montgomery as Reporting Russian Believes We Have Working Entente.

London, Feb. 26 (A. P.).—A Government informant disclosed today that Field Marshal Lord Montgomery recently told the British Cabinet that Generalissimo Stalin and other Russian leaders believe that Britain and the United States have an unwritten working agreement governing their attitude toward the Soviet Union.

The point will be one of many issues Foreign Secretary Bevin will discuss with Stalin when he goes to Moscow next month for the Big Four Council of Foreign Ministers, the informant added.

Montgomery met with Soviet leaders in Moscow earlier this year. It was he who brought back word that Stalin wanted the 1942 Anglo-Soviet treaty revised to eliminate what the Russian leader called certain "weakening reservations."

Stalin did not appear, in his conversation with Montgomery, to be "particularly perturbed about Anglo-American plans to standardize some military equipment and training," today's Government spokesman said, but expressed, in fact, complete understanding at the continuation of Britain's wartime military collaboration with America. "What apparently did worry Stalin," he continued, "was the implied existence of a deeper Anglo-American understanding."

Stalin was reported to have told Montgomery that it could not have been mere chance that Britain's views "invariably—indeed, almost without exception"—paralleled those of the United States Government when any issue of consequence arose at international conferences. The informant added that Stalin told Montgomery that constant Anglo-American standardization of political reactions to international issues could hardly be the result only of a common language.

YUGOSLAV CHARGE DENIED

British Reject Onus in Death of Belgrade Aide to Italy

LONDON, Feb. 26 (AP)—Government sources said today that Britain had rejected a formal Yugoslav charge that Britons were to blame for the fatal beating of a Yugoslav repatriation officer in Italy last month.

In a note handed to Yugoslav Ambassador Ljuba J. Leontitch, Britain emphasized that Yugoslavia's consular representative, Vitko Glungic, entered a Chetnik camp near Naples on Jan. 25 after being warned by British military authorities that his life was in danger.

Yugoslavia declared that a British officer watched "tranquilly" while Chetniks—whom Glungic and a companion, Joseph Engel, were seeking to persuade to return to their homeland—beat Glungic to death with steel bars.

British Won't Object.

London, Feb. 26 (A. P.).—A Foreign Office spokesman said today that Britain would not oppose any "unanimous-looking" Security Council decision on United States plans to assume trusteeship over the former Japanese-mandated Pacific islands. The spokesman said, however, that in a British view the United States proposal appeared "ill-timed."

POLISH PREMIER IN SOVIET

LONDON, Feb. 26. — (AP) The Moscow radio said tonight Josef Cyrankiewicz, Polish premier, was received in Moscow today by Prime Minister Stalin. Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov was present.

Women's Peace League Given Share Of Prize

London, Feb. 26 (AP)—The London office of the Women's International League announced today that Miss Emily Greene Balch, of Wellesley, Mass., cowinner of the 1946 Nobel Peace Prize, had given $10,000 of the prize money unconditionally to the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom.

The 1946 prize, shared by Miss Balch, internationally known economist, with Dr. John R. Mott, noted religious leader, amounted to $34,000.

Miss Balch, 80 years old, has been prominent in women's peace movements since the time of the first World War. She was elected honorary international president of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom in 1936.

Britain to Double Daylight Saving

London, Feb. 26 (A. P.).—Britain will turn the clock ahead two hours this summer to save fuel and help industry's new staggered hours program.

The Home Secretary Chuter Ede announced in the House of Commons today that regular "summer time" would run from March 16 to November 2 and that "double summer time" would operate from April 13 to August 10. During midsummer, double summer time means that darkness does not settle on Britain until about 11 P. M.

New Anglo-French Bank Is Formed

London, Feb. 26 (A. P.).—Formation of a new Anglo-French bank to stimulate trade between the British and French empires was announced today by its London backers.

The bank, with an authorized capital of $4,000,000, is to take over the business of the London branch of the Banque Nationale Pour le Commerce et l'Industrie, established in 1939.

British Get U. S. Dresses

LONDON, Feb. 26 (AP)—Britain imported $189,980 worth of women's and girls' dresses and skirts from the United States during the last quarter of 1946, the Board of Trade announced today.

Dublin Promotes Nunan

DUBLIN, Feb. 26 (AP).—Sean Nunan, Irish Consul-General in New York, has been appointed Minister to Washington to succeed Robert Brennan, who is returning to Ireland to become director of broadcasting for Radio Eireann. Brennan has been Minister to Washington since 1938.

DUTCH GET MORE CREDIT

PARIS, Feb. 26. — (AP) The Netherlands government has been granted an additional $10,000,000 credit for the purchase of American war surplus now going on sale in Germany, the U. S. office of the foreign liquidation commissioner announced today.

The new grant brings to $30,000,000 the total credit extended by the United States to the Dutch for surplus purchases.

French to Confer on Prisoners

PARIS, Feb. 26 (AP)—French and American experts will meet in Paris on March 4 to discuss practical methods of handling the liberation of German prisoners of war lent to the French Government for post-war reconstruction work, Government sources said tonight.

GOERING HID VIAL IN TOILET, REPORT

Plumbing Knowledge Credited In Cheating Hangman

Nuernberg, Germany, Feb. 26 (AP)—Hermann Goering managed to cheat the hangman because he knew more about German plumbing than his American captors, a reliable source disclosed today.

The informant said that the former Reichsmarshal managed to commit suicide in Nuernberg Jail last October by taking poison which he had hidden in the toilet in his cell—a toilet which differed from those in the United States.

Goering bragged about outsmarting the Americans in a farewell letter to Col. B. C. Andrus, then the prison commandant, the source said. He gave the following version of that still unpublished letter:

Decided Commode Was Safest

Goering entered Nuernberg with the poison concealed rectally. As soon as he was in his cell, he decided the German-type commode would be the safest place to hide a metal cartridge containing a vial of prussic acid.

There was a slight hump in the outlet pipe through which the water flushed and Goering gambled that the hump was high enough and the metal cartridge heavy enough so the container would not flush out. He put the cartridge in the recess and flushed the toilet experimentally several times. The cartridge stayed there.

His Luck Held

Goering carried the cartridge to the courtroom with him many times, and his luck held. Although his cell was changed abruptly five different times in his absence, each time he had the cartridge with him.

Sometimes he carried the vial in his uniform pocket, sometimes rectally, and once or twice embedded it in the navel cavity. He never told anyone about it—even his wife—but he assured, her he would never die on the gallows.

The cartridge, green from corrosion, was found beside Goering's body when they came to take him to the gallows.

Goering Letters Tell How He Hid Poison

Nuernberg, Germany, Feb. 26 (AP)—Hermann Goering knew something about German plumbing which his captors didn't, and that was how he managed his suicide several hours before he was to be hanged, a reliable source said today.

The informant said the former Reichsmarshal described his ruse in a letter to Col. B. C. Andrus, the prison commandant.

That letter and two others by Goering are in Allied Control Council files and probably never will be published officially. But the informant gave the following report on what Goering said to Andrus.

Three Poison Cartridges

The Nazi leader told of having three metal cartridges, each containing a vial of prussic acid. Andrus found one on Goering's person and thought there were no more. But Goering had a second one in his luggage in Mondorf and a third one concealed rectally when he was moved to Nuernberg for his trial by the International Military Tribunal.

As soon as he was in his cell, Goering went over the cubicle minutely and studied the toilet. How much did the Americans know about German plumbing? That was the principal problem. But he had to risk it.

The marshal knew exactly how it worked. There was the flat China bed, unlike American plumbing, and the 4-inch wide outlet in the front.

Boasted To Wife

The water flushed down that aperture, but there it had to backtrack. The pipe leading back, however, was not built in a straight line. There was a slight hump in it about three inches from the front.

Goering had to gamble that the hump was high enough so a metal cartridge placed in there, out of sight, of course, would be so heavy that the water could not carry it over that hump. Flushing proved that it was.

From that moment on, Goering was cocky, belligerent, sure of himself. He never would hang. And he so told his wife Emmy, at a visit one day last August. She said later she did not realize at the time why he was so positive.

He had several bad moments though when special shakedown inspections were held. But never did anyone probe the inner piping of the toilet.

Had One In Court

Many times Goering is reported to have said in his letter, he carried the cartridge with him to the courtroom. This he felt he had to do in case his cell was changed abruptly in his absence—which actually happened five times. And each time he was prepared.

He carried the cartridge even in his uniform pocket sometimes, occasionally rectally, once or twice embedded in the navel cavity.

When Goering was found dead the metal cartridge lay beside him. It was stained green, the deposit of many weeks of lying in the aperture with water crossing over it. He explained that in his note.

His face in death was twisted into a leer.

Says Only the Leaders of Plot Were Captured

BERLIN, Feb. 26 (AP).—The Soviet-sponsored newspaper "Taegliche Rundschau" charged anew today that the British and American occupation zones of Germany are "hideouts" for Nazi criminals, "despite the declaration of Lieutenant General Clay (military governor-designate of the American zone) and other responsible politicians."

The newspaper said the weekend raids in the American and British zones uncovered only the leaders of a Nazi underground movement, and that "thousands" of active participants in the plot still are at liberty.

The reference to Lieutenant General Lucius D. Clay apparently was an allusion to his recent press conference statement that the Americans had thrown more Nazi out of influential positions in Germany than any other occupying power. He said a "pretty thorough job" was being done in de-Nazification.

The newspaper said important "Fascist criminals" still are free in the west, although a number of "nominal party members" may have been brought to justice.

"Capitalistic magnates" are still "walking about" and "the leading positions in public, political and economic life still are filled with the big Nazis who held leading positions under the Hitler regime," the paper added.

"While the population of the western zones hungers and receives only 1,000 calories daily, the interned S.S. (elite guard) people receive up to 2,500 calories and additional rations of butter, cheese and calory-rich foods."

American officials said that interned S.S. officers and other suspected Nazi criminals in the American zone are receiving a diet of 1,750 calories, and that their diet is being reduced gradually to that of the German population.

GERMANS SURRENDER 9,270 GUNS TO U. S.

BERLIN, Feb. 26 — (AP) Germans in the U. S. occupation zone turned in 9,270 firearms and more than 252,000 rounds of ammunition, nearly enough to equip an infantry division, during a recent weapons amnesty, an official announcement said today.

The round-up of weapons in illegal possession of Germans preceded by two weeks the smashing of a widespread Nazi underground movement in the western zones of Germany.

Three light bomb throwers and 31 sub-machine guns were among the modern weapons turned in.

The amnesty, running from Feb. 1 to 10, gave Germans an opportunity, without fear of punishment, to give up firearms and other weapons whose possession is forbidden under rigid penalties.

Jewish G. I.'s Hit Marital Snag

U. S. Army Chaplain in Berlin Refuses to Sanction Marriages to German Girls—Fears Failures.

RIKASISCHRIFT

Berlin, Feb. 26 (A. P.).—The United States Army's Jewish chaplain in Berlin said today that he refused to sanction or perform any marriages between German girls and American soldiers of the Jewish faith here because he feared such marriages could not be successful.

The chaplain is 27-year-old Lieut. Mayer Abramowitz, who was born in Palestine. He said that he had refused fourteen Jewish soldiers and their girls the chaplain's sanction which is the first step in obtaining permission to marry here under the Army's relaxed rules for American-German weddings.

Similar interviews of affianced couples are conducted by the Protestant and Catholic chaplains, who said they had given their approval to a majority of applicants. The Christian chaplains here expect to perform more than a score of weddings during April, when the required three-month waiting period after the filing of first applications expire.

Lieut. Abramowitz said in an interview that he had become determined in his opposition to marriages of Germans and Jews at this time after much soul-searching and study of the problems in such marriages.

"I've always considered myself a liberal," Lieut. Abramowitz said, "but I just can't see how these marriages can work out. It is difficult enough for even mixed marriages between Jews and American gentiles to work, but I have the greatest doubt that German girls would be acceptable to Jewish families back home. Not a single Jewish G. I. has yet told me that his parents gave their consent to his marriage with a German.

"Before I approve of such a marriage I must be convinced that the anti-Semitic German nurtured by the Nazis has been eradicated from Germany, but that time is not here."

"On the contrary, I've heard Jewish G. I.s who have come to me wanting sanction to marry Germans state sharply critical opinions of the displaced persons and of the Russians—opinions which sounded like the Nazi line.

"Furthermore, in the eyes of German girls I've interviewed I could see that gleam of the hope of gaining entrance to the United States. That was confirmed when I saw some low-grade Jewish G. I.s coming in with girls obviously intellectually far above them."

Tells Jews of Truman Aid

Bernstein Says President Promised Help in Getting to Palestine

MUNICH, Feb. 26 (AP).—Rabbi Philip S. Bernstein, Jewish adviser to the American Military Government of Germany, told the Congress of Liberated Jews today President Truman had informed him he would "do everything possible to help the Jews to leave Germany and emigrate to Palestine."

Rabbi Bernstein said he had warned Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin, at a meeting in London, that the British government should "prevent a catastrophe and change its Palestinian policy."

U. S. Flier Killed in Germany

FRANKFORT ON THE MAIN, Germany, Feb. 26 (AP)—Capt. Harold D. Burkhardt of Los Angeles was killed Monday when his Mustang fighter plane crashed near Bamberg, Germany, the United States Army announced today. During the war Captain Burkhardt was shot down over Germany and held prisoner eleven months.

Hypnotism Blamed For Aiding Prisoners

Heidelberg, Germany, Feb. 26 (AP)—American constabulary officers reported tonight that a middle-aged German professor has pleaded hypnotism to explain his action in helping two German prisoners escape from jail.

Officers said Dr. Roman Frohlich, Mannheim mathematician, claimed his nephew, Herman Blaetner, hypnotized him into impersonating an American investigator and arranging for the release of Blaetner and a companion from custody.

The two prisoners, accused of ferrying smugglers across the Rhine, were recaptured.

De Gasperi Wins Backing

Rome, Feb. 26 (AP)—Premier Alcide de Gasperi won a strongly-contested vote of confidence from the Constituent Assembly last night after a three-week debate over his government's policies. The Premier's support was limited to the three parties represented in his Cabinet.

With the backing of his own Christian Democrats, the Communists and the pro-Communist wing of the Socialists, de Gasperi mustered 292 votes to 107. Opposing him were all the Rightest parties, Giuseppe Saragat's anti-Communist Socialist Faction, the Leftist Republicans and Actionists and most of the Independents.

Former Premier Vittorio E. Orlando was the only member to abstain from voting.

Florence Reports Fascist [illegible]sts

ROME, Feb. 26 (AP)—The Italian news agency Ansa said tonight that nine persons had been arneo-Fascist activity.

GUNFIRE ENDS BRUSSELS RIOT (N)

Belgian Bonus Marchers Break Through Police Lines

REMAN—MORIN

Brussels, Feb. 26 (AP)—A demonstration by former Belgian prisoners of war demanding payment of bonuses turned into a riotous battle today in which 50,000 marchers broke through police lines, trampled and crushed each other and only were stopped by machine-gun and rifle fire from behind the steel fence of the Parliament Building.

A day-long condition of siege of the Parliament Building was not broken until tonight when a ring of armored cars, machine guns, gendarmes and troops restored order in the angry throng and the Cabinet members were able to emerge from behind their locked doors.

Dozen Reported Killed

Unconfirmed reports said a dozen people were killed, but an official of the Ministry of the Interior said only one person was dead as the result of a heart attack. Unofficial estimates said 100 were injured, but the Ministry placed the list at 40. St. Pierre Hospital authorities said four gendarmes and twenty police and civilians were admitted for wounds and "many more" at other hospitals.

Organizations of former prisoners of war and persons once deported by the Germans for political activities, who have been demanding a special legal status and remaining payments of the bonus promised them during the war, chose the approximate hour for their parade when Lieut. Col. Raoul de Fraiteur, Minister of Defense, was appearing before the Cabinet.

Belgium Does Not Have Money

De Fraiteur explained that the bonus had not been paid because Belgium does not have the money now.

The organizations carried their wartime flags, some surmounted by eagles like those of Napoleon, and pictures of exiled King Leopold and a war prisoner with the motto "Both Forgotten."

The long line converged on Rue Royale and headed toward Parliament Square. A block below Parliament, gendarmes, police and army cavalry with drawn swords were drawn up in triple lines.

The Parade Stops

The head of the column surged against the line of gendarmes who lifted their rifles and held them horizontally across their chests.

The parade stopped.

The leaders of the column began talking with the commanders behind them and the gendarmes in front of them. Thousands of men kept moving forward, pressing tighter and tighter and filling the broad avenue from window to window.

And then, in a split second, the demonstration became a riot.

Grapple With Gendarmes

Leaders of the column began grappling with the gendarmes, who clubbed their rifles and smashed them into the faces of the demonstrators. Heavy canes and clubs landed on gendarmes helmets.

Bottles flew, men fell, banners shook and then crumpled.

In the center of the throng, men and women swayed, unable to keep a footing. Screams arose as those at the front tried to fall back before the blows of the gendarmes and those in the rear tried to push forward.

Cluster Falls Through Window

A whole cluster of people suddenly fell backward through a large plate-glass window of a store front. Another cluster standing on top of an automobile dropped inside when the roof collapsed.

Automobiles were overturned, and the gendarmes opened ranks before the rush of the mob.

At that moment mounted police charged. The horses crashed into the crowd, but force of the charge was spent after gaining a few feet. The cavalrymen fell back and the mob poured into Parliament Square.

Men Sprawl On Streets

New lines of mounted troops and armored cars with machine guns waited there behind the closed iron-spiked gates. A volley of shots and machine-gun fire appeared aimed over the heads of the crowd, but men sprawled on the wet cobblestones.

The mob reached as far as the gates but could go no farther.

One Cabinet member, Albert Martineaux, Minister of Health, was injured when he attempted to leave the building and was struck in the mouth by a club. He hastily retreated inside.

Former War Prisoner

De Fraiteur, himself a former prisoner of war, told the Cabinet, "nobody regrets it more than I, and I do not blame the people. They have been waiting for more than two years for the remainder of the promised payment."

He said the total outstanding payment would be 4,000,000,000 francs ($90,000,000).

Prime Minister Camille Huysmans said the Government already had paid out 7,500,000,000 francs ($170,000,000), and issued an order forbidding another demonstration scheduled for Sunday.

Troops and Police Open Fire On Brussels Crowd of 50,000

Rioting ex-Prisoners of War Beaten Back in Battle to Reach Parliament—Scores Reported Hurt.

Brussels, Feb. 26 (A. P.).—The police restored order in riot-torn Brussels tonight after a bloody demonstration by more than 50,000 former prisoners of war and deportees who drew machine-gun fire when they attempted to storm the Government Building.

Troops and policemen battled the demonstrators in the daylight hours with sabers and riflebutts, horses and armored cars.

A state of siege set in at nightfall, but the threat of further mob action was eventually broken up. Cabinet ministers were able to leave the building at 8 P. M.

Government Plays Down Story.

St. Pierre Hospital said that one person had died of injuries, four gendarmes had been injured seriously and twenty policemen and civilians had been admitted for less serious injuries. Authorities at the hospital also said that they understood many more persons had been admitted to other Brussels hospitals.

An official of the Ministry of the Interior said that the one fatality resulted from a heart attack, and that forty persons in all were injured slightly. The national radio also mimimized the events of the day, reporting at 7:30 P. M. that there were "no deaths" and describing the riot as "a certain amount of confusion" in the streets.

Carried Leopold's Picture.

The rioting began as an orderly parade, a demonstration by the organizations of former prisoners of the Germans. They have been demanding that the Government accord them a special legal status and pay the remaining half of a bonus promised them during the war.

While the huge parade was forming in the capital streets, Lieut.-Col. Raoul de Fraiteur, the Minister of National Defense, was standing before the Cabinet to explain why the debt had not been defrayed.

Various parading organizations carried their wartime flags. They also carried banners which bore such devices as "1940 — Duty: 1947—Suckers" and "Down with de Fraiteur." One banner bore a picture of exiled King Leopold beside that of a prisoner. It carried the wording: "Both Forgotten.'

Bullets, Sabers, Rifle-butts.

Though the troops and police opened fire on the mob and many of the latter dropped in the streets, apparently hit, it was evident that the firing mostly was into the air above the rioters' heads.

Scores of persons were trampled upon. Windows were smashed by the weight of the crowds pressing against store fronts. Bottles were hurled toward the triple police lines.

The demonstrators found three lines of police, mounted and on foot, stretched across the streets where they first arrived before the Houses of Parliament. They demanded that the commanders allow them to pass. As the parleys continued, other people—bearing banners, chanting, singing, howling and shaking their fists—began to pack the broad avenues. Some women lost their footing on the slippery, ice-striped paving and were severely trampled.

Armored cars carrying machine guns and regular cavalry reinforcements were thrown into the fray and firing continued, but the weapons appeared to be almed into the air.

Scores of Cars Overturned.

A few of the rioters broke through the police lines after an hour of fighting and reached the square in front of Parliament. Scores of automobiles parked on streets leading to the building were overturned, and the streets rang with screams of the injured and trampled, and with the roar of angry men.

The helmeted police in many cases used their rifles as clubs, smashing at the faces of rioters nearest them. The rioters struck back with clubs and heavy canes. The front police line bent back under the weight of the mob but suddenly, as if at a signal, the rioters broke ranks and the mounted police charged. Their horses reared high as they crashed into the pack of massed humanity. People screamed in fury and fear. Cavalrymen swung their swords, felling some of the rioters.

Not Caught in Vise.

Even as the rioters in front started moving backward, those at the rear attempted to push forward, catching those in the center in a crushing vise.

After the mounted police charge had spent itself, the horsemen dropped back and the foot policemen formed new lines behind them. The rioters charged back with a rush and this time broke through all three police lines.

A wild scene resulted. The charging demonstrators fell on the cobbled stones and others trampled over them. Horses lost their footing and fell.

But in the Parliament Square, police and regular troops formed new lines, standing as immobile as statues. Then the rioters broke and ran. Some were left sprawled in the streets.

At one time, only a small, narrow alley separated the rioters from a rear entrance of the Parliament Building, where the Ministers were in session. The rioters, however, did not reach the gate itself.

Greek Guerrillas Step Up Activity

Athens, Feb. 26 (AP)—Mounting guerrilla activity was reported from Thessaly and Macedonia today as the Government poured reinforcements into Salonika in preparation for an allout effort to stamp out leftist bands next month.

Press dispatches from Thessaly said that a guerrilla band 600 strong had raided and sacked the village of Saterti, retreating only after Government troops had been dispatched to the scene.

The Government forces were reported pursuing the retreating guerrillas through a mountain defile, supported by planes and armored cars. It was estimated that 30 of the guerrillas had been killed so far in the fighting.

Six Trucks Held Up

At least 80 villagers, including two girls, were reported abducted in widespread raids by Leftist bands in central and western Macedonia. Scattered clashes between roving bands and Government troops occurred throughout the area, dispatches said.

Guerrilla activity was also reported from the Peloponnesus, where a band of 150 men was said to have held up six trucks on the Sparta-Tripolis highway, seizing their contents and kidnapping six passengers.

Russians Seize Ex-Leader Of Hungary Small Holders

BUDAPEST, Feb. 26 (AP).—Russian troops last night arrested Bela Kovacs, former secretary general of the Hungarian Small Holders party, in what Small Holder leaders said today was "direct intervention" in Hungarian internal affairs to "further the cause of Communism."

An official announcement said Kovacs was arrested on charges of "actively taking part in forming underground anti-Soviet armed terror groups and for organizing espionage directed against the Soviet Army." But Small Holder leaders said the "real reason" the Russians arrested Kovacs was that Hungarian Communists had been unsuccessful in attempts to have his Parliamentary immunity waived.

Communist leaders, notably Minister of the Interior Laszlo Rajk, have accused Kovacs of taking a leading role in a Communist-exposed plot against the Hungarian republic. Anti-Communists repeatedly have charged the Communists were using the plot to dispense with the elected Small-Holder majority in Parliament, with a view to taking control of the government.

HUNGARIAN LEADER SEIZED BY RUSSIANS

Anti-Communist Arrested on Order of Commander as Budapest 'Plotter'

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Feb. 26 (AP)—Twenty Russian soldiers headed by a general have arrested Bela Kovacs, anti-Communist member of Parliament, and members of the dominant Smallholders party declared today that the act was a "direct intervention" in internal affairs.

Mr. Kovacs, charged by Hungarian Communists with participating in a plot to overthrow the republic, was formerly secretary general of the middle-of-the-road Smallholders party. One Smallholder leader who asked to remain unidentified said the arrest was part of a pre-arranged Communist scheme for "conquering" Hungary. He accused Hungarian Communists of working hand-in-glove with the Russians and said many Hungarian Communists held Russian citizenship and commissions in the Soviet Army, and "put Mother Russia above everything else."

The official Hungarian news agency said that Lieut. Gen. V. P. Sviridov, supreme commander of Russian occupation forces and chairman of the Allied Control Commission for Hungary, had ordered the arrest on charges of "actively taking part in forming underground armed terror groups and for organizing espionage directed against the Soviet Army."

The Smallholder leaders said the real reason was that Hungarian Communists wanted Mr. Kovacs arrested but had not been able to have his parliamentary immunity waived.

A British legation attaché said unofficially that the Russian charges were "preposterous." But both British and American circles said the western powers could do nothing if the Russians arrested anti-Communists on charges of espionage against the Soviet Union.

A short time before his arrest Mr. Kovacs had made a voluntary statement to political police that he was innocent of any plot to restore Admiral Nicholas Horthy's regime.

Thirteen persons arrested by the Hungarians last month on charges of plotting to restore Horthy's regime will go on trial tomorrow, and an official announcement said only four witnesses would be called. The total number of persons arrested in connection with the alleged plot has not been announced, but it is rumored that as many as 400 are being held at the political police headquarters.

Those who will be tried tomorrow include Dr. Gyorgy Donath, former member of Parliament accused of formulating "elaborate plans" to overthrow the Government; Gen. Lajos Dalnoki Veress, charged with organizing an "underground chief command"; Istvan Szentmiklossy, accused of forming the revolutionists' economic policy; Maj. Sandor Andras, alleged chief of staff of an underground army, and Domokos Szentivanyi, former diplomat accused of heading the intelligence division of the group.

A Hungarian foreign representative said the American military mission here had received no seats for the trial, and that only one seat had been reserved for The Associated Press, although facilities had been requested for a reporter-photographer and an interpreter. Tass got two seats.

Russia Adopts 8-Hour Day for Most Workers

Supreme Soviet Also Votes 4 to 7 Hour Shift for Unspecified Occupations

MOSCOW, Feb. 26 (AP).—Russia's Supreme Soviet (Parliament) embodied into the nation's constitution today the principle of an eight-hour work day for laborers and white-collar workers.

The Supreme Soviet's two houses also approved a work day of from four to seven hours for special tasks and professions. The official announcement did not specify what professions would be affected, but said the work day would be six and seven hours for a "number of professions" and four hours daily in shops "with specially grave conditions of work."

Andrei I. Vishinsky, Deputy Foreign Minister, had proposed to a joint session of the Supreme Soviet yesterday that the principle of the eight-hour day be incorporated in the constitution.

The Supreme Soviet also set up permanent commissions to unify the criminal code and marriage and divorce laws. At present the Union's sixteen republic have different laws, and the Supreme Soviet, in undertaking the unification project, said the special peculiarities of the various republics would be borne in mind, especially as they concern marriage and divorce.

Health Minister Out.

Moscow, Feb. 26 (A. P.).—Y. I. Smernov has been appointed Soviet Minister of Health to replace G. A. Miterev, who was unable to "manage the entrusted work," an official announcement said today. The Presidum of the Supreme Soviet made the change on February 17, the announcement said.

Warsaw Releasing Prisoners

WARSAW, Feb. 26 (AP).—A broad amnesty law was published today in the official gazette, and authorities immediately started releasing some 25,000 persons sentenced to short terms for political and criminal offenses. Twenty thousand other prisoners had their terms shortened. The government said the amnesty act was causing thousands of underground fighters to surrender.

Moslem League Ends Campaign In Punjab

Lahore, India, Feb. 26 (AP)—The Moslem League's 34-day mass civil disobedience campaign came to an end today in a compromise in which the provincial government agreed to release 1,500 persons jailed during the campaign and remove its ban on political meetings throughout the Punjab.

The Punjab situation, which had contributed considerably to the tension between Hindus and Moslems throughout India, thereby was considerably eased.

The disobedience campaign began January 24 when the Government raided headquarters of the Moslem League's volunteer national guard, a semi-armed force, and arrested a number of top Moslem League leaders in the province.

Real Purpose No Secret

The league then began its campaign as a protest against the ban on meetings and processions promulgated as a public safety measure. League leaders made no secret however, of their real purpose to overthrow the provincial ministry.

Moslems are a bare majority in the province, but the Moslem League is excluded from the ministry which is made up of a coalition of nonleague Moslems, Congress party adherents and Sikhs. Moslems have ministries in but two provinces of India.

Sir Malik Khizr Hyat Khan Tiwana, coalition Premier, said "it has never been the intention of my colleagues and myself to restrict political activities."

He said the Moslem opposition would receive "the fullest opportunity to take part in the proceedings of the Assembly" but the Government could not remove "all restrictions for maintenance of law and order" and would continue its ban on political processions.

CHINA REPORTS NEW RED DRIVE

125,000 Launch Manchurian Push, Field Reports Say

Nanking, Thursday, Feb. 27 (AP)—Government field dispatches said today that nearly 125,000 Chinese Communists had launched a savage new offensive in Manchuria, driving to within fifteen miles of Changchun, the capital.

The Government's Central News Agency said the Communists, with limited numbers of tanks and armored trucks, had overrun Nungan, 32 miles north of Changchun, and Kiutai, 30 miles to the northeast.

Advance units then speared on southward to the village of Wanpaoshan, 15 miles north of the capital, Central News added. These reports could not be confirmed in Nanking.

South Of Sungari

This would place the advance guard more than 45 miles south of the Sungari River, which has served as an unofficial dividing line between Government and Communists forces during the winter.

Military observers here believed the Changchun garrison, which includes the Government's powerful new 1st Army, was strong enough to repulse any immediate threat to the capital.

This report that the Communists were the first to strike in the long-expected resumption of the Manchurian fighting, came as claims and counterclaims of smashing victories in China proper clouded the Chinese civil war picture.

Yenan Broadcast

Communist headquarters at Yenan broadcast a report that Gen. Chen Yi's army annihilated two Government armies for a total of 50,000 casualties. The victors, Yenan said, were the same troops the Government reported it had annihilated a week ago in the capture of Lini.

[In China, developments often indicate that the word annihilate is used as a synonym for rout.]

The Communists also said they had three strong forces approaching Tsinan, capital of Shantung province, from the east, south and north. One was reported within 14 miles of the city and attacking its out defenses.

The Government countered that it had wiped out two Communist divisions in 48 hours in the Poshan-Lauwi sector of central Shantung. It further reported that it expected to capture Tsaohsien in southern Shantung momentarily and that it had restored eleven districts of western Shantung after driving Communist troops into a triangular area between the Yellow River and the Grand Canal.

A Government dispatch said the main body of the Communists' central Shantung force was surrounded southwest of Poshan and was making a desperate effort to break out.

Denies China Would Sell UNRRA Goods

Shanghai, Feb. 26 (A. P.).—Commander Robert Jackson, senior deputy director-general of UNRRA, today refuted reports that China had sought $200,000,000 worth of UNRRA goods for sale on the open market.

Jackson said in view of the fact that 1,000,000 tons of UNRRA supplies are still due to come, he had recommended to Director-General Rooks that China's UNRRA program be extended for ninety days beyond the present deadline of June 30. He said that if the United Nations put up the money for the extension it would permit more effective distribution of technical, medical and industrial equipment.

McNutt To Visit Chiang

Shanghai, Feb. 26 (AP)—United States Ambassador McNutt arrived tonight from Tokyo and was scheduled to leave shortly for Nanking to visit Chiang Kai-shek. There were rumors that McNutt might try to smooth some of the difficulties delaying the conclusion of a Sino-Philippine treaty of friendship and commerce.

McNutt Flying to Shanghai

Tokyo, Feb. 26 (A. P.).—Paul V. McNutt, United States Ambassador to the Philippines, left by air today for Shanghai. He was accompanied by his wife and daughter, Louise.

RAF Dakota Missing On Flight To Saigon

Singapore, Friday, Feb. 27 (AP)—A twin-engined RAF Dakota with six passengers and four crewmen aboard has been missing since yesterday morning on a flight to Saigon, Indo-China, the British Far East Air Command headquarters said today.

The plane last reported its position 50 minutes after it took off from Changi Airfield here. At that time it was 100 miles northeast of Singapore.

British Blast Japan's Memorial

HONG KONG, Feb. 26 (AP).—A 100-foot-tall Japanese war memorial erected atop Mt. Cameron was blown up by British authorities today in a ceremony witnessed by thousands of Hong Kong residents.

Tokyo War-Trial Judge Rejects Grew's Opinion

TOKYO, Feb. 26 (AP).—Sir William Webb, president of the international war crimes tribunal, indicated today that the opinions of former American Ambassador Joseph C. Grew and John B. Powell, a newspaper man, were of little value in determining the guilt or innocence of ex-Premier Hideki Tojo and his co-defendants.

Sir William rejected an attempt by the defense to introduce in evidence an opinion expressed by Powell, editor of "The China Weekly Review," and accepted with the comment that "there's not much value in that" an opinion by Grew. Both opinions were taken from books by Powell and Grew.

Grew was quoted as saying he opposed repeal of the Japanese exclusion act, a United States law bitterly resented by the Japanese. Grew's opinion was expressed in 1935 during an interview with some Americans who had tea with him in Tokyo. Associate Prosecutor A. Comyns Carr, of Great Britain, opposed introduction of the opinion, commenting, "The only fact in it is that somebody came to tea."

English Honor Gen. Cramer

Tokyo, Feb. 26 (AP)—Maj. Gen. Myron C. Cramer, United States representative on the International Military Tribunal, was notified today that he had been appointed by King George VI of England as an Honorary Companion of the military division of the Most Honorable Order of the Bath. Cramer is a New Englander, born in Connecticut, and a graduate of Harvard University.

Australia Names Watt Envoy To Soviet

Canberra, Feb. 26 (AP)—The Australian Cabinet announced today the appointment of Allan Stewart Watt, 46-year-old career diplomat, as Australian Minister to Moscow.

The post has been vacant since James J. Maloney, a former trade-union leader, returned to Australia a year ago and became one of the hottest unofficial Australian critics of the Soviet regime.

Watt now is assistant secretary in the Department of External Affairs. He was counselor to the Australian Legation in Washington in 1942 and twice was chargé d'affaires. He was a member of the Australian delegation to the United Nations Assembly in New York last year. He is married and has four children.

Thorn Gets Canadian Post

WELLINGTON, N. Z., Feb. 26 (AP).—Prime Minister Peter Fraser announced today that James Thorn, former Labor member of Parliament, has been appointed New Zealand High Commissioner to Canada. He succeeds David Wilson, whose term expires in April.

Canada Digs Out Boxcars In Effort To Move Newsprint

Ottawa, Ontario, Feb. 26 [Special]—Crews working 'round the clock have dug out every one of "some thousands" of boxcars snowbound on the western Canadian branch lines of the Dominion's two transcontinental railway systems, B. S. Liberty, transport controller, announced tonight in promising "some relief" for the transport-starved newsprint industry.

Meanwhile, the newsprint mills, ranking second only to wheat in Canada's export market, told Mr. Liberty that his assignment last week of enough boxcars to cover their "minimum requirements" was not good enough.

Mass Unemployment Threat

Having stockpiled newsprint in every available inch of storage space, they were faced with a general shutdown, particularly in Quebec's Saguenay district, forcing idleness on thousands of pulp and paper workers.

The mass unemployment threat in Quebec, where fully half eastern Canada's newsprint mills are located, has alarmed the vocal and extremely potent French-Canadian members of Canada's House of Commons, who have been bringing pressure to bear on the Government to divert more cars from the grain traffic to the paper plants.

Mr. Liberty's assignment of 1,176 boxcars daily to the movement of feed grain for eastern Canadian farmers and wheat for Britain from the western prairies, came at an unfortunate time. It was made just when the worst blizzard of years had buried thousands of boxcars under towering drifts on sidings, branch lines and even the main transcontinental tracks of the two rail systems west of the Great Lakes.

Main Rail Lines In West Cleared

His announcement tonight of "some relief" for the newsprint industry was timed to cool some of the heat the Quebec members of Parliament have been turning on the Government.

Main railway lines were cleared in the west last week, and branch lines were freeded by Tuesday. Tonight, said Mr. Liberty, even the private sidings of the grain company and farm co-operatives' elevators had been dug out.

How many of these cars would be rushed east to the newsprint mills was a decision between Mr. Liberty, his Cabinet chief, Transport Minister Lionel Chevrier and the Government.

The Government was still far behind in deliveries to Britain under the wheat contract, and British Food Minister John Strachey was in Ottawa late last week urging speed.

Says Britain Must Eat

He knew about the storms in the west, the boxcar shortage and its crippling affect on Canada's newsprint production and other primary and secondary industries.

But to him it was all beside the point, for he told a press conference: "In Britain we have to eat."

What he told Canadian Government officials probably was even more pointed, and likely would result in the decision to protect Transport Controller Liberty's boxcar priority for grain traffic.

Carloadings at the newsprint mills, Mr. Liberty suggested tonight, would not approach the normal 500 daily until mid-April, when navigation opens on the Great Lakes.

Then freighters instead of boxcars will be used to carry grain from the lake-head ports of Fort William and Port Arthur.

Grain Priority Ends March 31

The boxcar priority for the grain traffic ends March 31, but rail transport will still be spread thin, as all eastern industry, not newsprint alone, has been crippled, and traffic for the roads has been piling up like paper in the mills.

Only an early breakup in the Great Lakes will ease the pressure.

Given even early navigation, there is still trouble ahead. The Canadian seamen's union, an AFL affiliate, struck last year, and the work stoppage was a factor in this winter's transportation snarl.

There already is rumbling of another strike on Canadian lakes shipping.

Another Alaska B-29 Missing, Feared Down

Elmendorf Field, Alaska, Feb. 26 (AP)—The second Alaskan Air Command B-29 lost in less than a week on training missions was feared down today somewhere in or near the Alaskan Peninsula, possibly in the vicinity of the Valley of Ten Thousand Smokes.

Brig. Gen. Joseph H. Atkinson, commanding general, announced that the last report from the missing ship placed it near Bruin Pass, on the mainland area of the peninsula, north of Kodiak Island. The number of men aboard and their names were not disclosed.

The pass is also about 100 miles southeast of Naknek, fishing community on an arm of Bristol Bay, near the famed Mount Katmai area.

The plane's gas supply should have been exhausted at about 8.20 A.M. yesterday and it was declared missing as of that hour, General Atkinson said.

Crew Of About 12

Normally, such a plane on a training mission carries about twelve men. The Superfortress from Ladd Field, at Fairbanks, which was forced down in northern Greenland last Friday had eleven men aboard.

Improved flying weather was hoped for today to aid in the search of the rugged, little-inhabited area.

The Bruin Pass area is about 300 to 350 miles southwest of Elmendorf Field, the Alaskan Air Command headquarters, located 4 miles from Anchorage.

The heroic rescue two days ago of the Ladd Field flyers in Greenland after their 46th Long-Range Reconnaissance Squadron plane, the Kee Bird, was blown off its course and ran out of gas, encouraged leaders searching the latest missing plane. Crew members of the Kee Bird were resting at Westover Field, Mass., before returning to Alaska.

Rescuers Decorated

The pilot who rescued the eleven men, Lieut. Bobbie Joe Cavnar, 22, of Okmulgee, Okla., and his five crewmen were decorated in Washington, D.C., yesterday by Gen. Carl Spaatz, head of the Army Air Forces. Cavnar was given the Distinguished Flying Cross and his crewmen each received the Air Medal. Lieutenant Cavnar landed the rescue ship, a C-54, on a frozen surface without the aid of winter equipment and took off with the rescued crew safely, aided by rockets.

Senate Votes to Slash 4 1-2 Billion Off Budget

Figure Is $1,500,000,000 Less Than Reduction Favored by House; Knutson Asserts Action Would Allow Only 10 Pct. Cut in Income Tax.

30.24-8139

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26—(AP) Tacitly rejecting any major cuts for the Army and Navy, the Senate voted 51 to 33 today to slash $4,500,000,000 off President Truman's $37,500,000,000 budget for the year starting July 1.

This compares with a $6,000,000,000 cut already approved by the House. The House action had led to cries that the Army and Navy might be crippled at a critical juncture in world affairs.

Knutson Sees Fight

Chairman Knutson (R-Minn) of the House Ways and Means committee told a reporter after the Senate vote that the cutback of only $4,500,000,000 would throw overboard his bill for a 20 per cent across-the-board slash in individual income taxes, reducing the figure to 10 per ecnt.

He quickly added, however, that "the House will never accept" the Senate figure.

The Senate quit until Friday without acting on an amendment by Senator Knowland (R-Calif) requiring that $3,000,000,000 of any savings in government spending the next fiscal year be applied to reduce the national debt.

Also pending is a motion by Senator Taft (R-Ohio) to alter Knowland's amendment and require a payment of only $1,000,000,000 on the debt.

Senator Green (R-RI) gave notice he will attempt to change the amendment to require that all excess revenues over expenditures be channelled into debt payments.

Taft Predicts Compromise

Final adoption of a resolution by the Senate to trim President Truman's $37,500,000,000 budget estimated by $4,500,000,000 will necessitate sending the conflicting economy promises of Senate and House to a conference committee.

Taft predicted to a reporter a compromise figure of $5,000,000,000 or slightly more would be reached.

The Senate vote put it on record as saying that government costs shall be reduced to $33,000,000,000. There is a tacit understanding—but no specific stipulation—among senators that under a $4,500,000,000 reduction only a relatively small amount would come out of the $11,200,000,000 President Truman allotted to the Army and Navy.

The House pledge to whittle spending back to $31,500,000,000, however, is understood to require a cut of $2,250,000,000 in military and civil functions of the armed services.

Barkley Spearheads Debate

Senator Barkley (D-Ky), the minority leader, spearheaded arguments of several Democrats in debate that the federal budget should be balanced and the public debt reduced before there is any cut in taxes.

Barkley asserted the House-approved $6,000,000,000 spending reduction would cripple national defense.

In opposing the larger cut, Barkley said he feared it would "cripple national defense." The $6,000,000,000 pledge was understood to contemplate a $2,250,000,000 gash in the $11,200,000,000 Mr. Truman asked for the armed services. The $4,500,000,000 cut, its sponsors say, would take relatively minor amounts away from the Army and Navy.

"We cannot be secure," Barkley told the Senate, "as long as the world outside is insecure and unsafe. We cannot be prosperous as long as the rest of the world is prostrate."

The conflicting economy promises of the Senate and House then will go to a conference committee. Senator Taft (R.-Ohio) predicted to a reporter a compromise figure of $5,000,000,000 or slightly more would be reached.

Barkley Spearheads Attack.

Senator Barkley (D.-Ky.), the minority leader, spearheaded arguments of several Democrats in debate that the budget should be balanced and the public debt reduced before there is any cut in taxes. Barkley asserted the House-approved $6,000,000,000 spending reduction would cripple national defense.

Barkley said that a policy of debt reduction "can be defended before the American people," but there is no defense for a program which would "reduce taxes in the hope of gathering in a few votes."

Senator Byrd (D.-Va.) said that Congress should delay any reduction in Federal taxes until January 1 of next year, as he urged the Senate to accept the $6,000,000,000 budget reduction already approved by the House.

Revenue Could Fall off.

Byrd said that any tax cut depended on estimates of national income which could be wrong by as much as 10 per cent for next year. He said that if income drops 10 per cent, revenue will be $6,000,000,000 under estimates.

Senator McMahon (D.-Conn.) said that Congress cannot afford to guess how much Army-Navy appropriations can be cut and said he will not support a blanket reduction in military appropriations. He complained that Congress is being asked to economize without knowing where the pruning knife will cut.

McMahon said he will answer "present" when the $4,500,000,000 reduction proposal or the House-approved $6,000,000,000 slash is brought to a Senate vote. He added: "I know that if I am recorded as voting against either the $4,500,000,000 or the $6,000,000,000 reduction, I will be accused here on the floor of being against any economy in Government, which is not true."

Naval Cuts Urged.

Meanwhile, President Truman reported to Congress today that the Navy thinks it can make substantial cuts in some training, maintenance and transportation costs.

He recommended in a message to the House that Congress approve the following reductions in appropriations for the current fiscal year:

Naval Training Station, San Diego, Cal., $139,000 to $77,000; Naval Training Station, Great Lakes, Ill., $320,000 to $200,000; Naval Reserve Officers Training Corps, $1,600,000 to $1,418,000; maintenance of the Bureau of Supplies and Accounts, $20,000,000 to $13,000,000; care of mental patients, $443,000 to $233,000, and miscellaneous transportation, $23,000,000 to $15,631,300.

Millikin Amendment Would Pare Total of House by 1.5 Billions.

KNOWLAND PROPOSAL PENDING

Would Require Debt Reduction of 3 Billions—Taft Sees 5-billion Compromise

Washington, Feb. 26 (A. P.).—The Senate approved today a pledge to lop $4,500,000,000 off President Truman's $37,500,000,000 budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

The action came on adoption of an amendment by Senator Millikin (R.-Col.) shaving $1,500,000,000 off the $6,000,000,000 the House previously had voted to attempt to reduce Federal spending. The vote was 51 to 33.

The vote forecast adoption of a budget ceiling resolution soon after other controversial amendments are disposed of.

Still pending before the Senate is an amendment by Senator Knowland (R.-Cal.) requiring that $3,000,000,000 be paid on the national debt before there is any tax reduction.

Taft Sees Compromise.

House, Senate In Stalemate On Excise Tax

Washington, Feb. 26 (AP)—Disagreeing on two relatively minor amendments, the House and Senate were stalemated today on legislation freezing excise taxes at their wartime rates indefinitely.

However, Capitol tax authorities expect the disagreement to be ironed out in time to prevent an automatic rollback of the excise levies on July 1, which would cut Federal revenues about $1,500,000,000 annually.

The excises include levies on liquor, furs, jewelry, transportation and many other goods and services.

The argument in the House-Senate Conference Committee, seeking a compromise, pivots on Senate amendments that would erase the tax on sale of fur-trimmed coats up to a $150 value and on passenger tickets sold in this country for travel in other countries.

House conferees refused to accept the Senate amendments. The House Ways and Means Committee will discuss tomorrow whether it will consider any compromise proposal.

TRUMAN SUBMITS ARMS UNITY PLAN

Proposes Three Services Be Ruled Separately with Civilian at Head.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26 — (AP) President Truman laid before Congress today his plan for unification of the nation's armed forces, calling for the creation of a national defense establishment headed by a civilian secretary with Cabinet rank.

All three branches of the armed forces—Army, Navy and Air—would come under the $15,000-a-year secretary of national defense.

Navy Gets Specific Duties

All would be administered as individual units, however, although their respective secretaries would not hold cabinet rank.

The proposed act specifically provides that the Navy department shall comprise "the entire operating forces of the United States Navy including naval aviation," as well as the U. S. Marine Corps.

Thus the President proposed to settle the bitter dispute over disposition of the Navy's air support, which Navy advocates have vigorously insisted should remain in the Navy.

The chairmen of the two Senate committees which hope to obtain jurisdiction over the bill both promised speedy hearings.

Chairman Gurney (R.-S. D.) of the Senate Armed Services committee told reporters he hoped his group would get the bill and added that it would start hearings "as soon as possible."

Sees Controversial Hearings

"A quick reading indicates that the bill carries out the voluntary agreements reached by the Army, Navy and Air Forces leaders," Gurney added.

Chairman Aiken (R.-Vt.) of the Senate Expenditures committee said he also would begin hearings at once, if his committee got the legislation, but added "they are likely to be long drawn out controversial hearings."

Senator Edwin C. Johnson (D.-Colo.) informed newsmen he favored the President's proposal but "would prefer three cabinet officers, one each for the Air Force, Army and Navy."

Service-Merger Bill Sent To Congress

Washington, Feb. 26 (AP)—President Truman sent to Congress today the draft of a proposed bill calling for the unification of the armed forces.

The legislation would set up a national defense establishment under a civilian secretary of national defense who would have Cabinet rank. It would bring under the defense establishment equally important departments of the Army the Navy and the Air Force.

Each would have a secretary to direct its activities as an individual unit. The three secretaries, in turn, would operate under direction of the Secretary of National Defense.

Subject To Confirmation

While all four secretaries would be subject to confirmation by the Senate, the White House said only the Secretary of National Defense would have Cabinet rank.

The President, in a letter submitting the proposed legislation, informed Senator Vandenberg (R., Mich.), presiding officer of the Senate, and Speaker Martin (R., Mass.) of the House:

"It is my belief that this suggested legislation accomplishes the desired unification of the services and I heartily recommend its enactment by the Congress."

Drafted By Clifford

The draft, entitled "National Security Act of 1947," was completed by Clark M. Clifford, the President's special counsel, after lengthy consultations with the secretaries of War and Navy and the joint chiefs of staff, all of whom, Mr. Truman said, approved the bill.

Under the measure, the United States Air Force would be established under the Department of the Air Force, to which would be transferred the Army Air Forces, the Air Corps of the United States Army and General Headquarters Air Force (Air Force Combat Command).

The President would appoint, subject to Senate confirmation, a chief of staff of the Air Force for a term of four years. The functions of the commanding general of the Air Force Combat Command, the chief of the Air Corps, and the commanding general of the Army Air Forces would be transferred to this chief of staff.

Joint Chiefs Of Staff

The legislation sets up within the national defense establishment the joint chiefs of staff, to be made up of the chief of staff of the United States Army, the chief of naval operations, the chief of staff of the United States Air Forces, and the chief of staff to the Commander in Chief "if there be one."

This joint command would act as principal military adviser to the President and the Secretary of National Defense, preparing strategic plans and providing for strategic direction of the military forces.

While the secretaries of the Army, the Navy and the Department of the Air Force would function under the overall direction of the Secretary of National Defense, the legislation provides that any of the three may appeal directly to the President, after informing the National Defense Secretary of any matter he wishes to take up with the White House.

Other provisions of the legislation include:

1. Creation of a War Council made up of the Secretary of National Defense, as chairman, with power of decision; the secretaries of the Army, the Navy, the Air Force, the chief of staff of the Army, the chief of naval operations and the chief of staff of the United States Air Forces.

2. A joint staff, under the joint chiefs of staff, to be made up of not exceeding 100 officers to be drawn in equal numbers from the Army, Navy and the Air Force, operating under a director to be appointed by the joint chiefs of staff.

3. The establishment of a munitions board to co-ordinate industrial procurement, production and distribution, including standardization of specifications and to prepare estimates of potential production, procurement and personnel. This board would determine priorities for the military procurement programs.

4. A research and development board to advise the National Defense Secretary on scientific research for military programs.

5. A National Security Council to advise the President with respect to integration of "foreign and military policies." It would be made up of the secretaries of State, National Defense, Army, Navy, Air Force and the chairman of the National Security Resources Board.

6. A National Security Resources Board to advise the President on co-ordination of military, industrial and civilian mobliza-tion.

7. A central intelligence agency which would take over the functions of the current national intelligence authority.

Under the legislation, the Secretary of National Defense in line of succession to the presidency would replace the Secretary of War, currently fourth on the list behind the Vice President, and secretaries of State and the Treasury.

White House Denies Playing Politics in Holy Land Row

Bevin Wrong in Hinting Truman Spoiled Negotiations, Statement Says.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—(AP) The White House, replying to British foreign Minister Bevin, said today that America's interest in Palestine has nothing to do with politics and that Bevin was wrong in hinting that President Truman was political-minded in urging entry of Jews into the Holy Land.

"Unfortunate and misleading," was the way a White House statement described the impression given by Bevin.

Not Mentioned by Name

Bevin was not mentioned by name, but the statement cited "yesterday's debate in the British parliament." It was then that Bevin said President Truman "spoiled" Palestine negotiations last October by issuing a call, during the congressional campaigns, for the immediate entry of 100,000 Jews into Palestine.

Bevin had added:

"I really must point out that in international affairs, I cannot settle things if my problem is made the subject of local elections."

The White House had been silent until Press Secretary Charles G. Ross late in the day issued the statement asserting:

Text of Statement

"The impression that has arisen from yesterday's debate in the British parliament that America's interest in Palestine and the settlement of Jews there is motivated by partisan and local politics is most unfortunate and misleading.

"The President's statement of Oct. 4, 1946, which was referred to in that debate, merely reaffirmed the attitude toward Palestine and Jewish immigration into Palestine which the United States government has publicly expressed since the summer of 1945.

"This attitude was and is based upon the desire of the President to advance a just solution of the Palestine problem. Our position on this subject was communicated to the British government by the President in his letter to Prime Minister Attlee on Aug. 31, 1945, which was publicly released by the President on Nov. 13, 1945, when he announced the establishment of the joint Anglo-American committee of inquiry. The statement of Oct. 4, 1946, reiterated this government's position, which was already fully known to all parties to the Palestine negotiations.

"America's interest in Palestine is of long and continuing standing. It is a deep and abiding interest shared by our people without regard to their political affiliation."

CHARGE BY BEVIN HELD MISLEADING (D)

White House Denies Politics In Stand On Palestine

Washington, Feb. 26 (AP)—The White House today called "most unfortunate and misleading" the implication of the debate on Palestine in the British House of Commons yesterday.

The statement, handed out by Charles G. Ross, press secretary, said the discussion in Commons tended to leave the impression that American interest in Palestine "is motivated by partisan and local politics."

Charged Chances Wrecked

In the debate, Ernest Bevin, Foreign Secretary, asserted that President Truman wrecked a chance for settling the Palestine issue by issuing of a statement during the 1946 campaign calling for immediate immigration of 100,000 Jews into the Holy Land.

The White House had been silent until Ross passed out the statement which said:

"The impression that has arisen from yesterday's debate in the British Parliament that America's interest in Palestine and the settlement of Jews there is motivated by partisan and local politics is most unfortunate and misleading.

"The President's statement of October 4, 1946, which was referred to in that debate, merely reaffirmed the attitude toward Palestine and Jewish immigration into Palestine which the United States Government has publicly expressed since the Summer of 1945.

Sought Just Solution

"This attitude was and is based upon the desire of the President to advance a just solution of the Palestine problem. Our position on this subject was communicated to the British Government by the President in his letter to Prime Minister Attlee on August 31, 1945, which was publicly released by the President on November 13, 1945, when he announced the establishment of the joint Anglo-American committee of inquiry. The statement of October 4, 1946, reiterated this Government's position, which was already fully known to all parties to the Palestine negotiations.

"America's interest in Palestine is of long and continuing standing. It is a deep and abiding interest shared by our people without regard to their political affiliation."

Draws Fire In Senate

Bevin's assertion drew return fire in the Senate with Senator Barkley (Ky.), Democratic leader, declaring he had in effect accused the President of "a cheap political trick."

That, Barkley told his colleagues, was "most unfortunate" and "almost astonishing."

Barkley recalled to the Senate that Mr. Truman urged admission of 100,000 Jews to Palestine more than a year before he made the statement which Bevin criticized.

The Democratic leader added:

"It seems almost astonishing . . . that the British Foreign Minister should criticize the President of the United States, charging him in effect with a cheap political trick by bringing this to the attention of the American people on the verge of an election in order that votes might be won, when as a matter of fact he had made the same request fourteen months previously."

Republicans Join Defense

From the Republican side, Senator Brewster, of Maine, came to Mr. Truman's defense: Declaring Bevin "looks too far afield" for a "sacrificial goat," he asserted that the British Foreign Secretary "should tell his constituency that his difficulties stem not from American politicians but from his own Labor party."

Brewster said Bevin's "amazing statement reveals apparently the workings of a deeply distressed conscience."

Senator Taft (R., Ohio), saying he wanted to call attention to "another inconsistency," told the Senate that the British Government had proposed a plan for partition of Palestine "and now Mr. Bevin suddenly turns against partition."

TRUMAN APPOINTS LEWIS W. DOUGLAS ENVOY TO BRITAIN

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26—(AP) Lewis W. Douglas, who broke spectacularly with the New Deal but later held wartime posts under Franklin D. Roosevelt, was chosen by President Truman today to be ambassador to Great Britain.

Mr. Truman thereby capped a long list of public offices in which Douglas, 52-year-old Arizonan, has already served.

Douglas has been: A soldier in France in the first World War, a state legislator, member of Congress, director of the federal budget a lend-lease expediter in London in the second World War, and deputy war shipping administrator.

Heads Insurance Firm

He also took a two-year turn (1938-39) as vice chancellor of Canada's McGill university, where he had a close-up opportunity for studying the British commonwealth, and is now president of the Mutual Life Insurance company in New York.

Douglas was named to the post which has been vacant since Averell Harriman came back from London to take over the Secretaryship of Commerce from the ousted Henry A. Wallace. O. Max Gardner, former governor of North Carolina, was to have succeeded Harriman but died just as he was about to sail.

While it took a world war to bring Douglas and President Roosevelt back together after their 1934 break on spending and their 1940 differences on the third term, they got along amicably in the end.

Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo), who never left the Roosevelt camp, said today of Douglas: "He's a very good choice. I don't believe there will be any opposition to him in the Senate."

Backed by Senators

Chairman Vandenberg (R-Mich) of the Senate Foreign Relations committee which must pass on the nomination, commented: "Mr. Douglas is totally qualified for the high responsibilities which he will assume."

Senator Sparkman (D-Ala) thought "Douglas will make a good man for us in London," while Rep. Frances Bolton (R-Ohio) exclaimed, "perfectly grand."

Appointment Surprise To Him, Says Douglas

New York, Feb. 26 (AP)—Declaring that his appointment as Ambassador to Great Britain came as a complete surprise, Lewis W. Douglas, 52-year-old Arizonian, said today he accepted the appointment because he considered it a great honor and "a duty."

He said the offer was tendered to him by telephone by Secretary of State Marshal at the request of President Truman, and that after several days of consideration he accepted.

Douglas said he probably would go to Washington for a briefing on the British situation and the tasks involved in his new post. He indicated he would leave for England immediately thereafter.

Touching on Britain's present economic crisis, Douglas declared that the economic position not only of Britain but of all important countries was of "profound consequence to all the world."

He expressed belief that Britain's current crisis stemmed directly from "exactions on all resources, human and otherwise, and the terrific suffering during the last war."

Douglas said he resigned as president of the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York before his name had been submitted for the approval of the Senate.

Senator Hickenlooper (R.-Iowa), the chairman, made the announcement after the committee had received indorsements of Lilienthal from former Gov. Philip F. La Follette of Wisconsin, William L. Batt, Philadelphia manufacturer and former chairman of the War Production Board, and Owen D. Young, industrialist and former head of the General Electric Company.

Hickenlooper said the committee will decide at an executive session tomorrow whether to close the hearings on confirmation of Lilienthal and four other members of the commission.

Batt Testifies.

Batt testified that Lilienthal ran "a good organization" when he was chairman of the Tennessee Valley Authority and urged speedy confirmation of all the nominees.

The witness said it would take a man of imagination and ability to handle the Atomic Commission work and expressed confidence that Lilienthal was competent to do the job.

Batt said refusal of the Senate to accept Lilienthal would augment "a dangerous tendency to break down the morale for public service." He said that "there is being created in the public mind a very great uncertainty whether atomic energy control is the bipartisan effort Congress intended it to be, or not."

Senator Vandenberg (R.-Mich.) read into the committee record a telegram from Young giving strong indorsement to Lilienthal. Young's telegram said that he has watched Lilienthal for twenty years, having regarded him as "an adversary" in the public utilities field.

Young said he regarded the former TVA head as "a man of clear vision, of executive ability, of firmness and unquestionable loyalty, and in a unique position to serve effectively in the position for which the President has nominated him."

La Follette telegraphed the committee that Lilienthal had "fully and completely" explained circumstances connected with the windup of his private affairs when he acepted the State post in 1931.

Lilienthal's record as a commissioner, LaFollette declared, was "wholly honorable."

Senator McKellar (D.-Tenn.), opposing Lilienthal's nomination, has charged that Lilienthal violated the Wisconsin law by continuing to accept compensation from a Chicago clearing house after becoming a member of the Commission.

Text of Telegram.

Senator Hickenlooper (R.-Iowa), chairman of the committee, announced receipt of LaFollette's telegram and read it into the record. Dated at Clearfield, Pa., it follows:

"I note the imputation that David Lilienthal was underhandedly serving private interests while on Wisconsin Public Service Commission. When offered the appointment, he was active in his profession and naturally had to wind up his affairs.

"He fully and completely disclosed his affairs and subsequently filed in the Governor's office a copy of the contract which his affairs were wound up. His record as Commissioner was outstanding voted public service and wholly honorable."

Hickenlooper said he supposed the word "voted" was garbled in transmission and really was intended for "devoted."

Lilienthal Hearings Near End (D)

Nominee Is Backed by Blatt and Young—Philip La Follette Defends Him.

Washington, Feb. 26 (A. P.).—The Senate Atomic Energy Committee completed today its examination of scheduled witnesses on the nomination of David E. Lilienthal to head the Atomic Commission and may decide tomorrow to close the hearings.

OPEN HEARINGS ON LILIENTHAL COME TO END

Former Governor La Follette Defends Atomic Group Head (N)

Washington, Feb. 26 (AP)—Open hearings on confirmation of David E. Lilienthal as chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission came to a halt today with release of a telegraphic report that his actions as a member of the Wisconsin Public Service Commission were "wholly honorable."

The telegram, read into the record of the Senate Atomic Energy Committee by Chairman Hickenlooper (R., Iowa), was signed by Philip A. La Follette, who was Governor of Wisconsin when Lilienthal became a member of the State Commission in 1931.

La Follette explained he had noted "the imputation that David Lilienthal was underhandedly serving private interests" while on the commission.

La Follette Clears Lilienthal

Lilienthal's former secretary, Mrs. Meads Leitzel, of Chicago, testified last week that he continued to draw pay from a Chicago clearing house after taking the Wisconsin post. Senator McKellar (D., Tenn.), opposing Lilienthal's confirmation, declared the action violated Wisconsin law.

La Follette's telegram said that when Lilienthal was appointed, "he was active in his profession (the law) and naturally had to wind up his affairs." He added that he "fully and completely disclosed his affairs" and filed in the governor's office a copy of the contract winding them up.

Other Developments

In other developments today—exactly a month after the hearings began—the committee—

1. Heard William L. Batt, Philadelphia manufacturer and former vice chairman of the War Production Board, indorse Lilienthal and urge speedy confirmation of him and his colleagues on the commission.

2. Received a telegraphic indorsement of Lilienthal from Owen D. Young, former head of General Electric.

3. Laughed as an amateur detective from Knoxville, Tenn., told of peering at "nude parties" he said he saw Communists hold in the woods.

The amateur detective identified himself as J. S. Remine, age 75.

Says Communists Danced Nude

A vigorous, white-haired man who spoke with a broad Tennessee mountain drawl, Remine testified that as a volunteer law official in 1937 he had trailed Communists to some of their assembly places, including a spot in the woods known as "Reeves' Roost."

It was there, he said, that "they all took their clothes off" and danced. He said they performed without music, executing both square sets and more modern dances.

He told the senators that none of the dancers was TVA workers, although he declared there were several Communists in the Valley Authority which Lilienthal headed.

Committee To Meet Today

McKellar, long-time foe of Lilienthal, summoned Remine as a witness.

Hickenlooper said the committee would meet in an executive session tomorrow morning to decide whether any further open hearings would be needed.

The plan is to vote on all the atomic nominations by Saturday.

dances were TVA workers," he assured the committee.

Handed List Of "Reds"

Earlier Remine had been handed a list of alleged Communists and asked by McKellar to identify those who were TVA employés.

Remine explained that he and other volunteer officials had started out on a general drive against crime in Knox county and just "stumbled on to the Communists."

"Did you find any Communists in the county or TVA?" McKellar asked.

"Lots of 'em in Knoxville," Remine replied. "Quite a few in TVA."

His Nephew-In-Law

"A John Frantz was raided as a Communist but I don't know if he worked for TVA," Remine said reading the list.

John Marshall Frantz, former TVA employé and now a Federal Housing executive, had told the committee previously that he was not a Communist but a liberal.

"I'm told this fellER Frantz married a niece of mine," Remine said, "but I'm not sure."

Story Of Nude Sylvan Frolics By Reds Tickles Senators

Washington, Feb. 26 (AP)—An elderly amateur detective's story about Communists holding "nude parties" in the woods brought a roar of laughter today at the Senate atomic-energy hearing.

J. S. Remine, 75, from Knoxville, Tenn., told senators that as a volunteer law-enforcement official he had trailed Communists about Knoxville in 1937 and learned they "were having nude parties" in the woods.

"They had a raised platform out at a place known as Reeves's Roost," he testified. "We watched them dance. They all took their clothes off but one little girl. She ran down the woods and left."

Speaks With Broad Drawl

Remine was the final witness called by Senator McKellar (D., Tenn.), who is opposing David E. Lilienthal's nomination as chairman of the Atomic-Control Commission on the ground that Communists were active in the Tennessee Valley Authority when Lilienthal was a director there.

Remine spoke with a broad drawl and produced a series of explosive laughs from senators and spectators.

"But none of those at the nude

Federal Loyalty Commission With Drastic Powers Urged

Washington, Feb. 26 (A. P.).—The House Committee on un-American Activities proposed today to create a Federal Loyalty Commission with power to discharge Federal employees whose loyalty to the United States is in doubt.

The committee unanimously instructed its chairman, Representative Thomas (R.-N. J.), to prepare such a measure for consideration next week.

The proposed commission would be an independent agency, free of any control by the Government's executive, legislative or judicial branches, and its decisions would be final with no appeal to any court, committee members told reporters.

Exempted from its jurisdiction would be the President, Vice-President, members of Congress and their clerical and administrative staffs, aids to the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House, and officials appointed by the President and confirmed by the Senate, including such officials as Cabinet members and ambassadors.

Bill Provides for Hearings.

Any employee questioned would be given reasonable opportunity for hearing. If his loyalty was found in doubt, the commission would notify the employee and the appropriate Government official and publish a notice in the Federal Register.

The employee's job would be forfeited the day after such publication, but he could become eligible for reinstatement after two years if the commission found he was loyal. The commission would have seven members serving ten-year terms after appointment by the President and confirmation by the Senate.

A measure to be introduced tomorrow by Representative Mcdowell (R.-Pa.) would increase penalties for contempt of Congress and make contempt a felony instead of a misdemeanor. Committee members said this bill grew out of the case of Gerhardt Eisler, who recently refused to swear to tell the truth when called to testify before the committee. Eisler since has been cited for contempt by the House. Committee members and witnesses have identified him as the top Communist in the United States.

MRS. DURANT ACCUSED AT HESSE TRIAL

'Knows More Than She's Willing To Reveal,' Prosecution Charges

Washington, Feb. 26 (AP)—The prosecution in the $1,500,000 Hesse gem-theft trial said today that Mrs. James E. Durant, sister-in-law of the defendant, was "a hostile witness" and "knows more than she's willing to reveal."

Terse in her replies, the witness repeatedly claimed constitutional immunity to questions asked by Major Joseph Robinson, chief prosecutor in the trial of Col. Jack W. Durant on charges of stealing the Hesse family fortune from Kronberg Castle in Germany.

Confronted with a glass fruit jar containing $28,000 in $50 and $20 bills, Mrs. Durant testified in a low voice:

"I don't know anything about that. I never saw it before."

Asks To Be Excused

Army investigators have testified Mrs. Durant's husband, a Falls Church (Va.) councilman and brother of the defendant, led them to a spot near the Durant's Virginia home where the fruit jar was found buried beneath some bushes.

Throughout the slow-moving session, the witness refused to answer questions on the ground that her replies might tend to "incriminate me or my husband."

Finally, in midafternoon, Mrs. Durant suddenly interrupted the examination to ask the eight-man military court if she could "say something."

"Certainly," replied Col. Alvin Schindler, the court's law member.

"Well, I don't feel well. I'd like to be excused for the day," she said.

She Fails To Return

Col. Russell C. Charlton, court president, asked Mrs. Durant to rest a while and then try to return "as a favor to the court" for additional testimony.

She did not return, however, and Major Robinson said he would recall her to the stand tomorrow.

Earlier, Mrs. Durant identified some silver dishes and a watch which she said were sent to her home in five packages last spring. She did not know, she said, who sent them, and denied that she had turned over a sixth package to Colonel Durant when he returned from Germany.

FOUR ARE ACCUSED IN EXTORTION PLOT

Case Involves Alleged Black Market In Gas Stamps

Detroit, Feb. 26 (AP)—Four men, including two minor CIO officials, were accused today of a $70,000 extortion plot against an alleged self-confessed dealer in black market OPA gasoline stamps.

One of the union defendants, Perly P. McManus, 40, immediately after pleading innocent, brought a $100,000 damage suit against the Police Department and the prosecutor's office.

In the damage suit McManus, financial secretary of Briggs Local 212, CIO United Auto Workers, charged false arrest. He and Paul Tendiglia, 33, gasoline-station operator and codefendant, together pleaded innocent to the extortion charges.

Prosecutor's Statement

An account of threats against a black-marketing former chief clerk in a wartime ration board headed by McManus was recited by the prosecutor's office in connection with the filing of the plot charges.

George A. Gray, assistant prosecutor, said the extortion story came from Albert Mushro, 33-year-old former chief clerk on McManus's ration board.

Mushro, Gray said, admitted turning over 600,000 gasoline stamps to black marketeers for which he was paid $75,000. A total of $70,000 was extorted from him on threats of harm by the defendants, Gray said Mushro related.

The Others Sought

The other defendats, sought by police, are Eugene Morrasco, 38, a member of the board of the Wayne county CIO council, and Mike Rubino, 45, who police said had been questioned in a 1944 gangland-style slaying.

When filing his $100,000 false arrest suit, McManus expressed belief the extortion charge was inspired by union politics. He seeks re-election to his UAW office. He said he believed an effort was being made to "discredit" him.

Army Accused of Obstructing National Guard Reorganization

Washington, Feb. 26 (A. P.).—Major-Gen. Ellard A. Walsh, president of the National Guard Association, accused the Army today of placing every conceivable obstacle in the way of reorganizing the State military units.

He declared the motive appears to be a plan to set up the Organized Reserve Corps as a great Federal militia in competition with the National Guard.

Walsh, who is Minnesota Adjutant-General, made his assertions in an address prepared for the opening of a three-day meeting of the Adjutants-General Association, which he also heads.

Praises Wedemeyer.

The War Department's post-war defense plans contemplate a National Guard of about 680,000 and an Organized Reserve Corps of about 876,000. The ORC program includes tours of active duty and training periods in the field. The National Guard usually trains one night a week, with annual training exercises in the field.

Walsh said that Lieut.-Gen. A. C. Wedemeyer of the Second Army Area was the only one of the six Army area commanders who heeded a recent directive by Secretary Patterson for all War Department agencies to swing their full efforts behind the National Guard reorganization.

The program has been delayed further and thwarted, Walsh continued, by Government failure to help build necessary armories.

"As yet," he said, "no effort has been made by either the Congress or the War Department to bring into being an armory construction program whereby the Federal Government will contribute its equitable share of the cost of housing the National Guard."

Charges Discrimination.

He contended there was discrimination against the guard in the disposition of surplus war stocks.

"Colleges and high schools may obtain items from B-24s to complete machine shops at a 100 per cent discount," he said, but the guard obtains no item of surplus war stocks and is given issues of clothing which in many instances are unserviceable and unusable.

Some units in existence since August, 1946, "have not yet received so much as a shoelace in the way of equipment," Walsh added.

V-1 ROCKET FIRED FROM SUBMARINE

Navy Silent As To Success Of 'Buzz Bomb' Experiment

Washington, Feb. 26 (AP)—The Navy has successfully fired a German V-1 rocket from the deck of a submarine, unofficial reports said today.

The Navy Department refused to answer questions concerning the experiment, which is understood to have been conducted at the Navy's rocket-testing station at Point Mogu, Cal.

Spectators on shore witnessed the flight of the Nazi "buzz bomb" along the coast last week, according to the reports which reached here.

As Logical Weapons For Subs

The use of hard-hitting rockets was just getting into full swing when the war ended. Packing a tremendous wallop without recoil difficulties, rockets have been considered logical weapons for new-type submarines, and the test has been anticipated for some time.

Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, in discussing weapons of the future in a recent speech, suggested submarines some day might be equipped to launch guided missiles with atomic warheads.

Submarines held up well at the atom-bomb tests of navy vessels last year in the Pacific and a number of new types, including possibly one to carry a number of planes, have been regarded as feasible by submarine experts.

V-1 Lacks Range Of The V-2

In keeping with the submarine's new role as a powerful striking weapon of the fleet, navy chiefs have revealed that underseas warfare shares top research priority with guided missiles in the Navy today.

The V-1 terrorized Britain and did extensive damage as the "buzz bomb" but does not have the range or power of its big brother, the V-2, a large number of which were used just before the end of the war. The V-1 is about 10 feet long, has a range of 300 miles with a top speed of 325 miles per hour.

Bradley Attacks Vet 'Dead End' Job Training

Washington, Feb. 26 (AP)—Gen. Omar Bradley, veterans administrator, said today unscrupulous employers with increasing frequency are jockeying veterans into "dead end" training programs.

In an address before an American Legion national employment conference, Bradley explained that he referred to employers who employ veterans on an on-the-job training basis merely to escape paying full working wages, and where the so-called training offers no assurance of future advancement.

The Veterans Administration pays an allowance to veterans engaged in genuine on-the-job training, such as trade apprenticeship.

Wastes Funds, Causes Grief

"Where the on-the-job training is perverted into cheap labor schemes and used to exploit the veteran, it can produce nothing but grief and the uneconomic wastage of the veterans' rights and Federal funds," Bradley said.

"We have had increasingly frequent reports which suggest that veterans are sometimes jockeyed into training programs that only offer dead-end jobs. These short-sighted alternatives to regular productive jobs are not only morally dishonest but they may economically cripple those veterans who are involved."

Says Million Hunt Jobs

Bradley said about 1,000,000 veterans are actively seeking work, and estimated the unemployment rate among veterans is 2½ times the rate among men generally. A severe economic recession, he said, could result in unemployment for between 2,000,000 and 3,000,000 veterans.

On Capitol Hill the Senate Appropriations Committee currently is studying appropriation needs of the Veterans Administration. Chairman Bridges (R., N.H.), emphasizing the wide national effects of veterans' legislation, said it is possible the 18,000,000 World War II veterans and their immediate families outnumber the rest of the population.

"I think it would be a healthy thing for the country to know the facts about this," Bridges said.

VA Asks Extra Funds

The question came up during a discussion in the committee yesterday of a request by the Veterans Administration for a $30,000,000 supplementary appropriation to cover operations for the next two months. VA already has received $135,000,000 for administrative expenses during the current fiscal year.

"We have 18,000,000 veterans today," General Bradley told the committee, "and before long we will have another 2,000,000 eligible to veterans' legislation."

He said the VA figures each has an average of three relatives, which would make 60,000,000 relatives in all. The nation's population is around 145,000,000.

Bradley promised to dig up the latest figures for the committee, plus estimates of how the number will vary five and ten years hence.

OPPOSES EX-GI HOUSING ACT

Republican Seeks Its Repeal, Home Builders' Parley Told

Chicago, Feb. 26 (AP)—Representative Jesse Wolcott (R., Mich.) served notice today he would seek repeal of the Veterans' Emergency Housing Act of 1946.

The chairman of the House Banking and Currency Committee also indicated he would propose the removal of rent controls on new construction but would advocate their retention on existing property until March 31, 1948.

Addresses Home Builders

The Michigan Representative outlined his program in a speech before the annual convention of the National Association of Home Builders.

Earlier, at a stormy session of the convention, a labor-union leader defied "anyone to show me a case where the so-called restrictive practices of labor unions have delayed any job."

Wolcott declared: "It is my purpose to introduce legislation which will repeal, with two exceptions, the provisions of the . . . Veterans' Emergency Housing Act of 1946.

"I believe that Section 10 of the act, which continues construction under Title 6 of the National Housing Act, should be retained.

"It also might be found desirable to continue some provision for veterans' priorities in purchase or rental, but the time in which the priority must be exercised might well be substantially reduced." It now is 60 days.

"It also seems desirable to include in the bill a provision for the removal of rent controls on new construction.

"It is my suggestion that rent controls be continued on existing properties until March 31, 1948, with any clarification of the law that may be necessary to define the power of the President to remove any and all controls before that date."

Challenge Made By Bates

The labor union challenge was made by Harry C. Bates, president of the AFL-Bricklayers, Masons and Plasterers Union, after Ray Sawyer, national commander of the Americn Veterans of World War II, had asked during a panel on labor supply if it was true:

1. That lathers are permitted to lay only 30 to 35 bundles of lath a day when they are capable of 60.
2. That unions will not permit factory-glazed glass to be installed upon a given job.
3. That the plasterers require three coats of plaster when the contractors say two coats are sufficient.
4. That the painters require that brushes be 4½ inches in width and do not permit the use of spray guns.
5. That cement finishers are demanding what amounts to portal-to-portal pay on veterans' housing.
6. That you must buy plumbing through a master plumber.

"There Is No Limit"

Bates, of Washington, replied: "There is no limit on the output of a bricklayer.

"I don't believe the statements about restrictive practices. Don't blame labor for your (the home builder) lack of co-operation on the job. Go down to the job yourself, give your men good working conditions and good wages and the men will work as they always have—a good day's work."

Bates was supported by Frank J. Rooney, Miami (Fla.) home builder, who declared:

"I'm probably out of step with a good part of this audience, but I believe Mr. Bates is absolutely right in many of the things he says.

"Labor can and does produce. I've seen it in practice that if they have the materials available, the men will give you a good day's work for a good wage."

Sees Housing Need Met By 1950

Earlier James C. Downs, Chicago real estate market analyst, predicted the housing demand of Americans would not be met before 1950.

"It appears," he said, "that the height of the housing shortage will be passed by mid-1947, yet there is a sufficient backlog of unfilled housing demand to consume the entire output of builders in the years 1947 and 1948, regardless of volume.

". . . From then on, however, we should start to eat into the backlog to the end of producing vacancy in housing by 1950."

NINE-MONTH ALLOTMENT OF 25 POUNDS SET

Industrial Users, Eating Places Also Get Raised Quotas

Washington, Feb. 26 (AP)—Ten pounds more sugar per person this year than last was virtually assured today in an announcement allotting 25 pounds for the first nine months.

An OPA official said it would be a "safe guess" that the 1947 individual use allowance will be 35 pounds.

Jointly the Office of Temporary Controls and the Agriculture Department affirmed that a new ration stamp good for ten pounds will be validated April 1, and announced that another stamp good for ten pounds will come up July 1.

Household Allowance

Household consumers already have been allowed five pounds each for the first three months.

There was no specific statement that another ten-pound stamp will be validated for the last quarter of the year, but the OPA official recalled that the Agriculture Department has said a 35-pound allotment will be possible for this year if the crop turns out as expected.

Along with the announcement on individual sugar rations, the second-quarter allowances for bakers, soft-drink bottlers, candy and preserve manufacturers and other industrial users, hotels, restaurants and other eating places were boosted.

355,000 Tons More

The total sugar allocation for civilian use for the second quarter of this year, the announcement said, is 1,740,000 short tons, or 355,000 tons more than allocated in the second quarter of 1946.

It added that the International Emergency Food Council had recommended that the United States be allotted a total of 6,800,000 tons of sugar for civilian and military uses and the "usual minor shipments" in 1947. This is 1,203,000 tons greater than for 1946.

OPA said that industrial users such as bakers, soft-drink bottlers and candy makers will have their rations increased April 1 from 60 to 75 per cent of their base (usually 1941 use) plus "hardship" adjustments.

Restaurants To Get More

Rations for preserve manufacturers will be increased from 55 to 75 per cent of their base. Bulk sweetened condensed milk producers will get an increase from 100 to 110 per cent of their base effective March 1, OPA said. The agency added that this increase is "in recognition of unusually early increases in mjlk production."

OPA said increased rations will be provided for hotels, restaurants and other eating places when they apply for their May-June allotments, and added that these increases will be consistent with others.

Continuation Of U. S. Rubber Program Urged

Congressmen and Industry Spokesmen for Extension; Exclusive Buying an Issue

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26 (AP).—Despite heavy increases in crude rubber imports, spokesmen for the rubber industry and Congressmen urged today the House armed services committee to continue the government-backed synthetic rubber industry.

The committee is considering legislation to continue for one year beyond March 31 the government's war-granted emergency powers to purchase crude rubber and allocate it for use in this country.

Without extension of that authority, the committee was told, the synthetic rubber industry which the government built up to meet the war-time crude shortages, may be forced out of business through inability to compete with imported natural products.

Committee members generally have expressed agreement that the authority must be continued. But there is difference of opinion as to whether private purchasers should be allowed to purchase crude in world markets.

Representative Leslie C. Arends, Republican, of Illinois, author of one of the extension proposals, told the committee, "We almost lost the war" because of the rubber shortage. Development of the $700,000,000 synthetic rubber industry, Representative Arends testified, would make the United States self-sufficient in future years. He proposed that the government continue to be the sole United States purchaser of crude rubber.

Representative Fred L. Crawford, Republican, of Michigan, advocated extension of government allocation powers but he opposed continuance of its exclusive purchasing authority on the ground the government has not been able to obtain higher grades of crude abroad. While existing world supplies are adequate for all foreseeable needs, Representative Crawford said, the synthetic industry should be developed "as an insurance" against any future emergency.

Harvey S. Firestone jr., president of Firestone Tire & Rubber Co., called the synthetic industry "the best paid-up insurance policy which this country ever had." Its maintenance, he said, is "vital to the national security and economic independence of this country." Mr. Firestone advocated removal of the government's exclusive authority to purchase crude.

W. S. Richardson, president of B. F. Goodrich Chemical Co., declared that extension of the present rubber program is "critically urgent as a national security measure." Mr. Richardson offered this four-point program:

"1. The government's present

30. 24 - 8143

economical facilities for manufacture of American rubber should be maintained in stand-by condition, ready to be run on short notice.

"2. A sufficient tonnage of such rubber for the maintenance of national security should be made and used in this country each year.

"3. A sound long-range American rubber program should be established by adequate legislation before any basic change is made in the existing rubber programs, and

"4. Beyond these provisions for national security, the nation's long-range rubber program should be based on the principle of competitive enterprise."

Steel For 10,000 Freight Cars Monthly Promised

Washington, Feb. 26 (AP)—Senator Reed (R., Kan.) said tonight that major steel companies have promised enough steel to build 10,000 new freight cars monthly to help relieve the critical rail-car shortage.

Reed, chairman of a Senate Interstate Commerce subcommittee, made the announcement at the conclusion of a day-long conference between his committee, officials of several large steel concerns, heads of many railroads, officials of carbuilding companies and representatives of interested Government agencies.

The steel companies agreed recently to furnish steel for 7,000 cars monthly. Reed said that, with more cars than that number being retired by the railroads because of bad repair, it was necessary to seek 10,000 a month.

ICC, COURTS HIT BY RAIL OFFICIAL

CLEVELAND, Feb. 26—(AP) Rail executive Robert R. Young today blamed the Interstate Commerce commission and the Federal courts for the nation's boxcar shortage.

"The ICC is at fault in its past decrees that the country had more railroad facilities than could be supported and kept down the acquisition of new rolling stock", the board chairman of Alleghany Corp., railroad holding company, declared in a press conference.

Cites Court Interpretation

"The federal courts, by their interpretation of the railroad reorganization act of 1933 cancelled out the industry's honest dollars. You can't blame management for not buying more equipment if Washington can confiscate investments.

"Congress must rectify this situation or there will be no more investments. The reorganization act was intended to protect the railroads but the 'crooks' have used it for purposes not intended by Congress with the result that millions in investments have been wiped out."

The white-haired railroad leader, who controls the Chesapeake & Ohio railroad, the Nickel Plate and the Pere Marquette, and is bidding for New York Central control, said conferences relative to the sale of Nickel Plate to the Pennsylvania Railroad would commence within a month.

Young said the Nickel Plate could be integrated logically with the Pennsylvania.

House Sets Up Inquiry Board For Newsprint

Another Special Committee Is Created to Prctect Small Business Interests

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26 (AP).—The House today set up a special committee to investigate newsprint and paper supplies, acting on a roll call vote of 269 to 100. The seven-member inquiry group will be headed by Representative Clarence J. Brown, Republican, of Ohio. Six other members will be designated by Speaker Martin.

Later a special committee charged with the duty of protecting interests of small business was recreated by the House on a 270-to-82 roll call vote. Representative Brown told the House the committee can protect the small business man from "repressive government actions." The chairman of this committee probably will be Representative Leonard W. Hall, Republican, of New York. Representative A. S. Mike Monroney, Democrat, of Oklahoma, declared the House action was "another violation of the legislative reorganization act and a second confession today that the standing committees are not able to handle the problems of the House."

The Republican leader, Representative Charles A. Halleck, of Indiana, replied that the House will set up special committees "when we believe they are desirable and in the best interest of the country."

A subcommittee of the Senate small business committee has arranged for public hearings starting March 4 on newsprint problems particularly affecting small publishers.

U.S. Relief Seen Approved For 6 Countries

Washington, Feb. 26 (AP)—Chairman Eaton (R., N.J.) predicted today the House Foreign Affairs Committee will approve next week the spending of $350,000,000 for relief in five European countries and China.

His opinion was advanced to reporters after a private huddle with Undersecretary of State Will Clayton during which members sought information on how and just where the relief would be used in territory where the interests of Russia and the western powers have clashed.

Clayton's reluctance to discuss details of the projected $350,000,000 program in public raised speculation on Capitol Hill in these two directions:

1. How the appropriation—if and when voted by Congress—will be shared between Greece, Italy, Hungary, Poland, Austria and China. On the basis of unofficial reports, Italy would receive nearly a third of the total.

2. Whether the State Department contemplates using the relief as an instrument for obtaining greater co-operation from needy countries, among them Poland, with whom diplomatic relations were cooled in recent months.

Members of the Foreign Affairs Committee saw some significance in the fact that Yugoslovia—one of the chief beneficiaries of UNRRA relief—was not listed among the countries for whom the new program is designated.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26. — (AP) The "Voice of America" beginning tomorrow will give the Russians more news, explanatory background and popular American music—and less talk on dull technical subjects.

Assistant Secretary William Benton announced today that on the basis of criticism from Moscow the State department's new daily one-hour broadcasts to Russia would thus be simplified and enlivened.

Ambassador W. Bedell Smith advised the changes from suggestions by his staff and Russian listeners. Smith forwarded a series of criticisms of the first nine days' programs which included:

"Talk on fertilizer dull and lifeless.

"Item about Byron Price, war time censor, being made United Nations deputy secretary, failed to explain censorship has been abolished in the United States.

"Russians have keen appetite for news, but want background."

As for music, Smith advised the popular variety was favored in Moscow, including "anything but the most extreme forms of jazz."

As a result, a third of the revamped broadcasts will be devoted to music, and there will be less of the "Turkey In The Straw" type. Some of Jerome Kern's tunes are on tomorrow.

Talks on astronomy and such subjects will be at the end of the program where Russian listeners can readily tune them out.

MARSHALL URGES MILITARY MISSIONS

Washington, Feb. 26 (A. P.).—Secretary of State Marshall today urged Congress to authorize the sending of military missions to any country, saying they would be "in excellent position" to get information about foreign areas. Under the proposed draft of legislation, which Marshall sent to Congress with an accompanying letter, the missions would be authorized to supervise elections, organize waterways and perform similar services.

At present, missions can be sent only to Latin American republics and the Philippines and are limited to providing "military or naval assistance.'

In urging the broader authority to supply missions to any country requesting them, Marshall commented that world war II had "emphasized the strategiv importance" of the Near, Middle and Far East regions to world peace. Also, he added, the Yalta oeclaration obligates the United States to go into former Axis satellite States and assist in establishing "conditions of internal peace.'

ARCTIC ROUTES ARE APPROVED

Federal Body Says Air Lanes Are Feasible.

Washington, Feb. 26 (A. P.).—The Air Co-ordinating Committee, a Government agency, reported today that it considers air routes through the arctic feasible as the shortest path between American trade centers and those of northern Europe and Asia.

It called attention in its first annual report to several co-ordinated projects undertaken in that region in accordance with its recommendations. These are:

1. Establishment of a weather station at Tulle, Greenland.

2. Continued operation and in some cases expansion of existing weather statons in the Arctic and sub-Arctic regions.

3. Daily weather flights by Army Air Forces planes over the Arctic Ocean north of Alaska, planned to begin about March 1.

The ACC said that it is studying what further steps should be taken to establish technical aids to civil avatıcn in the Arctic and to promote international agreement on routes and essential installations.

The committee was created by President Truman last September. It has representatives from the State, War, Navy, Commerce and Post Office departments, the Civil Aeronautics Board and the Budget Bureau.

Its report to Mr. Truman advised that the group is working on a full statement of national aviation policy. However, a committee official told a reporter it might be early summer before the statement is completed.

Mr. Truman forwarded the report to Congress with the expressed hope that it "may prove useful to the Congress in its deliberations on aviation matters, which are of such great concern to our country's welfare."

U. S. PAYS MORE TO WORLD BANK

Washington, Feb. 26 (A. P.).—The United States has paid another $158,750,000 on its subscription to the 40-nation world bank, Treasury records disclosed today.

The United States has now put up about $474,250,000 of the $635,000,000 it must actually pay on its $3,175,000,000 subscription, which constitutes more than one-third of the bank's total capital.

The United States is to complete its payments in May. The remaining $2,540,000,000 of its subscription then could be called for only in emergency circumstances.

John W. Snyder, Secretary of the Treasury, said today the United States has completed payment of its $2,750,000,000 subscription to the 40-nation world monetary fund. It was described as the biggest single international money transfer in years, if not in history.

The wind-up payment amounted to $2,744,725,000. Gold constituted $687,590,000. This was taken out of the $1,800,000,000 increment in the dollar value of gold stocks obtained by lowering the gold content of the dollar in 1934.

The remaining part of the final payment was made up by crediting $275,224,999 in currency to the fund's account with the Federal Reserve Bank of New York and giving the fund $1,782,000,000 in non-interest bearing notes of the United States.

The transaction will result in a $950,000,000 charge against the United States budget for the current fiscal year.

That charge along with another $158,750,000 payment to the fund's twin institution, the 40-nation World Bank for Reconstruction and Development, will wipe out more than half of a $2,007,400,000 surplus that has been built up for this fiscal year to date.

World Fund Called Safe From Drain

Gutt Says Limits on Loans Will Be Enforced

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26 (AP).—Managing Director Camille Gutt gave assurance today that the forty-nation World Monetary Fund's $7,500,000,000 pool of gold and national currencies will not be drained by any one or a few countries.

The fund, which began organizing a staff about ten months ago, is to begin operations Saturday. The aim is to smooth the path of world trade and thus promote prosperity.

Member countries whose exports fail to bring in enough foreign currencies to pay for their imports are to be "tided over" temporarily by loans of the needed sort of currency from the pool, provided their trade deficiencies appear likely to be overcome.

Mr. Gutt told a news conference there were adequate limitations on the amount any member could borrow, scaled according to each member's contributions to the pool, and that these would be enforced to prevent undue drain.

He also said borrowers would be required to pay interest charges which would tend to hold down their demands upon the pool, to which the United States has paid the biggest single subscription, $2,750,000,000.

Soldier With Jewelry Freed After Inquiry

Camp Kilmer, N.J., Feb. 26 (AP)—A soldier who was questioned for several hours today by a United States customs agent in connection with possession of $20,000 worth of jewelry brought from overseas, was released later, Army Public Relations office said.

The public relations office said that under a tariff amendment, the soldier, Pfc. Fred U. Spigel, 24, Richmond, Va., had committed no violation. The Army officer quoted the tariff amendment as follows: "Any man subject to military law can bring back anything for his own use free of duty."

The public relations office said Spigel arrived in the United States yesterday on the U.S.S. Gen. Sturgis with watches, uncut diamonds, rings and stickpins in his possession.

Trojan Horse Radio Barrier

Washington, Feb. 26 (AP)—Representative Lane (D., Mass.) called on Congress today to support a bill which would deny radio time "to those who preach doctrines calculated to undermine the American form of government."

In a House speech, Lane said:

"Under the guise of free speech, they have begun to use our radio broadcasting privileges to give aid and comfort to ideologies which seek to liquidate us.

"For the defense of the nation against this Trojan-horse technique, and as a protection for our broadcasting companies, I ask that the Communications Act of 1934 be amended."

Lane said his bill would require the Federal Communications Commission to forbid use of radio "for the dissemination of views contrary to the Constitution of the United States, or the constitution of any state, in the matter of religious freedom, or freedom of the press."

General Eaker Plans To Retire On June 15

Washington, Feb. 26 (AP)—Lieut. Gen. Ira C. Eaker, deputy commander of Army Air Forces, said today he will retire June 15.

Eaker, who pioneered some of the army's early aviation work, came to Washington as AAF deputy in April, 1945, after a number of important assignments in Europe, including commands in England and the Mediterranean.

The AAF said no decision has been made on a successor for Eaker yet and that the General has not announced his own plans after retirement.

War Scholarship Awarded

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Feb. 26 (AP).—A Harvard scholarship established in memory of a Navy airman killed by Japanese anti-aircraft fire in 1944 was awarded for the first time today to a twenty-six-year-old former chief yeoman, Charles Ross Conklin, of Delta, Col., who lives with his wife at a Boston hotel leased by the university for veteran students. The scholarship was established by Mr. and Mrs. Harold M. Landon, of 15 East Sixty-ninth Street, New York City, in memory of their son, Newbold Rhinelander Landon, Harvard '42, whose torpedo bomber received a direct hit from an enemy anti-aircraft battery.

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., FEB 26-(AP)-ANDREI A.GROMYKO, SOVIET RUSSIAN DELEGATE, QUICKLY GAVE HIS COUNTRY'S APPROVAL TODAY TO THE MAJOR TERMS OF THE UNITED STATES REQUEST THAT THIS NATION BE DESIGNATED SOLE ADMINISTRATOR OF THE FAR-FLUNG CHAIN OF JAPANESE-MANDATED ISLANDS IN THE PACIFIC.

RUSSIAN AGREEMENT TO THE PRINCIPLES WAS ANNOUNCED YESTERDAY.

THE RUSSIAN DELEGATE SPOKE BRIEFLY AFTER WARREN R.AUSTIN, AMERICAN REPRESENTATIVE, FORMALLY PLACED BEFORE THE UNITED NATIONS SECURITY COUNCIL A UNITED STATES REQUEST TO MAKE THE ISLANDS A STRATEGIC AREA UNDER THE WATCH-CARE OF THE UNITED STATES.

GROMYKO SUBMITTED THREE AMENDMENTS BUT THEY MADE NO MAJOR CHANGE IN THE PROPOSED AGREEMENT. THE COUNCIL ADJOURNED AT 4:23 P.M. (EST) TO GIVE THE DELEGATIONS OPPORTUNITY TO STUDY THE AMERICAN PROPOSALS. THE TRUSTEESHIP PROPOSAL WILL COME UP AGAIN ON MARCH 7.

AUSTIN DECLARED THE ISLANDS VITAL TO THE SECURITY OF THIS COUNTRY.

IN ONE XXX SECOND GRAF SECOND LEAD (DAY) UN.

G458PES.

SIR ALEXANDER CADOGAN, BRITISH DELEGATE TO THE SECURITY COUNCIL, SAID HE CONSIDERED THE JAPANESE-MANDATE QUESTION "LEGAL RATHER THAN POLITICAL." HE CONTENDS THAT THE ISLANDS ARE STILL LEGALLY MANDATED TO JAPAN.

THE U.S. ARGUES, HOWEVER, THAT JAPAN FORFEITED THE RIGHT OF MANDATE WHEN SHE DECLARED WAR AND FORTIFIED THE ISLANDS. AT THE SAME TIME, THE UNITED STATES HAS MADE IT CLEAR THT SHE HAS NO INTENTION OF GIVING UP THE ISLANDS WHICH SHE OCCUPIED DURING THE WAR WITH JAPAN.

A MEMBER OF THE U.S. DELEGATION SAID THE UNITED STATES HAD DESIGNATED THE JAPANESE-MANDATED ISLANDS AS A "STRATEGIC AREA" TO BE PLACED UNDER UNITED NATIONS TRUSTEESHIP "IN ORDER TO ENABLE THE UNITED STATES TO SAFEGUARD HER OWN NATIONAL SECURITY AND AT THE SAME TIME TO DISCHARGE HER OBLIGATIONS FOR GENERAL SECURITY UNDER THE UNITED NATIONS." ADD-LAKE SUCCESS (D).-(PARRIS)-XXV INSTRUCTIONS,

BEHIND THE AMERICAN TRUSTEESHIP PROPOSAL IS A PLAN TO ESTABLISH AIR AND NAVAL BASES WHICH WOULD PREVENT ANOTHER PEARL HARBOR OR AN ATTACK ON THE UNITED STATES.

UNDER THE AGREEMENT OFFERED THE UNITED NATIONS, THE U.S. GOVERNMENT STIPULATES THAT THE UNITED STATES SHALL BE ENTITLED TO ESTABLISH NAVAL, MILITARY AND AIR BASES AND TO ERECT FORTIFICATIONS; AND TO STATION AND EMPLOY FORCES IN THE TERRITORY.

THIS WOULD FIT IN WITH THE OVERALL U.S. DEFENSE PLAN FOR THE PACIFIC WHICH WOULD REVOLVE AROUND GUAM, THE MARSHALLS, MARIANAS AND CAROLINES AND IS DESIGNED TO INTERCEPT AND STOP AIR FLEETS, SURFACE FLEETS OR GUIDED MISSILES AIMED AT THE UNITED STATES FROM THE WEST.

THE TRUST AGREEMENT, HOWEVER, APPLIES ONLY TO THE JAPANESE-MANDATED ISLANDS AND DOES NOT APPLY TO ANY ISLANDS UNDER JAPANESE SOVEREIGNTY FOR WHICH THE UNITED STATES MAY BECOME RESPONSIBLE, AN AMERICAN DELEGATION REPRESENTATIVE EXPLAINED.

OTHER ISLANDS IN WHICH THE UNITED STATES IS KNOWN TO BE INTERESTED ARE THE RYUKYUS AND BONIN. THEY WERE SEIZED AND OCCUPIED BY AMERICAN FORCES AND ARE UNDERSTOOD TO FIT INTO AMERICA'S GENERAL DEFENSE PLANS FOR THE PACIFIC.

IN ASKING TO BE NAMED ADMINISTRATOR OF THE JAPANESE-MANDATED

ISLANDS, A U.S. DELEGATION REPRESENTATIVE SAID HIS GOVERNMENT FELT IT SHOULD BE THE "SOLE ADMINISTERING AUTHORITY" BECAUSE "THE UNITED STATES WAS PRIMARILY RESPONSIBLE FOR THEIR LIBERATION AND IS AT PRESENT RESPONSIBLE FOR THIR ADMINISTRATION."

THE U.S., HE ADDED, DOES NOT, HOWEVER, SEEK SOVEREIGNTY OVER THE TERRITORY, WHICH HAS A TOTAL LAND AREA OF 846 SQUARE MILES AND IS INHABITED BY 48,295 NATIVES.

HE SAID, TOO, THAT THE UNITED STATES "DOES NOT INTEND TO TAKE ADVANTAGE FOR ITS OWN BENEFIT OF SUCH MEAGER AND ALMOST NON-EXISTENT RESOURCES AND OPPORTUNITIES AS MAY EXIST IN THESE SCATTERED AND BARREN ISLANDS."

THE AGREEMENT ALSO STIPULATES THAT "NOTHING IN THIS ARTICLE SHALL BE SO CONSTRUED AS TO ACCORD TRAFFIC RIGHTS TO AIRCRAFT FLYING INTO AND OUT OF TRUST TERRITORY. SUCH RIGHTS SHALL BE SUBJECT TO AGREEMENT BETWEEN THE ADMINISTERING AUTHORITY AND THE STATE WHOSE NATIONALITY SUCH AIRCRAFT POSSESSES."

THE U.S. DELEGATION REPRESENTATIVE SAID THE "PURPOSE OF THIS PROVISION IS TO STATE EXPLICITLY WHAT HAS ALREADY BEEN ACCEPTED IN INTERNATIONAL PRACTICE: NAMELY, THAT AIR TRAFFIC RIGHTS WHICH CONCERN THE PICKING UP AND DISCHARGE OF PASSENGERS, MAIL AND CARGO ARE SUBJECT TO BILATERAL AGREEMENTS."

A67

"THUS," HE ADDED, "IRRESPECTIVE OF WHAT FORM OF ECONOMIC TREATMENT FOR NON-TERRITORIAL INTERESTS MIGHT BE PROVIDED IN ANY TRUSTEESHIP AGREEMENT, AIR TRAFFIC RIGHTS WOULD REMAIN SUBJECT TO BILATERAL AGREEMENTS. AIR TRANSIT RIGHTS, ON THE OTHER HAND, ARE COVERED BY THE CHICAGO CONVENTION ON INTERNATIONAL CIVIL AVIATION, A MULTILATERAL AGREEMENT."

AUSTIN SAID LAST NIGHT THAT YESTERDAY'S UNEXPECTED SOVIET NOTE APPROVING THE AMERICAN REQUEST WAS "VERY ENCOURAGING." HE IMMEDIATELY REWROTE HIS SPEECH FOR TODAY IN THE LIGHT OF THE NEW DEVELOPMENT.

30.24-8145

TECHNICALLY, TODAY'S DEBATE IS ON THE QUESTION OF WHETHER THE COUNCIL WILL PUT THE U.S. REQUEST ON ITS AGENDA FOR FUTURE ACTION. IT WOULD HAVE TO TAKE ITS PLACE AT THE BOTTOM OF A LONG LIST OF ISSUES WHICH MIGHT KEEP IT WAITING FOR SEVERAL MONTHS. THESE INCLUDE ARMS LIMITATION, THE BRITISH CHARGES AGAINST ALBANIA AND ATOMIC ENERGY CONTROL.

THE UNITED STATES, STILL STRIVING FOR UNANIMOUS AGREEMENT ON THE LONG-DEBATED PROBLEM OF HARNESSING THE ATOM FOR PEACE, YESTERDAY ASKED THE COUNCIL TO SEND THE WHOLE QUESTION BACK TO THE ATOMIC ENERGY COMMISSION FOR A NEW EFFORT TO RECONCILE AMERICAN AND RUSSIAN DIFFERENCES.

SOVIET DELEGATE ANDREI GROMYKO BLOCKED AN IMMEDIATE VOTE AND INFORMED THE OUNCIL HE INTENDED TO SPEAK AT THE NEXT SESSION ON ATOMIC ENERGY CONTROL, SCHEDULED FOR FRIDAY AT 3 P.M. (EST).

THE PRINCIPAL DIFFERENCE BARRING UNANIMOUS AGREEMENT CONCERNS USE OF THE VETO. THE UNITED STATES WANTS THE VETO OUTLAWED SO FAR AS ATOMIC ENERGY MATTERS ARE CONCERNED. RUSSIA WANTS THE VETO POWER RETAINED.

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., FEB. 26-(AP)-GREAT BRITAIN, ACTING QUICKLY AFTER FOREIGN SECRETARY ERNEST BEVIN'S CRITICISM OF PRESIDENT TRUMAN ON THE PALESTINE ISSUE, MADE INFORMAL INQUIRIES TODAY ON THE PRACTICABILITY OF A SPECIAL SESSION OF THE UNITED NATIONS ASSEMBLY TO DEAL QITH THE STRIFE-TORN HOLY LAND MANDATE.

BRITISH DELEGATE SIR ALEXANDER CADOGAN AND SECRETARY-GENERAL TRYGVE LIE OF THE U.N. CONFIRMED REPORTS THAT THEY HAD DISCUSSED THE SUBJECT THIS MORNING IN CADOGAN'S OFFICE.

NEITHER, HOWEVER, WOULD COMMENT ON ONE UNOFFICIAL REPORT THAT SUCH A SESSION OF THE 55 MEMBER NATIONS WOULD COST AROUND $1,000,000 THAT WOULD HAVE TO BE RAISED BY SPECIAL ASSESSMENT.

AFTER THE MEETING OF CADOGAN AND LIE THE SECRETARIAT SAID NO ANNOUNCEMENT WOULD BE FORTHCOMING. A PRIVATE SOURCE SAID THAT ANY ANNOUNCEMENT AT THIS TIME COULD BE ONLY "NEGATIVE," INDICATING THERE WOULD BE NO IMMEDIATE WORLD-WIDE CALL TO MEET HERE OR ELSEWHERE ON PALESTINE.

THE BRITISH WERE REPORTED LATER TO HAVE MADE THE SUGGESTION THAT IF A SPECIAL SESSION SHOULD BE DEEMED NECESSARY IT MIGHT BE ON A CURTAILED BASIS IN THE INTERESTS OF ECONOMY; THAT A "SMALL ASSEMBLY" COULD BE CALLED WITH EACH MEMBER NATION LIMITED TO ONE OR AT MOST A FEW DELEGATES. THEY POINTED OUT FURTHER THAT FOREIGN AMBASSADORS TO WASHINGTON COULD BE MADE DELEGATES IN ORDER TO SAVE TRAVEL EXPENSE AND TIME.

THESE SOURCES SAID BRITISH DELEGATE SIR ALEXANDER CADOGAN HAD ASKED SECRETARY-GENERAL TRYGVE LIE, DURING A BRIEF TALK THIS MORNING, WHETHER A SPECIAL SESSION WOULD BE PRACTICABLE. LIE'S REPLY WAS NOT DISCLOSED.

BRITISH CIRCLES EMPHASIZED THAT THE TALK WAS MERELY EXPLORATORY AND THAT BRITAIN HAD MADE NO PROPOSAL FOR A SPECIAL SESSION. THE REGULAR SESSION OF THE ASSEMBLY IS SCHEDULED FOR SEPTEMBER.

GOVERNMENT SOURCES SAID ENTIRE FACTORIES PROBABLY WOULD CLOSE DOWN BY DAY AND OPERATE ONLY AT NIGHT UNDER THE NEW SCHEME. FACTORIES MAY ALTERNATE IN GOING ONTO THE NIGHT SHIFT, EACH FACTORY WORKING AT NIGHT ONE WEEK OUT OF EVERY THREE OR FOUR.

ALTHOUGH THE SCHEME IS BEING DEBATED BECAUSE OF THE FUEL STRINGENCY AND THE RUNDOWN CONDITION OF THE ELECTRIC GENERATING EQUIPMENT, OFFICIALS SAID IT WAS LIKELY TO BECOME A PERMANENT ASPECT OF BRITISH LIFE. ADD LDN (N) - NITE SHIFT FOR INDUSTRY - XXX WOMEN

CRIPPS SAID ALSO THERE WOULD BE A "COAL BUDGET" IN BRITAIN'S FUTURE PLANS AND SOME FORM OF RATIONING GAS AND ELECTRICITY FOR DOMESTIC USERS PROBABLY FOR THE COMING YEAR. SUCH USERS AT PRESENT ARE CUT OFF FIVE HOURS A DAY.

CHUTER EDE, HOME SECRETARY, ALSO INTRODUCED A BILL TO PUT THE COUNTRY ON DOUBLE SUMMER TIME--TURNING THE CLOCKS UP TWO HOURS AHEAD OF STANDARD TIME--AS A ELECTRICITY CONSERVING MEASURE. THE CLOCKS WOULD BE TURNED UP ONE HOUR ON MARCH 16 AND ANOTHER HOUR ON APRIL 13.

NEW BLIZZARDS, THE WORST IN YEARS, SPREAD UP TO 15 INCHES OF SNOW IN 10 BELOW ZERO TEMPERATURES IN THE NORTH, BLOCKING HIGHWAY AND RAILWAY ROUTES TO THE COAL MINES.

FIRST LEAD INDIAN

BY ROBERT HEWITT

LONDON, FEB 26-(AP)-LORD CRANBORNE, CONSERVATIVE SPOKESMAN, AND MEMBERS OF THE LABOR AND LIBERAL PARTIES URGED THE HOUSE OF LORDS TONIGHT NOT TO INSIST ON MOTION CRITICIZING THE GOVERNMENT'S PLAN TO QUIT INDIA BY JUNE, 1948.

LORD TEMPLEWOOD, CONSERVATIVE AND FORMER FOREIGN MINISTER, HEEDED THE URGINGS AND WITHDREW HIS MOTION ON WHAT HE TERMED "A GAMBLER'S THROW."

LORD HALIFAX, FORMER VICEROY AND RECENTLY AMBASSADOR TO WASHINGTON, SAID "THE TRUTH IS THAT FOR INDIA TODAY THERE IS NO SOLUTION WHICH IS NOT FRAUGHT WITH THE GRAVEST OBJECTION AND DANGER."

TEMPLEWOOD XXX ETC SECOND GRAF PREV (A38).

G354PES

TEMPLEWOOD, (FORMERLY SIR SAMUEL HOARE) ONE-TIME FOREIGN SECRETARY, MOVED LAST NIGHT THAT THE GOVERNMENT'S STAND BE CONDEMNED "AS LIKELY TO IMPERIL THE PEACE AND PROSPERITY OF INDIA."

THE CONSERVATIVE MAJORITY IN THE HOUSE OF LORDS INDICATED CONFIDENCE THAT THE MOTION WOULD BE ADOPTED FOLLOWING CONTINUED DEBATE ON THE INDIAN SITUATION TODAY. THERE SEEMED LITTLE LIKELIHOOD THAT THE CONSERVATIVES WOULD HEED THE PLEA OF LORD PETHICK-LAWRENCE, LABOR PEER AND SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA, WHO URGED THAT THE HOUSE REFRAIN FROMVOTING ON THE MOTION ON THE GROUND THAT CONDEMNATION

OF THE GOVERNMENT'S POLICY WOULD ONLY WEAKEN NEGOTIATIONS WITH THE INDIANS DURING THE NEXT 15 MONTHS.

PASSAGE OF THE CONDEMNATION MOTION IN THE HOUSE OF LORDS WOULD NOT INVALIDATE THE GOVERNMENT'S DECISION BECAUSE ONLY THE HOUSE OF COMMONS HOLDS THE POWER TO REVERSE THE GOVERNMENT. THREE MONTHS AGO THE LORDS DEFEATED THE GOVERNMENT ON A CONSERVATIVE PROPOSAL FOR IMMEDIATE PENAL SYSTEM REFORMS WITHOUT CAUSING THE CABINET TO CHANGE ITS DECISION TO DEFER ACTION.

VISCOUNT SAMUEL, LIBERAL PARTY SPOKESMAN, JOINED PETHICK-LAWRENCE LAST NIGHT IN DEFENDING THE GOVERNMENT'S POLICY.

IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS, MEANWHILE, PRIME MINISTER ATTLEE DECLARED THAT INDIA WOULD BE RESPONSIBLE FOR HER OWN SECURITY AFTER INDEPENDENCE IS GRANTED, BUT INDICATED THAT BRITAIN WOULD BE WILLING TO NEGOTIATE A TREATY OF MUTUAL ASSISTANCE IF THE INDIANS CHOSE TO REMAIN OUTSIDE THE BRITISH COMMONWEALTH.

REPLYING TO A QUESTION, ATTLEE SAID:

"IF INDIA DECIDES TO REMAIN WITHIN THE BRITISH COMMONWEALTH, THE POSITION AS BETWEEN HIS MAJESTY'S GOVERNMENT AND INDIA WILL BE SIMILAR TO THAT NOW EXISTING BETWEEN HIS MAJESTY'S GOVERNMENT IN THE UNITED KINGDOM AND THE BRITISH COMMONWEALTH.

"IF INDIA DECIDES TO LEAVE THE BRITISH COMMONWEALTH, THE CONTINUED SECURITY OF INDIA WILL, OF COURSE, BE A MATTER OF GREAT INTEREST TO THE BRITISH COMMONWEALTH. HIS MAJESTY'S GOVERNMENT WILL NATURALLY BE VERY WILLING TO ENTER INTO DISCUSSIONS WITH INDIA AS TO MUTUAL ASSISTANCE IN MATTERS OF EXTERNAL DEFENSE, SUBJECT OF COURSE TO THE OBLIGATIONS OF BOTH PARTIES UNDER THE UNITED NATIONS CHARTER."

JR440AES

THE LONDON TIMES SUPPORTED BEVIN'S CHARGE, AND SAID NEGOTIATIONS "WERE LARGELY DESTROYED BY THE WELL-MEANING IF INEPT INTERVENTION FROM THE UNITED STATES." OTHER NEWSPAPERS RAN SUCH HEADLINES AS "TRUMAN LASHED BY BEVIN ON JEWS," "BEVIN REBUKES U.S. FOR INTERFERING," "U.S. ATTACKED FOR 'ELECTIONEERING.'" ADD -LDN-UN ON PALESTINE.XXX SIDE

IN JERUSALEM, A JEWISH AGENCY SPOKESMAN SAID BEVIN'S SPEECH "SHOWS A COMPLETE LACK OF UNDERSTANDING REGARDING THE FUNDAMENTALS OF ZIONISM, WHICH IS AN ATTEMPT TO SOLVE THE JEWISH PROBLEM BY RESTORING NATIONHOOD TO THE JEWISH PEOPLE." WKS

THE BROADCASTER CONTENDED THAT BEVIN HAD SAID IN EFFECT: "ACCEPT MY PLAN, GIVE UP YOUR DREAMS FOR MILLIONS, FOR FREEDOM, FOR INDEPENDENCE--THEN I WILL LET THE 100,000 DISPLACED PERSONS IN BUT OTHERWISE THEY MAY STARVE."

IN CAIRO HAJ AMIN EL HUSSIENI, EXILED MUFTI OF PALESTINE, SAID THAT "ARABS ARE NOT SURPRISED" AT THE FAILURE OF THE LONDON CONFERENCE ON PALESTINE.

HE DECLARED THAT THE ARABS "REALIZE THAT IT IS BRITISH IMPERIALISTIC POLICY WHICH CREATED A PALESTINE PROBLEM IN ORDER TO HAVE EXCUSES TO OCCUPY PALESTINE."

DR.NAHUM GOLDMANN, AN AMERICAN MEMBER OF THE JEWISH AGENCY EXECUTIVE, SAID AT A NEWS CONFERENCE HERE THAT PRESIDENT TRUMAN HAD NOT WRECKED ANY PALESTINE AGREEMENT LAST FALL, BECAUSE "THERE WAS NEVER ANY BASIS FOR AGREEMENT" AT THAT TIME.

HE POINTED OUT THAT NEGOTIATIONS LAST SEPTEMBER AND OCTOBER WERE BETWEEN THE BRITISH AND ARABS, AND THAT THE JEWS DID NOT PARTICIPATE.

GOLDMANN ACCUSED BEVIN OF "SIMPLIFYING" THE PROBLEM BY SUGGESTING THAT THE UNITED NATIONS CONSIDER A "UNITARIAN" STATE WITH THE INTERESTS OF BOTH JEWS AND ARABS BALANCED AND PROTECTED. HE SAID THAT ANY SUCH ARRANGEMENT WOULD RESULT ACTUALLY IN AN ARAB STATE, AND "WE WILL NEVER ACCEPT A MINORITY UNDER THE ARABS IN PALESTINE."

RH&G307PES

LONDON, FEB. 26-(AP)-A GOVERNMENT SOURCE SAID TODAY THAT FOREIGN SECRETARY ERNEST BEVIN HAD THE FULL SUPPORT OF PRIME MINISTER ATTLEE IN HIS DECLARATION TO THE HOUSE OF COMMON SYESTERDAY THAT PRESIDENT TRUMAN, BY URGING ADMISSION OF 100,000 JEWS TO THE HOLY LAND LAST FALL, HAD SHATTERED BRITISH PROSPECTS OF SETTLING THE PALESTINE PROBLEM.

BEVIN'S DISCLOSURES TO PARLIAMENT, THIS INFORMANT SAID, WERE MADE BECAUSE THE TIME HAD COME TO BE FRANK AND TO COUNTER "UNDESERVED PARLIAMENTARY CRITICISM" FOR FAILING TO NEGOTIATE A PALESTINE SETTLEMENT. IN ADDITION, HE ADDED, BEVIN WANTED THE U.S.GOVERNMENT TO REALIZE THE INTERNATIONAL RESPONSIBILITIES INVOLVED IN THE HOLY LAND.

THE STATEMENT DID NOT CHANGE THE BRITISH INTENTION TO BRING THE WHOLE PALESTINE ISSUE BEFORE THE UNITED NATIONS, THIS SOURCE SAID, ALTHOUGH BEVIN SAID HE WAS WILLING TO TRY AGAIN FOR A SETTLEMENT.

LONDON, FEB. 26-(AP)-FOREIGN SECRETARY ERNEST BEVIN'S ASSERTION THAT PRESIDENT TRUMAN HAD WRECKED BRITAIN'S EFFORTS TO SETTLE THE PALESTINE SITUATION LAST FALL BY URGING THE ADMISSION OF 100,000 JEWS TO THE HOLY LAND EVOKED A VARIED RESPONSE FROM LONDON NEWSPAPERS TODAY.

THE TIMES EDITORIALLY EXPRESSED BELIEF THAT THE PALESTINE NEGOTIATIONS WERE "LARGELY DESTROYED BY WELL MEANING IF INEPT INTERVENTION FROM THE UNITED STATES" AND REFERRED TO THE "LAMENTABLE EFFECT OF AMERICAN INTERVENTION IN GENERAL, AND PRESIDENT TRUMAN'S STATEMENTS IN PARTICULAR, ON BRITISH HOPES OF AN ARAB-JEWISH COMPROMISE ON INCREASED IMMIGRATION" TO THE HOLY LAND.

THE CONSERVATIVE DAILY GRAPHIC, ON THE OTHER HAND SAID THAT BEVIN'S "BLUNTNESS" WAS AN "ELEVENTH HOUR APPEAL TO ARABS AND JEWS TO AGREE NOW TO A COMPROMISE WHICH, APPARENTLY, BOTH WERE WILLING TO ACCEPT AT AN EARLY STAGE IN THE NEGOTIATIONS."

"BUT IF MR.BEVIN'S CALCULATED INDISCRETION FAILS TO BRING A SETTLEMENT," THE GRAPHIC ADDED, "IT MAY WELL BE THAT LARGE SECTIONS OF AMERICAN OPINION WILL RESENT THE WAY IN WHICH MR. TRUMAN HAS BEEN MADE TO APPEAR 'THE NIGGER IN THE WOODPILE'.

"WE TRUST THAT THE FRIENDS OF AMERICA IN BRITAIN AND OF BRITAIN IN AMERICA WILL DO ALL THEY CAN TO INSURE THAT MR.BEVIN'S STATEMENT HAS NO REPERCUSSIONS LIKELY TO ENDANGER THAT UNDERSTANDING AND COOPERATION BETWEEN THE TWO COUNTRIES WHICH ARE THE WORLD'S SUREST HOPE TODAY."

THE INDEPENDENT CONSERVATIVE DAILY TELEGRAPH COMMENTED THAT EARLIER ACTION IN REFERRING THE PALESTINE PROBLEM TO THE UNITED NATIONS MIGHT HAVE AVOIDED "THOSE EXACERBATING AND UNCONSTRUCTIVE INTERVENTIONS FROM THE UNITED STATES TO WHICH MR.BEVIN REFERRED WITH NOT UNNATURAL BITTERNESS."

DEPUTIES (370)

LONDON, FEB. 26-(AP)-DEPUTY FOREIGN MINISTERS OF THE BIG FOUR ADJOURNED ON SCHEDULE LAST NIGHT, STILL SNAGGED IN DISAGREEMENT ON PRELIMINARY PROBLEMS SURROUNDING A PEACE TREATY FOR GERMANY AND LEAVING THE AUSTRIAN PEACE TREATY LARGELY UNWRITTEN.

DESPITE THE LACK OF ACCORD, THE DEPUTIES EXPRESSED BELIEF THAT THEY HAD ACCOMPLISHED A GREAT DEAL IN THE WAY OF LAYING GROUNDWORK FOR THE FOREIGN MINISTERS COUNCIL MEETING AT MOSCOW MARCH 10, AND THERE WAS A GENERAL AIR OF CORDIAL GOOD WILL AT A DINNER FOR THE DEPUTIES AND NEGOTIATORS LAST NIGHT.

THE DEPUTIES WORKING ON THE GERMAN SETTLEMENT BOGGED DOWN IN THE FINAL SESSION OF THEIR SIX-WEEKS-OLD CONFERENCE YESTERDAY IN A DISPUTE ON HOW THEIR DISAGREEMENTS WERE TO BE REPORTED TO MOSCOW.

FEODOR T. GOUSEV, SOVIET DEPUTY, DECLARED HE WOULD NOT ASSOCIATE HIMSELF WITH A REPORT SUMMARIZING THE POINTS UPON WHICH BRITAIN, FRANCE, THE UNITED STATES AND RUSSIA WERE IN AGREEMENT AND LISTING DISAGREEMENTS IN THE FORM OF MARGINAL NOTES OR ANNEXES.

THE NEGOTIATORS FINALLY AGREED TO REPORT IN THIS LANGUAGE:

"THE DEPUTIES FAILED TO WORK OUT PROCEDURE FOR CONSULTATIONS WITH ALLIED GOVERNMENTS."

THIS WAS THE PRINCIPAL DISAGREEMENT WHICH ENCUMBERED THE DEPUTIES SINCE THEY STARTED WORK JAN. 14 UNDER INSTRUCTIONS OF THE FOREIGN MINISTERS TO CUT AWAY AS MUCH UNDERBRUSH AS POSSIBLE BY FEB. 25.

THE WESTERN POWERS, FOR THE MOST PART, WANTED 18 SMALLER ALLIED NATIONS TO HAVE A FULL VOICE IN COMMITTEE WORK IN WRITING THE GERMAN TREATY BUT RUSSIA WANTED TO AFFORD THEM ONLY LIMITED PARTICIPATION AT THE MOST. THE VIEWS OF 13 OF THESE SMALL NATIONS WERE HEARD BY THE DEPUTIES DURING THEIR SIX WEEKS OF MEETING.

(IN OTTAWA, EXTERNAL AFFAIRS MINISTER LOUIS ST.LAURENT TOLD THE HOUSE OF COMMONS THAT CANADA, WHICH REFUSED TO APPEAR BEFORE THE DEPUTIES UNLESS GRANTED A LARGER ROLE IN PREPARING THE PEACE SETTLEMENTS, HAD NOT RECEIVED ANY ASSURANCE THAT A "MORE SATISFACTORY METHOD" OF NEGOTIATING THE TREATIES WOULD BE ADOPTED.)

THUS THE FOREIGN MINISTERS, WHEN THEY CONVENE IN MOSCOW NEXT MONTH, WILL BE FACED WITH THE INITIAL JOB OF DECIDING THIS PROCEDURAL QUESTION RATHER THAN BEING ABLE TO GET DOWN TO THE SUBSTANCE OF THE PEACE ITSELF.

MORE PROGRESS WAS MADE ON THE AUSTRIAN TREATY. A ROUGH DRAFT WAS ORGANIZED BY THE DEPUTIES BUT IT CONTAINS MANY BLANK SPACES AND DISAGREEMENTS, OF WHICH THE TWO MAIN ONES WERE:

1. YUGOSLAVIA'S CLAIM FOR 1,000 SQUARE MILES OF AUSTRIAN CARINTHIA, SUPPORTED BY RUSSIA AND OPPOSED BY THE OTHER THREE POWERS.
2. DEFINITION OF "GERMAN ASSETS" IN AUSTRIA TO BE DISTRIBUTED AS REPARATIONS. THE WESTERN NATIONS WANTED THE DEFINITION TO RULE OUT FORMER AUSTRIAN PROPERTY SEIZED BY THE GERMANS, BUT THE RUSSIANS SOUGHT A LOOSER DEFINITION.

ZHDANOV

LONDON, FEB 26-(AP)-BECAUSE OF THE "PRESSURE OF WORK CONNECTED WITH HIS MAIN DUTIES," THE MOSCOW RADIO SAYS, COL.GEN.ANDREI ALEKSANDROVITCH ZHDANOV, OFTEN MENTIONED AS A POSSIBLE SUCCESSOR TO PRIME MINISTER STALIN, HAS BEEN RELIEVED OF HIS POST AS CHAIRMAN OF THE COUNCIL OF THE UNION OF THE SUPREME SOVIET AT HIS OWN REQUEST.

THE COUNCIL OF THE UNION IS THE SMALLER OF THE TWO HOUSES OF RUSSIA'S PARLIAMENT. THERE WAS NO IMMEDIATE INDICATION AS TO THE SIGNIFICANCE OF THE ACTION. THE MOSCOW RADIO BROADCAST ONLY BARE DETAILS LAST NIGHT AND THE SOVIET MONITOR IN LONDON SAID LITTLE OR NO AMPLIFICATION WAS EXPECTED.

ZHDANOV IS SECRETARY TO THE CENTRAL COMMITTEE OF THE COMMUNIST PARTY, CHAIRMAN OF THE ALLIED CONTROL COMMISSION FOR FINLAND, AND A MEMBER OF THE POLITBURO, INNER COUNCIL OF THE SOVIET GOVERNMENT. HE WAS UNANIMOUSLY ELECTED CHAIRMAN OF THE COUNCIL OF THE UNION LAST MARCH 12.

ZHDANOV, WHO IS 51 YEARS OLD TODAY, WAS THE HERO OF THE 29-MONTH SIEGE OF LENINGRAD BY THE GERMANS. LONG A LEADER OF THAT CITY'S COMMUNIST PARTY, HE STERNLY LED THE LONG RESISTANCE WHICH HELPED TURN THE TIDE AGAINST THE INVASION.

HE RECENTLY HAS BEEN A LEADING FIGURE IN THE RUSSIAN DRIVE TO PURGE SOVIET LITERATURE AND ART OF TENDENCIES TO STRAY FROM IDEOLOGICAL AIMS AND SIGNED DECREES INTENDED TO END ABUSES OF THE COLLECTIVE FARM SYSTEM LAST FALL.

ON NOV.7 LAST YEAR, THE 29TH ANNIVERSARY OF THE BOLSHEVIST REVOLUTION, ZHDANOV DELIVERED THE ANNUAL POLICY DECLARATION CUSTOMARILY GIVEN BY STALIN, WHO WAS ABSENT FROM THE CELEBRATION, THUS STIRRING ANEW SPECULATION CONCERNING ZHDANOV'S ELIGIBILITY TO SUCCEED THE AGING RUSSIAN LEADER, SPECULATION WHICH HAS BEEN REPEATED OFF AND ON FOR SEVEN YEARS.

THE RUSSIAN BROADCAST CONCERNING THE LATEST EVENT IN ZHDANOV'S ACTIVE LIFE SAID ONLY:

"ZHDANOV ASKED TO BE RELIEVED OF HIS DUTIES X X X 'OWING TO PRESSURE OF WORK CONNECTED WITH HIS MAIN DUTIES.' IVAN PARFENOV OF THE SOKOLNIKI DISTRICT OF MOSCOW WAS ELECTED AS HIS SUCCESSOR."

THE COUNCIL OF UNION CORRESPONDS SOMEWHAT TO THE U.S. HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES. ITS MEMBERS ARE ELECTED BY THE PEOPLE. THE OTHER CHAMBER OF THE SUPREME SOVIET, THE COUNCIL OF NATIONALITIES, IS CHOSEN BY THE SUPREME COUNCILS OF EACH OF THE SOVIET REPUBLICS WHICH MAKE UP THE SOVIET UNION.

ZHDANOV, WHO BECAME THE FIRST HEAD OF A NEW BUREAU OF PROPAGANDA OF THE COMMUNIST PARTY IN 1938, WAS ELECTED TO THE PARTY'S POLITBURO THE FOLLOWING YEAR. IN 1943 IT WAS HE WHO SIGNED THE RESOLUTION DISSOLVING THE COMMUNIST INTERNATIONAL, OF WHICH HE WAS EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE MEMBER. HE ALSO IS CHAIRMAN OF THE FOREIGN AFFAIRS COMMITTEE OF THE SUPREME COUNCIL OF THE U.S.S.R.

HE IS MARRIED AND HAS A SON.

LONDON, FEB. 26-(AP)-CABINET AND TREASURY SOURCES PREDICTED TODAY THAT BRITAIN'S DWINDLING RESOURCES OF BORROWED DOLLARS WOULD EVENTUALLY FORCE HER TO SIGN BILATERAL TRADE PACTS WITH EASTERN EUROPEAN NATIONS.

THE INFORMANTS DESCRIBED THIS SHAPING POLICY AS "INEVITABLE" AND DICTATED BY NECESSITY.

IT WOULD MEAN THAT BRITAIN WAS SEEKING TO SHIFT HER DEPENDENCE FOR MUCH FOOD, TOBACCO AND OTHER SUPPLIES FROM THE UNITED STATES AND CANADA WHERE DOLLAR PAYMENT IS CATLED FOR, TO EUROPE WHERE EITHER STERLING OR BRITISH PRODUCTS WOULD BE ACCEPTABLE.

THEREFORE BRITAIN'S "DOLLAR PROBLEM" EVENTUALLY WOULD BECOME AN AMERICAN PROBLEM IF THIS COUNTRY CONTINUED PROGRESSIVELY TO DECREASE U.S. IMPORTS, THE INFORMANTS SAID, BECAUSE BRITAIN IS ONE OF THE UNITED STATES' BIGGEST CUSTOMERS.

BRITAIN, THE SOURCES CONTINUED, HAS NO INTENTION OF ASKING THE U.S. FOR A RELAXATION OF THE $3,750,000,000 LOAN AGREEMENT. IF ANY RELIEF WAS SOUGHT IT WOULD POSSIBLY CALL FOR "PERIODIC" SOFTENING OF ONE CLAUSE (ARTICLE NINE) WHICH BARS EITHER COUNTRY FROM MAINTAINING OR IMPOSING DISCRIMINATORY IMPORT RESTRICTIONS ON THE OTHER, THEY SAID.

SALONIKA, GREECE, FEB 26-(AP)-FOTIOS KONTOPANOS, A 39-YEAR-OLD FORMER SCHOOL TEACHER, TOLD THE BALKAN INVESTIGATING COMMISSION OF THE UNITED NATIONS TODAY THAT HE WAS IN THE FIRST CLASS FOR GREEK GUERRILLAS GRADUATED FROM A SCHOOL IN BULKJES, YUGOSLAVIA.

A FORMER OFFICER IN THE ELAS, THE ARMED WING OF THE LEFTIST EAM, KONTOPANOS FLED GREECE AFTER THE COLLAPSE OF THE LEFTIST REVOLUTION IN 1945.

THE SCHOOL AT BULKJES WAS FOUNDED IN APRILN, 1946, HE SAID, AND THE FIRST CLASS COMPLETED ITS COURSE TWO MONTHS LATER. 1947

KONTOPANOS SAID THE FIRST BRIGADE WAS NAMED THE "NICHOLAS ZACHARIADES" AFTER THE PRESENT CHIEF OF THE COMMUNIST PARTY IN GREECE. MEMBERS OF THE BRIGADE, HE ADDED, WERE PUT TO WORK ON A RAILROAD LINE CALLED THE BRKCO-BAWOVIC WHICH RAN ALONG YUGOSLAVIA'S DALMATIAN COAST TO ALBANIA.

TELLING OF HIS PART IN RAIDS ON GREEK TERRITORY, KONTOPANOS SAID HE AND MORE THAN 20 OTHER GUERRILLAS CROSSED THE BORDER INTO GREECE FROM ALBANIA AT MOUNT GRAMMOS LAST SEPT. 10. HE SAID THEY "FOUND" ARMS IN A MOUNTAIN GULLEY.

FOLLOWING SEVERAL ATTACKS ON GREEK MILITARY AND GENDARME POSTS DURING WHICH THE BAND WAS REDUCED BY DESERTIONS AND DEATHS, KONTOPANOS SAID, HE SURRENDERED TO GREEK AUTHORITIES AFTER BEING IN HIS HOMELAND ABOUT TWO WEEKS.

KONTOPANOS, WHO ALSO IS KNOWN BY THE NAME OF "CAPTAIN HANNIBAL," SAID HE WAS THE CO-AUTHOR OF A MILITARY MANUAL USED TO TRAIN GREEK GUERRILLAS.

THE INVESTIGATING COMMISSION IS STUDYING THE CAUSE OF THE FIGHTING WHICH HAS RAGED IN NORTHERN GREECE FOR SEVERAL MONTHS. GREEK GOVERNMENT AUTHORITIES HAVE CONTENDED THAT YUGOSLAVIA, ALBANIA AND BULGARIA HAVE ENCOURAGED RAIDS BY GREEK GUERRILLAS ON TOWNS AND VILLAGES IN NORTHERN GREECE. ALBANIAN LIAISON OFFICER NESTI KERENXHI SAID, HOWEVER, THAT L.S. CHAKALES OF THE ASSOCIATED PRESS WOULD NOT BE PERMITTED IN ALBANIA, BECAUSE CHAKALES WAS MENTIONED DURING A RECENT TRIAL OF QUISLINGS IN ALBANIA AS BEING IN TOUCH WITH "SUBVERSIVE ELEMENTS."

CHAKALAES VISITED ALBANIA TO COVER ELECTIONS IN DECEMBER, 1945. THREE DAYS BEFORE THE ELECTIONS HE WAS SOUGHT OUT BY AN ALBANIAN ARMY OFFICER WHO PUT HIM IN CONTACT WITH THE OPPOSITION TO THE "NATIONAL DEMOCRATIC FRONT," WHICH CONTROLLED ALBANIA.

IN A CLANDESTINE MEETING WITH TEN PERSONS WHO SAID THEY HAD BEEN FORCED UNDERGROUND BECAUSE THEY FEARED REPRISALS AND WHO SAID THEY REPRESENTED THOUSANDS OF PERSONS IN ALBANIA, CHAKALES SAID HE HEARD THEIR STATEMENTS AND REPORTED THEM.

"THE REST OF THE RUBBISH IS RIDICULOUS," CHAKALES SAID.

KERENXHI, WHO ALSO REPRESENTS THE COMMUNIST NEWSPAPER BASHKIMI IN TIRANA, TOLD STANLEY RYAN, PRESS OFFICER FOR THE COMMISSION THAT DISCRIMINATION WAS NOT BEING PRACTICED AGAINST THE ASSOCIATED PRESS, BUT AGAINST CHAKALES, WHO, HE CHARGED, HAD "AGITATED" SUBVERSIVE ELEMENTS IN ALBANIA DURING HIS VISITS.

RYAN SAID INSTRUCTIONS HAD BEEN SENT FROM THE UNITED NATIONS HEADQUARTERS AT LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., TO OPPOSE THIS DISCRIMINATION AND THAT IN ANY CASE THE COMMISSION WOULD TAKE A STRONG STAND IN THE MATTER. RYAN SAID HE HAD IMPRESSED THE ALBANIAN LIAISON OFFICER, WITH URGENCY, THAT THE MATTER SHOULD BE SETTLED AS IN OTHER COUNTRIES, WHERE CHAKALES WOULD BE ALLOWED TO GO. 947

RYAN SAID THE LIAISON OFFICER TOLD HIM A FULL REPORT WOULD BE SENT TO TIRANA ON THE POSITION OF THE COMMISSION. RYAN SAID THAT IF ALBANIA PERSISTS IN HER POSITION, THE CONTROVERSY WOULD BE REFERRED DIRECTLY TO THE COMMISSION FOR SOLUTION.

"I AM HOPING FOR A SATISFACTORY REPLY SOON," RYAN ADDED.

THE ALBANIAN PRESS OFFICER ASKED RYAN IF THE COMMISSION KNEW THAT CHAKALES HAD "RELATIONS WITH BANDITS IN ALBANIA."

MOSCOW, FEB. 26-(AP)-MINISTER OF AGRICULTURE I.A.BENEDIKTOV OUTLINED IN DETAIL TODAY PLANS FOR A BROAD REORGANIZATION OF RUSSIA'S AGRICULTURAL ADMINISTRATION, UNDERSCORING UNIFICATION, PREVENTION OF WASTE AND LESSENING OF DUPLICATION.

HE SAID THE PRINCIPAL DEFICIENCIES OF THE FORMER AGRICULTURAL PROGRAM WERE THESE: THAT THERE WAS NO UNIFIED MANAGEMENT WITHIN THE MINISTRY OF THE TRACTOR STATIONS WHICH PROVIDE MACHINERY FOR FARMS; THE LEADERSHIP OVER THE TRACTOR STATION DIVISION WAS SPREAD OVER TOO MANY DEPARTMENTS, AND THE CHIEFS OF THE VARIOUS DEPARTMENTS HAD "EXTREMELY LIMITED AUTHORITY."

THE REORGANIZATION PROVIDES FOR FORMATION OF EIGHT MAJOR DEPARTMENTS IN THE MINISTRY OF AGRICULTURE. THESE INCLUDE THE DEPARTMENT OF GRAIN AND OLIVE CULTURE; TECHNICAL CULTURE, DEALING WITH COTTON FLAX, HEMP, BEETS, SILK, TOBACCO AND RUBBER; TRACTOR AND MACHINE STATIONS; CATTLE BREEDING; SUB-TROPICAL CULTURE; GARDENING AND VINEYARDS; IRRIGATION; CROP ROTATION; AND MATERIAL AND TECHNICAL SUPPLIES.

BENEDIKTOV SAID A LARGE NUMBER OF SPECIALISTS IN AGRICULTURE WOULD BE RELEASED FOR IMMEDIATE WORK IN A TRACTOR STATIONS AND ON COLLECTIVE FARMS UNDER THE REORGANIZATION.

HE ADDED THT THE MINISTRY DID NOT EXPECT TO EQUAL THE PRE-WAR LEVEL OF GRAIN COLLECTIONS FOR THREE YEARS, BUT THAT IT SHOULD BE "GREATLY EXCEEDED" BY THE END OF THE CURRENT FIVE-YEAR PLAN. (RUSSIA'S GRAIN COP IN 1940 WAS ABOUT 125,000,000 TONS).

IN SOUTHERN SHANTUNG, A NATIONALIST DIVISION WHICH SMASHED INTO THE RAIL TOWN OF TENGHSIEN ON FEB. 24 PUSHED ON TO THE SOUTHERN SUBURBS OF TSAOHSIEN IN WHAT WAS REPORTED AS A "RELENTLESS DRIVE" ON THE COMMUNIST-HELD TOWN. THE CAPTURE WAS EXPECTED MOMENTARILY.

IN WESTERN SHANTUNG, THE NATIONALISTS RESTORED ALL 11 DISTRICTS UNDER GOVERNMENT ADMINISTRATION AS LIU PO-CHENG'S TROOPS THERE WERE CORNERED IN A TRIANGULAR AREA BETWEEN THE YELLOW RIVER AND THE GRAND CANAL. THEY SUFFERED HEAVY LOSSES BEFORE THEY WERE ABLE TO ESCAPE TO THE NORTH BANK OF THE RIVER, DISPATCHES SAID.

[redacted]-CHINESE GOVERNMENT FORCES CLAIMED TODAY THAT COMMUNIST RESISTANCE IN SOUTHERN SHANTUNG WAS CRUSHED, BUT SOME OF THEIR FINEST TROOPS GAVE GROUND IN CRUCIAL FIGHTING IN SHANTUNG'S CENTER.

WHILE THE COMMUNISTS WERE CLEARED FROM THE SOUTHERN SEGMENT OF THE TIENTSIN-PUKOW RAILROAD LINKING NANKING WITH THE WARRING NORTH, OTHER COMMUNIST TROOPS APPEARED ASTRIDE THE LINE FARTHER NORTH AND LAID SIEGE TO TAIAN, ONLY 33 MILES SOUTH OF TSINAN, PROVINCIAL CAPITAL.

PRO-GOVERNMENT DISPATCHES SAID THE LAST COMMUNIST STRONGHOLD WAS ELIMINATED IN SOUTH SHANTUNG WHEN RESISTANCE WAS BROKEN AT TENGHSIEN MONDAY.

TENGHSIEN IS 60 MILES WEST OF LINI, THE COMMUNIST BASE WHICH FELL TO GOVERNMENT TROOPS EARLIER THIS MONTH.

WITHOUT PAUSING AT TENGHSIEN, FIELD DISPATCHES ADDED, THE VICTORIOUS TROOPS WERE PUSHING QUICKLY UP THE RAILROAD AND EXPECTED TO JOIN ANOTHER GOVERNMENT COLUMN COMING DOWN FROM THE NORTH AT THE RAILWAY TOWN OF TSOUHSIEN, 19 MILES NORTH OF TENGHSIEN.

THE GOVERNMENT'S CENTRAL NEWS AGENCY CLAIMED ANOTHER BIG VICTORY

80 MILES TO THE NORTHWEST AT YUNCHENG, WHICH WAS CAPTURED A SECOND TIME.

PART OF YUNGCHENG'S DEFENDERS, UNDER GEN.LIU PO-SHENG, COMMUNIST COMMANDER IN THE AREA, WERE DRIVEN INTO A TRIANGLE FORMED BY THE YELLOW RIVER AND THE GRAND CANAL AND FACED ANNIHILATION, THE AGENCY SAID.

THESE GAINS WRE ALL BUT MATCHED BY RESURGENT COMMUNIST FORCES IN CENTRAL SHANTUNG, WHERE THE GOAL NOT ONLY IS CONTROL OF THE RAILWAY BUT THE RICH POSHAN COAL MINES EAST OF THE SHANTUNG CAPITAL.

GEN.WANG YAO-WU, ONE OF THE MOST SUCCESSFUL OF THE GOVERNMENT GENERALS IN THE LONG WAR WITH JAPAN, WAS UNDER FIERCE COMMUNIST ATTACK IN THE LAIWU AREA, 48 MILES SOUTHEAST OF TSINAN.

THE NEWSPAPER HSIN MIN PAO SAID WANG WAS FORCED TO GIVE WAY AT SEVERAL POINTS IN THE FACE OF DETERMINED COMMUNIST ASSAULTS TO THE NORTH, WHERE THE ATTACKERS WERE TRYING TO GET CONTROL OF THE SPUR LINE TO POSHAN.

LITTLE MORE THAN 30 MILES WEST OF WANG'S LAIWU POSITIONS, 30,000 COMMUNIST TROOPS UNDER GEN.CHEN YI OVERRAN GOVERNMENT DEFENSES AND BESIEGED TAIAN.

NANKING, FEB. 26-(AP)-THE CHINESE GOVERNMENT PLANS TO COMPLETE TWO IMPORTANT HIGHWAYS THIS YEAR IN REMOTE SINKIANG PROVINCE, WHERE NORTHWEST CHINA MEETS THE SOVIET UNION'S BORDERS, INFORMED SOURCES SAID TODAY.

ONE ROAD WILL CONNECT SINING, CAPITAL OF TSINGHAI PROVINCE, WITH HUNGLIUKOW IN SOUTHERN SINKIANG. ALREADY 530 OF THE 765 MILES ARE BUILT.

(SINING IS CONNECTED BY HIGHWAY WITH CHUNGKING AND OTHER PARTS OF CHINA AND SOME ROADS LEAD WESTWARD FROM SINING BY DEVIOUS ROUTES INTO SINKIANG.)

THE SECOND HIGHWAY WILL 1947 CONNECT TOKUM (TUKIANG) IN SOUTHEASTERN SINKIANG WITH YUTIEN (KAIYA) IN THE SOUTHWESTERN PART OF THE PROVINCE. WORK ALSO HAS BEGUN ON THIS 500-MILE HIGHWAY.

THE UNRRA FAR-EASTERN COUNCIL RECOMMENDED APPROVAL OF THE REQUEST TO THE CENTRAL COMMITTEE, JACKSON SAID, AND EXPLAINED THAT PROCEEDS FROM THE SALE OF COTTON WOULD GO TO THE FINANCING OF RELIEF AND REHABILITATION BY THE CNRRA, WITH "PRECISE BUDGETING" BY BOTH THE UNITED NATIONS AND CHINESE RELIEF ORGANIZATIONS FOR EACH PROJECT.

THE COUNCIL ASKED THAT THE DISTRIBUTION OF SOME OF THE COTTON TO INDIGENT PERSONS BE STUDIED AND FOR A PART OF IT TO BE SENT TO COMMUNIST AREAS, JACKSON SAID, ADDING THAT ATTENTION WAS BEING GIVEN TO IMPROVING DISTRIBUTION OF UNRRA SUPPLIES IN COMMUNIST AREAS.

THE CHINESE GOVERNMENT ANTICIPATES AN INCREASED FLOW TO SUCH AREAS, HE SAID. MAJ.GEN.GLEN E.EDGERTON HAS BEEN COMMISSIONED TO REPORT TO ROOKS BY MARCH 31 ON HOW THIS PART OF THE PROGRAM IS BEING CARRIED OUT.

PEIPING, FEB.26-(AP)-CAPT.THOMAS A.WATSON, 39, MARINE PUBLIC RELATIONS OFFICER IN PEIPING, SHOT AND KILLED HIMSELF TODAY A FEW DAYS BEFORE HE WAS SCHEDULED TO LEAVE FOR THE UNITED STATES, MARINE HEADQUARTERS ANNOUNCED.

WATSON'S BODY WAS FOUND SLUMPED ON HIS BED IN THE JUNIOR OFFICERS QUARTERS BY A FELLOW OFFICER.

THERE WAS NO ANNOUNCED REASON FOR THE ACT, BUT IT WAS REPORTED HE WAS DEPRESSED YESTERDAY OVER THE PROSPECT OF BEING DISCHARGED FROM THE MARINES WHEN HE REACHED THE UNITED STATES.

WATSON WAS POPULAR WITH CORRESPONDENTS, MARINES AND CIVILIANS OF PEIPING AND A SURPRISE FAREWELL PARTY HAD BEEN PLANNED FOR HIM TOMORROW.

WATSN WAS BORN IN AUGUSTA,GA., AND MADE HIS HOME AT LOGAN FARM, GORDONSVILLE,VA., WHERE THE WIDOW LIVES.

THE OFFICER ENTERED THE MARINES IN 1942. HE SERVED WITH DISTINCTION IN THE PACIFIC CAMPAIGN, RECEIVING BOTH THE NAVY CROSS AND THE SILVER STAR FOR HEROISM ON GUADALCANAL.

NIGHT LEAD WAR CRIMES

TOKYO,THURSDAY, FEB.27-(AP)-THE INTERNATIONAL WAR CRIMES TRIBUNAL OVERRULED TODAY PROTESTS BY RUSSIAN AND BRITISH PROSECUTORS THAT THE DEFENSE WAS TREATING "THE U.S.S.R. AS AN ACCUSED AT THIS TRIAL."

THE RULING BY SIR WILLIAM WEBB, TRIBUNAL PRESIDENT, ALLOWED COUNSEL FOR HIDEKI TOJO AND 25 OTHER JAPANESE LEADERS TO INTRODUCE TREATIES AND NOTES BETWEEN JAPAN AND RUSSIA ON THE BORDER INCIDENTS OF THE 1920'S.

MAJ.GEN.A.N.VASILYEV, ASSOCIATE SOVIET PROSECUTOR, OBJECTED TO THE INTRODUCTION OF A 1928 FISHERY CONVENTION BETWEEN JAPAN AND RUSSIA BECAUSE THE DEFENDANTS WERE "NOT CHARGED WITH VIOLATING ANY FISHING CONVENTION."

"THIS DOCUMENT," HE DECLARED, "IS AN ATTEMPT TO ACCUSE THE U.S.S.R. OF VIOLATING ITS TREATIES AND TO TREAT THE U.S.S.R. AS AN ACCUSED AT THIS TRIAL."

THE DEFENSE COUNTERED BY ARGUING THAT THE FISHERY CONVENTION WAS A DOCUMENT NEEDED TO SHOW THE BASIS FOR RUSSIAN-JAPANESE DISPUTES.

EARLIER, ASSOCIATE BRITISH PROSECUTOR ARTHUR COMYNS-CARR PROTESTED THE ADMISSION OF A NOTE AFFIXED TO THE 1925 TREATY OF PEIPING, WHICH ATTEMPTED TO SETTLE THE SIBERIAN BORDER INCIDENTS.

THIS NOTE WAS FROM RUSSIA EXPRESSING "SINCERE REGRETS" TO JAPAN FOR THE MASSACRE OF 700 JAPANESE AT NIKOLAIVESK, SIBERIA.

"THE ONLY PURPOSE OF PRESENTING THE NOTE AT THIS TIME," COMYNS-CARR DECLARED, "IS TO BE NEEDLESSLY OFFENSIVE TO ONE OF THE PROSECUTING NATIONS HERE."

ARISTINDES G.LAZARUS, NEW YORK CITY, TOLD THE COURT THIS VIEW WAS "UNDULY VICIOUS" AND "WE RESENT IT VERY HIGHLY." HE SAID IT WAS A DUTY OF THE DEFENSE TO INTRODUCE "EVERY BIT OF EVIDENCE THAT IS GOOD FOR OUR SIDE."

SEOUL, THURSDAY,FEB.27-(AP)-KOREAN SOURCES REPORTED TODAY THAT UNITED STATES AND RUSSIAN TROOPS EXCHANGED SHOTS FOR 14 HOURS WITHOUT CASUALTIES TUESDAY ALONG THEIR DEMARCATION LINE IN CENTRAL KOREA, BUT AMERICAN INTELLIGENCE AUTHORITIES CALLED THE ACCOUNT "HIGHLY EXAGGERATED."

THE KOREAN VERSION SAID 28 RUSSIANS AND 11 AMERICANS FIRED AT EACH OTHER FROM 10 A.M. TO MIDNIGHT, DURING WHICH FOUR SOVIET FIGHTER PLANES APPEARED BRIEFLY OVER THE AREA.

THE INTELLIGENCE VERSION SAID U.S. BORDER PATROL TROOPS WERE DISPATCHED TO PAEKCHON, ABOUT TWO MILES INSIDE THE DEMARCATION LINE, TO INVESTIGATE A REPORT THAT SEVEN RUSSIANS WERE FIRING RIFLES INTO THE TOWN.

THE AMERICANS REPORTED THEY SAW TWO RUSSIANS HURRIEDLY LEAVING THE TOWN AS THE PATROL APPROACHED BUT NO RUSSIANS WERE FOUND IN PAEKCHON.

SORSOGON, PHILIPPINE ISLANDS, FEB. 26-(AP)-PRESIDENT ROXAS SAID HERE TODAY THE TWO GREATEST PROBLEMS FACING THIS NEW REPUBLIC ARE IDEOLOGICAL MOVEMENTS AIMED AT OVERTHROWING THE GOVERNMENT BY FORCE AND ECONOMIC DIFFICULTIES CAUSED BY WAR.

IN AN ADDRESS IN THIS SOUTHEASTERN LUZON CENTER, ROXAS SAID HIS POLICY DURING THE COMING YEAR WOULD BE BASED ON FOUR PRINCIPLES:

FIRST, TO PROVIDE CREDIT THROUGH GOVERNMENT AGENCIES FOR REHABILITATION OF THE PHILIPPINE PEOPLE; SECOND, TO REDUCE THE COST OF LIVING; THIRD, TO INCREASE FARM INCOMES THROUGH IMPROVING THE QUALITY AND HENCE THE SELLING PRICE OF COPRA AND ABACA (HEMP), AND FOURTH, TO OBTAIN APPROVAL OF THE PARITY AMENDMENT TO THE CONSTITUTION TO ATTRACT AMERICAN CAPITAL TO THE ISLANDS.

THE PRESIDENT SAID THAT THE PARITY LAW WAS NEEDED NOT SO MUCH FOR THE BENEFIT OF THE AMERICANS AS FOR THE FILIPINOS WHICH BADLY NEED OUTSIDE CAPITAL FOR THE REBUILDING OF THEIR COUNTRY. HE SAID HE WAS CONFIDENT THE PLEBISCITE WOULD APPROVE THE AMERICAN PARITY AGREEMENT, BUT THAT HE WANTED AN "OVERWHELMING MAJORITY TO SHOW FILIPINO GRATITUDE TO AMERICA."

THE PRESIDENT REPEATED HIS WARNING THAT THE PRESENT RECORD PRICES FOR COPRA ARE BOUND TO DROP AS SOON AS THE NETHERLANDS INDIES AND OTHER COMPETING COUNTRIES AGAIN ARE ABLE TO EXPORT FATS AND OILS IN PREWAR VOLUME.

MANILA, FEB. 26-(AP)-INFORMED SOURCES HERE TODAY PREDICTED THAT THE UNITED STATES AND THE PHILIPPINES WOULD QUICKLY PROMULGATE A MILITARY AGREEMENT ONCE THE NATIONAL PLEBISCITE ON PARITY FOR AMERICANS IN THE ISLANDS IS SETTLED THREE WEEKS HENCE.

THE SOURCES EXPRESSED THE OPINION IN AMPLIFICATION OF A STATEMENT OF NEWSPAPERMEN IN WASHINGTON, D.C., YESTERDAY THAT THE AGREEMENT WAS BEING HELD UP BY THE WAR AND STATE DEPARTMENTS OF THE UNITED STATES.

THE SOURCES INDICATED THE DELAY IN ANNOUNCING THE AGREEMENT MIGHT BE AT THE REQUEST OF PHILIPPINE PRESIDENT ROXAS, RATHER THAN BECAUSE OF ANY HOLD-UP IN WASHINGTON.

(YESTERDAY, FOUR NEWSPAPERMEN WHO RECENTLY COMPLETED A TRIP THROUGH THE ORIENT SAID THE TREATY ALREADY WAS IN WASHINGTON READY FOR ANNOUNCEMENT. THEY WERE SEWELLON BROWN, PUBLISHER OF THE PROVIDENCE JOURNAL; ERWIN CANHAM, EDITOR OF THE CHRISTIAN SCIENCE MONITOR; WAYNE COY, ASSISTANT TO THE PUBLISHER OF THE WASHINGTON POST, AND RALPH DONALDSON, EDITORIAL WRITER OF THE CLEVELAND PLAIN DEALER.)

PRESIDENT ROXAS HAS NOT YET IT EXPEDIENT, THE SOURCES HERE SAID, TO PUBLICIZE THE TERMS OF THE 99-YEAR LEASE OF BASES TO THE UNITED STATES AT A TIME WHEN POLITICAL OPPONENTS ARE BASING MUCH OF THEIR CAMPAIGN AGAINST THE PARITY AMENDMENT TO THE CONSTITUTION ON THE CONTENTION THAT IT NULLIFIES PHILIPPINE INDEPENDENCE AND GIVES BACK TO THE AMERICANS THE ECONOMIC FUTURE OF THE REPUBLIC. THE PHILIPPINE SENATE MUST RATIFY THE PACT BEFORE IT BECOMES EFFECTIVE.

THE PLEBISCITE MARCH 11 WILL DETERMINE WHETHER THE PHILIPPINES WILL GRANT EQUAL RIGHTS TO AMERICANS TO DEVELOP NATURAL RESOURCES OF THE REPUBLIC UNTIL 1974 AND WHETHER THERE SHALL BE FREE TRADE ON AMERICAN IMPORTS AS WELL AS ON FILIPINO SUGAR, COPRA AND CORDAGE EXPORTS FOR EIGHT YEARS TO BE FOLLOWED BY 20 63-4' 91 0431343.58-) $7583' '8 8)-4 59 59[illegible] 9, 9659 16 :77

EIGHT YEARS TO BE FOLLOWED BY 20 YEARS OF PREFERENTIAL DUTIES SIMILAR TO THOSE ENJOYED BY CUBA.

IN RETURN FOR THE TRADE CONCESSIONS, THE UNITED STATES WOULD MAKE AVAILABLE BADLY NEEDED REHABILITATION FUNDS TOTALING ABOUT $622,000,000. WITHOUT APPROVAL OF THE PARITY AMENDMENT, THE FULL AMOUNT WOULD NOT BE FORTHCOMING, OBSERVERS BELIEVE.

ROXAS, NOW ON A TRIP SPEAKING IN FAVOR OF THE PARITY MEASURE, HAS PREDICTED THE VOTERS WILL APPROVE IT.

FIRST LEAD KRUG 440

BY DON WHITEHEAD

HONOLULU,FEB.26-(AP)-INTERIOR SECRETARY KRUG TODAY TERMED CONDITIONS ON SAMOA, GUAM AND TARAWA "BASICALLY THE SAME AS THOSE WHICH BROUGHT ABOUT THE BOSTON TEA PARTY" AND DECLARED ADMINISTRATION OF JAPANESE MANDATED ISLANDS SHOULD BE TRANSFERRED QUICKLY TO CIVIL CONTROL, PREFERABLY HIS INTERIOR DEPARTMENT.

IN AN INTENSIVE INTERVIEW AFTER HIS ARRIVAL FROM TOKYO, HE SAID GENERAL MACARTHUR WAS IN ACCORD WITH THE BASIC PRINCIPLE OF GIVING THE 80,000 NATIVES OF THE CAROLINE, MARSHALL AND MARIANAS ISLANDS THE RIGHT OF FREE POLITICAL DETERMINATION. SUCH A MOVE WOULD NOT JEOPARDIZE NATIONAL DEFENSE, HE SAID.

BEFORE LEAVING TOKYO, THE SECRETARY SAID OKINAWA AND THE RYUKYUS SHOULD REMAIN UNDER MACARTHUR'S CONTROL. THE INTERIOR DEPARTMENT

ADMINISTERS HAWAII, WHICH IS DEMANDING STATEHOOD. KRUG WILL REMAIN HERE UNTIL SUNDAY DISCUSSING THAT AT DEMAND WITH ISLAND LEADERS. THE U.S. NAVY GOVERNS MOST OTHER U.S.CONTROLLED PACIFIC ISLANDS, INCLUDING GUAM, SAMOA AND TARAWA.

THE MAJOR NECESSITY FOR MILITARY OCCUPATION OF JAPAN WILL END WHEN PEACE TREATIES ARE SIGNED AND THE REPARATIONS QUESTION IS SETTLED, KRUG SAID HE WAS INFORMED, AND ADDED: AFTER THAT, THE MILITARY CAN GET OUT AND TURN THE CONTROLS OVER TO CIVIL AUTHORITIES.

ON AMERICAN SAMOA, GUAM AND TARAWA "THE PEOPLE

ON AMERICAN SAMOA, GUAM AND TARAWA "THE PEOPLE ARE GOOD AND SICK OF GOVERNMENT THOUSANDS OF MILES AWAY TELLING THEM WHAT TO DO," KRUG REPORTED.

HE SAID THIS WAS NO REFLECTION ON THE NAVY BUT THAT'S NOT THE QUESTION. THE PEOPLE ARE ENTITLED TO THEIR OWN KIND OF GOVERNMENT."

TRANSFER FROM MILITARY TO CIVIL CONTROL COULD BE ACCOMPLISHED WITHOUT ANY GREAT COST TO THE TAXPAYERS IF THE NAVY WILL SHARE ITS TRANSPORTATION COMMUNICATIONS AND FACILITIES UNTIL THE PEOPLE ARE ABLE TO PROVIDE THEIR OWN, KRUG SAID.

A81KX

CONGRESS, WITH UNITED NATIONS APPROVAL OF U.S.TRUSTEESHIP, WOULD HAVE TO APPROVE A CHARTER OF GOVERNMENT FOR THE MANDATED ISLANDS, SETTING UP A LEGISLATIVE BODY, LAWS AND COURTS THROUGH WHICH THE PEOPLE WOULD HAVE SOME DETERMINATION OF THEIR OWN RIGHTS.

THE SECRETARY SAID THAT THOUSANDS OF THE NATIVES, NAVAL CONSTRUCTION ON GUAM HAVE NO MORE CIVIL RIGHTS THAN THE NATIVES, WHO TOLD HIM THEY ARE EAGER TO HAVE SOME FORM OF GOVERNMENT WHICH WOULD GIVE THEM GREATER PARTICIPATION.

"MINOR GRIEVANCES AMONG GUAMANIANS HAVE ACCUMULATED UNTIL SOME FEEL THEY ARE PERSECUTED," KRUG SAID. "FOR INSTANCE, IF A GUAMANIAN HAS A CLAIM AGAINST THE NAVY,HE GOES TO AN OFFICIAL AND PLACES IT BEFORE HIM.

"THIS OFFICER MAY SAY 'YES,' YOU HAVE A JUST CLAIM AND WE'LL PAY YOU $200.'

"BUT THE GUAMANIAN FEELS HE SHOULD HAVE $1,000. WHILE THE CLAIM MAY NOT BE WORTH MORE THAN $200, STILL THE GUAMANIAN HAS NO RELIEF. HE MUST TAKE WHAT IS GIVEN HIM. AND THAT'S WHY I SAY THE SITUATION BASICALLY IS THE SAME AS THAT WHICH BROUGHT ABOUT THE BOSTON TEA PARTY."

HE ADVOCATED PLACING THE ISLANDS UNDER HIS INTERIOR DEPARTMENT RATHER THAN UNDER A NEW AGENCY WHICH WOULD BE WITHOUT EXPERIENCE, ADDING:

"A NEW AGENCY LIKELY WOULD GET MIRED IN RED TAPE BECAUSE IT DOES NOT HAVE THE EXPERIENCE THAT THE INTERIOR DEPARTMENT DOES. BUT THE AGENCY WHICH HANDLES THE PROBLEM IS NOT CRUCIAL. THE IMPORTANT THING IS THAT THESE PEOPLE SHOULD BE ABLE TO HAVE A VOICE IN THEIR OWN GOVERNMENT, WHICH THEY ARE DENIED NOW."

HE SAID HE LEARNED IN TOKYO THAT RUSSIA HAS ACCEPTED AMERICA'S POSIT IN JAPAN AND THAT MACARTHUR FEELS "FIRM AND CONFIDENT IN HIS POSITION."

WASHINGTON, FEB. 26-(AP)-RUSSIA'S OUT-OF-THE-BLUE ENDORSEMENT OF UNITED STATES TRUSTEESHIP OVER PACIFIC ISLANDS ONCE RULED BY JAPAN PROVIDED AN UNEXPECTED NEW TWIST TODAY TO SOVIET-AMERICAN RELATIONS.

MOSCOW'S NOTE SAYING RUSSIA DEEMS IT ENTIRELY FAIR FOR UNITED STATES TO KEEP CONTROL OF THE 623-ODD ISLANDS LEFT DIPLOMATIC AUTHORITIES GUESSING WHETHER THERE MIGHT BE MORE BEHIND THE MOVE THAN MEETS THE EYE.

THEY HOPED IT FORECASTS IMPROVED PROSPECTS FOR A EUROPEAN PEACE SETTLEMENT AT NEXT MONTH'S MOSCOW CONFERENCE OF THE BIG FOUR FOREIGN MINISTERS. BUT BECAUSE OF THE ALMOST UNBROKEN SERIES OF RECENT DISAGREEMENTS BETWEEN WASHINGTON AND MOSCOW THEY PRIVATELY WERE WARY OF A POSSIBLE DIPLOMATIC MANEUVER.

SECRETARY OF STATE MARSHALL KEPT HIS OWN COUNSEL IN ANNOUNCING THE SOVIET ACTION YESTERDAY. HE DECLINED COMMENT ON A REPORTER'S SUGGESTION THAT RUSSIA MIGHT BE TRYING TO SET A PRECEDENT TO JUSTIFY HER OWN POSTWAR LAND ACQUISITIONS.

TOKYO DISPATCHES TODAY, HOWEVER, MENTIONED IMMEDIATE BUT UNOFFICIAL SUSPICIONS THAT THE SOVIET UNION MIGHT BE TRYING TO BARGAIN FOR EXTENDED INFLUENCE IN EAST ASIA.

SOME JAPANESE, THE DISPATCHES SAID, SAW IN RUSSIAN REFERENCES TO AMERICAN SACRIFICES IN CAPTURING THE ISLANDS AN ATTEMPT TO INSURE THAT FORMER JAPANESE INDUSTRIAL EQUIPMENT TAKEN FROM MANCHURIA WOULD NOT BE INCLUDED IN THE TOTAL REPARATIONS ASSESSMENTS AGAINST JAPAN. THE RUSSIANS ALREADY HAVE CITED THEIR "SACRIFICES" IN THE MANCHURIAN CAMPAIGN.

THE GENERAL INCLINATION ON CAPITOL HILL APPEARED TO BE TO ACCEPT THE KREMLIN'S GESTURE AT ITS FACE VALUE.

SENATOR WILEY (R-WIS), A MEMBER OF THE FOREIGN RELATIONS COMMITTEE TOLD REPORTERS: "I THINK RUSSIA'S APPROVAL IS A GOOD OMEN FOR FUTURE COLLABORATION BETWEEN THE TWO GREATEST NATIONS OF THE WORLD. IT WILL MEAN THE BRUSHING ASIDE OF A LOT OF SUPERFICIAL MISUNDERSTANDINGS."

SENATOR HICKENLOOPER, ALSO MEMBER OF THE COMMITTEE, COMMENTED: "I AM GLAD THAT RUSSIA WAS AGREED TO A POLICY AND PRINCIPLE ENTIRELY JUSTIFIED BY THE FACTS AND THE SACRIFICES WE MADE IN BRINGING THE WAR IN THE PACIFIC TO A SUCCESSFUL CONCLUSION."

THE UNITED STATES PROPOSAL TO ADMINISTER AS A "STRATEGIC AREA" THE ISLANDS WHICH THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS HAD MANDATED TO JAPAN AFTER WORLD WAR I WAS DUE TO COME BEFORE THE UNITED NATIONS SECURITY COUNCIL TODAY.

IT WAS INTRODUCED FORMALLY LAST WEEK AFTER COPIES HAD BEEN CIRCULATED AMONG THE NATIONS REPRESENTED ON THE COUNCIL.

RUSSIA GENERALLY HAD BEEN EXPECTED TO SIDE WITH BRITISH AND AUSTRALIAN CONTENTIONS THAT THE WHOLE ISSUE SHOULD BE POSTPONED UNTIL A PEACE TREATY IS CONCLUDED WITH JAPAN.

MARSHALL SAID THAT SO FAR AS HE KNEW, NO OTHER COUNTRY HAD GIVEN ITS ADVANCE BACKING TO THE AMERICAN PLAN.

THE SURPRISE RUSSIAN MOVE CAME IN THE MIDST OF A SERIES OF FOREIGN RELATIONS DEVELOPMENTS WHICH INCLUDED:

1. FOREIGN SECRETARY ERNEST BEVIN'S ASSERTION IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS THAT PRESIDENT TRUMAN TORPEDOED EFFORTS TO SETTLE THE PALESTINE ISSUE BY URGING BRITAIN DURING LAST FALL'S AMERICAN ELECTION CAM-

30.24-8157

PAIGN TO LET DOWN THE BARS TO 100,000 JEWISH IMMIGRANTS.

2. A RETORT BY REP. CELLER (D-NY), THAT BEVIN'S ASSERTION WAS A "DAMNABLE LIE." CELLER'S STATEMENT SAID THE BRITISH FOREIGN SECRETARY "IS SIMPLY SEEKING EXCUSES FOR HIS DAMNABLE CONDUCT AND FOR THE CONTINUANCE OF THE NEFARIOUS MACDONALD WHITE PAPER OF 1939 WHICH SLAMMED THE GATES OF PALESTINE AGAINST THE DRIVEN JEW."

3. GEN. DOUGLAS MACARTHUR'S ADVICE TO VISITING CONGRESSMEN IN TOKYO THAT A FORMAL PEACE TREATY WITH JAPAN BE SIGNED QUICKLY. THE OCCUPATION COMMANDER CONTENDED THE JAPANESE HAVE GREATER POSSIBILITIES OF DEMOCRACY THAN THE GERMANS BUT MEANWHILE ARE TENDING TO BECOME INCREASINGLY DEPENDENT UPON AMERICAN GUIDANCE.

CHANCES FOR ACTION ON A JAPANESE TREATY HINGE AT LEAST PARTLY ON PROGRESS MADE AT MOSCOW TOWARD A SETTLEMENT WITH GERMANY AND AUSTRIA. HOWEVER, WITH THE EMPEROR'S GOVERNMENT FUNCTIONING, A TREATY WITH JAPAN PROMISES TO BE SIMPLER TO NEGOTIATE THAN A PACT WITH PROSTRATE GERMANY, WHICH LACKS A CENTRAL GOVERNMENT TO SIGN.

LARGELY BECAUSE THE WAR LASTED LONGER WITH JAPAN, ONLY PRELIMINARY STEPS HAVE BEEN TAKEN BY THE STATE DEPARTMENT THUS FAR TOWARD PREPARING FOR A FUTURE CONFERENCE OF JAPAN'S CONQUERORS.

PATTERSON, IN AN ADDRESS TO THE ADJUTANTS GENERAL ASSOCIATION, SAID "OUR ECONOMIC SITUATION COULD NOT STAND THE COST OF ANOTHER WAR," AND ADDED:

"TO DETER AN AGGRESSOR WE MUST POSSESS MILITARY STRENGTH."

Hoover Asks U.S. Pay Half Billion to Help Feed German Civilians

PLAN CALLS FOR REPAYMENT FROM REICH'S EXPORTS

Ex-President Says Aid Is Vital to Peace of Western World.

CITES HARDSHIPS

Found Conditions in Europe Worst in Fifty Years, He Declares.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 — (AP) Herbert Hoover recommended to President Truman today that the United States pay $475,500,000 for food for German civilians in the 18 months beginning last Jan. 1 as an essential contribution to peace and order in the western world.

He urged that this sum not be "an irrecoverable expenditure" and that it be stipulated in all peace arrangements that the money be repaid from any future German net exports "before any other payments to other nations of any kind."

Such repayments thus would come ahead of reparations.

The former president lumped in his $475,500,000 food total "collateral relief imports" of $51,000,000 for seed and fertilizer and $18,000,000 for petroleum products in addition to $406,000,000 worth of foods for direct consumption.

European Conditions 'Grim'

Hoover made the proposal in a formal report to President Truman after investigating relief needs in Central Europe. He expanded on it by telling reporters at the White House today that conditions all over Europe are the worst in 50 years.

"Pretty grim," he summed up.

He said railroads are still disorganized and that "everybody is cold" in northern and central Europe, where frozen canals and rivers do not permit shipment of coal even by barge.

Hoover said he will make another report to Mr. Truman probably next week, on Austrian needs and on how to develop German industries to the point that Germany can pay for food furnished by the United States and Great Britain.

On Capitol Hill, Chairman Bridges (R-NH) said the Senate Appropriations Committee would want a detailed explanation by the former president before it votes relief funds.

Other comment to reporters included:

Senator Hill (D-Ala):—"We will have to do whatever is necessary in the way of sending food to preserve the peace and to prevent our having to send more occupation troops," Hill said.

Senator Aiken (R-Vt):—"If those people can't look to us for help, they will turn somewhere else with results that we may not like."

Senator Downey (D-Calif):—"It is to our own self interest to spend the money needed for relief to provide stability in critical spots of the world."

Senator McCarran (D-Nev):—"I think we can better afford to give food than blood."

Praised By Patterson

Secretary of War Patterson in a statement praised Hoover as "the world's outstanding food authority" and added:

"Mr. Hoover has recommended that, if we are to escape the far greater expense of preserving order in a starving Germany, we must meet our current obligations and meet them promptly.

"The War Department is prepared, subject of course to President Truman's approval, to utilize all funds appropriated to it for food and relief in occupied Germany in carrying forth Mr. Hoover's full program."

The War Department is now operating under a bi-zonal agreement with Britain whereby this country's share for the fiscal year starting July 1 is $311,000,000. Of this amount, $227,000,000 is earmarked for food.

The $311,000,000 figure compares with a Hoover estimate that $283,-500,000 should be the U. S. share for the 12 months. Hoover's figure thus is lesser by 27,500,000. However, Hoover's estimate that $235,000,000 should be spent by the U. S. for food alone in the fiscal year is $8,-000,000 higher than the $227,000,000 in the bi-zonal agreement.

Something New In History

In a report on his recent economic mission to Germany and Austria, the former president said "it may come as a great shock to American taxpayers that, having won the war over Germany, we are now faced for some years with large expenditures for relief for these people.

"Indeed, it is something new in human history for the conqueror to undertake. Whatever the policies might have been that would have avoided this expense, we now are faced with it. And we are faced with it until the export industries of Germany can be sufficiently revived for their food. The first necessity for such a revival is sufficient food upon which to maintain vitality to work.

"Entirely aside from any humanitarian feelings for this mass of people, if we want peace; if we want to preserve the safety and health of our army of occupation; if we want to save the expense of even larger military forces to preserve order; if we want to reduce the size and expense of our army of occupation—I can see no other course but to meet the burdens I have here outlined."

Hoover estimated that supplies which Great Britain and this country would have to furnish for the 41,700,000 German civilians in their combined occupation zones would cost $384,000,000 for the first six months of this year and $567,000,000 in the fiscal year beginning next July 1. Each nation would pay half of the costs.

Made 3-Weeks Survey

The former Republican president returned from Europe last Sunday afte rspending three weeks abroad. President Truman asked him to undertake the survey after American military government authorities had requested huge sums for food for civilians.

President Trumans budget for the current fiscal year carries $556,-000,000 for food in all occupied countries, including Japan, and $645,000,000 is proposed in the budget for the 1947-48 year. A deficiency appropriation of $300,000,000 for the 1946-47 year now is before Congress. The War Department said it could not break down the figures for each occupied country.

Hoover, who said he would submit his report on Austria later, made an around-the-world trip to survey food conditions at Mr. Trumans request last spring.

Hoover made plain that he believed amounts already spent on relief for German civilians and to be spent in the future "should not be an irrecoverable expenditure to our two governments."

He declared that he had urged American and British authorities "that it be announced as a policy and stipulated in all peace arrangements" that these expenditures "should be made a first charge upon the economy of Germany and repaid from any future net exports from Germany before any other payments to other nations of any kind."

Hoover, who headed the American Relief Administration after the First World War, said similar arrangements in connection with relief grants to Germany were made after that conflict and that the grants were repaid.

Paints Gloomy Picture

The former president painted a gloomy picture of the present economy in the Reich. He said an expert with his mission visited Italy, France, Belgium, Holland and Britain and found the nutritional condition in those countries "nearly pre-war normal."

"Those who believe in vengeance and the punishment of a great mass of Germans not concerned in the Nazi conspiracy," the report said, "can now have no misgivings, for all of them—in food, warmth and shelter—have been sunk to the lowest level known in a hundred years of western history.

"If western civilization is to survive in Europe, it must also survive in Germany, and it must be built into a cooperative member of that civilization. That indeed is the hope of any lasting peace."

The report pointed out that Great Britain and the United States planned to increase the present normal 1,550 calories-a-day for civilians in their zones by adding 250 calories "at some undetermined date."

The world shortage in cereals makes such an increase impossible until after the 1947 harvest, Hoover said. He proposed a different program designed "to repair the weakest spots in the nutritional situation."

Many in "Deplorable" State

These spots, he said, were children over 6 years of age, adolescents and adults in the "normal consumer" group entitled to the basic 1,550 calories a day. Many of these persons are in "deplorable" condition, Hoover said.

For the children, he proposed that army surplus 10-in-1 rations and certain other surplus army stocks be used along with some of the meats and fats from 5,000,-000 head of livestock to be slaughtered this year to lessen animal consumption of ground crops.

To help the "normal consumers," he suggested that a portion of them be advanced to the category of heavy workers entitled to extra rations and that an emergency supply of cereals be allotted German welfare organizations for home relief and soup kitchens.

In support of the program for these two groups, he urged that the deficiency appropriation which he said would be necessary in the current fiscal ye.r include provision for an emergency supply of 65,000 tons of cereals and shipments of 400,000 tons of surplus potatoes from this country.

These emergency measures would make it unnecessary to increase the general ration by 250 calories until October, Hoover said. He added that he believed an enlarged seed and fertilizer program which he had included in his proposed expenditures would "greatly lighten the burden on our taxpayers in the fiscal year 1948-49."

By 1950, the report pointed out, the United States and Great Britain believe that revived German exports in the two zones will pay for all necessary imports, and taxpayers of the two countries will not be called on for further outlays.

Hoover foresaw a possibility of "further savings to the taxpayers" in the next fiscal year, depending on climatic conditions, decreases in world food prices, revival of the German fishing industry through leasing of American small ships, shipments of food surpluses from Scandinavian and South American nations, revival of German export manufactures, and the success of his proposed rationing changes in making the 250-calories-a-day lift unnecessary.

He also said considerable savings would result from use of 75 Liberty ships now laid up and German crews to transport food from the United States to Germany.

Herbert Hoover's report to President Truman on Conditions in the British-American Zone of occupied Germany follows:

February 26, 1947

The President
The White House
Washington, D. C.

FEB 1947

Dear Mr. President:

I have now completed the Economic Mission to Germany and Austria, which I undertook at your request.

I enclose herewith a memorandum on the economic conditions affecting food supplies for the newly combined American and British zones, together with estimates of supplies and costs involved in deficiency appropriations for the last half of the fiscal year 1946-1947 and appropriations for the fiscal year 1947-1948. I shall submit detailed annexes to this memorandum as soon as they are completed.

I shall report separately on Austria, and at a later date I shall have some further report on other economic and health problems in these areas.

In this examination of food questions in the combined zones, I have had the invaluable service of Dr. Dennis A. FitzGerald in food questions and that of Dr. Wm. H. Sebrell Jr. in nutritional and health questions, together with the able assistance in other economic questions of Mr. Hugh Gibson, Mr. Louis Lochner, Mr. Frank Mason and Dr. Gustav Stolper. I have received the full cooperation of Generals McNarney, Clay and Draper, Colonel Hester and their able staff, as well as General Robertson, Sir Cecil Weir and Mr. T. F. Griffin and their able staff on the British side.

My thanks are also due to the devoted service of Mr. Tracy S. Voorhees, Special Assistant to the Secretary of War, and to the Air Transport Command for their cooperation and skill.

Faithfully,

HERBERT HOOVER.

Report on Agricultural and Food Requirements

Introduction

At the time of her surrender Germany had exhausted all of her reserves and most of her stocks of consumer goods and raw materials. We now know that, driven back into her own borders, she would have blown up in chaos within a short time without further military action.

Promptly after the surrender her liquid resources from which she could have been provided with supplies were seized and divided as reparations. The population thus became largely dependent for its life upon the armies of occupation.

It is hardly necessary to repeat that parts of Germany were annexed to Poland and Russia and that the shrunken territory was divided into four military occupation zones between the Russians, French, British and Americans. The American and British Zones have now been administratively combined, each nation bearing one-half the expense, and this report relates to that area only.

Changes in Population and Manpower

The changes which have taken place in population profoundly affect all economic problems. The population of the combined zones in 1939 was about 34,200,000. The Germans expelled from the Russian and Polish annexations, together with those from Czechoslovakia, Hungary and Austria, have raised the population in the American and British Zones to about 41,700,000. It is estimated that an additional 1,000,000 will come into this area by December, 1947. There are also about 400,000 British and American military and civil personnel. Thus, the two zones will have to accommodate about 43,000,000 people, bringing the population approximately 9,000,000 above that in 1939.

The skilled manpower and the ratio of working males in the population have been greatly affected by the war. For the whole of Germany, it is estimated that 5,700,000 were killed or permanently injured. It is also estimated that over 3,000,000 prisoners of war are held in work camps in Russia, 750,000 in France, 400,000 in Britain and 40,000 in Belgium. The detention of large numbers of skilled Sudeten German workmen in Czechoslovakia bears on this problem.

As applied to the American and British zones, this represents a present subtraction of over 6,000,000 of the most vital and most skilled workers in the population. Likewise, the 90,000 Nazis held in concentration camps, and the 1,900,000 others under sanctions by which they can only engage in manual labor, naturally comprise a considerable part of the former technical and administrative skill of the country, and the restrictions upon them, however necessary, add to administrative and industrial problems.

One consequence of these distortions is that in the age groups between 20 and 40 there are 6 men to 10 women, and in the age group between 40 and 60, about 7 men to 10 women. Thus, there are in these groups between 6 and 7 million more women than men. The results upon productive power are bad enough, but the consequences to morals are appalling.

Housing

The housing situation in the two zones is the worst that modern civilization has ever seen. About 25 per cent of the urban housing was destroyed by the war. Therefore, 25 per cent of the urban population must find roofs from among the remaining 75 per cent, in addition to all the destitute "expellees" and other groups brought in. There has been little repair of damaged houses, due to lack of materials and transportation. The result of all this is that multitudes are living in rubble and basements. The average space among tens of millions is equivalent to between three and four people to a 12' x 12' room. Nor is the overcrowding confined to urban areas, for the "expellees" have been settled into every farm house. One consequence is the rapid spread of tuberculosis and other potentially communicable diseases.

Coal

The shortage of coal is, next to food, the most serious immediate bottleneck to both living and the revival of exports to pay for food. The Ruhr, which is now almost the sole coal supply of the Anglo-American Zones, is, due to lack of skilled men and physical vitality in labor, producing only 230,000 tons per day, as against a former 450,000 tons per day. Of the present production, a considerable amount must be exported to surrounding nations which are also suffering. The shortage leaves the two zones without sufficient coal for transport, household and other dominant services, with little upon which to start exports in the industry.

The coal famine all over Western Europe and the unprecedented severity of the winter have produced everywhere the most acute suffering. As an example in Germany, no household coal has been issued in Hamburg since October. Other German cities have been but little better off.

Agricultural Production

It must be borne in mind that about 25 per cent of the German pre-war food production came from the areas taken over by Russia and Poland. Moreover, the Russian Military Zone in Germany was a large part of the bread basket of Germany. Some millions of tons formerly flowed into the American and British zones from these areas. These sources now contribute nothing.

The British and American armies and civilians are entirely fed from home. The large Russian army is fed upon their zone.

Due to a lack of fertilizers, good seed, farm implements and skilled labor, the 1946 agricultural production in the American and British zones was about 65 per cent of pre-war. A generalized appraisal indicates that in the American zone the harvest of 1946 yielded a supply, beyond the needs of the farmers (self-suppliers), equal to about 1,100 calories per day for the "non-self-suppliers." The similar supply in the British zone was about 900 calories per day average to the "non-self-suppliers." These amounts contrast with 3,000 calories of the pre-war normal German consumption.

With the efforts being made to improve agricultural production there is an expected small increase from the harvest of 1947, especially in potatoes (if better seed is provided in time). The steps which I recommend, however, should show greater production from the 1948 harvest.

Food Distribution

This terrible winter, with frozen canals and impeded railway traffic, has rendered it impossible to maintain even the present low basis of rationing in many localities. The coal shortage and the consequent lack of heat, even for cooking, has added a multitude of hardships. The conclusions in this report as to the food situation are, however, not based upon the effect of this temporary dislocation, but upon the basic conditions, to which the winter has added many difficulties.

From the food point of view, the population of the combined zones has been divided as below, based upon the German census undertaken last autumn. The table must not be regarded as precise for the different groups, as the Berlin sector was not distributed on the same basis as others. It is, however, accurate enough for food computation purposes.

"Self-suppliers," i. e., farmers and their families	7,640,000
"Non-self suppliers," i. e., urban population:
Prospective and nursing mothers	660,000
Children 0-6 years of age	3,070,000
Children 6-15 years of age	4,495,000
Adolescents, 15-20 years of age	2,100,000
"Normal Consumers," 20 years up	17,910,000
Moderate hard workers	2,500,000
Heavy workers	1,910,000
Extra heavy workers	720,000
Displaced persons	680,000 34,045,000
Total population, two zones	41,685,000

The base ration is 1,550 calories per person per day to the "normal consumer" group, with priorities and supplements, as the situation requires or permits, for other groups. For instance, milk and fats are given in priority to nursing mothers and children up to 6 years of age; more food, including more meat, is given in supplement to hard workers, etc.

This basic ration for the "normal consumer" compares with the minimum temporary maintenance food intake recommended for "normal consumers" by eminent nutritionists, as follows:

	Present German.	Recommended Minimum.	Present Deficiency.
Carbohydrates	283 grams	335 grams	16%
Fats	24 grams	45 grams	47%
Protein	52 grams	65 grams	20%
Calories	1,550	2,000	24%

Thus with the deficiency in quantity and in fats, protein and other nutrients, the 1,550 ration is wholly incapable of supporting health of the groups which do not have supplements.

Nutritional Condition of the Population

The nutritional condition of the above different groups, irrespective of the immediate consequences of the hard winter, are:

(A) The 7,640,000 self-suppliers are, naturally, in good condition.

(B) The supplements and priorities in special foods given to 3,730,000 prospective and nursing mothers, and children under 6 years of age, appear to be enough to keep them in good condition.

(C) Over half of the 6,595,000 children and adolescents, especially in the lower-income groups, are in a deplorable condition. Their situation is better in limited localities where school feeding has been undertaken but outside these limits stunted growth and delayed development is widespread. In some areas famine edema (actual starvation) is appearing in the children. A study of groups of boys between the ages 9 and 16 years showed 5.5 pounds under minimum standard weights, with girls 5.1 pounds below such standard. Other groups studied showed even worse conditions.

(D) A considerable part of the "normal consumer" group of 17,910,000 is likewise in deplorable condition.

This group comprises the light physical workers and is in large majority women, and many are aged. Some portion of this group are able to supplement the 1,550-calorie ration by purchase of some supplies from the black market, from the free markets in the vegetable seasons and from package remittances. Some part of this group are too poor to purchase even the 1,550-calorie ration.

In any event, a large part of the group shows a steady loss of weight, vitality and ability to work. A study in the British Zone shows urban adult males over nineteen pounds and females nearly five pounds under proper weight. A study in the American Zone showed from five to twenty pounds under proper weight. Famine edema is showing in thousands of cases, stated to be 10,000 in Hamburg alone. The increased death roll among the aged is appalling. In persons over 70 in three months last autumn the increase was 40 per cent.

(E) While the workers' rations, due to supplements, are perhaps high enough in themselves, yet the universal tendency is for the worker to share his supplement with his wife and children, and therefore it does not have its full effect in suppling energy for the worker himself.

(F) The 680,000 displaced persons are about one-third in the British Zone and two-thirds in the United States Zone. In the British Zone they receive the German ration only. In the United States Zone they receive supplements which amount to 700 calories per day, so there can be no doubt as to their adequate supply in that area. In fact, the American ration is above the "normal ration" of the other nations on the Continent, except the former neutrals.

These nutritional conclusions are based upon surveys made by Dr. William H. Sebrell Jr. of the United States Public Health Service, who was a member of my mission. At my request he also visited Italy, France, Belgium, Holland and Britain to study the comparative nutritional situations of these countries with that of Germany. He reports that the nutritional condition in those countries is nearly pre-war normal, while the special German groups that I have mentioned are not only far below the other nations but disastrously so.

A New Program

The Anglo-American bi-zonal agreement of last autumn calls for an increase of rations by 250 calories per day at some undetermined date. Such an increase is highly desirable. However, the world shortage in cereals, evidenced by the early reduction of bread rations in several other nations, renders such an increase impossible until after the harvest of 1947. Such a program also implies increased import supplies, which, in terms of grain, would add 1,260,000 tons and $136,000,000 annually to costs, above the already huge burden upon the taxpayers of our two nations.

As the present base of 1,550 calories for "normal consumers" is not enough to maintain health in many children or health and working energy in many adults, I propose a different program. This new approach is to repair the weakest spots in the nutritional situation. I believe that this method will accomplish the major purpose of the proposed general increase in ration as nearly as can be accomplished within the limits of available supplies and finances for the remainder of the fiscal year 1946-47.

In many ways I believe it is a better program, and if this method proves a successful remedy during the next few months, it may modify the necessity of so large an increase in imports in the fiscal year 1947-48 as has been proposed under the bi-zonal agreement.

There are two groups to which this repair of weakness should be given quickly:

First are the children over 6 years of age and the adolescents. The number of this group who are undernourished is estimated to be about 3,500,000, or more than 50 per cent. To cover this group and assure that the food reaches the child, the British in their zone, aided by the Swedish and other charities, are giving a small ration in certain schools. There is no systematic school feeding in the American Zone. A system of soup kitchens to provide a hot meal of appropriate body-building foods (meat, fats, milk, etc.) of at least 350 calories daily is imperative for the children in the worst areas of the combined zones if a future Germany of wholesome character is to be created.

In order to start this system at once I recommend using the Army surplus 10-in-1 rations, now en route, and certain excess stocks not adapted to Army feeding and now in control of the American Occupation Forces. These resources can form the major base of this system for a considerable period. This is the more possible as it is proposed to slaughter during 1947 over 5,000,000 head of cattle, hogs and sheep in order to lessen the animal consumption of ground crops, and a portion of these meats and fats can be applied to this program. These various supplies, together with some minor cereal allotments, should carry the program for six months.

The second group demanding immediate relief is the "normal consumer" group of about 17,910,000 persons, now receiving 1,550 calories per day. I strongly recommend several lines of action. (a) A certain portion of them should be advanced to the group of moderate heavy workers and receive the supplement applicable to that category. (b) An emergency supply of cereals should be allotted to the German welfare organizations with which to provide a supplement to families in need and the soup kitchens. (c) I recommend that the aged in the "normal consumers" group and others where medically certified be issued tickets upon the soup kitchens for the meal of 350 calories per day during the school week, to be consumed either at these kitchens or taken home. These supplemental measures will substantially improve and will at least carry over the most needy part of this group.

By aid to the children and adolescents some pressure will be removed from the "normal consumer" group, who naturally tend to cut their own food to help their children.

In support of the above program for children and "normal rations" I have included in the recommended deficiency appropriation an emergency supply of 65,000 tons of cereals. These measures, as I have said, are in substitution for the great increase otherwise necessary to import for the proposed program of a lift in the whole ration system by 250 calories.

In addition to these measures I have included in the sums given below, which I recommend to be appropriated for the balance of this fiscal year 1946-47, an amount necessary for the shipment of 400,000 tons of surplus potatoes from the United States. The object is twofold.

Due to spoilage during this unprecedented winter and other causes, there are not enough potatoes by 250,000 tons to cover that portion of the minimum 1,550-calorie ration until the next harvest. Certainly we cannot allow the ration to fall below its already dangerous levels.

Of even more importance, most of the potato seed of our zones normally comes from the Polish-annexed area and the Russian Zone, and is not available. If we can forward 200,000 to 250,000 tons of good potato seed, with some already in hand, we should be able to assure a yield from the 1947 harvest of 5,000,000 tons and thereby effect some savings in overseas food imports for the fiscal year 1947-48.

Necessary Imports and Finance

The supply and finance of food and collateral relief imports and the development of exports with which ultimately to pay for these imports has been organized upon the basis of dividing foreign trade into two categories:

Category "A" covers imports of food, fertilizers and petroleum products for the civil population. This category is to be paid for by appropriations, and thus one-half by the taxpayers each of the United States and the United Kingdom. It has not been determined whether seeds fall in this group. In my opinion they should be and I have included them in my estimates of supply and cost which appear below.

Category "B" is under the "Joint Export-Import Agency," who regulate the importation of raw materials and the export of coal, some other raw materials and manufactured products. The organization started with a certain working capital and all exports of coal and other commodities are credited to this fund until the exports exceed the raw material imports when the surplus will be applied to the cost of Category "A" It is hoped that the export surplus will begin to contribute to Category "A" in the last half of 1948 and cover virtually all the cost in the calendar year 1950.

Therefore, the cost of Category "A" for the balance of the 1947 fiscal year, in which a deficiency appropriation is involved, and the whole of the 1948 fiscal year, will fall upon the taxpayers of America and Britain.

COST AND SUPPLIES OF CATEGORY "A" IMPORTS FOR THE LAST HALF OF FISCAL YEAR 1946-1947

The program of supplies and costs to cover Category "A" for the six months from Jan. 1 to July 1, 1947, will appear large compared to the program given later for the whole fiscal year 1947-1948. The reasons are that imports were unduly low during the last six months of 1946 and the drain on indigenous food unduly large. Also, it is necessary to include the cost of purchases and shipments prior to July 1 so as to provide in June for arrivals in Germany during the period July 1 to Aug. 15, for which appropriations for the 1947-48 fiscal year cannot be available until after July 1. This works to lessen the burden on the fiscal year following that date. I have, as said, included the allotment of 65,000 tons of cereals to support the "normal ration" group and the potato imports.

The following is the estimated cost for both zones; for the six months Jan. 1 to July 1, 1947, in which are included the supplies already shipped for this period:

Cereals (wheat equivalent) 2,505,000 tons	$288,000,000
Other foods, 720,000 tons	54,000,000
Fertilizers	17,500,000
Seeds	12,500,000
Petroleum products (civil population)	12,000,000
Total	$384,000,000

The United States contribution of one-half of this is $192,000,000.

What portion of these expenditures are already covered by appropriations and what portion must need be covered by deficiency appropriations is not known to me.

SUPPLIES AND COSTS FOR FISCAL YEAR 1947-1948

In considering the supplies and cost of Category "A" for the fiscal year 1947-1948, the supplemental supports I have proposed to strengthen the children, adolescents and "normal ration" group, should undoubtedly carry through these groups until October, especially with the spring and summer produce. Therefore, it will not, in any event, be necessary to increase the general ration by the 250 calories provided in the bi-zonal agreement until that date. It is my hope that the revised methods by which the weak places in the system are strengthened may partially or wholly avoid this necessity after that date. I have, however, provided in the estimates an item of $62,300,000 for such an increase after October. I have also included in these estimates an enlarged fertilizer and seed program. It is my belief that these latter measures will greatly lighten the burden on our taxpayers in the fiscal year 1948-1949.

The following is my estimate of the supplies and costs needed for the fiscal year 1947-1948 covering Category "A":

Cereals (in terms of wheat) for 1,550 calories level, 2,785,000 tons	$278,500,000
Cereals for "normal consumers" emergency supplemental feeding, 192,000 tons	19,200,000
Child feeding program (includes special foods), 130,000 tons	35,000,000
Other foods, 450,000 tons	75,000,000
Fertilizers (available)	45,000,000
Seeds	27,000,000
Petroleum products for civil population	25,000,000
	$504,700,000
Cost of ration increase to 1,800 calories on or about October, 1947	62,300,000
Total	$567,000,000

of which the United States share of 50 per cent amounts to $283,500,000.

Due to these changes in method, the above program is different from that submitted by the War Department for the fiscal year 1947-1948, but the total cost is no greater.

It is my conviction that these appropriations for Category "A" for both the 1946-1947 and the 1947-1948 fiscal years should have first consideration, even in priority to appropriations for military purposes. The occupational forces cannot be reduced without these assurances of minimum food supply. From the point of view only of maintaining order, the need for these forces is not great if we can meet the food needs. Their size will depend upon other considerations.

Further Savings to the Taxpayers That Can Be Made

There are ways by which these costs could be reduced, although they are not certain enough to be deducted in advance against appropriations which must now be determined.

1. If these changes in rationing program render the general calorie lift unnecessary, there would be a saving of $62,000,000.

2. If through the 1947 deficiency appropriation the seeds are provided in time, there should be substantial additions to the German potato harvest, in relief of 1947-48 expenditures. If the fertilizer and seed recommendations for the fiscal year 1947-48 are accepted, there should be savings by increased indigenous production in the year 1948-49.

3. There would be savings if prices proved lower and if climatic conditions for the indigenous crops turned out exceptionally favorable.

4. The Potsdam Declaration results in Germany having no consequential overseas shipping. If we could effect some temporary operation by German crews of, say, seventy-five Liberty ships, now laid up, to transport food and raw materials, all of the expense could be paid by the Germans in marks, except for fuel, and thus save a very large amount of dollars otherwise coming from the American and British taxpayers. This would probably amount to $40,000,000 per annum.

5. A further saving of possibly several million dollars could be made for the taxpayers if the large American Army return equipment, now being transported at high ocean rates, were sent home on the return voyages of these Liberty ships.

6. There are food surpluses in the control of other nations than ourselves and the British. They comprise possible increased catches of fish in Norway, Sweden and Denmark, which otherwise are little likely to find a market, and some surpluses possible from the South American states. It would seem to me that some supplies could well be furnished by these nations, being repaid as indicated below, pari passu with the British and ourselves.

7. The Germans lost a considerable part of their deep-sea fishing fleet. If more such boats could be found and leased from American surplus small shipping, the fish supply could be greatly increased. The fishing grounds in the Baltic and North Seas are being limited against German fishing. As there are ample supplies of fish in these seas, it seems a pity that, with this food available, British and American taxpayers are called upon to furnish food in substitution for fish the Germans could catch for themselves.

Fish is particularly needed, as the present diet is sadly lacking in protein content.

8. A still further saving to British and American taxpayers is possible if maximum expedition could be made of exports of German manufacture. The Joint Export-Import Agency is doing its best, but such exports are hampered by the lack of coal for manufacture, by trading-with-the-enemy acts and restrictions on free communication, together with limitations on dealings between buyers and sellers. The restoration of trade is inevitable, and every day's delay in removing these barriers is simply adding to the burden of our taxpayers for relief that could otherwise be paid for in goods. No one can say that in her utterly shattered state Germany is a present economic menace to the world.

Should there be such good fortune as to realize all these possibilities, we could not only increase the food supply to health levels but also lessen the joint costs by $150,000,000 during the fiscal year 1947-48. However, as I have said, I am convinced that the larger sum should be provided for.

German Repayment for These Outlays

The great sums hitherto spent on relief of the German civilian population from outside Germany's borders, together with those in the future, should not be an irrecoverable expenditure to our two Governments.

I have, therefore, urged upon the American and British authorities that it be announced as a policy and stipulated in all peace arrangements that these expenditures for the relief of the civil population (Category "A"), past and future, should be made a first charge upon the economy of Germany and repaid from any future net exports from Germany before any payments to other nations of any kind.

At my instance all Allied nations in the first World War agreed that German civilian relief expenditures at that time should be repaid from any liquid assets and ranked ahead of any reparation claims. They were so repaid. The grounds which I advanced at that time are no less valid today. By these relief expenditures we are rebuilding the economy of the German people so that other payments can be made by them. These costs should be a sort of "receiver's certificate." If this policy be pursued, these appropriations for relief asked from the Congress and the Parliament can become a recoverable expenditure and not a charity loaded onto our taxpayers. It would seem that a tax upon exports of some per cent, to be paid in dollars after July 1, 1949, might be an effective implementation of such a provision.

Organization

I have made certain recommendations to the joint Military Governments of the two zones as to organization matters, which I believe will improve administration now that bi-zonal operation, under larger German responsibility, has been undertaken.

Conclusion

It may come as a great shock to American taxpayers that, having won the war over Germany, we are now faced for some years with large expenditures for relief for these people. Indeed, it is something new in human history for the conqueror to undertake.

Whatever the policies might have been that would have avoided this expense, we now are faced with it. And we are faced with it until the export industries of Germany can be sufficiently revived to pay for their food. The first necessity for such a revival is sufficient food upon which to maintain vitality to work.

Entirely aside from any humanitarian feelings for this mass of people, if we want peace, if we want to preserve the safety and health of our Army of Occupation, if we want to save the expense of even larger military forces to preserve order, if we want to reduce the size and expense of our Army of Occupation—I can see no other course but to meet the burdens I have here outlined.

Our determination is to establish such a regime in Germany as will prevent forever again the rise of militarism and aggression within these people. But those who believe in vengeance and the punishment of a great mass of Germans not concerned in the Nazi conspiracy can now have no misgivings, for all of them—in food, warmth and shelter—have been sunk to the lowest level known in a hundred years of Western history.

If Western civilization is to survive in Europe it must also survive in Germany. And it must be built into a cooperative member of that civilization. That, indeed, is the hope of any lasting peace.

After all, our flag flies over these people. That flag means something besides military power.

BEVIN REAFFIRMS BRITISH-AMERICAN CLOSE FRIENDSHIP

'Misunderstanding' on Palestine an Isolated Issue, He Declares.

PLEDGES COOPERATION

Will Support U.S. Proposal on Germany at Moscow Conference.

J. SMITH (N)

LONDON, Feb. 27 — (AP) British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin reaffirmed today British-American solidarity despite "misunderstanding" over Palestine and said Britain would support at the Moscow conference the American proposal for a 25-year four-power pact to insure German demilitarization.

In the only reference to the storm aroused in the United States by his charge that President Truman had wrecked negotiations for a Palestine settlement by issuing a statement during the 1946 congressional election campaign, Bevin told the House of Commons:

Voices U. S. Friendship

"While there may have been some misunderstanding over the matter debated in this house two days ago, this is a matter which stands by itself. On all questions our relations with the United States are of the most cordial character, and we for our part will not allow any wedge to be driven between the two countries to disturb our friendship."

The White House issued a statement last night describing as "unfortunate and misleading" the British implication that Mr. Truman's statement had been motivated by political considerations.

Bevin said also that he hoped the pending British-French treaty would be signed "soon." Reliable reports from Paris said that Bevin and French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault would sign the pact at a port on the French channel coast next Wednesday.

In a brief reference to negotiations for revision of the 20-year British-Soviet alliance Bevin remarked "I cannot help wishing that the Soviet government had taken the matter up in the first place through diplomatic channels. He referred to the article in the Moscow newspaper Pravda which gave the first indication Russia was not satisfied with the existing treaty on mutual defense.

His speech, opening a one-day debate on foreign policy, covered a wide range of subjects.

The proposal for a 25-year mutual assistance pact by Britain, Russia, France and the United States to insure German demilitarization was made at the Paris peace conference last April by James F. Byrnes, then U. S. secretary of state. It would provide for four-power occupation of Germany for a quarter century after the present military occupation ends.

Praises U. S. Stand on Germany

Bevin said that the proposal "will be on the agenda at Moscow and will have to be discussed." He added that "it is a great thing that the United States has taken this vital interest in the preservation of peace in Europe."

He reiterated Britain's policies on Germany, saying he sought a decentralized German government and economic unification.

He asserted the question of Germany's eastern frontiers will be "vexed," referring apparently to Poland's claim to 40,000 square miles of territory east of the Oder and Neisse rivers.

Bevin cautioned the British people not to "expect too much" from the foreign ministers conference. He said the ministers faced "terrific difficulties."

But the 66-year-old labor leader turned diplomat declared he would "not despair," because "I shall not lose faith in the good intentions of others, whatever they may say, either in the press, radio or anywhere else."

He said that "I believe behind all the things they say and do that at the back of their heads they know we have got to get cooperation, and therefore I shall let these attacks pass over me and go on believing in their good faith."

Bevin did not specify to what nation or nations he was referring, but mentioned "speeches" made during United Nations meetings.

The foreign secretary said it was "a matter of profound regret" that negotiations were broken off for revision of the British-Egyptian treaty.

ANTI-WAR PACT ON AGENDA FOR MOSCOW TALKS

Bevin Backs 25-Year Plan Proposed by Byrnes Last May.

PARIS HINTS AT NEW ACCORDS

Indicates Bilateral Treaties Will Link Britain, France and Soviet Before Conference Begins.

London, Feb. 27 (A. P.).—Foreign Secretary Bevin said today that he and the foreign ministers of the United States, France and Soviet Russia will discuss at Moscow next month a four-power pact to prevent any new aggression in Europe.

Opening a foreign affairs debate in the House of Commons with a survey of diplomatic problems, Bevin specifically endorsed the proposal made by former Secretary of State James F. Byrnes last May for a twenty-five-year treaty to keep Germany demilitarized.

"It is a great thing that the United States have taken this vital interest in the preservation of peace in Europe," Bevin said.

Then, with reference to his statement on Tuesday that American local electioneering wrecked the prospect of a Palestine peace settlement last fall, the Foreign Secretary added: "While there may have been some misunderstanding over the matter debated in this House two days ago, this is a matter which stands by itself. On all questions, our relations with the United States are of the most cordial character and we, for our part, will not allow any wedge to be driven between the two countries to disturb our friendship."

To Re-Educate Germany.

Bevin said he was not sure that Germany, even after her defeat in two great wars, knows the real meaning of defeat and recognizes the stupidity of war as an object of policy. Only a Four-Power agreement will make it possible to curb Germany and to re-educate her in the ways of democracy, he declared. Britain, however, "should not expect too much from us at Moscow," he added, because "we have terrific difficulties to face."

Bevin told the Commons that he hoped the pending Anglo-French treaty would be signed soon. He said that Britain's proposal for revising the 1942 Anglo-Soviet treaty, as suggested by Premier Stalin, would be presented to the Russians in the near future, and on the subject of this treaty—which the Soviet press once accused him of repudiating—Bevin said: "I am extremely glad that the desire is shown to prolong the alliance on the basis of closer and cordial relations between the two countries."

No British Comment.

London, Feb. 27 (A. P.).—The British Foreign Office declined to comment today on the White House reply to Foreign Secretary Bevin's charge that President Truman had spoiled British chances of bringing about a settlement of the Palestine problem. The Foreign Office said that further British statements would serve no useful purpose.

mission of 100,000 Jews to the Holy Land.

The statement was issued as a reply to Foreign Secretary Bevin's tart assertion to Parliament on Tuesday.

Bevin declared Mr. Truman's October remarks, during the congressional election campaign, "spoiled" negotiations which might have led to a settlement of the Arab-Jewish conflict.

White House Statement

The White House statement made public by Press Secretary Charles G. Ross retorted:

"The impression that has arisen from yesterday's debate in the British Parliament that America's interest in Palestine and the settlement of Jews there is motivated by partisan and local politics is most unfortunate and misleading."

It went on to declare that Mr. Truman's October stand simply reiterated the position he had communicated to Prime Minister Attlee as long ago as August, 1945, and made public in November, 1945.

Senators Comment

Bevin's part in the Palestine debate touched off a brief flurry on the Senate floor before the White House statement was issued.

Democratic Leader Barkley (Ky.) told his colleagues it thought it was "most unfortunate" and "almost astonishing" that the British Foreign Secretary, in effect, had accused the President of the United States of a "cheap political trick."

Senator Brewster (R., Maine) termed Bevin's "amazing" statement "apparently the workings of a deeply distressed conscience."

Senator Taft (R., Ohio), added that "another inconsistency" could be seen in what happened to the British plan for partition of the Holy Land. "Now Mr. Bevin suddenly turns against partition," Taft asserted.

Mumblings A Year Ago

Palestine Dispute Big Task Facing Douglas In New Post

Britain Silent On Truman Reply

Washington, Feb. 27 (AP)—The problem of smoothing Anglo-American relations troubled by differences over Palestine emerged today as the first task for Lewis W. Douglas when he takes over the embassy in London.

The trans-Atlantic controversy came to a head in a White House statement describing as "unfortunate and misleading" any British implication that President Truman was playing politics October 4 when he urged the immediate admission of 100,000 Jews to the Holy Land.

There were rumblings of complaint in Parliament last year—mainly from the Tory side—over the protracted congressional debate which preceded approval of the $3,750,000,000 British loan. But Bevin's outburst was the first directed against this country by a high-ranking member of the Labor Government.

Douglas, whose prompt confirmation by the Senate was assured, submitted his resignation yesterday as president of the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York and told reporters he will hurry to England after a State Department briefing on his new task.

Douglas Ex-Budget Director

Douglas was a congressman from Arizona when Franklin D. Roosevelt was first elected President. He resigned from the House on Roosevelt's inaugural day in 1933 to become budget director.

However, the Government "pump-priming" policies in 1934 ran athwart the Arizonan's bent for economy and he left the administration. Douglas opposed Roosevelt's third-term campaign in 1940 and finally came out for the late Wendell L. Willkie.

Douglas make his peace with Roosevelt in 1942, however, and became first a Lend-Lease expediter in London and then deputy War Shipping Administrator, with the task of speeding up shipment of war cargoes.

Red Sees Merger Dividing Reich

London, Feb. 27 (AP)—Tass quoted Soviet Marshal Vassilly D. Sokolovsky today as saying that developments in the economically merged British and American zones of Germany indicated a plan to break Germany into "relatively small and therefore weak" states.

The Soviet News Agency said Sokolovsky, the Soviet member of the four-power Allied Control Council, made the statement before the Council in Berlin on Tuesday, adding:

"Such a nearsighted policy, aimed at dismembering or destroying Germany, would bring about the creation of a new nest of unrest . . . which would in the future endanger the peace and security of the nations."

Cites Potsdam Decisions

The marshal was quoted further as saying that the economic program in the merged zones "runs counter to the decisions of the Berlin [Potsdam] Conference."

"The question naturally arises whether the agreement on fusion of the British and American zones," he said "is aimed at subduing it [the merged area] to British and American monopolies."

The Council gave its formal approval Tuesday to a report on the German occupation, including disagreement over the four-power administration, for submission to the Foreign Ministers who will meet in Moscow on March 10.

Standardized Arms' Effect

London, Feb. 27 (AP)—If British-American arms standardization plans jell, informed British sources said tonight, European countries which buy weapons from Britain will have to conform—or buy guns somewhere else.

They named Belgium, the Netherlands, Greece, Denmark and Norway as the nations which relied before and during the war for weapons made in Britain.

Spokesmen from France, the Netherlands and Belgium said, however, that the subject of standardization had never been discussed. A British Foreign Office spokesman concurred.

Nevertheless, the close co-operation between the British and American military authorities has far-reaching implications in the companies and batteries of European armies, the informants said.

British-American wartime collaboration will continue, they added. This already has been manifested in the interchange of air force personnel for training purposes, maintenance of the joint military staff board, and an inquiry into the extension of the standardization principle which already was accepted.

They explained that the issue of arms standardization was based on the political principle that the countries concerned might one day have to fight as Allies.

Since the United States has the greatest industrial potential, the sources said, that might eventually mean they would provide most of the arms for South America, the British Commonwealth, Scandinavian countries and, perhaps, western Europe.

Australian and South African Government sources said today their wartime dependence on the United States for certain types of military equipment will likely continue. They are keeping up on British-American standardization talks.

Night-Shift Test For British Regime

Plan Poses

London, Feb. 27 (AP)—Britain's decision to introduce the night shift in British industry was expected today to confront the Labor Government with one of the tougher tests it has faced.

The Government's plan to inaugurate night shifts—which have been resisted bitterly for many years by British trade unions—was announced in Commons last night.

Sir Stafford Cripps, president of the Board of Trade, said the program for putting approximately 2,500,000 Britons on night duty would be devised by "agreement with the workers."

Starting Date Not Chosen

He did say when the step would become effective, but presumably no definite action can be taken until the Government's Joint Consultative Committee of employers and unionists, headed by Labor Minister George Isaacs, gets recommendations from regional industrial boards some time next month.

First responses to the night-shift idea were mixed. Meetings of industrial groups at Derby and Northampton opposed night shifts on the ground they would not spread the electric load effectively and would raise problems of transporting and feeding workers at odd hours, but representatives of workers and employers at Nottingham and Luton laid plans to begin night shifts next week.

May Last 2 To 3 Years

Sir Stafford said present electric generators could not produce enough power to meet all industrial needs during regular daytime working hours and that staggered working hours would have to be maintained for two or three years until electric power plants are extended and modernized.

Under the Government's broad plan a third of the nation's 7,000,000 industrial workers—including 2,300,000 women—would be working at night, but some plans suggested that factories in each district take turns working nights to spread the electricity supply and vary the working hours.

Law Changes Required

The Daily Herald, organ of the 30.24-8163

Labor party, pointed out that special legislation would be needed to amend industrial acts which prohibit women and persons under 18 from working at night.

In any event, introduction of the night shift—in a nation so geared to daytime work that subways close soon after midnight and most restaurants and pubs close at 10 P.M. —will mean "a revolution in the social habits" of Britain, one official said.

INCENTIVES GIVEN BRITISH MINERS

LONDON, Feb. 27—(AP) Britain granted housing priorities and larger food allocations to mining towns tonight in exchange for the miners' pledges of full cooperation in reaching the government's coal production goal.

Prime Minister Attlee announced the new inducements for greater mining efforts while domestic fuel restrictions were being prepared to follow resumption of coal-starved industrial production.

Under the plan for mining centers approved by Attlee's special "Coal Cabinet," greater allotments of both rationed and unrationed foods will go to the coal areas. No increase in individual rations was indicated, but the rationed foods may be used by restaurants and bakeries.

Attlee's emergency group promised the miners first call on the erection of temporary aluminum houses. It also heard suggestions by heads of the National Union of Mineworkers that taxes be lowered on miners' overtime earnings, but took no action.

The mining chiefs, President Will Lawther and General Secretary Arthur Horner, said higher wages would not be necessary to reach the goal of 200,000,000 tons of coal, which is regarded as the 1947 minimum for home and export needs. Last year the miners dug 187,000,000 tons, but consumption was 194,000,000 tons.

German Coal Output Up

Gains by France, Netherlands, Belgium, Poland Reported

LONDON, Feb. 27 (AP).—Coal mines in western Germany produced 6,695,000 metric tons of coal in January, an increase of 1,206,000 tons over the December output, the European Coal Organization reported today in a monthly summary. (A metric ton is the equivalent of 1.102 short tons). This figure represents 59 per cent of the monthly pre-war average production.

France's coal production in January was 4,633,000 metric tons, 19 per cent higher than the average for 1935-39, the coal organization said.

Polish output jumped from 4,207,000 tons in December to 4,879,000 tons in January, 90 per cent of pre-war production; that in Belgium climbed to 2,132,000 tons compared to 1,892,000 tons in December, and the Netherlands production increased from 718,000 tons in December to 829,000 tons the following month, 76 per cent of pre-war production.

BRITISH TO PURCHASE MORE VESSELS IN U. S.

LONDON, Feb. 27 (AP)—Sir Ernest H. Murrant said at a meeting of the Chamber of Shipping today that Britain's shipbuilding program and plans to buy American vessels would increase the nation's merchant navy by 3,500,000 tons.

"In other words," he said, "the gap between present and pre-war tonnage is already being closed."

The British shipping industry, he reported, has spent upward of £60,000,000 ($240,000,000) on the purchase of ships from the Government and is ready to spend approximately $80,000,000 for vessels made in the United States.

Sir Ernest estimated 2,500,000 gross tons of shipping were under construction or on order from British yards for British owners.

Britain Called 'Bankrupt'

London, Feb. 27 (AP)—Britain, on a purely actuarial basis, "is bankrupt beyond any apparent hope of recovery," a Conservative member of Parliament declared today.

"But we appeared equally bankrupt militarily in 1940," L. D. Gammans told the Empire Economic Club.

"We then pulled through because of our national unity and the fact that dynamic leadership was able to summon up the hidden assets of the British character—our inventiveness, our courage, our sense of personal responsibility and our latent patriotism."

Britain, Norway in Visa Accord

LONDON, Feb. 27 (AP).—Great Britain and Norway are to abolish visa restrictions soon for citizens traveling between the two countries, an authoritative government source said today. Britain has concluded similar agreements with France and Belgium.

FRENCH, BRITISH PACT SEEN NEAR

J. E. DYNAN (N)

PARIS, Feb. 27—(AP) Reliable reports said today that Foreign Minister Georges Bidault and Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin would sign a French-British alliance at some port along the French channey coast next Wednesday.

Premier Paul Ramadier had told a news conference he hoped the alliance would be signed "in the near future." He also hinted that an accord on broadening or extending the British-Russian alliance might be concluded before March 10, when the four-power foreign ministers council meets in Moscow.

Triple Entente Negotiations

Three-way negotiations—which may have the effect of solidifying the triple entente of Russia, France and Britain that originated before the first world war—are proceeding, Ramadier pointed out, and he added:

"This fact appears to have created an atmosphere different from that in which other conferences opened."

France and Russia signed a 20-year mutual military and economic assistance pact in 1944.

Foreign Ministry officials said they had been instructed strictly not to discuss the projected alliance, but they said they had been authorized to make a categorical denial of reports that the alliance would involve standardization of French and British armaments.

Well-informed sources said the pressure of last-minute preparations for the Moscow meeting of French, Russian, British and United States foreign ministers would preclude a signing of an alliance at London or Paris.

Delays Moscow Trip

Bidault must remain in Paris for the duration of a parliamentary debate on foreign affairs. Originally slated to leave for Moscow Tuesday, March 4, he is now scheduled to leave aboard a special train by way of Germany Thursday, March 6.

The delay was not announced until today. The extra time, it was reported, was set aside for a quick trip to one of the French channel points for a meeting with Bevin, who will then be enroute to Moscow.

Ramadier said the negotiations for a French-British alliance had unfolded "methodically and happily" since the visit of former Premier Leon Blum to London several weeks ago.

He said a new treaty between France and Czechoslovakia was working well, and that efforts also were being made to renew an accord between Poland and France.

"Altogether, these negotiations certainly will contribute to equanimity of the conference at Moscow," he concluded.

Anglo-French Accord

Paris, Feb. 27 (A. P.).—Premier Paul Ramadier told a news conference today that he hopes an Anglo-French accord will be signed in the near future.

He said that Britain is negotiating with Moscow on their 1942 accord at the same time. Hinting that accords among the three nations would be arrived at before the Moscow conference opens, the Premier said: "This fact appears to have created an atmosphere different from that in which other conferences opened."

100 Viet Namese Killed

French Troops North of Hanoi Also Report Captures

PARIS, Feb. 27 (AP).—Nearly 100 Viet Namese (Nationalists) were killed and several dozen captured by French troops near the Canal des Rapides, six miles north of Hanoi, dispatches from Indo-China reported today.

Twenty miles east of Hanoi, French troops attacked native forces entrenched near Bao-Dap village. In the coastal sector, French units were reported progressing west of Hongay. Infiltrations by the Viet Namese near Gialan were repulsed.

Stassen Ranks Europe's Coal Crisis Over Politics

Paris, Feb. 27 (AP)—Harold E. Stassen today ranked Europe's coal shortage above politics and food as an immediate factor in the building of a peaceful postwar world.

"It is obvious, of course, that it is tied in with the problems of the coal-producing regions of the Saar, the Ruhr and Silesia," he told a news conference.

The Minnesotan, candidate for the 1948 Republican nomination for President, reached France two days ago on his economic fact-finding tour of Europe. Stassen visited automobile and bus manufacturing plants today and conferred with Benoit Fracnon, an official of the French General Confederation of Labor. He planned to fly to Lyons tomorrow for an inspection of the French textile enterprises there.

Election on Hitler's Birthday

BERLIN, Feb. 27 (AP).—Germans in the British zone will elect their State Diets (Assemblies) April 20, Adolf Hitler's birthday, General Robertson told reporters today the election date was set "before the significance of that day was realized."

General Robertson said the Ruhr Valley "will always possess a war potential because of its natural resources." He thus responded to a request for comment on allegations in the Soviet-licensed Berlin press that the Ruhr, under British control, now was "a war potential area."

Asked if there were improved prospects for the joining of the French and Soviet occupation zones to the economically fused British and American zones, General Robertson replied: "Oh, yes, there is to be a conference in Moscow in a few days."

"Encouraged," Says Clay

Berlin, Feb. 27 (AP)—Lieut. Gen. Lucius D. Clay, deputy United States military governor, declared tonight that the "American Military Government was greatly encouraged by Mr. Hoover's report on Germany."

General Clay did not comment further but many Military Government officials have been greatly disturbed by proposed budget cuts in the United States which they felt would wreck America's occupation program. They had waited anxiously for Mr. Hoover's report.

Italy-Wide Black Market In Patriotism Reported

ROME, Feb. 26 (AP).—A new wrinkle in black-marketeering was reported today by the Communist newspaper "Unita" and the Socialist "Avanti."

They said police had discovered an Italy-wide market in forged documents attesting that the bearer was a former Partisan and patriot. The documents were being sold to Fascists and Nazi collaborators for prices starting at 100,000 lire ($267) and rising with the purchaser's feeling of guilt.

Fifty persons have been arrested, the Left-Wing papers said, and others are being sought.

No other newspaper printed the report, and police had no comment.

Greek Guerrilla Story Entered In Probe Record

Salonika, Greece, Feb. 27 (AP)—A United Nations Commission investigating complaints of Greece against three northern neighbors incorporated in its records today the story of an avowed one-time Greek Leftist fighter who said he trained as a guerrilla in Yugoslavia and made a raid into Greece from Albania.

Fotios Kontopanos, 39, told the commission yesterday that he fled Greece in 1945 after serving as an officer in the unsuccessful revolt of the ELAS, army of the Leftist political organization EAM.

Kontopanos, who said he once was a schoolteacher, testified that he began training at Bulkjes, Yugoslavia, in a new school for Greek guerrillas in April, 1946, and finished with the first class two months later. The first brigade, he said, was the "Nicholas Zachariades," named for the top Greek Communist, and he himself was known sometimes as "Captain Hannibal."

"Found" Arms

Last September 10, Kontopanos said, he and over twenty other guerrillas entered Greece from Albania at Mount Grammos, "found" arms in a gully and made several raids on Greek army and gendarme posts.

He said that casualties and desertions cut down the band and that finally, some two weeks after returning to Greece, he gave himself up.

The commission is looking into Greek charges that guerrilla warfare against the Athens Government is inspired from Albania, Bulgaria and Yugoslavia. Those three countries have denied the charges.

Guerrilla Clash

Athens, Feb. 27 (AP)—Press dispatches from northern Greece reported today that Government troops pursuing a force of 600 guerrillas retreating from the town of Saterli in Thessaly had slain 50 of the band and wounded many more.

The dispatches said the Government troops were continuing to pursue the band toward Mount Pindus, with Spitfire fighter planes harassing the retreating column with machine-gun fire. The band sacked the burned Saterli before being driven from the valley by the arrival of Government troops.

Another engagement, in which artillery was being employed, was reported at Grammatica, north of Phlorina, where Government troops were said to have slain fifteen guerrillas and captured equipment.

Parliament Calls Upon Britain to Yield Crown Colony

ATHENS, Friday, Feb. 28 (AP)—The Greek Parliament unanimously adopted today a resolution appealing to Britain to permit the union of the Mediterranean island of Cyprus, now a British Crown colony, with Greece.

In moving the Government's resolution, Premier Demetrios Maximos said a settlement of the Cyprus problem was "being sought in the spirit of the tested, old and cordial relations between Greece and Britain and if it materializes will arouse the Greek nation's eternal gratitude."

The resolution will be forwarded to the British Government.

Mine Sinks Greek Vessel

ATHENS, Feb. 27 (AP)—An auxiliary sailing vessel struck a mine two miles off Capa Pappa, west of Patras, today and sank. Fourteen passengers and five crew men were missing.

Norwegian Foresees Loss In Rupture With Spain

OSLO, Norway, Feb. 27 (AP).—Foreign Minister Halvard Lange told Parliament today Norwegian shipping interests would be seriously affected if the Spanish government should carry out its recent threat "to revise its present friendly and correct attitude" unless Norway changed her trade policy toward Spain.

The Spanish note, handed to Norway's Charge d'Affaires in Madrid, cautioned the Norwegian government with regard to Spanish trade interests and even mentioned Norway's role in international activity against the regime of Generalissimo Francisco Franco.

Lange said many Norwegian ships en route to the Middle East, South America and the Antarctic must stop at Spanish ports for fuel and provisions. He urged Parliament to consider the possible effects of a total cessation of trade with Spain.

HUNGARIAN EX-DEPUTY ADMITS HE CONSPIRED

JACK GUINN

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Feb. 27 (AP)—Defense attorneys' objections that they had not been permitted to talk with their clients were overruled today as the trial of thirteen prisoners accused of plotting to overthrow the Hungarian Republic got under way.

The lawyers asked for a postponement. They also complained they had not received sufficient time to read the official accusations.

The first to testify under examination by the presiding judge, Peter Janko—the judge asks all the questions while the defendant stands rigidly at attention before the five-man People's Court—was Dr. Gyori Donath. He is a former member of Parliament, accused of being the "brains" behind the alleged plot to undermine the Communist-dominated regime.

After his denial of guilt, Dr. Donath told the court that an order creating an "underground chief command" had been drafted Oct. 31, 1946, at the home of former Gen. Lajos Veress, another defendant.

Dr. Donath said he had tried to revive the "Hungarian community," an anti-Communist, anti-German Hungarian nationalist group, and that it had sixty to eighty members by the end of November, 1946.

As Dr. Donath volunteered information, without waiting for questions, spectators muttered in astonishment at his loquacity.

Witch Doctors Beat Drums For Royal Family

Port Elizabeth, South Africa, Feb. 27 (AP)—Witch doctors in full ceremonial dress beat furiously on tribal drums and black dancers in leopard skins leaped high into the air today in a colorful welcome by tribesmen to the touring British royal family.

The spectacle took place in outlying New Brighton, whose neat, modernized homes with lawns and flowerbeds presented an unusual background to the dances dating back to tribal savagery.

Still another contrast was provided by the Bantu psalm singers, many of whom were elderly men wearing grizzled goatees. They waved palm branches slowly as the royal procession passed the Bantu Church of Christ where the singers had assembled.

The medicine men and women had stained their faces, chests, arms and legs in traditional tribal fashion. Their bodies were adorned with skins, feathers and beads. They wore huge headdresses.

King George, clad in mufti, the Queen and the two Princesses rode through New Brighton in a motor cavalcade.

Reports Burma Crime Up

Chamber of Commerce Head Sees Colony's Future Imperiled

RANGOON, Burma, Feb. 27 (AP).—Sir Arthur Bruce, chairman of the Burma Chamber of Commerce, said today that lawlessness in the country was "going from bad to worse," and that Burma's future would be endangered unless strong measures were taken to bring the situation under control.

Addressing the chamber's annual general meeting, he said also that the public was "completely and dangerously ignorant" of the country's financial situation. He urged publication of the 1946-'47 budget to inform the people.

His audience included the Governor, Sir Hubert Rance and U Aung Sang, deputy chairman of the Executive Council.

Reds Reported Gaining On Tsinan

(AP)

Nanking, Feb. 27 (AP)—Communist offensives were reported today to have reached within 10 miles of Tsinan, capital of Shantung province, and 15 miles of Changchun, Manchurian capital.

The Chinese Government's Central News Agency and other pro-Government field dispatches said communications between Tsinan and the port of Tsingtao had been cut and that Communist vanguards took a village 18 miles southeast of Tsinan and were at another point 10 miles northwest.

The Communist radio at Yenan asserted Communist forces had captured a 30-mile stretch of the Tsinan-Tsingtao railway, destroyed seven Government divisions and captured a number of generals, including Gen. Li Hsien-chow.

250,000 Advancing

More than 600 miles to the north, in snowy Manchuria, unconfirmed pro-Government accounts said nearly 250,000 Communists, led by limited numbers of tanks and armored trucks, were advancing rapidly against Changchun and other metropolitan centers.

The main Communist force was reported moving south along the railway from Harbin, with advanced units reaching the village of Wanpaoshan, 15 miles due north of Changchun.

The newspaper Hsin Min Pao said the Communists severed communications between Changchun and Kirin, 60 miles east, and between Mukden and Antung, on the Korean border 125 miles southeast of Mukden.

Officials Leave Changchun

The same paper said Government officials had left Changchun and Government defense forces had pulled into the city from the suburbs, but the garrison was believed to be strong enough to repulse any threat to the capital itself. This garrison includes the powerful 1st Army.

Dispatches from Peiping said Pai Chung-hsi, War Minister, had arrived there and called military conferences to discuss the Manchurian and Shantung situations.

Government sources claimed victories to the west, in Shansi province with recapture of Wenchui and Kaichehchen, 36 and 30 miles southeast of the provincial capital, Taiyuan.

Darien Problem

Returning from a quick inspection trip in Manchuria, Wang Shih-chieh, Foreign Minister, declared he believed that whole area was "firmer basically than any other part of the nation and needs only peace and unity for proper development into a bulwark of the Chinese republic."

Wang said the problem of Dairen, occupied by Soviet forces despite a treaty commitment that it should be Chinese-administered, "does not appear too great."

Changchun Awaiting Tank-Led Red Attack (D)

Nanking, Feb. 27 (AP)—Nearly 125,000 tank-led Chinese Communists have opened a drive in Manchuria that has swept to within 15 miles of Changchun, the capital, Government dispatches said today.

Unconfirmed press dispatches said Government troops had withdrawn from Changchun's suburbs to the center of the city in anticipation of an attack. These reports said Government officials have been evacuated.

Whether this was the long-awaited push to break the winter lull in that vast region was not known in Nanking, where it was impossible to confirm the Central News Agency report.

Two Towns Overrun

In a dispatch from Changchun, the Government agency said the Communists quickly overran Nungan and Kiutai, 32 miles north and 30 miles northeast, respectively, of the capital.

Advance units then lanced on southward to Wanpoashan, village only 15 miles north of Changchun, the agency added.

This would place the vanguard 50 miles or more south of the Sungari River, which has been the dividing line between the contending armies since winter began in Manchuria.

Wide Stretches Lightly Held

Previous reports from the zone have indicated, however, that wide stretches on both sides of the Sungari are but lightly held.

The attackers were under Gen. Lin Piao, commander of all Communist forces in Manchuria.

The Central News Agency said they were using a limited amount of armor, including tanks and armored trucks.

Students Strike in Protest At North China Arrests

PEIPING, Feb. 27 (AP).—More than 1,000 students of National Tsinghua University called an undergraduate strike today to protest the arrest of a schoolmate, and demanded future guaranties of protection for students. Students of National Peking University and of Sino-French University decided to join the strike, as resentment mounted against widespread arrests and detentions in the last week.

The Chinese press said Peiping officials had received a sharp note from the Executive Yuan (Council) at Nanking ordering that people's rights be respected.

Two-thirds of the student body of Tsinghua—1,236 undergraduates—served notice they would stay away from examinations, and asked students throughout the nation to join a mass demonstration of displeasure over abrogation of civil rights in North China.

JAP COMMUNIST GAINS CLAIMED (N)

50,000 Members Will Campaign Militantly, Nosaka Says

TOM LAMBERT

Tokyo, Feb. 27 (AP)—Sanzo Nosaka, Japan's top Communist, declared today that the party had 50,000 to 60,000 members who would campaign militantly throughout Japan in the April elections, with a 10,000,000-yen party fund to back them.

[At the official rate this is more than $666,000, but it is nearer $100,000 in actual purchasing power.]

Nosaka said the Communists would nominate at least 200 candidates for the Diet and hoped to win 25 to 50 seats, compared with the six they now hold. He declared the party also will seek all sorts of elective seats, from village councils to the Parliamentary Upper House, which will be elected for the first time to replace the House of Peers.

Claims Farmers Union

Nosaka asserted the Communist party had grown to its present strength from 10,000 a year ago and had won control of the Farmers Union by preaching higher rice prices and quicker land reform. At the same time, he said, the Communists were lining up with labor in industrial areas, where he asserted the recent ban on a general strike of Government workers had increased party membership.

A member of the Diet and a candidate for re-election, he said he was contributing his salary to the party treasury and that other funds were coming from private sources.

While domestic political lines were thus being drawn, T. E. Beplat, head of the occupation headquarters banking division, stated the Japanese Government was deliberately weakening confidence in its currency in the hope of obtaining American loans.

'March Crisis' Forecast

Beplat said the Conservative Government's Finance Ministry and Economic Reconstruction Board had issued repeated statements predicting a "March crisis" in industry and bewailing the rising cost of living.

Premier Shigeru Yoshida recently told the Diet Japan was economically doomed unless she got foreign aid.

As a result, he said, bank deposits have declined to such a point that the Government has to print new currency to meet fresh obligations rather than being able to draw upon member banks.

The aim, he said, is to create such economic confusion that America will have to come to the rescue.

Reparations Program

The Japanese reparations program, meanwhile, was pushed with presentation by the headquarters reparations section of a list of 65 machine tool and twelve thermal power plants which might be the basis for first removals from this country.

Giving this list to delegates of nations which may claim reparations, Brig. Gen. W. K. Harrison, Jr., said inspections could be made but no claims submitted until the program was settled.

Headquarters sources, however, intimated that this might be the first step by which the United States could get the reparations program going without waiting on the Far Eastern Commission.

Soviet View Rejected

It was understood that one reason for the commission's delay was American refusal to accept the Soviet view that equipment removed from Manchuria by the Russians was war booty and not reparations.

Russia, China, the Philippines, Australia, Canada and the Netherlands have reparations delegations in Tokyo. Britain, New Zealand, India, France and the United States also were represented at the meeting at which General Harrison distributed the list of plants which can be inspected.

Leader Says Party's 50,000 Members Will Conduct Nation-Wide Campaign

TOKYO, Feb. 27 (AP).—Between 50,000 and 60,000 organized Communists with a 10,000,000 yen ($666,000) bankroll will spread the Red doctrine throughout Japan prior to the forthcoming elections, a party leader declared today.

Sanzo Nozaka, Japan's No. 1 Communist, said his party will nominate at least 200 candidates, for whom party members and fellow travelers will be ordered to campaign.

Duplicate

Last year the Communists had 140 candidates for the Diet and won six seats. This year, Nozaka said, the Communists hope to obtain between twenty-five and fifty seats, and to install party members in elective posts great and small.

Nozaka, a slim little man with sharp eyes and a smooth voice, said in an interview the Communists will depend on their cells throughout Japan, on propaganda and on disciples dispatched from Tokyo to spread the election doctrine of "democracy."

The Communists, he said, will attempt to line up with labor in industrial areas, preaching higher rice prices and land reform to farmers.

Nozaka said the Communists have won control of the Farmers' Union, and by playing on farmers' discontent have boosted membership tenfold to a present strength of more than 1,000,000.

Communist party membership, Nozaka said, has increased remarkably. One year ago there were 10,000 party members. There now are 50,000 to 60,000, he said.

Propaganda To Get Loans Laid To Japan

Tokyo, Feb. 27 (AP)—The Japanese Government is deliberately weakening public confidence in its currency as one means of obtaining American reconstruction loans, T. E. Beplat, head of Allied headquarters' banking division, declared today.

Government officials, he said, are preaching "a concerted campaign" of pessimism in an attempt to discredit the financial policies of the occupation.

Confusion Called Its Goal

Beplat told the Associated Press that the goal of the campaign is to create sufficient economic confusion to necessitate foreign loans, principally American, as the sole method of averting financial collapse.

The Japanese began a propaganda drive several weeks ago to win foreign credits for economic reconstruction. The campaign was highlighted by Premier Shigeru Yoshida's blunt assertion before the Diet that the country was doomed economically without foreign support.

Hell Ship Slaughter Charged to 8 Japs

By the Associated Press.

TOKYO, Feb. 27.—Allied headquarters' legal section formally accused eight Japanese today of responsibility for a hell ship voyage from Manila to Japan during which more than 1300 of the 1619 prisoners aboard perished.

The defendants, including former Lt. Junsaburo Toshini, commander of the prisoner of war escort guard, and Shunosuka Wada, interpreter who commanded in his absence, will go trial in Yokohama March 6.

This is what happened after a prison ship loaded 30 Allied nationals and 1589 American prisoners—1100 of them officers—set out from Manila. Allied planes attacked. A direct bomb hit killed 100 men, and the ship was abandoned, Japanese guards spraying the holds with machine gun fire and pouring bullets at men who had reached rafts.

Reassembled and loaded aboard the ships Brazil Maru and Enoura Maru, survivors underwent further hardships enroute to Japan. Allied bombing killed 300 more. Forty or 50 men went out of their minds. At a Formosa port, all passengers were shifted to the Brazil Maru.

"There were 450 walking skeletons left when the Brazil Maru arrived in Moji, Japan, Jan. 29," the legal section said.

Jap Diamond Case Referred To Prober

Yokohama, Feb. 27 (AP)—Charges against Col. Edward J. Murray, returned to Japan after authorities said they found $210,000 worth of diamonds in his possession, have been referred to an investigating officer for inquiry, the United States 8th Army announced today.

Established court-martial procedure requires that such cases be investigated and that a report containing the substance of testimony taken on both sides be submitted to Lieut. Gen. Robert L. Eichelberger, 8th Army commander.

Colonel Murray, formerly in charge of the Bank of Japan, is charged with misappropriation of property, conduct unbecoming an officer and conduct prejudicial to the service. He was arrested in San Francisco.

Korea Clash Reports Discounted

Seoul, Feb. 27 (AP)—Korean quarters asserted today that United States and Russian troops exchanged shots Tuesday along the line between their occupation zones, but American intelligence authorities dismissed it as a minor incident which had been "highly exaggerated."

Intelligence officers said a United States border patrol rushed to Paekchon, about 2 miles inside the American zone, after receiving a report that seven Russians were firing rifles into the town. The patrol saw two Russians hurriedly leaving Paekchon as it approached.

The Korean version said 28 Russians and 11 Americans fired at each other for fourteen hours, ending at midnight, and that four Soviet fighter planes appeared briefly over the area. No casualties were reported.

These sources said the following day Korean police from the Soviet zone and Korean police from the American zone fired at each other for twenty minutes in the same general area. They asserted the shooting began when the north Koreans tried to kidnap a Korean from the southern zone.

Dutch Marines in Java Reported Acting in the Behrman Case

BATAVIA, Java, Friday, Feb. 28 (AP)—An Indonesian Republican Government spokesman said that thirty armed Dutch marines today boarded the United States freighter Martin Behrman, which has been loading at Cheribon rubber, sugar and quinine bought from the nationalists.

The spokesman said the report was telephoned to the Republican Government from Cheribon by Dr. Soemitro, director of the Indonesian Banking and Trading Corporation.

He quoted Dr. Soemitro as saying that the marines ordered Capt. Rudy Grey of Southport, N. C., to sail the ship to Tanjong Priok (Batavia Harbor), but that Captain Grey refused and instructed his crew to ignore Dutch commands to start the engines.

Dutch Warn That They Will Seize Shipping

BATAVIA, Java, Feb. 27 (AP).—American and British shippers appeared to be racing today for the trade of the unrecognized Indonesian Republic, in defiance of Dutch warnings that the Netherlands Navy might seize any cargo not authorized by Netherlands East Indies regulations.

The prize is rich: 80,000 tons of sugar and important stockpiles of rubber, quinine, palm oil, coffee and other raw materials bottled up for eighteen months in areas of Java and Sumatra under de facto Republican control. The Republicans are known to have promised trading privileges to shipping willing to gamble now.

The Americans have a head start. The Liberty ship Martin Behrman has virtually completed loading a 5,000-ton cargo of rubber, sugar and quinine at Nationalist-held Cheribon.

The Dutch Navy has seized ten small vessels from the British since January, but the British are expected to start using large vessels within two weeks.

The American Consulate here said it had no advance information on the Martin Behrman case. A Washington announcement said the Martin Behrman sails at her own risk, and that the United States recognized only Dutch jurisdiction in the Netherlands East Indies. The ship expected to sail within a week.

P. A. Ursone, Netherlands official of the Department of Economic Affairs, said no exception would be made in her case. A Dutch Navy source said a Dutch destroyer would halt the vessel with a shot over the bow and "take whatever action is necessary" should the Martin Behrman ignore the warning.

16 Die in Sumatra Clash

BATAVIA, Java., Feb. 27 (AP).—A Netherlands Army spokesman announced today that one Dutchman and fifteen Indonesian Nationalists had been killed in a clash of troops at Medan, in northern Sumatra. He said a Dutch patrol had come upon the Indonesian troops operating inside Netherlands territory in violation of a cease-fire and stand-fast agreement.

Iceland Attacks Proposal It Become U.S. State

Reykjavik, Iceland, Feb. 27 (AP)—Foreign Minister Benediktsson told the Althing (Parliament) today the Minister to Washington has been instructed to tell the United States State Department that this Government considered improper a proposal made in Congress that Iceland be offered an opportunity to become the forty-ninth American State.

The press said the proposal, made by Representative Bertrand W. Gearhardt (R., Cal.), was ridiculous.

Plea For Pacific Pact Renewed By Evatt

Sydney, Feb. 27 (AP)—Herbert V. Evatt, Australian Minister of External Affairs, has renewed his demand that a Pacific peace conference be called soon to draw up a treaty with Japan.

In a parliamentary review of foreign affairs in Canberra yesterday, he noted a tendency to settle Japanese questions "piecemeal or on a temporary basis."

Urges Early Conference

Evatt said that Australia and all other nations that waged active war on Japan should meet around the peace table soon. Delay in the settlement with Germany, he declared, should not hold up a Pacific settlement.

Evatt, spokesman for Australia last year in the United Nations and at the Paris Peace Conference, said signing a treaty with Japan need not involve immediate withdrawal of Allied occupation forces. He said the conference could determine the length and extent of the occupation.

Sees Larger Sydney Role

The Minister, who is also attorney general, declared that, with Britain's relinquishment of responsibilities in Southeast Asia, Australia and New Zealand must assume greater responsibilities in the Pacific.

In reply to a question put by J. G. Beale of the opposition, he said that Australia's representative in Japan, without being entirely skeptical, was not so enthusiastic about the progress made there as were other members of the control council.

Falkland Notes Revealed

Britain Denies Argentine Claim to Islands of Antarctica

BUENOS AIRES, Feb. 27 (AP).—The Argentine Foreign Office made public tonight an exchange of notes in which Great Britain refused to recognize Argentina's claim to the Falkland Islands or an extension of those claims into Antarctic territory.

The British note, dated Jan. 3, said Britain maintained her right to the Falklands, which are called the Malvina Islands in Argentina, and denied the Argentine theory that Antarctica is an extension of the South American continent on which Argentina based her claims in the polar area.

The Argentine answer restated the claims.

NAVY SETS TIMETABLE IN PACIFIC MANEUVERS

WITH TASK FORCE 38 in the Central Pacific, Feb. 27 (AP)—Fourteen combat ships of this task force headed east from Kwajalein today for an engagement with the First Task Fleet as the Navy disclosed the timetable for its first big-scale Pacific maneuvers since the war.

The maneuvers will be divided into three phases: a battle between Task Force 38 and the First Task Fleet, which is taking the role of a West Coast defense force; an attack on Johnston Island, 750 miles southwest of Pearl Harbor, and an attack on Pearl Harbor.

The West Coast forces, strong in the air and packing a powerful surface punch, will intercept this task force southwest of Hawaii on March 3.

Task Force 38, with the carriers Princeton and Tarawa, four cruisers and eight destroyers, will play the part of a mobile enemy striking force intent upon destroying the West Coast ships.

During this phase Rear Admiral Frederick W. McMahon will command Task Force 38 and Rear Admiral O. B. Hardison the West Coast force.

Both forces will meet a seatrain on March 4 and take on token amounts of fuel and supplies while submarines, planes and ships maneuver in a protective screen.

On March 5 the combined forces under Admiral Hardison, will head for Johnston Island, which is due to be "attacked" March 6.

Admiral McMahon will assume command of the combined forces on March 7. Supplies, theoretically exhausted, will be replenished at sea again on March 8, and then the ships will steam for the Hawaiian Islands for a sham air attack about March 10.

Paper Delivery Delays Seen Until April

Ottawa, Feb. 27 (AP)—Delivery of newsprint to the United States which depends on Canada for more than four fifths of its supply, will be critically slow at least until April, Transport Controller B. S. Liberty said today.

In April however, the situation should be substantially better, Liberty declared.

Shipments of news print now are far below normal, forcing American publishers to curtail consumption drastically in many cases. The crisis is the result of a severe shortage of railway boxcars.

Blizzards Tie Up Cars

The car shortage was accentuated sharply February 14 by a Canadian Government order commandeering 1,176 boxcars daily for shipment of wheat en route to Great Britain. The wheat had piled up for several weeks previously because of blizzards in the West.

The boxcar scarcity has improved considerably in the last ten days with better weather, Liberty said today, and some of the backlog of shipping has been cut down.

"With continued good weather and with quicker turn-arounds the situation should improve gradually," he said, "but we are still far short of the cars we require and we will remain short for at least a year.

Several Mills Closed

"With the opening of Great Lakes navigation in April, however, there should be a substantial improvement in the shipment of newsprint as well as other commodities. But the car shortage itself is going to stay right with us."

Several newsprint mills were forced to close last week as a result of the priority for wheat shipments. Liberty then ordered that the railways assign cars to any mills shut down or threatened with being shut down.

This order, while keeping mills open, did not assure delivery to consumers. Mills with storage space and able to remain in production without shipping still have to take their chances on getting cars.

500 Cars Needed Daily

The newsprint industry in Canada uses about 500 boxcars daily, each car carrying 30 tons of newsprint. No other type of car is suitable for shipping newsprint, Liberty said.

"In the past some mills have tried using open cars by covering the newsprint with tarpaulins," he said, "but this was not satisfactory because rain or snow would get to the bottom of the cars and damage the bottoms of the rolls. I don't think any mills are trying this method in the present crisis."

All newsprint mills are now getting enough cars to keep in production, Liberty said, adding that as far as he knew all Canadian mills were operating.

Is Leading Export

Curtailment of newsprint deliveries is important to the Canadian economy as well as to the American publishing industry. Newsprint in 1946 supplanted wheat as the country's leading export, valued in that year at $266,000,000 as against $250,000,000 for wheat.

Eighty per cent of Canada's 1946 newsprint production went to the United States.

Albanian Inquiry Plans

L. HAUCK

Lake Success, N.Y., Feb. 27 (AP)—The United Nations Security Council today set up a three-nation subcommittee to investigate British mine-laying charges against Albania after wrangling two hours on whether Russia had a right to veto such a step.

The vote was 8 to 0, with Russia, Poland and Syria abstaining.

Immediately after the ballot, the Security Council debated composition of the subcommittee for another hour and finally selected Australia, Colombia and Poland. The core of this discussion centered on Russia's insistence that Poland be given a seat.

Insists He Has Power

Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet delegate, was unable to muster any support for his contention that the step of setting up a subcommittee was substantive and thus subject to veto. He finally said he would abstain, but insisted that he held the power to block the move.

The subcommittee resolution, submitted by Australia, provides that the group report back to the Security Council not later than March 10. The three-man body is empowered to gather further information here from the parties to the dispute and "make a report on the facts of the case as disclosed by such evidence."

Two members of the subcommittee — Colombia and Poland — already have indicated their belief that the case should be referred to the International Court of Justice.

London Asks Compensation

The British accused Albania of responsibility for laying mines in the Corfu Channel where two British destroyers were damaged last October 22. Forty-four sailors were killed in the incident and London seeks an apology and compensation for loss of life and property.

"The illegal laying of a minefield is murder," Sir Alexander Cadogan, British delegate, said in closing his case.

Hysni Kapo, Albanian representative, insisted that his country was not responsible for laying the mines and in turn accused Royal Navy ships of violating Albanian territorial waters.

The debate over selection of the subcommittee membership brought sharp words between Herschel V. Johnson, United States delegate, and Gromyko.

Opposes Choice Of Poland

Johnson opposed selection of Poland because he said that Jerzy Michalowski, that country's delegate, already had told the Security Council that a subcommittee could find no more information here and thus could serve no useful purpose. Johnson suggested that the Security Council could spare the Polish delegate the trial of working on the subcommittee.

Gromyko, renewing his demand that Poland be given a seat, termed Johnson's remarks "unconvincing," "unfounded" and "in the nature of a joke." The Soviet delegate added that it was a serious matter and "we should not make jokes to provoke laughter."

The three members finally were approved without opposition but with Australia, Poland, Colombia and Great Britain abstaining or not voting. The subcommittee will begin sessions on Monday.

The Security Council has been debating the Albanian case on and off since early this month after waiting nearly four weeks for the representative from Albania, a non-United Nations member, to arrive.

The Council will meet again tomorrow to resume discussions of the report of the Atomic Energy Commission.

PLANS TO REBUILD EUROPE THREATEN

NEW FIGHT IN U.N.

M. HARRELSON

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Feb. 27—(AP) A new battle between Russia and the western powers over measurs to rebuild Europe's war-wrecked economy appeared to be shaping tonight as delegates to the United Nations Economic and Social council prepared for the opening of their fourth session tomorrow.

This issue was high on the crowded agenda, which was expected to keep the 18-nation council in session for at least three weeks.

The major issue was the proposed creation of a special economic commission to coordinate the economic development of Europe and a similar commission for Asia and the Far East. This proposal, backed by the United States and Great Britain, was bitterly opposed by Russia when it came before the council last fall.

Russians Acceded

The Soviet attitude was modified somewhat during the General Assembly debate on the question and Russia finally voted for a resolution which called on the Economic and Social council to "give prompt and favorable consideration" to the creation of these commissions.

The main fight during the coming session is expected to be over the duties and functions of the commissions, rather than over the question of their creation. Russia has contended that more emphasis should be placed on immediate measures instead of long-term planning, as advocated by the western powers.

Face 6 Problems

Although the creation of the economic commissions generally was regarded as the No. 1 problem the delegates also were faced with these important questions:

1. Action to clear the way for an international conference on trade and employment with the aim of setting up an international trade organization.
2. Action on a United States proposal for a world conference on the conservation of natural resources.
3. Approval of plans to set up a world shipping organization.
4. Approval of an international bill of rights.
5. Action to arrange for a world conference on freedom of information.
6. Action on a proposal for a world housing conference.

Wants U.N. Picture for Capitol

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP)—Representative Sol Bloom, Democrat, of New York, offered today a resolution to create a Congressional commission which would employ an artist to paint a picture of the signing of the United Nations Charter. The picture, 20 feet by 30, could not cost more than $10,000. It would be hung in the Capitol.

Army-Navy Merger Bill Waits Senate's Picking Proper Committee

Decision May Be Made Today on Whether Armed Services Group or the One on Expenditures Takes Charge

MAR 3 1947 NY TIMES

By SIDNEY SHALETT

Special to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27—The Army-Navy unification bill, sent to Congress yesterday by President Truman, was marking time today pending possible decision by the Senate tomorrow as to whether its Armed Services Committee or its Committee on Executive Expenditures shall have jurisdiction over the measure.

The bill, as sent to Congress by the President, represents the compromise views of the Army, Navy and Air Forces for setting up three separate departments under a new over-all National Defense Establishment, headed by a civilian Secretary of National Defense. The War and Navy Departments are officially backing the bill, and President Truman has urged that it be enacted.

In the Senate, owing to an ambiguity in the wording of the Congressional Reorganization Bill enacted by the last Congress, both the Committee on Executive Expenditures, headed by George D. Aiken of Vermont, and the Armed Services Committee, headed by Chan Gurney of South Dakota, are claiming jurisdiction to conduct hearings on the bill before reporting it to the Senate.

Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg, presiding officer of the Senate, has ruled in favor of the Gurney committee, but has put the issue before the entire Senate for decision. The Senate has agreed that the committee dispute has first order of preference for decision immediately after present debate on the Federal budget is ended.

A vote on the budget may come today, in which case the unification matter will be called up. If the budget decision is delayed further, the committee dispute may go over until Monday or later.

Senator Gurney indicated today that, if jurisdiction is awarded his committee, hearings will be arranged quickly, and the bill will be reported out at the earliest possible date. Senator Aiken has indicated his belief that, because of the controversial nature of the unification issue, the hearings might require considerable time.

The expenditures chairman has indicated, however, that he may not wage a determined floor fight to capture jurisdiction over the bill. He is concerned, however, over possible establishment of a precedent that may infringe on the rights of his committee.

Capitol Hill observers believe the unification issue may reach a speedier decision if guided by the Armed Services Committee, since members of the Naval Affairs and the Military Affairs Committees, which were predecessors last year to the now unified committee, are thoroughly familiar with the background.

In the House, there is no contest over the right of the Committee on Executive Expenditures, headed by Clare Hoffman of Michigan, to conduct hearings on unification.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27—Following is the text of the proposed bill providing for a National Defense Establishment as transmitted to Congress yesterday by President Truman: NY TIMES

To promote the national security by providing for a National Defense Establishment, which shall be administered by a Secretary of National Defense, and for a Department of the Army, a Department of the Navy, and a Department of the Air Force within the National Defense Establishment, and for the coordination of the activities of the National Defense Establishment with other departments and agencies of the Government concerned with the national security.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SHORT TITLE

That this Act may be cited as the "National Security Act of 1947."

TITLE I—THE NATIONAL DEFENSE ESTABLISHMENT

Establishment of the National Defense Establishment

Sec. 101. (a) There is hereby established the National Defense Establishment, and a Secretary of National Defense, who shall be the head thereof.

(b) The National Defense Establishment shall consist of the Department of the Army, the Department of the Navy, and the Department of the Air Force, together with all other agencies created within the National Defense Establishment.

Secretary of National Defense

Sec. 102. (a) The Secretary of National Defense shall be appointed from civilian life by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate. Under the direction of the President, he shall establish policies and programs for the National Defense Establishment, and for the departments and agencies therein; he shall exercise direction, authority, and control over such departments and agencies; he shall supervise and coordinate the preparation of budget estimates by the departments and agencies of the National Defense Establishment, which shall be submitted to him at such time and in such manner as he may direct; he shall formulate and finally determine the budget estimates of the National Defense Establishment for submittal to the Bureau of the Budget; and he shall supervise and control the budget program of the National Defense Establishment under the applicable appropriation Acts: Provided, That the Department of the Army, the Department of the Navy, and the Department of the Air Force, under the direction of the Secretary of National Defense, shall be administered as individual units by their respective Secretaries: And provided further, That nothing herein contained shall prevent the Secretary of any such department from presenting to the President, after first so informing the Secretary of National Defense, any report or recommendation relating to his department which he may deem necessary.

(b) The Secretary of National Defense shall submit annual written reports to the President and the Congress covering expenditures, work, and accomplishments of the National Defense Establishment, together with such recommendations as he shall deem appropriate.

(c) The Secretary of National Defense shall cause a seal of office to be made for the National Defense Establishment, of such design as the President shall approve, and judicial notice shall be taken thereof.

Military Assistants to the Secretary

Sec. 103. Officers of the Army, Navy, and Air Force may be detailed to duty as assistants and personal aides to the Secretary of National Defense, but he shall not establish a military staff.

Civilian Personnel

30. 24- 8167

Sec. 104. (a) The Secretary of National Defense is authorized to appoint from civilian life not to exceed four special assistants to advise and assist him in the performance of his duties. Each such special assistant shall receive compensation at the rate of $12,000 a year.

(b) The Secretary of National Defense is authorized, subject to the Civil Service Laws and the Classification Act of 1923, as amended, to appoint and fix the compensation of such other civilian personnel as may be necessary for the performance of the National Defense Establishment. functions of the National Defense Establishment.

FEB 1947

Department of the Army

Sec. 105. (a) The Department of War shall hereafter be known as the Department of the Army, and the title of the Secretary of War shall be changed to Secretary of the Army. Changes shall be made in the titles of other officers and activities of the Department of the Army as the Secretary of the Army may determine.

(b) All laws, orders, regulations, and other actions relating to the Department of War or to any officer or activity whose title is changed under this section shall, insofar as they are not inconsistent with the provisions of this Act, be deemed to relate to the Department of the Army within the National Defense Establishment or to such officer or activity designated by his or its new title.

(c) The term "Department of the Army" as used in this Act shall be construed to mean the Department of the Army at the seat of Government and all field headquarters, forces, reserve components, installations, activities, and functions under the control or supervision of the Department of the Army.

(d) The Secretary of the Army shall cause a seal of office to be made for the Department of the Army, of such design as the President may approve, and judicial notice shall be taken thereof.

Department of the Navy

Sec. 106—(a) The term "Department of the Navy" as used in this Act shall be construed to mean the Department of the Navy at the seat of Government; the Headquarters, United States Marine Corps; the entire operating forces of the United States Navy (including naval aviation) and of the United States Marine Corps, including the reserve components of such forces; all field activities of the Department of the Navy; and the United States Coast Guard when operating as a part of the Navy pursuant to law.

Department of the Air Force

Sec. 107—(a) Within the National Defense Establishment there is hereby established an executive department to be known as the Department of the Air Force, and a Secretary of the Air Force, who shall be the head thereof. The Secretary of the Air Force shall be appointed from civilian life by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate.

(b) Section 158 of the Revised Statutes is amended to include the Department of the Air Force and the provisions of so much of Title IV of the Revised Statutes as now or hereafter amended as is not inconsistent with this Act, shall be applicable to the Department of the Air Force.

(c) The term "Department of the Air Force" as used in this Act shall be construed to mean the Department of the Air Force at the seat of Government and all field headquarters, forces, reserve components, installations, activities and functions under the control or supervision of the Department of the Air Force.

(d) There shall be in the Department of the Air Force an Under-Secretary of the Air Force and two Assistant Secretaries of the Air Force, who shall be appointed from civilian life by the President by and with the advice and consent of the Senate.

(e) The several officers of the Department of the Air Force shall perform such functions as the Secretary of the Air Force may prescribe.

(f) So much of the functions of the Secretary of the Army and of the Department of the Army, including those of any officer of such department, as are assigned to or under the control of the Commanding General, Army Air Forces, or as are deemed by the Secretary of National Defense to be necessary or desirable for the operations of the Department of the Air Force or the United States Air Force, shall be transferred to and vested in the Secretary of the Air Force and the Department of the Air Force; Provided, That, in order to permit an orderly transfer, the Secretary of National Defense may direct that the Department of the Army shall continue for appropriate periods to exercise any of such functions, in so far as they relate to the Department of the Air Force, or the United States Air Force or their property and personnel. Such of the property, personnel, and records of the Department of the Army used in the exercise of functions transferred under this subsection as the Secretary of National Defense shall determine shall be transferred or assigned to the Department of the Air Force.

(g) The Secretary of the Air Force shall cause a seal of office to be made for the Department of the Air Force, of such device as the President shall approve, and judicial notice shall be taken thereof.

United States Air Force

Sec. 108—(a) The United States Air Force is hereby established under the Department of the Air Force. The Army Air Forces, the Air Corps, United States Army, and the General Headquarters Air Force (Air Force Combat Command) shall be transferred to the United States Air Force.

(b) There shall be a Chief of Staff, United States Air Force, who shall be appointed by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, for a term of four years from among the officers of general rank who are assigned to or commissioned in the United States Air Force. Under the direction of the Secretary of the Air Force, the Chief of Staff, United States Air Force, shall exercise command over the United States Air Force and shall be charged with the duty of carrying into execution all lawful orders and directions which may be transmitted to him.

The functions of the Commanding General, General Headquarters Air Force (Air Force Combat Command), and of the Chief of the Air Corps and of the Commanding General, Army Air Forces, shall be transferred to the Chief of Staff, United States Air Force. When such transfer becomes effective, the offices of the Chief of the Air Corps, United States Army, and Assistants to the Chief of the Air Corps, United States Army, provided for by the Act of June 4, 1920, as amended (41 Stat. 768), and Commanding General, General Headquarters Air Force, provided for by Section 5 of the Act of June 16, 1936 (49 Stat. 1525), shall cease to exist. While holding office as Chief of Staff, United States Air Force, the incumbent shall hold a grade and receive allowances equivalent to those prescribed by law for the Chief of Staff, United States Army.

The Chief of Staff, United States Army, the Chief of Naval Operations, and the Chief of Staff, United States Air Force, shall take rank between themselves according to their relative dates of appointment as such, and shall each take rank above all other officers on the active list of the Army, Navy, and Air Force: Provided, That nothing in this Act shall have the effect of changing the relative rank of the present Chief of Staff, United States Army, and the Chief of Naval Operations.

Transfer of Personnel

(c) All commissioned officers, warrant officers, and enlisted men, commissioned, holding warrants, or enlisted, in the Air Corps, United States Army, or the Army Air Forces, shall be transferred in branch to the United States Air Force. All other commissioned officers, warrant officers, and enlisted men, who are commissioned, hold warrants, or are enlisted, in any component of the Army of the United States and who are under the authority or command of the Commanding General, Army Air Forces, shall be continued under the authority or command of the Chief of Staff, United States Air Force and under the jurisdiction of the Department of the Air Force.

Personnel whose status is affected by this subsection shall retain their existing commissions, warrants, or enlisted status in existing components of the armed forces unless otherwise altered or terminated in accordance with the existing law; and they shall not be deemed to have been appointed to a new or different office or grade, or to have vacated their permanent or temporary appointments in an existing component of the armed forces, solely by virtue of any change in status under this subsection. No such change in status shall alter or prejudice the status of any individual so assigned, so as to deprive him of any right, benefit, or privilege to which he may be entitled under existing law.

(d) Except as otherwise directed by the Secretary of the Air Force, all property, records, installations, agencies, activities, projects, and civilian personnel under the jurisdiction, control, authority, or command of the Commanding General, Army Air Forces, shall be continued to the same extent under the jurisdiction, control, authority, or command, respectively, of the Chief of Staff, United States Air Force, in the Department of the Air Force.

(e) For a period of two years from the date of enactment of this Act, personnel (both military and civilian), property, records, installations, agencies, activities, and projects may be transferred between the Department of the Army and the Department of the Air Force by direction of the Secretary of National Defense.

Effective Date of Transfers

Sec. 109.—Each transfer, assignment, or change in status under Section 107 or Section 108 shall take effect upon such date or dates as may be prescribed by the Secretary of National Defense.

War Council

Sec. 110—There shall be within the National Defense Establishment a War Council composed of the Secretary of National Defense, as Chairman, who shall have power of decision; the Secretary of the Army; the Secretary of the Navy; the Secretary of the Air Force; the Chief of Staff, United States Army; the Chief of Naval Operations; and the Chief of Staff, United States Air Force. The War Council shall advise the Secretary of National Defense on matters of broad policy relating to the armed forces, and shall consider and report on such other matters as the Secretary of National Defense may direct.

Joint Chiefs of Staff

Sec. 111 (a)—There is hereby established within the National Defense Establishment, the Joint Chiefs of Staff, which shall consist of the Chief of Staff, United States Army; the Chief of Naval Operations; the Chief of Staff, United States Air Force; and the Chief of Staff to the Commander in Chief, if there be one.

(b) Subject to the authority and direction of the President and the Secretary of National Defense, it shall be the duty of the Joint Chiefs of Staff—

(1) to prepare strategic plans and to provide for the strategic direction of the military forces;

(2) to prepare joint logistic plans and to assign to the military services logistic responsibilities in accordance with such plans;

(3) to establish unified commands in strategic areas when such unified commands are in the interest of national security;

(4) to formulate policies for joint training of the military forces;

(5) to review major material and personnel requirements of the military forces, in accordance with strategic and logistic plans;

(6) to provide United States representation on the Military Staff Committee of the United Nations in accordance with the provisions of the Charter of the United Nations.

(c) The Joint Chiefs of Staff shall act as the principal military advisers to the President and the Secretary of National Defense, and shall perform such other duties as they may direct or may be prescribed by law.

Joint Staff

Sec. 112.—There shall be, under the Joint Chiefs of Staff, a Joint Staff to consist of not to exceed 100 officers and to be composed of approximately equal numbers of officers of the United States Army, the United States Navy and the United States Air Force. The Joint Staff, operating under a Director thereof appointed by the Joint Chiefs of Staff, shall perform such duties as may be directed by the Joint Chiefs of Staff. The Director shall be an officer junior in grade to all members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Munitions Board

Sec. 113 (a)—There is hereby established in the National Defense Establishment a Munitions Board, hereinafter in this section referred to as the "Board."

(b) The Board shall be composed of a Chairman, who shall be the head thereof, and an Under-Secretary or Assistant Secretary from each of the three military departments, to be designated in each case by the Secretaries of their respective departments. The Chairman shall be appointed from civilian life by the Secretary of National Defense and shall receive compensation at the rate of $14,000 a year or at the rate of $50 a day but not to exceed $14,000 in any one year.

(c) It shall be the duty of the Board under the direction of the Secretary of National Defense and in support of strategic and logistic plans prepared by the Joint Chiefs of Staff—

(1) to coordinate the appropriate activities within the National Defense Establishment with regard to industrial matters, including the procurement, production and distribution plans of the Establishment;

(2) to plan for the military aspects of industrial mobilization;

(3) to recommend assignment of procurement responsibilities among the several military services and to plan for standardization of specifications and for the greatest practicable allocation of purchase authority of technical equipment and common use items on the basis of single procurement;

(4) to prepare estimates of potential production, procurement and personnel for use in evaluation of the logistic feasibility of strategic operations;

(5) to determine relative priorities of the various segments of the military procurement programs;

(6) to supervise such subordinate agencies as are or may be created to consider the subjects falling within the scope of the Board's responsibilities;

(7) to make recommendations to regroup, combine, or dissolve existing inter-service agencies operating in the fields of procurement, production, and distribution in such manner as to promote efficiency and economy;

(8) to maintain liaison with other agencies for the proper correlation of military requirements with the civilian economy, particularly in regard to the procurement or disposition of strategic and critical material and the maintenance of adequate reserves of such material, and to make recommendations as to policies in connection therewith;

(9) to assemble and review material and personnel requirements presented by the Joint Chiefs of Staff and those presented by the production, procurement, and distribution agencies assigned to meet military needs, and to make recommendations thereon to the Secretary of National Defense;

(10) to perform such other duties as the Secretary of National Defense may direct.

(d) When the Chairman of the Board first appointed has taken office, the Joint Army and Navy Munitions Board shall cease to exist and all its functions, records, and personnel shall be transferred to the Munitions Board.

(e) The Secretary of National Defense shall provide the Board with such personnel and facilities as the Secretary may determine to be required by the Board for the performance of its functions.

Research and Development Board

FEB 1947

Sec. 114. (a) There is hereby established in the National Defense Establishment a Research and Development Board, hereinafter in this section referred to as the "Board." The Board shall be composed of a Chairman, who shall be the head thereof, and two representatives each from the Departments of the Army, Navy, and Air Force, to be designated by the Secretaries of their respective Departments. The Chairman shall be appointed from civilian life by the Secretary of National Defense and shall receive compensation at the rate of $14,000 a year or at the rate of $50 a day but not to exceed $14,000 in any one year. The purpose of the Board shall be to advise the Secretary of National Defense as to the status of scientific research relative to the national security, and to assist him in assuring adequate provision for research and development on scientific problems relating to the national security.

(b) It shall be the duty of the Board, under the direction of the Secretary of National Defense—

(1) to prepare a complete and integrated program of research and development for military purposes;

(2) to advise with regard to trends in scientific research relating to national security and the measures necessary to assure continued and increasing progress;

(3) to recommend measures of coordination of research and development among the military departments, and allocation among them of responsibilities for specific programs of joint interest;

(4) to formulate policy for the National Defense Establishment in connection with research and development matters involving agencies outside the National Defense Establishment;

(5) to consider the interaction of research and development and strategy, and to advise the Joint Chiefs of Staff in connection therewith;

(6) to perform such other duties as the Secretary of National Defense may direct.

(c) When the Chairman of the Board first appointed has taken office, the Joint Research and Development Board shall cease to exist and all its records and personnel shall be transferred to the Research and Development Board.

(d) The Secretary of National Defense shall provide the Board with such personnel and facilities as the Secretary may determine to be required by the Board for the performance of its functions.

TITLE II—COORDINATION FOR NATIONAL SECURITY

National Security Council

Sec. 201 (a) There is hereby established a Council to be known as the National Security Council (hereinafter in this section referred to as the "Council"). The function of the Council shall be to advise the President with respect to the integration of foreign and military policies and to enable the military services and other agencies of the Government to cooperate more effectively in matters involving national security. The Council shall be composed of the Secretary of State, the Secretary of National Defense, the Secretary of the Army, the Secretary of the Navy, the Secretary of the Air Force, the Chairman of the National Security Resources Board, and such other members as the President may designate from time to time.

(b) In addition to performing such other functions as the President may direct, for the purpose of more effectively coordinating the policies of the departments and agencies of the Government and their functions relating to the national security, it shall, subject to the direction of the President, be the duty of the Council:

(1) To assess and appraise the objectives, commitments and risks of the United States in relation to our actual and potential military power, in the interests of national security, for the purpose of making recommendations to the President in connection therewith; and

(2) To consider policies on matters of common interest to the Department of State, the National Defense Establishment and the National Security Resources Board, and to make recommendations to the President in connection therewith.

(c) The Council shall have a staff to be headed by an executive secretary who shall be appointed by the President, and who shall receive compensation at the rate of $12,000 a year. The executive secretary, subject to the direction of the Council, is authorized to appoint and fix the compensation of such personnel as may be necessary to perform such duties as may be prescribed by the Council in connection with the performance of its functions.

(d) The Council shall, from time to time, make such recommendations and such other reports to the President as it deems appropriate or as the President may require.

Central Intelligence Agency

Sec. 202 (a) There is hereby established under the National Security Council a Central Intelligence Agency with a Director of Central Intelligence, who shall be the head thereof, to be appointed by the President. The Director shall receive compensation at the rate of $14,000 a year.

(b) Any commissioned officer of the United States Army, the United States Navy, or the United States Air Force may be appointed to the office of Director; and his appointment to, acceptance of, and service in, such office shall in no way affect any status, office, rank, or grade he may occupy or hold in the United States Army, the United States Navy, or the United States Air Force, or any emolument, perquisite, right, privilege, or benefit incident to or arising out of any such status, office, rank, or grade. Any such commissioned officer on the active list shall, while serving in the office of Director, receive the military pay and allowances payable to a commissioned officer of his grade and length of service and shall be paid, from any funds available to defray the expenses of the Agency, annual compensation at a rate equal to the amount by which $14,000 exceeds the amount of his annual military pay and allowances.

(c) Effective when the Director first appointed under subsection (a) has taken office—

(1) The functions of the National Intelligence Authority (11 Federal Register 1337, 1339, Feb. 5, 1946) are transferred to the National Security Council, and such Authority shall cease to exist.

(2) The functions of the Director of Central Intelligence, and the functions, personnel, property, and records of the Central Intelligence Group are transferred to the Director of Central Intelligence appointed under this Act and to the Central Intelligence Agency respectively, and such Group shall cease to exist. Any unexpended balances of appropriations, allocations, or other funds available or authorized to be made available for such Group shall be available and shall be authorized to be made available in like manner for expenditure by the Agency.

National Security Resources Board

Sec. 203—(a) There is hereby established a National Security Resources Board, hereinafter in this section referred to as the "Board," to be composed of the Chairman of the Board and such heads or representatives of the various executive departments and independent agencies as may from time to time be designated by the President to be members of the Board. The Chairman of the Board shall be appointed from civilian life by the President and shall receive compensation at the rate of $15,000 a year or at the rate of $50 a day but not to exceed $15,000 in any one year.

(b) The Chairman of the Board, subject to the direction of the President, is authorized to appoint and fix the compensation of such personnel as may be necessary to assist the Board in carrying out its functions.

(c) It shall be the function of the Board to advise the President concerning the coordination of military, industrial, and civilian mobilization, including—

(1) policies concerning industrial and civilian mobilization in order to assure the most effective mobilization and maximum utilization of the nation's manpower in the event of war;

(2) programs for the effective use in time of war of the nation's natural and industrial resources for military and civilian needs, for the maintenance and stabilization of the civilian economy in time of war, and for the adjustment of such economy to war needs and conditions;

(3) policies for unifying, in time of war, the activities of Federal agencies and departments engaged in or concerned with production, procurement, distribution, or transportation of military or civilian supplies, materials, and products;

(4) the relationship between potential supplies of and potential requirements for manpower, resources, and productive facilities in time of war;

(5) policies for establishing adequate reserves of strategic and critical material, and for the conservation of these reserves;

(6) the strategic relocation of industries, services, government, and economic activities, whose continuous operation is essential to the nation's security.

(d) The Board shall perform such other functions, not inconsistent with law, concerning the coordination of military, industrial, and civilian mobilization as the President may direct.

(e) In performing its functions, the Board shall utilize to the maximum extent the facilities and resources of the departments and agencies of the Government.

TITLE III—MISCELLANEOUS

Succession to the Presidency

Sec. 301—The first section of the Act entitled "An Act to provide for the performance of the duties of the Office of President in case of the removal, death, resignation or inability both of the President and of the Vice President," approved Jan. 19, 1886 (24 Stat. 1), is amended (1) by striking out "Secretary of War" and inserting in lieu thereof "Secretary of National Defense," and (2) by striking out "or if there be none, or in case of his removal, death, resignation, or inability, then the Secretary of the Navy."

Compensation of Secretaries

Sec. 302—(a) The Secretary of National Defense shall receive the compensation prescribed by law for heads of executive departments.

(b) The Secretary of the Army, the Secretary of the Navy and the Secretary of the Air Force shall each receive the compensation prescribed for the Secretary of National Defense.

Under Secretaries and Assistant Secretaries

Sec. 303—The Under-Secretaries and Assistant Secretaries of the Army, the Navy and the Air Force shall each receive compensation at the rate of $12,000 a year and shall perform such duties as the Secretaries of their respective departments may prescribe.

Advisory Committees and Personnel

Sec. 304—(a) The Secretary of National Defense, the Chairman of the National Security Resources Board and the Director of Central Intelligence are authorized to appoint such advisory committees and to employ, consistent with other provisions of this Act, such part-time advisory personnel as they may deem necessary in carrying out their respective functions and the functions of agencies under their control. Persons holding other offices or positions under the United States for which they receive compensation while serving as members of such committees shall receive no additional compensation for such service. Other members of such committees and other part-time advisory personnel so employed may serve without compensation or may receive compensation at a rate not to exceed $50 for each day of service, as determined by the appointing authority.

(b) Service of an individual as a member of any such advisory committee, or in any other part-time capacity for a department or agency hereunder shall not be considered as service bringing such individual within the provisions of Section 109 or 113 of the Criminal Code, (U. S. C., 1940 edition, Title 18, Secs. 198 and 203), or Section 19 (c) of the Contract Settlement Act of 1944, unless the act of such individual, which by such section is made unlawful when performed by an individual referred to in such section, is with respect to any particular matter which directly involves a department or agency which such person is advising or in which such department or agency is directly interested.

Status of Transferred Civilian Personnel

Sec. 305 — All transfers of civilian personnel under this Act shall be without change in classification or compensation, but the head of any department or agency to which such a transfer is made is authorized to make such changes in the titles and designations and prescribe such changes in the duties of such personnel commensurate with their classification as he may deem necessary and appropriate.

Saving Provisions

Sec. 306—(a) All laws, orders, regulations, and other actions applicable with respect to any function, activity, personnel, property, records, or other thing transferred under this Act, or with respect to any officer, department, or agency, from which such transfer is made, shall, except to the extent rescinded, modified, superseded, terminated, or made inapplicable by or under authority of law, have the same effect as if such transfer had not been made; but, after any such transfer, any such law, order, regulation, or other action which vested functions in or otherwise related to any officer, department, or agency from which such transfer was made, shall, in so far as applicable with respect to the function, activity, personnel, property, records, or other thing transferred and to the extent not inconsistent with other provisions of this Act, be deemed to have vested such function in or relate to the officer, department, or agency to which the transfer was made.

(b) No suit, action, or other proceeding lawfully commenced by or against the head of any department or agency or other officer of the United States, in his official capacity or in relation to the discharge of his official duties, shall abate by reason of the taking effect of any transfer or change in title under the provisions of this Act; and, in the case of any such transfer, such suit, action, or other proceeding may be maintained by or against the successor of such head or other officer under the transfer, but only if the court shall allow the same to be maintained on motion or supplemental petition filed within twelve months after such transfer takes effect, showing a necessity for the survival of such suit, action, or other proceeding to obtain settlement of the questions involved.

(c) Notwithstanding the provisions of the second paragraph of Section 5 of Title I of the First War Powers Act, 1941, the existing organization of the War Department under the provisions of Executive Order No. 9082 of Feb. 28, 1942, as modified by Executive Order No. 9722 of May 13, 1946, and the existing organization of the Department of the Navy under the provisions of Executive Order No. 9635 of Sept. 29, 1945, including the assignment of functions to organizational units within the War and Navy Departments, may, to the extent determined by the Secretary of National Defense, continue in force except to the extent modified by the provisions of this Act or under the authority of law.

Transfer of Funds

Sec. 307—All unexpended balances of appropriations, allocations, non-appropriated funds, or other funds available or hereafter made available for use by or on behalf of the Army Air Forces or officers thereof, shall be transferred to the Department of the Air Force for use in connection with the exercise of its functions. Such other unexpended balances of appropriations, allocations, non-appropriated funds, or other funds available or hereafter made available for use by the Department of War or the Department of the Army in exercise of functions transferred to the Department of the Air Force under this Act, as the Secretary of National Defense shall determine, shall be transferred to the Department of the Air Force for use in connection with the exercise of its functions.

Unexpended balances transferred under this section may be used for the purposes for which the appropriations, allocations, or other funds were originally made available, or for new expenditures occasioned by the enactment of this Act. The transfers herein authorized may be made with or without warrant action as may be appropriate from time to time from any appropriation covered by this section to any other such appropriation or to such new accounts established on the books of the Treasury as may be determined to be necessary to carry into effect the provisions of this Act.

Authorization for Appropriations

Sec. 308. There are hereby authorized to be appropriated such sums as may be necessary and appropriate to carry out the provisions and purposes of this Act.

Definition

Sec. 309. As used in this Act, the term "function" includes functions, powers, and duties.

Separability

Sec. 310. If any provision of this Act or the application thereof to any person or circumstances is held invalid, the validity of the remainder of the Act and of the application of such provision to other persons and circumstances shall not be affected thereby.

TRUMAN, ADVISERS HOLD SECRET TALK

FEB 1947

Presence Of Bipartisan Leaders Stirs Speculation

Washinton, Feb. 27 (AP)—A top secret conference by President Truman, his diplomatic advisers and key legislators stirred speculation today that some diplomatic decision of world import might be in the making.

Its importance was underscored by the fact that all the conferees were pledged to secrecy. Nine congressmen, including the Republican chiefs of the Foreign and Appropriations committees, were consulted by the President, but none would go beyond an announcement of Senator Vandenberg (R., Mich.), chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee:

"On the eve of Secretary (of State) Marshall's departure for Moscow we had a general discussion of the European problem which is involved in the approaching meeting."

To Leave March 5

The session, for which Marshall and his staff will leave March 5, was arranged to consider the peace treaty for Germany. But it will be the first meeting of the Foreign Ministers of the United States, Russia, Britain and France since Britain's economic plight came to a head in the industrial shutdown forced by the coal shortage, leading to some talk that Britain might be forced to reduce her political and military commitments.

Any expansion of American commitments, even though made by executive decision, would require necessary funds. The chairmen of the Senate and House Appropriations committees thus would play an influential role.

The Appropriations chairmen will have much to say about the relief funds the President has requested for liberated countries and those for the occupied nations contemplated in the War Department budget, but it appeared that this was not the subject of the conference.

Hoover Report Not Discussed

One congressional leader said that the recommendations of Herbert Hoover, who has just completed his study of relief needs, were not discussed.

The main group of conferees, who met for an hour with Mr. Truman, included Marshall, Dean Acheson, Under Secretary of State; Vandenberg, Senator Connally (D., Texas), ranking Democrat on the Foreign Relations Committee; Senator Barkley (D., Ky.), the Democratic floor leader who also is a committee member; Chairman Bridges (R., N.H.) of the Senate Appropriations Committee; House Speaker Martin (R., Mass.), Representative Rayburn (D., Texas), House Democratic leader; Chairman Eaton (R., N.J.) of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, and Representative Bloom (D., N.Y.), ranking Democrat on the committee.

Chairman Taber (R., N.Y.) of the House Appropriations Committee was invited but was unable to attend so he conferred with the President later.

Taber said, like the others, that he was not at liberty to disclose the subject of the conference but he did say no loan to Russia was discussed.

"I don't know where all these rumors about a Russian loan came from," he told newsmen, "but it was not discussed at the White House today."

MARSHALL SUBPOENAED, THEN ORDER IS DROPPED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27—(AP) A House subpoena was issued today for Secretary of State Marshall but recalled when the State Department furnished the information that was sought and Rep. Bradley (R-Mich) rebuked a colleague who started the fuss.

Rep. Weichel (R-Ohio), chairman of a House Merchant Marine Subcommittee investigating the status of 95 ships lend-leased to Russia and not returned, issued the subpoena. It called for Marshall to appear tomorrow with all the correspondence with Moscow on the subject.

But Bradley, chairman of the full committee, stepped in with a crack about headline-hunting and called a halt before the House sergeant at arms, William F. Russell, could serve it.

Later Bradley formally ordered it canceled and Weichel said he would issue no subpoenas in future without the approval of Bradley and Speaker Martin (R-Mass).

Subpoena Calls For Full Data 1947 On War Deal

Washington, Feb. 27 (AP)—A House Merchant Marine subcommittee today subpoenaed Secretary of State Marshall to produce for it tomorrow all records and communications dealing with the wartime transfer of United States ships to Russia.

The subpoena, signed by Representative Weichel (R., Ohio), subcommittee chairman, was turned over to the House sergeant at arms, William F. Russell.

Russell reported that he was unable to contact Marshall at the State Department and left immediately for the White House, where the Secretary was reported to be in conference with President Truman.

Told To Appear Tomorrow

The subpoena directed the Secretary to appear before the committee at 9.30 A.M. tomorrow with "all books, papers, communications and other memoranda covering the matter of approximately 100 merchant ships owned by the United States now in the possession of the Russian Government, the communications of Russia and the replies of Russia."

[In view of the constitutional separation of the powers between the legislative, executive and judicial branches of the Government, congressional sources said there was a question as to whether or not Marshall could be compelled to comply with a House subpoena.

[When Secretary of Interior Krug was subpoenaed by the House Surplus Property Committee last session, he appeared before the committee, but said he was doing so "voluntarily."

Such Subpoenas Rare

[Veteran congressional employes said the Krug subpoena was the first issued by a House committee for a Cabinet officer in a score of years.]

Weichel is chairman of the subcommittee on ship sales, charters and layups, which has been investigating the status of merchant ships transferred to Russia and Great Britain during the war and not yet returned to this country.

In a statement, Weichel said:

"In the course of the hearings there has been a refusal to disclose to the committee and Congress certain communications and today I have caused a subpoena to issue for the Hon. George C. Marshall, Secretary of State, to appear before the committee and there to testify on matters concerning this transaction and bring with him all books, papers and communications covering some 100 merchant ships belonging to the United States and no win the possession of Russia which have not been returned to this country.

Reply Unsatisfactory

"The Under Secretary of State, William Clayton, at a former hearing stated there had been a communication directed to Russia and that some considerable time ago a reply was received.

"He further stated the answer was unsatisfactory but refused to disclose to the committee and to the Congress the contents of the reply, saying it was not for the committee.

"Since that time the Russians have issued a statement that the United States and Great Britain divided 470,000 tons of merchant shipping taken fro mthe Germans. Up to this time the committee has no information of the United States receiving any such tonnage.

"What Connection?"

"What connection could there be with reference to this statement and the Russians keeping our ships?

"Since the refusal to disclose the contents of the correspondence covering these ships with Russia, I am informed the Department of State has disclosed communications from countries in the Western Hemisphere.

"Could it be that Russia is the sacred cow of the State Department?"

Two weeks ago Clayton urged that Congress permit the State Department to negotiate for the return of the ships. The British, he said, have applied for the purchase of 115 Liberty ships and have promised that all the vessels they do not buy will be returned by mid-1948.

British Had 325

The British originally had approximately 325 ships. The Russians still have 95.

All except the Liberty ships now held by the British, Clayton testified, will be returned to this country by June.

The State Department feels, he told the subcommittee, that it can regain the vessels more quickly "through diplomatic channels." Because of this opinion, he said, the State Department opposes any legislation designed to force immediate return of the ships.

Both Weichel and Representative Fred Bradley (R., Mich.), committee chairman, have introduced such proposals in the House.

Marshall Urged London U.N. Move

Washington, Feb. 27 (AP)—The State Department said today that Secretary Marshall suggested to the British ten days ago that efforts be made to have the United Nations act on the Palestine issue without waiting until next September.

Lincoln White, press officer, said this was the "clarification" General Marshall asked when he was formally notified February 17 of the decision by Ernest Bevin, British Foreign Minister, to submit the issue to the United Nations.

A British note on Palestine was delivered to the Secretary on that date by J. Balfour, British Minister.

The United Nations Assembly's next scheduled meeting is in September. White said Secretary Marshall suggested specifically that the British Government explore the possibility of submitting the issue without waiting until then.

Trygve Lie, United Nations Secretary General, said here today a special session of the Assembly could be called by a majority of the member nations. He conferred briefly with General Marshall, but said afterward Palestine was not mentioned.

Committee Delays Lilienthal Vote

Washington, Feb. 27 (AP)—The Senate Atomic Committee today postponed until tomorrow a meeting on the nomination of David E. Lilienthal as chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission.

The postponement was cause by the absence of several committee members, a situation that Chairman Hickenlooper (R., Iowa) previously had said might delay a vote on confirmation until next week.

Today's session was scheduled priginally to discuss whether any further testimony is necessary on the qualifications of Lilienthal, four other nominees for the commission and Carroll Wilson, designated as the commission's general manager.

Kentucky Congressmen For Him

Fresh support for Lilienthal came yesterday from seven of the nine Kentucky House members. Democratic Representatives Gergory, Clements, Chelf, Spence, Chapman and Bates, and Republican Morton, addressed a letter to Hickenlooper saying that they regretted the attacks made on the nominee.

SENATOR HITS 'BIAS' IN LILIENTHAL CASE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 — (AP) Senator Wilson (R-Iowa) lashed out today at what he called "rumor, prejudice or careless assertions" in conection with the bitter controversy over confirmation of David E. Lilienthal as chairman of the Atomic Energy commission.

"The way I vote will be based upon the record," he said.

The Iowa lawmaker's criticism came as the Senate Atomic committee postponed until tomorrow a meeting to decide whether further testimony is needed on Lilienthal's qualifications. The committee's showdown vote may now be delayed until next week.

Wilson did not commit himself on whether he will vote for Lilienthal, but said he was mailing a letter to his constituents declaring that the Senate "should not become so enamored of our rights that we attempt to usurp the appointment prerogatives" of the President.

"Without questioning the honesty or sincerity of those opposing (Lilienthal), I am afraid we forget that the appointive power does not rest with the Senate," he said in the letter.

DENIES NUDE PARTIES

Knoxville, Tenn., Feb. 27 (AP.).—Jesse W. Reeves denied today that any nude parties had been held at Reeves Roost and said that as far as he knew no Communists ever had attended parties there.

A Knoxville News-Sentinel printer, Reeves said that he had operated the Roost from 1935 to 1941. He added that there was no space at the place for dancing, nude or otherwise.

Testifying before the Senate Atomic Energy Committee in Washington yesterday, J. S. Remine, 75, declared that he had seen Communists holding nude parties at a "place known as Reeves Roost" in 1937.

Reeves said in an interview that some persons whom he considered "liberal-minded" attended some weiner roasts and picnics at Reeves Roost, but added that there never was any dancing of any kind.

ALERT NAVY 1947 KING'S AIM

Must Beat Enemy To Punch, Wartime Head Asserts

Elgin, Ill., Feb. 27 (AP)—The United States Navy "must be ready to beat the enemy to the punch" to preserve national security and the peace of the world, Flet Admiral Ernest J. King, said tonight.

Advocating a well-armed watchfulness, the wartime commander of the Navy said the atom bomb or air power alone was not enough to win a war.

In a speech at the winter forum of Elgin Academy, King said, "the modern navy, fully abreast of scientific development and strategically disposed in peacetime, serves as a weapon which can strike with speed and effectiveness to neutralize any danger at its source—to act before another conflagration can spread to serious proportions.

Must Keep Seaways Open

"We must be ready to beat the enemy to the punch—and at a distance.

"We must be ready to keep the seaways open, no less for our welfare than for our security. We must establish our overseas line of defense thousands of miles from the American mainland and . . . be able to act quickly and effectively.

"We propose, in short, to do what Scipio Africanus did many centuries ago—'carry the war into Africa'—or Asia—or Europe."

A defense may be found for the atom bomb, King observed and said, "the atom bomb is still a bomb, an offensive weapon which is wholly unlikely of itself to win a war.

Over-Simplification

He continued, "There are those enthusiasts—not to say zealots—who solve all military problems by the use of air power alone. . . . Such views are a product of oversimplification."

The first task of the Navy is to preserve the security of the United States, the second the security of the western hemisphere, and the third the peace of the world, he believed.

"Our desire to see the world at peace," he said, "must be accompanied by a willingness to do our part in maintaining that peace. At the present time it is apparent that many difficulties, perhaps obstacles, lie ahead of the international organization which has been formed."

Pacific Maneuvers Set

With Task Force 38 in Central Pacific, Feb. 27 (AP) — Fourteen combat ships of this Task Force headed east from Kwajalein today for an engagement with the First Task Fleet as the Navy disclosed the timetable for its first big-scale Pacific maneuvers since the war.

The maneuvers will be divided into three phases: A battle between Tack Force 38 and the First Task Fleet, which is taking the role of a west coast defense force; an attack on Johnston Island, 750 miles southwest of Pearl Harbor, and an attack on Pearl Harbor.

Task Force 38, with the carriers Princeton and Tarawa, four cruisers and eight destroyers, will play the part of a mobile enemy strinking force.

D-Day 'Death Rays' Fear Disclosed

Washington, Feb. 27 (AP)—Strong rumors that the Germans would use radioactive "death rays" prompted the Allied high command to scatter soldier specialists with Geiger counters through the first D-day assault waves.

This was disclosed today when Col. Kenneth D. Nichols, retiring district engineer of the Manhattan atomic bomb project, related how worried scientists "briefed" General Eisenhower and Maj. Gen. Paul Hawley, the Army surgeon general, on the possibility.

1947

Even Feared Atomic Bombs

The potential demoralizing effect of something which troops "couldn't see, hear or smell" was so great, Nichols said, that only the top command was told the desperate Germans might have sown the Normandy beaches with lethal radioactive materials.

The colonel said the scientists were so convinced the Germans were ahead of the Allies in atomic research that they even "conceived the possibility of the Germans using atomic bombs" to defend the French coast.

Nichols, a wartime brigadier general, is returning to his alma mater, West Point, as professor of mechanics. He has been assigned since 1942 to the Manhattan project, which has passed to control of the Atomic Energy Commission after playing its wartime role as developer of the A-bomb.

"The general impression was that in 1941 and 1942 the Germans might have been ahead of us," said Nichols. "At the end of the war we learned we were two years ahead of them in 1944, when they abandoned their efforts to develop an atomic bomb and concentrated their research on creating energy to empower machinery.

Never Had Plutonium

"At the war's end we found we were ahead of them in power research. They didn't even have the first unit, a uranium pile, going to demonstrate a chain reaction. They never made plutonium. They hadn't got that far."

But back in the early days of 1944, Nichols continued, some intelligence reports and rumors indicated otherwise.

The high command did not dare take any chances. So the now-familiar Geiger counters, which ferret out the presence of radioactive materials, went ashore with the fighting men.

Results Were Negative

The results, of course, were negative.

"If troops had had to pass through a radioactive field set up by the Germans," Nichols said, "it probably would not have hurt them, if it could have been done quickly. But to encamp in such a place might have had dire results."

And if the invading force had been pinned down in the contaminated area its predicament could have been serious, Nicholas concluded.

HUNT FOR MISSING B-29 IS PRESSED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27—(AP) The Army Air Forces reported today that 13 men were believed aboard the B-29 plane which has been missing in Alaska since Monday. Earlier reports put the number of crewmen at 11.

Air searches for the ship are being conducted by planes flying from bases at Elmendorf Field and Fairbanks, Alaska, and in the Aleutian Islands. No trace of it has been found.

The last word from the B-29 Monday was when it reported it was flying near Bruin Pass north of Kodiak.

Following are the names of the crewmen the AAF said were aboard:

Capt. Raymond N. Tutton, pilot. Rome, Ga.

1st Lt. William Johnsen, co-pilot. Grand Island, N. Y.

Capt. Kenneth W. LaFrance, navigator, San Antonio, Tex.

2nd Lt. Hubert H. Jarvis, second navigator, Austin, Tex.

2nd Lt. James C. Lomax, Jr., flight engineer, Chico, Calif.

Master Sgt. Leon D. Blakeman, engineer, Arlington, Calif.

1st Lt. John L. Ludacka, bombardier-observer, Omaha, Neb.

1st Lt. Juan A. Truhe, observer, Girardville, Pa.

1st Lt. Paul E. Riddle, observer, Washington, D. C.

Staff Sgt. Robert McLaughlin, observer, Cherrydale, Kan.

Staff Sgt. Clarence R. Adams, observer, Tampa, Fla.

Staff Sgt. Orville P. Ransom, observer, Palmetto, Fla.

Staff Sgt. James M. Maloney, observer, Dorchester, Mass.

CONTINUE HUNT FOR B-29

Alaska-Based Planes Find No Trace of Craft Carrying 13

ELMENDORF FIELD, Alaska, Feb. 27 (AP)—The search for a missing B-29 and its crew of thirteen men went into its third day today as Alaska-based Army and Navy planes fanned out in ever-widening circles over the Alaska Peninsula wilderness west of Anchorage.

Twenty-six planes from Elmendorf, Ladd Field at Fairbanks and Aleutian bases joined in the search yesterday but reported no trace of the missing ship.

The plane vanished Monday after last reporting it was near Bruin Pass on the mainland peninsula north of Kodiak.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP) — President Truman today congratulated Lieut. Bobby Joe Cavnar of Okmulgee, Okla., and his crew for their daring rescue of the B-29 fliers who crash-landed on Greenland less than 600 miles from the North Pole. The rescuers got a handshake and gave Mr. Truman a first-hand account of their deed.

TABER PROMISES CUT OF SIX BILLION

Says Funds Voted Will Be Under Budget Figures

Washington, Feb. 27 (AP)—Representative Taber (R., N.Y.), chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, said today the funds it votes will be $6,000,000,000 less than President Truman's budget estimates, regardless of what ceiling Congress sets.

The committee already is at work behind closed doors on appropriation bills and Taber said "we are finding plenty of places to cut spending."

The House voted a $6,000,000,000 slash of the President's estimates for the fiscal year starting July 1 but the Senate yesterday decided the cut should be $4,500,000,000 to protect funds for the armed services.

Senate To Vote On Knowland Plan

The Senate tomorrow will vote on a proposal by Senator Knowland (R., Cal.) to earmark $3,500,000,000 of the budgetary savings to a payment on the nation's $260,000,000,000 debt.

If Knowland's proposal carries it might throw overboard the Republican goal of a twenty per cent slash in individual income taxes. Chairman Knutson (R., Minn.) of the House Ways and Means Committee has said a budget slash of only $4,500,000,000 would cause him to lower his tax-cutting sights from twenty per cent down to ten per cent.

HALF RATIONS FOR OPA VOTED

Senate Unit Sets June 30 As Liquidation Deadline

Washington, Feb. 27 (AP)—A Senate Appropriations subcommittee voted today to put OPA on half rations for the next four months and then kill it.

The vote was 6 to 5 to give the once huge agency $22,000,000 to wind up its business by June 30. However, out of that total must come $7,000,000 for employes' terminal pay and $5,727,000 for the costs of liquidation.

"That means that OPA must reduce its operations by more than half immediately," said Senator Bridges (R., N.H.), chairman of the Appropriations Committee.

Controls Sugar, Rice And Rent

The OPA now supervises controls over sugar, rice and rent. Bridges, in reporting on the closed meeting, said he thinks a month's time is enough to transfer these functions to other Government agencies.

Bridges related that he had supported a proposal by Senator Gurney (R., S.D.) to give OPA only enough money to run until March 31. That motion lost by only one vote, he added.

He said the successful June 30 motion was put by Senator Overton (D., La.), and was backed by Senator Gordon (R., Ore.) and by all the Democrats.

Bridges said that OPA would have approximately $9,000,000 to operate on during the next four months, as compared with $20,000,000 he said OPA wanted.

Maybe Even Rougher Treatment

Even rougher treatment may be handed OPA when the full Appropriations Committee meets tomorrow, the chairman said, remarking that the subcommittee vote may be reversed then.

Before today's subcommittee meeting, Bridges took note of the House action in voting to lop $9,000,000 from the agency's appropriation for the current fiscal year and to refuse a $5,900,000 supplementary fund.

"I do not mean that I favor extending any of these controls at all," Bridges said. "The House already has killed them off by not voting funds. I want to be certain that whatever is decided, the agency can end in an orderly manner."

The Senate subcommittee agreed to restore the $9,000,000, in addition to voting money for terminal pay and liquidation costs.

SUGAR ALLOWANCE FOR EATING PLACES TO BE INCREASED

Restaurants, Hotels to Get Larger Rations in May, June Allotments.

OTHER RULES EASED

Industrial and Institutional Users Also to Receive Bigger Supplies.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 — (AP) OPA officials said today that larger sugar rations will be given hotels, restaurants and other eating places when they apply for their May-June allotments.

The increase, it was said, "will be consistent with other ration increases."

The officials said that sugar allocations will be boosted for nearly all industrial and institutional users as a result of the increased supplies allowed the United States for 1947 by the international emergency food council.

This segment of sugar users will begin getting their increased rations at the beginning of individual allotment periods, ranging from March 1 to May 1, OPA said.

Procedure Outlined

The agency added it will follow this procedure:

Industrial users, such as bakers, soft drink bottlers and candy makers, will have their rations increased April 1 from 60 to 75 per cent of their base period (usually their 1941 use). On the same date, preserve manufacturers will get an increase from 55 to 75 per cent of base (usually 1944 use).

Effective March 1, bulk sweetened condensed milk producers will have their allotments increased from 100 to 110 per cent of their base (a selected period of operation beginning with 1942).

OPA said this increase is in "recognition of unusually early increases in milk production."

James W. Marshall, the Agriculture department's No. 1 sugar man, told a Senate Banking Sub-committee today that if sugar controls are lifted there would be a scramble for supplies and the "household user and the small industrial user would be likely to suffer most."

The sub-committee is considering legislation to transfer sugar rationing from OPA to the Agriculture department and to set an October 15 cut-off date. Marshall said the department is not eager to take on the job.

Rationing Favored

Francis Linville, of the State department's international resources division, testified to a world shortage of sugar. "With no possibility of obtaining a balance between demand and supply except at excessive prices," he said, "continued rationing appears to be the best solution."

Linville said a free market in sugar would lift the price the United States pays Cuba and send all world sugar prices up.

Marshall told Senator Sparkman (D.-Ala.) that there are no restrictions on how much domestic cane and beet sugar may be produced in the United States.

LIVING COSTS RISE HALTED IN JANUARY

But Federal Bureau Seeks Signs That Advance May Be In Store

Washington, Feb. 27 (AP)—A ten-month steady rise in the cost of living came to a halt in January, the Bureau of Labor Statistics reported today. Its figures suggested, however, that a new advance might be in store.

The bureau said the cost of living index as of January 15 was about .1 of one per cent lower than the postwar peak of mid-December.

The decline reflected a decrease in food costs. All other items in the cost-of-living index, such as clothing, fuel, electricity, household furnishings and services, increased during the month.

While the mid-January statistics were the latest available on the cost of living, the labor bureau reported that its index of wholesale prices covering about 900 food and nonfood items reached a record level last week.

Might Mean Higher Prices

This was the second consecutive weekly rise to a record height. It might mean higher prices at retail stores unless housewive balk at paying them.

Agriculture Department officials expressed confidence that the general level of food costs will not climb back to the postwar peak of last November despite recent increases in prices of hogs and some grains.

They said they foresee a gradual decline in food prices this year, although there may be occasional minor fluctuations caused by temporary market shortages of some items.

The mid-January cost of living index was reported by the labor bureau at 153.1 per cent of the 1935-39 average compared with 153.3 in mid-December and with 129.9 in January, 1946, when most prices were still under OPA control.

Bureau Denies Report

The mid-January index of food prices was 183.8 per cent of the 1935-39 level compared with 185.9 in mid-December and with 141 in January a year ago.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics formally denied during the day that it had predicted the cost-of-living index would rise to a new high in June. Referring to a published report, a bureau statement said:

"Queried about reports that an official of the Bureau of Labor Statistics had forecast a continued rise in the consumer-price index to a new high in June, the Bureau of Labor Statistics today stated that it had made no such forecast."

FEB 1947

CPA SEES WAY TO AVOID SLUMP

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 — (AP) The Civilian Production Administration said today that recession can be avoided in 1947 by intelligent cooperation of management and labor but warned that if a dip does come it may mean 6,000,000 unemployed by year's end.

The agency's economic staff published a 44-page booklet entitled "Production Outlook 1947" which said two sets of forces are pushing the economy in different directions.

On the one hand are inflationary forces which on the basis of past history, particularly that of 1919-21, would tend to "presage a mild recession starting before long."

30. 24-8171

On the other are special sustaining forces such as the large backlog of demand for producer and consumer durable goods.

Under the pressure of these contending forces, the report says, the economic trend may take either of these two courses:

A.—Production and employment to continue at or slightly above the present level, prices to rise only very moderately during the first half of the year and decline equally slowly during the second half.

B.—An alternative (which corresponds more closely to the pattern of previous business cycles) of sharper increases in prices and a very small expansion in production during the first half of 1947, followed by a substantial although not very severe decline in production, employment and prices, extending into 1948.

John C. Houston, Jr., commissioner of CPA, said in a preface to the report:

"Since it continues to be the opinion of this agency that a recession in 1947 can be avoided by intelligent and cooperative action on the part of management and labor along the lines recently demonstrated in steel, automobile and construction industries, the analyses of the outlook for specific industries are more closely in line with alternative A than with alternative B."

VETERAN GROUPS, NAHB DIFFER ON HOUSING PLANS

CHICAGO, Feb. 27 — (AP) The housing policies of three major veterans organizations and those of the National Association of Home Builders showed some differences today at the conclusion of the NAHB convention, but all agreed upon the necessity for a rapid attack upon the housing shortage.

The NAHB policies, as expressed in an official statement adopted by the convention contained a pledge to produce an "unprecedented volume of good housing" if the industry were "unimpeded by government or other segments of the construction industry."

Urge Scrapping of Controls

This was coupled with a request that congress provide the "immediate removal of all federal controls on housing," including the $50,000,000 weekly limit on non-residential construction, and that congress abolish the closed shop.

The veterans' viewpoints were expressed during the convention by Paul H. Griffith, American Legion national commander, Louis E. Starr, VFW chief; and Ray Sawyer, AMVETS leader. They all agreed upon the need for an "unprecedented volume" of housing, but differed on other policies.

The sharpest divergence on the part of veterans was expressed by Sawyer, who declared his organization stood for retention of ceiling prices and rent control on existing dwellings, for retention of non-housing construction limits, and for retention of the 1,500 square foot limitation in new construction. The builders asked removal of all these.

Starr listed four "musts," some of which differed by implication from the NAHB policies. His points were:

"Direction and channeling of building materials and labor into the housing field; curtailment of non-housing construction to the fullest possible extent"; elimination of legislation, regulations and restrictions "which are presently discouraging" erection of apartment dwellings; and provision of long-term, low interest financing.

Griffith was cloest to the NAHB position. He contended that "the place to whip the problem is where it arises. There are numerous examples of the fact that where the housing problem is being solved, it is being done through the public spiritedness and cooperation of the local community."

Sharp Differences Develop

Sharp cleavage also appeared between the NAHB and the national administration position as expressed by Frank Creedon, national housing expediter.

While the association plumped for removal of remaining government controls, Creedon contended the controls should be retained to avoid "a mad scramble for materials and labor."

He said he intended to "lift the remaining controls at the earliest possible moment consistent with the aims of the housing program and with proper consideration for the economy of the country as a whole."

The remaining controls, he said, "are being maintained because x x x without these there would result a mad scramble by the entire building industry for scarce materials and labor."

Rep. Jesse Wolcott (R-Mich) chairman of the House Banking and Curency Commitee, told the delegates all controls should be removed immediately "and we should take the shock necessary to get back to a free economy."

MISSING HESSE GEMS VALUED AT A MILLION

FEB 1947

Durant Trial Witness Estimates Worth Of Unrecovered Loot

Washington, Feb. 27 (AP)—Bernard N. Burnstine, Washington jeweler, said today during a recess in Col. Jack W. Durant's trial on charges of theft of the Hesse crown jewels that $1,000,000 worth of the gems are still missing.

Burnstine made the statement after testifying in court as to the value of a glittering array of diamonds, rubies, pearls, sapphires and emeralds exhibited by the Army as part of the loot recovered so far. The Hesse fortune in gems has been valued at $1,500,000 to $7,000,000.

On Display In Courtroom

Exhibits on display in the courtroom today included a pearl necklace valued at $30,000 and a "Nazi pin" awarded to a member of the Hesse royal family for winning a German automobile race. Burnstine said the pin was worthless.

The witness said he based his estimate on jewels still missing on information given him by army investigators. He said they had "blown up" photographs of members of the Hesse family showing them wearing rich baubles not yet recovered.

Colonel Durant, 38-year-old Air Forces officer, is charged with taking the Hesse fortune from the family castle at Kronberg, Germany, while it was occupied by American troops. His wife, former WAC Capt. Kathleen Nash, already has been convicted and sentenced to five years imprisonment for complicity in the plot.

Married "To Seal Her Lips"

Major Joseph Robinson, chief prosecutor, introduced testimony which he said was designed to show that Durant married Captain Nash to "seal her lips" and prevent her from testifying against him.

The Durants, who served together at Kronberg Castle, where she acted as an army club hostess, were married in Chicago, May 28, 1946, just a few days before their arrest.

In his courtroom testimony, Burnstine appraised a diamond ring—identified by an earlier witness as having been worn by Colonel Durant's bride in Chicago last spring—at $14,000. He valued a group of 67 emeralds at $150,000 and a pair of sapphire-studded cuff links at $300.

Sister-In Law Under Fire

A single diamond he appraised at $2,600 was the same stone a Washington automobile dealer, John S. Burrows, testified he bought from Colonel Durant for $500 a year ago.

The trial closed for the day with the prosecution asking the court to take "appropriate action" unless Durant's sister-in-law, Mrs. James E. Durant, of Falls Church, Va., returns to the witness stand tomorrow.

Mrs. Durant left the courtroom yesterday complaining of feeling ill. She had refused to answer certain questions on the ground that it might tend to incriminate her husband.

EISLER IS INDICTED IN CONTEMPT CASE

U.S. Scans Possible Prosecution Of Communist Party

Washington, Feb. 27 (AP)—Gerhart Eisler, alleged mastermind of American communism, was indicted on a charge of contempt of Congress today while further measures were drafted against him and his party.

1. Representative Thomas (R., N.J.), chairman of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, announced the Justice Department is studying possible prosecution of the Communist party on charges of violating the Corrupt Practices Act. This law requires political parties to report contributions and expenditures.

2. Thomas told the House his committee is preparing fifteen measures aimed at "eliminating un-American activities."

Further Evidence Due

3. He introduced one committee bill which would create a "Federal loyalty commission" to investigate any Government worker whose loyalty it doubts. The commission could order the employé discharged immediately. The worker then could appeal to the commission, but not to a court or any other authority.

4. George M. Fay, United States attorney, said further evidence will be presented to the grand jury here which indicted Eisler for contempt, to enable it to determine whether he has violated other statutes.

The Committee on Un-American Activities seeks his prosecution also on charges of conspiracy to overthrow the Government, perjury, income-tax evasion and passport falsification.

Basis Of Contempt Charge

The contempt charge is based on Eisler's refusal to testify under oath when called before the House committee on February 6. The maximum penalty upon conviction would be one year in jail and $1,000 fine.

Representative McDowell (R., Pa.), a committee member, announced he will introduce a bill to raise the penalty for future cases to five years' imprisonment and $5,000 fine and change the charge from a misdemeanor to a felony.

Denounced by his own sister, Ruth Fischer, as a "dangerous terrorist" and by Thomas as the "supreme authority" of Communists in this country, Eisler was returned to the Ellis Island immigration station in New York after his brief but stormy appearance before the House committee.

Fay said he will be brought here for arraignment after certain legal difficulties are straightened out.

Ruling On Plea Reserved

In New York, Federal Judge Francis G. Caffey today reserved decision on a petition by Eisler for a writ of habeas corpus to obtain his freedom.

Eisler's attorney challenged the legality of his arrest and detention as a German enemy alien, contending that, although Eisler is a native of Germany, he is actually an Austrian and thus not subject to enemy-alien regulations.

Tom C. Clark, Attorney General, has assured the House committee that Eisler will not be permitted to slip away, but will remain in the United States until the Justice Department has sifted accusations against him.

Estate's Fight With Russ Tenant Put Up To Marshall

New York, Feb. 27 (AP)—A landlord-tenant dispute between the Morgan estate and the Soviet Purchasing Commission, involving the old J. P. Morgan estate at Glen Cove, N.Y., has been placed before Secretary of State George C. Marshall, counsel for the estate said today.

The attorneys, Jacob J. and Jay O. Kramer, claimed that the purchasing commission had not paid the quarterly rent due February 1, was refusing to pay an estimated $25,000 damage to the property and was claiming diplomatic immunity.

Raises Contract Problem

The Kramers, who represent Morgan Island Estates, Inc., said they wrote to Secretary Marshall Tuesday on the ground that the case raised the problem of how American citizens could enforce contracts with agents of foreign governments here.

The Morgan property, comprising 316 acres, was leased by the Soviet Purchasing Commission in 1945 at a $15,000 annual rental. Jacob J. Kramer said the Russians denied all liability on the ground that the purchasing commission's activities were ended January 1 by a federal order which applied to all purchasing agencies of foreign governments.

Denies Russ Claim Immunity

However, Isidore C. Needleman, attorney for the Russians, denied there had been any claim of immunity, and said that the Kramers offered to permit the Russians to cancel the lease for $10,000, a figure later reduced to $7,500, for a complete release from rent and damages.

Kramer said the offer to settle for $10,000 was for the exact amount due, and did not include damages.

Counsel for both sides agreed that the Russians plan to move from the Morgan estate and will use another estate they purchased near by.

McCloy Reported World Bank Choice

Washington, Feb. 27 (AP)—John J. McCloy, 52-year-old New York lawyer and wartime Assistant Secretary of War, was reported by informed sources today as likely to be chosen president of the $8,000,000 World Bank at a meeting of the board of directors tomorrow.

The positions of president and vice president have been vacant several weeks. Eugene Meyer, owner of the Washington Post and the first president of the bank, resigned in December. Shortly afterward, Harold D. Smith, vice president of the institution, died of a heart ailment, leaving the bank without an active head.

Reports have been current that Emilio G. Collado, 36-year-old former State Department economics specialist, will be replaced as the United States director on the board of governors.

The name of Eugene Black, Jr., Chase National Bank vice president and son of a former Federal Reserve Board head, has been mentioned as a possible successor to Collado.

$4,905,000 Credit to Aid Sale of 62 Locomotives

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP)—The Export-Import Bank today announced approval of credit amounting to $4,905,000 to help finance the sale of sixty-two locomotives to the Turkish State Railways by the Vulcan Iron Works, Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

The locomotives have been purchased at a total cost of $7,130,000. The credit was negotiated with the Bank by Benjamin S. Dowd, president of the Vulcan Iron Works, and allows for a cash down payment.

William McChesney Martin Jr., chairman of the board of directors of the Bank, said this was the first credit to be approved under the Bank's commitment to the Turkish Government. Last year $25,000,000 was set aside for participation by the Bank in credits to assist Turkish purchases from United States suppliers.

State Department Reminds That World Pact Is Now Effective

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP)—The State Department issued a reminder today that an international agreement on the use of more than 100,000 German-owned patents is now effective.

Reached at a London conference last July, the agreement came into effect when twenty-eight nations signed it before Jan. 1.

Its general effect will be to make available to the nationals of all participating governments full rights to use without paying royalties all former wholly German patents issued by those governments.

These rights will be subject to the protection of existing rights lawfully acquired by non-Germans.

The State Department said that licensing of patents through the accord would remove a possible impediment to international trade which might arise if the various governments licensed the patents on an exclusive basis.

RUSSIAN LINER DOCKS

NEW YORK, Feb. 27—(AP) The Russian liner Rossia docked today at Staten Island—the first passenger liner under the Soviet flag to enter New York harbor.

The 17,600-ton vessel, the former German liner Patria, carried 279 passengers and a crew of 153, including 50 women, most of whom are stewardesses and clerks on the ship which sailed Feb. 6 from Batum on the Black Sea.

Capt. Elizbar Gogitielze, 40-year-old master of the ship, invited American newsmen aboard the vessel, passed out vodka and offered a toast to the American people.

In fluent English, Gogitielze said: "Russian people love the American people. We do not forget what America did for us in the war."

Army May Ship Surplus Potatoes To Europe

Washington, Feb. 27 (AP)—The Army may ship between 6,000,000 and 10,000,000 bushels of government-held surplus potatoes to hungry areas of Europe.

Agriculture Department officials disclosed today that they are carrying on negotiations with Army procurement authorities for such a deal. Most of the potatoes would be taken from stocks stored in Maine-producing areas under Agriculture Department price-supporting loans to growers.

They are a part of a 45,000,000 bushel surplus remaining on January 1 from last year's crop, which exceeded market needs by nearly 100,000,000 bushels.

Radioactive Leaf Takes Own Picture

New York, Feb. 27 (AP) — The radioactive carbon made by atomic piles at Oak Ridge, Tenn., is enabling leaves and other thin, living things to take their own pictures in such a way as to show their insides at work.

This report was made today in the journal Science by A. V. Grosse and J. C. Snyder, of the Houdry Laboratories, Marcus Hook, Pa.

Carbon is one of the main substances of all living things. The radioactive carbon acts exactly the same as common carbon, except that it emits rays, principally electrons.

Photographic film, laid on a living substance containing radioactive carbon, picks up a picture made by the electrons. Since carbon is a part of nearly every organ, the electron pictures show much internal structure. The objective is where and how fast the carbon moves in the processes of maintaining life.

The National Institute of Health, Washington, furnished the two authors with a leaf of sweet potato that had grown in an atmosphere in which the carbon dioxide had its carbon made of the radioactive kind. Plants exhale carbon dioxide and also use it from the air, which is one of their sources of carbon.

This leaf slowly took its own internal picture, with the radioactive carbon it had absorbed from the air. The picture showed distribution of the carbon in tissue cells and in the capillaries through which the leaf got its breath of life and its water and food.

Help Japan, Says Pappy

Hollywood, Feb. 27 (AP)—In the opinion of Gregory W. (Pappy) Boyington, the Marine Corps' top ace of the Pacific war and a long-time Japanese prisoner, "we should do all we can to give the Japanese people every break."

Boyington, in a talk last night to the Marine Newsmen's Club, told his listeners that while prison food was scanty, Japanese soldiers were little if any better off and asserted "Japan will prove to be one of our most valuable assets."

"While I was a prisoner," he recounted, "I found many decent Nips who went out of their way to treat me nicely. For instance, there was one little Japanese lady who damned me in the presence of Japanese officers but as soon as they left, she would bring me food.

"The Japanese are industrious people. They think in the American way. Japan, if allowed to go our way, will prove very valuable in the next war when it comes. And it is not far off."

Pipe Orders Placed For Big Arabian Line

By the Associated Press.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 27.—Trans-Arabian Pipeline Co. disclosed today that orders had been placed for construction of more than 1000 miles of pipeline from the Arabian oil fields near Ras Tanera to the Mediterranean.

An order for 980 miles of pipe has been placed with the Consolidated Steel Co. of Los Angeles, and for 70 miles of pipe with the National Tube Co. of Pittsburgh.

The company said line surveys were still in progress and that terminals were still to be definitely selected. No costs were mentioned, but industry reports have been heard as high as $100,000,000.

Supplemental contracts also were placed for construction of tanks, line work, pumping stations and terminals.

President Of Pan American Given Aviation Trophy

Washington, Feb. 27 (AP)—President Truman today presented the Harmon Aviation Trophy to Juan T. Trippe, president of Pan American World Airways. The accompanying citation said Trippe showed "outstanding leadership, patriotism and unselfish devotion to the security and economic progress" of the United States in the days preceding and during World War II.

In addition to the bronze award, the President, at a White House ceremony gave Trippe a medal symbolic of the trophy.

It was the first Harmon award since the war and covered the years from 1940 to 1946.

A citation accompanying the trophy said Pan American under Trippe's direction "unselfishly served the nation to an unparalleled degree" in the war years and added:

"The record of his service stands as a monument to the part of modern air transport in the preservation of the nation."

The Harmon trophy presented to Trippe is donated by the Ligue Internationale Des Aviateurs which was organized in 1926 by the late Clifford B. Harmon for the purpose of encouraging the advancement of aviation through the annual award.

PRECEDE LONDON DAY (320)

BY WES GALLAGHER

BERLIN, FEB.27-(AP)-OFFICIAL BRITISH AND AMERICAN SOURCES DECLARED TODAY THAT SOVIET MARSHAL V.D. SOKOLOVSKY'S LATEST OUTBURST AGAINST ECONOMIC MERGER OF THE AMERICAN AND BRITISH ZONES WAS "JUST ANOTHER ATTACK" IN A SYSTEMATIC RUSSIAN PROPAGANDA OFFENSIVE PRIOR TO THE MOSCOW CONFERENCE.

A REPORT DISTRIBUTED BY THE TASS NEWS AGENCY TODAY SAID SOKOLOVSKY CHARGED IN THE ALLIED CONTROL COUNCIL TUESDAY THAT RECENT DEVELOPMENTS IN THE FUSED ZONES INDICATED A PLAN TO BREAK GERMANY INTO A NETWORK OF SMALL WEAK STATES UNDER BRITISH-AMERICAN MONOPOLIES. SOKOLOVSKY IS THE SOVIET MEMBER OF THE COUNCIL.

OFFICIAL INFORMANTS SAID THE RUSSIANS APPARENTLY WERE PAVING THE WAY FOR THE FOUR-POWER FOREIGN MINISTERS CONFERENCE IN MOSCOW WITH A BARRAGE OF CRITICISM AT BRITISH AND AMERICAN OCCUPATION POLICIES IN GERMANY.

THESE INFORMANTS SAID THAT WHEN SOKOLOVSKY LAUNCHED HIS TIRADE IN THE COUNCIL LT. GEN. LUCIUS D. CLAY, THE U.S. REPRESENTATIVE, ASKED SOKOLOVSKY'S PERMISSION TO MAKE THE ENTIRE SPEECH AVAILABLE TO THE ALLIED PRESS, BUT THAT THE SOVIET COMMANDER IN CHIEF REFUSED.

IN THE TASS RELEASE SOKOLOVSKY WAS QUOTED AS SAYING THAT "ONE CANNOT REGARD AS NORMAL AND PERMISSIBLE A SITUATION IN WHICH, ALONGSIDE THE ALLIED CONTROL COUNCIL IN GERMANY, THERE EXISTS A TWO-PARTY ANGLO-AMERICAN COUNCIL FOR THE AMERICAN AND BRITISH ZONES OF OCCUPATION, WITH AN ECONOMIC PROGRAM WHICH RUNS COUNTER TO THE DECISIONS OF THE BERLIN (POTSDAM) CONFERENCE."

TASS SAID HE WARNED OTHER COUNCIL MEMBERS THAT "SUCH A NEAR-SIGHTED POLICY, AIMED AT DISMEMBERING OR DESTROYING GERMANY, WOULD BRING ABOUT THE CREATION OF A NEW NEST OF UNREST X X X WHICH WOULD IN THE FUTURE ENDANGER THE PEACE AND SECURITY OF THE NATIONS."

IT WAS UNDERSTOOD THAT GEN. CLAY WAS CONFERRING WITH THE BRITISH ZONE DEPUTY COMMANDER LT. GEN.SIR BRIAN ROBERTSON ON WHETHER TO ISSUE AN OFFICIAL ANSWER TO SOKOLOVSKY'S CHARGES.

GEN. CLAY DENIED SIMILAR CHARGES SOME TIME AGO. HE SAID THAT BRITISH AND AMERICAN AUTHORITIES HAD FORBIDDEN SPECIFICALLY POLITICAL MERGER OF THE TWO ZONES.

FOR THE PAST TWO MONTHS THE SOVIET PRESS AND RADIO AND RUSSIAN OFFICIALS IN BERLIN HAVE BEEN CRITICIZING BRITISH AND AMERICAN POLICIES IN GERMANY. THIS HAS ANGERED MANY OFFICIALS, WITH A LARGE NUMBER EXPRESSING BELIEF THAT THE RUSSIANS WERE PREPARING FOR A FAILURE OF THE MOSCOW CONFERENCE AND A CONTEST BETWEEN THE EAST AND WEST ON A DIVIDED GERMANY.

BRUSSELS, FEB. 27-(AP)-HOSPITAL AUTHORITIES SAID TODAY THAT 40 PERSONS HURT IN A RIOT NEAR THE PARLIAMENT BUILDING YESTERDAY HAD BEEN DISCHARGED BEFORE MIDNIGHT AND ONLY ONE POLICEMAN STILL WAS HOSPITALIZED.

THE RIOT OCCURRED WHEN APPROXIMATELY 50,000 DEMONSTRATORS, DEMANDING FULL PAYMENT OF A BONUS FOR PERSONS IMPRISONED OR DEPORTED BY THE NAZIS, WERE CONFRONTED BY GENDARMES AND CAVALRYMEN ON THEIR WAY TO THE PARLIAMENT BUILDING, WHERE THE CABINET WAS MEETING.

THE CROWD SWEPT THROUGH THREE LINES OF THESE FORCES AND STOPPED ONLY WHEN MACHINEGUNS AND RIFLES WERE FIRED OVER THEIR HEADS FROM BEHIND STEEL FENCING. THE MINISTRY OF THE INTERIOR SAID SOME 40 WERE INJURED AND ONE MAN WAS FOUND DEAD IN THE STREET, EVIDENTLY OF HEART TROUBLE.

LT. COL. RAOUL DE FRAITEUR, MINISTER OF DEFENSE AND SPECIAL TARGET OF THE DEMONSTRATORS' SLOGANS, SAID THE GOVERNMENT HAD NOT PAID THE REST OF THE BONUS BECAUSE IT DID NOT HAVE THE MONEY.

THE GATES IN FRONT OF PARLIAMENT WERE BROKEN AND LITTER LAY STREWN OVER SURROUNDING STREETS TODAY.

JERUSALEM, FEB.27-(AP)-A GOVERNMENT SOURCE SAID TONIGHT THAT BRITISH DESTROYERS HAD INTERCEPTED IN NORTHERN PALESTINE WATERS ANOTHER SHIP CARRYING JEWS ATTEMPTING TO ENTER THE HOLY LAND WITHOUT NECESSARY IMMIGRATION CERTIFICATES.

JEWISH SOURCES SAID THE SHIP WAS THE "HAIM ARLOSOROFF" AND WAS CARRYING 1,350 WOULD-BE IMMIGRANTS FROM EUROPE.

HAIM ARLOSOROFF IS THE NAME OF A ZIONIST LABOR LEADER AND A FORMER HEAD OF THE JEWISH AGENCY POLITICAL DEPARTMENT WHO DIED IN 1933.

MILITARY AUTHORITIES ORDERED ALL WORK TO CEASE IN HAIFA HARBOR TONIGHT AND CIVILIAN WORKERS LEFT THE AREA.

ON THE POLITICAL SCENE, AN ARAB INFORMANT SAID THE BRITISH HAD INSTRUCTED OFFICIALS IN THE PALESTINE MANDATE GOVERNMENT TO SOUND OUT ARAB REACTION IN THE EVENT BRITAIN INFORMS THE UNITED NATIONS THAT SHE WAS WILLING TO EVACUATE PALESTINE.

MANY ARABS SAY THEY FEAR THAT IF THE BRITISH WITHDRAW FROM THE HOLY LAND, THE ZIONISTS MIGHT BE ABLE TO BRING IN HUNDREDS OF THOUSANDS OF JEWS AS SETTLERS IN THE SPARSELY-POPULATED PARTS OF THE COUNTRY.

MOST ARAB POLITICIANS HAVE DECLARED THEY WILL INSIST TO THE UNITED NATIONS ON A HALT TO FURTHER JEWISH IMMIGRATION AND ESTABLISHMENT OF PALESTINE AS AN ARAB STATE.

A SUBSEQUENT WHITE HOUSE STATEMENT TOOK BEVIN TO TASK FOR SUGGESTING THAT TRUMAN WAS MOTIVATED IN HIS STAND BY PARTISAN AND LOCAL POLITICS.)

THE OFFICIAL JEWISH LABOR PARTY PAPER DAVAR IN TEL AVIV SAID THAT "IT IS QUITE CLEAR THAT NEGOTIATIONS AT THE UNITED NATIONS AT THE WORST ARE NO MORE DANGEROUS TO US THAN NEGOTIATIONS WITH BEVIN."

THE WITNESS, WHO IS EXPECTED TO SPEND CONSIDERABLE TIME ON THE STAND, WAS DR.TSUGUO FUJITA, EXPERT ON JAPAN'S CONSTITUTION AND MILITARY ADMINISTRATION.

FUJITA BEGAN A LONG EXPLANATION OF THE GOVERNMENT SETUP AND THE POWERS OF OFFICIALS UNDER THE OLD IMPERIAL CONSTITUTION.

THIS WAS EXPECTED TO LAY THE GROUNDWORK FOR THE DEFENSE THAT THE 26 PRISONERS IN THE DOCK COULD NOT HAVE ENTERED INTO A CONSPIRACY BECAUSE THEIR POWERS WERE LIMITED BY THE CONSTITUTION.

FUJITA TOLD THE TRIBUNAL HE WAS LEGAL COUNSELLOR TO THE JAPANESE WAR MINISTRY FROM 1917 TO 1934, AND SINCE HAD MADE A STUDY OF MILITARYP ADMINISTRATION IN EUROPE AND AMERICA. HE HAS WRITTEN BOOKS ON THE SUBJECT.

MEANWHILE, MICHAEL LEVIN, MILWAUKEE, U.S. COUNSEL FOR DEFENDANT TEIICHI SUZUKI, FORMER PRESIDENT OF THE JAPANESE PLANNING BOARD, LEFT FOR SHANGHAI, NANKING AND PEIPING TO INTERVIEW PROSPECTIVE WITNESSES.

DEFENSE ATTORNEY ARISTIDES G.LAZARUS OF NEW YORK CITY MADE THE STATEMENT AFTER THE RUSSIAN PROSECUTION HAD ENTERED ITS THIRD PROTEST OF THE DAY AGAINST ADMISSION OF TESTIMONY ON JAPANESE-RUSSIAN RELATIONS.

THE PROTESTS BROUGHT A RULING BY TRIBUNAL PRESIDENT SIR WILLIAM WEBB OF AUSTRALIA THAT THE ONLY QUESTION WAS WHETHER THE TESTIMONY WAS RELEVANT TO THE WAR CRIMES CHARGES AGAINST THE 26 FORMER JAPANESE LEADERS IN THE DOCK.

MAJ.GEN.A.N.VASILYEV, ASSOCIATE SOVIET PROSECUTOR, OBJECTED TO INTRODUCTION OF A 1928 FISHERY CONVENTION BETWEEN JAPAN AND RUSSIA, AND ADMISSION OF A NOTE AFFIXED TO THE 1925 TREATY OF PEIPING, WHICH ATTEMPTED TO SETTLE SIBERIAN BORDER INCIDENTS. ASSOCIATE BRITISH PROSECUTOR ARTHUR COMYNS-CARR JOINED IN THE PROTESTS.

THE THIRD RUSSIAN OBJECTION WAS TO ADMISSION OF A STATEMENT BY BARON KIJURO SHIDEHARA AT THE WASHINGTON ARMS LIMITATION CONFERENCE OF 1922 ON A JAPANESE EXPEDITION INTO SIBERIA BETWEEN 1918 AND 1922.

VASILYEV TOLD THE TRIBUNAL THE RUSSIAN PROSECUTION HAD INTRODUCED MENTION OF THE SIBERIAN EXPEDITION "AS AN HISTORICAL FACT, AS A FORE-RUNNER OF LATER JAPANESE AGGRESSION."

"THAT'S THEIR SIDE OF THE STORY," RETORTED LAZARUS. "NOW IT'S OUR TIME TO TELL OUR SIDE. WE HAVE EVIDENCE TO SHOW THE JAPANESE NEVER AGGRESSED ON RUSSIA, BUT, ON THE CONTRARY, IT WAS THE OTHER WAY AROUND--RUSSIA AGGRESSED ON JAPAN."

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., FEB. 27-(AP)-THE UNITED STATES PLAN TO CONTINUE SOLE ADMINISTRATION OF THE JAPANESE-MANDATED ISLANDS UNDER A UNITED NATIONS TRUSTEESHIP APPEARED TODAY TO BE HEADED TOWARD ALMOST CERTAIN APPROVAL BY THE SECURITY COUNCIL MARCH 7.

AS THE DELEGATES WERE CALLED INTO SESSION AT 3 P.M. (EST) TO RESUME DEBATE ON THE BRITISH-ALBANIAN MINE-LAYING DISPUTE, SOME OF THEM STILL WERE AWAITING INSTRUCTIONS FROM THEIR GOVERNMENTS ON THE TRUSTEESHIP PROPOSAL. HOWEVER, A MAJORITY, INCLUDING SOVIET RUSSIA, WERE REPORTED TO FAVOR THE PLAN "IN PRINCIPLE."

THE ONLY OPPOSITION WAS EXPECTED TO COME FROM GREAT BRITAIN AND AUSTRALIA, BUT THIS WAS NOT CERTAIN. INFORMED QUARTERS SAID BRITAIN COULD BE EXPECTED TO OBJECT TO ACTION AT THIS TIME ON LEGAL GROUNDS, BUT THAT SHE WOULD NOT GO SO FAR AS TO VETO THE U.S. PROPOSAL. AUSTRALIA WAS AWAITING FINAL INSTRUCTIONS.

SOVIET DELEGATE ANDREI A.GROMYKO, IN ACCEPTING THE SUBSTANCE AND MAIN TERMS OF THE AMERICAN PLAN, OFFERED THREE AMENDMENTS AT YESTERDAY'S MEETING, BUT MOST DELEGATES FELT THAT HE WOULD NOT VETO THE U.S. DRAFT AGREEMENT EVEN IF HIS AMENDMENTS WERE REJECTED.

RUSSIA HAD OFFERED SIMILAR AMENDMENTS TO EACH OF THE EIGHT DRAFT AGREEMENTS APPROVED IN DECEMBER BY THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY, BUT ALL OF THE AMENDMENTS WERE REJECTED.

THE RUSSIAN AMENDMENTS PROPOSED:

1. THAT THE DRAFT AGREEMENT DROP THE PROVISION THAT THE ISLANDS WOULD BE ADMINISTERED "AS AN INTEGRAL PART OF THE UNITED STATES."
2. THAT IT ADD THE WORDS "OR INDEPENDENCE" AFTER THE WORDS "TOWARD SELF-GOVERNMENT" IN THE SECTION IN WHICH THE UNITED STATES PROPOSED TO GUARANTEE THE POLITICAL DEVELOPMENT OF THE NATIVE POPULATION.
3. THAT IT GIVE THE SECURITY COUNCIL AUTHORITY TO ALTER OR TERMINATE THE DRAFT AGREEMENT, INSTEAD OF PROVIDING THAT NO CHANGES COULD BE MADE WITHOUT THE CONSENT OF THE UNITED STATES.

A12

U.S. DELEGATE WARREN R.AUSTIN WOULD NOT COMMENT ON THE AMENDMENTS, PENDING MORE CAREFUL STUDY, BUT INFORMED QUARTERS SAID

THE LAST OF THE THREE WAS THE ONLY ONE WHICH WAS LIKELY TO RAISE SERIOUS OBJECTIONS. SOME MEMBERS OF THE U.S. DELEGATION EXPRESSED BELIEF THAT THIS PROPOSAL WAS IN VIOLATION OF THE U.N. CHARTER.

ON THIS POINT THE CHARTER SAYS THE TERMS OF TRUSTEESHIP FOR EACH TERRITORY TO BE PLACED UNDER TRUSTEESHIP, "INCLUDING ANY ALTERATION OR AMENDMENT, SHALL BE AGREED UPON BY THE STATES DIRECTLY CONCERNED, INCLUDING THE MANDATORY POWER IN THE CASE OF TERRITORIES HELD UNDER MANDATE."

ALTHOUGH ONLY AUSTIN AND GROMYKO SPOKE AT YESTERDAY'S MEETING, SEVERAL DELEGATES INDICATED AFTERWARDS THAT THEY WOULD SUPPORT THE U.S. PLAN "IN PRINCIPLE."

THESE INCLUDED CHINESE DELEGATTE DR. QUO TAI-CHI AND BRAZILIAN DELEGATE OSWALDO ARANHA, WHO DECLARED THAT THE PLACING OF THE PACIFIC ISLANDS UNDER A STRATEGIC AREA TRUSTEESHIP, WITH THE U.S. AS ADMINISTRATOR, "REPRESENTS A LOGICAL AND FAR-REACHING STEP TOWARD WORLD PEACE AND SECURITY AND THE IMPROVEMENT OF PEOPLES."

ASKED IF HE BELIEVED OTHER MEMBERS OF THE COUNCIL WOULD LIKEWISE SUPPORT THE U.S. PROPOSAL, ARANHA SAID:

"YES, WITH THE POSSIBLE EXCEPTION OF AUSTRALIA AND BRITAIN."

THE ISLANDS INVOLVED INCLUDE THE MARSHALLS, CAROLINES AND MARIANAS. UNDER THE PROPOSAL, THE UNITED STATES WOULD BE PERMITTED TO MAINTAIN AIR AND NAVAL BASES ON THE ISLANDS AND TO CLAMP DOWN THE SAME SECRECY ON THE ISLAND FORTIFICATIONS AS ON ANY OTHER AMERICAN BASES.

ACTION ON THE U.S. PLAN WAS POSTPONED UNTIL MARCH 7 AT THE REQUEST OF AUSTRALIAN DELEGATE PAUL HASLUCK TO GIVE THE DELEGATES TIME TO STUDY THE PROPOSALS AND TO GET INSTRUCTIONS FROM THEIR GOVERNMENTS.

"A LARGE NEED CONTINUES FOR PUBLIC AND PRIVATE HELP. CONGRESS HAS BEFORE IT MY RECOMMENDATIONS FOR DIRECT HELP, AND I HAVE ASKED ALSO THAT WE SHARE THE RESPONSIBILITY WITH OTHER COUNTRIES OF THE UNITED NATIONS IN MEETING THE NEEDS OF REFUGEES.

ST.LAURENT, IN A SPEECH PREPARED FOR DELIVERY BEFORE THE ROTARY CLUB OF NEW YORK, CRITICIZED THE RUSSIAN PRESS FOR "FALSE AND MISLEADING STATEMENTS" ABOUT UNITED STATES-CANADIAN ACTIVITIES IN THE FAR NORTH AND DENIED THAT POLAR MILITARY BASES HAD BEEN GIVEN THIS COUNTRY.

HE DECLARED ANYONE WAS FREE TO COME AND GO IN CANADA'S NORTHLAND AND SAID THEY WOULD FIND LESS THAN 100 AMERICAN SOLDIERS AT A SMALL SCIENTIFIC OBSERVATION POST AT FORT CHURCHILL, MANITOBA.

"I THINK IT IS PARTICULARLY UNFORTUNATE," ST.LAURENT SAID, "WHEN FALSE AND MVSLEADING STATEMENTS CONCERNING OUR DEFENSE ARRANGEMENTS APPEAR IN THE PRESS OF A COUNTRY WHERE FREEDOM OF MOVEMENT OF THE KIND I HAVE MENTIONED IS NOT PERMITTED."

ST.LAURENT DECLARED A NATION MUST BE RESPONSIBLE FOR ITS OWN SECURITY TO THE EXTENT OF ITS CAPACITY AND ADDED:

Dunkerque Pact Signing Set Tuesday (U)

G. WILLIAMS

London, Feb. 28 (AP)—The foreign ministers of Britain and France announced to their approving parliaments today that a 50-year treaty of alliance between the two countries would be signed Tuesday at the historic French channel port of Dunkerque.

France and Britain already have treaties of mutual assistance with Russia. Both documents are aimed especially at Germany, but express agreement also on co-operation for the security and economic betterment of Europe.

Announcement of a third pact, completing a ring around Germany, was greeted with cheers in both the House of Commons and the French National Assembly.

Evidence Of Bonds

Ernest Bevin, Foreign Secretary, said the treaty was evidence of "bonds of friendship" between the two nations. Bidault made his announcement near the close of a statement on French foreign policy, issued on the approach of the Four-Power Foreign Ministers Conference in Moscow to consider peace treaties with Germany and Austria.

Neither Bevin nor Georges Bidault, French Foreign Minister, elaborated on terms of the treaty, which was agreed upon in principle a month ago when Leon Blum, then French Premier, was in London for talks with Bevin and Prime Minister Attlee.

Paris informants, however, said it was known to provide for close political and economic collaboration between France and Britain and recognition by Britain of France's claim to a large portion of the Ruhr valley coal output.

Search For Coal

It was largely a search for coal that brought Blum to London for the talks with the British. The coal was not available in Britain, but out of the conversations came agreement in principle on the new pact.

The Paris informants said military clauses in the treaty provide for swift joint action to suppress any threat of future German aggression.

The pact will probably be known as "The Treaty of Dunkerque." It was there that Britain rescued the remnants of an army that tried in vain to aid the French in stemming Hitler's invasion.

To Offer Other Treaties

Bevin and Bidault will meet at Dunkerque for the formal signing of the treaty at 4 P.M. (10 A.M. E.S.T.) on Tuesday. Bevin will pause for the treaty signing while on his way by train to the March 10 session of the foreign ministers in Moscow.

Bidault said France would offer treaties on similar terms to other European countries.

"The doors remains open, not only to the Belgians and the Dutch but also to our Allies of Poland and Czechoslovakia, with whom we have been allied for a long time," he said.

"France desires to rebuild with them a bridge which will stretch from west to east, all in conformity with the United Nations Charter." The French Assembly gave Bidault a vote of confidence in his policies, saying they were in the interests of France and world peace.

Germany Held Key To Peace

Bidault told the National Assembly that Germany was the key to the solution of the world's problems.

"If we can agree on Germany we will agree on everything, but if we do not agree on Germany then God take pity on mankind," he said.

He deplored the delay in taking up the German settlement, and said it was not France's fault that it had not been considered sooner.

Bidault asserted that French policy on Germany had never wavered and that his country's chief aim was to see that Germany "after having become the prize, should not become the umpire" between the Allies.

Reaffirms Unity Demand

He reaffirmed French demands for economic unity between the Saar Valley and France and declared anew his support for a federated Germany.

Bevin announced yesterday that while in Moscow he would push the plan of James F. Byrnes, former United States Secretary of State, for a 25-year pact between Britain, France, the United States and Russia to guard against new German assaults.

Bevin is negotiating also for strengthening the present Anglo-Russian treaty and extending it to 50 years' duration instead of the present twenty.

Britain, France To Sign Treaty Of Alliance (D)

London, Feb. 28 (AP) — Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin announced agreement on a British-French treaty of alliance in the House of Commons today.

Bevin said he and French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault would sign the treaty next Tuesday at Dunkerque.

"It is evidence of the bonds of friendship" between the two countries, he said.

Dunkerque has special significance to the two countries as a scene of horror and defeat resulting from attempted wartime co-operation that fell short of its goal of stopping the Germans in 1940.

Congratulated By Eden

Anthony Eden, Conservative former Foreign Minister, congratulated Bevin for concluding the new alliance.

"Close and enduring friendship between the two nations is a contribution to world peace," Eden said, adding that members of the House "would all be with Mr. Bevin in spirit at Dunkerque."

The House members cheered.

Bevin's announcement did not include a delineation of the terms of the treaty, which was agreed upon in principle last month while Leon Blum, then French Premier, was here for talks with Bevin and Prime Minister Attlee.

MORE OF BRITAIN'S PLANTS REOPEN (U)

W. PHILLIPS

LONDON, Feb. 28—(AP) The government announced tonight that electric power would be restored to all British industry by Monday, ending the power cuts imposed on Feb. 10 because of the coal shortage.

The coal cabinet of Prime Minister Attlee extended the power restoration to London and southeastern England as well as to the northwest areas. Restorations had begun in the Midlands this week.

There will be no curtailment, however, of the restrictions on domestic use of electricity. A statement said that the "greatest possible economy" in homes and non-essential plants "remains as urgent as ever and all consumers are asked to cooperate in order that the needs of industry may be met."

The go-ahead for the southeast was given despite lack of two weeks' supplies of fuel—considered the minimum safety margin—at part of the electricity generating stations. The coal cabinet said it was "satisfied that in power stations where deficiencies still exist it might be possible to make up deficiencies through the course of the week."

Meanwhile extreme winter weather, which brought the fuel shortage to a head early this month, continued with light snow falling again over most areas.

However, the ministry of fuel reported that only six of the country's 1,500 coal pits were snow-bound, and only a few colliers in northern ports remained weather-bound.

British Industry's Power Ban Off (D)

London, Feb. 28 (AP)—All electrically powered industry in Britain will be back in production Monday, the Government announced tonight.

Prime Minister Attlee's "Coal Cabinet" decided today on restoration in London and southeastern England, as well as in the northwest, of power cuts imposed February 10.

The Midlands, the third area affected by a fuel crisis that paralyzed industries in half of Britain, began restorations this week.

Restrictions on domestic use of electricity will remain in effect in all Britain.

Snowfall Widespread

Snow spread from the north of England to the south coast, and more was expected. Temperatures hovered around freezing, as they did over most of Europe, with no early prospect of a general thaw.

France, Belgium, Holland and southern Germany had heavy snowfalls, while the temperature in Berlin rose slowly toward the thawing point. Subzero weather continued in Scandinavia. Cold rain fell in northern Italy, where the temperature hung just above freezing.

'Imperialism' Of U.S. Assailed By British Red

Pollitt Asks Dominions to Line Up With Britain in Anti-American Bloc

LONDON, Feb. 28 (AP).—Harry Pollitt, British Communist leader, today urged Great Britain's dominions to line up with the mother country—like the Slav states with Russia—to protect both Great Britain and themselves against "American imperialism."

Britain, Canada and Australia particularly, he said, must fight against becoming "the forty-ninth, fiftieth and fifty-first states of the U. S. A."

Pollitt spoke at a dominions session of the first Empire Conference of Communist Parties. He advocated immediate intra-Empire measures such as barter trading to relieve the British economic crisis, which he predicted will last at least five years. Then with Empire ties strengthened, he said, "along with the Slav peoples we could defeat any menace that American imperialism might offer to the common cause."

Palestine Quota Studied

British Consider Jewish Agency Plea to Let in 4,000 a Month

LONDON, Feb. 28 (AP).—Government sources said today Great Britain is considering a Jewish Agency request for an increase in Jewish immigration to Palestine, pending a United Nations decision, from the quota of 1,500 to 4,000 a month.

Limitations were set by the 1939 British White Paper.

A Jewish Agency delegation pressed for the new figure last night at a meeting with Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin and Colonial Secretary Arthur Creech Jones. The two officials promised to lay it before the Cabinet, informants said.

CHURCHILL STIRS BUSINESS

Bids Industrialists Act to Put End to Labor Government

LONDON, Feb. 28 (AP)—Winston Churchill, declaring that "our empire is being cast away," called on business men and industrialists today to do all they can to bring the Labor Government "to a speedy end."

His reference was to the fact that Britain was ending her dominion over India and Burma, withdrawing from Egypt and seeking to turn over her Palestine mandate to the United Nations.

Mr. Churchill said in a message to the annual meeting of the Political Council of the Constitutional Club: "Too long has there been general apathy among business men about politics. They must do their duty without delay or face a situation even more serious than the present."

Russia Reports '46 Production Short of Goals

Council of Ministers Sets Increased Targets for This Year, Hits Coal Lag

LONDON, Saturday, March 1 (AP).—The Moscow radio today broadcast a decree of the U. S. S. R. Council of Ministers, listing "shortcomings" in 1946 production of coal, agriculture, housing, rail transport and electrical engineering under the current five-year plan.

The decree set targets for increased production for 1947. The broadcast, intercepted by the Soviet monitor here, was directed to all regional Soviet listening posts for nation-wide publication.

Previously Soviet officials had acknowledged that drought had set back agriculture, but today's decree said the coal industry is "lagging behind" and production of consumer goods is "slower than warranted."

The decree said that as a result of the consequences of the war, the coal industry "is lagging behind, thus holding up the development of other branches of heavy industry, railway transport and the whole national economy."

Also seriously lagging behind requirements of the national economy, the decree said, are the "production of rails and wheels for railway rolling stock" and electrical and agricultural engineering, "the latter not meeting the needs of agriculture." The decree added: "Resumption of the production of consumer goods is slower than warranted. The 1946 housing program is not fulfilled and this is causing a holdup of labor productivity."

Heading the list of "fundamental tasks" for 1947, as outlined by the decree, is "an all-around rise in fuel industry production—in the first place greater coal and oil output, an important condition for the development of industry and transport as well as growth of the entire national economy."

British Pay $1,290,320,000

LONDON, Feb. 28 (AP)—The Treasury said today that the British Government had paid the balance of its £322,580,000 ($1,290,320,000) due the international monetary fund. Of the £270,345,000 ($1,081,380,000) paid in sterling—the remainder was paid in gold—£238,075,000 ($952,300,000) was reborrowed against noninterest-bearing notes issued to the fund and cashable on demand by the fund.

London Credit for Hungary

LONDON, Feb. 28 (AP).—A credit of £500,000 ($2,000,000) is being negotiated in London by the Hungarian government with the approval of the British government. Hungary expects to use much of the credit to buy British wool.

France Decrees Low-Wage Boost

J. BYNAP

Paris, Feb. 28 (AP)—The French Cabinet decreed today that all wages below 7,000 francs ($58.33) a month be brought up to that level, but leaders of the nation's largest labor organization said they were not satisfied with the pay boost.

Officials of the Communist-dominated Confederation Generale du Travail (CGT) said the plan was "unsatisfactory" because it failed to grant workers a clear-cut pay increase. They set a meeting of the national executive board for March 12 to consider the matter.

The Cabinet, in what Premier Paul Ramadier hoped was a compromise solution which would end economic unrest, approved the boost as a "temporary indemnity" for workers earning less than 7,000 francs.

Meanwhile, there were unconfirmed reports that next week would see the end of the strike of pressroom workers which has closed French-language dailies in Paris since February 14.

Civil service employés in Paris and suburbs, who had been planning a token strike to express discontent over wages, called it off after learning of the Government's intention to carry out a price-cutting program and at the same time to establish the national minimum of 7,000 francs.

Monthly Minimum Pay Set by French (D)

Paris, Feb. 28 (A. P.).—Premier Paul Ramadier's Cabinet ordered today that all wages below 7,000 francs ($58.33) a month be brought up to that level by establishing temporary indemnities.

The Cabinet announcement insisted that the move must not be a signal for claims for higher wages above that figure.

French Troops Kill 263 Viet Namese

Paris, Feb. 28 (AP)—French troops killed 263 Viet Namese soldiers in a fight February 25 northwest of Hanoi, dispatches from Indo-China reported today. The French were extending their lines outside Hanoi at the time.

A French general staff communiqué reported also that at Yen Lap, 15 miles from Hongay, French troops had seized control of an important section of the Bac Ninh highway.

France Repeals Press License Law

PARIS, Feb. 28 (AP).—The French National Assembly today repealed the newspaper license law under which the government has regulated publications since the liberation. As a result, no publisher now will need a government license to start a paper.

The Assembly enacted its own version of the repeal measure after rejecting certain amendments adopted unanimously by the other house of Parliament, the Council of the Republic. Under the French constitution, the Council may reject or amend a measure passed by the Assembly, but the Assembly may adopt it over the Council's objections by an absolute majority.

UNRRA Mission In France to Close

Paris, Feb. 28 (A. P.).—Brig W. Fraser, chief of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration Mission in France, announced today that UNRRA would end more than two years of work in France tonight. Its chief mission was recruiting of French civilians for UNRRA work. It also handled the purchase of $72,500,000 worth of American surplus stocks for distribution in war stricken countries.

Bitter Row In Berlin

MAR 1947 (N) RIKASCHKE

Berlin, Feb. 28 (AP)—Bitter disagreement between the Anglo-American and Soviet military governments burst into the open again today, ten days before the meeting of the Foreign Ministers' Council at Moscow to consider terms of the peace with Germany.

Provoked by public Russian allegation that the Potsdam agreement was violated in the economic merger of the American and British occupation zones, Lieut. Gen. Lucius D. Clay and Air Chief Marshal Sir Sholto Douglas, heads of the United States and British military governments, sharply denied the charges and, in turn, accused the Russians of blocking unification of Germany.

Foreign Monopoly

Clay charged further that the Russians had created a foreign monopoly in their zone by seizing ownership of one third of its remaining industry. He declared they had consistently refused to share the resources of their rich zone with the remainder of the country, while American and British taxpayers had to supply huge sums to feed western Germany.

Douglas accused the Soviets of sabotaging four-power plans for reparations and holding down German industrial production by failing to agree to economic unification of all Germany.

The British military governor charged that the Soviet governor, Marshal Vassily D. Sokolovsky, in making public "illusory accusations" against the Western powers, was attempting to "prejudice the public mind" in advance of the Moscow conferences.

Large Deliveries

Clay, United States Military Governor-Designate for Germany, also asserted that the Soviet Union was taking large deliveries from current production in eastern Germany without making any return.

"It is difficult," Clay said, "to understand the concern of the Soviet Military Government with respect to the creation of foreign-owned monopolies and other foreign investments in western Germany.

"Investments by the United States in Germany have not been increased by one penny during the occupation and, in fact, the United States Military Government has presented to the Allied Control Authority a proposal for a moratorium on all foreign investments for which it has been unable to obtain approval.

Includes Largest Plants

"The particular observation of the Soviet Military Government is extremely interesting in view of information which has come to us that it has taken over the ownership of one third of the industry now remaining in the Soviet zone, to include the largest and most efficient plants.

"The only foreign-owned monopoly known to the American Military Government consists of the Soviet A.G.'s (Aktien Gesellschaften)."

British and American zones in western Germany were joined economically in a move toward economic unification of all Germany as envisaged in the Potsdam provisions, the American commander said. All other zones were invited to participate in the merger under the same terms and conditions, but the offer was not accepted, he added.

"It is difficult to understand even now why the Soviet Military Government did not accept this offer if it is so desirous of an economic unity which will permit improvement of conditions in Germany," Clay observed, "particularly as the offer of the American and British military governments still stands."

foreign monopolies were being created, Clay said:

"It is difficult to understand the concern of the Soviet military government with respect to the creation of foreign-owned monopolies and other foreign investments in western Germany.

No U.S. Gains

"Investments by the United States in Germany have not been increased by one penny during the occupation, and, in fact, the United States Military Government has presented to the Allied Control Authority a proposal for a moratorium on all foreign investments, for which it has been unable to obtain approval.

"This particular observation of the Soviet military government is extremely interesting in view of information which has come to us that it has taken over the ownership of one third of the industry now remaining in the Soviet zone," Clay said.

Clay said the merger of British and American zones constituted a step toward fulfillment of the Potsdam provisions for economic unification of Germany.

Clay Rejects Russian Charges On Merger

(D) RIKASISCHKE

Berlin, Feb. 28 (AP)—Lieut. Gen. Lucius C. Clay, United States Military Governor-designate, rejected today Russian charges that the Americans and British had violated the Potsdam Agreement in merging their zones in Germany.

At the same time Clay cited information that the Russians had created a foreign-owned monopoly in eastern Germany by seizing ownership of one third of the industry remaining in the Russian occupation zone.

Clay made his assertions in reply to Marshall V. D. Sokolovsky, Soviet zone commander, upon the bizonal merger.

Soviet Policy Hit

Sokolovsky issued his statement in the Soviet press and radio yesterday after blocking a suggestion by Clay that it be given out by all powers simultaneously.

Clay said the Soviet was taking large deliveries from current production in the Soviet zone which might better be devoted to raising the German standard of living.

87 YANKS SEEK TO WED GERMANS

Frankfurt, Feb. 28 (A. P.).—Eighty-seven American men in the Frankfurt area alone have applied for permission to marry German girls, United States Army Headquarters officials said today. Nine of the prospective German brides are pregnant and one has a child by the soldier she wishes to marry, the applications disclosed. Many of the girls are older than their soldier fiances. Four are widows, two of them with children by their former husbands.

Four of the American applicants are Army officers, twenty-six are enlisted soldiers and fifty-seven are civilian employees of the War Department—most of whom are former soldiers who stayed here after their Army discharge in order "to marry the girl I love."

The first wedding under the December 19 order lifting the previous G. I.-fraulein wedding ban is expected to take place late in March. One G. I. applicant for permission to marry already has changed his mind. He asked military authorities to cancel his application.

Deaths Of 40,000 Blamed On Woman

Dachau, Germany, Feb. 28 (AP)—United States War Crimes prosecutors accused a German woman doctor today of indirect responsibility for the death of nearly half of the 80,000 male concentration-camp prisoners whom she forced to march in naked review before her.

The doctor, Elika Flocken, passed on the physical condition of male inmates in the Mueldorf concentration camp in 1944 and 1945. The indictment charged that she selected prisoners for extermination by gas.

Gen. Balmer in Austrian Post

VIENNA, Feb. 28 (AP)—Gen Mark W. Clark announced today the appointment of Brig. Gen. Jesmond D. Balmer as Deputy Commander of United States Forces in Austria. General Balmer replaces Brig. Gen. Ralph H. Tate, who is returning to the United States to retire.

Belgian Minister to Visit U. S.

Mons, Belgium, Feb. 28 (A. P.)—Six Belgian Rexists, convicted of serving the Germans in official positions during the Nazi occupation were shot to death by a firing squad here today.

Madrid Police Quell Fight

MADRID, Feb. 28 (AP).—Busloads of local police today broke up fist fights between monarchists and Falangist (Spanish Fascist) youths which began when the monarchists attempted a demonstration.

The fisticuffs followed a memorial mass at the Church of Jesus de Medinacelli for King Alfonso XIII, attended by Spanish nobility and monarchist generals. After the service the monarchists started to march to the Cortes (Parliament) building two blocks away, shouting, "We want a King!" They clashed with followers of Franco and the shouting changed to "Death to Francol" and "Death to the King!"

Monarchist, Franco Youth Groups Clash

MAR 1947 (D)

Madrid, Feb. 28 (AP)—Monarchist and Falangist youths clashed for more than an hour today during a Catholic memorial mass for the late King Alfonso XIII. Several persons were arrested by police, who put down the fighting.

The fighting began when Monarchists shouted "Down with Franco!" and "We want a king!" Falangists replied with shouted slogans for Generalissimo Franco.

More than 100 armed police sped to the scene, Madrid's main thoroughfare, but were able to put an end to the trouble without the use of guns. No serious injuries were reported.

Isolated fist fights continued after order had been restored generally, but police acted quickly to break them up.

Only a few police had been present to handle the crowds when the services began.

RUSSIA URGES FARMERS TO STEP UP PRODUCTION

(N)

MOSCOW, Feb. 28—(AP) The central committee of the Communist party, recognizing the serious situation faced by Russian agriculture because of war damage and last year's drought, called on the nation's farmers for an increase of almost 30,000,000 acres in land under cultivation in the next two years.

The committee representing 6,000,000 party members in the Soviet Union declared it was essential that Russia restore within three years the pre-war level of grain production and "greatly exceed it" by the end of the current five-year plan.

(The statesman's year book said total area under cultivation in Russia in 1941 was 157,000,000 hectares, approximately 392,500,000 acres. Of this total 111,000,000 hectares, or about 277,500,000 acres, were devoted to food grains).

The Soviet government has resolved to increase this year's cultivated land by 6,300,000 hectares, or about 15,750,000 acres, over 1946. Most of the increase was slated for collective farms, which make up the backbone of the Soviet agriculture economy.

Grain Supply Low, Russ Ask More Bread

(D)

Moscow, Feb. 28 (AP)—The Communist party threw its support today to a drive for more bread for Russia in a statement disclosing that grain production was far below the prewar level.

The statement, issued by the party's central committee in session here, indicated that to get back to that level the Soviet Union would need to:

1. Spend three years of concerted effort.

2. Boost the amount of sown land by 12,400,300 hectares—over 30,000,000 acres—this year and next, mainly on collective farms.

[A hectare equals 2.471 acres.]

Press and radio devoted thousands of words to the committee meeting. Pravda, the party's newspaper, said "the wounds inflicted on agriculture are too deep to heal in one or two years."

More Speed Asked

The committee held that the country must restore prewar level grain production in three years and "greatly exceed it by the end of the first five-year plan."

Goals it set for the increase in sown land were 6,200,000 hectares this year and 6,100,000 hectares more next year, with 5,700,000 hectares of the 1947 increase and 5,000,000 hectares of the 1948 increase taking place on collective farms.

Count And 2 Others Executed In Poland For 'Treason'

Warsaw, Feb. 28 (AP)—Count Kawery Grocholski, and two other Poles were executed today by a firing squad for high treason.

The Government announced that President Boleslaw Bierut had declined to commute the death sentences of Grocholski, Wlademar Baczak, 24, formerly attached to the Polish Foreign Ministry, and Witold Kalicki, 36, a captain in the Internal Security Corps.

Sentenced January 14

They were sentenced by a military tribunal January 14. A fourth defendant, dark-haired, attractive Chrystina Kosiorek, 22, was sentenced to ten years' imprisonment.

During the trial, one of the defendants testified that Victor F. W. Cavendish-Bentinck, retiring British Ambassador to Poland, had received state and military secrets from the underground organization WIN, the purpose of which was alleged to be the overthrow of the Warsaw regime. Grocholski acknowledge belonging to the organization.

Envoy's Implication Denied

The British Foreign Office rejected any implication that Cavendish-Bentinck had plotted with an underground organization.

Cavendish-Bentinck will leave Warsaw tomorrow to take up his new duties as British Ambassador to Brazil. He will go to Rio de Janeiro via London.

REFUGEE SHIP'S ARRIVAL STIRS HAIFA VIOLENCE

J. Goodwin (N)

HAIFA, Palestine, Feb. 28—(AP) One person was killed and six injured in a bomb explosion on an upper floor of Barclay's Bank here today during mounting tension over arrival of a refugee ship carrying 1,350 uncertified Jewish immigrants to Palestine.

Crowds surged through Haifa's main street during the day and a maze of road blocks was hastily manned by British troops to prevent their storming the suburb of Bat Galim as urged by curbstone speakers. Excitement appeared subsiding tonight, despite the departure of a British transport deporting some of the newly arrived refugees to Cyprus.

1 Killed By Blast

The explosion killed a Jewish employe of the British navy pay office, and injured an English girl employe, four other Palestine Jewish members of the staff and a British soldier, who discovered the bomb and attempted to defuse it. Two floors of the modern four-story building were wrecked, but Barclay's bank quarters on the ground floor were undamaged.

The refugee ship, the Haim Arlosoroff, lay aground in clear view of Haifa throughout the day and British naval craft could be seen removing its passengers to British transports.

The transport Empire Ocean Guard sailed late this afternoon for Cyprus with 275 passengers transferred from the Haim Arlosoroff, and the remainder of the refugee vessel's passengers were being put aboard the transport Ocean Vigour tonight.

(In Jerusalem, the Palestine high court granted a restraining order against deportation of the Haim Arlosoroff's passengers asked by the Jewish Community Council. The order directed that representatives of the Palestine government appear in court Tuesday to show cause wny the refugees should be deported. Authorities at Haifa, however, apparently either had not been notified of the order or were disregarding it.)

An American consular official sent to Haifa to investigate reports that the refugee ship had an American captain and crew said tonight that of 10 of the crew identified, only two claimed to be American and the remainder spoke only Yiddish and Hebrew. It was rumored in Haifa that the ship sailed from a Swedish port and its passengers appeared to be from eastern Europe.

Many of the passengers appeared ill and ambulances moved to and from the port area. Some of the refugees said they had been at sea for five weeks and were without water for two days.

Fighting Reported

They also reported that five passengers and two British sailors had been injured in fighting when the ship was boarded today. The passengers' resistance was halted by tear gas, they added.

The Haim Arlosoroff was intercepted yesterday after it was spotted off Tel Aviv. It signaled British patrol craft that it was headed for Alexandria, but five British destroyers took it under escort as it proceeded toward Haifa. It was run aground by its crew today 200 yards off Bat Galim, Haifa's oldest Jewish section.

Ten men and two women jumped from the refugee vessel's decks and swam to Bat Galim, but were apprehended and held in military barracks, British officials said.

Public feeling in Haifa rose to fever pitch during the day. Shops were closed and throngs gathered in the streets and on the beach. Those at the beach sang with the passengers on the ship and those in the streets were exhorted by speakers to storm Bat Galim, apparently with the aim of hindering transfer operations.

Quiet was restored tonight with the beginning of the Jewish Sabath and the movement of the refugees to British transports was unhampered.

Haifa Explosion Injures 7.

Jerusalem, Feb. 28 (AP)—Reliable reports from Haifa said two soldiers and five civilians were injured in a bomb explosion there today a few hours after an intercepted refugee ship with 1,350 unauthorized immigrants aboard was escorted into Palestine waters off Haifa.

An American consular officer, in Haifa to investigate reports that the ship was carrying an American captain and crew, said the second floor of Barclay's Bank was blasted by the bomb.

Immigrant Ship Aground

Other reports said the explosion was caused by a mine placed in offices of the Haifa Shipping Company, on the third floor of the Barclay Building. These reports said the shipping-company offices were damaged, but the bank itself was not.

The immigrant steamer, the Haim Arlosoroff, was hard aground, meanwhile, off Cape Carmel, in sight of Haifa port. Dispatches from Haifa said the port city's population was at fever pitch. Crowds were gathering in Herzl street and were being harangued by impromptu speakers to march on the suburb of Ramat Gan, where at least twelve of the passengers who had leaped from the ship were known to have attempted to swim ashore.

British authorities immediately cleared the Haifa water front of civilians in preparation for deportation of the refugees, but this move was temporarily blocked by a restraining order which the Jewish Community Council obtained from the Palestine High Court. Sir William Fitzgerald, presiding justice of the court, directed Palestine authorities to show cause Tuesday why the deportation should be carried out.

The application for a writ of habeas corpus to prevent deportation of the immigrants to Cyprus was filed by David Gotein, Jerusalem lawyer, in the name of Isaac Funt, a member of the Executive Committee of the Jewish Community Council. It named the Palestine Chief Secretary, the British Military Commander and other officials, including the officers commanding the British deportation ships.

The application charged that the deportation vessels were actually prison ships. The lawyer said that detention on the high seas outside Palestine territorial waters was illegal.

The refugee ship was reported to have played a twelve-hour game of tag with two British destroyers before she was brought into Haifa harbor. A public information officer said the vessel was intercepted at 11 P. M. yesterday apparently en route to Tel Aviv, but later changed her course and signaled watching British ships that she was bound for Alexandria with an American captain and crew.

INDIAN PRINCES SAID TO REJECT ASSEMBLY

NEW DELHI, India, Feb. 28 (AP)—Leaders of India's Chamber of Princes have decided not to enter the Constituent Assembly unless the Moslem League joins that body, a reliable source said today.

However, in the face of a possible compromise between the Congress party and the Moslem League at a meeting to be held tomorrow, the princes have declined to make their decision formal and binding.

The Chamber, composed of the maharajahs, nawabs and gaekwars of the so-called Indian native states, has committed itself to work under provisions of the British Cabinet mission plan for the creation of an independent Indian Government announced last May. Its representatives contend, however, that if the Moslem League does not join in writing the new Constitution, Prime Minister Attlee's statement makes it clear that Britain would not accept the Constitutent Assembly's product.

The Interim Central Government, in which the princes are not represented, submitted a proposed "poor man's" budget. It would raise income tax exemptions in the lowest bracket, abolish the salt tax and double the tea export duty.

Finance Minister Liaqat Ali Khan delivered the budget message to the Central Assembly and called for special investigation of "great private accumulations of wealth in recent years" that he said were "alleged to have escaped taxation."

The budget message also proposed nationalization of the Reserve Bank of India and Government control of the stock market and commodity and bullion exchanges.

SOONG QUITS CHINA POST AS PREMIER

Blames Nation's Economic Woes On Reds In Farewell Speech

Hi Myers

Nanking, Saturday, March 1 (AP). Premier Soong resigned today and in a farewell appearance before the legislative Yuan (Council), blamed China's economic woes on the Communists.

Soong himself made his resignation public in an appearance before the Yuan, before which he had been called to render an explanation of "China's muddled economic situation."

After his dramatic and unexpected announcement, the retiring Premier declared: "I refer your questions on the state of China's economy to the new president of the Executive Yuan (Cabinet)."

Speculation in Nanking was that Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek would assume the premiership. Soong said the Generalissimo had accepted his resignation.

Communication Destruction

Speaking briefly to the legislators, Soong blamed Communist destruction of communications for the sad state of China's economy.

Soong said he had submitted his resignation to Chiang once before but the Generalissimo had refused to accept it.

Legislators expressed dissatisfaction with Soong's refusal to answer their questions and insisted he would be held responsible until his successor was appointed.

Handbills attacking Soong's handling of China's finances were circulated in the Legislative Yuan.

[Soong's critics blamed his ill-fated export subsidy plan for the recent drastic drop in the value of the Chinese dollar.]

Seeking Replacement

Informed quarters said Chiang for several days had been seeking a replacement for Soong because of the steadily mounting dissatisfaction with the measure the Premier instituted to control mounting inflation.

These sources said the premiership had been offered to and declined by both Sun Fo, head of the Legislative Yuan, who is son of the late Sun Yat-sen, founder of the republic, and Gen. Chang Chun, governor of Szechwan province, who served on Gen. George C. Marshall's three-member truce committee.

They considered it likely that Chiang would repeat his wartime action and hold both the premiership and the presidency, tendering the vice premiership to either Sun or Chang.

The resignation was to become effective upon acceptance by the Government. It was to be sent to the Supreme National Defense Council this afternoon.

China Ousting Red Officials (2)

Nanking, Feb. 28 (AP)—Government garrison headquarters today ordered Chinese Communist delegations to withdraw from Government territory before March 5 because "your troops are engaged in open rebellion against the Government."

This action against Communist liaison offices in Nanking, Shanghai and Chungking came as gunfire echoed through the suburbs of Changchun. Government dispatches conceded that Communist forces had penetrated to within 10 miles of the Manchurian capital.

The Ministry of Information disclosed that the garrison order was contained in a letter which also charged that members of the Communist party, since the collapse of peace negotiations, "have been spreading rumors and instigating riots and uprising everywhere."

A Communist spokesman said the Reds had already started packing and that United States Air Force planes which had planned to fly dependents of the Nanking and Shanghai delegation to Yenan, Communist capital, Sunday would be asked to fly the liaison staffs there later.

Drive Reported Slowed

Field dispatches received here declared that Government troops had slowed the drive by using planes from bases at Mukden.

Gen. Lin Piao, Communist commander in Manchuria, aimed an estimated 250,000 men, supported by a sprinkling of tanks, at Changchun from three directions.

Ta Kang Pao, organ of the extreme right wing of Chiang Kai-shek's Kuomintang party, said a number of dependents of Government officials had been evacuated to Mukden.

Nationalists Study Gains

PEIPING, Feb. 28 (AP)—The North China Pacification Conference of top Government military leaders turned today to the question of political stabilization of areas recovered from the Communists.

Gen. Hsiung Shih-hui, director of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's headquarters in Manchuria, attended the conference. He arrived yesterday with Foreign Minister Wang Shih-chieh, who had made a quick trip to Manchuria. Dr. Wang flew on to Nanking yesterday.

Restlessness persisted in Peiping, following police raids. Students of National Peiping and Tsinghua universities said they would continue to boycott examinations until tomorrow in protest against the arrest of a Tsinghua student.

The police announced that the arrested student had confessed that he was a member of the Communist party and had received orders to start disturbances in Peiping. The youth was released after ten days after promising to return to his studies, they said.

The independent newspaper Shih Chieh Jih Pao reported a campaign of mass arrests, similar to that in Peiping, was under way in Mukden, Manchuria.

Supplies To Manchuria

Peiping, Feb. 28 (AP)—Two United States planes from the now-abandoned truce headquarters delivered the first large consignment of UNRRA medical supplies to Communist-held areas of Manchuria on a flight to Harbin, UNRRA officials said today.

China's Civil War A 'Strange' Affair

Shanghai, Feb. 28 (AP)—Government and Chinese Communist forces are fighting bitterly, but it's a strange civil war.

Headquarters of the Communist 18th Group Army in Yenan officially is part of the National Army under Chiang Kai-shek.

The red, white and blue National flag flies at Yenan as it does in Nanking.

In the sitting room of 18th Group headquarters, a portrait of Chiang looks down from the wall in company with those of Sun Yet-sen, Premier Stalin and Phime Minister Clement Attlee.

Maintain Liaison

The Communists maintain liaison offices in Nanking and Shanghai.

Nationalists and Communists meet at cocktail parties and dinners in Nationalist territory.

Communist officials in Nationalist territory give interviews attacking high Government officials, including Chiang, and these are sent around the world, without censorship.

Mail is delivered between Nationalist and Communist territory.

And—on paper, at least—both sides are winning.

"Anti-U.S." Group Formed

Shanghai, Feb. 28 (AP)—Anti-American students in various parts of China have formed the "All-China Students Anti-United States Atrocity Federation." The group reportedly will attempt to keep alive resentment which flared following the alleged rape of a Chinese girl by an American Marine in Peiping Christmas Eve.

Not Resigning, Stuart Says

CANTON, Feb. 28 (AP).—American Ambassador to China, J. Leighton Stuart, said today that reports that he would resign were not true. Continuing a ten-day trip, he was scheduled to leave this afternoon for Hong Kong and Hainan Island.

Japan Increases Limit On Campaign Spending

Tokyo, Feb. 28 (AP)—The Japanese Government has increased the legal maximum expenditures for individual candidates in the April national election to 100,000 yen ($6,600)—ten times the limit for the 1946 election.

But political circles, ever cynical, are saying:

"If you can spend 1,000,000 yen, you are sure to be elected, and if you have 500,000 yen there is a good chance.

"If you only have 300,000 yen, don't run."

Sustain Hodge Views on Korea

SEOUL, Korea, Feb. 28 (AP).—The Right-Wing newspaper "Oriental Daily News" declared today that Lieutenant General John R. Hodge, American commander in Korea, was correct in saying at Washington that the solution of Korea's problems lay in negotiations at Washington and Moscow. The newspaper added: "The settlement of Korean affairs can't be achieved by submitting to one-sided demands."

Garrison Of Jap Stragglers Hunted

Manila, Feb. 28 (AP)—An American war-crimes investigator will lead a 100-man Philippine army force through jungles of the Mayday Bay area of Palawan Island next week in search of a garrison of Japanese stragglers.

The Japanese, reported to number 200, are believed to have participated in the torch massacre of 150 American prisoners of war in November, 1944.

Major Richard R. Prewitt, of Houston, Texas, will lead the three-week search for the stragglers, who may be unaware that the war is over.

The search will be carried on from a gunboat which will anchor in Mayday Bay. A reconnaissance flight Thursday by a United States 13th Air Force plane was reported to have noted sufficient evidence to warrant an expedition.

Philippine Relief Criticized

MANILA, Feb. 28 (AP).—Dr. Frank C. Gaines, Director of United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration activities in the Philippines, said today that American relief work here had been misdirected by American and Filipino officials. He told newsmen: "What this country needs is not the soup-kitchen relief it has been getting all along, but relief in helping productive economy back on its feet."

INDIES ACTS TO EASE EXPORT TRADE CURBS

BATAVIA, Java, Saturday, March 1 (AP)—The Indonesian Republic, taking a preliminary step toward economic reconciliation with the Netherland Government, suggested formally today the immediate establishment of a joint Dutch-Indonesian trading organization.

The proposal to "develop and carry on Indonesian international trade, including the export of estate products (rubber, sugar and similar items) and the import of needed goods on a cooperative basis as equal partners" was made by Dr. A. K. Gani, the Republic's Minister of Economics, to Dr. Hubertus J. van Mook, Acting Netherland Governor General.

The proposal came less than a day after the Dutch had declared their intention to use force if necessary to compel the United States freighter Martin Behrman to call at Batavia's harbor before leaving the Netherlands Indies with a cargo, including rubber, sugar and quinine, bought at Cheribon from the Republicans.

Dr. Gani announced, as he issued his proposal, that the joint subcommittee on economic affairs, established last October by the Dutch and the Indonesians, would consider an application of James W. Ryan of the American Isbrandtsen Company for joint permission to sail the Martin Behrman to American ports subject to the terms of the projected joint trading organization.

Dutch Set To Use Force Against U.S. Ship

Batavia, Feb. 28 (AP)—The Netherlands East Indies Government formally announced today that force would be used, if necessary, to make the United States Liberty ship Martin Behrman, now loading at the nationalist port of Cheribon, call at Batavia's harbor for inspection.

Capt. F. J. Kist, chief of staff of the N.E.I. Navy, declared earlier that there would be "most disagreeable consequences" if the crew of the Martin Behrman refused to obey Dutch orders.

Given "Final Warning"

The vessel received a "final warning" that she must have a Dutch export permit for her cargo, a Netherlands Indies Government communiqué said. Rubber, sugar and quinine have gone aboard.

The Dutch said unauthorized exports from areas held by forces of the Indonesian Republic were "seriously draining this already badly hit country" because purchasers were paying only about one fifth the actual value of the goods.

An Indonesian Republican Government spokesman said 30 armed Dutch Marines had boarded the vessel while she was loading in defiance of a Dutch warning that she would be seized if she tried to sail for the United States, and had ordered the Behrman to go to Tanjong Priok, Batavia's harbor.

Carolina Skipper Balks

Capt. Rudy Grey, of Southport, N.C., this source said, refused the order and instructed his crew to ignore Dutch commands to start the engines.

Capt. Kist said it was "entirely possible" the Marines had boarded the ship but that he had not received any report as yet from a Dutch destroyer which was under orders to bring the United States ship to Tanjong Priok as soon as she finished loading.

The Indonesian spokesman, quoting an Indonesian source in Cheribon, said the situation aboard the Behrman was stalemated, with the Dutch insisting that she proceed to Batavia under Dutch destroyer escort and with the armed guard aboard and the Americans adamantly refusing to move the vessel.

Argentina Renews Claim To Antarctic

Buenos Aires, Feb. 28 (AP)—Argentina, replying to British rejection of her claims to Antarctica and the Falkland Islands, today renewed an old proposal that the entire question of Antarctic sovereignty be placed before a Buenos Aires conference of "interested countries."

The renewal of the proposal, first made by Argentina in 1940, comes at a season when United States, British, Argentine, Chilean and perhaps other expeditions have visited the region. Diplomatic observers here said the matter was being discussed among interested nations.

The British Foreign Office announced yesterday that Britain had refused to recognize Argentina's claims. Previously the British, who have administered the Falklands for 50 years, had protested issuance of an Argentine stamp showing the Falklands, which the Argentines call the Malvinas, as Argentine national territory.

Foreign Minister Juan Bramuglia's note, handed to the British Embassy here, repeated the contention that Argentine rights to the Falklands were "incontrovertible." It said also that the Antarctic belongs to Argentina without the necessity of annexation.

BRITAIN ASKS UN TO SPEED AID FOR WAR-TORN NATIONS

M. HARRELSON

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Feb. 28—(AP) Great Britain called upon the United Nations economic and social council today to give top priority to the creation of a permanent economic commission which would help the war-ravaged nations of Europe get back on their feet.

Hector McNeil, British minister of state, said that in his opinion this was the most important issue before the council, as it opened its fourth session with more than 30 items on its agenda.

Debate Next Week

Although no decision was reached as to when this question would come up, it appeared likely that the council would begin debate on it early next week. The delegates were generally agreed that such a commission should be created, but Russia and the Western powers were expected to clash over the exact duties and functions of the proposed agency.

Meanwhile, the council devoted a large part of today's two sessions to the election of officers, debate over its own finances and preliminary discussion of the report of the UN commission on narcotics.

Early in the meeting McNeil challenged what he said appeared to be an effort of Secretary-General Trygve Lie to limit the activities of the council by tightening the UN purse strings.

Referring to a warning by Lie that the council's budget was limited, McNeil said he hoped this did not mean "that any limitations are going to be placed upon the work of this council."

He added, however, that Lie's message might "be just one of these general observations" and "I hope there is no sinister interpretation of it."

Indian Delegate Sir Ramaswami Mudaliar, who was re-elected president of the council, assured McNeil that the council is not going to leave aside any important work that it has to undertake "merely on the ground of finances."

He said he felt, nevertheless that the council should "have the danger lights" before it so that it would keep in mind the financial problems involved in its proposals.

At its afternoon session the council unanimously endorsed a resolution of the general asembly providing that the council should consult with the secretary-general on the financial implications of all proposals before taking action.

Briton Challenges U.N. Curb On Its Spending

Lake Success, N.Y., Feb. 28 (AP)—British Delegate Hector McNeil today challenged what he said appeared to be an effort by Secretary General Trygve Lie to limit the work of the United Nations Economic and Social Council by tightening the purse strings.

Assistant Secretary General David Owen opened the Council's fourth session by reading a message from Lie which urged that the delegates go slow in spending money and to "adjust the budget to our work."

McNeil said he hoped this was "just a pious wish" and that there was "nothing sinister" in the Secretary-General's message.

Issues Economy List

Earlier, Lie had made public a revised list of meetings in the economic and social field with the explanation that many had to be excluded because of "budget limitations." He recommended that the Council itself have only one more session this year instead of two.

The Council unanimously elected Indian delegate Sir Ramaswami Mudaliar as president. Dr. Jan Papanek, of Czechoslovakia, was chosen as first vice president, and Drfl Alberto Arca Parro, of Peru, as second vice president.

The Secretary General also proposed that the Council and its subsidiary commissions hold their next meetings at Lake Success instead of Geneva, as originally planned, with a view to minimizing expenses.

Sets Check-Up On Costs

On their first day's agenda, the delegates found an item calling attention to a resolution of the General Assembly which stipulated that no resolution involving expenditures from United Nations funds should be approved until the Council has before it a report from the Secretary General "on the financial implications of the proposal."

This tightening of the purse strings apparently was a result of the tendency of the Council to create more and more commissions and arrange for international conferences on all kinds of questions.

Meanwhile, the delegates faced proposals for a half dozen more commissions, subcommissions and international conferences.

Controversial Proposal Up

These include two economic commissions, one for Europe and one for the Far East, a commission to study commodity problems, and world conferences on housing, freedom of information and the conservation of natural resources.

The most controversial issue before the session was the proposal to set up the two economic commissions, whose functions would be to co-ordinate economic development in war-devastated areas.

Although Russia has withdrawn her original opposition to the creation of these commissions, she was expected to disagree sharply with the United States and Great Britain over the scope of the agencies.

McNeil Considers U.N. Palestine Aid

Lake Success, N.Y., Feb. 28 (AP). Hector McNeil, British Minister of State, acknowledged today that the United Kingdom had given up hopes of settling its Palestine and Egyptian problems without help from the United Nations but said his country had "not yet" decided to call for a special session of the General Assembly to deal with Palestine.

The No. 2 man in the British Foreign Office and delegate to the United Nations Economic and Social Council told a news conference that if a special session should be called he was confident that the Assembly would find some way to hear the Jewish as well as the Arab side of the question.

Efforts For Settlement

"We have done everything we can to effect a settlement in Palestine," McNeil said. He added that Britain was considering what facilities might be available in the United Nations for solution of the problem posed by the strife-torn mandate.

Although he confirmed that it was the present intention of the London Labor Government to submit the Palestine question without recommendation for solution, McNeil said his country "will accept any obligation in regard to Palestine and other areas in line with United Nations recommendations."

Ready To Talk With Egypt

McNeil volunteered to answer general questions concerning his country and the commonwealth. Among his answers were:

1. Britain would be ready to resume negotiations with Egypt on the revision of the Anglo-Egyptian treaty of 1936 if Egypt had any new proposals to offer for the Sudan.

2. Britain will accept any modifications of the British-Russian nonaggression pact which can be made in conformity with the United Nations Charter, and will keep the United States informed of any negotiations.

3. Britain has kept the United States informed as to her financial commitments in Greece, but that Britain is not in a position to give Greece all the help she needs. He declined to say specifically whether the United States had been asked to take over some of Britain's obligations, as reported in Washington diplomatic circles today.

Gromyko Delays U.N. Statement

Lake Success, N.Y., Feb. 28 (AP)—A declaration by Andrei A. Gromyko on Soviet Russia's position on the bitterly-fought atomic energy control problem was postponed today when the United Nations Security Council cancelled its meeting set for this afternoon.

The Soviet delegate said yesterday that he expected to make a "few remarks" today on the United States plan to return the atomic question to the United Nations Atomic Energy Commission.

However, an informed source indicated this morning the meeting today was called off at the request of Gromyko, who was said to have advised President Fernand van Langenhove, of Belgium, he would like more time.

United Nations observers pointed out that Gromyko apparently had not obtained final instructions from Moscow.

The Soviet delegate blocked final action by the council on the United States proposal last Tuesday.

Hoover Would 'Lend' Relief

MAR 1947

Tells Congress Aid Should Be Put on Loan Basis—Suggests Repayment Plan.

Washington, Feb. 28 (A. P.).—Former President Herbert Hoover called on Congress today to put United States relief abroad on a loan rather than a gift basis. He also urged the establishment of the post of Foreign Relief Administrator to co-ordinate this country's missions of mercy.

Only a day after he recommended that the United States spend $475,000,000 for the relief of Germany alone over the eighteen-month period beginning last January 1, he was called to give his view before the House Foreign Affairs Committee on a proposed bill to expend $350,000,000 in five other European countries and China.

Just back from making a three weeks' survey of Europe's food needs, Hoover contended that relief for the other European countries should not be put at higher levels than those he recommended for Germany and Austria.

In his report to President Truman on his survey he said German civilian needs have "sunk to the lowest level known in 100 years of history." He recommended that the United States and Britain each spend half of $951,000,000 on German relief.

Nine Recommendations.

Hoover offered nine specific recommendations for handling relief:

1. No relief other than food, medicine, seed and fertilizers should be furnished under all relief appropriations. In some cases limited supplies of clothing might be included.

2. Relief under our contributions should be limited to United States products and to transportation. We should not use American dollars to purchase elsewhere.

3. None of the funds should be used for countries which are able to pay in cash or secure credit or supplies through other channels.

4. Further careful estimate of need and costs of relief should be made after full consideration on the ground by specialists appointed by the United States Department of Agriculture, the United States Public Health Service and the International Emergency Food Council.

5. The distribution should be continuously under the supervision of, and satisfactory to, specialists from the agencies named.

Wants No Promises Made.

6. No obligation or promise should be entered into with any country for any specific amount ofrelief; the distribution must be on a month-to-month program terminable at any time.

7. No food from relief or domestic production in any needy country should be used for political pressure and there should be no racial or other discrimination.

8. No relief should be given where either commodities or cash are going out of such nation for reparations or the purchase of arms. Such commodities or cash should be used to pay for food.

9. Any nation receiving relief should obligate itself to pay the cost thereof, either to the United States and other donors or preferably to a fund to be established by the United Nations for future famine relief.

Hoover said nations receiving reparations from countries on relief should be asked to defer such claims until relief costs have been paid—an opinion likely to bring a dissent from the Soviet Union which has sought payments from Italy and Germany to aid her own immediate reconstruction.

A Method for Repayment.

He suggested that all nations receiving relief should agree to assure repayment by a tax of 5 or 10 per cent on all of their exports, with the payments to begin in two or three years.

"In their miseries," he said, "the peoples abroad believe our possibilities of giving are unlimited. They do not realize that our taxes, Federal and local, are now—two years after the war—still taking about 35 per cent of the national income."

Hoover said he did not consider the terms of the proposed relief "harsh or strict," but rather "modest." He said repayment would be made "over a long term of years."

Immediately after hearing the ex-President, the committee went into executive session for a further discussion of the requested $350,000,000 appropriation.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28 (AP)—Following is the text of Herbert Hoover's statement on relief before the House Foreign Affairs Committee:

To this proposed appropriation of $350,000,000 [recommended by President Truman for China and five needy nations of Europe] must be added large sums for areas under the American flag in Germany and Japan and Korea.

In addition, two other important funds are in the offing to which our Government is expected to contribute. Those are the United Nations Refugee Organization to look after the displaced persons in Europe and the United Nations child feeding program. I suggest to the committee that, although other Congressional committees may be dealing with these other relief programs, you should, at least, have all the proposals before you.

I have made no personal inquiry into the relief programs proposed except that of Germany and Austria and the children's fund. I have brought the committee a copy of my report on German agriculture and food requirements and should be able to furnish such information on Austria in a few days.

In view of the world shortage of food and the great strain upon the American taxpayer, I have thought it necessary to recommend that we hold the German and Austrian programs to the very minimum under which health and work can be sustained. I suggest to the committee that relief to other countries cannot, in view of these same considerations, be put at any higher levels than those I have recommended for Germany and Austria.

I strongly favor aid to the United Nations project for special feeding of subnormal children. This fund, however, would take some part of the relief load off the countries it is proposed to serve with this $350,000,000 appropriation and as I am including child feeding in the German and Austrian program, that would, in turn, take some of the load off the United Nations' children's fund.

Burden on Taxpayer

The total of all these claims upon the generosity of the United States comes to a very large sum. And we must not forget that they are supplemental to the five to six billions we have already spent on civilian relief since the war and of our own resources.

Charitable relief by Government is today a double tax upon most of our people. It is not only a direct burden upon the taxpayer, but these unremunerative and unbalanced exports keep up prices and the cost of living.

In their miseries the people abroad believe our possibilities of giving are unlimited. They do not realize that our taxes, Federal and local, are now, two years after the war, still taking about 35 per cent of the national income. It is in the interest not only of ourselves but of the whole world that we stop, look, and listen.

America, even with all our burdens, never has, and I hope, never will, cease to do its utmost to prevent starvation in any country.

However, we should bring governmental relief to an end as soon as is possible and encourage the assumption of the burden by well-equipped private organizations. Moreover, I believe we should begin to secure repayment of these sums and have the full right to demand efficiency and economy in the use of public funds for relief and we have the further right to see that they contribute to that productivity and peace which will alone end these burdens.

Outline of Policy

I would, therefore, like to suggest to the committee some policies or methods that should be placed administratively or legally under this proposed appropriation. These suggestions are not made in criticism of the proposed legislation but in the hope that they will be helpful in accomplishing the ends we all desire.

(1) No relief other than food, medicine, seed and fertilizers should be furnished under these relief appropriations. In some cases limited supplies of clothing might be included.

(2) Relief from our contribution to these funds should be limited to United States products and to transportation. We should not use American dollars to purchase elsewhere.

(3) None of this fund should be used for countries which are able to pay in cash or to secure credit or supplies through other channels.

(4) A further careful estimate of needs and costs of this relief should be made after full examination on the ground by specialists appointed by the United States Department of Agriculture and the United States Public Health Service and the International Emergency Food Council.

These estimates (except for Austria) should include only the period from the end of the UNRRA operation to the 1947 harvest. At that time the whole relief problem should be taken up afresh in the light of the situation then.

In view of short world supplies and the needs of our own taxpayers, any further governmental relief program should, as I have said, be calculated upon no higher bases than that we have proposed for Germany.

(5) The distribution should be continuously under supervision of, and satisfactory to, specialists from the agencies named.

(6) No obligation or promise should be entered into with any country for any specific amount of relief; the distribution must be a month-to-month program, terminable at any time.

Unnecessary Military Forces

There are many reasons for such action implied in its emergency nature. Moreover, difficult policy questions arise in connection with relief to peoples whose governments are said by our Government not to have kept their promises or agreements with the United States.

Another such difficult situation is that of the governments of small countries which are maintaining military forces far beyond any necessity for police purposes—say, a number not more than one-half of 1 per cent of the population. This mobilization keeps men from producing food or making things that could be exported to pay for food.

We have no desire to fail to do our full part in alleviating the starvation of women and children merely because of actions by their officials. But at some point American patience and humane action is likely to become exhausted.

(7) No food from relief or domestic production in any relief country should be used for political pressure and there should be no racial or other discrimination.

(8) No relief should be given where either commodities or cash are going out of that country for reparations or the purchase of arms. Such commodities or cash should be used to pay for food.

(9) In my view, any nation receiving relief should obligate itself to pay the cost thereof, either to the United States and other donors or, preferably, to a fund to be established by the United Nations for future famine relief.

The nations receiving reparations from relief countries should be asked to defer reparations until these relief costs are repaid. The justice of this proposal lies in the fact that this relief obviously serves to preserve the manpower productivity, and therefore the ability to pay reparations.

Both the nations under reparations and those who are not should agree to assure repayment by a tax of say, 5 or 10 per cent, upon all exports from the debtor country, to be paid in the currencies of the countries receiving such exports, such payments to begin in two or three years.

In conclusion, such methods as these would give some production to the American taxpayer yet would deprive no needy people of relief if their Governments are willing to cooperate with the United States in securing efficiency and economy in the use of relief, in the restoration of productivity and the promotion of freedom and peace.

Grains Spurt Throughout U.S. In Response to Hoover Report

March and May Wheat Up 10c Limit; Corn Shows Gains Extending to 8c

CHICAGO, Feb. 28 (AP).—Grains responded to Herbert Hoover's report on German food conditions by staging runaway markets throughout the country today. Cash grain and grain for future delivery participated in the broad price advance.

Both March and May wheat jumped the limit of 10 cents on the Board of Trade, March going to a new twenty-seven-year high for any wheat future. May, July and September wheat were at best levels for these contracts since 1917.

Corn had gains extending to 8 cents, the limit for this grain. It was the sharpest advance since before the war for corn, which was under a 5-cent trading limit during the war years. Volume of turnover in all grains was believed to have been the largest in six years.

Wheat closed 8½ to 10 cents higher, with March $2.53. Corn was 6¼ to 8 cents higher, with March $1.57@$1.55½. Oats were 2¾ to 4¼ cents higher, with March 84⅞@85 cents.

BRITISH ASK U. S. FINANCE GREECE

MAR 1947

Capitol Leaders Weigh Impact of Move Upon World Stability.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28—(AP) Congressional leaders were reported inclined today to back up President Truman if he decides the United States should take over hard-pressed Britain's economic commitments in Greece and Turkey.

They sought meanwhile to weigh the impact of such a move upon world stability and delicate relations with Russia.

Diplomatic and congressional informants said word has come from London that the British, their domestic economy strained to the breaking point, cannot much longer maintain troops in Greece and give Turkey economic and military assistance.

President Truman declined four times at his news conference today to say anything about the reports of possible American shouldering of Britain's commitments in Greece.

However, the President and Secretary of State Marshall were said to have told a bipartisan group of congressional leaders at the White House yesterday that the alternative to American action may be eventual Communistic control of Greece.

Republicans and Democrats who listened to the discussion of what was described as a critical situation in one of the world's trouble spots were represented by colleagues as having indicated they will go along if the President decides the United States must step in in order to preserve European stability.

Some Republicans, however, were said to believe that a full explanation of the program must be made to Congress and to the people before any final decision is made.

It is highly possible that the final attitude of Congress will be determined by the public's reaction. There are these possible alternatives for the United States, a number of legislators said:

Possible Alternatives

1. Substantial economic assistance for Greece itself and for Britain in maintaining the police job there, or

2. Adoption of a hands-off policy in an area where interests of Russia and the western powers conflict.

Marshall was represented as having told the legislators at the White House that the whole question was one of whether this country could afford, in its own and world interests, to let go by default a situation that could grow worse rapidly.

It was understood by the legislators that the secretary wanted to know, in a general way, how congress felt about it so that he would be assured of backing there before he goes to the Moscow conference of foreign ministers in mid-March.

It was assumed that a decision will have been made by the President before then, so that Marshall will have no uncertainty about American policy in that direction.

It was emphasized in congressional quarters that no definite decision has been reached on this government's attitude toward plugging the gap that would open if the British pulled out of Greece completely, and withdrew whatever technical and economic aid they are giving to Turkey.

The privately expressed view of some of Marshall's advisers is that with Greece under Soviet domination like her Balkan neighbors, Turkey and the oil-rich Middle east would be helpless to oppose Russian diplomatic and military pressure.

U. S. Shows Keen Interest

Marshall himself made clear this government's keen interest by his statement earlier this month calling on King George's unsteady Athens regime to put its house in order and stating that "we are deeply concerned with the welfare of Greece."

Current American policy has been shaped in the light of reports from Ambassador Lincoln MacVeagh, and former OPA Administrator Paul Porter who heads an economic survey mission now on the scene.

In addition Mark Ethridge, Louisville Courier Journal publisher, heads a United Nations mission currently investigating reports that Greece has been kept in a turmoil by raids of leftist guerrillas armed and financed across the frontiers in Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Albania.

Just what American action might be called for remained an unanswered question in the secrecy carefully wrapped around the whole affair by the White House and State Department.

The general understanding among legislators, however, was that any United States help would be confined to taking over the British financial commitments, furnishing the funds for relief, supplying military equipment that the Greeks and the Turks need and possibly underwriting the cost of maintaining British troops at strategic points.

As far as could be learned, there is no present thought of moving in American troops to replace those of the British, who would like to get some of their soldiers home to ease a domestic manpower shortage.

The cost to this country of economic help apparently had not been determined, although some legislators said they had heard $250,000,000 mentioned as possible yearly expenditures for such a program.

The United States has already extended Greece more than $400,000,000 in post-war aid.

Russ Seen Far Ahead Of All In Air Troops—100,000

Washington, Feb. 28 (AP)—Russia is believed to have an airborne army in being or in training far surpassing that of any other power.

Information filtering out of Russia indicates, it was learned today, that the Soviet Union's strength in troops trained for lightning strikes from the air may number as high as 100,000 men.

This force compares with the single airborne division which the United States possesses. That division—the 82d at Fort Bragg, N.C.—has an authorized strength of 13,000 men but presumably is below that figure.

U.S. Unit Scattered

Efforts to bring the 82d nearer authorized strength have been complicated by the use of trained airborne soldiers as elements of occupation forces in Germany and Japan.

Some strategists note that the reported 100,000-man strength of the Russian airborne force may be misleading because of a possible Soviet deficiency in the important matter of air transportation.

Russia's primary aviation interest during the war was in fighter-type planes. She virtually ignored heavy-bomber aircraft and, either because of policy or production difficulties, did little transport-plane building. What her strength in transport is today is uncertain.

1,500 Planes For 12,000 Men

Lend-lease reports show that during the war the United States turned over to Russia about 700 transport airplanes among the 25,000 delivered.

It is not known how many are operable among these 700 transports, plus any she may have obtained from Britain or built herself. However, American experts have estimated that it requires about 1,500 transports of existing designs to move one division of about 12,000 men with their equipment.

During World War II Russia's standard airborne unit was a brigade of slightly more than 4,000 men, used either as parachutists or carried in transports. It is believed that the Red Army may have organized its postwar airborne force somewhat along the lines of the United States, into divisions probably about the standard 12,000 strength.

Maj. Gen. James A. Gavin, commander of the 82d Airborne Division, recently wrote for the Infantry Journal as follows:

"The particularly lucrative targets for attacking airborne troops will be launching sites for guided missiles, sources of strategic materials used in making atomic bombs and warheads, military fabrication plants where bombs and warheads are made, politically sensitive areas either before or after bomb or missile attack, airfields and takeoff areas for airborne troops, and terrain of particular tactical value such as groups of airfields about which an airhead may be developed. The foregoing would be targets for the airborne troops of the enemy. But they are equally suitable for our own troops."

GRAIN SHIPMENTS ABROAD SPEEDED, TRUMAN REVEALS

U. S. Two Months Ahead of Schedule in Sending Aid to Hungry Lands.

EVEN MORE NEEDED

President Also Declares Coal Must Be Sent, 'Despite Sacrifice.'

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28—(AP) President Truman announced tonight that the goal of shipping 400,000,000 bushels of American grain and flour to hungry lands by June 30 will be met by April 30 and upped the sights for more.

He issued a report of his cabinet committee on food saying that grain shipments have averaged around 50,000,000 bushels monthly for December, January and February, "the highest export rate ever achieved at this difficult season of the year."

No Grounds For Complacency

In an accompanying statement, the President declared that the prospect of reaching the grain export goal two months ahead of time "gives us no ground for complacency, however, for the battle of food is by no means over." He said that "we must go beyond our program and continue to ship as much grain in May and June as we can" but set no specific figure.

Mr. Truman also declared that "we must continue to export as much coal as possible" even though "this will take some sacrifice and considerable effort on our part." He referred to "the problem of transportation and to a lesser extent the problem of procurement."

His statement noted that Herbert Hoover's survey, as well as other reports, "reveals the tragic conditions of hunger under which many millions of people all over the world are still living."

Hoover recommended to the House Foreign Affairs committee during the day that a "please repay" tag and other qualifications be attached to relief for the needy nations and that it be withheld from countries exporting goods or cash for reparations or arms.

"It is in the interest not only of ourselves but of the whole world," he said, "that we stop, look and listen."

Hoover was discussing the proposed $350,000,000 worth of relief for China and five European countries.

U. S. Reimbursed

In connection with the grain shipments which were the subject of the cabinet committee report, the committee said that "the United States has been reimbursed either by the importing countries or by UNRRA for all the grain and flour the government has purchased and exported except, of course, supplies for occupied areas."

The shipments went to 26 countries in addition to the occupied areas of Germany and Italy and the Pacific. The president expressed "gratification" that "we have been able to supply needed food to many of our wartime allies, and that at the same time we have been able to make substantial shipments to Italy, Switzerland, Austria, Eire, Finland and other countries whose needs have also been great."

Hoover's recommendations were based on what he found out on a three weeks' on-the-spot survey made in Europe at Mr. Truman's request.

The committee considered them during the day and Chairman Eaton (R-NJ) said there was some sentiment for following Hoover's advice to require countries getting financial aid to pay it back.

Eaton said the committee may approve Monday a bill to authorize the $350,000,000 appropriation.

That would be in addition to $475,000,000 Hoover proposed yesterday for Germany alone. In Europe, Poland, Italy, Greece, Hungary and Austria would share in the $350,000,000. All are areas of conflicting interests between Russia and the western powers.

Hoover Urges Caution

"In their miseries, the peoples abroad believe our possibilities of giving are unlimited.

"They do not realize that our taxes, Federal and local, are now—two years after the war—still taking 35 percent of the national income."

For this reason, he said, "it is in the interest not only of ourselves but the whole world" that we make a careful study of future relief expenditures.

"We should bring governmental relief to an end as soon as possible," he said.

Rep. Lawrence H. Smith (R-Wis) raised questions about the advisability of shipping food into Soviet-dominated countries.

Hoover recommended that plenty of strings be attached to the cash, but said the suggestions were "moderate" rather than "strict or harsh." And he said American help to hungry and needy lands ought to be coordinated by a proposed "foreign relief administrator."

Would Attach Strings

Among the conditions he said should accompany the $350,000,000 were these:

1. Relief should be limited to food, medicine, seed, fertilizer and perhaps some clothing supplies. The money should be spent only for American products and transportation.

2. Relief should be on a month-to-month basis so it could be halted at any time.

3. No country receiving assistance should be allowed to use relief food, or domestically produced food, to apply political pressure.

Hoover said recipient nations should obligate themselves to pay for the relief, either to the United Nations famine relief fund.

The repayments could begin in two or three years, he suggested, and be financed by a 5 or 10 percent tax on exports.

Nations asking reparations from relief countries should be asked to "defer collections" during the period of assistance, Hoover said. This would apply in some instances to Russia. The Soviets have claimed reparations both from Italy and Germany.

SENATE GROUP VOTES TO BURY OPA BY JUNE 30

MAR 1947

WASHINGTON, Feb. 29 (AP)—The Senate Appropriations Committee today voted 11 to 2 to bury OPA by June 30 but members said controls over rent, sugar and rice will continue under other agencies.

"The committee was informed that a rent control bill is ready for early senate consideration," Chairman Bridges (R-NH) told reporters.

Also, he said, "there is a move afoot to transfer sugar and rice controls to the Department of Agriculture."

Failed to Cut Payroll

Bridges read into the record a letter from Chairman Taber (R-NY) of the House Appropriations Committee that OPA had "failed to keep faith with the government" in reducing its payroll.

Taber said 1,000 OPA field workers could handle sugar controls and 3,000 rents. Instead, he said, OPA still has 12,800 workers in the field.

The House, in a recent vote, aimed a much harder blow at OPA. It voted to cut $9,000,000 from its current year's appropriation, a move which OPA officials said would put the agency out of business immediately. The final decision may be made in a senate-house conference committee.

Bridges reported the senate committee vote was by a show of hands and that he could not remember how the individual members stood. No record was made.

Far from providing comfortably for OPA's old age, the committee whacked $4,000,000 off the $22,000,000 recommended by the subcommittee yesterday for the agency's windup expenses. The full committee settled on a final figure of $17,991,815. The vote on this was 8 to 4, again by a non-record ballot.

Bridges said about $7,000,000 will be used to pay employes' terminal leave, and the remainder for operating expenses and liquidation purposes.

Bridges added the agency must make "drastic cuts" in personnel to eke out its reduced budget, operating with about one-fifth of its present staff.

in Washington trying to sell this stock. He added that the clash between the Dutch and Indonesians made it difficult to determine how much sugar is available, or how to find and ship it.

"Bags Turned Into Clothing"

"I was told that the natives had stripped the bags from much of this sugar during the war to make clothing," Baldridge said, "and that Indonesians prevent anyone from going inland more than 20 miles from the coast. The sugar is supposed to be stored in the interior."

Francis A. Linville, State Department sugar official, also told about an "invisible" supply in Java, but added that it is not expected to reach export markets before next year.

James Marshall, Agriculture Department sugar expert, said this Government "has no actual information regarding sugar in Java" but has heard of reports by British and Dutch groups who went into the interior in 1945.

These groups found records indicating that there should be about 2,000,000 tons of sugar, Marshall said. He estimated that the most Java is likely to export this year is 200,000 tons.

Java Sugar Pile Held Enough To End Controls

Washington, Feb. 28 (AP)—Senator McCarthy (R., Wis.), said today "all sugar rationing controls could be lifted" if the United States could lay hands on a huge stock of sugar believed to be stored in the interior of Java.

"Witnesses tell us there are from 1,500,000 to 2,000,000 tons of sugar in Java," McCarthy said after a hearing by a Senate Banking subcommittee. "At the same time, OPA and Government witnesses say we need only about 1,200,000 to 1,700,000 tons to meet all domestic demands."

Hearings On Rationing

The subcommittee is conducting hearings on a proposal to continue sugar rationing and price controls for another year and shift these controls from the OPA to the Agriculture Department.

H. Malcolm Baldridge, attorney for the United States Cane Sugar Refiners Association, testified yesterday that a representative of the "Dutch sugar trust" told him there "may be 2,000,000 tons of sugar" in Java.

Baldridge said C. H. Varkevisser, representing the Dutch sugar interests in Java, recently had been

GOVERNMENT PREDICTS CUT IN FOOD COSTS

Reduction By Summer Forecast; Drop In Other Prices Seen

Washington, Feb. 28 (AP)—Barring a poor crop year, housewives and family breadwinners can look forward to a reduction this year in their grocery bills, Agriculture Department officials predicted today.

They said also that prices of many nonfood items in the family budget must come down if the big volume of the nation's 1947 industrial and agricultural production is to move into consumption and use.

An official department report issued today showed that farm prices on February 15 were at substantially the same level as a month earlier.

Price Outlook Analyzed

This is the way food officials size up the price outlook:

The nation now has a large supply of food as it has had in any February in history and slightly more than at this time last year. Furthermore, prospects point to another bumper farm output this year.

On the other hand, retail outlets are offering more nonfood items—such as automobiles, refrigerators, household furnishings, etc.—than a year ago. These items are competing with food for about the same number of consumer dollars that were available a year ago.

"Weakening Demand" Cited

"In other words," these officials said, "there is a tendency for consumers to divert dollars from food to other goods they could not get earlier. Under such conditions there is nothing in the economic picture to push food prices upward. Instead, they will tend to decline because of a weakening demand."

The Civilian Production Administration expressed a similar view about farm prices in an economic outlook report today, which also said that a downward adjustment in the general price structure now appears likely this year.

Cut To Come In Summer

Food officials said the first noticeable reduction in the general level of food prices may not come before late spring or summer. By that time this year's production of many foods will start moving to market to augment reserves from last year.

In the meantime, the food price level, they said, may hold at about present levels with possible slight fluctuations above or below. They do not expect it to climb back to the postwar peak of last November.

Some of the recent increases in individual items were attributed to such factors as the boxcar shortage, snows which held back farm marketing, and normal seasonal declines in production.

TRUMAN DENIES ANY RENT 'DEAL'

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28—(AP) President Truman reaffirmed his stand for continued rent control today but left in doubt whether he will approve or veto the proposed 10 per cent increase.

He denied vigorously, however, making any "deal" with Senator Hawkes (R-NJ) by which he would accept the 10 per cent boost in return for continuation of the controls themselves, telling his news conference he makes no deals with anyone and acts on legislation strictly on its merits as it comes to him from Congress.

The President's comment was sought in view of the bill approved by a Senate banking subcommittee continuing the controls now due to expire June 30, permitting a general 10 per cent ceiling increase and exempting new houses and apartments from ceilings.

Rent Stand Unchanged

The chief executive said firmly he had stated his position on rent control on four different occasions and that it has not changed. He apparently referred to messages to Congress and previous news conferences.

In these he has called for continued controls but has declared that the matter of a general increase is one for Congress to decide.

He reported receiving an invitation to visit Canada but could not tell whether he would go, although he said he would like to next summer.

And he begged off, amid laughter, from naming "the four Republicans you don't like."

That question was asked by Elisabeth May Craig of the Portland Press Herald and other Maine newspapers, who said the President was reported to have made such a statement at the congressional reception.

Mr. Truman said he did not remember the statement. Then he said he would not like to limit himself to four. Then, as the laughter grew, he said the four are not necessarily in Washington.

DEBT REDUCTION COMPROMISE IS VOTED BY SENATE

Decides on 2 1-2 Billion Payment After Debating Various Proposals.

BUDGET VOTE DELAYED

Democrats Force Adjournment by Sudden Display of Strength.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28—(AP) The Senate voted today to take a one per cent nibble out of the public debt with part of the money it figures on saving in trimming President Truman's $37,500,000,000 budget.

Senator Knowland (R-Calif) said the one per cent payment—$2,600,000,000—sets up a goal of paying off the whole $260,000,000,000 in 100 years.

Knowland had wanted to set aside $3,000,000,000 toward debt reduction. Senator Taft (R-Ohio) wanted to hold the figure to $1,000,000,000 so as to leave more leeway for translating budget cuts into income tax cuts.

Compromise Adopted

The compromise on $2,600,000,000 advanced by Senator Millikin (R-Colo), prevailed handsomely, 82 to 0.

A little later the Democrats, with some Republican help, overturned the Republican majority for the first time in the 80th congress and the Republican leadership quickly got the senate adjourned. Still pending was final action on a proposal to cut Mr. Truman's budget by $4,500,000,000.

The sequence was this:

Senator Wherry (R-Neb) offered an amendment to require that any revenue from surplus property sales be applied on the debt.

Taft proposed to add to the Wherry amendment a clause making it clear that this debt payment would be counted as part of the $2,600,000,000.

Senator Tydings (D-Md) led the Democrats in opposition to Taft and stalled anncuncement of a 38 to 38 tie vote until Senator Taylor (D-Idaho) rushed into the chamber—still in his overcoat—to provide the one-vote margin.

5 GOP Join Democrats

Five Republicans—Aiken (Vt) Cooper (Ky), Morse (Ore), Tobey (NH) and Wilson (Iowa)—voted with the Democrats against the Taft proposal. Senator O'Daniel (D-Tex) voted with the majority of the Republicans.

Taft had told the senate that unless the provision was adopted it might be difficult to plan a reduction in income taxes.

Majority Leader White (R-Me) promptly adjourned the senate without coming to a final vote on either the Wherry amendment or the budget cutting resolution.

The House has voted to hold spending in the new fiscal year to $31,500,000,000—$6,000,000,000 under Mr. Truman's estimate.

Before the brief display of Democratic power, the senate rejected 49 to 33 a proposal by Senator Green (D-RI) that all surplus revenues be applied to debt reduction.

Taft told the senate that "the debt should be reduced, but gradually, so as not to have a deflationary influence." He said that to set aside $3,000,000,000 for payment on the debt, plus $2,700,000,000 tied up for unemployment compensation, social security and other funds, would in effect reduce public purchasing power by $5,700,000,000.

VET HOUSING FUNDS ASKED BY TRUMAN

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28—(AP) President Truman today asked Congress to appropriate an additional $145,167,630 divided thusly:

$50,000,000 to provide temporary re-use housing for veterans; $87,523,000 for airports and air navigation facilities; $7,580,630 for the State Department; $75,000 for the rural delivery service of the post-office.

The President also suggested that $20,000,000 which he had recommended for veterans' educational needs in the fiscal year beginning July 1 be spent this year.

Under the housing program, for which Congress already has appropriated $445,627,000, army barracks and other military and civilian and other war time structures are converted into temporary dwellings.

The President said that prior to February 1, 1947 allocations have been made for 158,823 units, but the rising costs of building and scarcity of materials made it necessary recently to suspend 8,357 of these. With cut-backs which had been ordered earlier, he added, it now appears that federal funds may provide for only about 150,000 units, or approximately 25 per cent fewer than was planned. Of these 95,451 units have been completed and around 55,000 including suspended units are under construction.

The President said no more allocations out of available funds can be made. Since many local bodies set aside their own funds in order to complete many units, the President said the federal government needs more money to fulfill its contractual obligations.

DURANT WITNESS CHARGES THREAT

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28—(AP) An attorney for a witness at Col. Jack W. Durant's military trial in connection with the Hesse jewel theft said today his client was threatened by the prosecutor and he is prepared to prove it.

Frank L. Ball, Jr., attorney for Mrs. James E. Durant, sister-in-law of the air forces colonel on trial, told the eight-man military court that Major Joseph S. Robinson, the prosecutor, "warned" Mrs. Durant just before she took the witness stand Wednesday that her husband faced prosecution. Robinson denied it.

Refuses to Answer

Col. Durant is charged with stealing the $1,500,000 to $7,000,000 Hesse family jewels from a German castle. His sister-in-law, called as a prosecution witness, refused repeatedly to answer questions Wednesday on the ground it might incriminate her or her husband. She suddenly arose in the midst of her testimony, said she was ill and left the court room.

Ball, sworn as a witness today, told the court:

"Maj. Robinson warned Mrs. Durant just before she took the witness stand that her husband had lost his job with the government permanently and that he was to be prosecuted by the government."

When Robinson denied he had made any such statement to Mrs. Durant, Ball told the court "we are prepared to prove it." Mrs. Durant's attorney added she suffered a fall yesterday and said "I'm convinced her fall came as a result of the hysteria she suffered because of Maj. Robinson's warnings."

Robinson reiterated a request he made yesterday that the court require Mrs. Durant to return. He explained to reporters he wants the army to send military police after her.

The court directed Robinson to arrange for an army physician to examine the woman. Ball presented a private physician's certificate that she is too ill to testify.

Neither James Durant, who has been employed as a government accountant, nor his wife are under any charges. Robinson has contended in court that the brother acted as a "co-conspirator" in helping Col. Durant dispose of some of the jewels.

Truman Asks Ratification of Italy and Balkan Pacts

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28 (AP).—President Truman sent to the Senate today for ratification the peace treaties with Italy, Romania, Bulgaria and Hungary, which were signed at Paris Feb. 10.

Mr. Truman's message on the treaties follows:

"With a view of receiving the advice and consent of the Senate to ratification, I transmit herewith copies of the treaties of peace with Italy, Romania, Bulgaria and Hungary, signed at Paris on Feb. 10, 1947.

"I transmit also for the information of the Senate the report made to me by the Secretary of State regarding these treaties of peace and the summary of each treaty which accompanied that report."

Truman Tells Of 'Sympathy' With Colonial Peoples

Washington, Feb. 28 (AP)—President Truman said tonight that the United States can "understand and sympathize with" colonial peoples now moving toward independence in a world of swiftly moving change.

"We, as Americans, will want to supply our own guidance and help wherever we can," he said in a talk prepared at the dinner at which the annual Wendell Willkie awards for outstanding work in Negro journalism were presented. The National Press Club was the scene of the event, attended by 200 writers, editors, publishers and Government officials.

'A Valiant Service'

One way Americans can help other peoples seeking independence, the President said, is to "set an example of a nation in which people of different backgrounds and different origins work peacefully and successfully alongside one another."

"That," he added, "is one meaning of this meeting here tonight and I congratulate those of you who are responsible for our coming together on this occasion."

The President said this country has a press that is "freer than any other in the world today."

"Our press in general," he continued, "has outgrown the provincialism, the narrow isolationism, of another era. It has accepted as its province Wendell Willkie's 'one world.' It is doing a valiant service in educating us to understand that we must live within that 'one world'."

World's Sea Lanes Kept Open By U.S.

Washington, Feb. 28 (AP)—James V. Forrestal, Secretary of the Navy, indicated today that the American Navy has inherited from the British fleet the task of keeping the world's sea lanes open.

"For a century we didn't have to think of keeping the sea lanes open," the Secretary said in an informal press interview, "because Britain did it. We are now doing it."

In this connection, Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, chief of naval operations, present at the conference, said,

"The need for the Navy is not only insurance against war but to keep sea lanes open and to stabilize areas from which resources are gained."

First India Envoy Sees Truman

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28 (AP).—Asaf Ali presented his credentials to President Truman today as the first Ambassador to the United States from the government of India. Afterward, he told newspapermen that India is "looking forward to full political and economic co-operation" between the two countries. He described his visit with the President as a historic occasion, "because the 400,000,000 people of India have sent their ambassador to the Western Hemisphere for the first time in history."

Philippine Claims Due June 30

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28 (AP) — The State Department today advised American holders of securities of Philippine corporations and firms that they must file claims of ownership before June 30 to comply with Philippine law. It explained that the requirement is designed primarily to enable Philippine businesses to re-establish their stock and other records, many of which were lost or destroyed during the war.

3 OFFICERS NAMED FOR WORLD BANK

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28—(AP) The 40-nation World Bank got a transfusion of new blood in three top positions today to speed its start on the task of financing international reconstruction and development.

John J. McCloy, New York lawyer and wartime assistant secretary of war, was elected by the bank's directors as president, filling a ten-week vacancy that had contributed to delay in lending operations.

Robert Livingston Garner, a New York banker and business executive, was appointed by McCloy to the vice-presidency vacant for five weeks.

Eugene Black, Jr., another New York banker and son of a former federal reserve board head, was nominated by President Truman to replace Emilio G. (Pete) Collado, who resigned as U. S. director of the $8,000,000,000 institution.

Truman's Major Speech at Waco

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28 (AP)—President Truman's address Thursday at Waco, Tex., will be a major one dealing with both foreign and domestic affairs, Secretary Charles G. Ross said tonight. It will be delivered at 1 P. M. when the President receives a degree from Baylor University on his return from a three-day trip to Mexico.

UNIVERSAL TRAINING PREDICTED BY ANDREWS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28—(AP) Chairman Andrews (R-NY) of the House Armed Services Committee asserted today that "the American people are going to take some form of universal (military) training."

"We will get something, even if it's two, four or six months (of training)," he said in an address to the Adjutants General Association of the U. S.

Other speakers at the adjutants general meeting were Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, army chief of staff, and Rep. Towe (R-NJ).

Towe told the national guard organization that "our probable enemy, if we have one, would like nothing better than to see our economic machinery knocked to hell."

Then, without identifying the "probable enemy," he said it had succeeded "to some extent" in the attempt during the last 10 years.

Eisenhower, who talked to a closed session, told reporters he discussed "general national guard matters." He declined to give further details.

TRUMAN IN 1948, URGED BY CLARK

Attorney General Says U.S. Wants President Again

Miami Beach, Fla., Feb. 28 (AP)—Attorney General Tom C. Clark told Democrats at a $250-a-plate Jefferson jubilee dinner tonight that "America wants Harry Truman in 1948."

Describing Republicans as "this party of confusion and negation" in which the isolationist faction "is now poised and ready with its dagger," Clark said that with President Truman leading the way the nation "now in 1947 marches confidently toward a future of security in the world and abundance at home."

His speech was given before 300 party faithfuls including Lewis Schwellenbach, Secretary of Labor; W. Averill Harriman, Secretary of Commerce, and a number of senators, congressmen, under secretaries and others. A word of greeting was received from Mr. Truman.

"Have Come Long Way"

Clark asserted:

"We now discover that on the rocky road out of the vast emergencies and imbalances of war, we have come a long way.

"We see a nation of people at work, a nation at capacity operation in its factories, its mines and farms. We see an America hitting on all 48."

He said that achievements like the United Nations Charter, the accord reached at Potsdam, the International Bank and World Monetary Fund, relief to suffering lands are "the result of Truman level-headed judgment, Truman courageous action, and Truman good will toward men."

"How necessary it will be in the years ahead to complete the mighty task of building peace on earth," said Clark, "Far from having our destiny handed to us with a gilt-edged guarantee, Harry Truman has had to fight certain men who are resolved to divert us from our high purpose.

"In fact, certain members of the Republican party seek to turn our country back to the old philosophy of isolationism. . . .

"They believe the world is our turnip, and they insist that we go back to the fatal pastime of trying to squeeze blood out of it. They want to sell but not buy. They want to take but not give, to exploit but not assist. And they want to talk peace but not act it."

THE DECREE CALLED FOR "GREATER DEVELOPMENT OF CONSUMER GOODS INDUSTRIES," INCLUDING AN INCREASE OF AT LEAST 27 PERCENT OVER THE 1946 PRODUCTION OF LIGHT AND TEXTILE INDUSTRIES. OTHER 1947 OBJECTIVES: "THE ENDING OF BACKWARDNESS IN THE MECHANIZATION OF LABOR, PARTICULARLY IN MINING, BUILDING AND TIMBER INDUSTRIES AND IN LOADING AND UNLOADING WORK IN TRANSPORT. "GUARANTEEING OF THE TRADE TURNOVER, STATE AND COOPERATIVE, TO THE SUM OF 325 BILLION RUBLES ($65,000,000,000) AT CURRENT PRICES ALONG WITH ALL AROUND DEVELOPMENT OF STATE AND COOPERATIVE TRADE AS WELL AS TRADE IN THE TOWNS." LONDON, FEB. 28-(AP)-BRITISH COAL MINERS GOT THEIR SECOND FOOD BOOST IN LESS THAN SIX MONTHS TODAY ALONG WITH PRIORITIES ON HOUSING IN RETURN FOR THEIR PROMISE TO COOPERATE FULLY IN REACHING THE GOVERNMENT'S COAL PRODUCTION GOAL OF 200,000,000 TONS IN 1947.

PRIME MINISTER ATTLEE ANNOUNCED LAST NIGHT THAT HIS SPECIAL "COAL CABINET" HAD APPROVED A SCHEME TO SEND INCREASED ALLOTMENTS OF BOTH RATIONED AND UNRATIONED FOODS TO MINING TOWNS. THERE WAS NO INDICATION THAT INDIVIDUAL RATIONS WOULD BE INCREASED, BUT RATIONED FOODS WOULD BE USED IN RESTAURANTS AND BAKERIES.

THE GOVERNMENT INCREASED MINERS' MEAT RATIONS BY 75 PERCENT--FROM 28 TO 48 CENTS WORTH OF MEAT PER WEEK PER PERSON--LAST OCTOBER, IN ONE OF ITS EARLY ATTACKS ON THE COAL CRISIS WHICH NOW IS AFFLICTING THE NATION WITH UNEMPLOYMENT AND DISCOMFORT.

THE "COAL CABINET" ALSO PROMISED THE MINERS FIRST CALL ON TEMPORARY ALUMINUM HOUSING. IT CONSIDERED THE MINERS' OVERTIME EARNINGS, BUT TURNED DOWN LOWERED ON MINERS' OVERTIME EARNINGS, BUT TURNED DOWN HEARD DECLARATIONS THAT INCREASED EARNINGS WOULD NOT BE NECESSARY. TO REACH THE 200,000,000-TON GOAL FOR 1947. THE MINERS DUG 187,000,000 TONS LAST YEAR, BUT CONSUMPTION WAS 194,000,000 TONS.

FIRST LEAD GREEK
BY ARTHUR GAVSHON

LONDON, FEB. 28-(AP)-LORD BEAVERBROOK'S EVENING STANDARD SAID TODAY IN A DISPATCH FROM ITS NEW YORK CORRESPONDENT, FREDERICK COOK, THAT BRITAIN HAD APPEALED TO THE UNITED STATES TO "TAKE OVER VERY SOON" IN GREECE.

"AS A RESULT," COOK REPORTED, "THE PRESIDENT CALLED A SECRET MEETING OF CONGRESSIONAL LEADERS AT THE WHITE HOUSE YESTERDAY AND, AMONG OTHER THINGS, APPEALED TO THEM TO APPROPRIATE LARGE SUMS IMMEDIATELY TO SAVE GREECE FROM ECONOMIC COLLAPSE.

"PRESIDENT TRUMAN SECRETARY OF STATE MARSHALL AND HIS DEPUTY, DEAN ACHESON, TOLD CONGRESSMEN THAT FAILURE OF THE UNITED STATES TO ASSUME THE BURDEN OF GREECE MIGHT JEOPARDIZE THE EFFORTS OF THE PAST YEAR TO REESTABLISH THE BALANCE OF POWER WITH THE SOVIET UNION AND EUROPE."

A FOREIGN OFFICE SPOKESMAN SAID DISCUSSIONS WERE UNDER WAY IN WASHINGTON ON THE PROBLEM OF CONTINUING BRITAIN'S ECONOMIC AND MILITARY OBLIGATIONS IN GREECE.

THE SPOKESMAN IMPLIED ONE ASPECT OF THE TALKS WAS THE CONTINUED PROVISION OF FOREIGN CURRENCY WITH WHICH GREECE COULD PURCHASE ARMS AND MILITARY EQUIPMENT.

MAR 1947

THE DISCUSSIONS, HE ADDED, AROSE OUT OF THE ENDING MARCH 31, OF BRITAIN'S COMMITMENT TO MAINTAIN THE GREEK ARMED FORCES.

HE SAID HE SAW NO PROSPECTS OF U.S. MILITARY FORCES BEING SENT TO THE COUNTRY AFTER BRITAIN'S FORCES GET OUT.

OTHER GOVERNMENT SOURCES SAID FOREIGN SECRETARY ERNEST BEVIN WAS PLANNING TO WITHDRAW BRITAIN'S REMAINING 10,000 TROOPS FROM GREECE WITHIN THE NEXT THREE MONTHS.

THE SPOKESMAN SAVD REPORTS FROM THE KINGDOM AND THE UNITED NATIONS FOOD AND AGRICULTURAL ORGANIZATION MADE IT CLEAR GREECE WOULD CONTINUE TO NEED SUPPORT AFTER THE END OF NEXT MONTH.

GREECE'S SHORTAGE OF FOREIGN CURRENCY HAS HELD UP A NATIONAL RECOVERY PROGRAM, HE CONTINUED. IN ADDITION, HE SAID, RECONSTRUCTION "HAS NOT BEEN HELPED BY THE ARMED REBELLION" STILL CONTINUING.

IN REPLY TO A QUESTION, THE SPOKESMAN SAID HE DID NOT KNOW WHETHER BRITISH REPRESENTATIVES HAD TOLD THE U.S. GOVERNMENT THAT THIS COUNTRY, ITSELF IN A SERIOUS ECONOMIC STATE, WAS UNABLE TO "CARRY THE GREEK BURDEN ALONE ANY LONGER."

BRITAIN GAVE GREECE A $40,000,000 CREDIT LAST YEAR AND, IN ADDITION, WAIVED A GREEK DEBT OF $184,000,000. NEARLY HALF THIS SUM, HELD BY THE BANK OF GREECE, WAS USED TO PROTECT THE COUNTRY'S CURRENCY AND TO PURCHASE ESSENTIAL IMPORTS.

THE UNITED STATES LENT GREECE $60,000,000 DURING 1946.

PREMIER CONSTANTIN TSALDARIS LAST NOVEMBER CALLED UPON THE U.S. GOVERNMENT TO NEGOTIATE A FURTHER GENERAL CREDITS AGREEMENT WHICH, HE SAID AT THE TIME, WOULD TIDE THE COUNTRY OVER CONTINUING SERIOUS INTERNAL FINANCIAL DIFFICULTIES.

LONDON, FEB.28-(AP)-A NEW YORKER WHO SERVED ON LAST YEAR'S BRITISH-AMERICAN COMMITTEE OF INQUIRY ON PALESTINE SAYS BRITAIN SHOULD KEEP HER MANDATE OVER THE HOLY LAND.

JAMES G.MACDONALD, HERE TO HELP IN THE UNITED PALESTINE APPEAL FOR $6,000,000 TO SETTLE JEWS IN PALESTINE, BACKED UP THIS STATEMENT AT A NEWS CONFERENCE YESTERDAY BY SAYING THAT BRITAIN'S POSITION THERE WAS VITAL TO HER EMPIRE.

IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS TUESDAY, FOREIGN SECRETARY ERNEST BEVIN, DISCUSSING HIS PLAN TO TURN THE HOLY LAND PROBLEM OVER TO THE UNITED NATIONS, SAID "THE MANDATORY POWER CAN NOT GO ON FOREVER." HE GAVE NO INDICATION, HOWEVER, THAT BRITAIN WAS CONSIDERING IMMEDIATE SURRENDER OF THE MANDATE, GRANTED BY THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS IN 1923.

MACDONALD SAID HE BELIEVED THAT A "PRO-JEWISH" SOLUTION OF THE PROBLEM WOULD BE EASIER TO GET THAN A "PRO-ARAB" ONE AND THAT ARABS IN PALESTINE COULD BE INDUCED TO ACCEPT ANOTHER 200,000 JEWISH IMMIGRANTS. HE DISAGREED WITH BEVIN'S STATEMENT THAT PRESIDENT TRUMAN' PLEA TO LET IN 100,000 JEWS HAD RUINED BRITISH NEGOTIATIONS FOR A SETTLEMENT LAST FALL.

NUERNBERG, FEB. 28-(AP)-ALBERT SPEER, WHO PRODUCED MUNITIONS FOR HITLER, NOW SAYS HE BELIEVES THAT INTERNATIONAL TRIALS AFTER WORLD WAR I MIGHT HAVE PREVENTED THE SECOND CONFLICT.

THE ONE-TIME MINISTER OF ARMAMENTS, WHO IS SERVING 20 YEARS AS A WAR CRIMINAL, ADVANCED THIS VIEWPOINT IN TESTIMONY DURING THE TRIAL OF FIELD MARSHAL ERHARD MILCH, CHARGED WITH RECRUITING SLAVE LABOR AND AIDING EXPERIMENTS ON HUMANS FOR THE LUFTWAFFE.

THE TESTIMONY, TAKEN PRIVATELY BEFORE JUDGE MICHAEL A. MUSMANNO, WAS INTRODUCED INTO THE RECORD TODAY.

SPEER SAID HE WAS IGNORANT OF INTERNATIONAL LAW WHEN HIS MINISTRY WAS RECRUITING FOREIGN WORKERS AND EVEN USING PRISONERS OF WAR IN ARMAMENT FACTORIES. HE ADDED THAT HE THOUGHT OTHER "SPECIALISTS" WITHIN HITLER'S WARMAKING MACHINE WERE EQUALLY IGNORANT.

"I WOULD SAY THAT A GREAT MISTAKE HAD BEEN COMMITTED BY OMITTING AFTER THE FIRST WORLD WAR TO ESTABLISH INTERNATIONAL LEGAL CONDITIONS BY TRIALS," SPEER SAID IN RESPONSE TO QUESTIONS BY MUSMANNO.

SPEER ADDED THAT WORLD LAW SHOULD HAVE BEEN "ADJUSTED TO THE DEVELOPMENTS OF TECHNICAL WARFARE, INSTEAD OF WHICH AFTER THE FIRST WORLD WAR THE WHOLE QUESTION OF DEPORTATION OF LABOR WAS DECIDED BY THE HIGHEST GERMAN COURT AND AS FAR AS I KNOW THIS DECISION WAS NOT PARTICULARLY CLEAR."

"THIS IS HOW THE BASIS OF IGNORANCE IS LAID IN THE FIELD OF INTERNATIONAL LAW," HE SAID. "TRIALS AGAINST THE MAIN RESPONSIBLES AFTER THE FIRST WAR WOULD HAVE ENLIGHTENED PUBLIC OPINION AND MYSELF IN THAT."

SPEER ASSERTED THAT AWARENESS OF POSSIBLE TRIAL AND PUNISHMENT WOULD HAVE ENCOURAGED THE SPECIALISTS TO ABANDON HITLER AND HIS WAR PLANS.

SALONIKA, GREECE, FEB 28-(AP)-TWO MORE GREEKS--A FARMER AND A SHEPHERD--TOLD THE UNITED NATIONS' BALKAN INVESTIGATING COMMISSION TODAY THAT THEY PREPARED IN ALBANIA AND YUGOSLAVIA FOR GUERRILLA WARFARE IN GREECE. THE FARMER WAS CHRISTOS MANTZOURAKIS, A THRACIAN; THE SHEPHERD, GEORGE ZAFIRIS.

IN A CLOSED MORNING SESSION, THE COMMISSION ESTABLISHED TEAMS TO VISIT VARIOUS PARTS OF NORTHERN GREECE AND GET IN TOUCH WITH "CAPTAIN MARKOS," SELF STYLED COMMANDER OF THE ANTI-GOVERNMENT GUERRILLA ARMY. THE COMMISSION WAS SENT HERE TO INVESTIGATE A GREEK CMMPLAINT THAT THE GUERRILLAS HAVE BEEN AIDED FROM ALBANIA, BULGARIA AND YUGOSLAVIA.

MANTZOURAKIS TOLD THE COMMISSION HE CROSSED FROM GREECE INTO THE BULGARIA VILLAGE OF ORTAKIOI, NEAR TURKEY; WAS TAKEN TO A CAMP FOR GREEKS AT RUBIG, ALBANIA, AND THEN UNDERWENT TRAINING AT BULKJES, YUGOSLAVIA. SUBSEQUENTLY, HE SAID, HE WAS WITH A GROUP OF 35 GUERRILLAS ARMED IN SOFIA, BULGARIA, AND ESCORTED TO THE GREEK BORDER BY BULGARIAN SOLDIERS.

ZAFIRIS, WHO IS 33, TESTIFIED THAT HE LEFT GREECE IN 1945 AND PASSED THROUGH RUBIG AND BULKJES. HE SAID THAT AT BULKJES 96 GREEKS, TOLD BY A CAMP COMMITTEE THAT THEY MIGHT LEAVE TO SEEK WORK ELSEWHERE, DECIDED TO DO SO AND THEN WERE ARRESTED. HE SAID HE DID NOT KNOW WHAT HAD BECOME OF THEM SINCE.

COMMUNICATIONS FROM THE NORTH OF GREECE, THEREFORE, ARE DELAYED.)

VALTADOROS SAID SNOF (THE SLAV MACEDONIAN LIBERATION FRONT) HAD ISSUED A DIRECTIVE IN AUGUST, 1945, ADVISING ITS MEMBERS THEY WERE "FIGHTING FOR THE LIBERATION OF MACEDONIA." JERUSALEM, FEB 28-(AP)-A BOMB EXPLOSION WRECKED TWO FLOORS OF A BANK BUILDING IN THE HEART OF UNEASY HAIFA TODAY, KILLING ONE PERSON AND INJURING FIVE OTHERS, A FEW HOURS AFTER AN INTERCEPTED REFUGEE SHIP WITH 1,350 UNAUTHORIZED JEWISH IMMIGRANTS ABOARD, RAN AGROUND OFF THE PORT CITY.

THE BOMB, PLANTED IN A BRITISH NAVY PAY OFFICE, WAS DISCOVERED BY A BRITISH SOLDIER WHO FLED AND GAVE WARNING AFTER ATTEMPTING TO DEFUSE IT. HE WAS AMONG THE INJURED. OFFICIALS SAID THE ERSON KILLED WAS A PALESTINIAN JEWISH EMPLOYE.

WITH PUBLIC FEELING RISING TO FEVER PITCH, THE MILITARY TRANSFERRED 285 PASSENGERS FROM THE IMMIGRANT SHIP TO A BRITISH TRANSPORT AND THE REST WERE BEING TRANSFERRED TO OTHER TRANSPORTS TONIGHT.

AN AMERICAN CONSULAR OFFICIAL SAID TWO OF THE CREW MEMBERS OF THE REFUGEE SHIP CLAIMED TO BE AMERICANS. THE OFFICIAL WAS HERE TO LOOK INTO REPORTS THAT THE SHIP HAD AN AMERICAN CAPTAIN AND CREW.

HAIFA IS WHERE JEWS BOUND FOR PALESTINE WITHOUT PERMITS USUALLY ARE TAKEN OFF REFUGEE SHIPS AND LOADED ONTO BRITISH TRANSPORTS TO BE SENT TO CYPRUS AND INTERNED, THERE TO AWAIT ADMISSION TO THE HOLY LAND UNDER THE MONTHLY IMMIGRATION QUOTA OF 1,500 JEWS.

JEWISH SOURCES, AUTHORITY FOR THE NUMBER OF REFUGEES ABOARD, REPORTED THE SHIP WAS NAMED AFTER HAIM ARLOSOROFF, LEADER OF ZIONIST LABOR AND ONCE HEAD OF THE JEWISH AGENCY'S POLITICAL DEPARTMENT. ARLOSOROFF DIED IN 1939.

(IN LONDON, RABBI BARNETT R.BRICKNER OF CLEVELAND, AT A NEWS CONFERENCE FOR THE UNITED PALESTINE APPEAL ON BEHALF OF JEWISH RESETTLEMENT, SAID YESTERDAY "THE MEDITERRANEAN WILL BE CROWDED WITH THESE COFFIN SHIPS AS SOON AS THE WEATHER MODERATES A LITTLE.")

MEANWHILE AN ARAB SOURCE REPORTED THAT BRITAIN, RULING THE HOLY LAND BY A 1923 LEAGUE OF NATIONS MANDATE, HAD ASKED HER PALESTINE OFFICIALS TO FIND OUT HOW THE ARABS WOULD REACT IF BRITAIN TOLD THE UNITED NATIONS SHE WAS WILLING TO WITHDRAW FROM THE HOLY LAND.

AT THE SAME TIME, A SPOKESMAN FOR THE JEWISH AGENCY SAID "INTERNAL DISCUSSIONS AS TO WHAT THE JEWISH AGENCY SHOULD DO NEXT" ON THE PROBLEM WOULD BEGIN WITH THE SCHEDULED ARRIVAL FROM LONDON TODAY OF DAVID BEN-GURION, CHAIRMAN OF THE AGENCY EXECUTIVE.

(FOREIGN SECRETARY ERNEST BEVIN, WHO HAD ANNOUNCED BRITAIN'S INTENTION TO TURN THE PALESTINE PROBLEM OVER TO THE U.N., SAID IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS TUESDAY THAT HIS GOVERNMENT MIGHT MAKE ONE MORE TRY FIRST AT GETTING JEWISH-ARAB AGREEMENT ON A PLAN FOR GOVERNING THE COUNTRY. HE DID NOT INDICATE THAT BRITAIN WAS CONSIDERING GIVING UP HER MANDATE AT ONCE.) ADD-JERUSALEM-(EXPLOSION)-XXX CREW

MANY ARABS WERE REPORTED TO FEAR THAT ZIONISTS--PROPONENTS OF JEWISH RESETTLEMENT IN PALESTINE--MIGHT BE ABLE TO LAND HUNDREDS OF THOUSANDS OF JEWS THERE IF THE BRITISH PULLED OUT.

DAVAR, TEL AVIV NEWSPAPER OF THE JEWISH LABOR PARTY, REMARKED THAT "NEGOTIATIONS WITH THE UNITED NATIONS AT THE WORST ARE NO MORE DANGEROUS TO US THAN NEGOTIATIONS WITH BEVIN."

BUT HAARETZ, TEL AVIV LIBERAL HEBREW JOURNAL, TERMED JEWISH PROSPECTS IN THE U.N. "NOT BRIGHT." IT NOTED THAT BRITAIN AND FIVE ARAB MEMBER STATES WOULD OPPOSE JEWISH CLAIMS AND CALLED ATTENTION TO "PRO-ARAB PHENOMENA" IN RUSSIA'S VIEWPOINT.

ARAB NATIONALIST LEADERS REPORTED THAT THE EXILED MUFTI OF JERUSALEM AND THE ARAB HIGHER EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE HAD PICKED FAUZI EL KAUKJI, LEADER IN THE 1936 PALESTINE ARAB REVOLT, TO HEAD THE NAJADA AND FUTAWA, NATIONALIST ARAB PRIVATE ARMIES, EITHER FROM EGYPT OR SYRIA. NANKING,SATURDAY,MARCH 1-(AP)-THE GOVERNMENT, CHARGING CHINESE COMMUNISTS WITH OPEN REBELLION, TODAY GAVE RED DELEGATES UNTIL WEDNESDAY TO CLEAR OUT OF GOVERNMENT TERRITORY. THE COMMUNISTS IMMEDIATELY ASKED FOR A 15-DAY STAY.

COMMUNIST SPOKESMAN WANG PING-NAN APPEALED TO BOTH THE CHINESE AND THE UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT FOR THE ADDITIONAL TIME, SAYING IT WAS NEEDED TO GET 170 COMMUNISTS IN NANKING, SHANGHAI AND CHUNGKING BACK TO YENAN, THE COMMUNIST CAPITAL.

THE DEADLINE OF THE PERIOD IN WHICH THE UNITED STATES WILL ACCEPT RESPONSIBILITY FOR FLYING COMMUNISTS BACK TO THEIR OWN TERRITORY ALSO ENDS WEDNESDAY. IT WAS CONSIDERED UNLIKELY THAT EITHER THE U.S. OR THE CHINESE GOVERNMENT WOULD GRANT THE EXTENSION.

THE GOVERNMENT ORDER TO GET OUT WAS MADE TO COINCIDE WITH THE AMERICAN DEADLINE.

(THE SAME ORDERS WERE HANDED COMMUNISTS IN SHANGHAI£, WHO ALSO WERE DIRECTED TO FURNISH THE NAMES OF ALL COMMUNISTS AND DEPENDENTS LIVING IN SHANGHAI.)

THE ORDER CAME AS NO SURPRISE TO THE COMMUNISTS, WHO MAINTAIN LIAISON OFFICES IN NANKING, SHANGHAI AND CHUNGKING. THEY SAID THEY ALREADY HAD BEEN PUT UNDER "INCREASING PRESSURE" BY GOVERNMENT SECRET AGENTS IN AN EFFORT TO FRIGHTEN THEM OUT WITHOUT HAVING TO RESORT TO A DIRECT OUSTER.

THE GOVERNMENT ANNOUNCEMENT WAS IN THE FORM OF AN ORDER FROM THE NANKING GARRISON HEADQUARTERS DISTRIBUTED BY THE MINISTRY OF INFORMATION.

IT TOLD THE COMMUNISTS, "SINCE YOUR PARTY CLOSED THE DOOR TO NATIONAL PEACE BY REJECTING RESUMPTION OF PEACE TALKS, TROOPS OF YOUR PARTY HAVE ENGAGED IN OPEN REBELLION AGAINST THE GOVERNMENT AND HAVE BEEN ATTACKING TROOPS OF THE NATIONAL GOVERNMENT THROUGHOUT THE COUNTRY.

"MEANWHILE, MEMBERS OF YOUR PARTY HAVE BEEN SPREADING RUMORS AND INSTIGATING RIOTS AND UPRISINGS EVERYWHERE. THEREFORE, WITH A VIEW TO MAINTAINING PEACE AND ORDER IN THE CAPITAL, YOUR DELEGATION IS REQUIRED TO WITHDRAW ALL YOUR MEN IN NANKING BEFORE MARCH 5 AND ALSO SEND US A LIST OF THE PERSONNEL OF YOUR PARTY, IN ORDER THAT WE MAY PROVIDE ADEQUATE TRANSPORTATION AND PROTECTION TO THEM ON DEPARTURE."

OFFICIALS SAID SIMILAR ORDERS WERE ISSUED IN SHANGHAI AND CHUNGKING. IN PEIPING, COMMUNIST MEMBERS OF THE EXECUTIVE (TRUCE) HEADQUARTERS ALREADY ARE IN THE PROCESS OF LEAVING, AND A ROUNDUP OF PERSONS DEEMED UNDESIRABLE BY THE GOVERNMENT IS IN PROGRESS.

THE NANKING ORDER INVOLVES ABOUT 40 PERSONS. A COMMUNIST SPOKESMAN SAID HIS PEOPLE ALREADY WERE PACKING AND THAT U.S. PLANES WOULD TAKE DEPENDENTS FROM NANKING AND SHANGHAI TO YENAN SUNDAY, WITH OTHERS TO GO LATER BY THE SAME MEANS.

ON THE FIGHTING FRONTS, LATE DISPATCHES SAID THE GOVERNMENT AIR FORCES HAD SLOWED A COMMUNIST DRIVE ON CHANGCHUN, MANCHURIAN CAPITAL, WITHIN 10 MILES OF THE CITY, WHILE OTHER COMMUNISTS WERE ATTACKING THE "OUTER RING" OF THE DEFENSES OF TSINAN, CAPITAL OF SHANTUNG PROVINCE.

THE PRO-GOVERNMENT PRESS PREDICTED HEAVIER FIGHTING FOR CHANGCHUN BUT A GOVERNMENT SPOKESMAN SAID THE TIDE OF BATTLE SOON WOULD BE TURNED IN THE GOVERNMENT'S FAVOR.

THE COMMUNIST RADIO AT YENAN RENEWED ACCUSATIONS THAT GOVERNMENT PLAES HAD BOMBED AND STRAFED UNRRA SUPPLY TRUCKS IN SHANTUNG AND RAISED TO 50,000 THE NUMBER OF GOVERNMENT TROOPS IT ASSERTED HAD BEEN "DESTROYED" IN CENTRAL SHANTUNG FIGHTING OF THE PAST SEVERAL DAYS.

ON THE PURELY POLITICAL FRONT, THE NANKING GOVERNMENT TOOK ITS FIRST STEP TOWARD THE LONG-HERALDED REORGANIZATION BY CALLING A MEETING OF THE CENTRAL EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE OF THE KUOMINTANG (NATIONAL PARTY), THE NATIONAL DEFENSE COUNCIL AND OTHER GOVERNMENT BODIES TO CHOOSE CANDIDATES FOR OFFICE FROM THE YOUNG CHINA AND DEMOCRATIC SOCIALIST PARTIES.

NANKING,SATURDAY,MARCH 1-(AP)-REPORTS REACHING NANKING TODAY SAID THE CAPITAL OF FORMOSA, TAIHOKU, WAS UNDER MARTIAL LAW AFTER SERIOUS RIOTING AND STREET FIGHTING IN WHICH A NUMBER OF PERSONS WERE SHOT.

THESE REPORTS SAID THE DISORDERS WERE CONNECTED WITH GROWING DISSATISFACTION WITH ECONOMIC AND POLITICAL CONDITIONS ON THE HUGE ISLAND WHICH WAS RESTORED TO CHINA AFTER JAPAN'S SURRENDER.

A CENTRAL NEWS DISPATCH DATED TAIHOKU REPORTED RIOTING YESTERDAY CAME AFTER A CLASH BETWEEN SPECIAL POLICE ENFORCING THE GOVERNMENT'S TOBACCO MONOPOLY AND A CROWD OF SEVERAL HUNDRED FORMOSANS. IT ADDED THAT AT LEAST FOUR POLICEMEN WERE SHOT.

TOKYO,SATURDAY,MARCH 1-(AP)-A SPOKESMAN FOR GENERAL MACARTHUR TOLD THE JAPANESE PRESS TODAY THE NATION MUST BE PURGED OF POLITICAL "HATCHET MEN" WHO WHIPPED THE NATION'S MILLIONS INTO LINE FOR JAPAN'S WAR-MAKERS.

"WE ARE GOING RIGHT DOWN INTO THE PROVINCES, THE CITIES AND THE VILLAGES TO WEED THEM OUT OF OFFICE OR TO KEEP THEM OFF THE APRIL BALLOT," SAID C.P.MARCUM, CHIEF OF HEADQUARTERS' PUBLIC ADMINISTRATION SECTION.

MARCUM, IN A TALK TO JAPANESE BEWSMEN, ESTIMATED THAT 1,207,700 CANDIDATES WOULD BE SCREENED BEFORE AND AFTER THE APRIL GENERAL ELECTIONS. GOVERNORS, MAYORS, PREFECTURE, CITY, TOWN AND VILLAGE OFFICIALS AND MEMBERS OF THE DIET WILL BE ELECTED AT THAT TIME.

IN THE PAST, HE SAID, THE SCREENING HAD BEEN ONLY ON A NATIONAL SCALE WITHOUT INQUIRY INTO THE QUALIFICATIONS OF OFFICEHOLDERS ON THE LOCAL LEVEL.

"BUT NOW," HE ADDED, "WE ARE MAKING PREFECTURAL GOVERNORS AND MAYORS RESPONSIBLE FOR LOCAL PURGES OF THESE DANGEROUS PEOPLE."

UNDER SUPREME HEADQUARTERS' NEW POLICY, EACH CANDIDATE FOR OFFICE WILL BE SCREENED BY HIS LOCAL COMMITTEE AND FOR THE FIRST TIME PUBLICITY WILL BE GIVEN TO THOSE DECISIONS.

TOKYO,FEB.28-(AP)-LT.GEN.CHU SHIH-MING, CHINESE DELEGATE TO THE ALLIED COUNCIL FOR JAPAN, ASKED GENERAL MACARTHUR TODAY WHAT HAD BEEN DONE ABOUT RECOMMENDATIONS ON REPATRIATION AND DEMOBILIZATION PROGRAMS.

CHU'S QUERIES SEEMED TO IMPLY THAT MACARTHUR WAS PAYING LITTLE HEED TO COUNCIL SUGGESTIONS. SUCH A CHARGE HAS BEEN HEARD REPEATEDLY BUT UNOFFICIALLY FROM OTHER MEMBERS OF THE FOUR-POWER GROUP.

CHU PRESENTED 12 QUESTIONS UNDER THE HEADING "POLICIES AND PROGRAMS FOR REPATRIATED AND DEMOBILIZED PERSONNEL" AND PROPOSED THAT THEY BE DISCUSSED AT THE COUNCIL MEETING WEDNESDAY.

HE REMINDED MACARTHUR THAT THE COUNCIL HAD SUGGESTED THAT THE JAPANESE GOVERNMENT DRAW UP A PLAN TO INTEGRATE REPATRIATES INTO NATIONAL LIFE AND ASKED WHAT PROGRESS HAD BEEN MADE. HE ALSO WANTED TO KNOW THE SUPREME COMMANDER'S ATTITUDE "TOWARD ORGANIXATIONS AND ACTIVITIES OF REPATRIATES IN JAPAN."

TOKYO,FEB.28-(AP)-BRITISH COMMONWEALTH FORCES, NOW TOTALING ABOUT 30,000, ARE "HERE TO STAY" FOR THE DURATION OF THE ALLIED OCCUPATION OF JAPAN, INFORMED SOURCES SAID TONIGHT.

DEPARTURE FOR MALAYA EARLY IN FEBRUARY OF THE UNITED KINGDOM'S FIFTH INFANTRY BRIGADE OF ABOUT 3,000 MEN HAD LED TO RUMORS THAT THE BRITISH CONTEMPLATED A WHOLESALE WITHDRAWAL.

INFORMANTS SAID THE CONTRARY WAS TRUE AND POINTED TO NEWLY-ACCELERATED RECRUITING PROGRAMS IN NEW ZEALAND AND AUSTRALIA. PUBLICITY REPRESENTATIVES OF THOSE COUNTRIES ARE IN JAPAN OBTAINING MATERIAL FOR THE RECRUITING CAMPAIGNS.

THE PRESENT FORCES NUMBER SOME 10,000 AUSTRALIANS, INCLUDING AIR UNITS, AN ARMORED CAR SQUADRON, INFANTRY AND SERVICE TROOPS; 4,500 NEW ZEALANDERS, INCLUDING A FIGHTER SQUADRON AND INFANTRY; 10,000 INDIANS, INCLUDING INFANTRY, CAVALRY AND SERVICE TROOPS; AND 5,000 UNITED KINGDOM AIR FORCE AND AUXILIARY FORCES.

THE INFORMANTS SAID THAT BRITISH OCCUPATION FORCES COMPLETE THEIR TRAINING AT HOME BEFORE BEING ASSIGNED TO JAPAN FOR ONE TO TWO YEARS, WHILE MANY AMERICAN OCCUPATION TROOPS COMPLETED BASIC TRAINING ONLY AFTER ARRIVING.

FOR THIS REASON AND BECAUSE THE AMERICANS HAVE NUMEROUS NON-MILITARY ADMINISTRATIVE TASKS, THEY SAID THE BRITISH CONSIDERED THEMSELVES THE MAIN MILITARY RELIANCE IN THE EVENT OF ANY TROUBLE WITHIN JAPAN.

CAPT.F.J.KIST, CHIEF OF STAFF OF THE NETHERLANDS EAST INDIES NAVY, DECLARED THERE WOULD BE "MOST DISAGREEABLE CONSEQUENCES" IF THE CREW ON THE AMERICAN SHIP REFUSED TO OBEY DUTCH ORDERS.

CHERIBON IS UNDER CONTROL OF THE INDONESIAN REPUBLICAN GOVERNMENT. A SPOKESMAN SAID THAT 30 ARMED DUTCH MARINES HAD BOARDED THE U.S. SHIP. CAPT.KIST SAID SUCH A BOARDING WAS "ENTIRELY POSSIBLE" BUT HE HAD NOT RECEIVED ANY SUCH REPORT AS YET FROM A DUTCH DESTROYER WHICH WAS UNDER ORDERS TO BRING THE MARTIN BEHRMAN TO BATAVIA HARBOR AS SOON AS THE LOADING OPERATIONS WERE COMPLETED.

THE DUTCH SAID THAT UNAUTHORIZED EXPORTS FROM AREAS HELD BY FORCES OF THE INDONESIAN REPUBLIC WERE "SERIOUSLY DRAINING THIS ALREADY BADLY HIT COUNTRY" BECAUSE PURCHASERS WERE PAYING ONLY ABOUT ONE-FIFTH OF THE ACTUAL VALUE OF THE GOODS.

"SOME DELEGATES FEEL STRONGLY THAT THE TIME HAS COME FOR SOME SORT OF BIRTH CONTROL TO LIMIT THE GROWING NUMBER OF COMMISSIONS," OWEN SAID.

ANOTHER QUESTION WHICH IS EXPECTED TO COME UP IS THE COUNCIL'S RELATIONSHIP WITH AGENCIES IN WHICH FRANCO SPAIN HOLDS MEMBERSHIP. THE ASSEMBLY WENT ON RECORD AS RECOMMENDING THAT NO U.N. ORGAN SHOULD MAINTAIN RELATIONS WITH ANY ORGANIZATION AS LONG AS THE FRANCO GOVERNMENT IS ALLOWED TO BE A MEMBER.

THIS MAY COME UP TOMORROW OR EARLY NEXT WEEK WHEN THE COUNCIL CONSIDERS THE ASSEMBLY RESOLUTION ON THE ROLE OF NON-GOVERNMENTAL ORGANIZATIONS SUCH AS THE INTERNATIONAL CHAMBER OF COMMERCE. IN THE ASSEMBLY, IT WAS CHARGED THAT FRANCO SPAIN WAS A MEMBER OF THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE AND HELD ONE OF ITS VICE-PRESIDENCIES.

THE U.N. ANNOUNCED LATER THAT THE MEETING SET FOR TODAY WOULD BE HELD WEDNESDAY (3 P.M. E.S.T.)

THE COUNCIL IS CONSIDERING A RESOLUTION BY U.S.DELEGATE WARREN AUSTIN. THIS WOULD SEND BACK TO THE ATOMIC COMMISSION, WHICH HAS NOT MET SINCE DEC. 30, THE COMMISSION'S VOLUMINOUS REPORT, GROMYKO'S 13 PROPOSALS WHICH WOULD TAKE THE HEART OF THE AMERICAN PLAN OUT OF THE REPORT, AND THE COMMENTS OF THE COUNCIL DELEGATES.

THE UNITED STATES PLAN FOR ATOMIC CONTROL ENVISIONS NO VETO ON ATOMIC PUNISHMENTS. RUSSIA IS STANDING FIRMLY ON NO INFRINGEMENT OF THE VETO RIGHT IN THE COUNCIL.

IT IS KNOWN THAT GROMYKO HAS BEEN SOMEWHAT DISAPPOINTED BY THE LACK OF REACTION IN THE COUNCIL TO HIS PROPOSALS. THEY WERE LAID BEFORE THE COUNCIL AFTER THE ATOMIC COMMISSION HAD WAITED VAINLY FOR MONTHS FOR RUSSIA'S REVISED VIEWS ON ATOMIC CONTROL.

MEMBERS OF THE SECURITY COUNCIL HAVE TAKEN THE VIEW, HOWEVER, THAT THE PLACE TO DISCUSS THE ATOMIC REPORT AND PROPOSALS TO AMEND IT IS IN THE ATOMIC COMMISSION; THAT THE SECURITY COUNCIL SHOULD SEND THE REPORT BACK WITH DIRECTIONS FOR FUTURE WORK FOR THE COMMISSION.

GROMYKO HELD THE STAGE FOR A GOOD PART OF YESTERDAY'S THREE-HOUR MEETING, IN WHICH HE TILTED WITH HERSCHEL V.JOHNSON, UNITED STATES REPRESENTATIVE, AND PAUL HASLUCK OF AUSTRALIA, OVER THE ALBANIAN CASE. ADD-LAKE SUCCESS-(GROMYKO)-XXX TUESDAY

ALBANIA HAS DENIED THE CHARGES.

THE VOTE ON THE SUB-COMMITTEE WAS 8 TO 0, WITH RUSSIA, POLAND AND SYRIA ABSTAINING. GROMYKO SERVED NOTICE HE BELIEVED HE COULD HAVE STOPPED THE SUB-COMMITTEE, WHICH HE OPPOSED, BY A VETO BUT HE REFUSED TO DO SO SINCE IT WAS APPARENT THE MAJORITY WANTED IT.

TO DO SO SINCE IT WAXUAPPARENT THE MAJORITY WANTED IT.

JOHNSON OBJECTED TO PUTTING JERZY MICHALOWSKI OF POLAND ON THE SUB-COMMITTEE, SAYING THAT MICHALOWSKI HAD EXPRESSED VIEWS THAT THE SUB-COMMITTEE WOULD NOT BE USEFUL. LAUGHTER WAS HEARD IN THE COUNCIL CHAMBER WHEN JOHNSON FINISHED.

MICHALOWSKI SAID HE STILL FELT THE SUB-COMMITTEE WOULD NOT ACHIEVE ANY USEFUL PURPOSE BUT, IN THE DEMOCRATIC PROCESS, HE WAS READY TO GO ALONG WITH THE MAJORITY.

GROMYKO ATTACKED JOHNSON'S VIEWS AS "UNCONVINCING," "UNFOUNDED" AND "IN THE NATURE OF A JOKE." HE ADDED IT WAS A SERIOUS MATTER AND "WE SHOULD NOT MAKE JOKES TO PROVOKE LAUGHTER."

JOHNSON DID NOT REPLY.

THE SUB-COMMITTEE IN A HURRIED MEETING LAST NIGHT DECIDED TO HOLD ITS FIRST FORMAL SESSION MONDAY (11 A.M. EST) IN THE U.N. HEADQUARTERS IN MANHATTAN. THE SESSION WILL BE CLOSED.

THE SUB-COMMITTEE WILL REPORT TO THE COUNCIL MARCH 10.

WITH TASK FORCE 38, FEB.28-(AP)-TWO PILOTS WERE LOST WHEN TWO FIGHTER PLANES CRASHED TODAY DURING ATTACK MANEUVERS AS TASK FORCE 38 STEAMED TOWARD HAWAII FOR MOCK BATTLE WITH WEST COAST PROTECTIVE FORCES.

DESTROYERS PATROLLED THE CRASH AREAS FOR NEARLY THREE HOURS WITHOUT FINDING THE FLIERS, THEN WERE ORDERED TO REJOIN THE TASK FORCE.

ONE PLANE WAS FROM THE CARRIER PRINCETON AND THE OTHER FROM THE CARRIER TARAWA, MAIN UNITS OF THIS TASK FORCE.

THE PRINCETON-BASED BORSAIR FIGHTER SPUN INTO THE OCEAN FROM A FEW HUNDRED FEET ALTITUDE WHILE MAKING A LANDING APPROACH. CRUISERS AND DESTROYERS WHICH RACED TO THE SCENE REPORTED ONLY A BELLY TANK AFLOAT.

A CURTISS HELLDIVER FROM THE TARAWA CRASHED JUST OFF THE CARRIER'S

STERN, NARROWLY MISSING THE FANTAIL. OBSERVERS SAW THE PILOT SWIM FROM THE PLANE BUT DISAPPEAR AS THE AIRCRAFT SLIPPED UNDER THE WAVES. RESCUE CRAFTS FOUND THE PLANE'S LIFERAFT EMPTY.

CHURCHILL, MANITOBA, FEB.28-(AP)-MILITARY ATTACHES OF SIX NATIONS AND NEWSPAPERMEN OF FOUR COUNTRIES WERE GIVEN AN OPPORTUNITY TODAY TO OBSERVE THE ACTIVITIES OF A JOINT U.S.-CANADIAN FORCE TESTING SUB-ZERO CONDITIONS AND THEIR EFFECT ON MILITARY EQUIPMENT AND OPERATIONS.

LT. COL. D.C.CAMERON OF CORNWALL, ONT., COMMANDING THE WINTER EXPERIMENTAL BASE NEAR HUDSON BAY FOUR MILES FROM HERE, TOLD 15 NEWSMEN FROM BRITAIN, CANADA, FRANCE AND THE UNITED STATES THAT A COMPLETE RANGE OF MILITARY EQUIPMENT WAS BEING TESTED, BUT THAT ALL OF THIS EQUIPMENT WAS IN EXISTENCE BEFORE THE WAR.

HE SAID THE REPORTERS AND THE ATTACHES--REPRESENTING BRITAIN, FRANCE, MEXICO, NORWAY, RUSSIA AND THE UNITED STATES--WOULD BE GIVEN "COMPLETE COVERAGE OF WHAT IS GOING ON HERE--BUT YOU WON'T SEE ANY ROCKETS OR ATOMIC BOMBS, BECAUSE THERE JUST AREN'T ANY HERE."

CAMERON SAID THE BASE NOW HAS A STRENGTH OF 536, INCLUDING A COMPANY OF U.S. ENGINEERS FROM FT.BELVOIR, VA., A FEW U.S. VISITORS, A ROYAL CANADIAN AIR FORCE COMPLEMENT, TESTING TEAMS OF CANADIAN GUNNERS AND SIGNALLERS AND 225 PERMANENT TROOPS ON HOUSEKEEPING DUTY.

SIX OF THE AMERICANS, HE SAID, HAD THEIR WIVES WITH THEM AND THERE ALSO ARE FIVE CHILDREN ON THE BASE.

IT WAS DOUBTFUL THAT THE OBSERVATION PARTY WOULD GET TO SEE ANY TESTS IN THOROUGHLY FRIGID WEATHER, SINCE TEMPERATURES YESTERDAY WERE SEVERAL DEGREES ABOVE FREEZING, BUT THE MERCURY HAS PLUNGED TO AS LOW AS 40 DEGREES BELOW ZERO SINCE THE BASE OPENED FIVE MONTHS AGO.
